GOVERNMENT REPORT SHOWS CONDITION OF THE LEADING CROPS

Corn Is Placed at 70.3 Per Cent of the Normal State.

Spring Wheat Shows 56.7, Oats 64.5 and Barley 65.5 Per Cent.

Comparisons With Last Year Are Given By the Bureau.

Washington, Sept. 8.—The September crop report of the United States department of agriculture crop reporting board, issued at 2:15 p. m. today, shows the condition on Sept. 1 and the yield per acre, as indicated by the condition on that date, of the principal farm crops of the country, and the preliminary estimate of the total yield of hay, as follows:

Corn—Condition, 70.3 per cent of normal, compared with 69.6 per cent on Aug. 1, 78.2 per cent on Sept. 1, 1910, and 79.3 per cent, the ten year Sept. 1 average. Indicated yield per acre 23.6 bushels, compared with 27.4 bushels, the 1910 final yield, and 27.1 bushels, the average for the last five years.

Spring Wheat—Condition 56.7 per cent of normal at time of harvest, compared with 59.8 per cent on Aug. 1, 63.1 per cent at time of harvest last year, and 78.7 per cent at time of harvest for the last ten years. Indicated yield per acre, 9.8 bushels, compared with 11.7 bushels, the 1910 final yield, and 13.6 bushels, the average for the last five years.

All Wheat—Indicated yield per acre,

CHINESE FLOODS ARE SUBSIDING

Great Damage to Crops Done in the Yang-Tse Valley.

Hankow, China, Sept. 8.—The floods resulting from the Yang-Tse river overflowing its banks, which transformed hundreds of miles of the Yang-Tse valley into an enormous lake and caused a great loss of life, are gradually subsiding.

In addition to the heavy death list many thousands of the natives have been made homeless and destitute.

The rice crop in the provinces of Hupeh and Hunan probably will be an average one, but other cereals have suffered heavily. The rice crop in Ngan-Hwei, another province watered by the Yang-Tse river, is of an exceptionally poor quality.

GUARD HEALTH OF IOWA LIVESTOCK

Stringent Rules Are Proposed By State Officials.

Des Moines, Iowa, Sept. 8.—Iowa live stock will be protected from disease in the future by the most stringent set of rules in force in the United States, according to the Iowa commission of animal health.

Dr. J. I. Gibson, state veterinary and chairman of the commission, announced today that if the rules are carried out no livestock will be permitted to be shipped into the state except when the animals are in a healthy condition.

ROBBED OF $2,200 JEWELS ON TRAIN

Mrs. A. A. McCormick of Chicago Victimized in Dining Car.

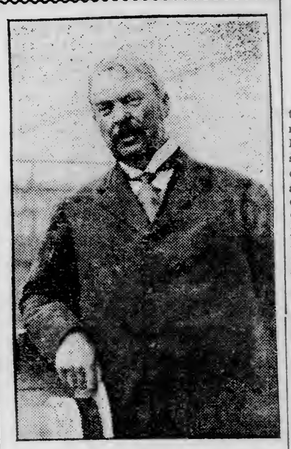

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 8.—Lake Shore & Michigan Southern railroad detectives today reported that a woman giving her name as Mrs. A. A. McCormick of Chicago was robbed of a handbag containing $2,200 worth of jewelry last night on a dining car of a Lake Shore & Michigan Southern passenger train, somewhere between Toledo and Cleveland.

The stolen jewels included a $1,000 pearl necklace, a $500 diamond ring and several diamond rings of lesser value.

CHEMISTS TO GO TO KANSAS CITY, NAMED.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 8.—A delegation, made up almost wholly of college professors named by Alexander Smith of Columbia university to represent the American Chemical society at the national conservation congress in this city the last of the month, was announced at the headquarters of the congress today. It is composed of Prof. E. H. Keiser, Washington university, St. Louis; Chancelor Samuel Avery, University of Nebraska; Prof. Herman Schlundt, University of Missouri; Prof. H. S. Bailey, University of Kansas, and Dr. H. E. Barnard, state laboratory of hygiene, Indianapolis.

BISHOP AVOIDS SUBJECT OF ASTOR MARRIAGE

—Copyrighted by George Grantham Bain.

BISHOP MACKAY-SMITH.

New York, Sept. 8.—Bishop Mackay-Smith, the bishop of Philadelphia, has sailed for Europe, accompanied by his valet. Bishop Mackay-Smith has so far kept out of the controversy on the subject of the Astor marriage. The bishop is a native of New Haven and a graduate of Trinity college, Hartford. He was stationed in Boston, New York, and later at the fashionable St. John's church in Washington, before he became coadjutor bishop and recently bishop of the diocese of Philadelphia.

STEEL MAN'S SON WEDS CHORUS GIRL

Louis M. Ream and Eleanor Pendleton Married in Secret.

New York, Sept. 8.—The paternal blessing is all that is needed today to complete the happiness of Louis M. Ream and his bride, who was Eleanor Pendleton, a former chorus girl.

Norman B. Ream, the father, one of the big men in the steel corporation and former partner of the late Marshall Field of Chicago, learned for the first time yesterday that his son, only three years out of college, had been married since Sept. 1. Young Ream is assistant secretary of a trust company here. His bride, whose real name was Davidson, formerly lived in Richmond and Baltimore. Mr. Ream, the elder, is at his country home in Thompson, Conn.

FORMER DANCING GIRL MURDERED

Husband of Irene Hart Detained—Says It Was Suicide.

New York, Sept. 8.—An autopsy over the body of Mrs. Edward Hart, the former dancing girl known on the stage as Irene Hart, whose body was found riddled with bullets in her kitchen yesterday, shows that the actress was murdered and did not commit suicide, as claimed by her husband.

The dead woman's husband is under detention.

TRIES TO HOLD UP BANK; IS SHOT AT

Masked Man Fails to Carry Out Raid at Laurel, Md.

Laurel, Md., Sept. 8.—A masked man entered the Citizens' National bank here shortly after the opening hour this morning, and at the point of a pistol demanded that the receiving teller hand over the money that was lying at the desk beside him. The would-be robber was put to flight, empty-handed, by Cashier Waters, who fired two shots at the desperado.

A posse is in pursuit.

FLEE EPIDEMIC IN BARCELONA

Trainloads of Refugees From Spanish City Enter France.

Peppignan, France, Sept. 8.—Trains arriving here today from Spain were crowded with refugees who had left Barcelona and other places in Spain owing to a violent epidemic of enteric malady. The civil guards are being used as nurses.

WEEPS FOR HER VICTIM

Mrs. Coney, Who Shot Robert Bruce Watson, Held for Hearing.

Architect Will Recover From Wounds---Scandal Back of Act.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—After spending a tearful night on a cot in the matron's room of the West side police station, Mrs. Harriet B. Coney, who yesterday shot Robert Bruce Watson, wealthy clubman, architect and politician, was arraigned today before Municipal Judge Gemmill, and the hearing of her case continued until Sept. 22. Her bail was fixed at $2,000, but as no bondsmen were present, she was taken downstairs to the matron's quarters. She was accompanied into court by her brother, an attorney.

Bonds were supplied later by a professional bondsman.

Watson's wounds are not serious and it is said he will be able to leave the hospital within two weeks. The woman has been booked on a charge of assault with intent to kill, and the police declare they will insist on Watson's prosecuting the case when he recovers.

Barred From His Home.

The shooting took place in front of Watson's home after the architect had refused to allow Mrs. Coney to enter. She was arrested after having admitted that she shot him.

Mrs. Coney calley at Watson's home and is said to have been ordered away. She waited on the sidewalk, and when he left town later, drew a small revolver from her handbag and shot him. One bullet struck him above

"LONE POPULIST" HAS CAPITULATED

Ole Sageng Goes Over Bag and Baggage to the Progressives.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Minnesota Progressives have captured the whole Populist party in the state. The People's party surrendered last night at the Progressive banquet in Minneapolis. It came over, bag and baggage, bringing with it its orator, its office-holder, its executive committee and its entire membership.

For Ole Sageng, who for years has been "the lone Populist of the state senate"—in fact, the whole of the People's party in Minnesota—has capitulated. He is no longer the People's party of Minnesota, but is now a working member in the Republican ranks.

Is Not a Regular.

"I want it distinctly understood, however," said the "lone Populist," "that I am not re-entering the party I left because it allowed the money changers in the temple and defiled its altars. I am enlisting in the Progressive wing, which is the lump that will leaven the whole."

When Senator Sageng declared for La Follette and his allegiance to the progressive principles, enthusiasm waxed intense. Cheers followed, and the Progressives gave the Chautauqua salute. Many of them worked with Senator Sageng during the last session of the legislature and they know his ability as a leader.

PLAN HEAVY RACING CARD

State Fair Officials Will Rush Events—If It Does't Rain.

Walker Sanitarium Patients Hold Reunion on the Grounds.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The management of the state fair announced this morning that unless it rained before noon, all of the races that possibly could be run off during the day would be started. The track is fair in places, and while no records can be made, the management believes that the going is good enough to allow the matches. There are spots on the course that are pretty heavy, but most of it is fairly dry despite the long continued rain.

The weather bureau dashed the hopes of the management this morning by predicting more rain for tomorrow. The "fair and cooler" weather that had been promised for today failed to materialize, and the promise of more rain tomorrow means that the entire week practically will be ruined.

Rain, or Bucest

Few visitors appeared at the grounds this morning. A slight drizzle probably deterred them. The management expected a larger crowd this afternoon than has yet attended the fair, on account of the crowded racing card. Nothing but more rain, which, however, seems more than likely, will prevent the races from being run.

Ringmaster, the 3-year-old champion bull, owned by White & Smith of St. Cloud, has been awarded the senior championship and the grand championship in the shorthorn class at the state fair. Last year this bull won the same awards at Winnipeg, at the International show in Chicago and at the American Royal Live Stock show in Kansas City. Rose Queen, owned by

ANOTHER BOMB IS FIRED IN NEW YORK

Capture of "The Fox" Does Not End Deeds of Violence.

New York, Sept. 8.—Just when the police were beginning to congratulate themselves that the arrest of Giuseppe Costabile, "The Fox," had driven the Black Hand agents here to cover, another bomb was exploded early today in the heart of the Italian colony, in front of the offices of prominent Italian bankers and steamship agents. No one was hurt but the moral effect of the outrage coming at a time when Italian colony had been lulled to fancied security, was tremendous.

Instead of causing the police to lose faith, however, in their belief that in Costabile they have the leader of New York's Italian criminals, the occurrence is regarded as a threat of the vengeance Costabile's associates may exact from any of his fellow countrymen who dare to testify against him.

Because he was caught with a bomb under his coat, the grand jury in a day or two is expected to indict Costabile for violating the "dangerous weapons" law.

SHOP CRAFT MEN CONFER

May Decide Not to Call Strike on the Harriman Lines.

Union Officials Who Met Kruttschnitt Working for Peace.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 8.—Members of the general committee of the shop craft unions of the Harriman lines, together with four international presidents of labor organizations, met here today to begin the task of determining what action shall be taken by the federation of shopmen in the face of refusal by officials of the Harriman lines to recognize the federation.

The general committeemen present represent nearly every shop of the Harriman system west of the Mississippi river, and they are accredited with full authority to act for the 25,000 Harriman line employes.

James W. Kline, international president of the Blacksmith's union, said the four presidents who came here and unsuccessfully urged Vice President Kruttschnitt of the Harriman lines to recognize the federation, would use every effort to avert an open break between the company and the men, but that they realized there was little chance to prevent a strike.

Another Vote Taken.

The presidents, at the meeting today, told the general committeemen of the negotiations with Kruttschnitt, and explained all of the details of the present situation.

Since the Kruttschnitt conference the

CARD GAME ENDS IN TWO MURDERS

Italian Laborers at Perth Amboy, N. J., Have Fight.

Perth Amboy, N. J., Sept. 8.—A fusillade of shots followed a bitter quarrel of laborers here today, and two Italians fell dead and another was seriously wounded. The police are hunting for Marino Rornlo as the assassin.

The shooting came as a climax to a card game in which four men were taking part. After the shooting, August Patry was found dead, sprawled across the card table with a bullet in his heart; Gus Dunnal lay dead on the floor, and Frank Dunnal, his brother, was shot through the jaw. Marine Riono disappeared.

LAKES-TO-THE-GULF PATHFINDERS SCOUTING.

Nashville, Tenn., Sept. 8.—Pathfinders from Pensacola, Fla., who are scouting to establish a route for a lakes-to-the-gulf highway, arrived here today. They will leave for the North this afternoon. Their next stop will be Bowling Green. They expect to reach Chicago by Sept. 11.

BEATTIE STUDIES THE JURYMEN'S FACES AS HIS ATTORNEY TALKS

Scathing Arraignment of Cousin is Feature of Plea.

Case May Go to the Jury Within Very Few Hours.

Prisoner Helps His Counsel Find Pages in the Testimony.

Chesterfield, Va., Sept. 8.—Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., on trial for the murder of his wife, today searched with unbroken gaze for hours the expressionless faces of the twelve country folk who hold his fate for some manifestation, however remote, of yielding to the deep-voiced appeal of his attorney, Harry M. Smith, Jr. It was a stare of manifest anxiety.

Jurors held their secret close. Some of the eyes in the jury box followed carefully the full-gestured speech of the tall man at the bar, earnestly beseeching them to consider the past good character of the accused and the inconceivability of the murder being committed "by a man of Beattie's alertness and intelligence."

Others of the jury looked distantly through the window opposite them, wearied of meeting the eyes of a gaping crowd which for a fortnight had concentrated its observation on them.

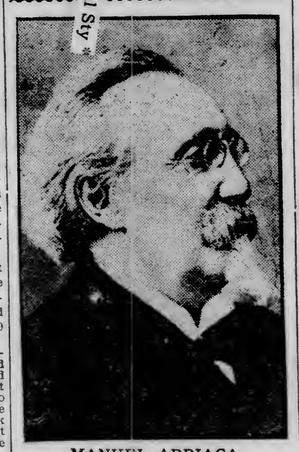

Attacked Paul's Testimony.

Mr. Smith reviewed the evidence in detail and continued the impeachment of Paul Beattie's testimony as the keynote of his argument. He spoke for four hours concluding just before the luncheon recess. L. O. Wendenburg of the prosecution began the closing speech of the trial this afternoon.

"Have you not thought," said Mr. Smith in conclusion, "that a verdict of guilty means also the death of the father and the disgrace of the little sister? Moreover, here is a little boy who cannot even lisp his prayers. His

NEW PRESIDENT OF PORTUGUESE REPUBLIC

MANUEL ARRIAGA.

Lisbon, Sept. 8.—Manuel Arriaga has been elected president of the Portugese republic. He is the first regular president of the republic. Braga having been only provisional president. He is elected by the national assembly. The new president is a literary man and not a politician.

BIG BANKER SAID TO BE SMUGGLER

Another Name May Be Dragged Into Jenkins Jewel Affair.

New York, Sept. 8.—The indictment of Nathan Allen and John R. Collins for smuggling the Jenkins' jewels, it was learned today, is only one step in the government's prosecution of customs frauds.

A banker even more prominent and wealthy than those millionaires of Kenosha, Wis., and Memphis, Tenn., is said to be under investigation, and if the federal authorities can accomplish his arrest, it is said, they hope to reach the bottom of an international scandal involving many others, including gem dealers and minor customs employes.

Working for Many Years.

The alleged frauds cover a period of several years, and it is reported that the banker under suspicion enabled his friends also to benefit by his carefully laid scheme. This financier, it is said, has offices in several foreign countries, and if arrested he is expected to plead non-residence, with the accompanying right to bring jewels for his own use into the United States duty free.

Allen and Collins are expected to comply with the United States district attorney's orders to appear here within ten days.

COTTON GINNED NEARLY DOUBLED

Total This Year to Sept. 1 Reported as 771,415 Bales.

Washington, Sept. 8.—The first cotton ginning report of the season, issued today by Director E. Dana Durand of the bureau of the census, department of commerce and labor, shows that 771,415 bales, counting round as half bales, had been ginned from the growth of 1911 to Sept. 1, compared with 353,011 bales of the growth of 1910 ginned to Sept. 1, 1910; 388,242 bales for 1909, and 402,229 bales for 1908.

Round bales included this year are 6,994, compared with 10,976 for 1910, 11,587 for 1909, and 20,862 for 1908. The number of sea island bales is 539 for 1911, 218 for 1910; 1,236 for 1909 and 1,221 for 1908.

SAFE IS BLOWN AT COUDERAY

Yeggs Get $40 From Bekkdel Lumber Company's Store.

Couderay, Wis., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The safe in the Bekkdel Lumber company's store here was blown last night. Entrance to the store was made by forcing the front door. The work shows the safe was cracked by professional cracksmen, as a neat, clean job was made. They secured about $40 in cash, leaving all checks. There is no trace of the yeggs, but suspicious looking parties were seen around town a few days ago.

WILL TALK OF WOMAN AND CHILD LABOR LAWS.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 8.—Managers of forty offices of the Western Union Telegraph company between Pittsburg, Chicago, Toledo and Cincinnati will meet in this city today and tomorrow to discuss matters of mutual interest. Among other matters the managers will consider laws regulating the employment of women and children.

SORRY FOR GIRL; ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

Florida Woman, Crazed Over Beattie Case, Uses Drug, Knife and Pistol.

Pensacola, Fla., Sept. 8.—A newspaper story telling of a chance that Beulah Binford might be prosecuted as an accessory in the Beattie murder case, is declared to have driven Mrs. Laura Sullivan into suicidal despondency last night. First she drank laudanum. This was pumped from her stomach. Then she slashed herself in the side and head. The knife was taken away from her before she inflicted fatal wounds. During the night she obtained a pistol and tried to shoot herself. A severe scalp wound was the most serious result.

After her last wound had been dressed, Mrs. Sullivan said she would attempt suicide no more. She declares she was all right mentally till she read there was a chance Beulah Binford might be prosecuted.

FORTY-FOUR MEN BURIED IN DEBRIS

Theater at Nice, France, Collapses—Sixteen Bodies Recovered.

Nice, France, Sept. 8.—The Theater Eldorado collapsed here this morning. Forty-four workmen engaged in making repairs to the building were buried in the ruins. Rescue work is proceeding.

Sixteen bodies had been taken out up to 6 p. m. and five men, badly injured, have been rescued. The entire roof of the auditorium fell in with a great crash.

STATE AID FOR WOMAN MAYOR?

Mrs. Wilson of Hunnewell Has Something Up Her Sleeve.

Hunnewell, Kan., Sept. 8.—"My present duty is to keep a secret, and though a woman, I shall keep it."

This was the reply Mayor Mrs. Ella Wilson made on her arrival here today to all questions concerning the result of her conference in Kansas City, Kan., yesterday with C. W. Trickett, special attorney appointed by Governor W. R. Stubbs to restore peace between the woman executive and her obdurate council of men.

So Hunnewell, for months without an effective government, now awaits the meeting of the council next Monday, when the secret is expected to come out. From Mayor Wilson's confident manner it is believed the question of dealing with the rebellious council will be solved at that meeting.

THE POLITICAL ASSASSINATION OF THE MODERN CAESAR.

RULES FOR POSTAL BANK

Instructions Received From Washington for Conduct of Local Station.

Numerous Inquiries Already Coming in From All Parts of County.

Instructions regarding the methods to be used at the postal savings station which is to be established at the local postoffice, have been received by Postmaster A. P. Cook, and copies of them have ben posted in the building. The station will be opened for business on Friday morning at 8 o'clock, Sept. 15.

Postmaster Cook and Postoffice Inspector H. O. Smith have not yet selected the clerk for the station, although examinations of several employes in the postal service have been held. The clerk will probably be appointed in a few days.

L. M. Wilcutts, custodian of the federal building, and Mr. Cook will open the bids for the remodeling of the postoffice to make room for the new department, at 2 o'clock today. The contract will probably be let late this afternoon or tomorrow. It will require from four to six weeks, it is estimated, to make the changes planned, and in the meantime the station will be located at one of the money order windows.

From inquries that are coming from all parts of Northern Minnesota, the postal savings station is an assured success. From report, the station at St. Paul has been enjoying a big business, but the one at Minneapolis has been less fortunate. There are, however, many foreigners in the vicinity of Duluth, who are from countries where such institutions have been in use for many years, and these people have more confidence in banks conducted by the government.

The following are the instructions received from Postmaster General Frank H. Hitchcock in regard to deposits:

Object.

"The postal savings system is established for the purpose of providing facilities for depositing savings at interest with the security of the United States government for repayment.

Safety.

"The faith of the United States is solemnly pledged to the payment of deposits made in postal savings depository offices with accrued interest as provided by the postal savings act.

Who May Deposit.

"Accounts may be opened and deposits made by any person of the age of 10 years or over in his or her own name, and by a married woman in her own name and free from any interference or control by her husband. Deposits will be accepted only from individuals who are patrons of this postoffice, and no account will be opened in the name of any corporation, society, or firm, or in the names of two or more persons jointly. The service of the postal savings system is free to all persons entitled to make deposits and no charge or fee is collected or required in connection with the opening of an account or the withdrawal of money deposited.

Privacy of Accounts.

"No person connected with the postoffice department or the postal service is permitted to disclose the name of any depositor or give any information concerning an account to any person other than the depositor himself, unless directed to do so by the postmaster general.

Deposits.

"Deposits are evidenced by postal-savings certificates issued in fixed denominations of $1, $2, $5, $10, $20, $50 and $100, each bearing the name of the depositor, and being nontransferable and non-negotiable. No account will be opened for less than $1 nor will fractions of a dollar be accepted for deposit at any time. No person is permitted to deposit more than $100 in any calendar month nor to have a total balance to his credit at one time of more than $500, exclusive of accumulated interest.

Savings Cards and Stamps.

"Amounts less than $1 may be saved for deposit by the purchase of postal-savings cards at 10 cents each and of specially prepared adhesive 10-cent postal-savings stamps. Each postal-savings card contains blank spaces to which 10-cent savings stamps may be affixed from time to time as purchased, and a postal-savings card with nine 10-cent savings stamps thus affixed will be accepted as a deposit of $1 either in opening a savings account or in adding to an existing account.

Interest.

"Interest will be allowed on all deposits at the rate of 2 per cent per annum, computed on each savings certificate separately, and payable annually, no interest being paid on money which remains on deposit for a fraction of a year. Deposits will bear interest from the first day of the month next succeeding that in which deposited. Interest will continue to accrue on a savings certificate as long as it remains outstanding, certificates being valid until paid, without limitation as to time. Compound interest is not allowed on an outstanding certificate, but a depositor may withdraw interest payable and make a new deposit which will bear interest at the regular rate.

Withdrawals.

"A depositor may at any time withdraw the whole or any part of the funds deposited to his credit with any interest payable by surrendering savings certificate properly indorsed covering the amount of the desired withdrawal. The accrued interest alone may be withdrawn when payable upon application to the postmaster.

Postal Savings Bonds.

"A depositor will be permitted to exchange the whole or any part of his deposits in sums of $20, $40, $60, $80, $100, or multiples of $100 up to and including $500, into United States registered or coupon bonds bearing interest at the rate of 2½ per cent per annum, payable semi-annually and redeemable at the pleasure of the United States after one year from date of issue, both principal and interest payable twenty years from such date in United States gold coin. Such exchange may be made under date of Jan. 1 and July 1 of each year, provided such bonds are then available. Savings deposits thus converted into bonds are not counted as a part of the maximum of $500 allowed one depositor, and there is no limitation upon the amount of available postal-savings bonds which may be ultimately acquired by a depositor.

Information.

"Further information concerning the postal savings system may be obtained by yapplying at the depository window of this office.

"FRANK H. HITCHCOCK,
"Postmaster General."

New Classes

For the accommodation of those who could not begin at the opening, new classes will be organized at the Duluth Business university in day and night school on Monday, Sept. 11. PHOTOGRAPH BLOOD PRINTS

Finger Marks Become Evidence in Wennerstrom Case.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—Chicago detectives today photographed the bloody finger prints found on the hand rail from which the slayers of Frederick Wennerstrom, the chauffeur, threw their victim's body into the Fox river at Cary, Ill.

The photographs, it is believed, will be of great value in examination of suspects.

Wholesale arrests of suspicious characters followed the issuance of an order by State's Attorney David R. Joselyn of McHenry county, instructing officers to rid the district of strangers unable to give a satisfactory account of their whereabouts the last few days.

PRISONERS ARRAIGNED

Wife and Her Alleged Affinity Must Answer to Court.

Brought to Trial By Husband After Three Years' Chase.

Three prisoners, indicted on various charges by the grand jury, were arraigned this morning before Judge Cant, who will this term hear the criminal actions.

Dora Oratinovich and Filip Platucich pleaded guilty to adultery charges and Frank A. Moulton pleaded not guilty to a charge of forgery in the second degree.

Dora Oratinovich is a woman, whom, it is claimed, ran away from her husband and home in Chicago with Filip Platucich and who was found living at New Duluth with her affinity after a search of about three years by Matt. Oratinovich, the husband.

Platucich was a "friend of the family," it is claimed. He visited often at the home of the Oratinovichs' at Chicago and finally persuaded the wife to leave her husband and go with him, it is claimed.

Unknown to the husband, they perfected their plan and eloped. The husband followed them from place to place, working in each town long enough to follow them to the next. Finally he located them living together at New Duluth, he claims, and had them arrested.

They have been held at the county jail for several months awaiting the action of the grand jury.

Frank A. Moulton forged a check for $100, using W. A. Sisson's name, it is claimed. He is charged with forgery in the second degree. The check was issued on the City National bank.

NEEDS DETENTION HOME FOR DEPENDENT CHILDREN.

Comment upon the need here of a detention home for dependent children who become state wards, was made yesterday by Miss Freeman and Miss Livermore, probation officers of Detroit, Mich., who are in the city for a few days. They came up yesterday on a freighter, and while here called at the Duluth probation office.

No such institution has ever existed in Duluth, although the subject has often been taken up. Many children are taken from Duluth to the state school at Owatonna, and in many instances, they are kept here for days and even months while legal proceedings are being completed. Probation Officer Reseke occasionally has from six to twelve children under his care, while sometimes the number has run up to twenty-five. The children's home is able to care for them frequently, but as a rule that institution is crowded, necessitating the children to be cared for at private homes.

In other respects the work of the local probation office compares very favorably with that of any city in the United States, say the visitors.

COLORADO COAL LAND FRAUDS ARE ALLEGED.

Denver, Colo., Sept. 8.—Charles Smith and Samuel Doll, formerly well known sporting men of Chicago, are accused of having obtained $100,000 worth of government coal land in this state by unlawful means, in a suit filed in federal court here today by United States District Attorney Ward. Zach Doll, a brother of Samuel, is also made a defendant.

The government charges that the three men obtained 160 acres of valuable coal land near Glenwood Springs in 1906 by means of a dummy entryman. On this claim several coal mines have been put into operation and are said to be yielding good returns. The petition asked that the lands be deeded back to the government, and that the original entry be cancelled.

Smith, it is said, is still a resident of Chicago, while Doll, who at one time was a partner of John Condon in the ownership of the Harlem Bay track, has been in Colorado several years and has a number of interests in addition to those involved in the present suit.

TO PREVENT FIRE LOSSES

Governor Eberhart Calls Fire Prevention Congress for Nov. 8.

Magnitude of Loss By Fire Not Grasped By Average Man.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—A Minnesota Fire Prevention congress is to be held in St. Paul on Nov. 8. This decision was reached at a meeting of state officials and Twin City business men yesterday, and Governor Eberhart issued the following proclamation:

"That the fire waste is increasing year by year and becoming more and more appalling within the state of Minnesota is certain.

"To determine by a congress of representative men, interested in the preservation of the wealth of our state, what the loss of property has been by reason of fire, the causes therefor, and how much such waste can be reduced, will contribute greatly to the advancement of this state and to the ecomonic welfare of its people.

"The magnitude of loss of property by fire, as well as the cost of fire prevention, is not grasped by the average man. It is estimated that approximately one-half a billion dollars is annually expended by the people of the United States for this purpose—a sum one-half as great as the annual budget of our federal government.

"Nearly $250,000,000 represents the loss by fire. A sum which would be equaled if a per capita tax of $2.71 were collected from every man, woman and child in the United States. In no European country does the per capita loss exceed 50 cents.

Heavy Losses By Fire.

"During the past fifteen years computations indicate that approximately $2,000,000,000 and 20,000 lives have been 'sacrificed to fire.'

"Minnesota has borne too great a part of this enormous loss of property.

"The loss of timber in our state by forest fires is almost beyond computation. Property destroyed by fire is a total and absolute loss. Every indication points to an increase of loss by fire in our state during the year 1911.

"The season of the year when fires are wont to increase in number is at hand. The heating stove of the householder is again to be utilized, and the smoke therefrom must penetrate the swallow's nest before escaping.

"It is believed that more than 50 per cent of our fire loss is due to incendiarism or negligence. Much can be done for the prevention of fires by criminals, or through carelessness. Carelessness in the use of fire and lights in housekeeping is common. Carelessness in the use of matches is universal. Inflammable rubbish in factories is too often found. Dark and dirty hallways where matches are scratched and where cigar and cigarette stubs are thrown are too frequently the cause of fires. Tenants visit dark basements by means of candles, or old-fashioned oil lamps. Unsafe oil stoves are sold and employed. Oily waste is not rarely found in packing houses, factories and lumber yards. Property is not carefully watched, and those things which produce fire are improperly guarded.

Fire Prevention Day.

"It is meet that our people should be instructed and caused to realize that fire waste is impoverishing our commonwealth.

"Taking into account these vital considerations for the welfare of our state, I hereby do proclaim the 8th day of November, 1911, to be known as Minnesota Fire Prevention day, and urge that it be so recognized and observed in all departments of the state, in all public and private institutions of learning, and by all organizations and persons interested in the social and economic uplift of our people. It is urged that the press, as the strongest factor in the development of public sentiment, impress the importance of this movement upon our people.

"And I do further proclaim the holding of a Minnesota Fire Prevention congress, to be held in the Palm room, St. Paul hotel, in the city of St. Paul, on said 8th day of November, and earnestly invite the entire citizenship of the state to participate and cooperate in carrying out the plans of this gathering, that its purposes may be fully realized.

"A. O. EBERHART,
"Governor."

SAYS GIRLS ARE BADLY TREATED

Cook County, Ill., Official Complains of Industrial School.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—A grand jury investigation may result from sensational charges made by President Peter Bartzen of the county board that inmates of the Illinois industrial school for girls at Park Ridge have been treated cruelly.

He charges that the girls have been punished by the "water cure," consisting of being held under cold showers, for trifling offenses; that they have been compelled to sleep with their hands and feet tightly bound; that they have been given insufficient food, and compelled to clean stables and do other debasing physical labor.

President Bartzen obtained his information from girls who escaped from the institution last Sunday.

Mrs. Charles Henrotin, president of the board of trustees of the school, declined to discuss the charges and referred questioners to her attorney. A special committee appointed by President Bartzen has been investigating the management of the school for a week, and President Bartzen has requested State's Attorney Wayman to send a representative to sessions of the investigating body.

SUICIDE BARES FAMILY TRAGEDY

Elopement of Widower and Widow Causes Sensational Charges.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 8.—The elopement of L. P. Plotner, former sheriff of Davidson county, S. D., within an hour of the death of his wife, caused relatives of Peter Albert Quinn, formerly of Minneapolis, to leave this city for Mitchell, S. D., with the intention of placing a charge against Plotner. Quinn died in Mitchell Aug. 31, 1909, and it was with his wife that Plotner eloped following the death of Mrs. Plotner last Friday.

Plotner and Mrs. Quinn were arrested in Omaha Tuesday night on a statutory charge and are being taken back to Mitchell. There the pair under arrest will be met by the Quinns, most of whom are residents of Minneapolis. They charge that Plotner, with the assistance of Mrs. Peter Albert Quinn and a mysterious person whose name is being kept secret, developed and carried to consummation a plot to murder Quinn and to make his death appear suicide.

The Quinns charge that Plotner, while sheriff, used his authority to keep Quinn in jail much of the time, finally drove him from the town and later conspired with others to murder him. All this was done, they say, to enable the sheriff, whose wife was an invalid, to gain the unfettered affections of Mrs. Quinn.

It is charged that Mrs. Plotner ended her life because of Plotner's attentions to Mrs. Quinn.

PLAGUE OF RATS AT FORT LEAVENWORTH.

Leavenworth, Kan., Sept. 8.—Plagued by hordes of rats that daily grow more bold, invading the very bunks of the soldiers, Fort Leavenworth practically has reached its wits' end.

All dogs and cats were driven from the reservation one year ago by Gen. Frederick Funston, following an outbreak of rabies, and since then the rats have steadily increased in numbers. Efforts to have the banishment order rescinded have failed. To aggravate the discomfort, an order was issued two weeks ago banishing from the reservation all hogs, which, the soldiers declared, ate hundreds of rats every day.

ARTISTS ARE BARRED BY ENGRAVERS' UNION.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 8.—At the close of a long executive session, the International Photo-engravers' union, in annual convention here, unanimously indorsed the conduct of the recent Boston strike by the international officers and the members of the Boston union, and appended to the indorsement a vote of confidence in the international officers.

In the course of the Boston strike the union fought several applications made by employers for injunctions.

The question of admitting artists and cartoonists to the photo-engravers' organization was disapproved.

WOODROW WILSON TALKS ABOUT PEACE.

Newark, N. J., Sept. 8.—Speaking at the dedication of a new synagogue here last night, Governor Woodrow Wilson devoted his address to peace. The governor waxed emphatic in speaking of injustices which he said made peace impossible.

"Men cannot come to an amicable agreement about any undertaking, he said, "unless they can show of it that the ideas constitute a square deal, and just so long as men purpose, in politics or anything else, to take advantage of their fellow men instead of to serve them, there can be no peace, and for my part I am ready to say this:

"That as against injustice, I consider myself the servant of peace by declaring war."

CANNON TAKES WHIRL ON INDIANAPOLIS TRACK.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 8.—"Thank God there is no campaign this fall," said Former Speaker Joseph G. Cannon, who was in this city yesterday, "and I shall make no political speeches. I am not talking politics now for this reason—what's the use? What good would it do? I'm going back home and hustle—I'll have to if I pay my debts this winter."

After having ridden at the rate of fifty-four miles an hour in a racing automobile around the course of the Indianapolis speedway, Mr. Cannon departed for his home at Danville, Ill.

POPE PIUS POSES FOR PONTIFICAL PHOTOGRAPHER

Rome, Sept. 8.—The pope today felt so much improved physically that he remained longer than usual in the gardens. He allowed the pontifical photographer to take several snapshots at him, both in his carriage and walking. He then posed for a photographer in Raphael's logge.

To the photographer, who asked permission to sell the portrait, the pope said:

"Certainly, give them as large a circulation as possible, thus showing to the world my complete recoverey."

TWO MORE MAY DIE FROM HURTS

Explosion on Madeline Island Totally Destroyed Russell Sawmill.

Ashland, Wis., Sept. 8.—The victims of the boiler explosion which totally demolished the R. S. Russell Lumber compan's mill on Madeline island yesterday are:

The dead:

CLYDE JERSEY, instantly killed, age 21, Ashland.

The injured:

Harry Nichols, Ashland, both legs broken and bodily injuries, may die.

John Wright, Odanah, badly scalded, one leg broken, may die.

Elmer Perris, Ashland, seriously burned about face and shoulders.

John Jersey, Ashland, right arm broken and badly scalded about head and body.

The injured were brought to St. Joseph's hospital in this city, where it was found necessary to amputate John Wright's left leg and Harry Nichols' right leg. Both of the men are in a serious condition. Doctors who went to the island report that several other workmen were slightly injured.

COMPLAIN OF RATES TO SOUTH AMERICA.

New York, Sept. 8.—Agents of the United States government here and abroad are investigating charges brought by American merchants against the three steamship companies whose boats ply between New York and South American ports.

Alleged discrimination in freight rates is charged, and a suit alleging violation of the Sherman anti-trust law may follow the completion of the investigation, according to United States District Attorney Wise.

WELLS-FARGO EXPRESS COMPLAINT OVERRULED.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—On the basis that the Wells-Fargo Express company failed to show it was not earning 7 per cent on what it claimed to be its assessible value of property in South Dakota, Judge Willard, United States district judge, has refused to enjoin the railroad commission of that state from enforcing the new schedule worked out in accordance with the direction of the last legislature.

The company asked for a restraining order on the grounds that the proposed rates were confiscatory.

ASHLAND MAN KILLED BY FALLING OFF TRAMWAY.

Ashland, Wis., Sept. 8.—Milton Malloy, a well-known Ashland young man, who has been employed as a conductor in the switching yards of the Ashland Iron & Steel company, was instantly killed yesterday when he fell off a tramway and struck his head on a concrete floor twenty feet below. He had been in the employ of the company for several years and was a prime favorite with all of the crew. His mother, Mrs. John Cronk, and his wife survive.

OLDEST HOUGHTON HOTEL IS DAMAGED BY FIRE.

Houghton, Mich., Sept. 8.—Fire which broke out in the Hotel Knauf yesterday damaged the structure to the extent of $15,000.

Several guests had narrow escapes. One man jumped from the second story window to the street. He sustained a sprained ankle and several cuts. The origin of the fire is unknown. The hotel was the oldest in Houghton, having been built in 1862. It will be rebuilt.

Sits On Track; Killed.

Danville, Ill., Sept. 8.—Albert Vice, 19-year-old son of William Vice, sat down on the track of the Chicago & Eastern Illinois railroad near Indianapolis yesterday and was ground to pieces by a passenger train.

A STORE FOR GIRLS

Tailored Suits

It's going to be a big suit season or we miss our guess. Every day a dozen or two suits go marching out of our stocks and every day a dozen or two new suits come trooping in from the East.

The new lengths of coats and the new lines demand a new outfit.

Beginning with absolutely the best value at $25 in the city, the suit range consists of $29.50, $35, $39.50, $42.50, $45 and $50 models, each the highest example of its kind and price.

No need experimenting with untried and unknown lines at any price when you can buy suits of character and reliability at such reasonable prices.

Let us show you tomorrow!

Every season the problem of what to buy for the daughter becomes secondary in importance only to that of the clothes of the mother.

We have studied this much neglected department of the usual kind of store until we feel satisfied that no youthful and dainty touch that can be given a girls' suit or coat or dress has been neglected.

Smart Tailored College Dresses like the illustration we call our "American Girl" Suit; made of fine serge, navy and black, beautifully tailored, for $17.50, $19.50, $22.50 and $24.50.

Polo Coats for Girls from 6 years to 16 years, in soft, warm woolens, camels' hair and polo cloths, at $10.75, $13.50, $15.00 and $19.50.

Junior Suits, sizes 13, 15 and 17, especially cut for growing girls; many smart styles to pick from, all well tailored, at $19.50, $23.50, $25 and $27.50.

New Street Hats

It keeps our workrooms busy turning out our "out-of-the-ordinary" Street Hats that Mrs. Cate brought the ideas for home with her. There is such a multitude of new designs that we do not seem to be able to execute them fast enough to meet the demand of the "knowing ones" who are buying daily.

It needs a look in at the department to acquaint oneself with the reason that our hats are "different." No factory look or set conventional hats find place here, only the unusual kinds.

You pay no more for these than usual department store hats of much less character and no exclusiveness. Prices as low as $7.50 and as high as $25.

Our Coat Stocks

Are filled to overflowing with a hundred styles for fall and winter. New Polo Coats, New Auto Coats, New Street Coats, New Broadcloth Coats, New Velour and Velvet Coats; in fact, everything in coatdom can be found here.

$19.50 buys a wonderful Tailored Street Coat of heavy cheviot, new Raglan sleeves and new collar and reveres. Also the best value in a Polo Coat in the city at the same price.

$25—A variety of styles at this price; tailored, polo and dress coats.

$35 and $45—Novelty coats, one of a kind, in the new reversible cloths that are the rage everywhere.

$45 to $65 for New Velvet Coats, some fur trimmed.

SENT ALONE TO PRISON

Deserter Who Surrendered Given Chance to Prove His Mettle.

Will Be Taken Back to Navy But Must Serve Term.

Conscience stricken because he had deserted the United States navy in 1909, and believing that officers of the law were continually on his trail, Clyde Peter Fosmore, 23 years old, yesterday afternoon applied to the local navy recruiting officers in the federal building to take him back again.

In surrendering himself, Fosmore stated to Turret Capt. Otto Heimick and Quartermaster Joseph A. Le Page, who are in charge of the local office, that he had been in the service of the government for nearly three years, but that he had deserted because he had been lowered in rank following a carousal.

This morning he was sent to Minneapolis alone, with the understanding that he must show the government that he can be trusted and that he will be given a chance to rectify his wrong against the United States, by serving a period of time in the naval prison and naval prison ship, at New York.

Fosmore claimed that his home is in Milwaukee, Wis., and that he enlisted in the navy at Minneapolis on Aug. 26, 1906. In June, 1909, he deserted the U. S. S. Idaho, while she was in the dry dock of the United States naval yards at Philadelphia, because he had been lowerd from third petty officer to seaman, after spending a night away from the ship, during which time he had become intoxicated. He felt so mortified when he was decreased in rank that he left, and since then has roamed all over the United States. At no place could he remain very long, for although he secured a position, he could not hold it for fear that he would be captured by some officer and turned over to the naval authorities. The situation with him became so unbearable, that he decided to give himself up.

Yesterday afternoon he explained the matter to the local officers. Mr. Heimick immediately communicated with Lieut. Commander I. C. Wettengel, who is in charge of the entire district, with headquarters at Minneapolis. Lieut. Commander Wettengel in turn telegraphed the authorities at Washington, who informed him that if Fosmore believed he could act like a man, and would go from Duluth to Minneapolis unaccompanied, and there surrender himself, he would be taken back, but that he would have to serve a prison sentence.

Fosmore left the local office last evening and promised to be back this morning. Although late in coming this morning, he appeared in time to take the morning train for Minneapolis.

Little efforts seem to be made by the naval authorities to capture deserters, and patrolmen and detectives throughout the United States do not bother much with attempting to capture them. The reward offered by the department, only $10, is too small, when it is considered that the one making the capture is compelled to pay all the expenses for himself and prisoner to the nearest point at which the deserter can be turned over.

Wilfred Emil Heikkinen, 19 years old, who gives his residence at Kalavala, Minn., yesterday enlisted in the service, and this morning left for Minneapolis, from which point he will be sent to one of the naval yards.

STABBED IN ROW OVER 15-CENT TIP

Chicago Waiter May Die and Fellow-Employe is Arrested.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—A quarrel over a 15-cent "tip" may result fatally for Albert Ray, a waiter, who is at a South side hospital with a stab wound in his neck inflicted by Robert J. Murphy, another waiter.

The men quarreled over the "tip" in the restaurant where they are employed, and Murphy drew a knife and stabbed Ray. Murphy was arrested and will be held awaiting the outcome of his injuries.

AUTOMOBILE STALLED BY BAD ROADS AT CARLTON.

Cloquet, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—B. B. Sheffield and wife and Misses Amy and Blanche Sheffield of Minneapolis, in an automobile, were stalled at Carlton owing to the bad roads and were obliged to come to Cloquet to remain until their machine was put in shape. In the party were also L. S. Madeson and wife of Faribault and C. W. Newhall and wife of Faribault. The ladies returned to their homes by rail. It had rained steadily for three days and the roads were practically impassable.

RAILROADS AWAIT ORDER TO WALK OUT

Illinois Central Employes Prepared to Act Any Time.

Written Notices Have Been Issued to Be Released By Wire.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—Reports that the 35,000 shopmen employed by the Illinois Central railroad may be ordered to strike because of the refusal of the railroad to recognize the recently organized federated union were revived here today when a story was circulated to the effect that written notices instructing the men to walk out had been sent to the various local bodies several days ago, to be held in abeyance until released by telegrams from the officers of the federated body.

In the meantime the labor chiefs gathered here are waiting for the meeting of the executive committee of the international union, scheduled to be held in Chicago Sunday afternoon, when it is expected that definite action on the strike proposition will be taken.

No further efforts will be made to meet the Illinois Central officials until after the committee meeting Sunday, it is said.

CANADA-TO-GULF ROAD PROJECTED

Erb Makes Public Extensive Plans for Hawley Roads.

New York, Sept. 8.—A new through route from Canada to the Gulf of Mexico, which is expected to rearrange the railroad map of the West in important particulars, is provided for in plans made known by Newman Erb, who, with Edwin Hawley, is actively engaged in the undertaking.

The first step in the project is to be the leasing of the Iowa Central railroad to the Minneapolis & St. Louis.

Arrangements also have been made to extend the Iowa Central to St. Louis and the Minneapolis & St. Louis to the Canadian border, thus giving the Hawley-Erb group of railroads the through route from the wheat fields of Northwestern Canada to Galveston.

It is expected that both the Canadian Northern and the Grand Trunk will connect with the new extension of the Minneapolis & St. Louis. The new route also will afford an entrance to Minneapolis and St. Paul of the Canadian Northern.

POOR PACKING CAUSES BIG LOSS

Manufacturers Use Cheap Substitutes for Substantial Wooden Boxes.

Flimsy, insufficient packing of goods for shipment costs American manufacturers many thousands of dollars every year. The introduction of cheap substitutes for substantial wooden cases is responsible for much of the trouble although modern conditions of transportation and freight handling make it more necessary than ever before that goods in transit should be thoroughly protected. American consuls abroad have protested for years that bad packing lost a vast amount of trade to our exporters. Now the abuse has become a serious matter in respect to domestic shipments. More attention is given all the time to making packages attractive in appearance, but less care is taken to make them safe. A Pittsburgh traffic expert lately estimated that "in 85 per cent of the small lot shipments moving today the construction of the material forming the box or crate, the size of the nails, etc., are entirely inadequate to protect the contents."

Fruit is shipped in paper-tin crates that are sometimes literally churned into pulp in transit. Tobacco is sent by rail in cases so flimsy that they can be perforated with a lead pencil. A shipment of tobacco in small bags arrived recently at Philadelphia with one-third of the cases so badly damaged that the contents could be easily removed through the breaks. Heavy hardware is seldom packed carefully enough to keep it from breaking through its casing. Very often no thought is taken of the damage that may be done to freight when packed in cars with heavy, rough, or pointed articles.

It is impossible for the carriers to prevent damage under such circumstances. The greatest care may be used in stowing goods in a car at the beginning of a haul, but as consignments are taken out, disarrangement follows that may be dangerous to the remaining freight, but a restowage at each stop of the train is impossible.

All the authorities agree that the way to save the large sums now lost through insufficient packing is to go back to substantial wooden cases. No safe substitute has been found for them, although the first cost of the flimsy materials may be less.

POOR PACKING CAUSES BIG LOSS

SUBMIT DISPUTE TO CONCILIATION BOARD.

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 8.—The Grand Trunk Pacific railway and the company's machinists and boilermakers have decided to submit their differences to the conciliation board appointed by the department of labor at Ottawa. The board consists of Wallace Nesbit of Toronto for the company, Thomas Murray of Winnipeg for the men, and Rev. Sparling, principal of Wesley college of Winnipeg, for the government. The men demand the same wage and hours as prevail on the Canadian Pacific and Canadian Northern railways.

Immigrants for Canada.

A party of sixty-five immigrants arrived in the city today from Eastern Canada, over the Northern Pacific road, and will leave this evening by way of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern and the Canadian Northern railroad for Western Canada, where they will locate. The party came to St. Paul over the Grand Trunk railroad, and is in charge of C. M. Harwood of Detroit, traveling passenger agent of the Grand Trunk.

Western Shopmen Meet.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 8.—An informal meeting was held this morning by the shopmen's advisory board. The international officers, early in the day, had left their headquarters on a secret mission. When they returned they were apparently surprised that the shopmen were acting on their own accord during their absence without previous arrangements. J. W. Kline, spokesman for the international officials, stated, however, that he had made no arrangement for a general conference.

PERSIAN BATTLE WON BY GERMAN

Ex-Shah's Army Overcome By Machine Guns Directed By Maj. Haaz.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 8.—Supplementary reports received today from Teheran, Persia, establish that the outcome of the battle at Imanzadeh-Jafar, Sept. 5, when the forces of the ex-shah, Mohammed Ali Mirza, suffered a crushing defeat, was decided by the government machine guns operated under the direction of the German instructor of the Persian army, Maj. Haaz.

BOARD TO PASS ON ADVERTISING

Commercial Club Taking Steps to Exclude Worthless Schemes.

A plan whereby a board of censors will pass on advertising propositions before merchants and other business men purchase space, is being worked out by a wholesalers committee of the Commercial club. The plan contemplates the exclusion of worthless advertising schemes by requiring everybody with a publicity plan obtaining the sanction of the committee before the merchants will go into it.

Public Affairs, the monthly publication of the public affairs committee of the Commercial club, explains the plan in the following manner:

"Unprofitable advertising is economic waste, and there is a wretched amount of it that falls into that class. To subscribe for every advertising scheme that is presented to the trade would be a heavy loss. To investigate each proposition is very burdensome. To refuse patronage is often irritating.

"The wholesalers committee is digesting measures for meeting that problem. A preliminary inquiry among the business houses shows that they are all interested and will adopt willingly whatever suggestions may be formulated for meeting the difficulties.

"The proposition in the main is to appoint a committee with discretionary powers to sanction or decline approval of each scheme. The subscribers to the plan agree that they will not patronize any advertising scheme without first referring it to the committee. That, in the first instance, disposes of a large proportion of the least meritorious projects. Where this plan is in operation many of these proposals never get as far as the secretary. If a plan is approved, each firm is free to use it or not, and to what extent seems profitable. If the scheme will not stand scrutiny, the merchant who refuses knows that it cannot be used as a club against him.

"In some places a protective league of this sort binds its members to pay a penalty whenever they go into any advertising scheme that is not sanctioned. In others they forfeit their membership if they do."

JUNKET IS IN FAVOR

Department and Bureau Heads Find Excuses for Traveling.

No Excuse Is Too Flimsy for Journey to Any Point.

Washington, Sept. 8.—Is the junket a thing of the past in these piping times of Democracy and insurgency? It is not, although it may be said that most of the junkets are not conducted under Democratic or insurgent auspices. Despite the cries of the reformer and the muckraker, certain statesmen and government officials display a willingness to travel extensively at the expense of the people.

Besides the projected transcontinental trip of President Taft, which will be paid for from the $25,000 appropriation made by congress to defray the chief executive's traveling expenses, there are a great number of big and little trips under way or planned by government people. For instance, Secretary of Interior Fisher is touring Alaska, Secretary of the Navy Meyer is inspecting European navy yards, and Secretary of War Stimson recently returned from a trip to Panama, Cuba and Porto Rico.

Government officials are inspecting conditions at the branches of their bureaus throughout the country. Forester Graves is making a trip to the Pacific coast and Director Newell of the reclamation service will soon follow suit. Commissioner General of Immigration Keefe not long ago returned from a tour which included Canada and Hawaii. The secretary of commerce and labor is expected to cruise up the Atlantic coast visiting lighthouses, and Secretary of Agriculture Wilson will soon begin a round of visits to Western cities attending conventions.

Go to Europe.

Members and officers of the tariff board and the Aldrich monetary commission continue their journeys about the country and in Europe from time to time. A big expedition of senators and congressmen is said to be scheduled for Panama this fall. The house committee on rivers and harbors some time ago made a run down the Ohio river. Army and navy officers are constantly making trips to inspect forts and navy yards.

One of the most interesting junkets proposed in recent years is that to attend a conference on national parks in Yellowstone park beginning Sept. 11. Sixty men are expected to attend this affair, mostly interior department officials, from Secretary Fisher down and including Assistant Secretary Thompson and Chief Clerk Ueker to superintendents of the several national parks and a few selected private secretaries and clerks.

Most of those attending the conference will travel to the Yellowstone at Uncle Sam's expense. They will assemble at Mammoth Hot Springs hotel and then take stage coaches for a six-day tour of the park. They will see all the sights and incidentally hold sessions for a time at the end of each day, discussing various matters of park administration.

Interior department officials hope that it will be demonstrated during the Yellowstone junket that the creation of a bureau of national parks in the department will be desirable, in order to bring about uniformity of administration of the parks, which are now managed in various ways, some under the interior department and some under the war department.

NO ONE NEED REMAIN FAT NOW

Physician Banishes Fat by New Marvelous Simple Method. After Drugs, Medicines, Advertised Remedies and Starvation Diets Had All Failed.

"REDUCED MY WEIGHT 100 POUNDS."

On Nov. 1st Dr. F. Turner, a well-known Philadelphia physician, was one of the fattest men in that great city. He weighed 254 pounds. His waist measured 48 inches, and he wore a 17½ collar. His health was miserable; he was weak and tired all the time; dull, heavy and stupid in mind; wasn't able to work, to sleep nights, or to digest his food. He had just been refused life insurance because of this excessive weight. He was told that his very life was in grave danger, and that unless he could get rid of his fat he might drop at any moment.

He had previously tried all the methods of flesh reduction known to medical science, starvation diets, purging, violent exercise, etc., but they had done more harm than good.

With practically a death sentence staring him in the face and a wife and family to support, Dr. Turner thought hard. He worked, experimented, studied on a plan entirely original and different from any he had used, and finally made a most wonderful scientific discovery by means of which he has actually reduced his weight 100 lbs., gaining in strength and general health with every pound he lost.

On Jan. 1st of this year Dr. Turner weighed 150 lbs.; his waist measured 37½ inches, and he wore a 15½ collar. His health is perfect, he is as capable of hard work as at 25 years of age, and his mind is clear and buoyant.

Dr. Turner's wonderful success has amazed his friends and fellow physicians. His method is simple, yet thoroughly scientific. There are no medicines or drugs to be taken, nothing to wear, no physical culture or violent exercise, no Turkish Baths, Sweating, Purging, Starvation Diets, or weakening methods of any kind. On the contrary, the system, which any person can readily practice in their own home, without medical assistance of any kind, is designed not only to remove superfluous flesh at the average rate of about 1 lb. a day, but to strengthen the entire body, and benefit the general health right from the start.

Dr. Turner's remarkable discovery and experience created widespread attention from both physicians and the general public, and he has been fairly deluged with requests for personal treatments. Close friends have urged him to specialize in this particular branch of work, where he could command large fees, but other business interests which occupy much of his time have decided him against it.

In answer, however, to the multitude of requests for information and in order that all may have the benefits of the system it was his good fortune to discover, he has prepared a small booklet treating on his method and telling every fleshy man and woman how they may accomplish the same happy result, without the least danger of inconvenience. He has mailed these books without charge to those who have written him and has a few hundred copies left which he has agreed to distribute so long as they last among fleshy people, sufficiently interested to send a two-cent stamp for postage. The Doctor's present address is Dr. F. Turner, Clark Music Bldg., Suite 813-A, Syracuse, N. Y., and any request for the booklet sent there will be given prompt attention.

PRESIDENTS SWAP TWO RAILROADS

Now Stockholders of Both Roads Must Ratify Trade.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 8.—Just as small boys would swap jack knives and old men sometimes swap horses, Judge Lovett of the Southern Pacific and E. P. Ripley of the Santa Fe are going to swap railroads. It's going to be the biggest swap on record, since Mrs. Hermann Oelrichs swapped a couple of buildings, a few miles of tideland and a few thousand dollars for the Fairmont hotel.

The railroad chiefs are not going to trade "sight unseen," or anything like that, but they are going to make a unique dicker over a few hundred miles of ties and rails.

It happens that the Southern Pacific owns a fine stretch of railroad from Majave to Needles, 242 miles long, which it doesn't use, but which the Santa Fe leases. It also happens that the Santa Fe owns a fine stretch of railroad from Nogales to Guaymas, in Mexico, 263 miles long, which it doesn't use, but which the Southern Pacific leases.

The other day President Lovett of the Southern Pacific met President Ripley of the Santa Fe in New York. The conversation veered to the two railroads mutually leased.

"Suppose you sell me that line from Mojave to Needles," suggested Ripley to Lovett.

"Suppose you sell me that line from Nogales to Guaymas," replied Lovett to Ripley.

"Suppose we swap," suggested Ripley.

"Done," said Lovett.

And now the stockholders of both roads are to be called upon to ratify the agreement.

UNDULATING GLIDE THE NIFTY THING

New Style of Walk to Be Adopted By Fair Annabelle.

New York, Sept. 8.—Among the novelties of interest to the feminine world promised for the early autumn none is more likely to make a radical change in the appearance of women than the new fall walk. Along with the new tailored street suit and her autumn hat every woman who considers herself at all in the fashion will be expected to adopt a style of gait radically different from that which he has been using for the last few months. Already women who like to be ahead of the fashion are secretly practicing the new fall walk, with the idea of springing it on an envious sisterhood as soon as they return to town and appear in their new costumes.

The word "fall," as used to describe the new style of ambulatory action, has a purely seasonal significance. In its actual characteristics the new gait is half as much of a "fall" walk as the one to which all women who aim to be in the fashion have been using for some months.

The walk of the present day is a hustling totter, with abrupt stops at intervals while the feet of the victim are being disentangled. It is the result, of course, of the tyrannical hobble skirt, with its yard and a half around the lower edge, which has compelled its wearers either to adopt the wide-spreading feet and shuffling gait of a stage Uncle Remus to toe in and totter like a Chinese woman of the bound-foot class. When American women added their native instinct for hustling to this style of foot arrangement the effect was neither gliding nor graceful.

Now that the hobble has been definitely ruled out of fashion's realm and a little more leeway is allowed in the width of the skirt around the feet, even when it is not slashed, the short totter walk is definitely discarded also, so woe to the woman who short totters after Sept. 15. The hobble totter is definitely called in for that day.

"The hobble walk," said a fashion expert today, "is the ugliest ever adopted by women since the Grecian bend, which was accompanied by a simpering artificial walk that was even worse than the hobble totter, because it lacked the fiery, although ineffectual energy of the last mentioned method of pedaling.

"With the hobble totter women seem to be doing a great deal of walking, but they don't get anywhere. Their feet come down in nearly the same place, and it takes a great deal of ambition and determination for them to make any speed at all. The new style of walk will be quite the opposite to this, as it will be graceful and swinglike and will enable women to get over a great deal of ground with apparently little exertion.

"Although the step will be lengthened, there will be no tendency to return to the brisk, masculine style of walk which was in vogue some years ago. There will be no manly strides in the fashionable woman's walk this autumn even when she has on her tailored suit. The new walk will be an undulating glide, excessively feminine, in keeping with the drooping draperies and willowy figures which are characteristic of the coming fashions."

AUTO FLEES BEFORE A KICKING CAYUSE.

White Salmon, Wash., Sept. 8.—Beaten back from their automobile trip to the ice caves near Mount Adams by a stubborn cayuse was the experience of Messrs. Duncan and Wheeler, real estate dealers of Hood River. When well up toward the caves they overtook a bunch of ponies on the way to the Indian race track on the narrow road through the timber. Mr. Duncan tried to push the machine through, but a cayuse set her front legs and when jolted by the fender let fly with her heels. The dust shields and one lamp were kicked off and the water jacket dented. Mr. Duncan tried twice to get through, but the animal was obdurate, and afraid that his steering gear would be impaired, he finally backed out of the bunch, refused to pay the squaw the money she demanded to clear the trail and retired to Trout Lake.

Believe Boy Drowned.

Fond du Lac, Wis., Sept. 8.—The finding on Wednesday in Lake Winnebago of an empty launch, known to have been taken out by George Roel, strengthens the belief that the lad, who has been missing since Monday, was drowned.

—Garment Salon, Second Floor.

Stylish Fall Skirts 4.95

—These new skirts possess a charming individuality that is seldom imparted to popular priced garments. The new panel front and back or plain gored styles are well represented in the lot. All-wool Panama is the fabric, and models are shown in black, navy, brown and gray, at $4.95.

Black Silk Waists 2.98

—A special lot of new models, bought at much under the regular value goes on sale Saturday. They are plain, tucked, pleated or fancily trimmed, and made from selected taffeta or messaline silks, sizes 34 to 44, special at only $2.98. —Second Floor.

Editorial

Store Policy

—Store policy is to a retail institution what a platform is to a political party. It's the fundamental basis upon which is reckoned a store's claim for support, it's bid for trade, from the people it serves and proposes to serve.

—Analogous to the planks of a political platform, a store policy has essential elements that (though generally not so numerous) outline it's endeavor and encompass it's sphere of usefulness.

—The policy of the Glass Block Store embraces three planks or essentials—

Dependable Merchandise,
Good Values,
Prompt Service.

—Subsequent editorials will deal further with these elements of store policy.

Charming Fall Millinery

—The widest diversity of styles of any season yet is what milady has to select from. Small, medium, large and very large shapes are stylish, and one may select most any thing that one wishes and still have assurance of being correctly dressed.

—The early hats seem to run more particularly to the small shapes, many of them showing the helmet influence, others with medium size abruptly upturned or undulating brims. Shapes are of velvet, felt, and Ottoman, and trimmed with two-tone velvet, ostrich pom pons, fancy silk or ribbon drapes

—The price range is very reasonable, $3.98, $4.98 and $5.98.

—Soft crush hats of scratch beaver are very popular. These are trimmed with silk crocheted bands with chenille tassels, making them very jaunty and genteel. Colors are pearl, champagne, green, garnet, pink and carnation red, the prices $4.98. —Millinery Salon, Second Floor.

Outing and Bath Robe Flannels

—These sharp, snappy days emphasize the need for outing and bath robe flannels. We're ready with complete assortments of the various qualities in all the new patterns and pleasing colorings.

—Outings, soft, fluffy and cozy looking outing flannels, pretty colorings, in plaids, checks, stripes and combinations, at the yard, 10c and 12½c.

—White Outing, nice and fleecy, good weights, at 7c, 8c, 10c, 12½c and 15c yard.

—Duckling Fleece, in a great range of floral and Oriental patterns, just the thing for kimonos and house dresses, the yard, 15c.

—Bath Robe Flannels, pretty colorings and many new patterns, special values at 25c and 35c the yard.

—Lerma lannelettes, a range of over 125 new patterns for selection, per yard, 10c and 12½c.

—Main Floor, West Aisle.

Notable Clearance Table Linens

—The spirited selling of linens in the past month or so has caused an accumulation of odd cloths and napkins, where there are no cloths to match napkins or napkins to match the cloths. These are to be quickly closed out now to make ready for the fall stocks, and prices have been named for hasty clearance that should transfer this splendid napery into the hands of enthusiastic buyers Saturday. Lots are not large, so early buying is in order.

—$3 Napkins, $2.25: 22x22 inches, fine satin bleached napkins, pretty patterns, regular $3 values, to close at $2.25.

—$3.50 Napkins, $2.75: Extra heavy and fine quality bleached napkins, 23x23 inches; regular $3.50 values, per dozen, $2.75.

—$4 Napkins, $2.98: Extra fine and heavy silver bleached, embossed damask napkins, 22x22 inches; regular $4 values, closing at $2.98.

—$5 Napkins, $3.50: Extra fine and heavy silver bleached, embossed damask napkins, size 24x24, $5 values, clearing at $3.50.

—$19.50 Napkins, $8: Extra fine quality double satin damask, size 27x27 inches; regular $19.50 value, per dozen $8.

—$69.50 Set, only $40: One of the finest sets we have yet shown and comprises a double satin damask cloth, size 81x81, also a dozen napkins, size 28x28. The original price of the cloth was $31 and the napkins $38.50, making the set $69.50. It goes into this sale and will be quickly taken at the extraordinary low price of $40.

—$20 Banquet Cloth, $8.50: This cloth is of square design and is 2 yards by 3½ yards. The regular value of $20 has been reduced for clearance to $8.50.

—$22.50 Banquet Cloth, $9.25: Extra heavy double damask cloth, 2½ by 4 yards; a value that was cheap at $22.50, now only $9.25.

—$19.50 Banquet Cloth, $8.75: Fine double damask cloth, 2½ by 3 yards; regular $19.50 value, closing at only $8.75.

A Sale of Pictures 15c

—Just to further acquaint the public with the location of our new picture department in the basement, we offer a lot Saturday with many extraordinary values. Many are planning to brighten up the corners of the various rooms with pictures, so here is an excellent chance to save on the pictures you need.

—The collection we offer includes cupids, madonnas, mottoes, passepartouts, gold picture frames, Sir Galahads, etc., with values ranging up to 39c, special at only 15c.

—Picture Department, Basement.

Ladies' Thread Silk Hose 39c

—There's just a small lot which our buyer picked up in the market much below value. These are not the silk "boot" kind, but are all silk from toe to top, with double heels and toes, and hem tops to re-enforce the wearing parts. Be quick to get them Saturday at, per pair, 39c.

New Fall Neckwear Styles

—A dominant fall note of the neckwear fashion is the side frill. These are of various size, and with various size pleats. They are made from Swiss or net and are simply or elaborately trimmed with dainty laces. The prices range from 35c to $1.65.

—Macrame lace collars, a new lace that closely resembles applique work, in sailor styles, white and colors, effects that are all the rage in the East, priced from 85c to $1.35.

—Main Floor, Central.

SCHOOL YEAR STARTS WELL

Regular Classes Being Held in High Schools and Grades.

Pool Halls No Place for High School Boys, Says Denfeld.

Work in the Duluth public schools started more quickly and more evenly this year than at the opening of any previous year in the history of the district, according to Supt. R. E. Denfeld. In the high schools and in the grades, regular classes are being held and the work was on a systematic basis no later than Wednesday and in some cases on Tuesday.

The fact that the weather has prevented the completion of the sewer to the Jerome Merritt school and the fact that the conflict between residents of Colbyville and the members of the school committee has confused matters at that suburb, are the only bars to absolute serenity in school affairs. As soon as the inclement weather lets up, the sewer will be completed and the Jerome Merritt school opened. The confusion at Colbyville will be straightened out after the hearing to be held there by the school committee tomorrow morning.

"All that is required for a successful school year now is the co-operation of the parents," said Mr. Denfeld this morning. "We will plan the work, present it to the children, require that the results are submitted, but the parents must do their part. If the parents take no interest, more than half of the effect of the school work is spoiled. Parents should see that outside interests do not take up so much of the attention of the children that school work is relegated to secondary consideration.

"Parents should know what their children are doing after school hours. The high school boys leave here and spread around. Some of them may go to pool halls. I don't know, for I haven't been around to find out, but I have come in contact with that in my experience. Pool halls are not the place for high school boys and if they go there, their parents should know.

No Frnternities.

"I don't believe there are any fraternities in high school now. When they did exist, the fraternities took up so much attention that studies were secondary.

"Parents are too prone to delegate their responsibilities or to abrogate them entirely. The teachers do what they can to keep attention on school work, but if the parents do not cooperate and work along the same lines, the teachers' efforts are very likely to go to naught.

"A curfew law is rot; no public laws and no rules that teachers can make or suggest for the time outside of school hours can take the place of the right kind of parental control.

"The way work has been taken up in the schools this year has been very satisfactory. In some schools, regular classes were held Tuesday. That is as it should be. I hope that next year, promotions may be made before the close of school and conflicts adjusted so that there may be no confusion and no delay at the opening of the school year."

The first principals' meeting since the opening of school will be held at the Central high school building this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Tomorrow morning, the members of the school committee will go to Colbyville and, beginning at 9 o'clock, a hearing will be held on the advisability of opening the Colbyville school. After the sentiment of the residents of the suburb is obtained, the committee will reach a decision and the probability is that the prevailing sentiment will determine the course to be followed.

WEST END

DEGREE OF HONOR CONVENTION

Under the auspices of Progress lodge No. 6 the annual convention of the Degree of Honor will be held Sept. 14 at Columbia hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street. Delegates will attend from all parts of the state.

Zenith lodge No. 99 and West Duluth lodge No. 45 will assist Progress lodge in entertaining the visitors. The program for the convention consists of a business session at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, a banquet at 6 p. m. and an open meeting at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Dora B. Burgess of Minneapolis, grand chief of honor; Mrs Schroeder of Minneapolis, deputy, and other prominent officers will be among those who will make the principal addresses. The committees in charge of the affair are:

Banquet—Mrs. Elizabeth Nichols, chairman; Mrs. Rena Gottschald, Mrs. Catherine O'Neill, Mrs. Nettie Olsen, Mrs. Elsie Smith, Mrs. Maggie Heglund, Mrs. Addie McGregor.

Entertainment—Mrs. Alice Reamer, chairman, and Mrs. M. Fairington.

WEST END IS DRY FOR FEW MINUTES

Break in Water Main Causes Temporary Suspension of Service.

A break in the 20-inch main, which supplies the business and a greater part of the residence districts of the West end with water, caused the water supply to be cut off for a short time this morning.

The break was discovered at Thirteenth avenue west and Michigan street. The action of the water caused the earth to give away and the pavement dropped into a sink hole. As soon as the break was reported, the water was turned off.

Another 10-inch main is now supplying the West end with water from the West Duluth reservoir. It will take nearly a day to dig down to the break and repair it. By tomorrow, however, the water and light officials expect to have the main in working order again.

CHICAGO MAN WILL SPEAK

Rev. Israel Markus, a Christian Jew and a missionary among his people with headquarters in Chicago, will conduct services in the Swedish language at the Swedish temple, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street, Sunday evening at 7:45 o'clock.

The Sunday school convention will open at 9:45 o'clock Sunday morning. It has been at 10 before. The divine services will be held at 11 o'clock, when members of the congregation will take part.

Rev. Swaney Nelson, pastor, is away attending the general conference of Swedish churches in the United States and Canada, which is in session this week at Kiron, Ia. At 5 o'clock the young people's society will hold a service. The following is the program:

Asbjeld Funeral.

The funeral of Mrs. Selma Asbjeld, aged 47, who died of tuberculosis yesterday at the family residence, 2026 West First street, and who is survived by her husband, Ole, and five children, will take place Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Olson & Crawford undertaking rooms, 2118 West First street to Lutheran cemetery. Rev. Rosholt, pastor of Immanuel Norwegian Lutheran church of West Duluth will officiate.

Close Baseball Season.

The Young Men's Sodality of St. Clement's Catholic church has just closed a successful baseball season and the members are now giving their attention to a three-act comedy drama entitled "The Flower of the Family," which will be given Thursday evening, Sept. 28. A new stage has already been installed and the Sodalists are practicing several evenings of each week in an effort to make this play even more successful than those of the past. Those who will assume roles are: James Wade, Daniel England, John Schiltz, George Ceass, John Miller, Mary England, Alice Kennedy and Louise Emerson.

Last Dancing Party.

The last of the series of dancing parties to be given by the Adams Athletic association of the West end will take place next Thursday evening at Lincoln Park pavilion. The parties have proved popular this summer and the Adams members have established a reputation as entertainers. Last evening the weekly dancing party was held, a large crowd attending despite the threatening weather.

West End Briefs.

J. J. Moe has returned from a two weeks' business trip to New York and other Eastern points. He also attended the annual conference of the Norwegian-Danish M. E. churches last week at Racine, Wis.

Victor Juten has returned from a visit to the state fair.

The women of the West end English Lutheran Sunday school will conduct a home baking sale Saturday at the Anderson-Thoorsell store.

Miss Edna Kasner of Acoca, Iowa, is visiting at the home of Miss Mary Nelson of 2723 West First street.

Former Alderman Peter Olson has returned from a visit at the state fair.

Miss Alice Jensen of 114 North Twenty-first avenue west has gone to St. Paul for a few days' visit.

The funeral of Dorothy Marie Scholtes, aged 4 months, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Scholtes will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence, 2323 West Third street, to Forest Hill cemetery.

The Rebekah guild of St. Peter's Episcopal church will be entertained Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John Wallin of 2332 West Fifth street.

August Anderson of 2131 West Seventh street has gone to Minneapolis for a short visit.

Mary Elizabeth, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Finn of 1719 West First street, was buried this afternoon, the funeral being held from the residence at 2 o'clock to Park Hill cemetery. Rev. J. M. Nervig, pastor of Zion Norwegian Luthern church officiated.

Frank Gustafson, who was a substitute pastor at Bethany Swedish Lutheran church during the summer months, when Rev. C. G. Olson was away, will preach tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock at Munger. He is a divinity student, who was recently appointed to the missionary field for this district.

AMUSEMENTS

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—Forbes Stock company in "The Wolf."
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.
EMPRESS—Vaudeville.

Amusement Notes.

The Gus A. Forbes Stock company will present "The Wolf" at the Lyceum this evening and tomorrow afternoon and night, closing the summer engagement in Duluth. A splendid production of this interesting play is being given, and the performance is the finest offered by Mr. Forbes and his players during the season.

With tomorrow night's engagement the company will disband. Mr. Forbes will go to Canada for a few weeks' rest. During his vacation he will complete the details of the plans for planting his fruit ranch in British Columbia.

Miss Jane Stuart, who is playing the role of Hilda this week, is not only playing her farewell Duluth engagement, but her farewell to the stage, for immediately at the close of the season she will go to Boston, where her wedding will take place this month at the home of her mother.

Edwin Brandt will return to the Liebler forces and will be in the production of "The Garden of Allah," which will be one of the most interesting of the new offerings this season. Westropp Saunders will return to the support of Blanche Bates in "Nobody's Widow," which played all of last season in New York. The play, which was one of the successes of the season, will be on the road this year. Miss Nesta de Becker will be with a production of "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm." Mr. Van Renselear, Perry Golden and Ray Phillips have not definitely decided upon their season's work.

Tomorrow afternoon's matinee will be the last Forbes matinee for the summer.

Bag-punching as the ideal exercise for women is advocated by Miss Harriet Seeback, who is appearing at the Orpheum this week with her brother in a remarkable bag-punching act.

"Bag-punching exercises every muscle in the body," said Miss Seeback. "It is not violent exercise, but it brings all the muscles into play, and what I consider more important than anything else, it quickens what athletes call 'the eye.' To punch a bag properly requires speed. One is taught to move the muscles rapidly, and it gives control over the muscles that no other form of exercise can give. It requires constant alertness to keep a punching bag moving, and the muscles must respond instantly. Some exercises become mechanical. Swedish movements, for instance, are apt to make a person heavy or slow-moving, I think, but a person cannot be slow-moving and punch a bag.

"Awkwardness in women comes from lack of control over the muscles. The graceful woman is the woman whose muscles respond easily and perfectly to the brain impulse. Nothing can develop this ready response like bag-punching, and for awkward girls or women I would suggest this exercise. You need not fear developing bulging arm muscles, for you won't. The bulging muscles are generally developed by weight-lifting or some such exercise, and they are the poorest kind of muscles. They are slow and tight and tire easily. The right kind of muscle is the long, quickly moving, flexible kind that bag-punching gives. Frank Gotch is a man of this type, and Hackenschmidt is a man of the bulging-muscle type."

One of the daintiest specialties on the Empress bill this week is the act given by the Two Roses, two charming young women who have arranged an excellent musical and singing number. All of the fragrance that their name suggests is upheld in their offering, which is distinctly new and original. Young and pretty, gowned in neat but not showy frocks, these girls present a very pretty picture. They play the violin, piano, 'cello and cornet and their repertoire is comprised of popular and classical compositions, and they present their various specialties with genuine artistry.

No more popular offering in the course of the theatrical season visits city than "In Old Kentucky." No one who has seen this play in the last year or two can question for a moment the statement that it is as fresh and as inspiring as it was when it was first brought out. It is a drama of the truest, breeziest sort—clean, sweet and wholesome, with genuine heart interest, swift action, terse dialogue and thrilling incidents. It is always given by a most capable company and presented with elaborate scenic accesories. The picturesque and amusing score of little pickaninnies, always a component part of "In Kentucky," remain a notable feature of the presentation. The play will be given here on Sunday night, Sept. 10.

Every time you see an Irish flag you will notice that a harp with entwined shamrocks forms its principal decorations, and it may be for that reason that Chauncey Olcott first got the idea of carrying a solo harpist with his company. That it has been a success is proven by the favorable newspaper comments that have been made on this innovation this season. Every musical critic agrees that the sweet music of the harp exactly harmonizes with the clear notes that Mr. Olcott is noted for, and the songs which are always a feature with his plays are attracting more attention than ever this season. As rendered by this clever artist, these songs, with the accompanying melody on the harp, linger long in the memory. No other singer sings like Olcott, and the four songs that he is singing this year will become as popular as those of past seasons. They include a popular ditty entitled "The Girl I'll Call My Sweetheart Must Look Like You," a quaint ballad with the fetching title of "With The Twinkle In Her Eye,' a dainty ditty entitled "Macushla," and a plaintive song with the title, "Good-Bye, My Emerald Land."

How to Live Long-- and Feel Young

Thousands of men and women who have passed their allotted "three-score-years-and-ten" owe their longevity to Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey.

And with their advanced years has not come the doddering helplessness of old age; the spirit of youth has stayed with them.

MR. R. H. CHASE, 79 years of age.

At the Duffy Malt Whiskey Co.'s Laboratories in Rochester, N. Y., there are files of letters from men and women of over seventy—many who have almost reached the century mark—who used Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey fifty years ago, and today in the sunset of their lives, they are still using it, still depending on it—for the good it has done and is doing them.

One of more than passing interest is given here: "I have been a constant user of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey for many years, and although I am now past 73 years of age and soon will reach my seventy-ninth birthday, I can outwalk most of the young men of to-day. My strength and activity and my ability to enjoy life are due to the use of your valuable whiskey. I am now negotiating with a view of starting a fruit farm in either Washington or Michigan, as I feel like a young man with all the world before me. There is one thing certain, I will always keep Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey with me, and I can conscientiously recommend it to all old people if they wish to keep young and vigorous." R. H. Chase, 7218 South Morgan St., Chicago, Ill.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is an absolutely pure medicinal malt whiskey distilled from especially selected ingredients under the watchful eyes of expert chemists and under the most hygienic conditions in the best equipped laboratories in the world.

It is a complete medicine chest of great value. For sudden illnesses of any kind it affords great relief and as a daily tonic—for body building, for a stimulant with no reaction—it stands supreme.

Sold in sealed bottles only by druggists, grocers and dealers, or direct. $1.00 a large bottle. Our doctors will send you advice free, together with a valuable illustrated medical booklet on application. The Duffy Malt Whiskey Co., Rochester, N. Y.

HOT-WEATHER LIVER TROUBLE

Many people who generally enjoy good health suffer from biliousness in summer time. Rich foods served ice-cold are difficult to digest by the majority, and often produce a chilling of the entire digestive tract. The liver thus becomes sluggish, when the condition known as biliousness results. This is often acompanied by constipation or indigestion. Serious as it may seem, however, to the unfortunate person, it is easily curable with a remedy such as the well-known Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a great laxative and tonic, and which contains ingredients that act upon the liver and stimulate it. It will relieve a hot-weather liver complaint over night and cure it lastingly in a very short time. If you have any indisposition of the stomach, liver or bowels, your first concern should be a supply of this grand remedy, which you can obtain of any druggist for 50 cents or $1.00 a bottle. There will be enough and to spare for your complaint and that of your family. A FREE TRIAL BOTTLE will be sent to those who have never used it if they send their name and address to

LA FOLLETTE IS INDORSED

Progressive Republican Banquet at Minneapolis Booms Him for President.

Speeches By Congressman Lenroot and Prof. Merriam of Chicago.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 8.—More than 300 Progressive Republicans from the four corners of Minnesota, banquetting at the West hotel here last night, hailed with acclaim Senator Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin as the logical standard-bearer of advanced Republicanism in the next presidential campaign. Resolutions pledging support to the Wisconsin senator, "first, last and all the time" in the contest for the presidential nomination, were adopted.

Congressman Lenroot of Superior, Wis., and Prof. C. E. Merriam of Chicago, late Republican candidate for mayor of that city, were the principal speakers, although State Senator Ole O. Sageng of Ottertail county, an "original La Follette man," stood in the limelight long enough to say that "a clean Democrat in all probability would carry Minnesota if Taft were renominated."

The banquet formally opened the La Follette campaign in Minnesota for the nomination for president on the Republican ticket.

Mr. Merriam made no specific reference to President Taft, and failed to mention Mr. La Follette by name, contenting himself with a general discussion of progressive measures and ideas and several strictures on "machine politics."

More than 300 Republicans sat at the banquet table. W. E. Lee of Long Prairie, Minn., was toastmaster.

Lenroot Praises La Follette.

"The United States senate for years," said Congressman Lenroot in the course of his address, "has been looked upon as the very citadel of special privilege. In January, 1906, the people of Wisconsin sent to that boy the man who has restored representative government in that state, believing that with his uncompromising patriotism, his deep and abiding conviction of public right and public duty, his constructive statesmanship, he could render valuable assistance in restoring representative government to the whole American people."

Having paid exalted tribute to Senator La Follette, as a constructive statesman and as a relentless foe of the interests, the speaker said: "Great progress has been made, but it has been under difficulty."

Here he arraigned President Taft for alleged unfaithfulness to the people. "Since March 4, 1909," he said, "it has been difficult to tell who was the president of the United States, or where he should be placed. Elected as a Progressive Republican, President Taft chose a reactionary cabinet. Before election he condemned reactionaries and espoused the Roosevelt policies. After election he appointed Ballinger and retired Garfield and Pinchot. Every Progressive Republican in the senate and house incurred his displeasure, and Aldrich and Cannon became his advisers. He then attempted to punish the Progressive Republicans in the house and senate by depriving them of all control over federal patronage. This action conclusively shows how little conception the president has of the character of Progressive Republicans and what they are fighting for. If any Progressive Republican had been coerced by this attempt of the president, he would have been a traitor to the country."

Mr. Lenroot condemned the reciprocity agreement with Canada, declaring that history will record the attempted betrayal of 9,000,000 of our farmers to the greed of great interests.

The speaker condemned the president for signing the Payne-Aldrich tariff measure while vetoeing the recent tariff measures—the products of insurgency.

Merriam on "Spoils" Politics.

Mr. Merriam did not mention the name of Senator La Follette; neither did he, by any stretch of the imagination, refer to him as one about to be chosen to lead the militant hosts of progression.

"The progressive movent," he said, "instead, is greater than any individual and broader than any political machine."

Likewise silent on the administration of President Taft, Mr. Merriam devoted much of his time to an arraignment of "spoils" politics, as he saw it exemplified in "Lorimerism" and "Jackpotism."

"Progressive Republicans," said the speaker, "believe that many elements in existing political conditions are seriously wrong, and we propose to fight them. The spoils men and the special interests have given us too many cases of expensive and inefficient government with high taxes and poor service."

Mr. Merriam declared the problem of securing truly Democratic government is agitating every state in the union, and held that the direct primary, direct election of United States senators, the initiative, referendum, and recall and corrupt practices act, are all parts of the progressive program. The initiative and referendum, he said, would help break up the infamous alliance between political machines and the special privilege-seeking interests, which he declared, had been the curse of American public life for the last generation.

La Follette Indorsed.

The following resolutions, introducted by Leonard Erickson of Fergus Falls, indorsing Robert M. La Follette for the presidential nomination of the Republican party, were adopted:

"Political and industrial conditions are unsatisfactory as a result of the influence of the special interests in government. This influence is maintained by controlling political parties and electing business agents instead of statesmen to public office.

"The servility of politicians to the standpat demands of unfair business has become intolerable, but without opportunity for direct legislation, the average citizen is helpless. To accomplish desired results, organization is necessary. The Progressive Republican league proposes laws that will prevent corrupt elections as well as insure control of government by the people themselves.

"We therefore indorse the national progressive movement in the Republican party and promise our support to an aggressive campaign for its fundamental principles.

"We further approve the campaign row in progress to secure control of the next national Republican convention for the purpose of nominating candidates whose public record and personal convictions are in harmony with these principles, and we declare it to be our conviction that the ability, patriotism and record of the Hon. Robert M. La Follette, as a lawmaker and executive makes him the leader of the progressive movement and the logical nominee of the Republican party for president at its next convention.

"We pledge ourselves to work for his nomination and election first, last and all the time."

Walter L. Houser, secretary of the National Progressive Republican league, in charge of the league's bureau at Washington, attended the banquet. He vouchsafed the opinion that the Progressive Republicans will control the next national Republican convention, and that Minnesota will be for La Follette.

FAMILY OF SEVEN WALKING TO TEXAS

Husband Anaemic and Run Down, Now Hale and Hearty.

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 8.—With five children, the youngest twenty months old, Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Butterfield of New York arrived in Rochester after walking the entire distance from the metropolis, and made their way to the office of Mayor Edgerton, where they reported to Ordnance Sergeant Dennis McCarthy. They desired to have their names taken at the mayor's office and to get a permit to dispose of postcards to obtain a revenue to make their way along toward Texas.

Mrs. Butterfield, who was cheerful and looked healthy, explained the reason for the proposed trip from New York to Texas. She said it took considerable determination to decide to leave New York with three children in a baby carriage and two walking with their parents. The children, she said, were a little uncomfortable at first, but gradually became accustomed to the daily program.

"We want to demonstrate," said Mrs. Butterfield, "that families may get, without any great amount of money, out of the congested districts if they have the courage. My husband was not well and had not been for some time before we left. We decided that we must get out into the open country. Mr. Butterfield is a lawyer. He had offices at No. 115 Broadway. He seemed gradually to break down under the strain of work.

"We left New York May 11 with $2.50. We made our way to Hyde Park, walking about seven miles a day. I sold dusting caps on the way. When we reached the Albany section my husband worked in the hay fields. At times I picked cherries. Some business men in Albany who became interested in us suggested that we have some postcards printed so that we could sell them. This we are now doing.

"We are going to Texas, where we will establish a home on a farm. We are going to make producers out of our children instead of non-producers. They would be non-producers if they remained in New York. My husband's health has greatly improved since we left New York. He became anaemic there, but now he seems to be hale and hearty as a result of the new outdoor life. The children are also well. The eldest of the children is 9."

INVENTOR OF ICE CREAM SODA IS DISCOVERED.

Chico, Cal., Sept. 8.—It has been officially determined by the Confectioners' Journal that ice cream soda was invented by Mrs. E. A. Warren of Chico.

In 1885 ice cream soda was a popular drink. It consisted of soda water flavored with a syrup, with a tablespoon of pure fresh cream added.

Mrs. Warren, who assisted her husband in his store, had trouble in keeping the cream from souring. When there was no fresh cream on hand she substituted ice cream.

Patrons seemed to like the combination, began calling for it regularly and demanded that a larger amount of ice cream be used.

Thus it was ice cream soda was invented.

ESTRANGED MANY YEARS BY LETTERS WITHHELD.

Shepardstown, W. Va., Sept. 8.—An unusual romance was behind the marriage here the other day of Charles H. Hoffman of Dallas, Tex., and Mrs. Josephine V. Freese of Shepardstown, who after the ceremony started at once for Dallas. Thiry years ago Hoffman and Mrs. Freese, then Miss Hyder, who lived at Moorefield, W. Va., were sweethearts. Hoffman wrote to her from Shepardstown, but Miss Hyder never received the letters, and Hoffman never received a reply, which led each to disbelieve in the other.

Hoffman settled in Dallas, Tex., where he married. Miss Hyder married Capt. Samuel Freese. After many years the couple allege that they learned that their letters had been opened by a clerk in the Moorefield postoffice, who sought to break the engagement and marry Miss Hyder himself.

Hoffman's wife dying, and Capt. Freese passing away a few days ago, the couple, who were separated thirty years ago, renewed the old romance.

DUCKING GIVEN JUDGE BY KENTUCKY WOMAN.

Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 8.—Undaunted at the demand of Police Judge Herndon to stop sprinkling the street in front of her residence so as to let the county court day crowd of horse traders and stock sellers use the street for their stock, Mrs. Jennie Cardwell, a society woman, turned the hose on Judge Herndon, giving him a "soaking."

Complaint has been made to the judge by Luke Hansbrol that Mrs. Cardwell had given him a soaking because he refused to move his stock in front of her house.

Judge Herndon went to intercede when he received his ducking. Warrants were sworn out, but owing to the prominence of the parties the matter will be settled out of court.

Mrs. Cardwell has behind her in her fight to break up the use of the residence part of the city as a stockyards, the prominent society of North Frankfort, and they declare that next court day the stock traders will be greeted by columns of water if they attempt to use the streets for their stock.

MANUFACTURERS CROSS BORDER INTO CANADA.

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 8.—The vanguard of the anticipated American invasion, invited by reciprocity, is already in sight.

Already large areas of private lands near Ottawa and along the St. Maurice river have been taken up by American paper interests, and it is understood that representations will soon be made to the Quebec authorities regarding the investment of many millions of dollars if the export taxation is removed. In Quebec one proposition involves the expenditure of $30,000,000 for the construction of mills, water powers, etc., to manufacture news print in that province, also cardboard an dsimilar products and chemical pulp for further manufacture into higher grades of paper.

All this capital and more, it is understood, is ready for immediate investment, although most of it will await the decision of the provincial government on the crown lands timber question.

SMALL BULLSNAKE IS SWALLOWED BY RABBIT.

Grass Valley, Colo., Sept. 8.—While out hunting last week, Harry Seymour shot and killed a young cottontail rabbit. When he was about to pick up the dead animal Seymour noticed something protruding from its mouth. Upon investigation he discovered that it was a portion of a small bullsnake. Seymour removed the piece of snake, which was several inches in length, and threw it away. After cutting the rabbit open other portions of the snake were found in its stomach. The snake was at least a foot long. This is the first instance of the kind known.

HEADS OF GREATEST MANUFACTURING CORPORATION IN THE WORLD TELL OF OPERATIONS PLANNED FOR ZENITH CITY

Banquet Tendered Visiting Steel Magnates at Kitchi Gammi Club.

Guests Review Progress Made on Duluth's Newest and Greatest Industry.

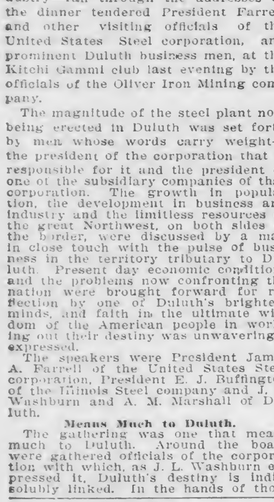

Optimism—for Duluth, for the Northwest, for the nation for the steel industry—ran through the addresses at the dinner tendered President Farrell and other visiting officials of the United States Steel corporation, and prominent Duluth business men, at the Kitchi Gammi club last evening by the officials of the Oliver Iron Mining company.

The magnitude of the steel plant now being erected in Duluth was set forth by men whose words carry weight—the president of the corporation that is responsible for it and the president of one of the subsidiary companies of that corporation. The growth in population, the development in business and industry and the limitless resources of the great Northwest, on both sides of the border, were discussed by a man in close touch with the pulse of business in the territory tributary to Duluth. Present day economic conditions and the problems now confronting the nation were brought forward for reflection by one of Duluth's brightest minds, and faith in the ultimate wisdom of the American people in working out their destiny was unwaveringly expressed.

The speakers were President James A. Farrell of the United States Steel corporation, President E. J. Buffington of the Illinois Steel company and J. L. Washburn and A. M. Marshall of Duluth.

Means Much to Duluth.

The gathering was one that means much to Duluth. Around the board were gathered officials of the corporation with which, as J. L. Washburn expressed it, Duluth's destiny is indissolubly linked. In the hands of those men rests the development of the great resources of the iron ranges and the building and extension of the steel industry here. On the development of the mineral resources of the ranges and the establishment and extension of the steel manufacturing industry depends much of Duluth's future, commercial and industrial.

The officials of the steel corporation came here to make an inspection of the properties in this section of the country. The opportunity was improved to meet representative men of Duluth and to form relations that would put on the basis of personal and business friendship the common interests of the men of Duluth and the men who control the policy of the steel corporation. The luncheon at the Commercial club yesterday and the dinner at the Kitchi Gammi club last evening served to generate a spirit of co-operation that is expected by all concerned to accelerate and substantiate Duluth's growth and development.

W. J. Olcott Toastmaster.

W. J. Olcott, president of the Oliver Iron Mining company, was toastmaster at the dinner last evening, and the others present were: A. M. Marshall, Mayor M. E. Cullum, A. H. Comstock, A. B. Wolvin, A. L. Ordean, A. D. Thomson, A. C. Weiss, Luther Mendenhall, F. B. Kellog of St. Paul, Rt. Rev. James McGolrick, G. G. Barnum, Solon L. Perrin of Superior, J. L. Washburn, Pentecost Mitchell, Thomas F. Cole, W. W. Walker, George L. Reis, E. D. Adams, G. W. Buck, Mille Bunnell, F. A. Patrick, J. H. McLean, Julius H. Barnes, Rev. John Walker Powell, C. A. Severance of St. Paul, George D. Swift, J. R. Adams, G. A. Tomlinson, M. H. Alworth, George C. Stone, W. E. Richardson and A. M. Miller, Jr.

PROBLEMS TO BE SOLVED

J. L. Washburn Speaks on Present Day Economic Conditions.

True Prosperity Only When Honest Effort Gets Just Reward.

J. L. Washburn spoke as follows at the dinner at the Kitchi Gammi club last evening:

"I cannot adequately express the gratification of our citizens in having here in our midst so many of the chief operating officers of the great company with which the interests of this section are indissolubly bound, the great company which holds in trust the savings of almost numberless citizens, great and small, in all parts of our country, who depend upon its honest management and successful conduct for the regular disbursement of the earnings upon their investments, the aggregate of which makes up the gross capital with which you operate.

"The ideal condition, from the investor's point of view, exists when the savings and capital of many people can be united and, by trusted managers, made to do for all what none could do by himself or for himself or with his own capital. The ideal condition, from the operative's point of view, exists when employes are actuated by loyalty and realize that their employer is entitled to have their best work done for him, and when they can feel assured that individual effort will have individual reward.

Company Almost Ideal.

"Speaking solely as an observer and as one who earnestly longs for the prosperity of all of the people and for the supremacy of sound public judgment, I am frank enough to say that I believe that your company and its constituent companies which you represent have approximated the conditions I have suggested as nearly as yet have been attained by human enterprise.

"I am aware that it is more appropriate to speak in lighter vein when men surround an abundant table, but I cannot rid myself of the feeling that the times and conditions in our beloved country call for the serious consideration of all thinking men, and that it should be the effort of us all, whether we are men of large or small affairs, to endeavor to understand our conditions, our relations to each other and to the government, to discern, if possible, our duty, and be courageous enough to perform it.

> "There have been and are evils in our country to eradicate, but we must try to be sure that the remedies sought to be applied are not more dangerous than the evils themselves.
> "There have been crises in our country when human life and human liberty were in the balance, and the occasion called for the heroic and patriotic action of our citizens. But there never was a time, in my judgment, which called louder for the patriotic and thoughtful action of American citizens, to the end that a just and righteous solution of economic questions be reached, than the very time in which we live tonight.

Great Responsibilities.

"There never was a time when those in positions of trust and power and leadership had greater problems to solve and greater responsibilities than now. The men who honestly try to meet these responsibilities, whether in public or private life, are entitled to the loyal support of us all.

"The men who agitate for agitation's sake, who insurge just to insurge, who stimulate prejudice and stifle the truth for personal notoriety or personal advantage, are not true leaders, are usually men who have neither capacity nor principle to insure the faithful performance of any trust, and who are entitled only to the condemnation of thinking, patriotic citizens; and our people are patriotic and actuated by the spirit of justice when not misled or deceived.

"'Pray for the peace of Jerusalem,' was a cry that went up long ago. Peace and prosperity are of close kinship. One is not likely long to abide without the other. Both are in fact earnestly desired by all who are not either moral or intellectual delinquents.

"True prosperity is only attained when all have the just reward for their honest efforts and when none has the reward which justly belongs to another.

> "The best and most loyal citizenship will be constructed when no one has the power to tax another in different proportion than he taxes himself and when everybody pays his proper toll for the support of the government, administered with decent economy and prudence, without exemption, whether it be one penny or $1,000,000. On no other basis can equality among citizens exist.

Government Should Protect.

"A government to be worthy of maintenance should protect all of its citizens. It should not oppress the poor and give advantage to the rich; neither should it tax the rich and great, deny them the security of a fair trial, and leave them to provide their own protection or go without.

"Nothing radiates beneficent fragrance so far and so permeating as the flower of prosperity; nothing emits its destructive odors so relentlessly as the weeds of dissension and injustice. Only poverty, desolation and crime thrive in the soil swept by their baneful breath.

"The fruits of crime are not evidences of prosperity, but the fruits of industrious effort, of good management, of genius and enterprise, properly secured to the enjoyment of those who earn them, are the surest evidences of prosperity and the greatest stimulus to human effort; and the thoughtless will never know how much their own share of prosperity depends upon such a condition until they succeed, if they ever do, in destroying it. The Irishman long ago told you that he never missed his dog until he was gone.

Justice to All Alike.

"Out of the present perplexing condition there must come the understanding on the part of us all and the learning over again of the lesson that at the foundation of government, underlying any peace and prosperity for all, there must be not only security of life but security of property, whether the same be in the wage for a day's work, or in the greater rewards of greater efforts and greater enterprises and that to all alike justice is to be impartially administered. Then and only then will the pursuit of happiness be open to all.

> "For careless and flippant optimism I have little regard, but somehow I think we may be justified in the faith that if we all do our duty, a solution of the present difficulties will ultimately be reached in the establishment of our material affairs upon a firmer and more stable and equitable basis, freed, although perhaps at high cost, from the evils which have beset us in the past.

> "I do not believe there can be regulation by law without protection by law. It cannot be said logically or justly to human workers, you must compete even to your own ruin while your power for successful competition is regulated away from you. The management of a great enterprise cannot be regulated and controlled by government in all respects except providing the finances, while at the same time such enterprises are left open to destructive attack without corresponding protection by law.

Ethics and Business.

"If managers of great enterprises like yours will not forget that there should be no divorcement between ethics and business and will manage your great industries upon the basis of righteousness between men, then you have the best grounds for the belief that when the smoke of indiscriminate agitation and incrimination shall be cleared away, you will be found still upholding as one of the stable institutions of the country.

"I cannot close these already too long remarks without expressing the delight we have as we note the progress of your great plant upon our shores, which is being builded as one of the enduring enterprises of the future, and which, we trust will long thrive with a prosperity that shall benefit the owners, its operatives and all of the people in the heart of a great territory densely populated with consumers of your product. For even yet can I close without expressing the confidence and esteem in which those of you who live in our midst are held by us all. There has been no demand of good citizenship or of humanity that you have not met and it is our pleasure as citizens of Duluth to honor you and to mention your good works to those of your associates who have not the good fortune to live in our midst."

Fisher Back in Seattle.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 8.—Secretary of the Interior Fisher, who left Seattle Aug. 16 on a tour of Alaska, arrived here yesterday on the revenue cutter Tohoma. Secretary Fisher's trip included journeys over the whole mileage of the three railroads of Alaska, the government wagon roads and a river voyage on the Yukon. Mr. Fisher said he did not wish to make a statement on the conclusions he had reached as to betterment of conditions in Alaska.

PLANT HERE IS JUSTIFIED

President Buffington Says Duluth Can Qualify as Steel City.

Raw Material Assembled Cheaply at Natural Distributing Point.

E. J. Buffington of Chicago, president of the Illinois Steel company, spoke on the importance of the Duluth steel plant, in his remarks at the Kitchi Gammi club last evening. He said:

"After one day's visit in your charming city I realize that the biggest mistake I ever made in my life was in not having been born in Duluth.

"The toastmaster has referred to the remarks of a certain Kentucky statesman which were made forty years ago. I am reminded thereby that the statesman in referring to the euphony in the name of this city, in attempting to describe its indescribable charm, likened it unto the musical murmurings of a fountain as it flowed out amidst the perfume of roses. My day's enjoyment in Duluth has convinced me that the genial hospitality of the citizens of this city of euphonious name is just as indescribably charming as the euphony of the name itself.

Visit to the Steel Plant.

"We visited this afternoon the site of the steel plant of the Minnesota Steel company. For some of us that was the first visit we have made to that site. Duluth is about to make her debut as one of the several steel producing centers located on our Great Lakes. The plant at Gary, Ind., certainly welcomed the advent of Duluth as a friendly competitor in the steel business. We at Chicago and at Gary realize, and realize more fully whenever we come to this teeming West, that there is ample room for the capacity of all our plants.

"The success of the steel producing plant now under construction in your city is certainly assured when we take into consideration the underlying economic conditions that justify the location of a plant at this point. The assembling of raw material for the manufacture of steel can certainly be done economically at Duluth, and the cost of distribution to the great Northwest will certainly be favorable from Duluth, and those two factors are the chief factors in determining the suitability of location for any manufacturing enterprises—the cost of assembling the raw material and the cost of distributing the finished products in the direction of demand.

"Another assurance of success of the plant is, in my opinion, that it is being carried on by an organization that has large resources at its command; but, more than that, the essential to which the first speaker referred—a desire first to do that which is right.

Co-operation Is Needed.

"But with all the resources at the command of the United States Steel corporation it cannot make a success of the Duluth plant without the co-operation of the people in the community in which the plant is located. That is true not only of the plant at Duluth, but it is true wherever the Steel corporation has a plant located. Each plant needs the co-operation of its community. Co-operation is the essential of success.

"I think all of us can look forward to the time when Duluth, with its steel plant, will take care of the rapidly growing demand for finished steel products, which will be tributary to this city, that demand coming from the further development of this great, resourceful Northwest that surrounds you."

TRUMPET BLASTS OF OPTIMISM

BY PRESIDENT JAMES A. FARRELL.

"We regard the future of the steel industry of this country as intimately concerned with the trend and growth of commerce and population, and it is our purpose to establish a permanent industry here and to develop with you."

"Pessimism has been overdone, pernicious agitation is waning, and it is reassuring to the business world that the people are beginning to realize it, and, with a clearer perspective, are learning more about the conditions under which modern business is conducted."

"No one business and no one country can make progress unless the business of all advances. A recognition of the dependence of each man's business and each country's business, for its prosperity and progress, upon the prosperity and progress of all, is necessary in order to make real progress."

BY J. L. WASHBURN.

"There have been and are evils in our country to eradicate, but we must try to be sure that the remedies sought to be applied are not more dangerous than the evils themselves."

"True prosperity is only attained when all have the just reward for their honest efforts, and when none has the reward which justly belongs to another."

"The best and most loyal citizenship will be constructed when no one has the power to tax another in different proportion than he taxes himself."

BY A. M. MARSHALL.

"Duluth, though handicapped in many ways in the past, has made a substantial growth, and we believe has a very bright future—being one of the great distributing points in the country, with splendid railroad facilities reaching this large, wonderful territory west of us."

"With the facts we have before us, can there be a doubt in the mind of any one here that this plant of the United States Steel corporation is warranted; that the building of it will reflect credit upon the projectors and will be pointed to with pride, not only by our citizens, but the people of Minnesota and the Northwest?"

BY E. J. BUFFINGTON.

"The success of the steel-producing plant now under construction in your city is certainly assured, when we take into consideration the underlying economic conditions that justify the location of a plant at this point."

"I think all of us can look forward to the time when Duluth, with its steel plant, will take care of the rapidly growing demand for finished steel products, which will be tributary to this city."

PERMANENT INDUSTRY

Steel Corporation Building Here for All Time, Says President Farrell.

No Longer Thought Necessary to Bring Ore to the Fuel.

In his address at the Kitchi Gammi club last evening, President James A. Farrell of the United States Steel corporation declared it to be the intention of the corporation to build, in the steel plant here, a permanent industry that will develop with the city.

He went into the history of the steel plant, pointed to the expenditures made in the last year by other subsidiaries of the corporation, and offered them as evidence of the corporation's interest in the Northwest and its intention to develop its resources here.

Mr. Farrell said:

"It is a great pleasure to the officials of the United States Steel corporation and its subsidiary companies to meet, in this friendly way, the prominent citizens of Duluth. It has long been our desire to know you gentlemen better and to have you know us, so that all may feel the community of interest existing between us.

JAMES A. FARRELL.

"We are deeply interested in our properties in Minnesota and in the advancement and development of the great Northwest. Proof of our interest and intentions is evidenced by the sums of money that have been and are to be appropriated for building the Minnesota Steel company's plant, thus demonstrating the importance, from a productive and consumptive standpoint, of the territory contiguous to your great city.

> "At the inception of the steel industry in this country, it was considered necessary to bring the ore to the fuel. In reversing this procedure and erecting a large plant at the source of the ore supply, it is our belief that, while the steel plants in the Pittsburg, Chicago and Birmingham districts are favorably located, and expansions of their capacity will be the logical consequence of the annually increasing consumption of the country, the great resources of the Northwest should not be overlooked. We regard the future of the steel industry of this country as intimately concerned with the trend and growth of commerce and population, and it is our purpose to establish a permanent industry here and to develop with you.

Keeping Money at Home.

"Plants can be erected in foreign countries at less than in the United States; competent labor can be obtained there at one-third to one-half the cost here, and foreign governments afford facilities, subventions, tariffs and bounties to invite and enable capital to engage in steel and other industries and protect and conserve their investments and business in every reasonable way, and many American manufacturers have found it expedient or necessary to take advantage of these favorable conditions and have erected large plants in European manufacturing countries.

"Despite all this, it has been the policy of the United States Steel corporation to utilize a large part of its earnings in the development of its existing properties and the building of new plants in this country, for the benefit of the American manufacturer, workman and consumer. We cannot believe that this is a mistaken policy and, while others cannot be criticized for taking advantage of the favorable conditions abroad for employing their surplus capital, we desire to continue our policy of using our money at home so long as same is consistent with the laws of our country and the requirements of expanding population and industry, if given sufficient encouragement to so employ our capital.

"In 1907, land was purchased for a plant at Duluth and in 1908 and 1909, the site was prepared. In the early part of 1910, construction work was actively undertaken and, to date, several millions of dollars have been expended on the plant and connecting trasportation facilities, which will include, in the producing department, two blast furnaces, seven open hearth steel furnaces, blooming mill, rail and bar mills, merchant mills and by-product coke plant with auxiliary departments, such as power plant, pumping station, machine and other shops.

Expenditures on the Range.

"In 1910 the Oliver Iron Mining company expended in the development and mining of ore on its leased and owned properties and in addition to ordinary expenditures for new extensions, buildings, etc., $7,500,000. The Duluth & Iron Range railroad expended $500,000, and the Duluth, Missabe & Northern railway, for houses for employes, shops, construction, etc., over $2,000,000, making an aggregate of $10,000,000 for all of the properties of the Northwest in which the Steel corporation is interested. Three additional 10,000-ton steamships were added to the fleet of the Pittsburg Steamship company for service on the Great Lakes in carrying ore.

"These expenditures are mentioned merely as evidence of our intentions and expectations with respect to the future of the industry in Minnesota and the Northwest. The building of a plant here on the Great Lakes was a logical and far-reaching step. Not only may it serve the growing needs of contiguous territory, but it is permissible to contemplate the possibilities with respect to the Northwestern trade generally, to which the Minnesota Steel company may look for a considerable share of its requirements.

Business Outlook Promising.

"The outlook for business is promising, fundamental conditions are sound, trade is showing signs of expansion in anticipation of the growth in demand for merchandise which follows the harvests; crops promise well; less than 5 per cent of the car equipment of the country is idle, and building construction is on a larger scale than for years, as evidenced by the number of permits granted throughout the country.

"Pessimism has been overdone, pernicious agitation is waning, and it is reassuring to the business world that the people are beginning to realize it and, with a clearer perspective, are learning more about the conditions under which modern business is conducted.

"American development is largely dependent upon large organizations of business and our foreign trade balance reflects the efforts of great business enterprises which are now being successfully conducted by organizations called corporations, and, in the industrial development of our country and of the world, corporations are a necessity; many industries could not exist in competition in the world's markets, nor could they be carried on through any other instrumentality than in the integrated form necessary from an economic standpoint if we are to become factors in the maintenance of the balance of trade so necessary to the prosperity of our country.

> "The successful business organization or corporation, like the ideal government, must be conducted on principles of right and justice. The position of the United States Steel corporation in human affairs is a demonstration of the potency of of co-operative effort and frank dealing with all, and through all of its complicated forces and world-wide ramifications, the strand of responsibility runs unbroken. It is not stealthy or deceptive in its operations, for its annual reports disclose everything it has done. No corporation publishes a fuller or more intelligible account of its doings.

Economics of Steel Industry.

"To people who are unfamiliar with the present day economics of the steel industry, the supposition is that most of our time is occupied in trying to make money out of the consumer. Such things as friendly co-operation with business interests generally with a view to creating stability of trade, to study the great changes, both scientific and economic which have come over iron and steel manufacturing conditions throughout the world, are of minor importance to the doctrinaires.

"No one business and no one country can make progress unless the business of all advances. A recognition of the dependence of each man's business and each country's business, for its prosperity and progress, upon the prosperity and progress of all is necessary, in order to make real progress, and the fact is becoming generally recognized that great commercial and industrial organizations increase the efficiency of people, as well as countries.

> "There has followed a clearer conception of the relationship of the public, the wage-earner and the investor. Intelligent management appreciates that profits, if they are to be sustained must be subrogated to justice and humane treatment; co-operation with the business world, pension funds for the superannuated, systematic endeavor for the prevention of accidents, voluntary compensation for the injured, recognition of faithful service, elimination of Sunday work, profit-sharing, sanitary surroundings, hospitals, all these are manifestations of humane and efficient policy.

"Gentlemen, we thank you for your cordial reception and shall look forward, with pleasure, to more frequent contact and opportunities to become better acquainted, and, for myself and associates, we take this occasion to congratulate the clergy on the good work they are doing for humanity. By their ceaseless efforts and inexhaustible patience in improving the moral and educational atmosphere of their community, they set us a high example and we pay tribute to the principles and ideas they represent and appreciate their presence here this evening."

PROGRESS OF DULUTH

A. M. Marshall Reviews City's Marvelous Growth as Jobbing Center.

A. M. Marshall, president of the Marshall-Wells Hardware company and a man who has been intimately associated with the development of Duluth as a jobbing center, gave a historical review of the development of the Northwest at the dinner at the Kitchi Gammi club last evening. He has special reference to the territory tributary to a steel plant in Duluth and he gave facts and statistics of interest to the visitors and to Duluthians as well.

Mr. Marshall spoke as follows:

"Few, I think realize the growth that has and is taking place in the territory west and north of us, of which our great harbor at Duluth is the gateway. To comprehend it frequent visits are necessary to different sections to keep in touch with the rapid improvements going on. Here at Duluth, as you know, we have a harbor that in volume of tonnage passing through its canal bound to and from the West is scarcely equalled by any other port in the world.

"A comparatively short time ago this port had but one railroad, and for some years small railway development. Today a number of railroads extend east, south and north of us, and four transcontinental lines extend west, going to the Pacific coast, and one more will be added when the Canadian Northern complete their extension west of Edmonton. These roads cover nine states, and all of the Canadian territory lying west of Winnipeg. At this time we are particularly interested in all this territory as it has a bearing upon the great enterprise being launched in the erection of the large steel plant to furnish steel and iron products that will be required in this territory. Duluth, though handicapped in many ways in the past, has made a substantial growth, and we believe has an exceedingly bright future—being one of the great distributing points in the county, with splendid railroad facilities reaching this large, wonderful territory west of us.

Water Power Developed.

"In the Great Northern Water Power company we have a water power which, when fully developed, will be one of the largest in this country, so that sufficient electric current can be generated to care for all the manufacturing that may be needed for years to come. The American Carbolite company manufacturing carbide, a few years in existence, is already making products that in quality are not exceeded by any other, and today but one company in the country producing a larger volume of product. This brought about only by having plenty of low-priced power.

"Lue coal tonnage has increased so rapidly that each year we are seeking additional large coal docks—one the past year costing a million dollars. The volume received at this port last year was eight million tons and it is estimated that this year it will reach eight and one-half to nine million tons, being the largest coal tonnage handled by any port in the country.

"We have located on the harbor one of the important ship yards, building some of the largest boats now on the Great Lakes.

"It is hardly necessary to call your attention to this port being one of the great distributing points for grain, as it is so well known, having shipped in a year 100,000,000 bushels, and having an elevator capacity of 32,000,000 bushels.

Jobbing Business.

"Rapid strides have been made in our jobbing interests. Nearly all lines are carried here and distributed as far west as the Pacific coast. Some five wholesale grocery houses, one being the largest in the Northwest; a wholesale dry goods house started but a few years ago now ranks among the first in the Northwestern states. Houses of other lines play an important part, and it might not be out of place to mention here, inasmuch as the produce distributed are largely made from iron and steel, that one of our wholesale hardware houses, when the business was reorganized eighteen years ago, had a force of men covering Northern Wisconsin, Minnesota and Dakota, and doing then, as they thought, a large business, actually sold at that time only 4 per cent of their sales in 1910. Remarkable growth has also taken place in other houses. The large grocery house referred to has been obliged to locate several warehouses in Dakota and Montana to take care of their growing business.

"The Twin Cities, St. Paul and Minneapolis, but 150 miles away, having a population of over one half million are among the most important distributing points in the country and are already engaged in manufacturing on a large scale.

Growth in Northwest.

"At present there is a greater growth in the northern part of our state than ever before in population, agriculture, and the development of industries using the raw material near at hand; the paper interests are no small item, there being in this territory several of the large plants of the country.

"What has been the growth in the territory beyond the Minnesota border? In the past ten years there has been an increase in population in North Dakota of over 80 per cent; Montana nearly 60 per cent; Idaho over 100 per cent, Washington some 120 per cent, and Oregon nearly 70 per cent. In the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the increase has been from 413,000 to 1,125,000 in ten years.

"Through scientific farming, or dry farming, as it is called, the agricultural sections of North Dakota have been carried far beyond the Red river valley into the semi-arid lands to the western border of the state, in which are now towns—good distributing points where wholesale houses have been erected to take care of the territory about them.

Agriculture in Montana.

"Montana is no longer called a grazing states, as less cattle are raised there than in our own state of Minnesota and is becoming one of our large agricultural states, producing wheat, barley and oats in large quantities, and, as predicted by some, soon to rank among the first wheat states. Montana has large acreage in sugar beets, warranting the building of a large sugar plant successfully run.

"No finer fruit will be found anywhere than in this state—the Bitter Root valley, already famous for its fine apples. A number of towns in the state have developed as distributing centers, with warehouses established where goods can be distributed more economically to the territory about them. To emphasize more the commercial growth that has taken place in this state, I might say the company I represent, some ten years ago had but one traveling salesman in the state, today the number is eight, and other houses have also added largely to their traveling force.

Railroad Extension.

"Washington, by railroad development, has made great progress agriculturally, well diversified, large grain and fruit interests, dairying carried on quite extensively, a plant for condensed or evaporated milk and cream, erected and operating, shipments made throughout the coast. Large cities have grown up in a comparative short time in this state. The cities of Tacoma, Spokane and Seattle have become large and important distributing centers, all with fine water power developed and a start towards manufacturing.

"The city of Spokane has developed its suburban trolley lines to the extent of no other city of our country of like size, lines running north, south, east and west, extending over 150 miles in some directions—simply demonstrates the growth of population and development of agricultural lands in our great West.

"In Oregon today more railroad work is under construction than any other state in the Union. Three years ago there was a section of country in the interior of the state as large as the state of Ohio having not a single railroad, containing the most fertile lands, best of pine forests, with the finest

A Seasonable Sale of Andirons

"The melancholy days are here!"—days of drenching downpours; nights of chilly dampness; days when the open fire comes into its own. It adds a new pleasure to life to be able to settle down in an easy chair, with slippers and a pleasant book, before the dancing flame of an open fire—and the amount of warmth is just sufficient to make one comfortable without stuffiness.

And it adds a new pleasure to the open-hearth fire to have equipment of glittering brass for the fire light to play on. That's why we have chosen this psychological moment to announce a sale of andirons and fireplace fixtures. Note the prices. Come and view the window display!

KILLS TWO-HEADED SNAKE.

Indiana Man Takes It Home to Corroborate Story.

Logansport, Ind., Sept. 8.—When walking through the woods recently Oliver K. Dempsey of this city found a two-headed copperhead snake. He killed the reptile and brought it home in order to corroborate any story he might tell about the freak. The snake has two perfectly formed heads, with well developed forked tongues, but only one body. Dempsey says that when he saw it both tongues were darting in and out viciously and the four beady eyes snapped balefully. It is about two feet long.

LOCKS STEPCHILDREN IN WHENEVER SHE GOES OUT.

Portland, Or., Sept. 8.—Mrs. Carrie May Taylor will have to appear before Judge Gaten of the circuit court and explain to the juvenile court why she found it necessary whenever she leaves home to lock her two stepdaughters in a room without food, proper ventilation, water or sanitary arrangements.

Complaint against the woman was made by Deputy Probation Officer McIntosh, who went to the Taylor home, at No. 792 East Thirty-fourth street, released the two girls, aged 9 and 10, by crawling into the house through a basement window. He took them to the detention home. The father, F. C. Taylor, Mr. McIntosh says, was unaware of the treatment his little daughters were receiving.

The attention of the juvenile authorities was called to the case by neighbors of the Taylor family.

From the cellar the probation officer threaded his way to the main floor and found it necessary to break the lock of the room in which the girls were imprisoned. He found them weak from lack of food and water. The windows of the room were nailed down and the air was putrid in its foulness.

According to Mr. McIntosh, the woman has taken a fancy to her stepson, aged 6, but apparently has no motherly feeling for the girls.

MAINE WETS HAVE HOPE

No One Denies That Prohibition Fight Will Be Close.

Doubt as to Result of Monday's Election on Amendment.

Portland, Me., Sept. 8.—The possibility that Maine may repudiate prohibition grows stronger as election day, which comes on Sept. 11, draws nearer.

Two months ago hardly a person at all familiar with public sentiment in the state believed that there was more than a ghost of a chance that the prohibitory amendment would be annulled when the people came to vote upon it.

The temperance organizations, the churches and the granges, all of which are united for the law, got in their work so early and with such vigor that they seemed for a time to have driven completely to cover whatever anti-prohibition sentiment there was, and the only question asked was by what majority would the amendment be retained. The only thing that caused any uncertainty whatever was the strong disposition manifest on the part of the average voter to keep his sentiments to himself.

But within a few weeks all this has changed. Voters are talking more freely, and with this loosening up there came first hope, then courage, and now what seems to be absolute confidence on the part of those who have been conducting the campaign against the amendment.

And with this increasing confidence of the antis, which seems to be sincere, there is no mistaking the fact that the other side has become correspondingly depressed.

The prohibition leaders are not yet ready to say, even in private, that they expect to lose, but the air of absolute confidence which they maintained early in the campaign is gone and some of the more conservative are willing to admit that "it looks bad."

Country Towns Uncertain.

The uncertain element now is the country towns. That nearly every city of any size in the state will declare against the amendment is practically conceded, but the prohibitionists are still pinning their faith to the rural regions, which have always been the law's chief source of strength, and without which it would have gone by the board long ago.

The antis admit they cannot win without much support in the country, but they say they are going to get it. They say that the many voters who have refused to declare themselves until recently are for them and that they are saying so now.

Secretary F. G. Fassett of the Non-Partisan league, which is the organization of the antis, said today that a canvass of small towns taken at random showed a strong preponderance of sentiment in favor of annulling the amendment and that this sentiment is growing.

The prohibitionists do not profess to have made house to house canvasses anywhere, but they are relying on the results they are receiving from their workers that there need be no fear that the rural voters are being alienated from the principle of prohibition. Some of the antis are predicting as high as 20,000 majority against the amendment, but the conservatives are willing to shade that quite a little although they declare that they do not see how they can lose.

Vote Will Be Heavy.

That there will be a heavy vote, heavier possibly than at the state election one year ago, when the state saw the warmest political fight it has known in a generation, seems to be assured by the big registration of voters. For the first three days in Portland the registration was 15 per cent higher than it was in 1910. There was a slight falling off the last of the week, but Saturday night it was still ahead of a year ago. Reports from other parts of the state show practically the same thing, a heavy registration and an apparent intention of the voters to come out and declare themselves on one side or the other.

Both sides are devoting themselves to swelling the registration rolls, but in the main the general plan of campaign that has been followed throughout the summer will prevail during this the closing week, although it will be intensified.

Mrs. L. M. N. Stevens, national president of the W. C. T. U., who is leading the prohibition campaign, said a week ago that the temperance forces had fifty orators from out of the state who were speaking each night and enough local talent at their command, so that a meeting could be held nightly in each town in the state if desired. The out of state staff will be increased this week to some extent, notably by Congressman Hobson and ex-Governor Glenn of North Carolina. Mr. Hobson spoke in Bar Harbor on Saturday night and Governor Glenn addressed an audience in this city Monday.

No Meetings By Auto.

The antis have held no speaking meetings and will hold none. But they have sent out a vast amount of literature and the job printing office in this city which does their work has been working night and day for a week preparing a lot more material for distribution in these the last days.

Perhaps more effective than their printed appeals has been the button-holing missionary campaign which the antis have been conducting from the first. This has been done by paid workers, many of them former political leaders of both parties and all of them good "mixers."

Election day, next Monday, will be a busy time for both sides and voters will not be allowed to forget that the fate of prohibition is hanging in the balance. Church bells will be rung hourly by the prohibitionists in every city, village and town corner where there is a church and continuous prayer meetings will be held with leaders changing hourly. Mrs. Stevens has sent out a request that the horses which are to be used to carry prohibition voters to the polls be clothed in white blankets. Booths where coffee and food are to be served will be maintained and women as well as men will work among voters at the polls. The antis will be less picturesque in their methods, but at least none the less practical.

A postal card canvass by the Lewiston Journal, a prohibition organ, indicates a majority of about 2,000 for the amendment.

BLAZING TRAIN RUNS WILD THROUGH WOODS.

Bellingham, Wash., Sept. 8.—Blowing its whistle frantically, a Northern Pacific engine dashed through this city and out into the country, ahead of a trainload of blazing cedar logs, narrowly missing a northbound passenger at Anacortes.

The wild ride occurred about 9 p. m., and the firey cars leaping along the rails made a brilliant spectacle. Hundreds of persons ran into their homes frightened lest a comet was sweeping the horizon. The train was stopped ten miles south of the town and the burning cars of logs left to destruction.

When about four miles from Rogers' logging camp, where the cedar logs were loaded, one carload became ignited from a spark out of the engine. The fire quickly spread by the rush of the train, and the engineer, seeing the futility of stopping in the heavy timber and endangering other property, put on full speed.

The heavy woods run almost to Bellingham's northern edge, and the danger was not passed until after the blazing train had traversed the forest and cleared the city, when the stretch of prairie south of the city was reached.

The engineer, although seeking to save the property of others from fire, did not think of the caboose on the rear of the train, and while the cars were being pulled along at fifty miles an hour the occupants of the caboose were vainly trying to leap to safety on likely looking spots along the right-of-way. J. Cole, rear brakeman, landed on his head in a quagmire, but extricated himself. Conductor George Baxter sustained a broken leg in leaping from the car. The caboose was partly destroyed.

ADOPTED GIRL FINDS LONG LOST TWIN SISTER.

Wichita, Kan., Sept. 8.—When Miss Margaret Veaill of Wichita, Kan., stepped up to a customer of a store in Indianapolis recently, where she was visiting, she saw a salesgirl the exact image of herself. Miss Marie Freeman was the salesgirl. Deeply interested, Miss Veaill went back to the store several times and finally got into conversation with the working girl.

They found they were exactly the same age. Miss Veaill then told her mother, Mrs. George Veaill, and learned that she was only an adopted daughter and that she had been taken from a home in Indianapolis. Together they started an investigation and learned that Miss Freeman was a twin sister of Miss Veaill. Their real name was not stated. They were overjoyed at being reunited and are together now at the Veaill home in Wichita. They say they will remain together.

This is a "new-fashioned town"—and the increasing use of want advertising proves it; for want advertising is the newest-fashioned utility of them all!!

LOCOMOTIVE AND CARS RUN AWAY

Dodged Freight Cars and Stop When Steam Gives Out.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 8.—A driverless locomotive pulling two coaches dashed away from the Wabash station at Edwardsville, Ill., and ran at a speed of twenty miles an hour over three railroad systems, sliding through switches and dodging freight cars. It finally stopped when the steam pressure gave out at Stallings, Ill., thirteen miles from Edwardsville.

Frank Staab, a telegraph operator, who was alone at the station, saw the train pulling out. Instead of telegraphing the yards in the south end of Edwardsville to stop it, Staab ran after it for three-quarters of a mile. For the first half mile the train went upgrade, and he was able to keep it in sight.

The train reached the Illinois terminal of the Wabash, found an open switch and picked its way onto the Litchfield & Madison railroad tracks. It passed through Glen Carbon, found another open switch and turned south on the Illinois Central tracks. It ran on these tracks eight miles until it reached Stallings.

Meanwhile the station agent at Glen Carbon had wired the Edwardsville agent to ask him why a Wabash passenger train was going over the Litchfield-Madison tracks. That was the first intimation the agent had of the runaway, as the operator had not returned at that time from the chase.

J. J. Reardon, general superintendent of the Louisville & Nashville railroad at Edwardsville, was notified, and he started in pursuit of the runaway in a railroad gasoline motor car. He arrived at Stallings a few minutes after the runaway had stopped. Reardon threw in some coal, got up steam and drove the train back to Edwardsville.

MINNESOTA'S SHAMEFUL PLIGHT.

The passenger rate situation in the Northwest shows Minnesota in a pitiable light, a light that should bring the blush of shame to the face of every patriotic citizen.

A condition exists that is bad enough in itself, because it is shamefully unjust, but worse in its general aspects because it betrays Minnesota as a state governed by and for the special interests—a state where these interests can over-ride public sentiment and state law without the slightest fear of rebuke.

Counting upon the more or less hidden affiliations of the state administration, and upon its masterly inactivity which plays into their hands at every turn of the game, the railroads have inflicted upon Minnesota the humiliating distinction of being the only state in its neighborhood where the attempt at state regulation of railroad rates, begun about four years ago during the administration of the late Governor John A. Johnson, has failed; and of being a state where special interests are perfectly safe in over-riding the public will because they need fear no interference from the state government.

A passenger starting from a point in North Dakota and going to a point within this state will pay 2½ cents a mile to ride in North Dakota; but when he gets to Minnesota the rate suddenly jumps to 3 cents a mile. It is the same train and the same service, but the rate jumps at the Minnesota boundary.

A passenger starting from a point in Iowa and going to a point in Minnesota will pay 2 cents a mile to ride as long as he is in Iowa; but when he gets to Minnesota he must pay 50 per cent more for each mile of the remaining part of his journey on the same train.

A passenger starting from a point in Wisconsin and going to a point in Minnesota will pay only 2 cents a mile so long as he is traveling in Wisconsin, but the minute his train gets into Minnesota he will find that he must pay 3 cents a mile.

This condition exists because, though all four states passed laws reducing the passenger rates, in Minnesota alone the railroads have been able to get the rate restored to the old basis of 3 cents a mile. In all the other states the rates fixed by state law still stand, and no attempt has been made to increase them.

It costs the citizen of Minnesota who rides from one point to another within the state half as much again to travel as it does the citizen of Wisconsin or the citizen of Iowa who travels within his own state.

That difference in the cost of traveling is the penalty the citizen of Minnesota pays for being a citizen of Minnesota; for living under a state government which he and his fellow citizens have permitted to drift into the hands of those who manage its affairs not in the interests of the plain people, but in the interests of the "interests."

Though the increased rates have been in effect in Minnesota since July 1, no move has been made by the Minnesota state government to show that it resents this shameful discrimination against this state, or even to show that it knows there is discrimination.

Though it has been shown plainly enough to satisfy anybody that coupled with this rate discrimination, which is temporarily out of the control of the state because it is in the Federal courts, there is a condition under which railroad property is taxed less than any other property, though the state can control railroad taxation; yet the state administration is opposing the calling of an extra session of the legislature to readjust railroad taxation on a basis of fairness and equality.

No wonder the railroads are laughing at the people of Minnesota, and treating the state as though they owned it.

The question is, do the railroads own the state, or do the people own it? And how long must Minnesota retain the shameful distinction of being the only Northwestern state where the railroads have felt it perfectly safe to charge what they please and evade half their taxes?

VACATION ALL THE YEAR.

The vacation period is ended, and pretty nearly everybody has buckled down to another year's solid work, presumably better fitted for it because of the vacation than they would have been without it. It is true that a few people, from choice or necessity, will take their vacations later; but nine out of ten who get vacations pick the summer for it, and it needs no glance at the calendar to tell that summer is done.

We have no disposition to criticize or condemn vacations. We believe in them. Any person can do more work and better in a year of fifty weeks than he can in a year of fifty-two weeks. All work and no play not only makes Jack a dull boy, but it makes him a sick boy, too, sooner or later, and it shortens his life, dwarfs his soul and curtails his efficiency.

But there is no reason on earth why the benefits of vacation time should be confined to two weeks in July or August. They are available all the year 'round, and those who would live most abundantly, and realize the utmost of their innate power and efficiency, will take advantage of them not only during vacation, but all through the other forty-eight or fifty weeks as well.

The elements of a successful and profitable vacation are rest, change, outdoor air and exercise. These combined re-create body and mind, develop the mental and physical being, and add to the joy of living.

But these things are available everywhere and all the time. They are not confined to the vacation period or to the trout stream, the bass lake or the summer resort. And you need them all quite as much in February and April as you do in July and August.

Rest you can have by seeing that you get a decent amount of sleep every night, and by refraining from burning the candle at both ends by following days of hard work by nights of energy-consuming dissipation.

Change you can have by leaving your work and thoughts of work at the shop, the store or the office, and by filling your spare time with other interests. Whether these outside interests consist of reading, collecting something, amateur photography, walking, snow-shoeing or what not, they are as important a part of your life as your daily labor, and you need them as much. The cultivation of outside interests makes life more worth living, fosters content and happiness, and crowds out the worries that kill.

The other elements of vacation—outdoor air and exercise—are convenient everywhere and always. All you need to do to get the outdoor air is to open the door and go out; and at night you should open wide your windows and let it come in. All you need to do to get the exercise is to walk, ride, play any one of a variety of wholesome games, or, if the worst comes to the worst, chop wood in your back yard.

Two weeks a year of rest, change, outdoor air and exercise help a lot and postpone the day of final reckoning of your account with the bank of life. The two weeks' vacation is depositing to your account in that bank. But it's pretty hard to deposit enough in two weeks to withstand a year's withdrawals; and the withdrawals are likely to be pretty heavy in the winter when most people shun the fresh air because it is cold, and avoid exercise because it takes them out in the cold fresh air.

A wise person will take his vacation, just the same; but he will keep on depositing to his account in the bank of life by availing himself of the elements of vacation benefits during all the rest of the year.

A MEETING OF MEN WHO DO THINGS.

The men who do things for the United States Steel corporation and the men who do things for Duluth met yesterday, and it is safe to say that never in the history of Duluth has there been a gathering more important, more encouraging and more pregnant with promise for the future of Duluth.

President James A. Farrell, besides telling of the many millions that will be spent by the steel corporation in the building of its enormous new industry here, said that this plant, which the corporation "aims to have complete in every respect for the manufacture of every class of steel for which a market can be found," is a forerunner of enterprises "which will, in time, make Duluth one of the world's greatest manufacturing centers."

This was pleasing to Duluth ears not only because it comes from a man high in power in a concern that can and will do much to that end, but because it harmonizes completely with the firm belief of every loyal Duluthian.

This meeting of the men who are making Duluth and the men who are making the steel corporation has been a good thing all around; good for Duluth and good for the steel corporation. Perhaps some Duluth people were surprised at the enthusiasm shown by the corporation officials over the future of Duluth and of the Duluth steel plant; but that will not be the case with those who have witnessed the steady, persistent and uninterrupted process of preparing the way and building the plant that has gone on under the direction of George L. Reis, in charge of the work in Duluth.

Nor should it be forgotten, in this day when every official is warm in his advocacy of the Duluth plant, that Duluth owes a great debt to the pioneers in the work of getting the plant located here who labored faithfully, and at times against great odds, when sentiment for it, as in the case of all new things, was yet to be made. Chief among these pioneers in laying the foundations of a great manufacturing center in Duluth should be remembered the names of Thomas F. Cole and Joseph B. Cotton, then local officials of the steel corporation.

Marked features of last evening's meeting were the notably ably speech made by J. L. Washburn of Duluth discussing the relationship between the large corporations and the public, and A. M. Marshall's masterly review of the commercial development of Duluth and the Northwest.

MUCH OBLIGED.

The city conference committee, which makes the city tax budget, announces that the total tax rate for city purposes next year will not exceed 17 mills. As this year's rate was 17.6 mills, this promises a reduction. It isn't a great reduction, but considering all the city's pressing and growing needs, it's probably the best that could be done. And then it IS a reduction, and a reduction in taxes is a novelty which every taxpayer will appreciate.

As the state rate will be higher, it is to be hoped that the school board and the county board, which make up the budgets that with the state and city rates compose Duluth's total tax rate, will be able to knock off a mill or two so that the reduction will be carried into the total. It will be a refreshing change, and a much better advertisement for Duluth than the unfortunate recent habit of steadily increasing the total tax rate.

ET TU, BRUTE?

Theodore Roosevelt, without mentioning his victim's name, in an Outlook editorial unmercifully assails the president of the United States—his president of the United States.

Was it because of the president's too close relations with Aldrich, Cannon and other notable prebendiaries of Special Privilege? No. Was it because of his failure to redeem pre-election promises of tariff revision? No. Was it because of his enmity to the friends of Roosevelt and his loyalty to the enemies of Roosevelt? Again, no.

For what, then, is the ex-president hurling strenuous criticism at the president? Because of his efforts to bring about arbitration treaties that will reduce the chance of war and ultimately extinguish it.

The colonel might be engaged in better business, it seems to us.

As we make him out, he holds that while it is our duty to work for peace through arbitration, we mustn't arbitrate any subject that is likely to breed war. The militant colonel's idea of arbitration is much like the easy-going Taft's idea of tariff revision—innocuous and futile.

Mr. Roosevelt says we tend to put peace before righteousness in this modern talk of arbitration. Fiddlesticks! Why not make both our aim? Arbitration will conserve both peace and righteousness. The president, in this case, is right. The ex-president, in this case, is wrong.

GLOOM AT THE STATE FAIR.

We are very sorry indeed for the board of managers and the new secretary of the state fair. They had prepared the best state fair Minnesota ever had, and that is saying a good deal in a state which for years has had the best fair in the country. And then the worst weather that ever befell fair week set in, and darkest gloom pervaded state fair circles. The best state fair in the history of Minnesota was turned into the greatest fizzle. It is very unfortunate, not only for the board of managers but for the state itself. But the board has the satisfaction of knowing that the failure was not its fault.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters should not exceed 200 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

PROHIBITION AND CITIZENS' RIGHTS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

It is held by some that the state has no right to prohibit the liquor traffic because, forsooth, it would be an interference with the natural and inalienable right of each citizen. We take issue with that claim, and will cite the principles contained in the Declaration of Independence, which we believe will apply:

"We hold these truths to be self evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. That to secure these rights governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed, and whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or abolish it and to institute a government laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form as to them shall seem most likely to affect their safety and happiness."

We feel safe in concluding that inasmuch as the "life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness" are to be fostered and protected by civil government, the state is acting wholly within her rightful province in prohibiting a business which in reality invades the natural or inalienable rights of the citizen. It cannot be successfully denied that the liquor business is a menace to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.

Many claim that the arguments of those who favor prohibition consist largely of sentiment. Not only do the facts refute such a claim, but decisions of the United States supreme court attest that the question is one of serious importance. In the case of Crowley vs. Christensen (137 U. S., 86) the United States supreme court held:

"The statistics of every state show a greater amount of crime and misery attributable to the use of ardent spirits obtained at these liquor saloons than to any other source."

Again: "It is undoubtedly true that it is the right of every citizen of the United States to pursue any lawful trade, or business, under such restrictions as are imposed upon all persons of the same age, sex, and condition. . . . There is no inherent right in a citizen thus to sell intoxicating liquors by retail. It is not a privilege of a citizen of the state or of a citizen of the United States."

In the case of the State of Kansas vs. Zihold & Haheline, 123 U. S. Rep., 623-662, the supreme court held:

"We cannot shut out of view the fact within the knowledge of all that the public health, the public morals, and the public safety may be endangered by the general use of intoxicating drinks."

The United States supreme court has also held in License Cases, 5 Howard, 46 U. S., 573-632:

"If a loss of revenue should accrue to the United States (because of prohibition) from a diminished consumption of ardent spirits, she will be a gainer a thousand fold in the health, wealth, and happiness of the people."

Some hold tenaciously to the statement that prohibition does not prohibit. This statement is usually indulged in by those who are either in the liquor traffic or favor it. If this be true, why does the liquor element work so strenuously in opposition to prohibitory measures? But their claim may be swept to the winds by suggesting that we repeal all laws against murder, theft, assaults, and crimes of all character, because of the fact that these laws do not prohibit these crimes.

It was a grand day when the slavery of human beings was abolished in 1864. It will perhaps be as grand and important a day when the liquor traffic, which is making many more slaves than existed before the war, shall be eliminated by national and state government. Very respectfully,

K. C. RUSSELL.

THE PROPER ROUTE FOR NEW TRUNK ROAD.

To The Editor of The Herald:

I would like to have you publish this reply to your article from Carlton on the Moorhead-Duluth trunk line.

The man from Carlton writing up the Moorhead-Duluth line shows his ignorance with the subject from the statement he makes.

The counties west from Crow Wing wanted to go via the Mille Lacs route intersecting with the Duluth-St. Paul road at Finlayson or Willow River. The Aitkin people wanted to go via the Northern Pacific all the way to Duluth. C. F. Mahnke of Moose Lake, who was the only representative at the meeting from the county, was the first one to suggest the route to Aitkin or Kimberly thence southeast to 19-46-21 which would give Carlton county the longest and best route for the trunk line road and would compel Aitkin county to build only three miles of new road in order to make this connection, while the other way it will be necessary to build several miles and most of that will be through bog swamps.

It is claimed Mr. Mahnke desired this route because of personal interests, but the fact of the matter is that Mr. Mahnke does not own one foot of land along the route he wishes to have designated. The man who wrote the article published in your last evening's paper saying that the Moose Lake people were designing to get all the good things in this county and that it is a selfish interest that prompts them in this matter is greatly mistaken.

Let any man look over the map of this portion of the state and he can readily see that the route through the southern part of the county is the most feasible, a route that will benefit the greatest number of farmers, for these are the ones who need the roads so as to get their products to market, they are the people that need good roads more than any other in this section of the state.

The county commissioners are as yet undecided as to the route and the southern Carlton county route stands as good a chance as any other, and from all indications is the one that will be designated by the commissioners when they meet next Saturday.

Very truly, C. F. MAHNKE.

Moose Lake, Sept. 7.

PERTINENT.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I have noticed your article asking why Minnesota was selected for a case on the passenger rate law. Is it possible that Jim Hill's issue of $400,000,000 of "Indigestible Securities" had any connection with the passenger rate? READER.

Duluth, Sept. 7.

A Red-Hot Partisan.

Human Life:: Garrett P. Serviss, the noted science writer, said at the Brooklyn University club apropos of Halley's comet:

"The ignorant and superstitious dread that the comet evoked in some quarters reminds me of the Millerites.

"The Millerites, back in '72, when Grant was up for a second term, were preaching the immediate destruction of the world. They were even giving their property away.

"Well, at a Millerite camp meeting one night in Maine a Millerite preacher preached that the end of the world would come in October, just a month before election.

"The preacher noticed a man in a front seat who manifested every symptom of satisfaction whenever this date was driven home. Perplexed, he accosted the man at the end of the service and asked him why he had shown pleasure over such a terrible matter.

"'Anything to beat Grant!' was the reply."

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

No; Only in Minnesota.

Chisholm Tribune-Herald: Taft says the tariff will be the campaign issue in 1912. We thought perhaps it would be consolidation or rural schools.

A Demonstration.

Northfield News: Discussing President Taft's veto of the wool bill the Minnesota Mascot says: "We are paying three prices for a suit of clothes now," which fact was brought home to the editors who took the recent lake trip. At Sarnia, Can., a tailor made all wool suit costing $60.00 at home could be had for $35.00. Did President Taft really sell his political future for a campaign fund?

An Improvement.

Thief River Falls Times: The Menagha Journal says that A. O. Eberhart for governor and R. C. Dunn for lieutenant governor would be a hard team to beat. What's the matter with Sam Y. Gordon and R. C. Dunn?

Most Decidedly Not.

St. Cloud Journal-Press: The Brainard Dispatch wants the governor to fire Superintendent Whittier and the whole board of control and then appoint two good Democrats in place of Ringdal and Vasaly. But that latter provision is not on the program.

"Jake" in Congress.

Rochester Post and Record: Jacob Jacobson, better known as "Jake," is now being mentioned as a candidate for congressman-at-large. He is a Progressive from the ground up. He is one of the best known men in the state and his ability to fill the position is unquestioned. Should he consent to run he will make other aspirants hustle. He is a fighter, and when he starts it is to win.

And Eberhart is Silent.

Osakis Review: If anyone thinks that the people are not wrought up over the railroad situation in this state just let him talk with them, whether in the country, the small towns or in the cities. That three cent fare has stirred up a hornet's nest, and it will be surprising if someone doesn't get stung. So far it has been the man who has to pay the exorbitant freight and passenger rates but we miss our guess if some of these state officials who insist that they have heard no complainst don't awake to the realization that the voters are going to demand some sort of relief and are planning to get it through the public servants who are not the tools of the corporations.

Sectionalism is Outgrown.

Red Wing Republican: The attempt to excite prejudice against Woodrow Wilson as a candidate for the presidency because he was born in the South is the veriest kind of silliness. The time has gone by when sectional lines count for anything in this country. Woodrow Wilson will find that he is up against the strongest kind of opposition if he should be nominated and will probably be defeated but it will not be along any such narrow and antiquated grounds as that of sectionalism. The Greater America is a united nation with a patriotic citizenship in every part of the republic with honest differences as to the best methods and principles by which to promote the common welfare.

Free Newspapers.

Boston Globe: Two newspapers in Oklahoma City which for three years have been engaged in sharp competition with each other, put to the test an interesting economic theory to the effect that the demand for a product increases as the selling price decreases. The theory failed, and so did the newspapers. In their struggle for circulation they first reduced the price of their 3-cent product to 2 cents, then to 1 cent, then to nothing. For many months copies have been given away by thousands in a desperate effort to catch the public favor. It was a losing game, and now the plants of both have been sold to the publisher of a newspaper in the city who has prospered because he understands human nature.

It is sometimes said that people in general are always eager to "get something for nothing." That depends. Nobody wants to pay for air and sunlight, which are free gifts of nature, but nearly everything else costs somebody something, and in the exchange of products the balance is preserved only by payment. We lose our self-respect—or at least we ought to—when we accept gifts without making some sort of return, even if it is only gratitude. We really prize only that for which we give an equivalent.

So the free newspapers became a drug on the streets of Oklahoma. They cost nothing. Hence, in the popular mind—whether logically or not—they were worth nothing. They came to rank with tracts, leaflets and pamphlets that are thrust upon the public.

The public knows that the the production of a newspaper costs money. It is willing to pay a fair price for any product, and objects to being treated like a pauper.

Pansies.

Dear pansies—"that's for thought"— you bring
Sweet memories of a by-gone spring,
When life was young and fair to see,
And all the days were dreams to me.

Sweet pansies, waving in the breeze,
You make me think of orchard trees,
A rambling farm house old and gray,
'Neath Southern skies so far away.

Remembering as I look at you,
The corners where your kinfolk grew;
A darling mother bent and old,
Among the beds of marigold.

And falling on her soft white hair,
The petals of the roses, fair;
And oh! sweet pansies, can't you see?
She lingers there to dream of me.

Because my childish hands had made
The pansy beds beneath the shade,
Of climbing roses white and fair,
That perfumed all the Southern air,

Perhaps with mingled joy and pain,
She sees her baby girl again,
Toiling among the pansy flowers,
Through all the gladsome springtime hours.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

New York Press: A man can be much prouder of his wife for her good-looking clothes than for her noble character.

An old fox learned most of his wisdom out of the foolishness of his youth but folk aren't foxes.

When a man is a particularly insufferable bore, it's a sign it's about how he takes his exercise.

A woman who has no opinion of her own when she was engaged has all the more after she is married.

It isn't that a widow is so much more tricky than other women; it's that she knows how to appear so much less that she gets more chances.

Classical Authorities On Farming.

David Buffum in September Atlantic: Present-day farmers do not read Xenophon to any great extent, nor, for that matter, any of the old classical authorities on agriculture—Cato, to whom Pliny refers as "a man of consummate authority on all practical matters," and "deserving of high honor as the first agriculturalist of his time;" Varro, who, at the age of 80, wrote one of the most complete agricultural treatises that was ever written full of the practical knowledge of a man who had spent a lifetime in the study and practice of agriculture; or Virgil, who, "although a man of letters and the greatest poet of his age, was also a farmer, and did not deem agriculture a subject unworthy of the best efforts of his genius. I fear that the 'up-to-date' farmer—especially if he have a smattering of the sciences and can talk with some degree of near-correctness about nitrates and phosphates and bacteria—has little respect for the classics, and would regard it as the sheerest waste of time to dig into the musty pages of these world-old authorities. Not one farmer in ten thousand knows as much about horses as Xenophon did; and Cato and Varro could give almost any of them points in land management that are well worth knowing, and show a greater intimacy with the subject than they themselves possess.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Taken From the Columns of The Herald of This Date, 1891.

Anton Johnson, a section man on the St. Paul & Duluth, was fatally injured this morning a few yards west of the Lake avenue crossing. He was clearing rubbish from the track and did not notice a passenger car which was being pushed by an engine. He was removed to the hospital and both legs were amputated but he died before noon. He was 29 years of age and leaves a wife and three children.

Next Monday night at the Temple opera house the ladies of the Duluth Woman's Relief Corps will present the pretty little scenic operatte "Temple of Fame," the proceeds going to veterans who need help. In the cast will be a number of children dressed as fairies, and about thirty older people, well known in the city. The entertainment will be under the direction of Mrs. H. A. Slingsby of Chicago.

Miss Jennie Gilman of St. Cloud has arrived at West Duluth to teach in the schools.

R. P. Gogin and N. C. Kingsbury won the medals at the lawn tennis tournament at West Duluth yesterday.

L. H. Whipple and his cousin, William S. Sotwin, went to Deerwood this afternoon on a fishing trip.

Richard Bean of Grand Rapids, Mich., is visiting his sister, Mrs. William Horner of 704 West Third street.

G. F. Stevens who went out to the coast with F. J. Matthewson three months ago, has returned. Mr. Mathewson will locate in Seattle, where he will go into business.

Thirty-five bids for a site for an armory were opened by the Duluth armory board last night. They ranged from $15,000 to $70,000.

Rev. Dr. Forbes, formerly presiding elder of the Methodist church for this district, who has been out several weeks on a Duluth & Winnipeg survey, is again in the city much improved in health by his outdoor life.

Miss Grinsley of Louisville, Ky., who has been spending the summer with Mrs. W. C. Sherwood, returned home today. She was accompanied as far as Green Lake, Wis., by Miss Charlotte Sherwood and little Miss May Sherwood, who will be absent about a month.

Mrs. M. M. Chase of Cinnamon, N. M., who has been spending the summer with Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Brown of Lakeside, has returned home very much delighted with Duluth and her surroundings.

The 9-year-old daughter of John Henry a stone mason at West Park, was fatally burned yesterday afternoon by her clothes catching fire from a bonfire.

W. B. Dixon returned today from a successful chicken hunt in North Dakota. Col. A. B. Jones and Walter Ayers are still hunting near Page, N. D.

FOUNDATIONS OF PRIVILEGE.

Los Angeles Express: On the front cover of La Follette's magazine there appeared a day or two ago the following:

"We seldom stop to think that the twin pillars upon which the whole structure of special privilege rests in this country are two decisions of the supreme court, Fletcher vs. Peck made bribery of legislatures safe for the great interests engaged in it, and the Dartmouth college case made it profitable."

If it is true that these two leading cases blazed the way for a departure on the part of the courts from the line of judicial rectitude as it is measured by the tendency to sacrifice the public good to the technical interpretation of the law an examination of these two cases may be useful.

Fletcher vs. Peck is an early Georgia case. That is, it went to the supreme court of the United States from the state of Georgia. The opinion in the case was written by Chief Justice Marshall.

The legislature of Georgia had made a grant of public lands to certain parties. A subsequent legislature undertook to revoke the grant made by its predecessor, on the ground of alleged corruption in the original grant, and transferred the lands to other persons.

The kernel of the decision in Fletcher vs. Peck was that the second grant or attempted grant by statute was void because it impaired the obligation of a contract, contrary to section 10 of article 1 of the Federal Constitution, which provides that no state "shall pass any law impairing the obligation of contracts."

Justice Marshall held that this article of the Constitution applied to executed as well as executory contracts; that is to contracts the object of which has been performed, as well as to those the object of which is to be performed, and vice versa.

The grant from the state of Georgia to the individual named in the first act of the legislature was held to be a contract and, therefore, not to be revoked by a subsequent act.

The court in that case seems to have taken the view that the obligation of a contract already executed was dearer to the framers of the Federal Constitution than the prevention of fraud practiced on the people of a state.

The result of the decision is that a state is prohibited, under Chief Justice Marshall's interpretation of the Federal Constitution, from altering, amending or repealing the terms of a grant.

The Dartmouth college case is an even more prominent one. When George III was king of England Dartmouth college was granted a charter by the crown. The charter specified the number of trustees, how they were to be chosen, fixed the terms of office and laid down their powers and duties.

In 1816 the legislature of the state of New Hampshire undertook to improve on this charter, by altering it in many important particulars.

Chief Justice Marshall of revered name and memory also wrote the opinion in this case and held that the charter was a contract. He held that the state of New Hampshire was a successor of the British crown as one party to the contract and that the Dartmouth trustees were the other parties to the contract and that it could not be impaired.

These cases in themselves do not seem so vicious as they do over-technical at this late day, but they have led to other decisions and precedent has followed precedent until they are doubtless responsible for a rigid, unyielding and over-technical line of decisions which have been employed by hair-splitting lawyers and judges to whom a technicality looks bigger than a great legal or moral principle, to defeat justice in countless cases.

Like Governor Wilson.

Kansas City Star, (Ins. Rep.): There were at least two points in the interview with Woodrow Wilson, printed in the Outlook, which you can't afford to miss. The first was where the interviewer recalled a speech by the governor—made while he was president of Princeton—in which he had remarked parenthetically of Washington's farewell address, "which he did not write."

And Governor Wilson made no defense. "I remember how I kicked myself after I had made that statement," he said. "I can only account for it in this way—that most men, on some occasion or other, cannot resist the temptation to play the Smark Aleck."

Isn't that about as good a side light on simplicity and attractiveness of character as you often meet? No elaborate explanations—merely the admission that he had played the Smart Aleck and had been kicking himself for it. The other point, also thoroughly characteristic, came in this bit of the interview:

"You have certainly shown that you are not afraid to change your mind, governor."

"I hope I have grown," he replied. "For fifteen years I taught my classes that the initiative and referendum wouldn't work. I can prove it now—but the trouble is they do!"

A man of independent mind, nobody's tool, straightforward, always ready to learn from experience and to adopt any expedient that makes for the common welfare—that is Wilson.

A MOMENT WITH THE WITS.

Mack's National Monthly: "An heirloom, my son," explained the farmer's wife to her 12-year-old boy, "is something handed down from father to son, and in most cases is highly prized."

"I'd prize these heirlooms I got on a great deal more," replied the youngster, "if they wasn't so long in the legs."

Kansas City Journal: "That girl in the breakers is evidently in distress. Why don't you swim to her rescue?"

"It would be very bad form. I rescued her yesterday."

Life: "So you have had a long siege of nervous prostration?" we say to the haggard author. "What caused it? Overwork?"

"In a way, yes," he answers weakly. "I tried to do a novel with a Robert W. Chambers hero and a Mary E. Wilkins heroine."

RAINS SEND POTATOES UP

Temporary Scarcity Because Farmers Will Not Dig in the Mud.

Fruit Season Still at Its Height—Cranberries Will Come Soon.

New potatoes, which have been selling at 85c a bushel, are now bringing 90c and 95c a bushel. This is on account of the recent heavy rains, which have prevented the farmers from doing the digging they would otherwise have done. Wholesalers of Duluth are inclined to think the high price only temporary, and that potatoes will be cheaper as soon as the weather is such as to allow digging to be conveniently resumed.

Sweet potatoes are becoming cheaper. The Jerseys are coming in in large quantities.

Cranberries will soon be on the market. They will be shipped from Cape Cod about Sept. 10 or 12. No one can tell yet what the opening price will be. It may be from $8.50 to $9 a barrel.

There are still many kinds of fruit on the market. This is the height of the season for fruits. There are plenty of peaches from California, Washington and Michigan, and they are fairly cheap. The same thing is true of plums. The Italian prunes are now coming in from Washington. Pears are likewire low-priced. They are arriving in barrels from New York and Michigan. These are the real preserving pears. The Californias, of which there is still quite a supply on the local market, are good for eating raw, but do not preserve well, with the exception of the mountain varieties.

Grapes are also cheap. Most of those on the market are Concords from Michigan. The Tokay grapes are just coming in from California. These are now bringing $1.75 to $2 a crate. They will be cheaper later on. They will continue to come in until about the time the snow lies. Then there are the Malagas from California. The Spanish Malagas are not yet here. These will arrive the latter part of September. They are the finest Malagas available. By the time they come the California Malagas will be gone.

There is not much trade in oranges. Other fruits are too plentiful to allow people to pay much attention to oranges. About Thanksgiving, however, the trade will probably be pretty brisk. The new navels will be arriving then.

Lemons are likely to go up in price. There is a light supply in California.

Apples are plentiful and the prices are low. Those on the market now are mostly fall apples from Southern Minnesota and Wisconsin. These don't keep very well in the winter. The real winter apples are beginning to come in. These are grown in New York, Missouri and Arkansas.

Crabapples are very scarce. Most of those that Duluth has had have been coming in from Southern Wisconsin. There are plenty of crabapples in Montana, but such high prices are asked for them that the Duluth dealers are afraid it won't pay to buy them and put them on the market. There is, however, quite a demand for crabapples. Many Duluth housewives evidently have not finished putting up their stores of jelly for the winter.

Garden vegetables can still be had at low prices. In fact, there is an over-supply of them, and the demand is not what it should be.

There is not yet much doing in the honey trade. Wholesale dealers are inclined to think honey will be plentiful this fall, for there has been plenty of rain through this part of the country, and flowers, wild and domesticated, have grown and bloomed in profusion. Dry weather almost invariably makes honey high-priced.

Tomatoes at present are cheap and plentiful. Most of those on sale here were grown on the farms in the vicinity of the Twin Cities.

FIND GOVERNOR SITTING ON BRIDGE

Kansas Band and Parade Are Too Late to Meet His Train.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 8.—Misunderstanding the arrival time of a train at a suburban station almost caused a brass band, a reception committee and an automobile parade which went out to meet Governor W. R. Stubbs of Kansas, due to make an address at a fair in Kansas City, Kan., yesterday, to miss their guest entirely.

The parade of fifty automobiles and the band reached the station in Argentine in what was believed to be ample time. The band struck up a rousing tune to usher in the train.

No train.

"Train in?" some one finally asked.

"Sure," said the station agent. "Fifteen mintues ago."

Away went the parade and the band to catch the governor.

A man with hair slightly red was seen sitting on a bridge rail, his feet on a suit case, a straw in his mouth.

"Hey there!" the man shouted.

The line of automobiles pulled up. It was the governor of Kansas, who, finding no reception committee to greet him had started unescorted for the city.

NAVY AVIATORS MEET SUCCESS

Lieuts. Rodgers and Ellison Use Aeroplanes Built for Government.

Annapolis, Md., Sept. 8.—In a Wright biplane specially built for experiments as to the practicability of using aeroplanes in conjunction with warships, and the first to be delivered to the navy for the aviation school which shortly will be in operation at the naval academy, Lieut. John Rodgers of the navy started shortly before 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon from here for Washington.

Landed Near White House.

Washington, Sept. 8.—Lieut. Rodgers, flying high in the air, reached Washington at 4:45 o'clock p. m., and after circling the Washington monument for a quarter of an hour, landed near the White House at 5:04 o'clock.

The flight is one of the longest and most successful yet accomplished by a naval aviator, Lieut. Rodgers being one of the three officers who are stationed at the aerodrome near the naval academy at Annapolis and who are the first in that branch of the service to take up aviation. He had flown about forty-five miles when he landed here. The trip was accomplished without accident.

Starts From Wire.

Lieut. Ellison, the navy's first aviator, slid 150 feet down a wire cable at Hammondsport, N. Y., yesterday in his hydro-aeroplane, from a platform twenty feet high, and leaving the wire safely, flew out over the lake.

The apparatus had been used to demonstrate the possibility of flying these machines from a ship unassisted by any other means than those which readily may be improvised aboard.

DOROTHY P. WHITNEY WEDS W. D. STRAIGHT.

Geneva, Switzerland, Sept. 8.—Miss Dorothy Payne Whitney, daughter of the late William C. Whitney, and Willard D. Straight, former American consul-general at Mukden and more recently connected with the banking house of J. P. Morgan & Co., in Far Eastern investments, were married at the American church here at noon yesterday.

HUG OF FERVID CONVERT BREAKS EVANGELIST'S RIB.

Mena, Ark., Sept. 8.—In the final session of the revival held here the Rev. John R. Culpeper of Georgia, an evangelist of forty years' experience, met with a demonstration which was entirely new to him and a display of religious enthusiasm which he does not exactly court as an every day experience.

In an excess of joy a Mena business man gave the Rev. Mr. Culpeper a hug which was accompanied by a crack, heard by those close by, but none suspected the cause until the meeting had closed, when the preacher almost collapsed.

His son accompanied him to a physician after the meeting, who found a broken rib.

The Rev. Mr. Culpeper is now holding services in Spiro, Okla., with the ribs securely bound to prevent the fracture giving him further trouble.

IOWAN LAUDS LA FOLLETTE

Senator Cummins Says He Is Patriot With God-Given Purpose.

Speaks at "Opening of 1912 Campaign" in Des Moines.

Des Moines, Iowa, Sept. 8.—Characterizing Senator La Follette as a patriot with an eye singly to the good of the country and as one to whom Providence has given a strong mind and inflexible purpose, Senator Albert B. Cummins addressed the Iowa Tippecanoe club here last night in what was called the opening of the 1912 campaign in Iowa.

Senator Cummins had not intended to discuss Senator La Follette, but his opinion was called forth when a member of the club insisted that he state his opinion of the Wisconsin senator. His speech was devoted mainly to a discussion of the peace treaties pending before the senate, and he particularly advocated the adoption of the proposed amendment which leaves to the senate and president to determine whether any controversy is justiciable instead of to a joint high commission, as provided for in the agreements.

Is Ardent Protectionist.

Mr. Cummins prefaced his discussion of the peace treaties with a short reference to the tariff problem, stating that there was no more ardent protectionist in the country than he. Senator Cummins said in part:

"Every true Republican believes in the doctrine of protection, not to American manufacturers, but to American producers of all kinds, and we only differ today with respect to the application of that doctrine. My friend Aldrich thinks it ought to be a dollar a pound and I think sometimes it only ought to be 10 cents a pound. This is the difference between protectionists.

"There are other problems than the tariff, in my opinion more vital, more comprehensive, more indissolubly connected with the perpetuity of free institutions and the welfare of the people, and these problems we are facing. We will be cowards if we fail to confront them bravely and courageously. These problems concerning concentrated wealth, concerning combined corporations, concerning vast influences of all kinds can only be dealt with by the Union. The states are incapable to deal with them effectively."

"How About La Follette?"

At this juncture some one asked: "How about La Follette?"

Senator Cummins was somewhat indignant when he replied:

"Of course that is an important question, intended to be an impertinent question. Nevetheless I have no hesitation in answering it. I am not here to sow one seed of discord. I suppose every man here, and every woman, too, has a right to their own opinions with regard to the qualities of men who have made themselves famous in the work that is now being done in the United States. I want to say, however, that I believe that Senator La Follette is a patriot. I believe he has an eye singly to the good of the country, and I believe that God gave him a strong mind and an inflexible purpose."

TAFT TALKS OF TREATIES

Defends Arbitration Pacts Against Attacks of Senators.

Connecticut People Cheer His Plea for an Arbitral Court.

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 8.—To a Connecticut audience of 50,000 people, mostly from the agricultural region, gathered on the home stretch of the Charter Oak race track, President Taft spoke yesterday afternoon on arbitration between nations.

The president was the guest of the state and of the Connecticut Fair association, and his address followed a state luncheon in the new memorial hall on Capitol hill. At the race track, a rope held back the people, but the president immediately asked that the barrier be taken down, and then the people rushed forward within sound of his voice.

The president was in excellent voice. Time and again his plea for an arbitral court between the great nations of the world was applauded. At the close, the president returned to his motor car and was whirled into the city, leaving for Boston at 5 o'clock.

The president is such a familiar figure in Connecticut that he spoke like one renewing old acquaintances. He dealt almost exclusively with the legal technicalities of the arbitration treaties with England and France, which now await the approval of the American senate.

Quoted Previous Speeches.

He quoted liberally from his recent speeches on the same subject. He endeavored to show the benefits accruing to the high contracting parties and the support which his movement was receiving from peace societies and commercial organizations.

Perhaps the most significant part of his address was as follows:

"The majority of the senate committee on foreign relations say they cannot consent that somebody else shall decide for them whether a question arising in the future is within the provisions of the first article of this treaty; that for them to do so is to bind themselves by an obligation which they have no power to assume.

Agrees With Minority.

"It is the view of the minority, and with that view I am earnestly in accord, that the issue, where a future difference shall be within the terms of the description of article 1 of the treaty, is an international question arising out of a construction of the treaty under a claim of right by one of the parties to an arbitration and is a question, therefore, that the president and the senate acting as a treaty-making power, have the right to agree by treaty to submit to a tribunal for final judgment.

"In what different way is the treaty-making power invoked when we ask the senate to concur in a treaty which agrees to submit all justifiable differences to arbitration, and when it is asked to agree to submit to arbitration the question whether a difference arising is justifiable or not under the treaty? I confess that I cannot see the distinction.

Norway and Sweden.

"It is a well-known fact that Norway and Sweden have made an agreement to settle all differences, except those of vital interest and national honor, by submission to The Hague tribunal, and they have further agreed that when they differ as to whether the controversy arising is arbitrable under the treaty, or within the exception, to submit that question to the board of arbitration for its final discretion.

"Now if I understand the attitude of the majority of the senate committee, it is that they have no power, and therefore the government has no power, to enter into a treaty by which we shall agree to submit to a third person, constituting an independent tribunal, the question whether we are bound under a treaty to abide by the judgment of the tribunal as to a particular issue.

"The treaty-making power under the Constitution, it has been decided by the supreme court, hardly knows definition or limit. It is one of the broadest powers conferred by the Constitution, and it is conferred upon the executive and the senate. Certainly it is not in the interests of the cause of peace that that power should be limited in such a way that other governments may make treaties of this kind and we may not.

Working Toward an Ideal.

"The ideal toward which we are all working with these treaties is the ultimate establishment of an arbitral court to which we shall submit our international controversies with the same freedom and the same dependence on the judge as in case of domestic courts. If the senate cannot bind itself to submit questions of jurisdiction arising under the treaty as Norway and Sweden have done, for instance, then the prospect of real and substantial good is most discouraging.

"I call your attention to the unfortunate consequences, not only to ourselves but to the whole civilized world, not only for today but for ages to come, if the final adoption of this reasoning by the senate committee is to prevail."

OLD-TIME REMEDY DARKENS THE HAIR

Gives Color, Lustre to Faded and Gray Hair---Dandruff Quickly Removed.

From time immemorial, sage and sulphur have been used for the hair and scalp. Almost everyone knows of the value of such a combination for darkening the hair, for curing dandruff and falling hair, and for making the hair grow.

In olden times the only way to get a hair tonic of this sort was to brew it in the home fireplace, a method which was troublesome and not always satisfactory. Nowadays almost every up-to-date druggist can supply his patrons with a ready-to-use product, skillfully compounded in perfectly equipped laboratories. The Wyeth Chemical Company of New York put up an ideal remedy of this sort, called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, and authorize druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

If you have dandruff, or if your hair is turning gray or coming out, don't delay, but get a bottle of this remedy today, and see what a few days' treatment will do for you.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

WILL SHOOT FROM CLOUDS

Lieut. Scott Invents Gun to Shoot Bombs From Aeroplane.

May Make Flying Machine Most Deadly Agency in War.

New York, Sept. 8.—Ever since the aeroplane has been developed into a practical flying machine it has been predicted that it would be the mightiest destructive force known to modern warfare. But not until a practical gun for use on aeroplanes had been built, it was realized, would the power of the aeroplane as an aggressive factor in war be recognized.

This gun has now been invented and is at present being tested by its designer, Lieut. Riley E. Scott, a West Pointer and expert mathematician who has spent years of time in trying to solve the problems that would produce a perfectly accurate bomb hurling apparatus.

As soon as men learned how to operate a flying machine they began to practice, throwing imitation bombs at objects hundreds of feet below them on earth. Battleships, drawn to the exact scale of a Dreadnought, have been whitewashed on aviation fields and the aviators have thrown oranges at these targets to see how nearly they could come to hitting the make-believe warships in a vital spot.

A Successful World Test.

Under the auspices of the World, Glenn H. Curtiss, in July a year ago, made some of the first bomb throwing tests. A floating target in the shape of a battleship was constructed on Lake Keuka, Hammondsport, N. Y. In the presence of a number of army and navy officers who had been assigned to watch the World's experiment, Mr. Curtiss flew his biplane over the lake and more than a score of times hit the target with small bags of sand representing bombs. The military authorities present took accurate measurements and carefully examined the target after the tests, with the result that they proclaimed the World's test highly successful.

With Lieut. Scott's new aerial gun, the shooting of highly explosive projectiles from the heavens onto cities, forts or warships at sea becomes a simple matter. The accuracy a gunner acquires in the navy or army can now also be put into operation from an aeroplane. Heretofore aviators have been laughed at because they either aimed badly or their aim was spoiled by the speed at which the aeroplane was traveling through the air or the falling bomb would be deflected by a strong wind current.

To obviate these difficulties, Lieut. Scott has constructed his aeroplane gun in such a way that the speed of the machine, the velocity of the wind and the distance from the earth are all calculated automatically and with reasonable accuracy. In appearance the Scott gun resembles somewhat a ship's compass.

Getting Ready to Shoot.

The aviator must first sight the object at which he intends to fire through a telescope that is attached to the gun. In order to attain the necessary accuracy when dropping the bombs it is of first importance for the gunner to know the speed at which he is traveling and the height from the ground. The speed is determined by the use of a stop watch attached to the gun in conjunction with the telescope. In addition tables have been prepared to be used by the aviator in making his measurements.

The gun is to be tested from a "riot monoplane" which has been built by Alfred Moisant, a brother of the late John Moisant. The monoplane will have room for a passenger and the gun. One of the interesting features of the gun is that no concussion will be felt by the shooting of the projectile. It is simply dropped at the proper instant and finds its way to earth by itself.

Mr. Moisant is very much interested in the new gun, and in aviation circles it is generally understood why he should be. His brother, John Moisant, it has often been said, took up flying with the object of using the aeroplane in war. President Zelaya of Nicaragua encouraged him to take up aviation with that very definite purpose.

WIFE SUES COUNT, NOW A MUSICIAN

Romance of Migliconico and an American Girl Is Ended.

Danville, Ill., Sept. 8.—An international romance which had its inception in New York five years ago was brought to a close when Mrs. Migliconico, wife of Sig. Michael Migliconico of Milan, Italy, brought suit for divorce, charging desertion. The couple were married in this city in 1906 and separated a year later. They have one child, a boy, whose custody the mother desires.

Migliconico was said to have called himself a count at the time of the marriage. Mrs. Migliconico, who was Miss Coronne Phillips, one of the wealthiest and most beautiful girls of Danville, met the signor at a musical given at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York in the early part of 1906. He is said to have represented himself as possessed of a big estate near Milan, together with a castle centuries old and filled with priceless art treasures.

He is said to have been an ardent wooer, and the Illinois girl soon lost her heart to him. Soon after in Danville there followed a wedding which was the biggest social event this city has known. Friends of the family came from New York and Boston to wish the lucky heiress a happy wedded life.

The couple sailed for Italy to spend their honeymoon in the magnificent old castle which the signor had painted so beautifully to his girl bride.

Whether there was a castle and an estate is not known, but the wife returned to this country shortly afterward and to the home of her father. The husband came back, and it is said he joined an Italian band playing at a summer resort.

While the couple have not lived together since, the divorce suit came as a big surprise to the friends of the young woman here. She claims her husband is at Hot Springs, Va., where he is a member of a band.

KANSAS FARMERS MAY HIRE INDIAN HELPERS.

Topeka, Kan., Sept. 8.—The farmers of Kansas have a chance to try out young Indians as farm hands this summer. The Haskell Indian school is trying to make arrangements to place the young Indians who desire to become farmers on farms all over the state during the late summer months. W. C. Keen, an agent of the institution, does not want the boys to go out in the harvest fields, and that is about all Secretary of Agriculture Harris has to offer right now; consequently Mr. Keen will strike out into the different counties himself and attempt to locate prosperous farmers who will be willing to take an Indian or two for the summer.

The wages asked for the Indians will not be much. They want the experience, and are willing to take in wages just what is necessary to keep them going.

"The hope of the Indian is on the farm," said Mr. Keen. "Each Indian has a good farm somewhere. It is difficult to teach the Indians anything about farming at the school. We have 1,000 acres there, but there are so many students that it is difficult to teach any one all the different features of the business. The school farm is like a large factory. In a large factory one employe usually learns one part of the work. In a small factory each employe learns all about the business. We hope that by putting the Indians out on small farms in Kansas they will be able to learn something of farming in all its departments."

IT'S a good thing to buy your clothes as soon as the new goods are in; no use waiting; most men know what they're going to do about it long before they do it. STEPS LIKE MAN FROM STREET CAR

Then Emma's Memory Deserts Her for Twenty-Four Hours.

Denver, Col., Sept. 8.—Miss Emma Boardman, who lost her memory by a fall from a street car a few days ago, has entirely recovered to describe her experience.

"I never underwent such a curious mental experience," she says. "I had just been to the postoffice and I was in a hurry to get back to the office. As we rounded the corner at Twentieth and Welton streets, I thought I would imitiate two men who had just swung off the car, and not wait for it to stop.

"As I tried to step off everything went black with a sudden rush. The next I knew I was lying on a sofa. Two or three men were standing around asking where I lived; but it seemed as if one part of my brain had stopped and I couldn't think. Then suddenly I found myself giving them a phone number. That was the only thing that I could think of, though generally I cannot use the phone without looking up numbers.

"'But where do you live?' they kept asking me.

"'Why, Oklahoma City,' I replied, and wondered why one of the men laughed said something about having to take me a long ways.

"I couldn't even think of the name of my employer, but one of the men had seen me go into the office at No. 2053 Welton and finally went for Mr. Christians, who sent me home in the ambulance.

"Everything was a blur until they carried me in, and then I knew it was raining, because the monotonous drip, drip of the water worried me.

"Next day things came back to me with a rush and since then I've had no trouble with remembering, except when I turn suddenly, and then the top of my head seems to lift off and everything drops out.'"

WORLD JAUNT IS ENDED BY YOUTH

Dissatisfied With His Allowance, Rich Boy Plays Hobo.

Marion, Ind., Sept. 8.—The "around the world" jaunt of Robert Matter, son of Philip Matter, Marion's wealthiest resident, taken because he was dissatisfied with his monthly allowance, is at an end. The boy has returned to his parents' home after circling the globe and traveling 30,000 miles. During the greater portion of the time he traveled in the true style of the American "hobo," working his way from place to place and stopping only long enough to secure funds to carry him to the next point.

Young Matter started his globe-trotting on Jan. 17 under the name of Robert Morton. Not until he met his brother in the East a week before he arrived home did he reveal his true identity. He always posed as a poor American boy compelled to work for a livelihood, and never once did he mention the wealth or prominence of his family, his college days or of his life before he started on the eventful trip.

The young man first signed as a feeder on a London bound cattle boat from New York. He was sick almost the entire trip, but he did not give up the idea of circling the globe. He spent some time in London, then moved to Belgium and later to Australia. He visited points in Egypt, Gibraltar and other places in the Old World. He worked in the Fiji and Hawaiian islands and finally landed at Vancouver, B. C. There he found a serious strike in progress.

It was then Matter became an American tramp in the truest sense of the word. Wearing shabby clothes and badly in need of a shave, the young man started to "hobo" his way out of the country. He finally reached Swift Current, Can., where his brother, John Matter, is located, and a happy reunion followed.

John Matter was the first person Robert Matter had seen since leaving New York that he knew. Matter secured a position on a farm and worked until he saved enough money to ride to Marion "on the cushions."

MOTHER BEAR HOLDS UP MAIL

Carrier Futs Up Lively Fight With an Automatic Revolver.

Spokane, Wash., Sept. 8.—A mother bear with a Bat Nelson battle gleam in her eye and an Ad Wolgast fighting crouch, and her two little cubs, held up Uncle Sam's mail in the road between Sandy and Marmot and gave C. M. Bailey, rural mail-carrier on the route, the time of his life when he accepted her challenge Saturday afternoon.

Bailey was driving leisurely along toward Sandy in his mail wagon behind his two sturdy horses when the bear popped into sight as he rounded a curve. She was standing on her haunches in the middle of the road in a distinctly belligerent attitude, her cubs frisking about her. Bailey was so surprised that he pulled up his horses and waited for developments.

He didn't have to wait very long. With a growl and a flourish of her forepaws, the bear made for the mail-carrier, the cubs waddling along after her on all fours. Bailey's horses snorted in terror at this unexpected move by Mother Ervin, and whirled about in the road so sharply that the wagon was upset and the mail and mail-carrier spilled out in the dust.

As Bailey picked himself up he pulled his automatic revolver out of his pocket and fired at the bear, which was almost on him. The bullet went true, and she rolled over in the road, snarling and clawing. She seemed to have enough of battle, for the next minute she picked herself up and scampered off into the woods with the cubs, leaving a trail of blood behind her.

As soon as the shaken Bailey could collect himself, he caught his horses, which had stopped after running a short distance down the road, and, with the aid of a party of autoists that came along soon after he righted his wagon and hitched up.

Fair Visitor Takes His Life.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 8.—The body of Lyman Jeneweln of Hazel, S. D., was found Wednesday in a patch of weeds near Second avenue south and First street. He had taken his own life. Jeneweln was a state fair visitor and was stopping with his sister, Hazel Jeneweln, a stenographer. She lives at 3210 Lyndale avenue south. No reason is known for his act.

TRAIN HELD UP BY ACROBATIC OLD NAG.

Lewistown, Pa., Sept. 8.—The apparition of a little old gray horse held up an early train on the Philadelphia and Erie road and incidentally scored a triumph for the Sherlock Holmes system of turning mystery inside out.

Richard Rowe saw the ghost walk the floor beams of the Juniata bridge and disappear in a wink. His first thought was that it was an omen of disaster, and he hurried up the track and stopped an oncoming train.

The crew agreed to make an investigation and found gray hairs on the bridge and tracks of the animal where it left the banks.

The horse was found leisurely grazing, apparently none the worse for its drop of sixty feet.

WHEN 103 YEARS OLD TAKES SIXTH WIFE.

Everett, Wash., Sept. 8.—Clara Powers, a widow, 45 years old, has just become the bride of J. R. Luce, who is three years past the century mark and has been married six times, four times since he became a resident of Everett.

"You did not require me to bring the woman along the last time," he remarked, cheerfully, when he received the marriage license.

Early in the afternoon he had made the trip to the courthouse and was informed that he would have to produce the woman. Luce's last wife divorced him, and six months ago he got a license, but the intended bride changed her mind.

MAY YOHE TO BE MARRIED AGAIN

Will Team Up With New Husband in Vaudeville.

New York, Sept. 8.—May Yohe, who put Cupid over the jumps on her Lord Francis Hope-Putnam-Bradlee-Strang matrimonial canter, has roped Kid Eros again and is about to enter into a connubial contract with Jack McAuliffe, a one-time slugger of eminent note. Of course, this marriage will not put Miss Yohe in the Nat Goodwin-Lillian Russell class, but it will give her a good start down the back stretch.

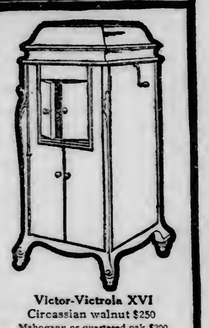

Jack McAuliffe will come up to the post carrying the same weight as his bride-to-be, as he has made two false starts in the luminous void. But Jack didn't get as much fame out of his earlier marital experiences as May. Neither Mrs. McAuliffe No. 1 nor Mrs. McAuliffe No. 2 was of the foreign or domestic nobility.

Miss Yohe and Mr. McAuliffe plan a double hitch arrangement in connection with their third matrimonial plunge. They will team up in vaudeville as well as in domestic harness, and they are both rejoiced to announce that they will be billed as headliners.

Victor-Victrola

The element of cost didn't enter into the designing and construction of the first Victor-Victrola. The only object was to produce a musical instrument that was absolute perfection. And the result was a new kind of instrument with a sweeter, richer, mellower tone than was ever heard before.

After that we devoted our energies to securing this unequaled tone in less expensive models. From time to time more popular-priced instruments were added until today the Victor-Victrola is within the reach of all and everybody can enjoy the exquisite music from this greatest of all musical instruments.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

Still it rains and still the temperature remains below the 50 deg. mark. A little moisture now and then is all right, but when nearly a week passes without a glimpse of the sun, even the most philosophical of human beings is constrained to voice a protest. If this keeps up much longer, the weather man will have to lock himself in his tower on the hill. He has courage with his meanness and today another rain prediction is flaunted before an irate public.

Cool weather prevailed a year ago today.

The sun rose at 5:36 this morning and it will set at 6:35 this evening, giving twelve hours and fifty-nine minutes of sunlight behind the clouds.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"The Saskatchewan-Manitoba high pressure area has moved rapidly eastward to the St. Lawrence valley, while the Arizona disturbance has remained stationary and another depression has appeared over Alberta. These conditions have resulted in rains over most of the lake region, Ohio valley, Wisconsin, Minnesota, the Dakotas, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Eastern Texas, Southern Louisiana, Northern Florida and South Carolina during the last twenty-four hours. Somewhat warmer weather also prevails in Minnesota, North Dakota, Saskatchewan and Alberta. Freezing temperatures occurred last night in Southern Saskatchewan and Western Manitoba. Further rainy weather may be expected at the Head of the Lakes during the ensuing thirty-six hours."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Saturday:

Wisconsin and Iowa — Unsettled weather with probably showers tonight or Saturday; not much change in temperature.

Minnesota—Unsettled weather with probably showers tonight or Saturday; warmer Saturday.

North Dakota—Generally fair tonight and Saturday, except threatening in east portion; warmer tonight.

South Dakota—Cloudy and probably unsettled tonight and Saturday; warmer Saturday.

Montana—Generally fair tonight and Saturday; warmer tonight.

Upper Michigan—Cloudy tonight and Sunday; not much change.

Upper lakes—Light to moderate east and northern winds on Michigan and Huron and light and variable on Superior; cloudy tonight and Saturday.

streams and lakes; this territory is now being covered by the Hill and Harriman systems, as well as other railroad interests, with lines running in different directions, and it is believed that within the next ten years Oregon will have a greater growth than any other state in our country. A great future is assured for Portland, commanding this territory, with great water power, wealth and all needed facilities for manufacturing in which good progress has already been attained.

Canadian Development.

"Crossing the border into Canada, in which we are deeply interested, the two trunk railroads with a network of lines in this territory, having an outlet through our port at Duluth, with reciprocity possibly not far away, in which case the two countries would be drawn still closer to each other; an agricultural section beyond Winnipeg to the Rockies, some 1,000 miles, and from the border line of Edmonton, north some 400 miles, nearly all good, fertile land, some grazing, and northwest of Edmonton, in the Peace river country, extending some hundred miles, good wheat land is said to extend, there being a new grist mill for grinding flour about 600 miles northwest of Edmonton. On account of the Chinook winds they have a mild climate, no more severe than Northern Ohio.

"The grain crops in the three provinces some ten years ago were inconsiderable; this year the volume of wheat is estimated at about 180,000,000 bushels; oats, flax and barley 275,000,000 bushels.

"Bear in mind a very small part of this vast territory has been touched. What may be expected in the near future? Within a short period of time small towns have become cities and territory where eight or nine years ago were stretches of fifty to 100 miles with scarcely a house in sight now good towns every few miles—a change similar to that which has taken place in our own great west.

Cities of Western Canada.

"I think we are all familiar with the growth that has taken place in the large cities of our own northwest, but it might not be out of place to mention a few facts regarding some of the places of the Canadian northwest. Winnipeg, some 350 miles distant, a place of some 40,000 population fifteen years ago, now has 175,000, and it is predicted by some that it will rival in importance Toronto and Montreal. If not outstrip the larger city in population. Three years ago the building permits amounted to $5,500,000, in 1910 over $15,000,000, and it is estimated that this year they will reach $20,000,000.

"It is the greatest distributing point in the Canadian territory, with some twelve wholesale grocery houses, six wholesale dry goods, seven wholesale harware houses and other lines in proportion, with abundant water power to take care of manufacturing which soon must come. A remarkable growth has taken place and is now going on in other cities. Vancouver ten years ago had a population of 27,000, today it is estimated they have 125,000; building permits in 1910 were $10,000,000. Calgary had a population ten years ago of 4,000, today nearly 50,000; building permits in 1910, $5,000,000. Edmonton ten years ago had a population of 2,100, today of 30,000. Lethbridge, Regina, Brandon, Saskatoon are all important and growing cities. These places are all distributing centers where wholesale houses are being established and several have become important jobbing points.

Memorable Excursion.

"Nine years ago when Colonel Davidson ran his memorable excursion from Duluth and the Twin Cities to the Saskatchewan valley the town of Saskatoon, located in the center of this valley, was a hamlet, containing not more than fifteen to twenty houses, with one or two small general stores to provide the settlers in the place and a few scattered pioneers located in the country about—now a city of nearly 20,000 inhabitants, where a 50-foot corner lot, then purchased for $400, selling a few years later for $10,000, and the past spring I learned the sale of this same lot to one of the large Canadian banks for one of its branches, paying for it $100,000. A number of wholesale representative houses have established quarters here, where some twelve banks are located to finance this section of the country at the present time a good sized building is being erected for a prominent wholesale hardware company.

Territory Developing.

"With such territory as we have in this empire beyond us in the states and in the Canadian Northwest, with already good sized towns and cities, many of them with water powers accessible, some with power already developed for manufacturing purposes, with good railroad facilities, making them centers of distribution, is it not clear that they will soon become manufacturing centers, the same as has taken place in the East and Middle West, the factory invariably follows the distributor.

"At this time the recent decision of the Interstate commerce commission in the Spokane rate case, which soon takes effect, clearly indicates that the long haul for railroads from the East to the coast will not be as attractive as it has been in the past, as to continue such rates means too great a sacrifice in the short haul rate. To maintain present earnings and increase them will it not be necessary for these transcontinental lines to make greater efforts to develop local business, which can only be done by having more of the unoccupied lands tilled and by increase of manufacturing at distributing points on their lines.

Cheaper Raw Material.

"With cheaper raw material of iron and steel products near at hand in the way of finished steel and iron from the great plant that the United States Steel corporation is now building here, will it not furnish the connecting link of such enterprises? And the distribution of products from such factories may not necessarily be confined to this particular territory, but extend into other sections—a case in point in our own city.

"Twelve years ago there was started here a plant to manufacture lumbering tools made largely from steel and iron to supply the local trade, with a small capital, a force of six to eight men. From the making of tools, machinery was added, made wholly from iron and steel and now shipped to all parts of this country—foreign lands as well. The new steel plant now being erected is supplied with hoisting machinery made at this plant. This company now has a capital of some $750,000, and last year the volume of their sales reached nearly $1,000,000.

What is to Follow.

"With what has taken place does it require much of a stretch of imagination as to what may follow? With the facts we have before us can there be a doubt in the mind of anyone here that this large plant of the United States Steel corporation is warranted, that the building of it will reflect credit upon the projectors and will be pointed to with pride not only by our citizens but the people of Minnesota and the Northwest?

"And that these gentlemen now with us, officers of this company and their associates will prove no mistake has been made—that the results will be gratifying to them and their stockholders, is our wish and our expectation. We are pleased to have President Farrell and his associates with us at this time, and it is a compliment to us which we fully appreciate, and we trust they may have occasion to visit us more often in the future."

Walker Patients' Reunion.

While bands were playing and persons were tramping around in the mud looking over the exhibits at the state fair grounds yesterday afternoon, one little group of men and women sat in a tent near the Farmers' Institute, unmindful of happenings at the exposition. All were happy to be living and their smiles to each other showed it. The little group consisted of former patients of the state sanitarium for the tubercular at Walker.

Dr. Walter J. Marclay, who was in charge of the institution the first three years it was in existence, was there to greet his former patients, and the reunion was pleasing. Men and women there were who had sought the sanitarium to escape the ravages of the "great white plague," many of them now looking hale and hearty and apparently cured of the disease.

More than 500 patients were cared for at the institution during the time Dr. Marclay was in charge. Invitations to the reunion here in the tent of the St. Paul Anti-Tuberculosis society were signed by him and by Dr. L. B. Ohlinger, the present superintendent.

"Statistics compiled show that more than 30 per cent of the persons who are treated at sanitariums are permanently cured," Dr. Marclay said. "The average in Minnesota is high. The sanitarium is an educational institution, much depending on the conduct of the patients themselves after they leave our care."

A dinner was arranged for those present at the reunion.

his right ear and glanced off, and one entered the thigh.

"I have known Watson a long time, and I couldn't stand it when he turned me down," Mrs. Coney told the police. "He told me to get away from his home because his mother was there. It was more than I could stand, and I shot him."

When told Watson's injuries were not serious, Mrs. Coney expressed relief, saying she had not intended to kill him.

Figured in Divorce.

Mrs. Coney filed suit for divorce from her husband, a manufacturer here, last February. It was dismissed and a counter suit filed by him was sustained. Although Watson's name did not appear in Coney's suit, the woman's former husband said the architect's name had been coupled with that of his wife even before the separation.

Neither Watson nor the woman would make any further statement as to the cause of the shooting.

men have taken a vote, and the general committeemen came here with definite instructions from the men they represent.

This vote is the second the men have taken on the subject, the one prior to the Kruttschnitt meeting having been practically a unanimous decision to strike unless the federation should gain recognition.

Most of the shops along the coast have emphasized the desire of the men to take drastic action, but some of the delegates from the middle western states are inclined to accept the ultimatum of Kruttschnitt for the present and to make individual union contracts for the coming year.

May Make New Contracts.

It is past time for drawing up the annual contracts and the shopmen are awaiting the result of this conference before beginning negotiations with their general superintendents. In case it is deemed inadvisable to strike, new contracts will be made at once, each craft dealing separately with the company, but all demandin~ practically the same conditions of employment.

The federation officials feel that in this way the ends of the federation will be gained, even if the organization itself is not offically recognized by the railroad officials.

President Kline said he did not expect any definite action today. The conference may continue for several days.

If the peacemakers in the conference succeed in preventing a strike order, the influence of all the representatives of all the shopmen will be directed to bring about an agreement whereby the railroad will consent to eliminate from the proposed contracts the "personal record" and the introduction of piece work and the premium system. Success in these endeavors will gain for the men their greatest object, aside from that of federation recognition.

mother is gone, and now you are asked to brand the father as the coldest blooded assassin of the twentieth century. May God give you wisdom to do your duty!"

The ending of the argument for the defense at the recess hour indicated that the case would go to the jury about 5 or 6 o'clock tonight.

Session Began Early

The final arguments began earlier than usual today, but although they were expected to end today this was by no means an assured fact.

"I expect the case to go to the jury tonight," said Judge Watson before convening court, "but this cannot be foretold, as the argument has not been limited as to time. "I expected Mr. Carter, for instance, not to occupy all afternoon yesterday, but he did so, and it is possible that if Mr. Smith uses the greater part of today, Mr. Wendenburg's concluding remarks may have to go over until tomorrow. I know the jurymen are anxious to get to their homes and I will urge the lawyers to endeavor to finish tonight."

The prisoner, in a light suit and a white cravat, sat beside his counsel today assisting him constantly in finding pages in the voluminous typewritten record of the testimony, and followed the argument closely.

Bitter Battle of Attorneys.

It was a bitter fight, involving all the finer details of criminal law, that was staged at the historic courthouse today between Attorneys Smith and Wendenburg. Continuing the line of attack begun by his colleague, Hill Carter, yesterday against the veracity of Paul Beattie, who gave the most sensational and damaging testimony against his cousin, Mr. Smith battered away at the story of the purchase of the gun, the alleged confession, and the chain of circumstantial evidence forged by the prosecution.

"The masterful argument of Mr. Carter yesterday, Mr. Smith said, "has made it unnecessary for me to detain you with a protracted address. We do not anticipate and do not fear at your hands a conviction. What we are troubled about is those of you who are satisfied that you cannot bring in a verdict of guilty and yet cannot assent to a verdict of not guilty.

"We will endeavor to show you that if that is your frame of mind, we are entitled to your acquittal. That proposition is made plain to you by the instructions."

Circumstantial Evidence.

Mr. Smith cited the Kestleberg incident as an instance of the danger of circumstantial evidence.

"You heard the boys testify," he continued, "of their trip from Bon Air, how they saw a man in front of an automobile and a woman on the running board. How must you have felt when Mr. Kestleberg himself came forward and thrust aside all suspicion that Henry Beattie or his wife were in that machine? This, gentlemen, illustrates the danger of making up your minds until a case is closed, a pit into which many jurymen and even judges often have fallen.

"With all due respect to the gentleman who opened the case for the commonwealth, we do not yet know the theory of the prosecution. He who closes for the commonwealth, therefore, has a distinct advantage in weaving together theories from facts we have not known.

"What can have been the purpose of Mr. Sydnor's testimony that he saw a young man alone on the Midlothian turnpike early on the evening of the tragedy? It must be they think the accused went to to stump they have talked about, and placed the gun there a few hours before the crime. But here is a man of intelligence, who on the witness stand must have impressed you—a man of kind disposition—and yet they want you to believe that he prepared in this blundering fashion for the crime, than which a more hellish and brutish has seldom been heard of."

Mr. Smith dwelt at length on the question of reasonable doubt, re-reading the instructions to the jury on this point.

"It is inconceivable," he added, "that this young man could for three days live in the same house with his dear father and loving family, could kiss them each night with this terrible crime on his mind. It's inconceivable, gentlemen.

"Face to Face With God."

"In taking away a human life, you are face to face with God Almighty, and unless you are convinced to a moral certainty that this young man committed this dastardly crime, you must of necessity bring in a verdict of not guilty.

"You have been shown the dangers of circumstantial evidence, but I will show you that the accused must have been only a blundering idiot to have committed the murder. For he picked out a much traveled road where everybody could see him. In full view he hides a gun. I may as well say that if he thought out or planned this crime, why, can you tell me, should he have used a shotgun when a pistol, easily procured and easily concealed, without taking anybody into his confidence, could have been used."

"More Than One Life at Stake."

"Gentlemen, there is more than one human life at stake—not only the life of this young man, but of that gray-haired father, the future of the brother and the good name of a sister. They all appeal to you, clarion-tongued, to give them the benefit of the doubt.

"And I want to say here what I am glad to say of an old friend, that I would be glad to rest this case on the testimony of Tom Owen, uncle of the dead woman, who was the fairest man I ever saw on the witness stand. And Tom Owen was the first person to whom this boy opened his lips when he brought in his dead wife.

"Gentlemen, if there were any discrepancies in the story they would have appeared then, and I offer to rest your judgment with that testimony alone.

"Our mail has been flooded," said Mr. Smith, "with letters of sympathy and letters of people from all over the United States telling of the dangers of circumstantial evidence."

Mr. Kestleberg's Story.

Mr. Smith then closely reviewed the evidence, with particular stress on the reluctantly given testimony of Kestleberg.

"I don't ask you," said Mr. Smith, "to believe all the testimony of Kestleberg. I don't ask you to believe that he didn't know the woman he was out with that night. He said that to save trouble in two homes. But what you must believe is that it was his car and not Henry Beattie's which the boys saw."

Characterizing Paul Beattie as a moral wreck, the lawyer held up the testimony of the cousin as influenced by stronger-minded detectives.

"We do not believe that Paul Beattie was guilty of this crime. The question has probably occurred to you as to what our theory is. But the instructions distinctly point out that it is not necessary for us to locate the criminal agent. It isn't our duty to do so.

"Paul Beattie—Weakling."

"Suppose Paul Beattie did buy that gun to use on Mayo's bridge? Suppose Neblitt is telling the truth and Paul Beattie did have a gun in the cement house on Sunday morning? Suppose that gun was stolen by some tramp and the tramp killed Mrs. Beattie, and suppose that Paul Beattie was afraid to tell that story for fear the crime would be fastened on him—I ask you, does that not seem good reason for the shifting of the burden by this weakling, Paul Beattie?"

BEULAH BINFORD SAYS SHE WANTS TO BE GOOD.

New York, Sept. 8.—Beulah Binford reached this city last night by way of the Pennsylvania railroad, having changed from the New Jersey Central railroad at Elizabeth, N. J., to avoid. is was said, the crowds awaiting her appearance at the Jersey City terminals.

"I know that everybody will think I am just piling it on thick in going to New York right now," she said "but the reason I am coming here is just to get a chance to stand alone and try to be good. I don't suppose I will get any sympathy, and that will make it harder, but it's true just the same."

If the protests that are going up from prominent club women, actresses and other women, well known in this city, are to be taken as a criterion of the feeling of womankind in general, Beulah Binford will not be heartily welcomed to the metropolitan stage as "an actress' or anything else.

New York Women Protest.

When the news reached here that the young woman, who has become notorious through her connection with the Beattie murder trial, had been liberated from jail at Richmond and had started north to "go on the stage," many of the leaders of women in this city protested that such an exposition of Miss Binford would be "an insult to all womankind."

Among the women outspoken in their opinion are Mrs. Belle de Rivera, the well-known club woman; Mrs. Sol Smith, the oldest actress now playing on the American stage; Mrs. A. M. Palmer, widow of a prominent theatrical manager and president of the Rainy Day club; and Alma Webster Powell, the singer.

A local booking agent is credited with the statement that the Binford girl will appear at a Philadelphia theater next Monday. Asked as to her histrionic ability he said her act probably would consist of a couple of songs.

"It really does not matter what she does," he is alleged to have added, "so long as the people have a chance to look at her."

Instant Relief For Sore Feet

Sore Feet, Tender Feet and Swollen Feet Cured Every Time. TIZ Makes Sore Feet Well No Matter What Ails Them.

Policemen all over the world use TIZ. Policemen stand on their feet all day and know what sore, tender, sweaty, swollen feet really mean. They use TIZ because TIZ cures their feet right up. It keeps feet in perfect condition. Read what this policeman has to say: "I was surprised and delighted with TIZ for tender feet. I hardly know how to thank you enough for it. It's superior to powders or plasters. I can keep my feet in perfect condition. Believe in my earnest gratitude for TIZ. I am a policeman and keep on my feet all day."—Emzy Harrell, Austin, Texas.

You never tried anything like TIZ before for your feet. It is different from anything ever before sold.

TIZ is not a powder. Powders and other foot remedies clog up the pores. TIZ draws out all poisonous exudations which bring on soreness of the feet, and is the only remedy that does. TIZ cleans out every pore and glorifies the feet—your feet.

You'll never limp again or draw up your face in pain and you'll forget about your corns, bunions and callouses. You'll feel like a new person.

TIZ is for sale at all druggists at 25c per box, or it will be sent you direct if you wish from Walter Luther Dodge & Co., Chicago, Ill.

CONTRACT FOR SHAFT

Cuyler Adams Contracts for Cement Shaft South of Deerwood.

Increased Activity and Interest in the South Cuyuna Range.

Deerwood, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The cement shaft south of Deerwood is section 30, township 46, range 28, near the site of the old Chesquitawney mine, is an assured fact. Cuyler Adams and his associates, who bought out the interests of Attorney William C. White of Deerwood and Milwaukee, Wis., in the Orelands Mining company, at the record price of $250,000, which interests also appear to have included lands on the south range, have let the contract for the construction of this cement shaft to the Foundation company of New York, and work will soon be commenced.

The work will be in charge of R. Jackson, who made such a success in sinking shafts in the vicinity of Crosby and Ironton. Increased activity and interest has been manifested in and on the south range on the receipt of this announcement. Coupled with the exploratory work in the vicinity of Brainerd, the numerous drills to the south of Deerwood and the Northern Pacific railway tracks and the extensive mining operations of the M. A. Hanna company at Barrows, the activities of the south range have gained the attention of investors, mining men and drillers.

SAFE BLOWERS MAY BE CAUGHT

Sheriff Kelly Believes Moose Jaw Prisoner Robbed Flaxton Postoffice.

Minot, N. D., Sept. 8.—Sheriff Kelly is of the opinion that one of the three men captured at Moose Jaw last week in connection with the robbery of the P. M. Cole and C. A. Bodmer stores at Kenmare, is the man who blew up the safe in the Flaxton postoffice early last Monday morning and also stole several articles of jewelry from the jewelry store in the same building. Mr. Kelly says the man had a number of rings and other articles of jewelry which, as near as he could remember, answered the description of the articles stolen from the jewelry store in the Flaxton postoffice block.

The men denied any connection with the robbery of the Kenmare stores. Mr. Cole furnished the authorities with the stock number and the make of the shoes stolen and those correspond with the numbers found on the inside of the shoes. Cole's cost mark was found on a pair of the suspenders stolen and also on one of the belts and the suits of clothing were satisfactorily identified. A list of the goods stolen from the Bodmer store tallied with the articles offered for sale in the Moose Jaw hardware store by the bandits.

All the articles were recovered with three exceptions. The men were taken to Regina to await extradition. Mr. Kelly expects to be armed with the necessary papers in about ten days and will then bring the men to this city to stand trial.

THANKFUL FOR RAISE.

South Dakota Rural Carriers Also Favor Thirty Days' Vacation.

Sioux Falls, S. D., Sept. 8.—The South Dakota Rural Mail Carriers' association, after a two days' sesion, has adjourned. The following officers were elected for the coming year: President, C. D. Sargent, Beresford; vice president, Earl B. Swartout, Sioux Falls; secretary-treasurer, C. G. Moffett, Groton. W. C. Holter of Elk Point and William Dixon of Madison were elected delegates to the national convention at Milwaukee, Sept. 19 and 20. Watertown was selected as the next place of meeting.

The resolutions thank the last congress for granting rural mail carriers an increase in salary and declare in favor of rural mail carriers being given a vacation of thirty days each year, as is allowed other postal employes.

YOUNG GIRL MISSING.

Started From Montana to Visit Relatives in South Dakota.

Aberdeen, S. D., Sept. 8.—Miss Marian Silvernale, the 17-year-old niece of T. H. Faus, chief deputy collector United States internal revenue, mysteriously disappeared from this city sometime Thursday, Aug. 31, without leaving any clue whatever behind her by which she could be traced.

Miss Silvernale left her home at Baker, Mont., on Wednesday, Aug. 30, bound for Aberdeen, where she was going to spend the winter with her uncle and aunt and attend the normal. She was accompanied on her journey as far as Aberdeen by Mrs. B. B. Smith of Mildred, Mont., who was going through to Montevideo, Minn., to visit. Mrs. Smith says she ate supper with her in the diner but it being about midnight she was dozing in her seat when they reached Aberdeen, and did not see the girl get off the train.

TIMBER RESERVES

In Northeastern Minnesota Planned By State Forester Cox.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 8.—Personal inspection of the large tracts of state lands in Northern and Northeastern Minnesota to determine the tillable quality of the land, will be made by State Forester Cox in the next two weeks, with the view of having the land set aside as timber reserves.

Mr. Cox will start on his second trip either Sunday or Monday and spend most of two weeks in the undeveloped territory lying north and northeast of the iron ranges. The trip from which he returned for the fire prevention day conference, covered a large part of the north-central and northeastern section around the iron ranges.

Because they are now wet with rain, the forests he inspected are in excellent condition, Mr. Fox said today, but should a dry spell ensue, they are in worse condition than they have been for years, owing to the luxuriant undergrowth. "Fierce" was the way he characterized the conditions that would be produced by a dry spell.

CLOQUET GIRL WEDDED.

Miss Diesen Married to Charles A. Maynard of Hibbing.

Cloquet, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—At noon yesterday at the Diesen residence, Miss Laura E. Diesen was married to Charles A. Maynard of Hibbing. The bride is a sister of County Attorney Judge J. E. Diesen of this city and is well known both here and at Hibbing. She was attended by Miss Caroline Deuck of Wrenshall, Judge Diesen acting as best man. The bride was beautifully gowned in white silk crepe de chine trimmed with Irish point lace and silk fringe. She carried a large sheaf bouquet of bride's roses. Miss Deuck wore pale green crepe de chine.

A dainty luncheon followed the ceremony, participated in by a small wedding party. Mr. and Mrs. Maynard left on the afternoon train for Duluth, leaving thence on a lake trip to Chicago, Port Huron, Mich., and other points. They will be at home in Hibbing after Oct. 1, where the groom has just completed the erection of a handsome bungalow in which they will live.

FRIENDS GIVEN SURPRISE.

Miss Florence Hedlund of Cloquet Married in Duluth.

Cloquet, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—It was not definitely known here until yesterday that Martin Anderson of Duluth and Miss Florence Hedlund of this city were married in Duluth Tuesday morning, the young people stealing a march on their friends here, who had been anticipating the nuptial event for some time. Mr. Anderson and his bride-to-be left on the 5 a. m. train Tuesday morning and were later married at St. Paul's Episcopal rectory in Duluth. Announcements are being issued here today. The groom is manager for A. Booth & Co., of Duluth, but was a Cloquet boy until a few years ago, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Anderson residing here on Carlton avenue. His bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Hedlund of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Anderson have gone to Chicago on their wedding trip and will be at home in Duluth after Oct. 1.

EXTINGUISHED FIRE.

Former Secretary of State Plays Part of Fireman.

Minot, N. D., Sept. 8.—To wake up and find that your neighbors were putting out a fire which was threatening to envelope your residence, is an unusual experience, but Attorney Dorr Carroll woke up at 10:30 o'clock Sunday night and found ex-Secretary of State Alfred Blaisdell extinguishing a fire on the back porch of the former's residence, the impromptu fire chief's equipment being Mr. Carroll's garden hose.

Sunday morning the servant in the Carroll home removed a chunk of lignite coal from the stove, placed it in the coal scuttle and left it on the back porch of the Carroll residence. A sharp gust of wind about 10:30 at night tipped the coal scuttle over and as the lignite still held fire the blaze resulted.

TO TEST PULP MATERIAL.

Experiments With Device for Making Paper From Corn Stalks.

Appleton, Wis., Sept. 8.—Cheap print paper is certain if an experiment to be witnessed by paper and pulp manufacturers of Wisconsin, to be conducted on a farm near Milwaukee the latter part of next week, results successfully. A company has been organized for the placing on the market of a miniature pulp mill, the chief equipment of which is a digester and fireless cooker. In this miniature plant it is planned that farmers may manufacture paper pulp from corn stalks and sugar cane. The fireless cooker attachment to the patented device is where the big saving comes in. Corn stalks and sugar cane possess good fiber for print paper pulp, but neither articles has ever been made practical in the manufacture of pulp for the reason that the cost of getting it to the pulp mills is too great and the keeping of it in large quantities for any considerable length of time is impossible.

SAVED APPLICATIONS.

Purchased Stamps for Eleven Other Letters to Be Sure.

Minot, N. D., Sept. 8.—Bertie Ferris of Lakota saved her own application for a Fort Berthold homestead and those of thirteen others from being thrown out by Judge Witten for not being properly stamped.

Miss Ferris, accompanied by her brother and another gentleman, all of Lakota, registered in this city last week. The two men returned at once to their home, leaving their applications with Miss Ferris to be mailed, she having decided to remain in the city a few days, the guest of friends.

In Lakota, owing to the fact that there is no free delivery, a 1-cent stamp is all that is necessary to carry a letter from one party to another providing both live in Lakota, and Miss Ferris failed to remember that this did not hold true here and mailed all three applications with a 1-cent stamp on each. Shortly afterwards she remembered her mistake and went at once to the postoffice in an effort to have the proper postage placed on the applications. She was informed that there was absolutely no way of identifying her particular applications, but after looking through the mail the clerk discovered fourteen applications which had been mailed with 1-cent stamps. She purchased fourteen 1-cent stamps and thus saved eleven other applications beside the three she had mailed.

JAIL-BREAKERS CAUGHT.

An Escaped Blind-Pigger Was Captured at Crosby.

Crosby, N. D., Sept. 8.—Monday evening Sheriff Nelson placed a man answering to the description of a jail breaker under arrest. The arrest was made in the Sears & Menier pool hall. The prisoner was charged with breaking out of the Bottineau county jail a few weeks ago and making his escape with another prisoner. The man arrested by Sheriff Nelson tallied with the description sent out by the Bottineau county sheriff with the exception of the name Paul Gore, and when confronted with information of his arrest maintained that he did not know where Bottineau county was.

The Bottineau county sheriff was immediately notified of the arrest and he instructed the Divide county authorities to hold the man until his arrival. Sheriff Sandstrom of that county arrived Wednesday noon and on confronting the prisoner immediately recognized him. He returned that afternoon with the prisoner to Bottineau, where he will now have to answer to the charge of jail breaking, he was formerly sentenced for violation of the prohibition law. The other prisoner who escaped with him was awaiting trial charged with a statutory crime.

Father Forbes Has Been Assigned New Pastorate.

Neche, N. D., Sept. 8.—Rev. Fr. J. H. Forbes, who has so acceptably done the work as priest of the Neche, Joliette and Pembina missions for nearly five and one-half years, has left for Oakwood, N. D., where he will have charge of the Oakwood Catholic church and St. Aloysius academy. During the time that Father Forbes has been in Neche he has done much to build up his church and has been a power for good in the community.

SERIOUSLY INJURED.

Victim of Cyclone Was Unable to Continue Journey.

Minot, N. D., Sept. 8.—R. Johnson, who was seriously injured in the recent cyclone at Ambrose, N. D., was brought to Minot. Mr. Johnson, with his family, lived near Ambrose on his farm and at the time of the cyclone were all in the house, and without warning, he states the entire building was demolished and carried 150 feet away. Mr. Johnson was badly cut with flying timbers, and it was his intention to go home to his parents at St. Cloud. He was, however, taken ill while stopping here between trains, and was unable to resume his journey East.

HONORS FOR BELTRAMI.

Secures Prizes for Best Honey at the State Fair.

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Beltrami county has attained new honors, through the awarding of three first and one second prize for the best honey displayed at the Minnesota state fair this week, the prizes having been awarded to Carl Opsata, who is extensively engaged in raising bees and producing honey at his farm in the town of Frohn, three and one-half miles southeast of the city of Bemidji. Mr. Opsata took two kinds of white honey to the fair, the honey forming a part of the Beltrami county exhibit.

STONER WOULD LEASE AITKIN POWER PLANT.

Aitkin, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—M. D. Stoner, the head of the Cuyuna Range Light & Power Company of Deerwood, appeared before the council and made an offer to lease the city's electric power plant for fifteen years and to furnish power current fro from 2 to 6 cents and lighting current for 10 cents per kilowatt, subject to discounts for prompt payment. The mayor appointed a committee of business men to examine the proposition and if favorable the town will have a special election to vote on the matter.

SEASON'S GRAIN CROP DESTROYED BY FIRE.

Rose Valley, Minn., Sept. 8.—A spark from a threshing machine engine caused a fire which made a clean sweep of the barnyard of Peter Mohlenbauer, a farmer. The spark lodged in a barley stack, and although the thrashing crew threw water on the blaze it spread rapidly. The flames leaped from stack to stack until the season's crop of grain was entirely destroyed. The fire then attacked and entirely consumed the barn and granary and a large supply of hay stored in the former structure. The farm house was saved with difficulty.

ALLEGED MURDERER OF VANOVITCH ARRESTED.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rhodo Lazhoff, a Bulgarian workman, supposed to be the murderer of Ivan Vanovitch, another Bulgarian working near Prior Lake, has been arrested by detectives. Vanovitch was living alone in a boarding car on the St. Paul road and was supposed to have saved a lot of money. Last Tuesday night he was killed with a stiletto, thirty-four wounds being counted in his body. A detective traced the alleged murderer to Lakeville. He was found cleaning a 32-caliber revolver. Two long stilettos, one with fresh blood and flesh on it, were found.

Kills Crows and Hawk.

Brainerd, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Engineer Billy Thompson came in yesterday noon with the cab and headlights of his Duluth passenger engine decorated with a hawk and several crows. The train encountered the birds near McGregor and was making such fast time that the birds could not get out of the way soon enough.

To Buy Potatoes.

Deerwood, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Bay Lake Fruit Growers association has closed a most prosperous season, having disbursed over $9,000 among the farmers and fruit raisers in the vicinity of Deerwood. A. N. Gray, of Bay Lake, is the president. The association has now taken up the question of buying potatoes, for it is estimated that from fifteen to twenty carloads can be shipped in a season.

Pension Law in Force.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 8.—Every school treasurer in the state, except those in cities of the first class, must now reserve 1 per cent of every month's salary from the wages of all teachers who begin work in Wisconsin on and after the first day of the present month. This also applies to all other teachers who elect to come under the provisions of the teachers' retirement fund act.

Mrs. Hanna's Mother Dead.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 8.—Mrs. Louis B. Hanna of this city, wife of North Dakota's senior congressman, has been called to North Adams, Mass., by the sudden death of her mother, Mrs. Ellen B. Thatcher, who died after a stroke of paralysis at the age of 78.

Winona Pioneer Dies.

Winona, Minn., Sept. 8.—Mrs. Mary E. West, aged 80, widow of the late L. A. West, superintendent of the first schools in Winona county, and a pioneer of Winona, died Wednesday morning at her home in this city. Two daughters, both of this city, survive.

CUPID FORESTALLS LAWS.

Settles Abandonment Case of Mrs. Earl Bender.

Waukesha, Wis., Sept. 8.—In municipal court Tuesday afternoon the case of the state of Wisconsin vs. Earl Bender was on trial. Earl had followed the races up to Portage and stayed away so long that Mrs. Bender had him arrested on a charge of abandonment. While waiting for a deputy to appear and open the afternoon session, the various officials left Earl and his wife alone in the courtroom. When they opened the door to return, a scene of marital bliss was revealed. Earl had his arm around his wife and her head rested confidently on his shoulder. The charge was dismissed.

Houghton—Joseph Augustine, for past three years superintendent of the heating plant department of the Portage Lake Hardware company, resigned his position with that concern and left last Sunday evening for Duluth where he will enter a hardware store.

Hurontown—Dan Sullivan, who came to the Copper country forty-four years ago and is therefore one of the pioneers of the district, passed away Tuesday morning at the home of his brother, M. J. Sullivan. Mr. Sullivan came to this district forty-four years ago and worked in the Isle Royale mine for a number of years. For the last twenty-six years he has divided his time between Hurontown and Butte.

Negaunee—W. J. Crooks left Monday night for Quebec to join a company of air-pressure men, or "sandhogs" as they are called, who work in tunneling and diving operations where the water is kept out of the working compartments by means of air pressure. Mr. Crooks has been visiting here, since his last piece of work was finished, with his sister. While here the affairs of his mother's estate were settled, and both he and his sister received their share of the property. Mr. Crooks' mother died in Finland, and he and his sister were the only children.

Calumet—The Misses Kate and Dolly Caesar have returned from a visit of two weeks with friends who are enjoying an outing at Gratiot lake. Their guest, Miss Edna Kiserle of Duluth, has departed for her home.

Hancock—Miss Mildred Weissmiller left Sunday for Chicago to enter St. Luke's hospital to study to become a trained nurse.

South Range—Charles Joslin of Baltic leaves this week for his former home in Cornwall. Mr. Joslin recently was very ill and that illness incapacitated him. His friends have taken up a subscription to defray the expense of returning him to England.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Bismarck, N. D.—The man killed at tank 208, near Hankinson, by the Soo train, Monday night, was identified as Gustave Seidenkranz, 550 Sherman avenue, St. Paul. Seidenkranz had a brother, Herman, living at Hankinson till two weeks ago when he was taken ill with typhoid fever and removed to St. Paul for treatment. Relatives of the deceased were notified of the accident.

Grand Forks, N. D.—Miss Cordelia B. Hulburd, superintendent of junior department of Wesley conservatory, who has been studying in Berlin, Germany, for several weeks, will sail from Hamburg on Sept. 12 and expects to arrive home in time to take up her duties at the conservatory. Miss Hubbard has been taking instruction from some of the greatest teachers.

Fargo, N. D.—Undertaker Wasem received a telegram from the mother and wife of W. N. Beckstill, the man who died suddenly on lower Front street and it is stated that the undertaker should inter the remains in this city and that the bill of expenses would be settled by the relatives of the dead man. The wife resides near Quincy, Ill., and the mother in the state of Indiana.

Aberdeen, S. D.—Miss Paulina Raven, for three years preceptress and head of the domestic science department at the normal, has returned from taking a post-graduate course in the Columbus university and will stay over for the Farrell-Taubman wedding before going on to Warrensburg, Mo., where she has a position as head of the domestic science department.

Bismarck, N. D., An unknown man was ground to pieces at the tank near Hankinson by the Soo train. The engineer discovered pieces of clothing tangled in the pony truck. The body was scattered along the rails for a great distance. The head was cut to slivers, and the absence of letters or papers makes identification impossible.

Devil's Lake, N. D.—Charged with the unlawful hunting of game, Harry Miller, Swent and Joe Johnson were arrested by Deputy Game Warden Jack Bula about ten miles northeast of Devils Lake. The three young men, who live on farms in that section were caught red handed, with a shotgun, rifle and three ducks in their possession.

Grand Forks, N. D.—While endeavoring to board train No. 2 at the Great Northern depot, Mrs. W. J. McMillan was quite severely injured. According to reports, her foot caught on the steps in some manner and her leg was given a severe wrench, spraining the knee.

Minot, N. D.—On complaint of State's Attorney Dudley L. Nash, the city police made a raid on the house south of the Rex hotel, securing 110 bottles of beer and arresting Cora Wiley who is charged with running a blind pig.

Fargo, N. D., There was an important meeting of the outgoing and incoming executive committees of the Fargo-Moorhead Young People's union at the Y. M. C. A. building at which the official start in the preparation for the Billy Sunday campaign in this city was commenced.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Ashland—Mrs. Charles McMahon of Midland, Ontario, the young widow of the wheelsman of the Alvan C. Dinkey, who was shot and killed by a Hungarian sailor at the Northwestern ore docks a few weeks ago, arrived at Ashland on the Canadian freighter Neebing. She will remain here until after the trial of the slayer of her husband.

Amherst Junction—While examining an automatic revolver in a hotel office, Lyle Mead of St. Paul accidentally shot and killed Joe Stavik of Forestville, Wis.

Ripon—T. D. Stone, aged 63, former publisher of the Trempealeau County News, the Wisconsin Good Templar and connected with the Ripon Press for the last twenty years, is dead after a long illness. He installed the plant of the Ripon Water and Light company and was its manager for ten years.

Madison—Judge E. Ray Stevens has been reappointed a member of the Wisconsin commission on uniform laws, the term to expire in June, 1914.

Wausau—William Gaulke of the town of Maine was arrested here on Wednesday on a charge of forgery by Deputy United States Marshal William Appleby of Madison. It is alleged that he cashed a check for $31.50 sent to him by mistake through the mails.

Oshkosh—Thrown from a train, it is said, by a brakeman, Michael Smith of Escanaba was badly injured and was forced to submit to the amputation of his left leg in a hospital here on Wednesday.

Beloit—Dr. R. W. Bosworth, Methodist pastor at San Prairie, for fifty years prominent in the Methodist church, will be retired at the coming confcrence and will make his home here.

Madison—The next meeting of the Association of City School Superintendents of the state will be held here on Oct. 6-7. All superintendents are required by law to attend, their expenses to be borne by their respective boards.

Sheboygan—While playing in a tub of water in a neighbor's yard, Le Roy Krause, aged 17 months, fell forward and drowned.

Eau Claire—City officials of Superior, held in connection with the charge of census padding, will be tried here at the October term of the United States district court. Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis of Chicago will preside.

Ashland—Miss Ella Searles and Harry Vaughn and his two children have departed for Cleveland, Ohio, where they will make their future home. Nellie Vaughn went with them, and may decide to give up her residence in Chicago, for Cleveland. Miss Searles is the niece of the late S. S. Vaughn.

Madison—Bloomington, Wis., has applied to the state superintendent of public instruction for permission to establish a day school for the blind in connection with the regular school course.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

North Branch—At the special session of the board of county commissioners at Center City the new heating plant in the courthouse was inspected and accepted and the amount of the contract, $1,524.60, was allowed and ordered paid to the contractors, Charles Wilkins & Co.

Mankato—Charles Ferguson pleaded guilty before United States Court Commissioner Benjamin Taylor to the charge of forging and counterfeiting United States money orders. The commissioner committed the defendant to the Ramsey county jail to await the action of the federal grand jury which will convene in St. Paul on the first Tuesday in December.

Ada—A. M. Anderson, who has been engaged as grain buyer at the St. Anthony & Dakota elevator, which was recently reopened, is moving his family over from Twin Valley this week. They will occupy the N. H. Nelson residence.

Stillwater—Miss Triphena Chisholm has gone to Chisholm, Minn., where she will teach this school term.

Winona—Miss Florence Spooner, 18 years old, daughter of Mrs. Jessie Spooner, principal of the high school at Northfield, Minn., and a collegiate student of the young ladies' seminary, dropped dead in her room at the dormitory of heart failure while preparing for breakfast.

Heron Lake—A gasoline stove exploded in the home of Richard Haetzler and burned his 2-year-old child so badly that it died.

Cambridge—Fred Moody was brought home last Saturday from the Mounds Park sanitarium, where he has been under the care of physicians for the last fifteen weeks. Mr. Moody received injuries to his spine last April and his lower limbs are partially paralyzed, although the doctors expect that in time he will regain their use. A nurse accompanied Mr. Moody and will remain to care for him.

Little Falls—J. C. Highhous has returned from the state fair, where he went to place some of his celery on display and incidentally to again win first prize. Mr. Highhous took with him three varieties and won first on each. This makes the fifth time that the local product has won first at the Minnesota state fair.

Gas on the Stomach

When the blood is poor and thin, and the stomach in consequence is imperfectly supplied with well-oxidized blood and nerve force, the digestive process becomes slow and fermentation of the food goes on, with formation of gas and certain acids.

The pressure of the gas causes pain in the stomach; sometimes it affects the heart. When the gas is belched out through the mouth the patient is temporarily relieved. The sour risings in the throat and burning sensations in the throat and stomach are caused by the acids of fermentation.

There are plenty of things to neutralize these acids, or, "sweeten the stomach" as it is called, but they do not cure the trouble. Pure rich blood which will tone up the stomach is required, as this case shows.

Mr. C. E. Randall, whose address is Box 39, Cedar Junction, Kan., says: "About twelve years ago I had a severe attack of stomach trouble which followed a general run-down condition of my health. I cannot describe the severe pains I had across the pit of my stomach. It often seemed as though there was a heavy pressure there. Many a time I have sat up in bed with cramps in the stomach which were so terrible that I could not get to sleep. After eating I would generally have a sour stomach and be troubled with gas. I had been sick for about a year or more when Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People were recommended to me. I started using them and felt better in a short time. I continued to use the pills until I was cured."

Sufferers from stomach trouble in any form, who have found their condition unrelieved or actually growing worse while using ordinary remedies, would do well to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

A copy of our diet book, "What to Eat and How to Eat," will be sent free on request to any one interested.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes, $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

JEWELS ARE RETURNED

West Duluth Boasts of a Burglar With Tender Conscience.

Replaces Bride's Necklace and Diamond Ring Stolen Aug. 29.

With as little ceremony as possible and without leaving a note explaining his actions, the burglar who broke into the home of Vernon J. Ide, 605 South Seventy-first avenue west, a few days ago and stole a $125 diamond ring and a valuable pearl necklace, Wednesday afternoon re-entered the house and returned the missing jewels.

In order to get into the place it was necessary to break in. Nothing bothered Mr. Burglar but his conscience, and employing the same methods that he took to get into the house the first time, he effected an entrance. This was by means of a pass key, which opened the back door leading into the kitchen. The ring and necklace had been placed in a box and the box set just inside the kitchen near the door.

At least this is the story which Mrs. Ide yesterday told to the police. She said that Wednesday afternoon, she left the house to do some errand down town. This was about 1:30 o'clock. Returning about 6:30 o'clock she found a small box near the kitchen door and much to her surprise it contained the missing valuables. She hurried to her neighbor, Mrs. I. W. Gilleland, 607 Seventy-first avenue west, for an explanation.

Mrs. Gilleland, however, had seen no one about the place. Wednesday afternoon being a rainy day, had kept her inside and she had not noticed anyone around the premises. Mrs. Ide did not report the matter to the police until yesterday. She told the same story to The Herald as she had related to the police.

"My, but I was surprised when I picked up the little box with the ring and necklace in it," said Mrs. Ide, who is a bride of but a few weeks, the diamond being an engagement present and the necklace also a betrothal gift. The box in which it had been left was an old jewelry box, just large enough to enclose the necklace and ring.

The theft of the ring and necklace, according to her story, was committed on the evening of Aug. 29. Mr. Ide left the city for Winnipeg on that evening and his wife accompanied him to the train. When she returned to the place, she found that it had been ransacked. She believes that the burglar came in through the rear door, which opened with a skeleton key. Nearly everything had been overhauled. In the sleeping rooms up stairs, one of the beds had all of the covers pulled from it and the mattresses torn open. The ring and necklace had been left on the dresser and these were the only valuables missed. The necklace had eight pearls and three greenstones and was highly prized by Mrs. Ide.

"The burglar seemed to be looking for money," explained Mrs. Ide. "He overhauled every conceivable place where money might have been hidden." Mrs. Ide declared that the burglar had passed up the silverware and was sure that all he had taken was the ring and necklace. Outside of the rear door were several burned matches, which Mrs. Ide believes substantiates her theory that the burglar entered the house at the back door. Neighbors close by did not see or hear anything of a suspicious nature.

HEAVY MACHINERY BUILT IN DULUTH

Parts Weighing Many Tons Under Construction at Imperial Iron Works.

The largest hoisting drum ever built in Duluth and larger than any drum now in use at any mine on the Minnesota Iron ranges, is being constructed at the Imperial Iron works in West Duluth. This drum is 12 feet in diameter, with a 10-foot face and a capacity of 8,500 feet. It will form part of some great hoisting machinery which is being rebuilt at the Imperial works and requires some bolts as large as three inches in diameter.

The crank shaft which goes with this monster drum has a diameter of 16½ inches and is 21 feet, 3 inches in length. This shaft, with crank arms, weighs ten tons. Each of the four parts forming the drum weighs 9 tons. When complete, with brake ring and spiders, the drum will weigh 55 tons. The whole job will weigh 80 tons. If necessary the Imperial Iron works can make a single casting weighing 15 tons.

GIVEN CHANCE TO PAY UP.

Man Charged With "Jumping" Board Bill Released By Justice.

Upon a promise that he would get a job and pay up his arrears on a board bill, Hjalmar Beckman, 22 years old, who was arrested yesterday on charge of defrauding an inkeeper, was allowed his liberty by Judge J. ... Moran of the West Duluth justice court.

Beckman was arrested at the instigation of Ed Warner, a Central avenue restaurant proprietor who claimed that Beckman ran up a bill of $13.15 at the Warner restaurant and then left without paying it.

Beckman told the judge that he was out of work but expected to go to work this week on the Grand avenue paving job. He was given until Sept. 23 in which to pay the bill.

ELECTED PROFESSOR IN DIVINITY SCHOOL

REV. C. W. SCHEVENIUS.

Rev. C. W. Schevenius, who for the past three years has been pastor of the Bethany Norwegian-Danish M. E. church at Sixty-fifth avenue west and Polk street, will preach his farewell sermon to the congregation on Sunday evening. Mr. Schevenius was elected a professor in the Norwegian-Danish theological department of Northwestern university at Evanston, Ill., by the last conference of the church just concluded at Racine, Wis.

Great regret is expressed by members of his congregation at his departure. Mr. Schevenius came to West Duluth from Virginia, Minn., and during his pastorate the congregation has grown to four times its original size.

SUPERIOR

ROTH BUYS 700 HEAD OF SHEEP FOR FARM.

The sheep raising on a large scale is profitable in Douglas county is the belief of T. J. Roth of Roth Bros., store, who has recently purchased 700 head of sheep for his farm on Bardon avenue. The sheep were brought from Montana ranchers and 200 arrived yesterday. A number of other farmers in Douglas county are devoting a large share of their lands to sheep raising.

CIRCUIT BREAKS; CITY PLUNGED IN DARKNESS.

Superior was left in darkness for about ten minutes last evening. The "white way" went out, street cars stopped, and in the theaters and amusement places the entertainment was discontinued—all because of a break in the outgoing circuit which furnishes light and power to Superior. The break was found between the Duluth distributing station and Superior and was soon repaired.

Anderson-McQueen.

The marriage of Mrs. Louise Anderson of Duluth and Angus McQueen of Superior took place last evening at the home of the officiating clergyman, Rev. L. K. Grimes, pastor of the Hammond Avenue Presbyterian church. Mr. McQueen has for a number of years been connected with the Barnett & Record company. They will live at 1524 Clough avenue.

BRIQUET PLANT DAMAGED $5,000 BY STUBBORN FIRE.

Fire, which did $5,000 damage, threatened to wipe out the $50,000 plant of the Stott Briquet company, Winter street, at 10:30 o'clock last evening. The blaze broke out in the tar plant and had gained much headway when the department arrived. Three departments responded and it was mainly through the hard work of the firemen that the plant was saved. The origin of the blaze is unknown.

Widow Is Located.

Mrs. Lottie Hastings, wife of Charles Hastings, the brakeman who was accidentally killed last week, has been located at Edmonton, Can., and is on her way to Superior. The body awaits her arrival at the Le Sage morgue. No funeral arrangements have been made.

Escapes in Collision.

A street car on the Billings park line collided with an automobile in charge of Chauffeur Thomas Nube yesterday afternoon and although Nube, the sole occupant was not injured in the smash-up, the car was damaged. Nube figured in a rather sensational escape from death under the car wheels. The car was owned by Jack Colohan.

NO REPORT BY THE GRAND JURY

Members Have Nearly Fifty Criminal Actions for Their Consideration.

After reporting four cases late yesterday afternoon, the September grand jury went back into secret session and a report is not expected until Monday morning.

The criminal calendar is about double what it has been on an average, and it is thought that the grand jury will be in session several days next week considering the various cases.

As a general thing, there are about twenty criminal actions each term. There are fifty cases to be considered at this sitting.

It is probable that the men will visit both the county jail and poor farm and make reports on the result of their investigation.

The grand jury is being assisted in its deliberations by Assistant County Attorney Warren E. Greene, who will handle the present criminal calendar for the state.

ARREST MAYOR OF GARY, IND.

Gary, Ind., Sept. 8.—Thomas E. Knott, mayor of Gary, and Walter Gibson, councilman, were arrested today on charges respectively of accepting and soliciting bribes in connection with a heating franchise.

L. D. CAMPBELL COMPANY TO REMODEL POSTOFFICE.

Bids for the remodeling of the postoffice to make room for the postal savings station, which is to be established here on Sept. 15, were opened today at 2 o'clock by L. M. Willcuts, custodian of the building. The lowest bidder was L. D. Campbell company, which offered to do the work for $603.60. There were three others who submitted bids as follows: Theo. Nauffs, $1,530; Anderson & Gow, $1,160.50 and Joseph Donauer, $995. Mr. Willcuts will recommend to the treasury department at Washington that the Campbell company bid be accepted, and a message is expected from the authorities on Monday approving the recommendation. Work will be started on the remodeling as soon as word has been received from Washington and it is hoped to have it completed in thirty days.

Bids were also received by Mr. Willcuts for some changes to be made in the money order department, the four bidders submitting offers as follows: L. D. Campbell company, $112; Joseph Donauer, $242; Anderson & Gow $290 and Theo. Nauffs, $298. Mr. Willcuts will recommend the Campbell company's bid for this work also.

Steel Corporation Party Visits Mines at Eveleth and Virginia.

Hibbing, Chisholm and Other Properties Also Being Inspected.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fifty officials of the Steel corporation and its Minnesota subsidiary companies arrived here this morning over the Missabe road in their special cars. The special train reached Eveleth at an early hour. The pasengers were met at the depot by President James C. Poole of the Commercial club, Dr. W. E. Harwood, Dr. C. W. More, Albert Rohrer, Edward J. Millette, Coroner John J. Gleason, James A. Robb, Richard J. Coole and County Mine Inspector W. H. Harvey of this city and a few Virginia automobilists, who after greeting the visiting officials motored to the Leonidas mine with the visitors.

After a short stay at the Leonidas mine the party returned to their special cars on the Missabe tracks where they had breakfast. The meal was followed by a visit to the Fayal, Adams and Spruce mines. All the arrangements made by Supt. R. J. Mitchell of the Adams-Spruce district and Supt. R. R. Trezona of the Fayal district were carried out in full, and the local visit of the Easterners made a pleasant one. All the local buildings and mines of the Oliver Iron Mining company were thoroughly inspected and the visiting parties expressed themselves as well pleased with the manner in which their Eveleth properties are being managed and operated.

Shortly before noon the visitors departed for Virginia, where they spent a few hours in visiting their properties. The Virginia visit was followed by a trip to Hibbing, Chisholm and the smaller range towns. Tomorrow will be devoted principally to an inspection of the large Oliver Iron Mining company washing plat at Coleraine, and other innovations on the Western Mesaba range. The visitors will return to Duluth tomorrow evening.

NOT GUILTY, IS DEMASSE VERDICT

Murder Trial at Virginia Results in Acquittal of Defendant.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Bruno Demasse has been found not guilty of first degree murder. The verdict was returned yesterday afternoon after the jury had considered the case for several hours. Demasse, who shot and killed Joseph Delamonte in this city several weeks ago, put up a strong defense, convincing the members of the jury that in shooting Delamonte to death he was simply defending his own life. He told the court that before he fired the fatal shot his adversary had fired twice at him with a shotgun. Before he left the courthouse he was again arrested on the charge of carrying concealed weapons. He furnished $400 cash bail for his appearance during the present term of court.

Emil Putika was placed on trial on the charge of assault in the first degree upon Mike Saari at the Kinney location. It is expected that the hearing will continue all of today. Attorney M. H. McMahon represents the defendant.

LARGE INCREASE IN ENROLLMENT

Nearly Every School Building in Virginia Is Crowded.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The enrollment of the Virginia schools for the first week of the year is 605 more than for the first week of last year and totals 2,445, compared with 1,840 for the first week of 1910. Nearly every building is crowded and the capacity of the buildings will be taxed to the utmost during the year. It is expected that fully 400 more will be enrolled during the year, exclusive of those attending night school. Last year there were about 300 in the night school and if the attendance is as large this year the total enrollment for the year of the schools of the district will be fully 3,200.

The enrollment in the high school is 185. The freshman class has double the numbers of last year's class. The senior class of the high school consists of thirteen boys and thirteen girls. The enrollment in the various buildings is as follows: High school building, 520; Roosevelt, 435; Central, 225; Johnson, 400; primary, 390; South side, 100; North side, 120; Franklin, 110; Higgins, 40; Homestead, 40; Farmstead, 40; Lincoln, 25.

Brick Yards to be Opened.

Nashwauk, Minn., Sept. 8.—Development work has been begun in earnest at the brick yards that are being established between Nashwauk and Swan Lake and it is expected that before snow flies, the plant will be in active operations. A side track was built into the yards two years ago but was never used. Several new buildings are now under course of construction.

Five New Teachers.

Nashwauk, Minn., Sept. 8.—Despite the fact that there has been a noticeable lull in mining operations here the past year, all of the various school buildings of this village are crowded to capacity. Twenty-two instructors have been employed, five new teachers having been added this year. Even with this increase the teachers have too much work, and on Nov. 1 the force will be increased.

NEW ROAD TO MUD CREEK DISTRICT

Will Be Great Benefit to Mining Exploration Companies.

Ely, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Preparations are under way now for the construction of a new road leading to the Mud Creek district, just below the Almar Iron Mining company's mine on Armstrong lake. There is a trail there now which is used by the various exploration companies. The road will be about nine miles long, through to Mud creek, which runs into Vermilion lake. The road is already surveyed and laid out, and the work of cutting and felling the trees will be the next thing done. As it is late in the season, the clearing of the large obstacles will take up all of the time until winter, as nine miles of road in a rough, hilly and rocky country is no small thing to do.

John Densmore, who had charge of the Ely-Tower road, will also have charge of this one, and as he has had five years' experience, he is well fitted to take hold of the enterprise. At present Mr. Densmore is widening the Section 30 road from the place where it meets the Ely-Winton road, and is about finished. The road will be a boon to the exploration companies, as the one drawback so far is their inability to get material and supplies, for the road is a winding and a hilly one, to say nothing of rocky.

Grant McMahon, commissioner of this district, is at present in Duluth making the last arrangements for the road.

KINSELLA IS GIVEN HEARING

Governor's Decision Expected the First of the Coming Week.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 8.—How far are the personal offenses of an individual covered by his official cloak as an officer of the county, city or state?

This is one of the legal points raised in the hearing before Governor Eberhart on the charges against John Kinsella, county attorney of Lake county, upon which the governor said, at the close of the hearing, he would consult Attorney General Simpson before he gives his decision.

The question arose over the charge that the county attorney had circulated improper literature, another question raised by Kinsella's attorney, whether the charges that he failed to prosecute alleged violators of the liquor laws, are specific enough to be considered in this case, also will be put up to the attorney general.

The hearing which began at 9 o'clock yesterday morning continued until 5 o'clock in the afternoon, the attorneys for both sides presenting arguments on the facts in the evidence adduced before the special commissioner, Marion Douglas, last month. The governor expects to give his decision the first of next week.

Accompanied by his little daughter, John Kinsella appeared on the scene early to fight for his job. He declares he is the victim of a plot hatched by Hans Otterlie, chairman of the county board and chief complainant; Emil Nelson, sheriff of Lake county, and N. C. Hanson, supervisor of roads and bridges. All three were present at the hearing.

Kinsella was represented by J. B. Richards of Duluth and Hans Otterlie by B. F. Fesler of Duluth, John Dwan of Two Harbors, and B. F. Fowler, acting county attorney of Lake county.

Mr. Richards took up the entire morning with his defense of Kinnsella, characterizing the charges of incompetency made against his client as "a haystack of chaff without so much as one kernel of wheat."

He delivered a broadside at Hans Otterlie, charging him with being prejudiced against Kinsella and "on his trail."

"The whole matter," he said, "is the result of Otterlie's enmity against Kinsella. Otterlie is known as supersensitive on the temperance question, and is after Kinsella because he feels Kinsella has not prosecuted violators of the liquor laws rigidly enough."

Much time was spent in defending Kinsella's objection to a bill of $30 to pay detectives from Duluth to run down blind piggers in Lake county.

ELY FOOTBALL TEAM ORGANIZES

John Pete Elected Captain and Albert Prisk Manager.

Ely, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The boys of the high school interested in football held a meeting, with De Witt Atkins, the principal, as chairman. John Pete was elected captain and Albert Prisk, manager. The team has many of the members of last year's team, among whom are John Pete, Toivio Martilla, John Martin, Albert McMahon, Guy Coffey, Matt Maki and Joseph Klobuchar. Albert Prisk was captain last year, but will be out of the game this year owing to an injury he sustained to his right arm a few weeks ago. This will be a great loss to the team, as Prisk has played with the team the last four years and knows the game.

The other boys who will try for the team are John Routia, Peter Kajute, Oscar Hakala, Ernest Hanson, Uno Ajala and Wilson Carlson. All of these players have had some experience as substitutes, or played in the second team. De Witt Atkins will coach the boys, and there is every reason to believe that the boys will have a very successful season.

CLOQUET PRIEST IS VISITING MESABA RANGE.

Eveleth Minn. Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Rev. Father Farnand of the Catholic church and school on the Indian reservation near Cloquet who has been located there for the past twenty years arrived here yesterday for a short visit after spending a few days at Hibbing, Chisholm and Virginia. Rev. Father Farnand and Rev. Father M. Bilban of this city left today for Aurora where they will visit Rev. Father A. E. Pirnat. Father Farnand is well known on the range for his good work at Cloquet.

TWO RUNAWAY BOYS AT HIBBING

One Arrested on Charge of Stealing $50 at Chicago.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Joseph Partetti, 14 years old, who ran away from his home in Chicago after stealing $50 from an aunt with whom he lived, was arrested last evening in a Third avenue rooming house. Officer Everett made the arrest at the telegraphed request of Nicholas Feint, inspector of the Chicago detective force.

According to the story told the police, Partetti, when he left Chicago, took a boat to Milwaukee. He met Adolph Reiberg, also 14 years old, and was also running away from home, on the boat. After arriving at Milwaukee, they decided to go to Vancouver, B. C., Partetti with the remains of the stolen $50 and Reiberg with $3. They gave up their plan after arriving at Duluth with only a few dollars between them and they came to Hibbing to look for work. Reiberg obtained employment in a shoe-shining shop, but Partetti was unable to find anything to do.

Partetti sits weeping in the city jail while the police are awaiting word from the Chicago police as to the disposition to be made of him. The boy's parents are dead and he says that his aunt was not kind to him. Reiberg's father is an electrical salesman living on Ashland boulevard, Chicago. The Chicago police have been asked if they want him also.

CAPT. BURKE IS NEW CANDIDATE

Will Oppose W. J. Davey for City Treasurer of Eveleth.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Capt. William Burke of the Adams mine, for six years treasurer of the Missabe Mountain township, yesterday announced his candidacy for the city treasurership, and will circulate his petition next week. He will be opposed by City Treasurer William J. Davey, who has held the office for the past five years. Mr. Davey is also a mining man, being chief clerk of the Adams-Spruce district, and as the two candidates will likely be the only contenders for the treasurership and have large hosts of friends, a pretty race is assured.

S. E. Helps, Tom Oliver and Judge W. E. Moylan, the avowed candidates for the judgeship, have commenced active campaigns for the office. The aldermanic campaign will be enlivened with the return this month of George Kotze, candidate for alderman-at-large, and John Rauma, who is running for the Third ward aldermanship. The largest vote in the history of Eveleth will be polled, as three new wards have been added to the city since the last election.

HIS JAWBONE IS BADLY BROKEN

Eveleth Butcher Badly Injured During a Fight With a Miner.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Frank Ambrozich, a miner, who has always borne a good reputation, was yesterday bound over to the grand jury at Hibbing by Judge Neil McInnis in municipal court, on a charge of assault and battery in the second degree preferred by J. Poucher, a butcher, whose quarrel with the defendant was followed by a fight in which the complainant's jawbone was broken. Immediately following the fight, Ambrozich gave himself up and told of the fight. He was released on $100 bonds and will have a grand jury trial at Hibbing, Oct. 24.

Poucher was treated yesterday at the More hospital where it was found his jawbone had been badly broken by a blow from Ambrozich's fist. It required three hours for the attending physicians to treat the injury which is a serious one. Poucher, who is a butcher, has also borne a good reputation, but the fight was the outcome of unfriendly relations that have been existing between the two for some time.

EVELETH INTERESTED

In Coming Marriage of Raymond Westaway and Miss Greenfield.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The announcement in the society columns of The Herald last evening of the approaching marriage of Raymond M. Westaway, an engineer of this city, to Miss Evelyn Greenfield of Duluth, at Duluth, Sept. 23, was read here with much interest, as the couple are well known at Eveleth and other range points. Mr. Westaway has resided here for some time and is a well known vocalist, having appeared in many musical entertainments on the range.

Charles Hoel, cashier of the Miners' National bank, and Miss Lillian Perkins of Pine City, Minn., a former Eveleth teacher, will be married this month at the bride's home. They will make their home here, following a short wedding trip.

MAIL BOXES ERECTED ON EVELETH STREETS.

Eveleth Minn., Sept. 7.—(Special to The Herald.)—The twelve mail boxes which have been due here for some time were yesterday erected on the principal corners of the city by the postoffice department. Many collections of mail will be made daily by the regular carriers. The installation of the boxes will save residents of outlying districts considerable time in mailing their letters or packages.

COMPANY F. OF EVELETH STARTS WEEKLY DRILLS.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Company F last evening opened the fall military season at the armory with a drill with many militiamen in attendance. Regular weekly drills will be held during the winter season. A meeting will soon be held to elect a successor to Former Firt Lieut. Fergus R. Ellsworth, resigned. Second Lieut. Cass U. Jenkins appears to be the present choice of the militiamen. A warm fight for the second lieutenantship now held by Officer Jenkins is sure to result.

MANY FARMERS ARE EXPECTED

Farmers' Day at Virginia Promises to Be a Big Event.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Commercial club Thursday evening devoted a good deal of time to the discussion of plans for the entertainment of farmers on Farmers' day, Friday, Sept. 15. Vice President Lister of the club presided and reported that the proposed meeting had been widely advertised and he expected that fully 500 farmers would be in the city with favorable weather conditions. There will be two coach loads from Angora, two coach loads from Cook and big delegations from points in every direction. The meetings will be held in the roller rink.

The Commercial club has taken up the project of establishing a box factory in the city and some progress is being made.

F. E. Lister, William Rooney, James Lavich, Mayor Hawkinson and Alexander Reid were appointed a reception committee to welcome the officials of the United Staets Steel corporation, who visited the city for a couple of hours Friday morning. The committee was instructed to engage a band to furnish music on the arrival of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern train with the steel officials.

The subject of better roads received much attention and it was stated that the main object of the Farmer's day was to get the consensus of opinion of the farmers in the territory about Virginia regarding the condition of the roads and their needs in this respect.

President Arnold was instructed to appoint a committee of three to represent the Commercial club at the meeting of the St. Louis County club, to be held at Aurora, Sept. 20, the committee to make an effort to secure the meeting for Virginia next year.

BIG GROWTH OF AURORA SCHOOLS

Enrollment Five Years Ago Eighty-One, Now Five Hundred.

Aurora, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Aurora schools this year have an enrollment the first week of 446, or an increase of eighty-three over the opening week of last year. There are twenty-three teachers employed in the district and a librarian and office assistant. The growth of the schools of the district has been very rapid. Five years ago there were eighty-one pupils in the district with four teachers. This year the total enrollment will pass the 500 mark.

The new building being built at Aurora not being completed, the work this year is at present being undertaken under much difficulty. The eighth grade and high school pupils are temporarily being accommodated in the grade building at the Mohawk location. The auditorium is being used for an assembly room and the two basement rooms are being used for recitations. The domestic science and manual training rooms in the present building are also being used for recitation rooms at present. It is expected that the new building will be ready for occupancy within six weeks.

WEDDING AT GILBERT.

Byron Hosking and Miss Etta Simmons Are Married.

Gilbert, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—A very pretty wedding took place at 10:30 Tuesday morning in Gilbert, when Byron Hosking was married to Miss Etta Simmons of Iron Mountain, Mich. The ceremony took place at the residence of William Hosking, father of the groom, Rev. T. B. Shorts of Gilbert, officiating, and was attended by a large gathering of friends and relatives. Milton Hoskins, brother of the groom, acted as best man and Miss Mabel Caine attended the bride. The bride was given away by her brother, John Simmons of Virginia. During the ceremony Mrs. C. G. Fulton played the "Lohengren Wedding March." The house was prettily decorated with ferns and sweet peas. After the nuptial knot had been tied the guests were served with a wedding breakfast. The young couple were the recipients of many handsome presents.

Mr. and Mrs. Hosking left for a trip to Duluth and other points and will take up their residence at Marble, where the groom has a position with the Oliver Iron Mining company. Mr. Hosking was formerly foreman of the machine shop at the Gilbert mine and was one of Gilbert's popular young men.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Mrs. Thomas Oliver and daughter, Nydia, of Norway, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Trengrove, Mr. and Mrs. Hock, Mr. and Mrs. Morgison and Thomas Oliver of Eveleth, and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cameron and daughter of Coleraine, Minn.

GILBERT FOOTBALL TEAM ORGANIZES FOR SEASON.

Gilbert, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Gilbert high school football team has organized and regular practice begins Friday night. John Nolon was elected captain, Harold Rutherford, student manager; M. B. Elson, manager and coach. Arrangements are now being made to schedule games with other range high school teams. While the material is light it is hoped to turn out a pretty fair team, especially as Gilbert now has two famous former Minneapolis football stars among its residents, Dr. M. L. Strothern and Walter Rodermacher, also John W. Berry of Iowa, who will undoubtedly give the boys a few pointers in the art of making touchdowns.

AURORA MAN SERIOUSLY HURT BY FALL FROM RIG.

Aurora, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Marcus Levin, proprietor of Levin's department store, received serious injuries from being thrown from a rig at the Knox mining location east of town yesterday. Mr. Levin was driving a team which, in some manner, became unmanageable. He was alone at the time and the nature of the accident is not known. His hip is seriously injured and it is thought that there are internal injuries.

SENT TO COUNTY JAIL FOR NEXT SIXTY DAYS.

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 8.—Timothy Connors, a well known character, was found guilty of attempting to sell another man's cow and was fined $60 and costs or sixty days in the county jail. The cow was the property of B. Bassettli, an Italian business man of Chisholm and Connors tried to dispose of the animal to Max Miller. He pleaded not guilty but the evidence was strong against him. He could not pay the fine and he was ordered sent to the county jail at Duluth.

Broke His Shoulder.

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 8.—Eddie, the 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Frisch, a well-known local merchant, fell yesterday while playing and fractured his shoulder.

Site for School.

Keewatin, Minn., Sept. 8.—Nels Johnson, a director of the local school board, has purchased a block of ground in this village, this site to be used when the board decides to erect a new high school building.

Change of Managers.

Ely, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Thomas H. Ames of the H. L. Bartlett company has arrived here to take charge of the work now under progress, relieving G. H. Poskitt, who will go to some other range town and start on another contract. Mr. Poskitt is the engineer for Bartlett company and he does that work on all of the new contracts.

ADDITIONS TO STUDY COURSES

Many of Thief River Falls School Rooms Crowded.

Thief River Falls, Minn., Sept. 8.—to The Herald.)—The schools of this city opened with an increased enrollment and with many of the school rooms crowded beyond comfort or convenience. Several additions to the courses of study have been made and today no study offered in any school in the country is omitted from the curriculum of the local schools. Departments of agriculture, manual training and home economics, normal training of teachers, commercial work and all the ordinary high school studies are offered to the high school students. Some of these special departments have been in operation here for years, so there is nothing novel that they appear at this date when they are becoming so popular throughout the state.

The following list comprises the faculty for the ensuing year: Superintendent, J. H. Hay; high school principal, Louise Twinam; agriculture, W. A. Haskin; normal, Theoline Goodwin; home economics, Janet Ward; manual training, M. A. Schmitt; commercial, Elizabeth Dewey; science, A. R. Roseland; English, Lois Burton; mathematics, Mary Herrick.

Washington building: Katheryn Kohler, and Daisy Chapman, eighth; Jennie Peterson, Anna Connelly and Mary Swanson, seventh; Mary Smetana, sixth; Eliza Thompson, fifth and fourth; Sadie Snyder, third and second; Emma Backe, first and kindergarten.

Central building: Vernette Lambert, sixth; Tillie Mellhye, fifth; Mary McGinn, fourth; Nettie Wellman, third; Edna Larson, second; Alpha Erickson, first; Guynoir McConnell, kindergarten.

Knox building: Martha Brekke, sixth; Mabel Patterson, fifth; Lillian Skoog, fourth; Hazel Anderson, third; Florence Campbell, second and first; Nellie Sommers, kindergarten.

TO MAKE ORATORS OF HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS.

A change has been made in the curriculum of the high school requiring every senior to take the course of public speaking and oratory. The class is thrown open to any junior who may wish to enter, the work being substituted for the regular English, and due credit given him for his efforts. Last year such a course was an elective subject, but the importance of public speaking has been realized as one of the essentials of a business life, with the result that the faculty decided to make it compulsory. R. D. Brackett, who is coach of the debating teams, will have charge of the new class.

WILL ADDRESS LADY MACCABEES AT CLOQUET.

Cloquet, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Frances Burns of Fort Huron, Mich., will address the Order of Lady Maccabees at Columbia hall in this city Saturday night on the subject of national fraternal insurance rates. Miss Burns is the Grand commander of the order. The lodge members have invited other fraternal orders of the city to participate.

LAST CONCERT OF THE SEASON

"Old Kentucky" Band Will Give Last of Herald Series.

All the arragements have now been completed for the last of The Herald free band concerts of the season, to be given by the famous Pickaninny band from the "Old Kentucky" company at Lincoln park Sunday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock. From present prospects only a continuation of the inclement weather can prevent the closing concert from being the best attended and most interesting concert of the season, and a fitting finale for the series.

The presence of the little negro musicians who make up the famous band will be an additional attraction for the children of Duluth and as they are unique as a musical organization should attract many others who would not come for ordinary concerts. The street car company is figuring on handling a big crowd to and from the park, and Manager Warren has promised extra car service.

Not only are the little colored boys a novelty but they are real musicians. Led by Maj. John Powell, the "Black Sousa," they have won appreciation and applause all over the country. When in San Francisco last Christmas they went over to the St. Francis hotel where John Philip Sousa "The March King," and his organization were stopping and serenaded them. The great leader was very complimentary in his comments on the work of his colored namesake and later the members of the "Old Kentucky" band were the guests of the great band and its leader at the Greek theater at Berkeley, Cal.

The concert Sunday will include both sacred and popular selections.

SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

DURNAN WINS EASY RACE

Hackett Fails to Come Back in Old-Time Style.

Toronto Champion Finishes With Margin of Six Lengths.

Baudette, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Jack Hackett failed to come back in his race here yesterday with Eddie Durnan for the single sculling championship of America. At the crack of the pistol Durnan jumped into the lead, and never was headed, winning by six lengths. Time, 22:32⅘.

In the second mile Hackett made his big spurt and drew up close to the champion's heels but Durnan was never regarded as in danger and the old oarsmen's ten years absence from the game proved too great a handicap to be overcome.

Oarsmen and enthusiasts from all over the continent were in attendance and betting was lively. The experts generally picked the Toronto man for a winner but Hackett's local friends kept the betting at even money up to the end. Weather conditions were ideal for the race, and thousands of people watched it from the banks and from the boats which lined the course. R. A. C. Manning of Winnipeg refereed, and the course was excellently policed by the management.

PRETTY RACES AT KALAMAZOO

Trotting and Racing Events Make Hit With Big Crowd.

Kalamazoo, Mich., Sept. 8.—Trotting and pacing futurity events at the Great Western races yesterday made a decided hit with the big crowd. Bunker Maid in one of the prettiest races of the day, took the trotting futurity with ease. Mira Ball, another likely colt, was forced to step lively to take first place in the pacing futurity.

Patchen Knight, by taking one heat won the 2:20 pace unfinished Wednesday. Ty Cobb had an easy time winning the 2:18 pace and Vanity Oro, the 2:16 trot, both in straight heats.

STIRRED UP OVER COMING MATCH

New York Fight Fans Anxiously Awaiting the Morris-Flynn Bout.

New York, Sept. 8.—The fight fans of this city are awaiting with expectancy the meeting a week from today between Carl Morris, the Oklahoma giant, who has been dubbed by some "the real white hope," and Jim Flynn, the big Western fireman, who some time ago sent Al Kaufman in the pugilistic discard by the knockout route. Morris and Flynn will fight ten rounds at Madison Square garden, Sept. 15.

Both men are hard at training and each man is confident that he will win.

Morris training at Allenhurst, N. J., and Joe Jeannette, who is one of the chief advisers of the camp, waxed enthusiastic when he spoke of the Oklahoman. "He is," says Joe, "the best fighter among the white men of the world."

Flynn is getting into form in the Bronx.

DECISIONS ARE HANDED DOWN

National Commission Upholds Claims of Player Stewart Against Rochester Club.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 8.—The National baseball commission handed down the following decisions:

Player Manush, who was awarded to the New Orleans team of the Southern league several days ago, can be drafted by the Cleveland Americans at the usual price, if the latter club desires his services.

Player Ernest Wille, claimed by the St. Louis Americans, is awarded to the Waco club of the Texas league, but St. Louis is given a chance to get the player by the usual drafting process.

A claim of $16 by Player Stewart of the Rochester club of the Minnesota Wisconsin club, was allowed and protection to the Rochester club was withdrawn until the claim is paid.

The commission also announced for the first time the wording of the new rule which has been under consideration for some time relative to the club which purchases a player who dies before reporting, being reimbursed by the club selling the player. It follows:

"It is agreed that in the event of the death or permanent incapacitating of a player prior to his reporting to the party of the second part, and giving it actual service in the training or championship season, this agreement shall be null and void and the party of the first part binds itself to forthwith return to the party of the second part all or any of the consideration received for him whether it be in money or the release of one or more players, and to absolve said party of the second part from all obligations for payments that have not matured."

YALE MEN WIN AT SCOTCH GAME

Harvard Golf Team Is Beaten Easily By Old Eli Players.

Short Hills, N. J., Sept. 8.—Yale buried Harvard 9 points to 0 in the final match of the intercollegiate golf championship yesterday.

In the four-ball match in the early hours, E. W. Eastabrook and J. G. McNeil reached the turn 3 up in Robert Gardner and J. D. Dunlap. All the playing on the Harvard side was due to Eastabrook, while Gardner carried the Yale burden. His pace on the home journey was so rapid that Eastabrook could not prevent him winning hole after hole.

O'BRIEN UMPIRE FOR FINAL GAME

Darby Will Officiate at Adams-Fitwell Contest for City Title.

If J. Pluvius calls off his sprinkling brigade by Sunday afternoon prospects are good for a record breaking crowd at the game which will wind up the baseball season at the Head of the Lakes, the Adams-Fitwell contest for the city championship.

Considerable interest is being taken by the local fans in the game and a large number are planning on going out to watch the last gasps of the 1911 baseball season.

Darby O'Brien, leader of the White Hopes, has been asked to umpire the contest and has consented.

PRESIDENT TAFT ATTENDS RACES

Was an Interested Spectator at Grand Circuit Program at Hartford.

Charter Oak Park, Hartford, Conn., Sept. 8.—President Taft was an interested spectator of part of the Grand Circuit races today. At the conclusion of his address, the second heat of the 2:13 trot was called and the president delayed his departure until the finish of the Hartford handicap.

An innovation in the racing program was the Hartford handicap, which brought out a field of seven. Joan and Billy Burke were scratched; Dudie Archdale had a handicap of 40 feet; Charlie Mitchell, 80 feet; George Bowers, 140 feet, and Wilmering and Creighton, 200 feet each. Joan and George Bowers won the first and second preliminaries and the final was won by Dudie Archdale in 2:26¾. Joan broke badly and finished sixth.

There were two preliminaries, Joan taking the first, Dudie Archdale and Billy Burke, who finished in the order named. Time, 2:30¼. The second preliminary was won by George Bowers, Creighton second and Wilmering third. Time, 2:29¾. In the final all horses took part and Dudie Archdale won, with Charlie Mitchell second and George Bowers third. Time, 2:26¾. The purse was $3,000.

The 2:13 pace and the 2:13 trot were both taken easily by the Murphy stable.

Hold Business Meeting.

Philadelphia, Sept. 8.—At the annual meeting of Intercollegiate Lawn Tennis association, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

President, Alrick H. Man, Yale; vice president, Wendell S. Kuhn, Princeton; secretary-treasurer, G. A. Shaw McKean, Harvard.

The University of Minnesota and Johns Hopkins were admitted to membership in the association, the full list now being Yale, Harvard, Pennsylvania, Princeton, Cornell, Columbia, Hobart, Williams, Haverford, Minnesota, Johns Hopkins.

Fred Hunter Is Sold.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 8.—First Baseman Fred Hunter, for whom Pittsburg turned over to Kansas City about $12,000 worth of talent, was released to the Indianapolis club of the American association. The deal is said to be an outright sale, with nothing but a cash consideration involved.

Gotch Leaves for Home.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 8.—Frank Gotch, champion wrestler of the world, accompanied by his wife, visited the Minnesota fair yesterday. He left for his home at Humboldt, Iowa, today.

S.S.S. CURES OLD SORES

Every person afflicted with an old sore realizes, sooner or later, that the ulcer exists because of bad blood; the character and condition of the place depending on the nature of the blood infection. Virulent impurities in the circulation produce angry, discharging ulcers, while milder, inert germs are usually manifested in the form of indolent sores or dry, scabby places. No one should depend upon salves, washes, lotions, etc., alone to cure a chronic sore. It is necessary to remove the cause before the place can heal. S. S. S. heals Old Sores by going down into the circulation and removing the impurities and germs which are responsible for the place. In addition to purifying the blood S. S. S. enriches this vital fluid so that the irritated flesh around an old sore is naturally stimulated, and a permanent cure results. Book on Sores and Ulcers and any medical advice free. S. S. S. is sold at drug stores.

ARMSTRONG WINS AGAIN

University of Minnesota Tennis Player Defeats Gates of Yale.

Surprise of Philadelphia Meet Is Strong Contender for Championship.

Reports from the Philadelphia intercollegiate lawn tennis tournament are being watched with great interest by local players because of the interest taken in the work of Joe Armstrong, who won the local tournament and the state title last month. Yesterday the Minnesota star defeated R. C. Gates of Yale and slid into the semi finals where Armstrong of Minnesota, and Whitney of Harvard are picked to defeat two Yale aspirants for first honors.

Duluth tennis experts are backing Armstrong. The brand of tennis that the Minneapolis boy put up here won him a lot of supporters. Though the

"JOE" ARMSTRONG.

Twin City boy met the best players in the tournament he was never pushed, and took the finals from the veteran Wheeler, with ease and won the title from John Adams, former title holder in straight sets. Up to these games he played with his opponents, and displayed a wonderful form and a most difficult service. While a good share of his strength lies in that same service, Armstrong covers the court with an ease and speed that is wonderful and he has that quick reaction and instinctive knowledge of his opponents' plans that is necessary for a great player.

At the Philadelphia matches he has defeated some of the best men in college tennis, and that is saying a great deal. He was not altogether a dark horse as he and Adams had started in the east earlier this year, but the eastern experts did not expect him to get by some of the difficult matches which he drew in the present tournament. He is now generally picked for the finals and has a lot of backers who are willing to bet that Whitney, the Harvard star has met his match.

St. Louis	0	3	3

Batteries—Hendrix and Simon; Geyer and Bliss. Umpires—Rigler and Finneran.

GIANTS MAKE ERRORS AND BROOKLYN WINS.

New York, Sept. 8.—Brooklyn defeated the Giants in the first game of the series, errors behind Mathewson being mainly responsible for his defeat. In the ninth Tooley walked with two and scored the winning run when Snodgrass dropped Daubert's long fly in deep right center, after getting under it by a great run. Barger pitched a fine game for Brooklyn, although his wildness came near being his undoing. Score:

Brooklyn	4	8	1
New York	3	4	3

Batteries—Barger and Erwin and Berger; Mathewson, Wilson and Myers. Umpires—Johnstone and Eason.

SCHULTE GETS TWENTY-FIRST FOUR-BASE HIT.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—Outfielder Frank Schulte's twenty-first home run of the season comes within four of tieing the world's record established by John Freeman of Washington in 1899. Incidentally this home run was responsible for Chicago winning the first game, 3 to 0, from Cincinnati, when Tinker scored ahead of him.

A batting rally in the eighth inning of the second game, in which Schulte's single put Chicago two runs ahead, resulted in a 4 to 2 victory for the locals. Scores:

First game—

	R.	H.	E.
Chicago	3	9	1
Cincinnati	0	4	0

Batteries—Reulbach and Needham; Gaspar, Compton and Clarke. Umpires—O'Day and Emslie.

Second game—

BOSTON DROPS DOUBLE BILL TO PHILADELPHIA.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 8.—Boston secured nineteen hits off two Philadelphia pitchers in the first game here yesterday, the home team losing 13 to 5. Alexander held them to one hit in the second game, which Philadelphia won, 1 to 0. Alexander almost achieved a no-hit, no man reaching first game, allowing no base on balls. The single hit was a scratch. Donlin and Gowdy were ordered off the field in the second game for arguing. Scores:

First game—

	R.	H.	E.
Boston	5	19	2
Philadelphia	13	15	3

Batteries—Brown, Thompson, Weaver, Pfeffer and Kling; Chalmers and Carter and Madden. Umpires—Klem and Brennan.

Second game—

	R.	H.	E.
Philadelphia	1	6	0

Batteries—Young and Rariden; Alexander and Carter. Umpires—Klem and Brennan.

SENATORS DROP ONE TO NEW YORK.

Washington, Sept. 8.—New York broke Johnson's winning streak yesterday, defeating Washington 5 to 2. Johnson made two of the five hits credited to his team. Pitcher Warhop was benched in the eighth inning for kicking over a decision at first base. The fielding of Schaefer and Gardner featured the game. The score:

	R.	H.	E.
Washington	2	5	2
New York	5	7	1

Batteries—Johnson and Henry and Street; Vaughn, Ford, Warhop and Blair. Umpires—Dineen and Perrine.

PITCHER CURRY IS KNOCKED OUT OF THE BOX.

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 8.—Cleveland defeated St. Louis, 6 to 5, knocking Curry from the box. Hawk pitched good ball after the fourth inning, while he was hit for three doubles. Kritchell and Wallace retired because of injuries. St. Louis made a rally in the ninth that fell one short of tieing the score, having two men left on bases as the game ended. The score:

	R.	H.	E.
Cleveland	6	9	1
St. Louis	5	10	1

Batteries—Krapp and Fisher; Curry, Hawk and Stephens and Kritchell. Umpires—Mullin and Evans.

PHILADELPHIA WINS FROM BOSTON.

Philadelphia, Sept. 8.—The home team bunched hits with Pape's passes and defeated Boston, 5 to 1. Philadelphia had five men thrown out at the home plate, four on force-outs and one on an attempted double steal. The score:

	R.	H.	E.
Boston	1	8	2
Philadelphia	5	10	0

Batteries — Pape and Williams; Coombs and Lapp. Umpires—Connolly and Sheridan.

REDUCES ITS STOCK.

Standard Oil Subsidiary Files Papers at Harrisburg.

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 8.—Papers have been filed at the state department announcing a reduction in the capital stock of the National Oil company, one of the subsidiaries of the Standard Oil company. The par value of 509,103 shares was reduced from $50 to $20, thus reducing the company's capital from $25,455,150 to $12,727,575.

The Standard Oil company is given as the owner of 509,013 of the shares.

The paper gives no explanation of the cause of the reduction, but it is supposed to have something to do with the reorganization, following the recent decision of the United States supreme court in the case of the Standard Oil company.

SWALLOWS POISON TO AVOID LONG SENTENCE.

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 8.—Rather than face Judge McKinney in the circuit court to receive a 20-year sentence which he knew awaited him, David Alford ended his life in the county jail here by swallowing poisonous disinfectant used about the jail. Alford had been convicted on a charge preferred against him by his 13-year-old stepdaughter.

DEFICIT FOR STATE FAIR

Directors May Make It Good and Call on the Legislature.

The Loss May Amount to From $40,000 to $75,000.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—Facing a deficit of between $40,000 and $75,000, the state fair management has up the question of how to meet a situation unparalleled in the history of the society.

According to figures compiled in the office of Secretary Simpson, the loss to and including last night aggregated $61,000. Just how much this will be lessened depends on the gate receipts of today and tomorrow. President Glotfelter estimated that with weather conditions tomorrow similar to those today, the deficit will be about $40,000. Secretary Simpson believes it will be more.

Cannot Obligate State.

The society, as a society, cannot obligate the state to pay this. It has no authority. Mr. Glotfelter said, to borrow from a bank, lending the name of Minnesota to a note. There is no fund in the state treasury which may be checked on. The $16,000 which was placed in the hands of Walter J. Smith, state treasurer, as custodian of the state fair funds, as directed by the last legislature, was all expended before the fair opened. In fact, there is not a dollar on which the fair management can lay its hands for an emergency use.

Back to Legislature.

Apparently there is only one way of obtaining funds, and that is by borrowing on a note indorsed by the directors personally. Then, when the legislature meets, an appropriation can be made to take up the loan. The directors probably would have no trouble in raising a half million dollars, if necessary. They are all men with good financial ratings.

Members of the legislature who have been on the grounds have told the directors to go ahead and meet obligations and the matter will be taken care of.

Wearied of being trifled with by the weather, the fair management arranged to crowd into the hippodrome tonight an entertainment consisting of vaudeville, horse show, band concerts, exhibition of prize winning stock and practically everything in the way of special amusement to be found on the grounds, and the rain may come and the wind may blow, but spectators will be warm and dry.

MARTIN AND SWANSON NOMINATED FOR SENATE.

Richmond, aV., Sept. 8.—Senators Thomas S. Martin and Claude A. Swanson have been re-nominated on the Democratic ticket for the long and short terms in the United States senate from Virginia. The total vote up to 1:15 o'clock this morning gave Senator Martin a plurality of 28,294 over Representative William A. Jones, and Senator Swanson's plurality over Carter Glass was 33,118.

Indications were that the regulars likewise had triumphed throughout the state in the local elections.

NOT GUILTY IS JURY'S VERDICT

Emil Putika Is Acquitted on First Degree Assault Charge.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—The jury in the case of Emil Putika, charged with assault in the first degree, brought in a verdict of not guilty late this afternoon. Putika was accused of stabbing Mike Saari, the affray taking place at the Kinney mine location.

This is the last case on the criminal calendar this week. On Monday the criminal calendar will be resumed when Bruno Demasse, who was yesterday acquitted on a murder charge, will be tried for carrying concealed weapons.

RATES ON WOOL ARE UNDER FIRE

Western Shippers Tell Prouty Advance Has Been Made.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—Attempts to show that freight rates on wool from points west of the Mississippi river to Eastern markets had materially increased since 1896 were made today before United States Interstate Commerce Commissioner C. A. Prouty, who is investigating complaints of shippers that rates on this commodity are unreasonable.

Attorney Victor O. Johnson, representing the National Wool Growers' association, compared the present rates with those in effect in 1896, and his figures showed an increase.

W. E. Allir, assistant general freight agent of the Northern Pacific, was the first witness called in today's session. He denied that his company had increased the wool rate since 1896, but said that the present tariff was too low. He said that conditions in the wool growing country would warrant an increase.

ON A BOER FARM.

An American woman traveling in South Africa was detained by floods and compelled to spend a month on a Boer farm.

"The first night's monotony," she writes in Health Culture, "was broken by the roaring of ostriches under our window. We thought it was a tame lion.

"The farmer and his family lived chiefly on sour bread and sour skimmed milk. I was therefore hungry most of the time and the ripe figs hanging in clusters were pretty alluring. After pushing back the skin of the fig and enjoying the soft fruit with its tropical taste I had a refreshing night's sleep, only to awaken in the morning pretty well scared, for my tongue was so swollen and black that I could not talk.

The Boer wife laughed and enjoyed my discomfiture and explained that the skin of the fig had numerous fine thorns and I had not been careful to remove it when eating.

"When I told the farmer's wife that I liked buttermilk in quantity I noticed that I had a cupful or so given me, but she threw it by the pailful to the pigs. They were of far more consequence to her than I, for they would stay longer with her and were her familiars. I was not.

"Then, again, when I was hungry for butter on my bread, a white clammy substance made from 'sheeptail fat' was handed to me, and I could not allow the farmer's wife to see me quiver. She sold her butter in the village close by at 75 cents a pound, more or less. Sour bread and green strawberries (plenty of them) were considered good enough.

"This Boer family was one of the wealthiest of their kind. There was not a ripple of fun or exuberant life in anything but the live stock. Conversation was a dead language—unknown.

"The women are mute beings, accepting their destiny with a deep stillness. The wife gives of her strength to the limit, and dies after giving birth to a dozen or more children, to make way for Wife No. 2, who gives another dozen children to her country. Her adobe house, with its dirt floor made of anthill clay mixed with beef gall, is a chamber of horror to an American traveler.

"The farmer depends upon his ten to eighteen children, of all sizes, to help him. A Kaffir as an employe is undependable as the wind that blows. Yet that Kaffir is the hired man in the mines and elsewhere in South Africa. The white man as a day laborer is a general failure. He cannot be worked in droves like the Kaffir from the interior, whose language, in clicks and vowel sounds, is hardly human.

"The Boer is not long lived. One seldom met an aged Boer of the old stock. Oom Paul Kruger, who was 75 years old when he died, was an exception. Hatred toward the Uitlander and the lust for gold and power was what kept the fires of life burning at white heat within him.

"To stem the elements alone in Africa takes the stoutest heart. Fevers assail the discouraged and underfed home boy. The easily forded streams become rivers, like swirling Niagaras, in a few hours and the terrific thunder storms paralyze one sensitive to electrical influences.

"There is no pretty little, far off streak in the sky which the amateur photographer can catch on his film, but the air is charged with electricity so appalling in its violet hued and deep orange earthbound clouds that one has to come to a complete standstill whether walking or riding on the open veldt, so as not to attract the ribbon-like lightning playing around him and venting its fury on any moving object."

TOURIST LITERATURE.

The Literary Digest prints a complimentary article on the transportation literature got out for tourists.

"The general public," it says, "when visiting tourist agencies gets glimpses of the number and variety of handsome folders and pamphlets issued by railway and steamship companies at this season of the year. These glimpses, however, give scarcely more than suggestions of the splendor and extent of this class of literature.

"To the office of this periodical has come within the last two weeks matter of this kind which, exclusive of all mere time tables, lists of tours, etc., numbers considerably more than 100 items. Many of these represent the highest form of the printer's and illustrator's art. Halftone illustrations numbering thousands might be counted in these pamphlets. They are printed on highly calendered paper, colors are often used not only on the covers, but frequently in the text. Color work so good as may be seen in these publications is rarely found in any issues of books or magazines."

A list follows of pamphlets issued by railroads of the Far West and Canada whose titles are all that could be asked for any piece of literature. For instance: "Through Wonderland," a pamphlet on the Yellowstone; "On the Wings of the Wind," "The Challenge of the Mountains," "Above the Clouds in the Canadian Rockies," "The Bread Basket of the World," "Colorado Under the Turquoise Sky," "The Land that Lures," "Outings in Oregon," "A Thousand Miles Through the Rockies," "Moose Trails and Deer Tracks."

The Eastern, Middle Western and Southern pamphlets can boast of attractive and picturesque titles, too, such as "The Dells of Wisconsin," "Anthracitations," "Summer Homes in the Green Hills of Vermont," "Winter Time in Summerland," "As Seen from the Train," "Under Sapphire Skies in San Antonio."

Steamboat lines have their quota of beautifully illustrated books, as "Alaska Totem Poles," "A Trip to Wonderland," "Around the World."

Some of the pamphlets containing details as to hotels and boarding houses run to 300 or more pages in length and are profusely illustrated.

GRAND FREE OPEN AIR CONCERT

LINCOLN PARK 25th Ave. West and Third Street

SUNDAY AFTERNOON 3 to 5 o'clock

UNDER AUSPICES OF THE DULUTH HERALD

BY THE "IN OLD KENTUCKY" BAND

Twenty-Five Trained Musicians Directed by John Powell, known all over America and Europe as "Black Sousa", in a program of sacred and catchy popular music.

The "In Old Kentucky" company will arrive in Duluth Sunday to open its Western season Sunday night at the Lyceum, and The Herald has been able to arrange with the owner, Mr. A. W. Dingwall, for a free concert at Lincoln Park, Sunday afternoon. The band comes to Duluth direct from Manhattan Beach, where it played during the summer with great success.

WOMAN'S REALM.

The utter disregard for the anti-cigarette law in Duluth and the objectionable features which are introduced in some of the Duluth theaters were the subjects chiefly discussed yesterday afternoon at the first meeting of the year of the Women's Christian Temperance union of West Duluth, held at the home of Mrs. G. W. Smith, 623 North Fifty-fifth avenue west.

The frequent occurrence of objectionable features on the bills in local playhouses, which the women feel are demoralizing and unfit for the young folk to witness, was discussed and many instances cited when the bill was objectionable. The women discussed means of approaching the matter with a view of reform and they also held an earnest discussion of the cigarette question.

The regular business session and formal program were held and an informal hour followed, when the members gave interesting reviews of their summer outings and a delightful social half hour with refreshments was enjoyed. Two pleasing piano solos were rendered by Miss Walbeck of the Deaconess home and Mrs. L. H. Merritt.

TO MAKE DEBUT.

Miss House to Be Introduced to Society.

Mrs. F. E. House and Miss House have issued invitations for a large reception Friday of next week at their home, 2210 East Superior street, at which time Miss House will be introduced to society. A large number of invitations have been issued and the calling hours are from 4 to 7 o'clock.

Miss House has been out of school for a year and spent the spring and summer months traveling abroad with Mr. and Mrs. House.

CONTEST POSTPONED.

Women Will Not Play for President's Trophy.

The golf contest for the President's trophy, which was to have been played at the Northland Country club tomorrow afternoon by the women of the club, has been postponed for one week on account of the muddy and wet condition of the links. The interest in golf this summer has been stronger than ever among the women of the club and this particular match has attracted a good deal of attention.

WATTS-ADAMS.

Pretty Home Wedding Takes Place.

A pretty wedding took place Wednesday evening of this week at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Watts, of 907 East Sixth street, when their daughter, Clara Irene, became the bride of Archie A. Adams of this city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Yost of the First Presbyterian church at 8 o'clock.

The bride was beautifully gowned in white chiffon over white silk and wore a long bridal veil carrying a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Henrietta Watts, who was gowned in white and carried a bouquet of pink sweet peas. Mr. Adams was attended by William Koors.

Assisting about the rooms were the Misses Emma and Mable Miller and Estelle and Adeline Watts.

The color scheme used throughout the rooms was green and white.

The bride's bouquet was caught by Miss Gertrude Watts.

Mr. and Mrs. Adams will be at home in this city after Oct. 1.

Mrs. Engle Hostess.

Mrs. J. C. H. Engle of 2105 East Fifth street was hostess at a pretty afternoon tea yesterday at her home, in compliment to Mrs. Sayles of Los Angeles, Cal., who has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. F. Z. Barthe of Woodland avenue, all summer. Sweet peas and nasturtiums were prettily arranged about the rooms, and the guests were:

Mesdames—

Sayles,	R. Spiegle,
J. A. Keyes,	Stella Prince
A. L. Warner,	Stocker,
C. S. Mitchell,	H. J. Underhill,
J. B Heimlek,	A. C. Humphrey.
F. Z. Barthe,
Misses—
Clara Stocker,	Ely.

Nordal-Thayer.

A wedding of interest which will take place next week is that of Miss Margaret J. Nordal and Raymond W. Thayer, which will take place at the home of the bride's parents, 823 Ninth avenue east, Tuesday, Sept. 12, at noon. Mr. Thayer and his bride will leave for a wedding trip to Chicago and the East, and upon their return will be at home in this city.

Former Minneapolis Woman Prominent Socially in London

MRS. FRANK MACKEY.

Mrs. Frank Mackey, who has been a leader of the American colony in London for ten years, is visiting her old home in America. Mrs. Mackey used to live in Minneapolis. She went with her husband to London in 1901 and has taken a very conspicuous part in the social life of that city ever since. Mr. and Mrs. Mackey have a castle in Scotland and have entertained royalty there.

Church Meeting.

The Queen Esther Circle of the Endion M. E. church will meet tomorrow afternoon in the parlors of the church at 4 o'clock. Officers for the year will be chosen.

Birthday Luncheon.

Mrs. J. De Dimarco entertained at a prettily appointed luncheon yesterday at her home, 931 West Third street, in honor of Miss Rose Malnella's birthday anniversary. Covers were laid for eight, and sweet peas and nasturtiums were effectively used on the table.

For Baptist Church.

The women of the First Baptist church will hold a food sale all day tomorrow at the Grand Union Tea company's store, 214 West First street.

For Bride-Elect.

Misses Elsie Wall and Helen Wall of 707 East First street were hostesses at an informal afternoon tea today at their home in compliment to Miss Barbara Patrick, who is to be one of next week's brides.

Garden flowers were effectively used about the rooms and assisting the hostesses were Miss May Jeffery and Miss Margaret Panton. About thirty guests called during the afternoon.

To Ride in "St. Louis."

A number of young people chaperoned by Miss Pearson will enjoy an afternoon's ride tomorrow in the private car "St. Louis," belonging to the Duluth Street Railway company. Those who will make up the party are:

Misses—

Eleanor Reichert,	Frances Burris,
Ruth Willcutts,	Winnifred Warner,
Ruth Borland,	Marie Craig,
Beatrice Flynn,	Gladys Segog,

THE EVENING STORY

THE POINT OF VIEW

By H. A. Postlethwaite.

To Clarence Jarvis the whole thing was perfectly clear—that is, of course, after it was all over. It never occurred to him that it could have been otherwise. He didn't worry about it.

He was 25 and a civil servant, with all the usual attributes both of 25 and of a civil servant—that is to say, in the first place he had not quite forgotten the meaning of ambition. He still dreamed of some vague, mysterious greatness that should some day descend on him and transport him, blushing and protesting, to the high places of the earth; he still believed in improving each shining hour and, at the same time, his mind; and he was in love.

But Mr. Jarvis's love was not an overmastering passion, a fever of longing, an emotion so intense as to make or mar his life. It was, rather, a very neat and proper adjunct to an existence of commendable respectability. He realized this himself, and it distressed him. He wondered whether he was justified in considering himself in love; whether he would be justified if it were any use, if his salary were "anything like," and if Doris would hear of it. For Doris, of course, never had heard of it.

It was at this perplexing stage of his career that Mr. Jarvis was suddenly thrown off his balance by the unexpected realization of his worldly ambitions. He knew that Curtiss had died, but he had no idea that he stood any chance of being given his position. Two thousand a year, all at once! In three years he might get married; he might almost risk it now.

But surprises never come singly. For nearly a week he gloried in the honor of his promotion, and then, one evening when he was sitting alone in his rooms drawing up a revised schedule of expenditure, she came.

"Are you sure?" he demanded incredulously.

"Quite certain," the landlady replied with conviction. "Miss Wood, she said, and she wishes to see Mr. Jarvis. Shall I show her up here?"

"Yes, please," he cried, jumping from his seat and brushing books and papers and ink and pens from the table into a drawer. The room seemed to brighten with Doris's entrance.

"You must be surprised—" she began, holding out the daintiest hand with an apologetic laugh.

"No, really," he interrupted in obvious confusion. "That is, I am delighted. Won't you sit down, and take off your hat?"

"I'm not going to stay a minute," she protested.

"But, please," he urged. He liked to see her hair.

She complied and seated herself opposite him. His heart was behaving in unaccountable manner, but everything was unaccountable, and she was exquisitely sweet. It did not occur to him that she meant to be.

"Now, I'm going to explain myself, Mr. Jarvis," she said very seriously, but with a jolly twinkle in her eyes. "Oh, but first I must congratulate you." Jarvis muttered something ridiculous, and rose to expel the landlady's cat. Doris stopped him and took the cat on her knee.

"It's going to be rather difficult, I am afraid," she went on with her eyes on the cat. "I hardly know where to begin. Of course, you know father thinks rather a lot of you both in the office and out of it."

"I thought," said Jarvis, questioningly, "that he might have had something to do with my getting Curtiss' post."

"Yes, he had; something," she admitted. "But that isn't the point." Her eyes were still wasting their beauty on the purring animal. "Did you ever know Tom McCarthy?" she demanded without warning, looking full in his face. "He went out to India a year ago; he passed for the Indian civil, you know."

"I don't think I ever met him," Jarvis said.

"Well," she continued with a rush, "to put it very bluntly, Tom and I were fond of one another, but father would not let me have anything to do with him. I don't know why; it was most unfair and ridiculous. But we manage to write to one another, and he'll be coming home in about eighteen months." She paused for a minute, and Jarvis wondered whether there was anything he could say.

"Father found one of Tom's letters the other day, and read it. There was an awful scene, and he said I was never to write again. But I'm going to. And then he—he hinted that I ought to—ought to marry you." Jarvis started. "He said that you had said something to him——"

"I—I don't remember," Jarvis stammered. The situation was unprecedented. He could not find words to express himself for a full minute.

"It was awfully good of you to come and explain, Miss Wood," he said at length. "I quite understand. Of course, you must have known that I have a deep regard for you. You have saved us both much pain."

The interview terminated ten minutes later, with a most satisfactory arrangement. Naturally, nothing was to be said to Mr. Wood. He was to be left to imagine that Tom had passed out of his daughter's life, and that Clarence Jarvis had taken his place. And Clarence Jarvis was, to all appearances, to do so.

He was proud to be allowed to play this part. He felt that it was a fitting tribute to his regard for Doris—that regard that had so nearly grown into love. As he sat down to think it all over after she had left, he was immensely impressed by the courage and the true womanliness that must have prompted her to act as she had done. It was the straightforward, honest course, but there was not one woman in a thousand who would have taken it. He envied that fellow McCarthy.

It was some two months after Doris's visit to his rooms that he found her at the Wilsons' dance sitting out by herself. She was dressed entirely in white, and he thought at first merely of her loveliness. Then he noticed that her eyes were red, and that she held her handkerchief screwed up into a tiny moist ball. He sat beside her and glanced a sympathetic inquiry.

She answered quite composedly, but in a faint, hoarse whisper: "Tom's dead." Then she cried, and it was only in broken snatches that he learned the agony of her loss and of her secret grief. He was glad that he was able in some small degree to console her. She, too, seemed grateful.

To describe in detail the sequence of events from that time onward would be wearying. In Jarvis's memory they stand out only in their relations to one or two prominent incidents; that evening when he first took her hand in both of his as they bade one another good night; the moment when he first ventured to touch her warm red cheeks with his lips; the instant when he realized that he dared, and, in fact, actually did, propose. And then, just after the second increment as a minor staff officer, came the marriage.

That was Jarvis's point of view; the whole thing was perfectly clear. He had always loved his wife; his wife loved him now, and that was all he asked. Another point of view is best represented by extracts from a couple of letters from Doris to her dearest friend in Virginia:

"My dearest Bess—Of course, I'll accept your wager. The odds are so much in my favor, a real cashmere shawl to half a dozen pairs of gloves; and I'll win it, too. I think I told you about him before. He is the dearest dear, but so awfully bashful that I know I shall have to propose myself (you don't bar that in the terms of your wager, you know, unless I can think of something. I should have started thinking a long time ago, but government clerks are paid so miserably that it would have been silly to be engaged before. But now he's just been promoted, and his salary, with what I have and what I know he has, will just be enough to squeeze along with."

"Darling Bess—Please send the shawl. I know you can't be engaged yet, so I win easily.

"I'll have to tell you all about it some other time; I'm much too excited now. I'm sure you'd have liked the flance I invented for myself. He was a dear man, but so delicate, and, of course, he simply couldn't stand India. In fact, he only lived two months, and now Clarence loves more than ever—much more; and we're engaged.

"Go thou and do likewise. With heaps of love, DORIS."

DULUTH HAS ONE AUTO FOR EVERY 200 INHABITANTS

Duluth has approximately one automobile to every 200 persons, according to the figures in the office of Special Officer James Walsh, who has charge of the wheelage tax collections. The city also has thirty-six motor trucks and twenty-two motor cycles.

Officer Walsh has located a few less than 400 buzz wagons in Duluth. The lists of the city assessor show more than this, but they include a number of cars which are not in commission or are classed as selling cars. No tax can be collected unless the cars are in use.

The wheelage tax ordinance went into effect about a year ago this month. The licenses expire in the spring and last year about 1,000 tags were issued. This year about 2,000 have been put out from the office of the city clerk. Much of the increase has been due to Officer Walsh, who has been checking over all vehicles in the city. He has caused a large number of arrests of persons who have failed to comply with the provisions of the ordinance. This had a most salutary effect, as many came in of their own accord for licenses when it became generally known that the administration intended to enforce the ordinance.

The number of motor trucks in the city has increased considerably in the last year. A year or two ago they were a novelty, but this summer they have become common. They have been found to be most satisfactory for use on the hills of the city and the cost of maintaining them has not been great. Those who have them in use state that they are an economy. They say that the first cost is rather big, but that they are able to haul such heavy loads and cover so much ground that they pay for themselves within a comparatively short time.

DIVORCE CASES NEARLY FINISHED

Big Calendar Disposed of By District Judges in Short Order.

After the strenuous session yesterday, a lull was experienced today in district court. While fifteen divorce cases were called and submitted yesterday, but one was ready for trial today.

The case set for trial today was that of John Wentworth Roscoe, 53 years old, against his wife, Mary Brown Roscoe, 33 years old.

He asked for a divorce on grounds of desertion. According to the complaint they were married in 1892. There are two children, one 18 and the other 15 years of age.

There were in all fifty divorce cases to be heard. Some of them were put on the general court calendar, others were dismissed, some were continued and about twenty in all were heard.

EAST SUPERIOR STREET PROPERTY IS SOLD.

A real estate deal of much importance was consummated yesterday in the transfer of an East Superior street property from the Duluth Banking company to Edward G. Hilliard, involving, it is said, about $25,000.

The property has a frontage of 200 feet on Superior street between Ninth and Tenth avenues east, and runs back to London road, where it has a frontage of 225 feet. It is improved with nine houses.

This property is almost directly opposite the location of the proposed Kitchi Gammi club, overlooks the lake, and is one of the most desirable properties along the lake shore. Mr. Hilliard purchased it for investment purposes, and at the present time has no plans for its further improvement. The deal was made through the office of Frank I. Salter & Co.

MORE OF THE SAME IS PREDICTION

Weather Forecaster Gives No Hope of Better Conditions.

More of the same unpopular weather is on the program for tomorrow and as far ahead as the weather man on the hill top can predict. Rain and winds from the lake are looked for and Forecaster H. W. Richardson said this morning that there was nothing better in sight as yet.

With the continued rainfall the danger of imminent frost is allayed, and reports from Western Canada which was visited by severe frosts Wednesday night, show a rising temperature.

Potato farmers are the worst sufferers from the present rainy season and the crop is reported as rotting rapidly and very badly damaged by the excess of water. Market authorities predict a rising market in "spuds" as a result. An increase from 85 to 95 cents per bushel was recorded on Michigan street this week.

DULUTH FANS PAY ALL BETS

Referee's Ultimatum on Gotch Match Is Not Regarded Here.

Chicago Sporting Writer Thinks That This Action Is Wrong.

A number of wrestling fans are reported to be somewhat sore over the calling off of bets on the Gotch-Hack match Labor day. The cancelling of the bets was due to the discovery of Hackenschmidt's game knee, an injury which had been carefully concealed up to the time of the match.

In Duluth practically all bets were paid. At one of the West Superior street cigar stores where bets were posted, the receipt of the referee's ultimatum was followd by an announcement that all bets would be paid to the winners in spite of the decision. No complaints are reported as following this action.

Hugh Keough of the Chicago Tribune thinks thia action was wrong, however. Commenting on the question he says:

'According to fundamental sporting law, 'all bets go with the decision of the referee.' The referee is ex-officio final stakeholder of all wagers depending upon the match, whether the money is placed in his hands or not. It is his privilege to void all bets before the contest and his reasons for exercising that privilege are negligible. When he declares off all bets before the match the effect is the same as if the match resulted in a draw or "no contest," and it is the plain duty of stakeholders to return all moneys in their hands to the parties to the wagers, to each his own part, provided, of course, that the party to what would have been the losing end of the wager does not waive his right to the return of his money. No matter how the bet is worded in the making and no matter whether it depends on the main issue or on any of the minor points that bet is off when the referee calls it off and it cannot be reinstated except by the mutual consent of the persons making it."

GAME POSTPONED; "COLD WEATHER"

Boston Nationals Seek Shelter of Their Training Quarters.

They need some good loyal, weather-defying Duluth brand fans to support the Boston Nationals. A bulletin from the bean center this morning announces the postponement of the Boston-Philadelphia game this afternoon on account of "cold weather." Just how cold it can get in Boston in early September is not accurately known but it is a safe bet that Darby O'Brien and his colts performed before practically the full quota of Duluth fans on several occasions when zephyrs from the bosom of old Lake Superior brought the mercury down to more uncomfortable points than Boston is today experiencing.

REVIVAL OF BOXING GAME IN RACINE.

Racine, Wis., Sept. 8.—The fight game will be revived in Racine tonight after a lull of three months, when Eddie Murphy of Boston will clash with Jack McHenry of Chicago, in a ten-round bout. Under the promise that they would use eight-ounce gloves the promoters secured the permission of the city officials to stage the bout, but the police will be on hand to stop the mill should it get going to fast.

The boxing lid was clamped down tight after the Thompson-Kelly go here last spring.

WANT OLD REPAIR RATES RESTORED

North Dakota Shippers Tell Troubles to State Commission.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 8.—(Special to The Herald.)—North Dakota Railroad Commissioners Mann, Sturman and Anderson are here to hear the petitions of implement manufacturers and other shippers to have old implement repair rate restored. Prior to 1910 a one-half rate on all defective machinery to be shipped back to the factory for repairs was in force. At that time the railroads took off this low rate, claiming that it was being abused and that goods such as scrap iron, etc., which should have taken a higher rate, were being shipped to the factories for half the rate on new machinery. The Minneapolis Thresher company and others are making the fight to get the rate restored.

T. A. McGrath, assistant manager of the Minneapolis Traffic company, testified all forenoon for the shippers. The railroad commissions of Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Illinois and South Dakota have considered protests and restored the half rate.

TOURING THE SOUTH.

Boosters of San Diego and New Orleans Expositions on Tour.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 8.—Director General Dawe of the Southern Commercial congress left here today on his way to El Paso, where he will meet Director General Collier of the San Diego-Panama-California exposition to begin a 5,000-mile trip through the South and Southwest.

Mr. Dawe will endeavor to create interest in the meeting of the Southern congress, to be held in Memphis, Oct. 9, while Col. Collier will "boost" the San Diego exposition.

The congress is aiding New Orleans in the promotion of the United Americas' 1913 celebration in the Crescent City, to mark the turning of water into the Panama canal.

Peddler Pays Fine.
Joe Hadett paid a fine of $3 in police court this morning when he pleaded guilty to peddling without a license.

Fined for Speeding.
Earl Russell was fined $25 and costs or thirty days in the county jail when he pleaded guilty in police court this morning to having exceeded the speed limit. He was arrested by Patrolmen Youngberg and Hartz, who are checking up the automobiles and motor cycles. He paid his fine.

Woman Charged With Theft.
May King, colored, was arraigned in police court this morning on a charge of having stolen $10 from Conrad Erickson. She asked for an examination, which was set for Sept. 15. Bail was fixed at $250.

Stole Boots and Coat.
Fred Dezanders was found guilty in police court this morning on a charge of having stolen a pair of boots and a cravanette from Arthur Jackson of East Second street. He got $25 and costs or thirty days in the county jail.

Entry Contested.
A contest case was started this morning before Register Hartman of the United States land office in which the United States land department is endeavoring to cancel the filing of Emanuel Antijo of Ely on a homestead which he entered upon in October, 1905, in sections 4, 5, 8 and 9 in township 61-11. It is claimed that he did not establish and maintain a residence on the homestead. J. J. Brosnam, special agent for the United States, is prosecuting the case, and W. E. Culkin is the attorney for Mr. Antijo.

Services Tonight.
The regular Sunday services will be held at Temple Emanuel, corner Second street and Seventh avenue east, this evening at 8 o'clock. The subject of the sermon will be "Through Manhood and Womanhood." The regular Sunday school will be held Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock at the church.

Band Concert Sunday.
The "In Old Kentucky" band will give a concert Sunday afternoon at Lincoln park and only the weather will prevent a record-breaking crowd. Be sure to come and bring the children as they will enjoy the Pickaninnies. This will be the last of The Herald's band concerts this season.

BARBER & McPHERSON.

COPPERS SLUMP; MARKET QUIET

Break in the General Stock List Has Effect on Coppers.

Copper stocks on hand Sept. 1 showed a decrease of 4,297,357 pounds from Aug. 1, according to the monthly report of the Copper Producers' association made public today. Stocks were 132,141,501 pounds on Sept. 1, as against 137,738,858 pounds a month previous.

This was a decidedly bearish day on the copper market. There seemed to be no particular influence to pull coppers down, outside of the fact that there was quite a break in the New York stock market, but this seemed to have quite a strong sympathetic affect on the coppers.

Up to noon today there was little doing in coppers. Bulls and bears alike awaited anxiously to hear some news regarding the probable outcome of the conference at San Francisco with the labor leaders of the Harriman lines over the question of wages. The outcome of these negotiations, being of importance to the general stock market, will of course have a marked effect on coppers also. The bears were rather aggressive during the early part of the session, but a rally set in before the morning was over. Fluctuations were small. All dealers were more or less conservative. A dispatch from London announced that the copper market there closed steady and unchanged both in spot and futures. Among the copper quotations of the day were the following:

Amalgamated, yesterday's close, $57.75; today, $57.50, $57, $57.25, $57.50, $57.25, $57.75, $57.62½, $57; Butte Coalition, yesterday, $15 bid, $15.50 asked; today, $14.87½, $15; Calumet & Arizona, yesterday, $50.50 bid, $51 asked; today, ex-dividend $1, $49.50, $49.62½, $49.50, $50; Giroux, yesterday, $4 bid, $4.06½ asked; today, $4.06¼, $4; Greene Cananea, yesterday, $6 bid, $6.12½ asked; today, $6, $6 to $6.12½; North Butte, yesterday, $23.75 bid, $24 asked; today, $23.75, $24, $23.75, $22.50; Shattuck, yesterday, $18 bid; today, $18, $18 to $19, $18.

Curb: Butte & Superior, yesterday and today, $92 to $94, old; Keating, yesterday and today, $3 asked.

Duluth officers of the Giroux company here state that they had advice from General Manager Mills this morning stating that he expects to reopen the Giroux shaft in two or three days and get to the 1,200-foot level at that time. It will take but a short time to repair what damage has been done to the lath used for lining the shaft, the main shaft timbers being charred only and are still strong and serviceable.

The New York Daily News came out with an extra asserting that the Illinois Central shopmen have been ordered out. About 35,000 men are involved. It appears that the international body has not sanctioned a strike, but the News declares the men will go out without such sanction.

A CHEERING ARABIAN PLANT.

Washington Post: "I saw a little of Arabia in my trip around the world by the way of the Suez canal," said Reuben Ferguson of Marland. "An English tourist suggested that I ought to take a turn with the laughing plant of the Arabian region. He had a native find some of the plant and the seeds thereof, predicting that if I would make a tea out of the seeds or even make the seeds and leaves into a powder and take a dose of it occasionally the effect would be cheering and that I would desire to laugh for an hour or more without apparent reason.

'Once assured that there was no danger from the effects I tried the seeds and am ashamed to tell what others told me of my antics. It was a case of high jinks, dancing and foolishness both in conversation and actions. I cannot recall what I said or what sort of capers I was guilty of, but those who were with me seemed to take delight in telling of my intoxication and the utter nonsense of my conversation. Once they had told me of a few things I decided to have nothing more to do with the laughing plant."

SUGAR HIGHEST SINCE 1899

Another Advance of 10 Cents Made on Refined Grades.

New York, Sept. 8.—All grades of refined sugar were advanced 10 points a hundred pounds today.

The price of sugar continues to advance on account of reports of a serious shortage in the new crop, and the market has now reached the highest level since July, 1899.

The advances have been chiefly due to the sensational strength of the European markets and unfavorable reports from the European beet crop, although Cuban crop prospects are also said to be under the average.

TRUCE EXISTS IN MOROCCO AFFAIR

M. Cambon Will Leave Berlin During Time of Inaction.

Berlin, Sept. 8.—Developments in the Moroccan negotiations are not expected while the French cabinet is digesting Germany's counter-proposals relative to the question, and while France's answer thereto is in the course of preparation. The situation is quiet enough to justify M. Cambon, the French ambassador in leaving Berlin tomorrow. Uneasiness persists however, among the uninformed public.

A meeting of commercial firms interested in Morocco, held today at Hamburg, passed resolutions urging the German foreign office to insist on adequate economic guarantees from France, as experience had shown that the "formal assurances of that country were worthless."

SPEAKER AND INTERPRETER.

Kansas City Journal: Charlie Shukers, the new member of the state board of control, addressed the students of the deaf and dumb school at Olathe the other day. The interpreter didn't treat Shukers as he did Henry J. Allen, a former member of the board, when he made a speech. Henry rambled along in his usual entertaining fashion and frequently received applause.

"Well, I seemed to please the students all right," said he to the interpreter afterward.

"Yes, they enjoyed it very much," replied the interpreter.

"But I wish you would explain why they frequently applauded at inopportune times," said Henry.

"That's easy," replied the interpreter. "You made one speech and I delivered them another."

FAUCETS FOR ALL HORSE FOUNTAINS

Since the drinking fountain for the horses have been shut off under orders from the state board of health, Dr. H. E. Webster, health commissioner, is planning to have each fountain equipped with faucets. When this is done each teamster will be able to water his horses on the street if he carries his own palls. The order to close the fountains followed the discovery that seven horses of a local company have the glanders, which is a contagious disease. Dr. Webster stated that the closing of the fountains will work some hardship, but that it will be largely overcome if the faucets are installed. Each teamster will be expected to shut off the water after he has filled his palls.

CONSUMERS, ATTENTION!

Do you know that prices of food commodities are soaring Sky High?

Do you know that we will experience the worst winter season in the history of this section of the country—and that there are even now many thousands of men in this section clamoring for work?

Do you know that wages are remaining stationary and that therefore living expenses are much higher than they have been in many a year?

Do you know it is more important to think of providing food for the morrow than new hats or coats—if you are a person of small means?

Do you know that as a consumer you are being robbed in weights, robbed in prices, and duped in quality?

Do you know that YOU and YOU alone are responsible for the circumstances that enable others to live at your expense?

Do you know that there is one storekeeper for every twenty families in this city—which means that every twenty families support one storekeeper?

Why not become the handler direct of the things you yourself consume? In our next letter we will tell you how and also send you an itemized statement and bulletin of the National Producers' League, which is actively being developed all over the country. Own your jobs and own your products, that is our purpose.

Special Announcement

In view of the fact that there are a number of families in this city whose demands are not sufficiently large and whose means are perhaps too limited to order at one time $5 worth of groceries—to obtain delivery from us, we have decided upon a new departure which will go into effect immediately. We have decided to accept orders for delivery to any given territory, except Lakeside, Woodland, West Duluth and Duluth Heights, for amounts aggregating $2.50 or more. Orders for Lakeside, Woodland, West Duluth and Duluth Heights must amount to $5 to obtain delivery. Our low prices will remain as usual. Orders to out-of-town points will be crated, and delivered free to all depots.

ALL STEAMERS ACCOUNTED FOR

Chicago, Sept. 3.—All the steamers for which fear was felt as a result of the storm which swept Lake Michigan early yesterday were accounted for last night. Most of the damage was to small craft in the Chicago harbor.

LAKE SUPERIOR ROSE HALF A FOOT IN AUGUST.

The United States Lake Survey reports the stages of the Great Lakes for the month of August, 1911, as follows:

Lakes—	Feet above tide-water, New York.
Superior	602.15
Michigan-Huron	579.83
Ontario	245.19

Lake Superior is 0.51 foot higher than last month, 0.18 foot higher than a year ago, 0.71 foot below the average stage of August of the last ten years, 1.78 feet below the high stage of August, 1876, and 0.55 foot above the low stage of August 1879. It will probably rise 0.1 foot during September.

Lakes Michigar-Huron are 0.05 foot lower than last month, 0.49 foot lower than a year ago, 1.33 feet below the average stage of August of the last ten years, 3.68 feet below the high stage of August, 1876, and 0.05 foot below the low stage of August, 1896. They will probably fall 0.2 foot during September.

Lake Erie is 0.13 foot lower than last month, 0.60 foot lower than a year ago, 1.08 feet below the average stage of August of the last ten years, 2.49 feet below the high stage of August, 1876, and 0.24 foot above the low stage of August, 1895. It will probably fall 0.3 foot during September.

Lake Ontario is 0.35 foot lower than last month, 0.86 foot lower than a year ago, 1.45 feet lower than the average stage of August of the last ten years 3.07 feet below the high stage of August, 1862, and 0.84 foot above the low stage of August, 1895. It will probably fall 0.4 foot during September.

PUBLISHES NEW CHARTS OF NORTHERN LAKES.

The Lake Survey office, Detroit, Mich., has just published a revised edition of chart of the northern and northwestern lakes. This chart shows on one sheet all the Great Lakes and their connecting waters, gives principal sailing courses and distances between various ports, and has indicated thereon lines of equal magnetic variation. Tables of dry docks and canals are also shown as well as graphical water level curves from 1860 to date of issue.

FLUCTUATES BUT LITTLE

Wheat Market Is Timid and Conservative From First to Last.

Government Crop Report Shows Spring Wheat Three Points Lower.

Duluth Board of Trade, Sept. 8.—The wheat market had a day of which the chief feature was its featurelessness. Trading was light and fluctuations were confined within an exceedingly narrow range. Duluth September wheat closed at a gain of ¼c, its close being $1.04½ asked, but December had a slight fractional loss. Duluth September got no higher than $1.04½ and no lower than $1.04¼. Some of the markets showed slight losses and others slight gains in wheat. Durum oats and corn each lost ¼c. Rye and barley closed the same.

Just as the market closed came the government report, for which grain brokers have been eagerly looking. The condition of spring wheat was shown to be 56.7, or 3 points less than a month ago; all wheat, 68.8; corn, 70.3.

The wheat market up to noon today was conservative in the extreme. Seldom have the fluctuations been within so narrow an range. Duluth September opened at yesterday's closing price of $1.04¼ asked. The highest it reached during the morning was $1.04⅝ and the lowest was $1.04¼. Duluth September durum, which closed yesterday at $1.04¼ bid, opened today at $1.04⅜ asked, and later was quoted at $1.04¾, $1.04⅜ asked and $1.04 asked. Everybody seemed to be holding back for the government crop report for the month of August. This was expected just at the close of the session.

The wheat advances from Europe were rather bearish. London and Paris both closed lower. The English crop was reported to be larger than was expected and of very fine quality. Russian offerings were larger and the damage to Indian wheat was said to be less than was thought. However, the rainy weather through the Northwest and reports of frost in Canada had a bullish tendency.

Flax, which has been going almost steadily upward for many days, showed a decidedly downward tendency today. September, which close yesterday at $2.62, sold today at $2.61, $2.62 and $2.61. October and November both slumped heavily. Before noon October had fallen from yesterday's closing price of $2.44 asked to $2.35 asked and November had just as great a decline.

All this means that there is more flax on the market. The new crop is arriving. Today there were six cars of inspected flax on the track, against two a year ago. Flax was freely offered and that pulled it down. Sales were more numerous than they have been at any time this month. In spite of unfavorable weather for the harvesting of flax, the farmers are sending in reports that they have it for sale. Such advices are coming in from Minnesota and North Dakota farms. Still, the offerings are not in anything like the volume they will have when the weather becomes more favorable for thrashing. Farmers, as a rule, do not like to offer their flax for sale until they get it thrashed. It is expected that the price of flax will take quite a drop when the thrashing becomes more general.

More cars of grain were received at Duluth today than have been received at any time this month. Up to closing time, the estimate was 490, mostly wheat, but also including a great deal of barley.

Broomhall wired from Liverpool: "The wheat market at the opening was influenced by the late strength in America yesterday and the strong closing in Buenos Ayres and values were ⅛d to ⅜d higher. London was an early buyer of futures in this market with shorts nervous. There were no cargoes off coast or awaiting orders and holders were firm with Russian offers light and a continued good demand from the Continent. Following the opening there was a further advance of ⅛@¼d. Later and during the remainder of the morning profit taking developed and prices lost ¼d closing ¼d to ⅜d higher. Our estimate for world's shipments this week was bearish and expectations are for larger Russian shipments with India shipments in excess of expectations. There was a small local inquiry for both cargo and parcels and spot markets were generally half lower. At 1:30 p. m. the market was easy and unchanged to ¼d lower than yesterday.

"Corn—Opened unchanged and continued so during the morning session. The market was neglected."

CHICAGO MARKET.

Bearish Cables Make the Wheat Market Weak.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—Bearish cables this morning made the wheat market here weak. Liverpool sent word of a probable increase in Russian shipments, and predicted that forwardings from India would be larger than had been looked for. Supplier from the Argentine proved also quite liberal. Besides, there was disappointment here that outside buying, though improved, was not so great as many traders had expected, whereas offerings were free. The opening was 1@⅞c lower. December started at 96⅝c to 96¾@96⅞c, a drop of ⅛@¼c to ⅜c, rallied to 97⅛c and declined to 96⅞c.

Perfect weather for thrashing in Canada held prices down. Moreover, dealers were much inclined to await the government report due after the close. The final tone was easy with December ⅛@¼c net lower at 96¾@96⅝c.

Denials that the French import duty had been abolished caused a heavy tone in corn. Trade was decidedly slow. December opened a shade lower to a like amount up at 63⅞@64c and dropped to 63¾c.

Lack of demand eased the market still more. The close was at 63½@63⅝c for December a net loss of ⅜c.

Oats sagged with other grain. There was a shortlived rally, however, on account of a few longs trying to reinstate lines. December started ¼c off at 46c, touched 46¼c, and then declined to 45@46c.

A rather light run of hogs kept provisions steady notwitstanding that sales by pit traders seemed somewhat lively. First transactions were 5c lower to 2½c up with January deliverys $16.25 for pork, $9.45 for lard and $8.47½ for ribs.

DECLINES IN STOCKS

Drop to Within Small Fraction of Lowest Figures of Year.

Heaviest Selling of Day Follows Publication of Crop Report.

New York, Sept. 8.—The decline in stocks was continued in the early trading today. Several new low records for the year were made including Baltimore & Ohio, which receded ¾ to 96¼; Denver & Rio Grande preferred and Missouri Pacific, each of which lost ½. Canadian Pacific fell back 1¾, Southern Pacific and Great Northern preferred 1 and most of the other market leaders large fractions.

Prices of stocks were bid up on the bullish construction placed upon the cotton ginning report, which showed that twice as much cotton had been ginned as in the similar period last year. Fresh sales of stocks met the recovery in prices, and the list, which had rebounded in many instances to above yesterday's closing was forced back nearly to the low level. United States steel declined to 69.

Movements of stocks were unsettled and the tone of the market was feverish during the morning. A renewal of yesterday's selling gave the list a heavy appearance, but this influence was at times offset by sharp rallies, and prices swerved back and forth irregularly.

Uncertainty as to the character of the government crop report and the copper producers' statement to be issued later in the day was largely responsible for the unwillingness of the traders to take a decided stand.

After Canadian Pacific had been depressed 2 points below yesterday's closing, the market took a vigorous upturn. Union Pacific rallied 1⅜ from the lowest, and Canadian Pacific, Southern Pacific, Reading, Lehigh Valley, Northern Pacific and Great Northern preferred 1. United States Steel got back to yesterday's close and the active stocks as a rule, more than made up their earlier losses.

Prices, however, were poorly held at the higher levels, the list sagging again before midday. Bonds were easy.

The market closed weak. The heaviest selling of the day began on the publication of the government crop figures. Most of the active stocks sold 1@1⅜ below yesterday's closing, placing them within a small fraction of the lowest of the year. There was a quick rebound from this level, but the market was feverish and unsettled at the recovery and soon gave way again.

The Cotton Market.

New York, Sept. 8.—The cotton market opened steady at a decline of 3 points on October, but generally 1 point higher and sold 9 to 12 points above the closing figures of yesterday during the first few minutes on bull support and covering.

The census report showing 771,415 bales ginned to Sept. 1 proved larger than expected and was about 300,000 bales above any previous record, but the bulls evidently argued that the steadiness of Southern spot markets indicated that the huge early movement had already been disposed of, and there was an active demand from the leading bull brokers at the opening. Liverpool was about as due. Later the market sold off from the best under realizing.

Spot closed quiet, steady, 20 points higher. Middling uplands, 11.90; middling gulf, 12.15. Sales, 150 bales.

Futures closed barely steady. Closing bids: September, 11.65; October, 11.47; November, 11.53; December, 11.03; January, 11.50; February, 11.62; March, 11.70; April, 11.73; May, 11.80; June, 11.74; July, 11.77.

London Stocks.

London, Sept. 8.—American securities opened steady and a fraction lower today. Later light covering carried a few stocks above parity. At noon the market was steady with prices ranging from ¼ above to ⅜ below yesterday's New York closing.

Midway Horse Market.

Minnesota Transfer, St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 8.—Barrett & Zimmerman report: All classes of horses met with good call, shipments being made to Nashua, Iowa; Drummond and Athens, Wis.; Swaterla, Crookston and Duluth, Minn. Three carload of logging horses were among the day's sales. Mules were quiet. This was the best day the market has seen since the spring season.

MINNESOTA HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

SUNDAY MEETING IS TO DECIDE WHETHER I. C. MEN WILL STRIKE

Some of the Union Officials Are Said to Favor Walkout.

Executive Board of Nine International Bodies Will Meet.

President McCreary Among Those Who Urge Drastic Action.

Chicago, Sept. 9.—International union officials will neither sanction nor disapprove a strike of Illinois Central shopmen before next Tuesday at the earliest, according to a statement made today by W. F. Kramer, chairman of the board that has the situation under consideration. They will canvass the re-check now being taken on the strike votes before they take any definite action. The re-check official report probably will not be in before Monday night.

Chicago, Sept. 9.—Whether the Illinois Central railroad shopmen will strike because of the refusal of President Markham to recognize their recently formed federation will, it is said, be decided tomorrow afternoon at a meeting of the executive board of the nine international trade associations involved.

Several officers of the federation, have, it is said, been in favor of a strike ever since the railroad refused to grant their demands, but a number of other interested labor chiefs, including influential members of the international unions, are counselling peace at this time and it is said will do everything in their power to prevent a walkout.

The actual number of Illinois Central employes involved in the dispute is said to be 6,074 including machinists and helpers, blacksmiths, sheet metal workers and helpers, painters and helpers, blacksmiths and helpers, boilermakers and helpers, steamfitters and helpers, car repairers, car cleaners, car inspectors and laborers.

Kramer Wants Peace.

Secretary W. F. Kramer of the International Association of Machinists, Secretary William H. Davies of the International Association of Steamfitters, and Philip Moran of the executive board of the federation of Illinois Central employes, are said to be among

NIGHT PRACTICE WITH COAST GUNS

War Department Has Ordered Special Work for Defense.

Washington, Sept. 9.—Realizing that in time of war a foreign foe, under cloak of darkness, might creep close to the coast line of the United States and destroy the coast defenses, the war department has planned a program of extensive night target practice exercises for the coast artillery corps.

One of the biggest drills will be held at Fort Terry, N. Y., from Sept. 15 to 21. The coast defense soldiers there will fire at a moving target, 10 by 24 feet, towed far out into Long Island sound by a tug. The target will be found by mammoth searchlights, and the projectiles, fired from three-inch guns, will be equipped with tracers specially designed to show the trajectory of a shell and aid the gun crews in accurately aiming the rifles.

The navy for some time has been drilling its gunners in night firing, but in the past the army has given the matter only intermittent attention. This policy has now been changed and the exercises at Fort Terry will later be followed by similar practice at Fort Caswell, N. C.

LABOR UNIONS ASK MUNICIPAL MARKETS.

Rock Island, Ill., Sept. 9.—The Tri-City Federation of Labor has petitioned the city councils of Rock Island and Moline, Ill., and Davenport, Iowa, to pass ordinances establishing municipal markets, following the plan introduced successfully at Des Moines, Iowa.

STUDENTS SING AS TOBACCO STOCK BURNS.

Asheville, N. C., Sept. 9.—With students, faculty and citizens praying and singing, the last stock of tobacco and cigarettes in Marshill, N. C., was burned on the campus of Marshill college yesterday as the climax of an anti-cigarette crusade conducted by Rev. C. W. Reese of Marion, Ill.

The college students had adopted resolutions calling on the merchants of the town to give up the sale of tobacco and cigarettes, and raised money to reimburse them for their sacrificed stocks.

"WIDOW'S" HUSBAND IS TOO LATE FOR OBSEQUIES.

San Francisco, Sept. 9.—Mrs. George Webber of Fort Richmond, Cal., called upon the coroner yesterday.

"We made a mistake in holding that funeral," she said, "my husband came home today."

Funeral services were held a month ago over a body found in the bay and identified by Mrs. Webber as that of her husband. When Webber returned he said he had wandered away in a dazed condition and did not know where he had been.

HE WILL TRY TO FLY FROM COAST TO COAST

BOB FOWLER.

New York, Sept. 9.—Bob Fowler, 28 years old, is the first man to offer himself for the proposed aeroplane flight from coast to coast for a $50,000 prize. It is estimated the trip will cost $35,000. Fowler will use a Wright bi-plane equipped with an automobile motor.

OPEN CITY TO 400 CHINESE

New York Will Entertain Officers and Crew of Warship.

Unrestricted Shore Liberty Will Be Given to the Sailors.

New York, Sept. 9.—Four hundred pig-tailed sailors holidaying along Broadway and the Bowery and in the narrow streets of New York's Chinatown will furnish a novelty for New Yorkers next week. They will arrive some time tomorrow on the Chinese cruiser Hai Chi, and for a week will have shore leave and the freedom of the city, as a courtesy not offered to the ordinary subjects of China.

There was a report current when the approach of the Hai Chi was first announced that the crew would not be permited to land on American soil because of the Chinese immigration law.

H. R. Sisson, the Chinese inspector of the local immigration bureau, set this report at rest promptly by declaring that he would not molest the visiters. His authority, he said, did not extend over Chinese subjects on a war vessel.

No Limit on Shore Liberty.

Nothing that could be construed as a curtailment of the shore liberty of the Hai Chi's men would be allowed for a moment by the government, he added.

Accordingly the Oriental visitors will get all the courtesies and privileges and entertainment that are usually the joy of foreign sailormen in the Ameri-

WILL UPHOLD THE OFFICIALS

Illinois Central Men at New Orleans Will Await Orders.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 9.—Several hundred members of the local branch of the Illinois Central federation of employes, it was announced today, have reiterated their determination to stand behind their officers and the national federation in whatever course is taken in the controversy with the railroad company.

Preparations have been completed for a mass meeting of 1,000 or more employes tonight to hear important communications from officers in Chicago.

INCREASE IN THE UNFILLED ORDERS

Steel Corporation Has 3,695,985 Tons to Make Up.

New York, Sept. 9.—The United States Steel corporation announced today that the unfilled tonnage on the books on Aug. 31 was 3,695,985 tons against 3,554,485 tons on July 31.

YEGGS BLOW SALOON SAFE

Get About $250 Out of Burglary at Fisher, Minn.

Do Clean Job and Get Away in Automobile, Unnoticed.

Crookston, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Early this morning yeggmen broke into the saloon of Albert Jance at Fisher, fourteen miles west of here, blew the safe door completely off and got away with about $250, without leaving a trace excepting some automobile tracks not far from the depot, which cannot be accounted for except on the theory that the yeggmen had a machine to get them away. No one heard the explosion. It was evidently a clean job by professionals.

The Great Northern depot window was also broken, but the yeggmen took nothing from there and it is believed they were frightened away.

The job was not discovered until the bartender went to open up at 6 o'clock this morning.

Four men who arrived in Fisher on the 7:45 train last night from Grand Forks are supposed to have done the job. Deputy Sheriff Kelly is at Fisher working on the case. The village marshal at Fisher went to bed at 1 a. m., leaving the coast clear.

The burglars, cast aside about $100 in checks which they found in the cash drawer. They carried the cash drawer to the railroad yards before removing its contents. The saloon was badly wrecked.

SENTENCES DIEGLE TO THREE YEARS

Ohio Judge Passes on Case of Legislative Bribe Helper.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 9.—Rodney Diegle, former sergeant-at-arms of the Ohio state senate, recently convicted of aiding and abetting in the alleged bribery of State Senator L. R. Andrews, today was sentenced to serve three years in the penitentiary.

The offense for which Diegle was convicted was charged to him following the disclosures of alleged grafting among the state legislators last winter. Diegle was alleged to have been the "go-between" for the assemblymen.

With Diegle, nine other members of the legislature and one attache of the senate were indicted. They were Senators Crawford, Andrews, Huffman, Cetone and Dean; Representatives Lowrey, Nye, Calvey and Evans, and Stanley Harrison, assistant sergeat-at-arms of the senate.

Representative Evans pleaded guilty and was fined $500, and Representative Nye was acquitted. The others have not yet been tried.

Diegle's sentence was suspended until Sept. 18, to allow the case to be carried to the circuit court. He was released.

Sugar Prices Go Higher.

New York, Sept. 9.—All grades of refined sugar were advanced 10 cents a hundred pounds today.

JOHN JACOB ASTOR AND MISS MADELINE FORCE WED AT LAST

Congregational Pastor of Providence Performs the Ceremony.

Son of Bridegroom Is Best Man—Party Sail on the Noma.

Colonel Gets Wedding Present of $30,000 Suit for Death of Employe.

Newport, R. I., Sept. 9.—Col. John Jacob Astor and Madeline Talmage Force, both of New York, were married early today at Beechwood, the bridegroom's Newport house. The bride was given away by her father, William Force.

Beechwood was beautifully decorated with flowers in honor of the event, and the Noma, the steam yacht on which the wedding party made the trip from New York, was a veritable floating floral bower.

The Noma arrived in the harbor between 7 and 8 o'clock this morning, and Vincent Astor hurried to be the first person to board the yacht.

Sued For $30,000.

He was beaten in the race, however, by a deputy sheriff, who served Col. Astor with a writ of summons in a suit brought by Mrs. Bridget McCrohan and her children, in which damages of $30,000 are asked on account of the accidental electrocution of Mrs. McCrohan's oldest son, Eugene, while working at Beechwood in July, 1910.

McCrohan was inspecting the telephone wires in the basement of the TROOPS SUBDUE FOOD COST RIOT

French Government Sends Soldiers to Scenes of Disorder.

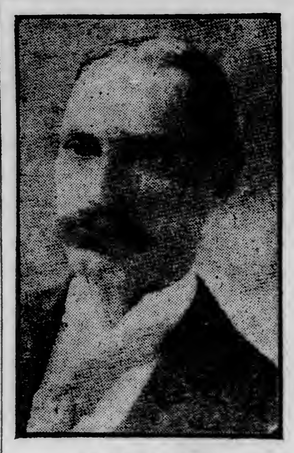

Brest, France, Sept. 9.—A fierce battle occurred here today when a large mob of cheaper food manifestants engaged the troops. At least forty persons were injured.

Soldiers Sent North.

Paris, Sept. 9.—The government is sending additional troops to the northern departments of France to deal with the cheap food demonstrations which of late have instigated by revolutionary societies.

Reports that women were parading the streets in protest against the high cost of food, and that the rougher element was engaged in plundering shops were received today from Brest, Valenciennes and Roubaix.

LA FOLLETTE IS JUST LYING LOW

Will Not Come Out for Presidency Until Congress Meets.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 9.—Upon excellent authority it is learned that Senator La Fallotte will wait until after congress convenes, early in December, before announcing his candidacy for president.

Although leading progressive leaders throughout the country have been coming out in interviews indorsing him for the presidency, he will avoid precipitous haste to answer their call, preferring to wait until after President Taft has submitted his message.

Primarily, the senator wants to find out, it is said, what position the president will assume toward what are known as the progressive policies, the president's suggestions as to further revision of the tariff, and his general stand on departmental and administration issues.

It is understood that Senator La Follette's failure to attack the executive in his recent Pennsylvania speech sprang from a desire to wait until his formal announcement of his candidacy shall have been made.

Public Feeling Over Crime Runs High About Richmond, Va.

Prisoner Says Verdict Was "Fearfully Unfair," and Blames Girl.

Chesterfield, Va., Sept. 9.—A heavy guard patrolled the little stone Chesterfield jail last night, and today the guardsmen were the only persons Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., convicted last night of the murder of his wife, saw as he looked out upon the pastoral scene.

The quiet landscape of Virginia fields that met his eyes was unused to the excitement of a murder trial, and today it was contentedly deserted in simple peacefulness. Rough-boarded wagons rumbled along the sandy road; several cows grazed peacefully near the little jail; on the lawn in front of the courthouse and jail a negro was leisurely engaged in removing scraps of newspapers, and the remains of luncheons hastily eaten on the green by the crowds of days before.

Ate Breakfast in Silence.

Jailer Cogbill brought the prisoner his breakfast and he ate it in silence. His thin, pallid face wore a flickering smile as he gazed through the grated window at two newspaper men lolling in the grass.

Sometime today, it is expected, Beattie will be taken to the state penitentiary in Richmond to await his electrocution on Nov. 24, or the granting of a new trial by the court of appeals, which convenes early in that month.

Many lawyers who today discussed the possibility of a writ of error were of the opinion that it would not be granted. The court of appeals, they asserted, set a precedent in the famous McCue case of 1904.

No Surprise at Verdict.

Public feeling over the crime still runs high in this section and in Richmond, where Beattie lives. The verdict was received with little surprise by the community. The loud voiced speech of L. O. Wendenburg, the prosecuting attorney, still rang in the ears of the people today as they talked of the case.

Expressions of sympathy were heard everywhere for the aged father of the prisoner, a prominent merchant and highly respected citizen. His grief today was heartrending. The affection between the father and son, evidenced during the trial as the parent related his story, on the witness stand, has grown intensely since the early death of the boy's mother.

It was the theory of the prosecution

ZEPPELIN FLYER REACHES BERLIN

Arrival With Passengers Regarded as Commonplace Event.

Berlin, Sept. 9.—The Zeppelin dirigible balloon Schwaben, with six passengers on board, arrived over Berlin at 11:45 o'clock this morning, thereby completing its 350-mile journey from Baden-Baden. The big airship encircled the city of Berlin and then proceeded to Potsdam, where it made a successful landing.

The Schwaben left Baden-Baden on the morning of Sept. 6 and arrived at Gotha on the afternoon of the same day. After a two dayes stop the dirigible ascended at 6:15 o'clock this morning on the final stage of its trip.

The moderate interest aroused by the arrival of the air vessel was in striking contrast to the enthusiasm displayed by the people on a former occasion when a Zeppelin dirigible balloon visited Berlin. The craft will sail from Potsdam tomorrow.

MADISON GIRL'S BODY IS FOUND, MURDERED, IN LAKE MONONA

Seven-Year-Old Child May Have Been Slain for Revenge.

No Evidence of Brutal Treatment Borne By the Corpse.

Supposed Kidnaping From Bed Turns to Tragic Mystery.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 9.—The body of little Annie Lemberger, aged 7 years, who was supposed to have been kidnaped, was found in Lake Monona early today, murdered. It was only about ten feet from shore, near the Keyes sandpit, just at the south city limits.

There was no visible evidence of violence so far as a superficial examination disclosed, beyond, perhaps, a slight laceration of one ear. A discoloration on the neck, however, if from unnatural causes, may indicate that the child was strangled.

The little body was entirely nude and was discolored, having been in the water several days.

The body was found by George Younger, a cement worker living at South Madison. There was a peaceful expression on the face of the child at the undertaking rooms, where it was brought by the police ambulance in charge of Capt. Harry Davenport.

Murdered For Revenge?

The most plausible theory is murder for revenge. It was the crime of no degenerate. The child apparently was not criminally assaulted nor brutalized in any way. This is the opinion of Chief of Police Shaughnessey and others who inspected the body. At that time, before 7 o'clock, no doctor had made an examination.

The child was stolen from her sleeping room at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Lemberger, early on last Wednesday morning. The child then was clad only in her night garment, but even this was gone. Long, brown hair streamed down wet and bedraggled from the little head.

No Weights on Body.

The body was found about a mile from the railroad bridge across the bay. If not, then the child was taken out in a boat and thrown overboard and drifted near to shore. It is about a mile from the place where the bloodhound left the scent yesterday. No weights were on the body nor was there a rope tied to it.

George Younger, who found the body, will receive the $500 reward. The mayor on Thursday offered a reward of $200 and on Friday, the common council increased this to $500.

Curious Crowd Gathered.

Outside the humble cottage of the Lembergers, in the shadow of the Milwaukee road roundhouse, near West Madison, gathered hundreds of curious and sympathizing people this morning. The police did what they could to keep the crowd from entering the yard and the house.

Inside the little home, a number of

CLAIMS ESTATE OF JAMES KASSON

St. Paul Man's Former Stenographer Says She Was Common Law Wife.

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 9.—Katherine Dalton, secretary of the Seattle Women's club, and official stenographer in a large office building, admits that she is the Katherine Alice Dalton who is suing, in St. Paul, to gain possession of the $500,000 estate of James Kasson, a lumberman, who died last July.

Miss Dalton hitherto has denied vehemently that she was the plaintiff. Miss Dalton, in her suit, alleges that for ten years she was the common law wife of Kasson.

His Common Law Wife.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 9.—James Kasson, the St. Paul lumberman, died last July intestate. His closest heirs are several cousins who immediately laid claim to the estate, which is listed at $150,000, but is said to be worth $500,000. Katherine Dalton of Seattle, who several years ago was employed as a stenographer by Kasson, brought suit in the local probate court to secure the estate, claiming that she was Kasson's common law wife and that the lumberman had introduced her to his friends as such. This, Kasson's friends and relatives here denied. Miss Dalton was represented by Minneapolis attorneys, Miss Dalton, in her suit, alleges that Kasson maintained an establishment for her at Seattle after she left St. Paul.

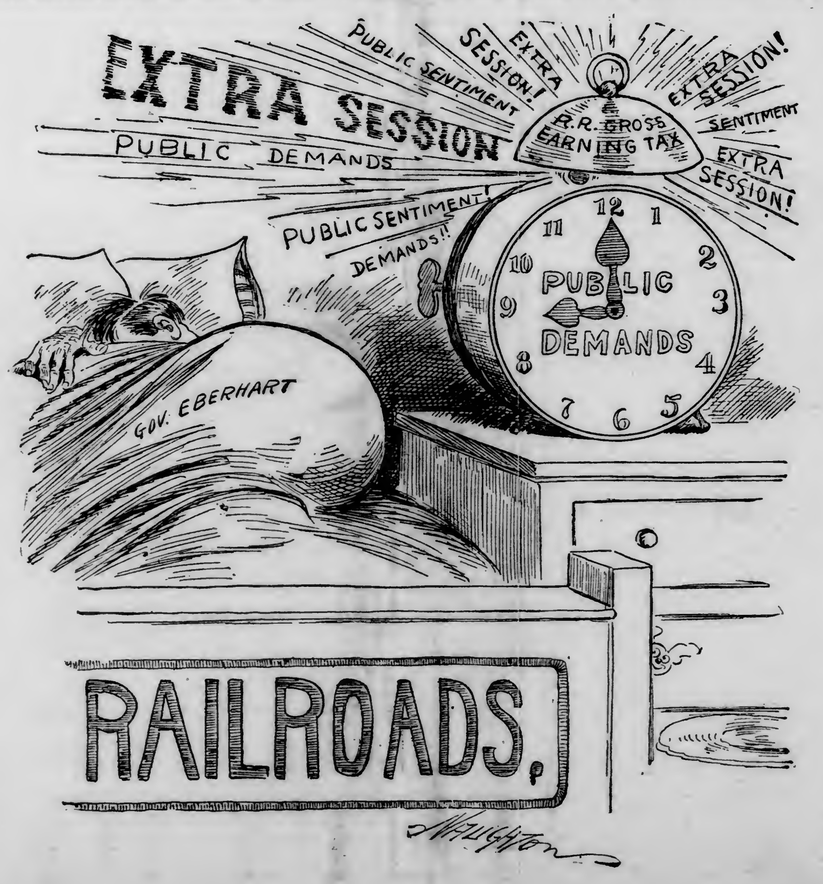

The court appointed three administrators, who are now engaged in making an appraisement of the estate. The case has been continued for several weeks.

SENDS TROOPS TO MELILLA

Spanish Government Sends 5,000 Troops to Morocco Post.

Madrid, Sept. 9.—Five thousand Spanish troops have received orders from the ministry of war to reinforce the Spanish garrison at Melilla, on the Riff coast of Morocco. The government's action is due to the constant reports received from the commander of the garrison that the natives continue to annoy the soldiers by their attacks on the Spanish outposts.

can metropolis. Trips to Coney Island, a visit to Grant's tomb, a theater party and a big feast or two probably will be provided for them in the usual course with their fellow countrymen in this city as hosts, headed by the Chinese chamber of commerce and the students organizations.

Will Entertain Officers.

The Hai Chi's officers will be more formally entertained by American officers at the Brooklyn navy yard and by army men at Governor's Island. Both officers and crew will have a chance to be impressed by three or four big ships of Uncle Sam's navy which are at the navy yard, and on Monday they may see the first rivet driven into the keel plate of the giant warship New York, destined to be the biggest thing of its kind in the naval world.

SUNDAY MEETING IS TO DICIDE WHETHER I. C. MEN WILL STRIKE

those who are using their influence to prevent radical action.

J. F. McCreary, president of the federated body, is one of those leading the movement for a strike, and emphatically declares that a walkout cannot be averted in view of the attitude of the railroad officials. He is supported in this position by several members of the executive board of the federation, who insist that definite action be taken at the meeting scheduled to be held here tomorrow afternoon.

Men Not Unanimous.

It was learned today that, despite the statement of President McCreary of the federation, all the local unions have not voted in favor of a strike. President Meehan of the local machinists' union at the Burnside shops declares that his men have not voted to strike and are not likely to do so in the near future. Word was received that the members of the executive board of the International Association of Machinists will arrive in Chicago from San Francisco this evening. This organization will be strongly represented at tomorrow's conference, and is said to be prepared [illegible] immediate radical action.

The conser[illegible]or chiefs admit, however, th[illegible] majority of the unions invol[illegible]e to strike they will join in [illegible]ut.

BAND [illegible]ERT AT LINCOLN PARK

"Old Kentucky" Pickaninny Band Will Perform Under Auspices of Herald.

Providing the weather man does not insist on stretching his joke out another day, and allows the sun to shine the "Old Kentucky" pickaninny band will play at Lincoln park Sunday afternoon. The concert is given under the auspices of The Herald and will be the last Sunday afternoon park concert of the present season.

The pickaninny band has been a feature of "In Old Kentucky" for many years. It is led by Maj. John Powell, called the Black Sousa.

It is known throughout the country as one of the best musical organizations of the kind in the country. It is composed of boys and young men who know how to get music out of their instruments. They play the sort of music that everybody enjoys hearing.

The pickaninny band has appeared in Duluth parks other years under the auspices of The Herald and has always provided an enjoyable program of popular music. Following the concert the band will be heard at the Lyceum in the evening.

RECEPTION AT CLOQUET.

Given to Forty Teachers of the Public Schools.

Cloquet, Minn., Sept., 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Last night in the parlors of Hotel Cloquet, a reception was given to the forty-five teachers of the public school. In the receiving line were the city superintendent of schools, Peter Olsen, and wife, and Misses Lena Archibald and Tillie Mumpy, pioneer teachers in Cloquet, both having been on the teaching force of the public schools here for upwards of twenty years. Besides the school teachers, were included in the guests, the members of the school board and their wives.

The rooms where the reception was given were decorated with school banners, purple and white, the school colors, and with a profusion of red and white carnations. The program included a piano solo by Miss Clara Grace Draper, the musical instructor in the schools, an address by B. Fairbrother of the high schol faculty, a piano solo by Miss Serum, a vocal solo by Clarence Bloomer, one of the high school teachers who spent the summer with the Redpath Lyceum bureau in a tour of the middle states, and who is conceded to have an unusually pleasing voice. Light refreshments were served.

MAD MONK PREDICTS RENEWAL OF POGROM.

Tsaritsyn, Russia, Sept. 9.—Heldorus, the "Mad Monk of Tsaritsyn," has publicly declared that attacks on Jews and the Russian intelligent clases would be commenced after the holding of the forthcoming congress of the Black Hundreds.

The declaration of the parish priest, whose fantastic methods have startled the whole Volga region, has created an inpression of semi-panic in this city. Talk of a probable massacre of Jews is current at the bazars.

Company Will Disband.

With this evening's performance of "The Wolf" the summer season of stock playing which has been presented at the Lyceum by Gus A. Forbes and a most capable company, will close. "The Wolf," a most interesting play from the pen of Eugene Walters is being given in a fine manner by the members of this company. The performance will be given tomorrow in Hibbing and the company will then disband.

Heavy Vote in Virginia.

Richmond, Va., Sept. 9.—By majorities of 32,055 and 6,250, respectively, Senators Martin and Swanson are slated to succeed themselves in the federal senate over Congressmen Jones and Glass in the Democratic primary. The vote polled totals about 85,000, which is considerably above the normal figures. Senator Martin will be elected by the general assembly next January for his fourth full term, beginning March 4, 1913.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR NOTES

The Christian Endeavor topic for the coming Sunday has been selected by the united society for special attention of the honorary members of the societies, which includes the pastors of the various churches, the Sunday school superintendents, and the host of former active endeavorers who have advanced into the active service of the church itself. The topic will be "My Denomination, Roots, Trunks, and Branches," and the name itself suggests the thought desired to emphasize. "My Denomination at Work for Our Country," will be one of the themes that will be discussed. Reference is found in Acts xx: 17-35.

As the Christian Endeavor movement has grown with years there has become an increasingly large number of honorary members, once leaders in the Christian Endeavor societies but now passed into the offices of deacons, elders, trustees, etc., of the various churches to which their Christian Endeavor organizations belonged and for which positions they there received their training, and many of these members have desired to keep up their connection with the Young People's society so that the directors of the united society have now recognized them by setting apart this special service for their memory. Many of the local societies will observe the occasion with appropriate services:

The First Presbyterian society will meet at 6:45 p. m. in the lecture room of the church. The meeting is to be in charge of Robert Miller and will take the form of a special "Quick Hour" meeting. Rev. Robert Yost will speak and special music has been provided. Under the present leadership this society is endeavoring to lay especial emphasis upon the spiritual development of its members and a meeting of this kind is in line with this idea.

The Second Presbyterian society will meet at 7 p. m. in the church. The leader for the evening will be Ralph Page.

The Glen Avon Presbyterian society will meet in charge of Miss Marjorie Bailey, at 6:45 p. m. in the Christian Endeavor room.

The Lakeside Presbyterian society will meet as usual at 6 p. m. The meeting will be a special rally for the beginning of the fall work and it is expected that large attendance will result. The society has arranged for a male quartet, and several solos will be included in the program.

Westminster Presbyterian society will meet at 6:45 p. m. in charge of the prayer meeting committee. The meeting will be held in the church parlors.

Union Church Disciples society will meet at 7 p. m. in the Knights of Pythias' hall. Arthur Manthey will be the leader.

The regular Sunday afternoon service at the poor farm will be in charge of the First Christian society. It is expected that a large party will attend.

Monday evening, Sept. 11, the Union Church Disciples society will hold its regular monthly business meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ellis MacAllister, 408 East Fifth street.

Tuesday evening, Sept. 12, at the First Presbyterian church the local union executive committee will meet for transaction of business and discussion of plans and methods of work for the coming season. It is expected that as this is really the first meeting before the busiest time of year in Christian Endeavor circles that every member of the committee, which includes presidents and secretaries of the local societies will attend.

Friday evening, Sept. 29 the local union will hold its quarterly rally at a place to be decided upon at the meeting next Tuesday evening. At this meeting the annual election of officers for the ensuing year will take place, the report of the convention delegate Miss Annie M. Hicken, will be presented and other matters of interest will be taken up. Judging by the numbers of Christian Endeavorers that have turned out to the rallies of the local organization during the past year and from the number of visiting delegates from the range towns, the meeting should be one of great interest and enthusiasm.

Lighting Talks

NUMBER 61 DULUTH, SEPTEMBER 9, 1911

Municipal Trading

The business of a city government is to govern, and not to trade. The buying and selling of commodities or service is no part of government; and the setting up of a rivalry in trade, retail or wholesale, with an established industry is not a proper governmental function.

If YOU are a merchant how would you like to have your city establish a municipal grocery, or butcher shop, or bakery, or clothing store, or shoe shop—TO TAKE YOUR TRADE AWAY FROM YOU?

If YOU are a banker how would you like to have your city set up a rival bank and proceed to entice your customers away?

If YOU are a manufacturer how would you like your city to build a municipal factory to make the same kind of goods you make and enter into competition to injure YOUR business?

If YOU had invested your money in any Electric Lighting business would you like it any better to have your city build a municipal electric plant and straightway try to take YOUR customers for Electric Light and Power away from you?

Yet the advocates of a municipal electric plant admit that such a plant in Duluth would compete with the Duluth-Edison Electric Company for the lighting of houses, stores, shops, factories, public buildings, as well as the streets.

More than that, they urge that a municipal plant must so compete to the injury of this company's business because otherwise a municipal plant cannot succeed at all.

These men will tell you, if they are honest and if they know what they are talking about, that if a municipal plant cannot make a profit on the sale of Electricity to private consumers it would be folly to build such a plant. Even they cannot get around the FACT that the cost of building and operating a municipal plant simply for street lighting alone would be absolutely prohibitive.

So they would have this City use for purposes of trade with private individuals (and in harmful competition with an established industry) money taken from the people by taxation—and which money can be so taken legally only for public purposes.

Do YOU call that fair play, or a "square deal" to the company that has provided for Duluth an Electrical service that is not surpassed anywhere in the world, and by its low rates has made Electric Light THE POOR MAN'S LIGHT?

Now, remember this: A municipal plant cannot make a profit on the sale of Electricity to private consumers because this company can and will meet any rate such a plant could offer—and the lower that rate goes the higher taxes must go to pay the cost and the losses of the municipal plant.

Do YOU call that a square deal to the people who have to pay the taxes? Let your alderman know what YOU think about this folly of a needless municipal plant. Read the next Lighting Talk, in next Tuesday's Herald.

DEFECTIVE PAGE

NO TEARS NOR BLOOD

Of all industries mining is the CLEANEST, FAIREST AND SAFEST.

Nature yields her hoarded treasure as readily to one person as to another, exacting the same conditions from all. Nature is no respecter of persons and therefore mining is the most absolutely fair industry of all.

There are no tears nor blood on the wealth taken from the earth. Every dollar digged from the mine is a dollar added to the wealth of the world, and for this reason mining is the cleanest kind of enterprise.

There are fewer mining failures than there are among farmers, merchants or bankers. Mining is safe because its success does not depend upon climatic conditions, and because it is less subject than all industries to "corners" monopolies and those man-made conditions which act adversely upon the human race. The miner, being a creator to the extent that he takes from nature the wealth intended for man and places it in circulation, cannot be considered otherwise than a public benefactor. TO BE A MINER SHOULD BE A MATTER OF PRIDE TO ANY RIGHT THINKING PERSON.

By mining is not meant stock-jobbing or promoting, BUT MINING — the developing of ore bodies, and the taking from the ground actual riches for the world.

KAMLOOPS IS A MINING INDUSTRY ABSOLUTELY FREE FROM ALL STOCK-JOBBING AND PROMOTION FEATURES. The KAMLOOPS people got their mines and developed them with their own money, to a stage where the ore could be taken from the ground and sold at a profit to the smelter. KAMLOOPS stockholders paid alike for their stock and no stock in the company has been sold below par.

Now that the company has decided to have its own smelter and to make other improvements at its mines, it solicits the co-operation of those who may have money to invest in a great and safe enterprise.

IT DOES NOT ASK THEM TO JOIN IN THE WORK ON ANY OTHER BASIS THAN ALL THE REST CAME IN ON; but it says to those who have confidence in KAMLOOPS, "COME IN ON AN EQUAL BASIS WITH US. WE WILL AT LEAST GIVE YOU A SQUARE DEAL."

PASTOR HAS RESIGNED

Rev. J. A. Bjerke Accepts Call to Church at Park River.

Built Up Strong Congregation During Seven Years in West Duluth.

Rev. John A. Bjerke, pastor of Our Savior's Norwegian Lutheran church, Fifty-seventh avenue west and Wadena street, has resigned.

His farewell sermon will be preached at the West Duluth church on Sunday, Oct. 29. He will leave shortly afterwards for Park River, N. D., where he will take charge of Our Savior's Norwegian Lutheran church of that city.

Rev. Mr. Bjerke has served as pastor at Our Savior's church for seven years. It was his first charge, as he came here fresh from the theological seminary at St. Anthony Park, St. Paul. At the time he took charge, the congregation had about 200 members. The congregation has grown steadily since and now the membership is about 400. According to Rev. M. Bjerke, during the seven years of his pastorate, $9,000 has been spent for improvements to the church. A new foundation was placed under the structure and the interior was remodeled and enlarged. In fact the office was nearly rebuilt. Two years ago, Rev. Mr. Bjerke extended his work beyond West Duluth, and at Proctor organized the Bethlehem Norwegian Lutheran church there. The congregation of the new charge is growing steadily and promises to support a handsome church building some day.

Rev. Mr. Bjerke assigns no specific reason for his resignation, except that he thinks that a change would be timely. Outside of his personal relations with members of his congregations, he has no regrets in leaving the work at West Duluth, he says. "The church finances," he said "will be left in good condition. Although we spent $9,000, we are practically free from debt and there would be nothing to handicap the work of a new preacher."

Mr. Bjerke said this morning that the call which he had accepted, the one from the Park River church, was the seventh that he had received from different congregations during his pastorate in West Duluth.

Rev. J. C. Reinertson has been called by the West Duluth church to succeed Rev. Mr. Bjerke and may accept. Rev. Mr. Reinertson, whose charge is at Ostrander, Minn., is in the city this week and tomorrow will preach at the Proctor charge at 8:30 a. m. at the West Duluth church at 10:30 a. m. and also in the evening at the usual hour.

Rev. Mr. Reinertson has not definitely accepted the call. He has been engaged in the work for the past nineteen years and has had several charges, most of them in Minnesota, although he was pastor in some of the Michigan churches.

ASHLAND MAN WILL SUCCEED SCHEVENIUS.

Rev. C. Joranson, pastor of the Norwegian-Danish M. E. church at Ashland, Wis., will succeed Rev. C. W. Schevenius as pastor of Bethany Norwegian-Danish M. E. church, Sixty-fifth avenue west and Polk street.

This was decided upon last week at the annual conference of the Norwegian-Danish M. E. church held at Racine, Wis. It was at this conference that Rev. C. W. Schevenius was elected to a profesosrhip in the theological college of Northwestern university at Evanston, Ill.

Rev. Mr. Schevenius will preach his farewell sermon Sunday and the new pastor will take charge of affairs soon afterwards.

Bitten By Dog.

I. M. Persich told the West Duluth police that he didn't mind being bitten once by a vicious dog, or twice, but that he strenuously objected being "picked on" by a certain cur and asked the authorities for permission to shoot the animal. The dog is said to be owned by a family living in the Italian colony at West Duluth. Persich lives at 5602 Raleigh street.

LAID THEM ASIDE FOR A RAINY DAY.

West Duluth has a thief who has prepared himself for a rainy day.

At least this is the explanation for the finding of a pair of rubber boots and a rainproof coat, hidden back of a Central avenue saloon.

James Smith, saloonkeeper at 214 Central avenue, this morning reported the discovery to the police. The articles were secreted in a barrel in a shed back of Smith's place.

West Duluth Briefs.

Miss Anna Cairns of Shell Lake, Wis., is visiting at the home of relatives.

Mrs. J. F. Lee and daughter of 618 North Fifty-seventh avenue west.

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Murray of 419 North Fifty-fourth avenue west have returned from Burnett, Minn., where they have been visiting relatives for the past week.

Nels Sodahl, a Central avenue photographer, has returned from a trip to the state fair.

Dr. S. C. McCormick and W. F. Bailey of West Duluth have returned from a trip down the lakes on the steamer George W. Perkins.

Miss Lillian Sparks of 106 Sixty-second avenue west was a state fair visitor this week.

Hurst, watch repairing, West Duluth.

For rent—Two furnished rooms; one single, one double. Apply Murray Bros.

At the Asbury M. E. church, Sixtieth avenue west and Raleigh street, services will be held in the morning at 10:30 and in the evening at 8. The pastor, Rev. W. G. Boyle, will speak at the morning service on "Hearing and Doing," and in the evening on "Love." Sunday school will meet at 11:45. J. G. Swan, superintendent. Epworth league will meet at 7 p. m.

Rummage sale opening Tuesday, Sept. 12, at 10 a. m., at 115 Central avenue, next to Green's photo studio, by ladies of Merritt Memorial M. E. church.

Furnished room and board at 829 North Fifty-seventh avenue west.

Chauffeur Arrested.

John McRae, a chauffeur, was arrested yesterday on a charge of violating the traffic ordinance. It was claimed that he had his machine on the wrong side of the street. He pleaded guilty in police court, but sentence was suspended.

Union Organizer Here.

A. C. Mendell, organizer of the Journeymen Barbers' International union, is in the city. He states that he finds conditions throughout the country generally satisfactory and commented upon the great improvements in the city since his last visit. Mr. Mendell said that he had no specific purpose in visiting Duluth.

For Blind-Pigging.

Sophie Divjak and Peter Sedich, arrested at New Duluth on charges of selling liquor without a license, pleaded not guilty when arraigned in police court this morning. Their trials were set for next Tuesday afternoon. Several bottles of whisky were confiscated by the police as evidence.

After Winter Tourists.

D. J. Mullaney, northern passenger agent of the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis Railway company, is in the city today on a business trip. He is here in regard to the tourist business for this winter to Florida. Many people from this part of the country spend the winters in Florida, while a large number of them are interested in lands there.

A chair, go-cart and many other unused things about the house will bring you ready cash, if advertised in the "For Sale" columns of The Herald Want Ads.

Salvation Army Meetings.

Services will be held in the Salvation Army hall, 23 Fifth avenue west, as follows: Tonight at 8 o'clock; Sunday, 3 p. m. and 8 p. m. Salvation meeting subject, "God's Gift to Man." No. 1 corps is in the midst of its harvest festival campaign. Many have responded liberally to the commanding officer's appeal. Solicitors will be in the field the coming week. No money should be given unless the solicitor has the signature of J. D. Clark, adjutant, as fake solicitors have at times worked the field in Duluth.

Band Concert Tomorrow.

If it don't rain the Pickaninny band of "In Old Kentucky" will play at Lincoln park tomorrow afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock, under the auspices of The Herald. The concert will be the last of the season and it is expected a big crowd will be in attendance.

K. of C. Initiation.

The members of Duluth Council, Knights of Columbus, will initiate a large class of candidates tomorrow at their hall, 210 West First street. Visitors are expected from Superior, the range towns and other surrounding towns. The business sessions, which will be held in the morning and afternoon, will be followed in the evening by a smoker, at which a musical program will be given and prominent members of the order will speak.

Fish Were Too Small.

L. P. Schneider was arraigned in police court this morning on a warrant sworn out by Deputy Game Warden G. H. Huseby, charging him with offering white fish below the legal size for sale. He pleaded guilty and got $10 and costs or ten days.

Campaign For Members.

The local homestead of the Brotherhood of American Yeomen has started a campaign to increase its membership and it is expected that when it ends in October about 200 names will have been added to the rolls. The Duluth homestead was organized in this city several months ago and the members are trying to win the state banner which will be awarded to the city getting the largest number of new members.

Bishop Returns.

Bishop James Dow Harrison returned this morning from London, Ontario, where he went last Monday to preach the opening sermon at the triennial session of the senate of the Canadian branch of the Episcopal church. Bishop Morrison arrived there just in time to open the meetings Wednesday, returning after attending the meetings of the first day.

Additional Story.

The Duluth Marine Supply company has let a contract to George H. Lounrberry for an additional story to the warehouse and store which is being erected by Mr. Lounsberry for them at the foot of Fifth avenue west, to replace the old one which was destroyed by fire a few weeks ago. The additional story will cost about $10,000.

New Coffee Warehouse.

The Stone-Ordean-Wells company has leased the entire building at 214 and 216 West Michigan street, formerly occupied by the Sattler Liquor company, and has established its new coffee plant there. The company is employing about thirty-five people at the new industry. The building is three stories and a basement, with a 50-front frontage, and running back to the railroad yards.

Thought to Be Insane.

Mrs. M. B. Harbitt, who collapsed at the union station several weeks ago when her husband failed to meet her at the depot, was taken in charge by the police last night and booked for insanity. She was at the Alvarado hotel and her actions were so strange that the police were called. She will probably be examined in probate court as to her sanity. When Mrs. Harbitt first came to Duluth she came from Cass Lake, where she had been ill. Her husband learned of her plight and hurried to take care of her. His present whereabouts cannot be ascertained.

Says She Is Bankrupt.

A petition in voluntary bankruptcy was filed this morning by Mrs. Ella Fairchild, wife of A. H. Fairchild of Bruno, Minn., with the clerk of the United States court, in which she states that her liabilities amount to $1,066.14, while her assets are $396.15, all of which she claims exempt.

ST. CLOUD MAN IS SHOT DOWN

Adolph Lindenberg Is Mortally Wounded By Thieves.

St. Cloud, Minn., Sept. 9.—Adolph Lindenberg, prominent business man of this city, was fatally shot by two holdup men near his home early today.

Lindenberg was returning from his place of business, and as he stopped to enter the house two men who were in hiding jumped in front of him and at the point of their guns relieved him of $8. After the robbers started to walk away, Lindenberg called for help, and one of the thugs turned and shot him through the stomach.

The injured man was rushed to the hospital, but there is no hope for his recovery.

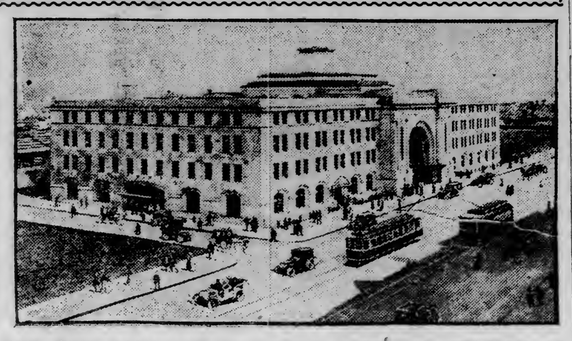

Lindenberg was able to give the officers a fair description of his assailants. Several suspects have been arrested. The search continues.

START RACES AT THE FAIR

Sun Almost Shines on Last Day of Big Exposition.

Receipts Are Approximately $100,000 Under Those of 1910.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—This is the last day of the state fair, and with the sun endeavoring to break through the clouds and no indication of immediate rain, the automobile races were started at the fair grounds this morning. Small crowds were arriving as the first event was started, and it was believed that before the day had ended the largest gathering of the week would be recorded. Aeroplane flights are also scheduled for today.

No horse races are on the card for this afternoon, but the entire day is to be given over to automobile events. Burman, Harroun and other nationally known drivers are appearing.

Receipts Much Less.

At noon the total attendance for the entire week at the state fair was 133,237 smaller than during fair week, 1910. the total receipts last year for admission and grandstand aggregated $210,000. This year the decrease is approximately $100,000. This is based on an estimate of this afternoon's attendance at about 60,000. With this in view it is practically certain that the deficit this year will exceed $50,000.

The 16-foot Old Town canoe, the prize to the best all-around troop attending the state Boy Scout encampment at the fair, was awarded to the Granite Falls scouts, who hiked 210 miles to attend the encampment.

They will start on their long return trip this afternoon.

Boys Get Hero Medals.

Five hundred uniformed Boy Scouts formed in a big quadrangle and more than 1,000 visitors who stood behind them when Governor Eberhart, chairman of the Ramsey Scout Council, pinned honor medals on the breasts of three Minnesota Scouts who had saved the lives of others. They cheered the little heroes with enthusiastic vigor.

The "decorated" boys are Edward Grout of Troop 12, St. Paul; George Mayer of Morris, and Walter Jerrard of St. Cloud. They are the first scouts in the United States to receive honor medals from the national council for life saving.

Continued poor conditions on the track caused the board of managers to call off the races scheduled for yesterday afternoon.

Beginning Monday, Sept. 18, a two weeks' race meet will be held at the Hamline track. M. W. Savage, of Minneapolis will finance the meeting, which will supplement the race program of the state fair, disrupted by unfavorable weather.

BEAT WOMAN WHO HAD THEM ARRESTED.

East Liverpool, Ohio, Sept. 9.—Seeking revenge for an imprisonment resulting from the alleged theft of a suitcase from her, John Jasper and an unknown companion suddenly appeared at the home of Mrs. H. K. Rhoades, wife of a farmer here late yesterday, and after brutally beating Mrs. Rhoades are alleged to have carried off money and jewelry to the value of $500.

A posse was organized and is searching the woods in the vicinity. Officials of this city and of Lisbon have also gone to the scene and it is said that the officials believe they will have difficulty in preventing a lynching if the men are caught.

FIVE COUNCILMEN OF GARY ARRESTED.

Gary, Ind., Sept. 9.—With Mayor Thomas E. Knett, five of the nine members of the city council were arrested yesterday on bribe charges. City Engineer W. A. Williston and a son of one of the aldermen also were arrested on charges of having accepted and solicited bribes in a heating franchise deal. The arrests were made on complaint of T. B. Dean of Richmond, Ky., to whom the franchise was granted.

Mayor Knott gave cash bail of $10,000. The others were taken to jail at Crown Point, Ind. Mayor Knott scouted the bribery charge and said he would be able to prove his innocence.

A dictagraph said by Dean to have been placed in his room at a hotel and one surreptitiously placed in Mayor Knotts' office are expected to be used in the prosecution of the city officials.

RICH FARMER NEAR MOORHEAD MISSING.

Moorhead, Minn., Sept. 9.—One of the most mysterious cases of disappearance and one that local people are wholly at a loss to explain, is that of Theodore Schroeder of Watts Siding, ten miles east of this city, who has not been seen since Sept. 2. When he disappeared, he is stated on good authority, to have had in his possession approximately $3,000.

William R. Vance, the new dean of the Minnesota law school will be the guest of honor and the principal speaker at the annual banquet of the Bar Association of the Eleventh Judicial district, which will be held Sept. 23 at the Commercial club.

The date for the banquet was set at a meeting of the committee this afternoon. Mr. Vance was formerly professor of law at Yale university, and has just been appointed dean of the law school of the University of Minnesota.

HOLD FUTURE OF REPUBLIC

Corporations Can Determine Life of Free Government, Says Speaker.

A. W. Green of New York Says They Must Win Confidence.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 9.—Having asserted that the future welfare of the country depended largely upon the manner in which corporations shall be conducted, A. W. Green of New York city, in an address here today, said it behooved every officer of a corporation so to manage its affairs that it shall commend itself to the public sentiment of the country—of all the people of the country—to the end that the attitude of the people toward these corporations shall not be hostile, but friendly.

Officers of corporations, he declared, must carry into the management of their concerns the same rules that they apply to their private lives.

Prominent Men There.

The occasion was a luncheon at the new plant of the National Biscuit company, of which Mr. Green is president. Three hundred prominent business mn from New York, Chicago and St. Louis, including forty bank and railroad presidents, were among the guests.

F. L. Hines, president of the First National Bank of New York, also was on the list of speakers.

"In this age," said Mr. Green in part, "business must be done through corporations. The individual, as an independent business man in large enterprises, is fast disappearing from the face of the land. In his place has come the corporation.

"These corporations have a great mission to fulfill in this country. Whether for weal or woe they are here, and here to stay. They have become the great factors in the business life of this republic of ours, which we all love so much and in which free institutions are entering into the second century of their trial.

Hold Fate of Nation.

"What these corporations shall do and how they shall act will greatly determine the result of this trial of free institutions.

"If corporations, during this time of trial, will march by the side of those who desire that free institutions shall not perish from the earth, and who are striving to maintain this republic of ours in its integrity and to fulfill the purposes for which it was created, then the vital point is that the corporation must not be separated from the individuals who manage its affairs."

ALLEGED SLAYER OF RIVAL IS ARRESTED.

Evansville, Ind., Sept. 9. — Egbert Merideth, 24 years old, who it is alleged shot and killed Noah Russell, 19 years old, near Rockport, Ind., six weeks ago in a quarrel over a young woman to whom both were paying attention, was arrested yesterday. Merideth, it is said, had never been more than five miles away from the scene of the crime. Friends, it is charged, provided food for him while he was hid in canebrakes and cornfields.

BISHOP McGOLRICK in a talk to the Boys and Girls of the Cathedral School advised them to save their pennies and nickles instead of frittering them away for but temporary pleasures.

EXODUS TO THE WOODS

Hunters Leaving Daily for the Haunts of Feathered Game.

Week-End Holiday Results in Rush at License Counter.

The exodus of the chicken hunters still continues. Every outbound train carries its quota of khaki clad men with gun cases and traps. The week-end hunters are leaving this afternoon and a good many more will go out tonight and tomorrow morning for a day's shooting. Thief River Falls, Motley, Warroad, Crookston, Brainerd, Rice Lake, Staples and the stations along the Soo Line have all received their share of the Duluth nimrods.

Tomorrow there will be a small army of hunters from the Head of the Lakes descending upon state line. The Wisconsin season does not open until tomorrow and state line offers a handy solution of the hunting question for the men who can only get away Sunday. From the present outlook there are apt to be about five hunters on the trail of every chicken in that vicinity by tomorrow noon.

Gun and ammunition dealers report a heavier sale of their goods than any that has been experienced for a number of years. Hunters returning early say that the shooting is remarkably good. K. M. Nicoles got in this morning with eight fine birds secured in a day's hunt near the Northern Pacific about seventy-five miles from Duluth.

Among those to whom licenses have been issued by the county auditor and who are now in the fields after the birds are:

W. J. Bates, A. M. Miller, Jr., George E. Jopp, A. J. Page, Otto Wendlandt, W. J. Webb, A. A. Farrington, Frank Porter, T. J. Storey, J. A. Heffenstein, A. Briand, A. F. Gross, C. AUTO SOLVES MINE'S PROBLEM

Special Dispatch Brings Good News From Lake Superior & Nevada.

At the office of the Lake Superior & Nevada Development company a wire was received this morning from Superintendent H. E. Olund, who has charge of the Arizona Mascot Gold Mine, belonging to this company, that the three ton auto truck which arrived at the mine about a week ago, had been tried out and was a great success. Heretofore all machinery, lumber, cement and other materials have had to be hauled in by teams which has been both expensive and tedious. From now on, however, the transportation problem is solved as the truck works fine and the road is in excellent condition. Mr. Olund writes that the truck can haul in 15 tons of machinery per day.

It has also been reported from the DeLaVergne Machine Co., N. Y., that the company's power engines would be tested out Sept. 9, and will be shipped to the mine the beginning of next week. This practically completes the shipment for the big cyanide and power plant at the Arizona Mascot Mine.

The company has, at the present time, 55 men on the payroll and the indications are that the new mill will be turning out gold bullion not later than Nov. 15.

The equipment for the Arizona Mascot consists of a 100-ton a day cyanide mill, which includes two crushers, one tube mill, one chilean mill, and 26 cyanide tanks, vacuum filters, classifiers, pump, elevators, etc., and the Merrills' Precipitation System is being installed. Besides this there is being installed a large air compressor, electric hoist, a 250 H. P. DeLaVergne crude oil power engine. All the grading for the power house and the mill is practically done and the concrete foundations are nearly finished according to the latest reports from Superintendent Henning E. Olund.

The company has blocked out and ready for the mill, 61,000 tons of ore that will average about $10 per ton or better. This is estimating the ore blocked out, 6 ft. wide, but as a matter of fact, crosscuts have been driven in the vein that show ore bodies to be of much greater size. One crosscut is 10 ft. long and does not touch the wall on either end, which shows that the vein at that point is more than 40 ft. wide. Another crosscut is more than 20 ft. long, which shows that the vein at that point is more than 20 ft. wide. The company has also blocked out a quantity of a few thousand tons of high grade ore on another vein. This ore will average around $50 per ton. Besides that there exists four or five other veins where development work has been done which shows good values and permanent ore bodies.

ADDITIONAL SOCIETY NEWS

Mrs. F. L. Barrows, Mrs. J. D. Morrison and Mrs. P. L. De Voist were appointed yesterday, at a meeting of the executive board of the Twentieth Century club, as delegates of the club to the meeting of the State Federation of Women's clubs to be held in Sauk Center the latter part of the month.

Interests incident to the fall and winter schedule of the club were discussed, and all classes and clubs of the Neighborhood house will resume work on their regular schedule next week.

Plans for the opening reception of the club to be held Oct. 12 were discussed and partially decided upon and Mrs. M. H. Kelley, Mrs. N. F. Hugo and the chairman of the board were appointed a committee to make plans for this function.

This year books containing the programs for the year will be published the last of this month as they are about ready to go to the printers.

The representatives of the Twentieth Century club of the Woman's council, reported back to the club the discussion of the curfew law in the Woman's council at the last meeting and a committee consisting of Mrs. J. D. Morrison and Mrs. De Voist was appointed to look up the matter. It was stated that the curfew law as it now stands, and the state law, conflict and the committee was asked to look into the matter. The Twentieth Century club feels an especial interest in this as it was under its instigation many years ago that the ordinance as it now stands, was made a law. The ordinance was framed by a committee from the club and was presented to the common council and was ratified, becoming a city ordinance.

DECREASE IN SURPLUS OF CARS CONTINUES.

Chicago, Sept. 9.—There is a continued decrease in the surplus of all classes of cars, according to the statement of the American Railway association. The total decrease is 19,124 cars, bringing the surplus down to 88,866.

The chief decrease is in box cars, the increase being 9,804 cars, chiefly in Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota and the Dakotas.

There is a slight increase in the shortage of cars, the shortage being 4,325, chiefly box cars in Canada and New England.

HURT BEFORE CAR HIT HIM

Investigation Shows Joe Doyle Was Wounded Prior to Accident.

Trail of Blood Leads to Pool Near Soo Depot.

What had happened to Joe Doyle before he was struck by a street car and rendered unconscious at Ninth avenue west last night?

That is the question that is troubling the police department, the street railway claim agents and the doctors in attendance on the man this morning.

Doyle recovered consciousness today and admitted he had been near the station, but refused to give any further information.

The motorman in charge of the car reported last night that the man was standing with his hands to his head and staggering before the car struck him, and that by the headlight he saw that he was covered with blood, while the car was still some distance away. Then he staggered directly across the track and was struck by the car.

This story received small credence at the time as the claim agents thought it was too dark to see blood at that distance. This morning, however, when going over the ground, a few blood spots were noticed leading toward the new cement steps coming up from Michigan street on to Superior street beside the new Soo yards. Following these the investigators found a number of stains at the foot of the steps, more blood along the sidewalk and out into the road as if the victim were staggering. Bloody finger marks were found on the iron fence along the edge of the yards, and just in front of the Soo depot a great pool of blood.

It is quite evident that Doyle had received serious injuries before being struck. The theory of a holdup or a fight of some kind is the one advanced by the police, and the matter is being thoroughly investigated today.

MARINE

WRECKED VESSEL HAS COST MUCH

Underwriters Undecided What to Do With Steamer E. L. Fisher.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 9.—Announcement has not yet been made by the underwriters concerning what disposition will be mado of the steamer Erwin L. Fisher, which now lies in a slip at the Ecorse yards of the Great Lakes Engineering works. Many vessel men believe the Fisher may be permitted to remain indefinitely at her present mooring place, or at least until there is a more active market in the lake trade.

In support of this theory the vesselmen cite the experience of the insurance men with the steamer John Sharples. The Sharples struck on Galloup Island, Lake Ontario, early last winter while on her way from Chicago to Montreal with a cargo of corn. She was abandoned to the underwriters, who paid for a total loss, to which expense was added the $20,000 paid to Capt. W. H. Baker for her recovery, making a total of approximately $110,000. When the vessel was offered for sale the insurance companies received two bids, the higher of which was about $10,000 and the lower about $6,000.

The Sharples is still in the hands of the underwriters and she has been lying at Garden island ever since last spring.

With the case of the Sharples as a precedent, vesselmen think the insurance companies will be in no haste to attempt to dispose of the Fisher, which, with losses paid to her owners and the $80,000 earned by Wrecking Master Cunning in her recovery from the Detroit river, has already cost the underwrites about $125,000.

HAWGOOD ADMITS HE GOT $130,000 COMMISSION.

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 9.—Following a ruling by Common Pleas Judge Babcock that Arthur H. Hawgood, marine insurance broker and steamship manager, must answer questions put to him in depositions now being taken, or suffer the consequences, Hawgood admitted before Notary J. H. Cousins that during the years 1906, 1907 and 1908, he and his brother, William A. Hawgood, received commissions aggregating $130,000 from the American Shipbuilding company on six steam freighters built by that company for the half dozen independent steamship companies now comprising the Commonwealth Steamship company.

Since Jan. 1, 1911, attorneys have been fighting to get that admission.

MARINERS WANT BETTER HARBOR GUIDE.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 9.—With the stranding of the steamer David Z. Norton and the consequent loss in lightering her cargo, together with the probable high bill for repairs, the agitation started years ago for a bell buoy and lightship to be stationed at the Whitefish Bay point, has again been renewed.

Captains say that in case of a heavy fog, the fog whistle at the harbor mouth is exceptionally hard to catch and even when there is a possibility of its being heard the sound is so perverted by the peculiar land formation that it is a puzzling guide to follow.

It is probable that a petition to have another marine guide placed at this dangerous spot will be started in the effort to get some action by the government.

Will Launch Sept. 16.

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 9.—The Eocene, the second steamer building for the Standard Oil company, will be launched at the local yard of the American Shipbuilding company Saturday, Sept. 16.

The steamer Perfection, which also was built at the Cleveland yards, has been in commission about a month. The American Shipbuilding company is building four barges for the Standard at the Cleveland and Lorain yards.

NEW RECORD FOR FAST ORE LOADING.

A new record was established in the loading of boats with ore, when the steamer W. E. Corey of the Pittsburgh Steamship company was loaded yesterday afternoon at the Allouez ore docks of the Great Northern Railway company, in Superior. The boat went under the spouts at 2:43 and was filled at 3:08, the actual time being twenty-five minutes. The record heretofore was thirty-nine minutes, made by one of the Pittsburgh boats at Two Harbors two years ago.

TAKES CARGO OF OIL CAKE FOR MONTREAL.

The steamer Glenellah of the Inland company left last evening with a cargo of oil cake for Antwerp. It will be removed from the Glenellah at Montreal on to an ocean vessel. This is the second cargo of oil cake to be shipped from this port for exportation.

Hamonic Arrives.

The Hamonic of the Northern Navigation company arrived this morning with a passenger list of nearly 200, from Sarnia, Ont. She will leave with a big load this evening at 8 o'clock. The Octorara of the Anchor line left last evening with a big list.

On Last Trip.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 9.—The steamship North Land of the Northern Steamship line is on her last trip of the season to Chicago. She will return and be laid up at this port. It is understood the contract for rebuilding the steamship North West of the same line, which was burned at her dock in the Blackwell canal several months ago, will be let soon.

A WIFE'S CAMPAIGN WORK.

Mrs. Martin W. Littleton has introduced a new activity suited to the wives of aspiring politicians. The idea is not new in England, where it is not unusual for the women folks of political candidates to electioneer. But it is a novelty down on Long Island.

When Martin W. Littleton, now Congressman Littleton, entered the fight as nominee of the Democrats against Roosevelt's candidate, William W. Cocks, the politicians of Oyster Bay," says a writer in the Metropolitan, "considered that they held the little affair of the election of their man in the hollow of their hands.

"They understood the political game and they couldn't figure out that Littleton had the smallest chance of winning. They didn't know it, but the fact was that a new one, several new ones were about to be shown them in the course of the next few exciting weeks.

"The first surprise consisted of the distribution from the enemy's camp of a little pamphlet entitled 'The Mountaineer,' by 'Peggy O'Brien.' 'The mountaineer was of course Mr. Littleton—he was born in Roane county, Tenn., under the shadow of the Great Smoky mountains, but the Long Islanders very likely would scarcely have thought of him in that way had it not been for this pamphlet.

"Peggy O'Brien was equally of course the girl he had married fourteen years ago in Texas. It was a simple sketch of his life, the life of a plain man with a head on his shoulders who had come up from nothing in the good old American way to a high position at the bar and was now seeking advancement along political lines.

"'They started to New York city,' it reads. 'In their trunk were some letters of introduction, a feather bed, some home made jam and a few clothes. In his pocket was a few hundred dollars—borrowed—and with him was Peggy, with whom he hoped to find unknown joys in this mixture of perils and adventure. They settled in a little flat on Washington Heights. Work could not be found, but he did not lose courage or hope. Blessed hope! Shame on the man who destroys it in the human heart!'

'Reading this remarkably fresh and natural and human production, the politicians came to such sentences as 'he hoped—and he loved,' and knew not the least in the world how to estimate the campaign value of such an unconventional document as this. On the whole they were inclined to think it wouldn't count, and they might have been right in thinking so but for the fact that Peggy O'Brien was no mere writer to sit back and wait for the effect of her enterprise.

"What she did was to go from house to house, from store to store, and distribute the little book herself, always accompanying it with a little speech, which ran about like this: 'Won't you take one of my little books—and won't you gentlemen please vote for my husband?' Or this: 'It's the story of my husband—it's a true story. I would like to have you vote for him—he's a candidate for congress, you know.'

"When they saw Mrs. Littleton they knew it was a true story, not just campaign literature, and if this sincere and loyal little woman thought they ought to vote for 'Martin,' why perhaps they couldn't do better than send him to congress."

SUBSTITUTE FOR OPIUM.

Hongkong Telegraph: The Indian weed is being largely imported into Indo-China at the present moment, says our informant, who holds a high position in the military world. He has given us a sprig or two of the hemp plant, which obviously lends itself to the uses of smugglers. With first hand knowledge of this subject he declared that this weed, more pernicious than opium or alcohol, will in the near future take the place of opium in the Far East.

It is of small bulk, this deadly weed, is cheap in comparison with its elder brother, opium, and can be smuggled easily. The opium convention does not, as far as we know, take account of the danger which threatens from the importation of this drug.

The French authorities in Indo-China absolutely prohibit the hemp plant, but nevertheless it is being taken into the country in ever increasing quantities. It can be used as a drink, can be smoked or chewed; the physical and mental effects are deadly.

We have not been able to ascertain as yet whether this noxious drug has made its appearance in Hongkong, but we take this opportunity of calling the attention of the authorities to the danger of it doing so. It is a danger that should exercise the thoughts of the legislative council.

This noxious weed is smoked much by the lowest class of natives in South Africa, where it is known under the name of dahgia and causes many crimes, the Bushmen and Hottentots running amuck when saturated with its hellish effects.

MARY STUART'S BLACK PEARLS.

London Globe: A remarkable story appears in a Paris contemporary of the discovery of the black pearl necklace of Mary Queen of Scots, which disappeared on Feb. 8, 1587. We give the story as we find it.

A lady cyclist had a mishap with the cord of her pince-nez while touring in an obscure town in Scotland. The lady pulled up at the general shop and tried to replace the cord. The shopkeeper, not having a suitable cord, told the lady he would take the wire from an old necklace which he showed her.

She, being struck with it, said she would buy it at the price asked—12s. 6d.—and do as best she could for a cord. On reaching her lodgings the lady cleaned the pearls and was struck with their beauty.

The lady's next procedure was to submit the necklace to an expert jeweler, who pronounced the pearls to be of very great value, and the Paris contemporary from which we have taken the story says they are worth at least £15,000, adding that on the day of the execution the unfortunate Queen of Scotland divided among her women who attended her ornaments and jewels, including the necklace of black pearls. How it passed into the hands of the ancestors of the shopkeeper is a mystery.

BUTTE-ALEX SCOTT MINE TO DOUBLE ITS CAPACITY

Eighty Tons to Be Shipped to the Smelter Daily.

Independent Mine Owners May Have Pittsmont Smelter Enlarged.

Butte, Mont., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—A number of prominent mining men, all directors and officers of the Butte-Alex Scott Copper Mining company visited the city a few days ago. The party included N. F. Hugo, president of the company, Duluth; Thomas Furniss, treasurer, Duluth; William Heimbach, vice president, Duluth; F. L. Laird, St. Paul; William Champman, Pittsburg; T. Edson, Washington, D. C.; and Martin Rosendahl, Duluth; all directors of the company. Under the direction of Supt. Stone the party was taken through the mine and down to the lowest level, the 1,800-foot, where a recent very rich strike was made, averaging 15 per cent copper. To the directors it was pointed out that the adjoining property was the West Colusa of the Anaconda company and that drifting on the vein had resulted in an 8-foot ore body being opened up, running better than 10 per cent copper to the ton. Through the eight feet of ore are a number of leases of ore that average 5 per cent copper, from 30 to 40 ounces of silver and $9 in gold to the ton.

The officers and directors also visited the Little Annie, the claim opened up by the company about three months ago. The shaft is down 200 feet and already some very fine specimens of silver ore have been uncovered. When the property was started up a complete electrical equipment was installed.

"It is putting it very mildly when I say that every director was delighted with what he saw in both properties," said President Hugo on his return from the inspection trip. "It is the first time some of our directors had ever seen the property and they now realize that we have a good producing mine. We are making some money now, but we will make more from this out. I gave orders, after consulting with Supt. Stone, to start at once shipping eighty tons a day to the smelter, which means doubling our capacity, as up to the present time our shipments have amounted to between forty and fifty tons a day. We have got the ore and although the price of the metal is low we might as well ship some more."

Mr. Hugo said that in the course of the next two months some of the finest ore ever seen in this district will be going from the Little Annie to the smelter.

May Enlarge Smelter.

Some of the independent mine owners have been in consultation recently considering a proposition to invest a considerable amount of money in the East Butte company with a view of having the company enlarge the Pittsmont smelter for the treatment of the ore of all independent companies. This is a substitute scheme which has been started up in place of the one proposed more than a year ago to build an independent smelter. Among the mine owners there seems to be some intimation that any reasonable proposition backed up financially will be well received by the East Butte people, but those who are promoting the movement in this city will not go into details. One of the independent mine owners, acknowledging that a proposition along the lines mentioned had been made said that he was not at liberty to further discuss the question. He said that the Washoe smelter and for that matter the Pittsmont smelter, was giving every satisfaction in the treatment of customers, but that there was a fear that should the mines belonging to companies controlling the smelters increase to their full capacity, the custom ores might not receive the attention they get now and therefore it was deemed advisable to be prepared for the emergency.

When asked if the Butte Alex-Scott company had been invited to join in the movement, for the independent smelter, President Hugo said that, while he had heard of the scheme proposed, his company had not been officially approached. "However," he said, "if the scheme goes through and it is a good thing I guess we will join with the rest of the companies." At the present time the only independent mines producing any copper are the Tuolumne, the Elm Orlu, the Poser and the Butte-Alex Scott. The Tuolumne is at present sending its ore to the Washoe under a contract which expires next spring, while the ore from the Poser and Elm Orlu is also going to the same smelter. While the latter is W. A. Clarke's zinc property it has of late been hoisting considerable copper ore. By next year the Butte-Ballaklava and the Pilot Butte are among the properties expected to join the producting class. The East Butte is, of course, in the producing class, but the company owns the Pittsmont smelter and therefore is not taken into account when considering the mines likely to go into the agreement to enlarge the Pittsmont and subscribe for a certain amount of stock.

Iron Mountain.

William Q. Ranft, the well known mining man of New York and Boston, is actively engaged this year in developing his properties in the Corbin district and also the Iron Mountain mine. At the latter place he is making his headquarters for the summer and was recently in this city to meet William Skilton of Boston and Dr. Sewell of Philadelphia who are to be his guests at the Iron Mountain property for a short time. Mr. Ranft says that the shaft has been sunk to the 2,000 foot level and a crosscut run about 350 feet in length to intersect the vein which it encountered and the ore where it was cut was of a very better grade than on the level above, which was the 1850. Drifts, both east and west, are being driven on the latter level. The drift west of the crosscut is in about 175 feet and it is in ore all the way and the drift to the east is in about 50 feet. The face of this drift is all ore. He says that by the middle of this month there will be blocked out two levels of ore approximately 400 feet in length and following the dip of the vein about 300 feet in depth, enough ore to keep the mill in commission for more than two years. Mr. Ranft says that the mill has been remodelled at an expense of between $25,000 and $30,000, and that while it is rated at a capacity of 100 tons, it treats easily the ore mined because of the lightness of the gauge and can handle from 250 to 300 tons a day. A four-ton gasoline locomotive has been installed to be used for haulage purposes.

In speaking of the Corbin district, Mr. Ranft says that shaft sinking is going ahead rapidly in the Robert Emmet with the intention of carrying it down to a depth of 500 feet. A station is to be cut on the 500 foot level and a crosscut driven to the vein about 75 feet in length where it is expected the vein containing commercial ore on the 350 foot level will be intersected.

Ophir Mine.

The Ophir mine is continuing to show rich values in silver ore and the recent opening up of a fine body of ore at a depth of 960 feet while shaft sinking, satisfies Supt. McConnell that very rich ore is to be encountered at been blocked out on the upper levels it has been decided to increase the shipments to two carloads a week and this arrangement was started last week.

Heinze Tells of Stewart.

F. Augustus Heinze has returned to the city after a visit to his Stewart mine property in the Coeur d'Alenes, which is being operated now at a net profit of $25,000 a month. Mr. Heinze reports that a large amount of development work is in progress and that arrangements have been made for the driving of a long tunnel, which will give greater depth on the ore body and considerably lessen the cost of producing the ore. He declined to express any opinion on the question of dividends, beyond saying that as soon as the tunnel work was completed a dividend would be among the probabilities.

PILOT BUTTE.

When the Pilot Butte company arranged with the Butte & Superior company to run a crosscut from the Black Rock mine through to the Pilot ground at a depth of 1,300 feet in order to ascertain in the quickest manner possible mineral conditions at depth it acted very wisely as it has already been determined that the ore existed at depth. About three-quarter the way through to the Pilot ground some very rich copper ore was cut through. It is not been decided whether the ore is in ground belonging to the Elm Orlu or the Pilot Butte company, but the fact remains the ore is there.

VETERAN NOT TO BE REVIVED

No Fear of General Strike in the Ely District.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Sept. 9.—With a statement that virtually is a denial that the Nevada Consolidated interests intend to resume operations at the Veteran property in Ely, General Manager Lakenan of the Nevada organization has set at rest fears that were entertained that a general strike might be precipitated in the Ely district. The management and the miners' union have failed to reach any agreement as to wages for this Veteran underground work, and there was a fear existing among the business men of Ely that these differences might not be settled, that the company might go ahead and start up the Veteran work, meaning a possible closing-down of all Ely mines.

Mr. Lakenan stated that there was no use of mining with a spoon as long as one could mine with a steam shovel, and this is taken as meaning that there is little likelihood of the Veteran being opened again in the near future at least.

Mr. Lakenan was in the city with Pope Yeatman, the consulting engineer of the Guggenheim interests. Mr. Yeatman has completed a visit to both the Nevada Consolidated and Utah copper properties when he announced himself in Salt Lake City as very well satisfied with conditions. At the Utah Copper mills, he stated, a magnificent bit of work was being done both in the handling of tonnages and in the average metallic extraction.

RAY AND CHINO MAKING MONEY

Doing Well Since July Despite Temporary Increase in Expenses.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Sept. 9.—D. C. Jackling, who has returned from an inspection of the Ray and Chino properties, states that they will have the fourth section of the Ray mill operating in a few days. In order to keep these four sections in operation it is necessary to hold them down to an average of about 800 tons a day, as this represents the output from the mines at present. During this time the metallurgical problems can be worked out which will give a higher recovery while awaiting a larger output from the mine.

"The management is treating an average of 3,000 tons of ore daily, and making a saving of 70 per cent of values. This tonnage will gradually increase and by the end of October the run from each section should be up to 1,000 tons daily.

"The two mines have been making money since July despite the temporary increase in expenses, incurred by shipping concentrates to El Paso.

"The transaction transferring the Ray smelter to the American Smelting company will soon be consummated.

"The Ray No. 2 shaft will be ready to produce by Oct. 1. There has been some delay in opening this shaft because of lack of equipment. It will, however, be the largest producing shaft in the property because of its more central location in the ore deposits.

RICH STRIKE IS CONFIRMED

Great Body of High Grade Ore on the Cruse Property.

Helena, Mont., Sept. 9.—That the reports circulated in this city concerning a rich strike at Marysville were true, with the exception that the strike was made in the Cruse mine instead of the Belmont, was verified by Col. Thomas Cruse:

"We struck the rich ore shoot in a shaft which is down something over 900 feet," he said. "As we went down we found that the ore was becoming richer all the time. Although we were working in good paying ore, that is, ore that averaged $100 per ton, it is nothing like the shoot we struck the other night, and from all indications I believe that it is a very large body of a much higher grade ore than any we have found on the property before. We have no assays of the last strike as yet, but I believe that the mine is as great, if not a greater, property than the Drumlummon.

"Even when we do get value of the ore we brought down today to be assayed, the true value of the lead will not be revealed, for I always take samples to be assayed which I judge are a little below the average in richness.

"We are working about seventy-five men on the property at present, that is, in the mine and mill together, and have a 20-stamp mill on the property with a cyanide plant in connection. We have been running 100 tons of ore which averages $100 per ton through the mill every twenty-four hours."

OJIBWAY IS DOING WELL

Getting Excellent Showing of Copper Ground in No. 1 Shaft.

Work at the South Lake Seriously Hampered By Water.

Houghton, Mich., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.) — The Ojibway Mining company is getting excellent showings of copper ground in several of the lower laterals in the No. 1 shaft. Operations have been for some time confined to development work in this end of the property and a mill test of this ground is promised before the end of the year. The No. 2 shaft, a little over 1,900 feet deep, is in idleness and will very likely remain so until milling is well under way. The situation here is not nearly so promising as is that in the north, or No. 1 shaft, in which latter copper ground of a commercial grade has been opened from grass roots to a depth of 1,600 feet.

South Lake.

The South Lake Mining company has ordered development machinery for immediate installation, the equipment being designed for 1,000 feet of depth. Shaft work is going forward as rapidly as permissible, being at times seriously hampered by heavy inflows of water. A larger pump is being installed to obviate this difficulty. The shaft is down forty feet in a sand and gravel overburden and at about sixty feet will reach bed rock.

Contact.

The Contact Copper company continues exploratory operations with one-drill outfit in service. Activity is centered in the territory just east of the old Elm river tract and a horizon presumably identical with that in which the Lake lode is found. The No. 7 hole is now being drilled and to a depth of 250 feet is in overburden and trap rock.

Mayflower.

The Mayflower Mining company has located two copper bearing lodes in drilling No. 15 hole. Both formations promise well and one yields a core of unusual richness. Drill borings at other points in this end of the property were generally encouraging and with the further showings just obtained have gone far to restore confidence in this long idle property. The work is being done under the supervision of George S. Goodale, a former Allouez and Centennial engineer.

New Baltic.

The New Baltic Copper company apparently has the making of a mine in the so-called west lode of what is presumed to be an extension of the big Baltic formation. Recent developments are highly encouraging and heavy copper ground is exposed at several points in the shaft and the drift extensions on the 360-foot level just below which the shaft remains temporarily bottomed. The New Baltic acreage is virgin territory and in a horizon that has received only limited attention north of Portage Lake.

Michigan.

The Michigan Copper Mining company is leaving the property in the hands of miners who are taking out fair amounts of copper on a royalty basis with a small profit to the company. The many attempts of the company to work this property on company time have proven rather unprofitable. Though the operations of tributors is not calculated to improve the physical condition of the mine these operations are limited to the older workings of the mine and in ground that has been more or less worked out.

Houghton.

The Houghton Copper company is finding fair quantities of copper in the laterals run out on the 460-foot level in the Superior lode, but in ground that is badly broken and like that in the Superior laterals adjoining will be difficult to mine. This ground, however, improves materially with depth in the neighboring property and though always treacherous is being taken out without great difficulty, leaving only the added expense of heavy timbering. The lode on the Houghton property discloses a width of eighteen feet, which is generally expected to increase at depth as in the Superior.

Old Colony.

The Old Colony Copper company is drilling in No. 9 hole for the purpose of ascertaining the dip of the formation. A depth of 440 feet has been attained, the distance being entirely in trap rock of a nature similar to that disclosed in No. 8 hole and which immediately overlies a copper bearing amygdaloid known as the St. Louis lode. This lode, if calculations prove correct, will be tapped at about 600 feet. It has been tapped at other points on this property and in the St. Louis acreage adjoining with results that have induced the management of the later to sink a shaft to better carry on exploratory work.

Isle Royale.

The Isle Royale Copper company is pushing development work at all points on the Isle Royale lode and in the No. 2 shaft is finding materially better ground at depth particularly on the twenty-eighth level, where drifting is just begun. Conditions generally are much better below a depth of 2,500 feet than above this depth in this shaft, which is now down 3,000 feet and sinking steadily. In the south shafts good runs of commercial ground are noted in several levels with a tendency to bunchiness that is not so evident in the older and deeper north shaft. These shafts designated Nos. 4, 5 and 6 have reached approximate depths of 1,400, 900 and 1,100 feet respectively. The rock output of the four shafts reached 42,000 tons during August. The yield fluctuates between 15.5 pounds and 19.5 pounds fine copper per ton of rock milled, and will probably average better than seventeen pounds for the present year.

THE COPPER HANDBOOK.

Tenth Annual Edition to Be Published This Month.

The tenth annual edition of the Copper Handbook will be published on Sept. 15 by Horace J. Stevens of Houghton, Mich. Eighteen months have been spent in an absolutely complete revision of the mine descriptions and statistical section of the book. The new edition, Volume X, will contain 1,902 octavo pages of text, and will list and describe 8,220 mining companies, mines and attempts at mines, this being much the largest number of titles given in any work of reference on mines. As in preceding years, there will be several hundred pages of preliminary chapters, devoted to the history, technology and uses of copper.

BUTTE-BALLAKLAVA AGAIN PRODUCING

Opens Excellent Body of Ore on Level Not in Dispute.

Butte, Mont., Sept. 9.—After a period of nearly a year's suspension of operations, owing to litigation instituted by the Anaconda Copper Mining company, the Butte-Ballaklava Copper company has resumed ore shipments and from newly opened up ore bodies that are not involved in the dispute is now sending an average of one car of ore a day to the East Butte smelter. The ore averages between 5 and 6 per cent copper and carries good silver values.

The ore now being extracted is from the east drift on the 1,400-foot level on the vein closest to the shaft. The drift now extends about 45 feet in an eastern direction and has opened up better than five feet of an excellent quality of ore. While ore is soft and not as compact as in some other portions of the mine, it is made up of generous streaks of bornite and copper glance and the whole width of the ore body gives a splendid average. As the drift proceeds some improvement is noticed.

The vein is between well-defined and smooth walls, and from the character of the formation there is hardly a question that with slightly additional depth the ore shoot will become more compact and probably develop into copper glance several sets in width, similar to the magnificent ore body which was opened up on the 800-foot level and from which the Ballaklava company was making daily shipments of about 200 tons when mining operations on that ore body were discontinued because of injunction proceedings.

PARADISE CLAIMS TO BE OPERATED

Capt. Duncan Forms Company in Europe With $500,000 Capital.

Bisbee, Ariz., Sept. 9.—Capt. Duncan recently organized a company in Europe for the purpose of taking over and operating twenty lead-silver claims situated in the Paradise district. The company has a capital stock of $500,000.

The Paradise Mining company recently purchased equipment for a complete concentrating plant which will have a daily capacity of about seventy-five tons that it will install upon its property in Cochise county. J. B. Cunningham is president and Nathan Underwood vice president and general manager. The plant will do custom work.

Mrs. Nettie Noble of El Paso recently bonded her mine, the Davis, in the Willcox district, to Charles Davis, Walter J. Davis and Edward M. Davis.

The Arizona Copper company is preparing the ground for its new smelter near Clifton. A branch line of the Arizona & New Mexico railroad is being built to the smelter site.

The Detroit Copper company has adopted plans for a new smelter that it will install at Morenci.

The main tunnel in the mine of the Fortune Mining company on Big Bug creek in Yavapai county has reached a distance of 240 feet. More than 200 tons of ore were taken out in this tunnel work. The vein is large.

The Copper Queen Gold Mining company recently encountered a large body of rich ore in its mine at Stoddard. The strike was made in a crosscut tunnel at a distance of 340 feet.

The Majestic Copper company will soon start development work upon the property which it has acquired about thirty miles northwest of Tucson. The mine is near the proposed custom smelter which will be erected by the Pioneer Smelting & Refining company.

ENTHUSIASTIC OVER KAMLOOPS

Directors of Company Return After Inspecting the Properties.

Messrs. M. A. Fedje, Duluth, a director in the Kamloops Copper company and John King, Minneapolis, a stockholder, have returned from a visit to the company's mines at Kamloops, B. C. When seen at the company's office, Mr. Fedje stated that he had never enjoyed a Western trip more in his life. He visited on this trip, besides the city of Kamloops, Vancouver, Seattle, Tacoma, Portland and other cities, and found the condition of the country in general all that could be desired.

The rather excessive moisture of the season has not only kept the country clothed in green, but rendered the trip a very clean and pleasing one from every point of view. "Traveling under present climatic conditions," said Mr. Fedje, "has everything to recommend it, and one can hardly take such a trip without meeting with many broadening and invigorating influences. The country is so vast and prosperous, and the general feeling of the people we met on the trains and in the cities visited so optimistic and hopeful that we could not help but enjoy every minute of the journey."

"How did you find Kamloops," was asked, and Mr. Fedje's face took another wreath of smiles as he talked of his company's bright future assured by the present outlook of their mines. He said they looked bigger and better than ever to him, and though he disclaimed any intimate, personal knowledge of the science of mining, he was sure of one thing, and that was that his interests at Kamloops were greater than he had ever thought them to be.

"One thing that pleased me very much on my return," remarked Mr. Fedje, "is the way in which the committee looking after the company's finances has progressed with its work. You know when a man goes into a mine where some of his own money has been spent, and sees the developed ore bodies, he is pretty sure to feel good over his investment. And this is especially the case after he has seen demonstrated the process of taking the ore from the mine to the smelter and has seen the gold from the smelter in payment for the ore as we have done. At the same time, knowing how great will be the improvements contemplated in their money saving to the stockholders, he cannot help being still more pleased when he finds the work of financing the improvements so well under way.

"Conditions are ideally shaping themselves for the carrying through of the Kamloops company's program. Money is getting easier, investors are growing more and more optimistic and the times are improving all over the country. There is a general revival of interest in the mining industry. All people know that wealth taken from the ground s wealth created—added to the world's supply, and that fortunes are made in mining with more frequency and with less heartache and trouble than in any other way. It is not to be wondered at that so many people are seriously looking for good mining investments, and no one familiar with Kamloops is surprised at the company's success in financing its great improvements."

THIRTY MILLION TONS OF IRON ORE

Expected to Be This Year's Lake Superior Shipment.

Iron ore shipments from the Lake Superior region continue to fall behind those of a year ago. The movement has not been brisk at any time, nor is it expected to be. However, the outgo has been steady throughout the season and the tonnage so far forwarded mounts up to a total better than most mining men anticipated. The shipments via the Great Lakes to Sept. 1 were a trifle more than 19,000,000 tons. A waning rather than an increasing movement is looked for the balance of the season, notwithstanding which it is the expectation at the mines that the outgo for the year by lake will approximate 30,000,000 tons. This will compare with 42,650,000 tons forwarded by water last season and will be some 5,000,000 tons in excess of the figures generally predicted early in the spring.

Only over the Great Northern railroad are the shipments from the mines heavier than a year ago, and this is due solely to the company's contract with the United States Steel corporation. The traffic over the Great Northern is proceeding at a rate which presages an aggregate of 1,000,000 tons for the season—one-half as much as that over the seven other ore-hauling lines combined. The Great Northern often handles 1,600 to 1,800 cars daily at its big sorting yards at Kelley Lake.

MINING IN THE BLACK HILLS

Several Properties in Carbonate Camp Sold to Colorado Men.

Deadwood, S. D., Sept. 9.—A sale of the property of the Black Hills Development & Financial Corporation to Colorado men whose names are not given has just been made by R. Bunce, the president, who has been developing the claims here for the last two years. Three weeks ago the Colorado men sent representatives to examine the properties and on their favorable report Mr. Bunce was asked to submit a proposition which he has just been notified has been accepted. The properties include the Iron Hill, Home Run, Segregated and Calkins and other groups in the Carbonate camp, west of here. Within the last week they have shown two good strikes that were made after Mr. Bunce had named his terms. The first strike consists of a five-foot vein of galena ore that runs from $150 to $300 a ton and is found in the Iron Hill mine near an old drift.

Ore very similar to that found in the Homestake is being opened up on the ground of the Leo Mining company near Benchmark by August Peterson of Deadwood and Nels Peterson of New York. They are cross-cutting the ledge from a tunnel that was driven about 400 feet and have gone through four or five feet of good ore, with 150 feet to reach the point sought. The ground, consisting of sixteen claims, has been developed for ten years by the Petersons. Several ore bodies are opened up and tests of the ore are being made. The company expects to hold a meeting next week to arrange plans for the future.

Operations have been recommenced by the Victoria Extension Mining company on Squaw Creek under General Manager Albert Maltener. The company is controlled by M. B. Carpenter of St. Paul and officials of the Burlington railroad at Omaha. Some years ago a 20-ton cyanide mill was erected and some development done, but the mill was never operated to any extent. During the last two years new bodies of good grade gold milling ore were located and development work on them started. It is the present intention to develop these sufficiently to keep in operation the mill which has undergone some necessary changes and is in condition for running.

ASSESSMENT FOR CEMENT SIDEWALKS.
Office of the Board of Public Works.
City of Duluth, Minn., Sept. 8, 1911.

Notice is hereby given that a contract has been let for the construction of cement sidewalks east of the east line of Twelfth avenue west, and that under said contract cement sidewalks have been laid on London road, Greysolon road, First street, Second street, Third street, Fourth street, Fifth street, Sixth street, Second avenue east, Fourth avenue east, Fifth avenue east, Twenty-first avenue east, Fifty-seventh avenue east, Robinson street, First avenue west, Second avenue west and Fifth avenue west, and that the Board of Public Works of said city will meet at their office in the City of Duluth, on Friday, the twenty-second day of September, A. D. 1911, at 10 o'clock A. M., to make an assessment of the sum of Fifty-three Hundred Forty-six (5346) dollars and Seventy-eight (78) cents upon the real estate to be benefited by such sidewalks for the purpose of raising money to defray so much of the cost of such improvement as is assessable.

All lands situated in said city and to which benefits result from said improvement will be assessed in proportion, as near as may be, to the benefits resulting thereto from said improvement. All persons interested in said proceeding shall have the right to be present and be heard at said time and place in relation to the making of said assessment.

THE AMERICAN BONDING COMPANY

Of Baltimore, a Duluth Pioneer.

One of the first great surety companies to establish a permant agency at Duluth was the "American Bonding & Trust Company of Baltimore City," now the American Bonding Company of Baltimore, and no other surety company here has been as long represented by the same person as George R. Laybourn, 14 Phoenix block, this city, has represented the American Bonding Company — fourteen years.

Surety companies are now as much a fixture in the commercial world as banks, and the day is past when a business man asks another to sign his bond. Instead, he goes to a bonding company and pays it for becoming his surety.

The American Bonding Company of Baltimore has almost $2,000,000 in resources and is one of the big institutions of the city of Baltimore, which is noted as the home of great financial enterprises, of trust companies and of surety companies.

Locally, the American Bonding Company of Baltimore has paid out large sums.

It has paid to—

The town of Buyck, St. Louis county, on its treasurer....$10,000

The First National Bank of Duluth, on its paying teller. 10,000

The county of Itasca, on its treasurer 5,000

It built the postoffice at Alexandria, Minn., and the insane asylum at Hastings, Minn., because the contractors "fell down."

Moral: It pays to secure bonds of George R. Laybourn, agent, American Bonding Company of Baltimore.

FINNISH LABORER MISSING A WEEK

Feared That Hilarius Laitainen Met With Foul Play.

Cloquet, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—This morning Sheriff Harry McKinnon of Carlton and County Attorney J. E. Diesen left for Kalavala, a Finnish settlement in the extreme southwest part of the county, to investigate the disappearance of Hilarius Laitainen, which was reported here last night. Laintainen, a laborer in that community, disappeared a week ago, but it was not reported to the authorities until the people thereabouts had exhausted their means of search, even to dragging a small lake in the vicinity.

Laintainen was last seen on Friday, Sept. 2, when he came to the home of Matt Neiminen, a homesteader, to borrow a mallet and wedge. He secured the tools and started back to work, but was not heard of again. As he had some money on his person, about $100, foul play is suspected. The community is the most isolated in the county.

JOHN JACAB ASTOR AND MISS MADELINE FORCE WED AT LAST

home, when he came in contact with an electric feed wire, the shock causing his death.

Vincent Astor joined the party on board the yacht, and after all had had breakfast, Col. Astor, Mr. Force, the Misses Force and Vincent Astor came ashore in the Noma's motor boat, Col. Astor handling the steering wheel. The party immediately went in an automobile to the city hall, where the marriage license was issued.

Bridegroom Was Nervous.

During the city hall proceedings, which were witnessed by a host of newspaper correspondents, Col. Astor appeared nervous, but Miss Force seemingly was unconcerned.

After the city hall formalities had been concluded, the wedding party motored to Beechwood, where Rev. Joseph Lambert of the Elmwood Temple Congregational church of Providence was waiting and performed the ceremony.

Miss Katherine Force was her sister's bridesmaid, and Col. Astor's son, Vincent, was the best man. Others who were present were Mrs. Force, the bride's mother; Mrs. Elder of New York, a friend of the Force family; Former Congressman W. P. Sheffield of this city, Col. Astor's Newport attorney; William A. Debbyn, Col. Astor's secretary; and Thomas Hade, who has been in Col. Astor's employ for many years.

Sailed on the Noma.

Fifteen minutes after the marriage ceremony had been performed, Col. and Mrs. Astor left in an automobile for the boat landing at the foot of Wellington avenue. A few moments later they were on board the Noma, which sailed immediately. The destination of the yacht has been kept secret.

Just before leaving Beechwood, Col. Astor gave the following statement to the Associated Press:

"Now that we are happily married, I do not care how difficult divorce and remarriage laws are made. I sympathize heartily with the most straightlaced people in most of their ideals, but believe remarriage should be made possible, as marirage is the happiest condition for the individual and the community."

Used Press Man's Taxi.

When Col. Astor and his bride departed from Beechwood for the boat landing, they made the trip in a taxicab hired by one of the newspaper correspondents. The Astor automobile was not on hand, the chauffeur evidently believing that his services would not be needed so soon. Later the correspondent whose taxicab was used as the bridal car was brought into Newport from the Astor residence in Col. Astor's automobile.

neighbor women assisted Mrs. Lemberger in arranging for the funeral. An Associated Press representative found the afflicted mother hunting through bureau drawers for funeral clothes for the child. Near by, on a table, were the candlesticks which are to be used in this Catholic home. The father had just gone down town.

Mother's Calm Broken.

The stoic calm which the woman has maintained since her child disappeared gave way today when the remains of little Annie were brought to her.

"My Annie was always a good child," she sobbed. "What did they do it for? I never did nothing to make them kill her.

"We are too poor to hire help, and Annie always helped me with the housework," she continued in her broken English. "My heart was in the children and my husband, and I stayed right at home with them."

Mrs. Lemberger was asked if she had slept much.

"I felt good all last night; I wish I had never waked up. When my mother-in-law told me about Annie I could not believe it," and she reached for a roller towel and buried her face in it, sobbing.

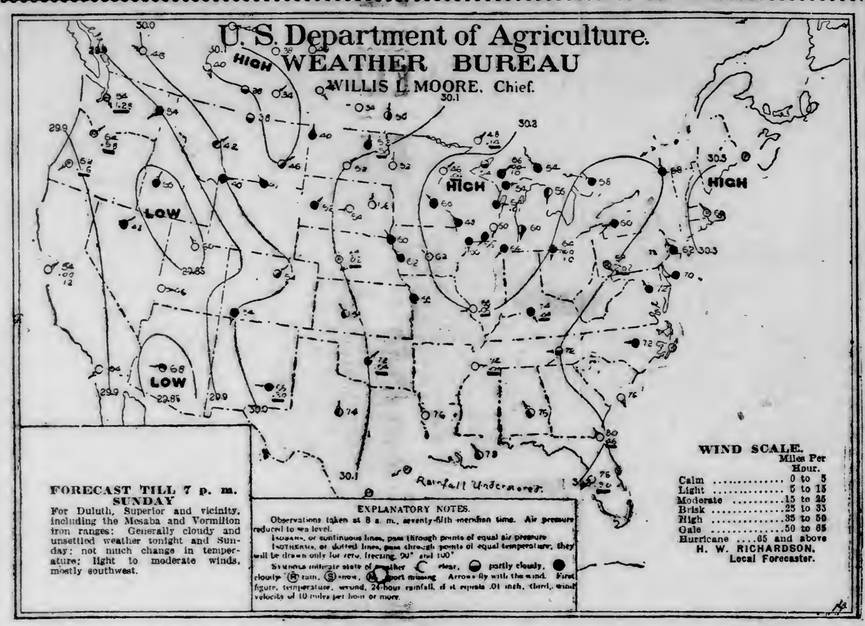

A young woman brought in the 13-month-old babe, George Sebastian, who smiled at the visitor in his innocent baby fashion. Outside, little Mary, holding tight to her grandmother's hand, laughed and played, unconscious of the tragedy that had robbed her of her sister.

Raise Relief Fund.

J. Q. Quinn, humane officer, started a relief fund to defray the expenses of the funeral this morning. Mrs. Lemberger said she did not want much.

A fund for the apprehension of the murderer was started this morning and $500 was soon raised. Detectives of other cities will be brought here, and it is probable that the case will develop into one of the strangest known to the police in the Middle West.

Local Forecaster.

CLOUDY

O. Sol is trying to push J. Pluvius off the stage today, but Pluvius is some stayer and is more than holding his own. The day dawned bright and clear with Sol in charge of things. He was driven off later and rain fell. After a brief shower honors were even, with the sky partly cloudy. The weather man is on the fence and promises unsettled weather for tonight and tomorrow.

The mercury dropped to 34 deg. a year ago today.

The sun rose this morning at 5:38 and it will set at 6:23, giving twelve hours and fifty-five minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"Somewhat warmer weather prevails throughout Central and Eastern Canada, the Dakotas, Iowa and Rocky mountain states in connection with lower barometric pressures in those districts. Light to copious rains also resulted in Washington, Oregon, Minnesota, Ontario, Nebraska, Southern New Mexico, Oklahoma, Missouri, Iowa, Ohio valley states, Tennessee and Florida during the last twenty-four hours. The high barometer in the Northwest has caused cooler weather to the northward of Montana and over British Columbia. Conditions indicate rather unsettled weather at the Head of the Lakes during the ensuing thirty-six hours.

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Sept. 9.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Sunday:

Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota, North Dakota—Mostly cloudy and unsettled tonight and Sunday; not much change in temperature.

Upper Michigan—Cloudy tonight and Sunday; not much change in temperature.

South Dakota—Unsettled with probably showers tonight or Sunday; warmer in west portion tonight.

Montana—Unsettled with probably showers tonight or Sunday; warmer in east and south portions tonight.

Upper lakes—Light variable winds except moderate southwest on Superior tonight and Sunday.

HEAVY GUARD SURROUNDS BEATTIE, WIFE-MURDERER

that fear lest the father might learn from the lips of Henry's wife of his renewed indiscretions with the Binford girl prompted young Beattie to commit the crime and fabricate the tale of the bearded highwayman.

Father Stares Vacantly.

Somewhat hopeful, yet bent down in sorrow at the awfulness of the blow, the elder Beattie visited the prisoner today. Counsel had told him not to lose hope—that they yet might save the boy's life. And the sallow, wrinkled face of the old man stared vacantly into the morning sunlight as he uttered a prayer that this might be so.

Blames Beulah Binford.

Several repudiations of Beulah Binford as a girl from whom he vainly tried to detach himself, and the direct imputation that the jury judged him more for his indiscretions than the tragedy as itself, came today from the lips of Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., convicted last night of wife murder. Any other jury, composed of city folk, with mundane views, would have been more merciful, was his bitter lament.

"Fearfully unfair," he muttered in his cell when asked his opinion of the verdict. He continued:

"Beulah Binford figured largely in the verdict, more than the testimony of the killing. These country folk cannot understand how a woman of the underworld can be 'crazy' about a man. They don't realize, when that happens, how hard it is to get rid of her.

"I drifted along, hoping against hope that something would occur to rid myself of that Binford girl. And once a woman of this kind feels that you no longer take any interest in her, she usually seeks solace in suicide.

"So I drifted along, waiting for a chance to break off relations with her without having her hurt herself. I tried hard to persuade her, in the meantime, to live a proper life.

"Had this case been tried in any court where those things are not uncommon, this morning I would have been a free man. Interpreting Judge Watson's instructions to the jury, I cannot see how the verdict could have been other than not guilty. I believe the jury was influenced by the one-sided newspaper reports before I had a chance to present my side of the case.

"I wanted to give out a statement as soon as I was arrested, but Mr. Smith, my lawyer, advised against this.

"I have not given up hope, because I cannot feel that an innocent man will be permitted to suffer for this hideous crime."

There were many rumors abroad today that Beattie would never die in the electric chair; that he would find some means of committing suicide when all hope of gaining his freedom was gone.

Predict His Suicide.

"Billy" Sampson, his chum and one of the imoprtant witnesses at the trial was quoted as saying:

"Henry Beattie will not die in the chair. It will be some other way."

"If he is convicted, he has nerve enough to kill himself before the others kill him," said Beulah Binford just before her departure from Richmond.

Prayed Before Voting.

The twelve Virginia farmers who constituted the jury, knelt at dusk last night in the obscurity of the small jury room, prayed fervently that they might pass judgment aright on Henry Clay Beattie, Jr.

Grimly determined, they arose a moment later and silently, one by one, recorded a unanimous verdict of guilty.

Pausing in solemn contemplation for fifty-eight minutes, weighing carefully the meaning of their decision and once more on bended knees beseeching divine assistance that they might not err, they filed into the hushed stillness of a crowded courtroom, and with startling suddenness twelve voices, instead of the usual one of the foreman, spoke the single word "guilty." It was almost a shout.

The spectre of death which stalked Midlothian turnpike on July 18 last when the life of Mrs. Louise Owen Beattie was taken away, stared hard at the young husband, ready to claim its victim by electrocution on Friday, Nov. 24 next. The prisoner, however, returned the gaze, unswerving and unafraid.

Will Fight to the End.

The court of appeals will be asked to grant a writ of error and a new trial. Young Beattie, cognizant of the legal weapons at his disposal, did not surrender. Instead, he consoled his broken-down father, white-haired and wrinkled, and comforted him as he whispered, "I haven't lost yet, father."

The jury had for eleven days heard evidence, and for two days speeches, but the words of Prosecutor Wendenburg rang in their ears as they left the courtroom to find their verdict.

"Let that man go free?" he cried, "what, let that man go free? Why, the motherhood of Virginia, the womanhood of this nation, will shudder in terror as the security of its life is threatened. Let this man go free? The man who basked in the degraded sunshine of another woman while at his home a young wife nursed his child? Gentlemen, I merely ask you in the name of justice to do your duty."

Jury Given Brief Respite.

Mr. Wendenburg concluded his address a few minutes after 5 o'clock. A brief respite was given the jury, and at 5:28 o'clock it began consideration.

For fifty-eight minutes the members were in deep consultation, a jury of simple farmers who each morning sang hymns and strove to forget the story of dissipation with its filthy characters, as related day after day on the witness stand. What had been generally predicted was true—their minds were well made up before they left the courtroom.

W. L. Burgess, a square-jawed man with an earnest face, was elected foreman. They balloted, and it was no surprise, they afterwards declared, that all voted alike. They prayed that they might not take a life in vain, and they opened their consciences to one another for nearly an hour so that they might go back to the courtroom convinced of their duty and of one mind.

Read Sporting Page.

In the court room sat Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., the sporting page of a newspaper spread before him. But he did not read long. He folded the paper and concealed his face with it. Those who sat near the boy of iron nerve observed a twitching of his lips as though moving in prayer, while he sat with closed eyes awaiting the return of the jury. He raised his head for a moment, dropped the paper again and began reading. Then he whispered a few words to his father and brother. It was for them he felt, and to them he counseled cheerfulness.

It was nearly dark in the court room when the jury returned. Three oil lamps gave meager luster to the scene. Sunset's red rays still streaked through the windows.

On every still rested a telegraph instrument and operators tensely waited for the announcement of the verdict. A thick mass of faces rising in an incline to the shabby ceiling stared at the jurymen. Famous jurists looked down from fly-specked paintings. In the minds of the gaping crowd remained the thought of the powerful speech of the prosecutor and his denunciation of the man "who exchanged the glow of virtue for passion's feeble taper."

The court asked the prisoner to rise. He drew himself up calmly and waited.

Shouted the Verdict.

"Have you gentlemen agreed on a verdict?" asked Judge Watson.

"We have," said Foreman Burgess. The prisoner confidently had expected a "hung jury," not acquittal or conviction. The court requested the audience not to manifest its approval or disapproval whatever the verdict.

"And what is your verdict?" asked Judge Watson, turning again to Foreman Burgess.

"Guilty," answered Burgess, but his voice was swelled by the shout of eleven others.

Unversed in law and the forms of a murder trial, the jurymen had not specified what degree of murder. Asked what degree, Mr. Burgess answered simply, "guilty as indicted."

Under Virginia practice murder is presumed to be second degree, unless otherwise specified. It was incumbent upon the jury to fix the degree, so Judge Watson advised the jurymen to confer again on the point, and seven minutes later they returned with the verdict of "murder in the first degree."

The prisoner stood erect and motionless. His face, in color a yellowish green throughout the day, was immobile. The light of a lamp cast a dreary shadow on his upturned chin as he faced the jury. His eyelids sagged, but did not blink.

With a steady gaze he held his eyes on the faces of the twelve men who had pronounced his punishment, as if to penetrate their minds and determine the reason why. It was not a resentful expression, however, and when the court asked if the prisoner had anything to say, he answered, "I have nothing to say," and sat down.

Gave Stay of Execution.

The perfunctory motions for a new trial were made by counsel for the defense. The usual granting of permission to argue the point was denied, as Judge Watson in a stern voice declared that all rulings of the court were on compaartively unimportant details and in no way could have influenced the verdict. A stay of execution was granted, however, in order to give counsel an opportunity to apply for a writ of error when the court of appeals meets in November.

Judge Watson delivered an impressive speech to the prisoner. He told how the young man had stained his own life and that of the city in which he lived by his sordid acts. When the trial first began, said Judge Watson, he had hoped that Virginia might be cleared of the crime for which not only the state felt shame, but which tht entire country deprecated. He had hoped that the counsel would prove the defendant innocent, but the evidence, he regretted to note, was all convincing and overwhelming.

"The court in this trial" said Judge Watson, "has endeavored in all its decisions to lean toward the side of the prisoner, and in its charge to the jury, as well, attempted to give him the benefit of every doubt and every opportunity to establish his innocence. The rulings mostly have been not on matters of law, but on small questions of fact.

To Die Nov. 24.

"You have had a fair and impartial trial, Mr. Beattie, and the jury has done what it considers its duty. Therefore, you have been convicted of murder in the first degree and on Nov. 24, between the hours of sunrise and sunset you must forfeit your life to the community. May God have mercy on your soul."

A moment later, by the side of his father and his brother, Douglas, their heads bowed in grief, walked young Beattie in the darkness toward his cell, 100 yards away.

But the drama of the day was not over. A sharp report and a flash rent the thick blackness outside.

"My God!" exclaimed Judge Watson, as though his mind flitted the same thought that startled hundreds around them.

But it was not another tragedy. The prisoner was seen walking on calmly. The detonation was an unusually heavy charge of a photographer's flashlight.

Broke Down and Wept.

The crowd lingered at the jail and peered into the cell, illuminated by a single lamp. On the bed, with his head in his hands, sat Beattie, his father and brother beside him. Jailer Cogbill sent the curious away. Only a few saw the prisoner break down and weep in the solitude of the cell.

An hour later the hamlet was deserted. A few hundred yards away from the jail, in a small hotel, twelve men gathered their belongings in silence and one by one they drove away into the darkness to the simple homes from which for a fortnight they had been absent.

HENRY CLAY BEATTIE, JR.

BEULAH'S STAGE JOB GOES A-GLIMMERING.

New York, Sept. 9.—The local theatrical promoter who brought Beulah Binford to this city to exploit her on the stage has abandoned the idea.

"I've made up my mind to pass the girl up," he said.

The promoter declared that certain Richmond lawyers had interested him in the girl as a theatrical venture. He said they had one of their clerks conduct negotiations and were to get a percentage of the girl's earnings.

Immediately upon her release from the jail, where she had been held for possible testimony, she disappeared from Chesterfield, hurried to New York and almost at the hour when the jury was registering its verdict that carried the penalty of electrocution for her quondam companion, she was posing for motion pictures at Staten Island.

Scored by W. C. T. U.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 9.—Calling on all other Woman's Christiance union assemblies to take similar action, the Jefferson county W. C. T. U., meeting in annual session here, pledged itself and its members to their utmost efforts to prevent the appearance here on the stage of moving pictures of Beulah Binford. Resolutions adopted characterize her intent to appear on the stage as "brazen effrontery" and are so severely denunciittory that local newspapers declined to print the original text.

MRS. EDDY NOT PARTY TO HEIRS' SETTLEMENT?

Concord, N. H., Sept. 9.—That Mrs. Mary Baker Eddy, founder of the Christian Science church, was not a party to the settlement made with her heirs, is the opinion of former United States Senator William E. Chandler, given in his deposition in the superior court as counsel for George W. Glover of Lead, S. D., in the action against Henry M Baker, executor of the will of Mr. Glover's mother, Mrs. Eddy.

Mr. Chandler also deposed that at the time the settlement was made, he was not aware of the provision in the will creating a residuary bequest which he is now contesting in behalf of Mrs. Eddy's son. He completed the giving of his deposition late yesterday and adjournment was taken until Monday.

"Please Take Me In" Reads Note Pinned to the Clothing.

A baby about 10 months old was left last evening at the home of John Mailman, 19 South Forty-third avenue east. The police were notified and last evening it was taken in charge by Mrs. Mary Walsh, police matron. As thorough an investigation as possible was made of the case last night, but no trace was found which would lead to the identity of the parents. With the baby were two extra pairs of shoes, three extra dresses, and considerable underclothing. Attached to the underwear was a note which read as follows:

"My father and mother are dead. I am 10 months old. Please take me in and give me your name. My food is boiled milk with a little water in it. Give me a little cracker and milk two or three times a day or a piece of bread to chew on. And please do not send me to the children's home, and no one in Duluth knows anything about me."

It is supposed that the baby was left at the Mailman home because the light was still burning in an upstairs window, leading to the conclusion that all had not retired. The surrounding houses were dark.

ON THE IRON RANGES

NEW $60,000 FAYAL SCHOOL AT EVELETH

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The new $60,000 Fayal school, which will supplant the old frame Fayal building, and which is now being erected by Contractor John Donland of Superior, Wis., promises to be the most modern school structure in the state when completed in January. It will be two stories high and will contain a basement. The basement will be occupied by the manual training, domestic science and industrial departments, with a large gymnasium as one of its features. The gymnasium will be 75 by 30 and will be used for all interscholastic games and exercises.

The two main floors will be modern in every particular, with large corridors, fire escapes and other features provided. The building will contain ten rooms and a principal's office. Kindergarten and playrooms will also be provided and equipment necessary to adequate kindergarten and grade instruction installed. The building will be fireproof and of fine design. The building is to be completed by Jan. 20, under the terms of the contract.

ENTERTAINED AT OLIVER CLUB

Steel Officials Given Smoker and Reception at Hibbing.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Last evening at the Oliver club house on Cedar street the high officials of the United States Steel corporation and also all the visitors who came to Hibbing in the afternoon by special train to inspect the mine holdings of the company at this place, were entertained by the club in a smoker, reception and entertainment.

Athletic exhibitions, impromptu talks and musical selections by Tucker's orchestra, formed the divertisement of the evening, after which refreshments were served.

At the conclusion of the evening's entertainment the visitors were unanimous in their praise of the Oliver club, its membership and its elegant quarters.

Greeted At Virginia.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 9.—The officials of the Steel corporation spent several hours here yesterday looking over the mines. The party was greeted at the Missabe depot on its arrival by the Boys' Military band and a committee of the Commercial club, consisting of F. E. Lister, Mayor Andrew Hawkinson, William Rooney, James Lavich and Alexander Reid. Owing to the brief stay of the party in the city little could be done for their entertainment.

WATER AND LIGHT BOARD IS WANTED

Petition Signed for Appointment of Commission at Virginia.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—A petition said to contain the names of upwards of 25 per cent of the registered voters of the city at the last election has been presented to the city council through the city clerk, requesting the passage of an ordinance providing for the appointment of a special water and light commission of five members, empowered to thoroughly investigate the water and light problem and take such steps as may be necessary to bring about municipal ownership of the water and light plant.

The ordinance provides further that the commissioners shall serve for two years and for an appropriation of $2,500 to meet the necessary expenses in connection with an investigation as well as other important provisions.

Under the terms of the city charter, in case the city council does not care to pass the measure without change, it must be submitted to the voters at a special election to be called within thirty days after the city clerk certifies the petition to the council as having the requisite number of legal signatures as provided for under the city charter. Under the city charter initiative legislation must be submitted to the voters at a special election in case at least 15 per cent of the registered voters of the last election sign the necessary petition and in case 7 per cent of the registered voters sign the petition it must be submitted at the next regular election, the alternative being in each case the passage of the initiative legislation unchanged by the council. The Progressive league is back of the initiative movement.

ADDRESS ISSUED TO THE FARMERS

Commercial Club of Virginia Asks Their Presence Sept. 15.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Commercial club has issued the following address to the farmers for miles in every direction from Virginia:

Virginia, Minn., Dear Sir: The Commercial club of Virginia invites you to spend a day in the city. The club realizes that you need good roads to market your products. The organization stands ready to help you get these roads. In order to accomplish this we must get together and show the county commissioners what roads you are most in need of and by a concerted action get what the farmers of this northern country deserve. In order to get together on this and other projects the Commercial club of Virginia has designated Sept. 15 as Farmers' day and you and your family are earnestly requested to be present at this meeting. The club will put forth its best efforts to give you a good time and we want you to feel that the day has been set aside for your special benefit and for your special entertainment. The keys of the city will be turned over to you and you and yours will be given the freedom of the city for the day. Talks on good roads will be given by men well versed in these matters so that all may become enlightened as to the needs of the farmers in this section.

On this day the club wants you to bring in something to show your progress in the agricultural line to the citizens of Virginia and all those who will be present on that day that the northern part of Minnesota is not backward in raising all kinds of products of the farm variety.

Premium ribbons will be given for the best varieties of all kinds of products, blue for the first, red for the second and white for the third prize.

So be sure and be here on Sept. 15 and bring something good with you if it is nothing more than a smile. Yours for good roads, etc.

COMMERCIAL CLUB,
N. B. ARNOLD, president.
W. J. ARCHER, secretary.

Replies received from numerous farmers and points in all directions indicate a big attendance, providing the weather is propitious. It has rained here every day this week and may be rained out before Sept. 15, Farmers' day.

VIRGINIA LODGE IS NOW IN LEAD

Contest for Banner Modern Woodmen Lodge Now Proceeding.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual contest for the banner Modern Woodmen of America lodge in Minnesota is on, and Virginia Camp No. 2955 is thus far in the lead with a good margin. Minnehaha camp of St. Paul won the banner last year. The local camp last year had 187 members. At this time the number is 450 with every one of them a booster, judging from the movement now on to boost the membership 100 per cent between Sept. 1 and Dec. 19.

Three prizes will be awarded by the local lodge to members credited with the most new members for the last quarter of the year. The premiums are now on display by the Johnson Supply company, the Finnish Hardware company and the Virginia Store company. The next county convention will come to Virginia, through the efforts of this camp's delegates early in the spring while attending the convention in Duluth. It is expected that the membership of the local camp will be fully 600 by Dec. 19.

DEMASSE'S SECOND TRIAL.

Will Now Face Charge of Carrying a Concealed Weapon.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The district court has adjourned until Monday, as the trial of Emil Putika for shooting Mike Saari in the leg ended more suddenly than expected. Putika was found not guilty. The charge against Bruno Demasse, for carrying a concealed weapon will be taken up next. At his trial for murder, Demasse admitted pulling a revolver with which he shot Delamonte in self-defense.

At the close of this case, Matt Lake will be placed on trial on the charge of assault in the first degree, it being alleged that on July 9 he stabbed Charles Lampala at the home of the latter in Eveleth.

THOMPSON WILL OPPOSE KIMBALL

Former Mayor of Virginia Accepts Nomination for Alderman.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—A. N. Thompson, who was nominated for the office of alderman in the Fourth ward at a caucus held early in the week on the municipal ownership of the light and water plant, has decided to accept the nomination and will make a canvass for the position. The election will be held Sept. 26 and was called in compliance with a recall petition of 25 per cent of the voters of the ward who desired to recall Alderman Kimball on the issue of municipal ownership. The recall petition was presented to the council several months ago. That body carried the matter into the courts, and a district court decision resulted in the special election being called in accordance with the terms of the charter.

Alderman Kimball has served on the council for several terms and has been regarded as a very efficient public servant and has many friends who will work for his retention in the council. Mr. Thompson was some years ago mayor of Virginia and is credited with a good record and is quite popular. He is thoroughly committed to municipal ownership of the electric light and water plant and the campaign will be conducted with that issue in the foreground.

CREAMERY SHOWS GOOD RESULTS

Grand Rapids Patrons Find They Are Getting Fine Returns.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first settlement for the Itasca Co-operative creamery at this place proved very satisfactory to the patrons, the handsome price of 27 cents being paid for butter fat which was churned into butter, and 35 cents for sweet cream which was sold to the sweet cream trade. The creamery has been running only since Aug. 17, and during the short time which it has been running the products of the creamery have made a name for themselves, and although the output of the creamery is about 1,000 pounds per week, including cream and butter, the demand in Grand Rapids alone is far in excess of the production, and the creamery is receiving requests for its products from all of the surrounding towns and from other points abroad.

The good price paid for butter fat is due largely to the large sweet cream trade which the creamery enjoys, but it is also due partly to the fact that the state farm cream receipts for cream which was shipped direct from the farm to Hibbing were turned in to the creamery association, bringing up the total receipts, and consequently the individual checks, to much more than they would otherwise have been.

John Trop, who lives on Shoal lake, has the distinction of having received the largest cream check at the first payment, having received for the fourteen days, that the creamery has been running from nine cows, a check for a little better than $30.

TEACHER RESIGNS.

Miss Emma Gehring Will Leave Chisholm to Enter Columbia.

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Miss Emma Gehring, who has just entered upon her third year as a primary instructor in the Chisholm schools will enter Columbia university on Sept. 22, and has tendered her resignation to the local school board to take effect Sept. 17. The Columbia scholarship is a present to Miss Gehring from friends and comes to her as a complete surprise, the announcement coming by wire. Miss Gehring, whose home is at Larimore, N. D., has been highly successful in her work here, and while her departure is greatly regretted her friends rejoice with her in her good fortune. Miss Gehring will leave for New York on the 17th and expects to further advance her knowledge in the field of kindergarten work at Columbia.

FAMOUS BEAUTIES NEVER GET FAT

Womankind wonders why famous beauties grow old, but do not grow fat. They live at silken ease, amid the porcelain flesh pots. The wine, that puffs out obscure mortals, flows not illiberally down their alabaster throats. Yet their life-long loaf does not thicken their limbs nor double their chins. What is the secret of the long-lived gracefulness of the hauton?

One-half ounce Marmola, ½ oz. Fl. Ex. Cascara Aromatic, 3½ oz. Peppermint Water. This is the famous Marmola Prescription, long familiar to the fashionable pharmacists of the world and their clientele, but which has only recently penetrated to the knowledge of the hoi polloi of womankind. Since when, for convenience sake, it has been put into elegant pocket form, the Marmola Prescription Tablet, which can now be had of well nigh any druggist, fashionable and ordinary, or the Marmola Co., 491 Farmer Bldg., Detroit, Mich., in large cases for seventy-five cents.

With this tablet any woman can reduce, be losing a pound a day, in a few weeks; take off fat (where it shows most) on chin, abdomen, hips, etc., without need for exercising, table restraint, fear of wrinkles, or the slightest physical harm or uneasiness.

FINE SHOWING IN THE ALMAR SHAFT

Formation in the Drift Indicates It Is Going Toward High-Grade Ore.

Tower, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Reports from the Almar shaft, midway between here and Ely, in the main body of the Soudan iron formation, received here today, are of a most encouraging nature. The shaft is down 140 feet and a drift is being run from the 128-foot level to reach what experts predict is a large body of high-grade ore. The material coming from the drift is changing rapidly from greenstone to an iron formation. The drift first went through the wall of the greenstone, which blankets every iron formation on the Vermilion range. Then it penetrated a retaining wall of jasper and is now in graphitic rock, which is iron-stained. The further the drift proceeds the more apparent is the fact that it is going toward an iron ore body.

Upon these excellent reports, the Almar Iron Mining company decided, beginning next Monday, to work night as well as day shifts to reach the ore body in the least possible time. The company has also ordered 1,000 additional feet of non-rotating cable and acetylene gas lamps for underground work and for surface work at night. The drift will be driven 100 feet due south from the shaft and then cross-cutting will be done east and west. The miners and other employes at the shaft are applying for shares in the company, which speaks well for its prospects.

Walter Harvey Weed, the famous geological and mining engineer of New York City, recently made a thorough inspection of the Almar property, and a copy of his report has just reached here. He declares that the Almar shaft is in almost the middle of the tract between Ely and Tower which is ore bearing and contains all of the producing mines on the Vermilion range and that it is at a point where the width of the iron formation is generous and the surface conditions favorable for ore deposition. Mr. Weed says that the Almar property has been well-selected, has extremely favorable surface conditions and the geologic structure indicates the presence of a workable body of iron ore. He also says: "The Almar property, in the surface exposure, the underground workings and in some fifteen test pits, shows conditions which indicate the proximity of an ore body. I believe that the two dikes seen crossing this property determine the existence of at least one ore body some 600 feet long, but of unknown thickness and quality. The southern limit of the Soudan formation is considered a most favorable location for ore deposition. This contact lies just outside the Almar property, but dips into it, and as the contact is marked by a depression which may represent geological conditions, it is believed that this contact is well worthy of thorough exploration."

In view of these conditions, Dr. Weed figured that 128 feet is well below surface water level and that at that depth a crosscut should be driven south to intercept the ore body which outcrops some thirty-five feet from the shaft and that from this point drifts should be run along the iron-bearing jasper in both directions, but especially westward. In concluding his report, Dr. Weed says: "The proposition is a legitimate and promising mining venture with all the geological earmarks indicating the presence of an ore body." In its drifting and crosscutting the company is following out the suggestions of this noted mining expert.

MOTHER AND BOY BEING SOUGHT

Mrs. Towne of Two Harbors Pursued By Husband to St. Paul.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 9.—Following a sensational escape from detectives who had been sent to watch her, Mrs. J. C. Towne, wife of the register of deeds of Lake county, Minn., is said to have come to St. Paul from Two Harbors Wednesday night, and is believed by her husband to be in hiding in this city. Mr. an Mrs. Towne have been separated for about two months.

St. Paul detectives and Sheriff Nelson of Lake county, have searched the city for Mrs. Towne and her 5-year-old son, but were not able to get any trace of her. It was reported that she was with friends on Magnolia street, but the officers did not find her there, and they believe either that she is being kept under cover or has gone to Minneapolis. Sheriff Nelson is in Minneapolis looking for her.

TO MEET AT TWO HARBORS.

Y. M. C. A. Secretaries Will Hold Fall Meeting Next Tuesday.

Two Harbors, Minn., Sept. 9.—The annual fall meeting of the secretaries of the Young Men's Christian association of Northern Minnesota will be held at Two Harbors on Sept. 12. The Northern Minnesota division includes the associations of Two Harbors, Proctor, Duluth, Cloquet and Brainerd, and the secretaries will discuss a number of matters of interest to them. A new one on this year's program is the 'Men and Religion Forward Movement' undertaken throughout the entire country with a view to interesting and enlisting the services of men in the work of the churches. In the afternoon, if the weather is favorable, the secretaries will enjoy a picnic at the park.

DAMAGE TO ROADBEDS BY THE HEAVY RAINS.

Nashwauk, Minn., Sept. 9.—Heavy rains which have been falling here intermittently for over a week have caused considerable damage to roadbeds of railroads running in here. Yesterday afternoon the roadbed of a spur line owned by the Wisconsin Steel company, and which leads to the Wisconsin concentrating plant, gave way and a train of thirteen cars were wrecked. A similar accident happened earlier in the week when a portion of the track was entirely submerged, sinking forty feet into the muskeg bog.

Attended a Wedding.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Nides and children arrived home from Duluth Thursday evening at which place Mrs. Nides and children visited relatives for the last month and where Mrs. Nides went a few days ago to attend the wedding of a relative.

CLOSES RESORT FOR THE SEASON

Two Harbors, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Erick Johnson, who conducts the Tourists Home at Tobin's harbor, Isle Royale, has closed up his resort for the season and came down on Tuesday's boat. Mr. Johnson resides on Fifth avenue, this city.

The Duluth & Iron Range railroad is putting in a concrete basement and cement sidewalks at the Lusch section house at Waldo. This is the fourth section house along the line fixed up in a similar manner. The next section house to be fixed will be the one located at Highland.

Miss Alta Schwartz returned Wednesday from a visit to the Twin Cities and Milwaukee, Wis.

Hjalmer Westberg, who has been employed by D. K. Anderson the past summer, left this week for Canada.

Miss Eva Lusch of Waldo left Monday for Chelsea, Mich., where she is employed as teacher of music and drawing in the high school.

Charles Blucher and D. A. Olauson have purchased Fred Hagberg's saloon business on the corner of First avenue and Cedar street and will conduct the same in the future.

MARKET CHANGES OWNERS.

Two Harbors, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—C. W. Carr has purchased from the People's Co-operative company the meat market operated by that company for the past three years. Mr. Carr has had charge of the market for some months past and did a satisfactory business, but the company had been placed under a heavy indebtedness previous to his taking charge, from which is was unable to recover.

T. E. Freeman, who has succeeded L. H. Bryan as general foreman of the Duluth & Iron Range shops, arrived in Two Harbors Monday and has taken up the duties of his new position. He will soon be followed by his wife and children. Mr. Freeman was general foreman of the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha shops at Sioux City, Iowa. He comes here to these shops highly recommended as a railroad man.

ELY HIGH SCHOOL.

Ely, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—This will be a banner year in the high school, the number of students being well toward the 125 mark. It will also have the largest number of graduates at the end of the school year, there now being twenty-two seniors. A noticeable fact is the large number of pupils who are taking the commercial courses. Three or four years ago very few had anything to do with any of the commercial studies, though the department was modern and up-to-date. Now, however, two-thirds of the high school is or would take the commercial course, but as the department could not handle such a large number, a number of the freshman studies have been taken out of the course.

BIG GAME PLENTIFUL.

Ely, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Yesterday, J. H. McClaren, with a few friends, arrived from two weeks' outing and report an excellent time. With an able guide, they saw much of the beauties of Northern Minnesota woods, and also fishing and hunting. They saw much game, on three or four different occasions seeing as many as four moose or deer in a day, they having met on their trip a total of twelve moose. As it is unlawful to kill big game yet, they did not bring down any of the king of the woods, but they promised to come in the hunting season and try their luck in the big game.

Much big game is being seen around the near by woods, a party recently coming in with a bear and a cub, and also a coyote. That is the first coyote seen in town, they being so scarce and so shy of the gunners. Quite a few nimrods are enjoying themselves now in duck hunting.

BIG PROFIT IN FARMING.

Ely, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The farmers around here and the White Iron district are beginning to gather in the fruits of their labors, which consist mostly of potatoes, cabbage, rutabagas, carrots, etc. This year has been a very bountiful one around here, and if the rain that has been drizzling for the last four days will stop before the products begin to rot, they will have one of the finest crops of potatoes and other products seen in years, as is shown by the samples dug and sold.

That farming is profitable here goes without saying, providing the farmer is a hustler, one farmer claiming he made $700 on his farm products, mostly such as cabbage, rutabagas, carrots and potatoes. This was sold during the high price of potatoes, when they sold at $2.50 a bushel.

Another man was offered lately $500 for his potatoes in the field, which he had managed to raise during his spare time and with the help of his sons. The land does not belong to him but to a company which is holding it for a mineral investment. From time to time he has cleared land until now he has about fifteen acres cleared. He refused the $500 offer, but wants $700 for it.

LAKE COUNTY FAIR.

Two Harbors Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The rainy weather of the past week has delayed the work on the new fair buildings. However, it is expected that the buildings will be ready in ample time to prepare them for the fifth annual fair to be held Sept. 21, 22 and 23.

The county commissioners appropriated $500 for the help of the fair through John Swan, representative of the Lake County Agricultural association. No meeting was held Monday evening on account of its being a holiday. A number of fair directors have attended the state fair and have many new ideas.

PURCHASES RESIDENCE.

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—A. Cyr, member of the Chisholm fire department, this week closed a deal by which he became the owner of the Joe Cummings residence property located at 225 Birch street. The consideration is understood to have been $1,200.

Representative Knapp is attending to legal business in the Twin Cities this week, and incidentally viewing the state fair and mingling with the state politicians.

Mr. and Mrs Leon Taylor left Monday morning for Bitter Root, Mont., for the annual inspection of their fruit ranch. They joined a large party at Duluth bound for the famous apple district and expect to be gone a month, during which time they will take many side trips through the Bitter Root valley.

George Trask has returned from his home at Orilla, Ont., after a month's visit with his folks, and has resumed his position as clerk of the municipal court. Mr. Gorman, who occupied the position during the absence of Mr. Trask, has taken his old position with the Oliver Iron Mining company.

Remains Taken to Boscobel.

Two Harbors, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—A short service was held over the remains of Mrs. George Thompson at the home Thursday afternoon, and the remains were taken to Boscobel, Wis. Mrs. Thompson died suddenly Tuesday evening at her home on Third avenue. Her death was due to blood poisoning. She had been a resident of Two Harbors for twenty-five years. She is survived by her husband and two adopted children, Marian May and Lester Bishop; two brothers and two sisters and aged mother.

WOMEN BADLY SCARED

By Strange Actions of Man at the French Location.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—According to Albert Campeau, a resident of the French location, about a mile west of Hibbing, a man who goes under the name of Hagen sometimes and at others Kallen, is amusing himself in chasing unprotected women who pass his way in both the French and Poole locations.

Campeau says that the man hides behind rocks and large stumps and suddenly pounces out on the women as they pass him. He often chases them for blocks, he states. Whether he means to harm them or not is not known, but it is stated that all of the women of that locality are in fear of the man and his strange actions.

SAYS THREAT CHARGE IS POLITICAL PLOT.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Alderman Gust Kauppi of the Fifth ward this morning pleaded guilty to a charge of threatening to kill, preferred by H. Press, a local clothing clerk. Kauppi declares the charge is a part of a conspiracy to hurt his political chances. The trial will begin Monday before Judge Mollinis in municipal court. Ten dollars bonds were furnished.

HARVEST HOME FESTIVAL TO BE GIVEN AT EVELETH.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first harvest home supper entertainment ever held here will be given Sept. 21 by the Ladies' Aid society of the First Presbyterian church. The affair is now in the hands of committees and a hall for the entertainment will soon be secured.

The dance given last evening at Vail hall under the auspices of the E. O. N. H., with music being furnished by the Owls' orchestra, proved a success, many being in attendance both from Eveleth and the surrounding towns.

HIGH SCHOOL BUILDING AT EVELETH CROWDED.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Every effort is being made to accomodate the large number of students who are attending the local high school building. The large freshman and eighth grade classes have made the large high school assembly room unable to meet the demands of the many students.

The school board room has been converted into a recitation room, and yesterday the equipment of the superintendent's office was moved to the Missable Mountain Township hall to make room for another recitation room. Cyril Williams, who has been assisting in the business end of the schools, will also have an office at the Township hall, where kindergarten classes occupy the second floor. The high school library room will remain, with Miss Teckla Jackson in charge.

EVELETH BASEBALL TEAM DISBANDS FOR SEASON.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Eveleth city team, which won second place in the Eastern Minnesota league, has disbanded for the season. Manager Prince, who was also secretary and treasurer of the league, is arranging for a meeting when plans for the second season of the organization will be formulated.

Manager Ray Marty of the Elks' nine is arranging a game with the Virginia Elks and will also try to get a game with a scrub team composed chiefly of Eveleth city team players.

Regular football practice will commence in earnest by the squads of the high school, which will be coached this season by Prof. John S. Peoples, who trained last season's elevens.

RANGE MINISTERS MEET AT EVELETH ON MONDAY.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—All is in readiness for the second monthly meeting of the Range Ministerial association to be held here Monday at the Methodist Episcopal church. The guests will be entertained at the church at the noon hour by the Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Episcopal church with a luncheon. About twenty-five members of the association are expected to be in attendance at the gathering.

VIRGINIA PERSONALS.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to the Herald.—Miss Clementina Smith of Biwabik spent Sunday in the city a guest of her sister, Mrs. Murdock McDonald.

Mrs. W. E. Hiles of Spokane, Wash., was the guest this week of her brother, W. E. Davis of the Virginian.

Miss Genevieve Murphy left for her home in Chicago after a five weeks' visit with Miss Dallie Lindsay.

Miss Dilworth, who has been visiting with her grandparents in Fargo, N. D., for several weeks, returned home Sunday.

Attorney and Mrs. Albert Shipley returned Wednesday from a two weeks' outing at Joyce's landing and are keeping house on Beech street.

Entertainment By Elks.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local Elks have succeeded in securing the Schubert Symphony club and Lady quartet for Virginia and this musical organization will appear under the auspices of the Elks at the opera house the evening of Sept. 27.

Spent Summer In Hibbing.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 9.—J. F. Jershe, who has spent the summer in Hibbing as the guest of his sister, Mrs. J. A. Cartier, has left for Collegeville, to resume his studies at St. John's university at that place.

Has Narrow Escape.

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—While young Isaac Hubbard was examining a shot gun at the Hubbard home in this city Tuesday evening, the weapon suddenly went off, the charge going clear through the side of a house. Isaac's mother was standing within two feet of him when the unforseen discharge happened but luckily he had the gun pointed away from her.

In Honor of Miss Galloway.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Misses Lella and Effie Torrence entertained a few friends at their home, 329 Mahoning street, Thursday evening in honor of Miss Fay Galloway, who will leave Sunday to attend school in Indiana. The evening was spent in playing five hundred.

Ball Game at Biwabik.

Biwabik, Minn., Sept. 9.—Biwabik and the Virginia Mohamis will play on the Biwabik grounds Sunday afternoon. These two teams have played three games this season, of which Biwabik has won two and the Mohamis one. The most notable of these encounters was the Fourth of July game in Virginia, when the teams contested for gate receipts and a purse of $50, Biwabik won.

Teachers Entertained.

Gilbert, Minn., Sept. 9.—The teachers of School District No. 18, were given a reception last night by the school board, and an interesting program of reading and musical selections was given. La Brosse's Orchestra of Duluth furnished the music.

LATEST SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

FANS LONG ON ADVICE

Big League Managers Are Flooded With Letters From "Experts."

Leaders in Race Are Special Targets for Their "Help."

Chicago, Sept. 9.—The assistant managers of the Cubs are getting busy. And there certainly is a large bunch of them. They imagine that they know just how the West side team should be conducted in order to bring another pennant to the West side. It wouldn't be so bad if they possessed the knowledge and kept it to themselves. But they don't. They insist and persist in telling Chance just how to run the team.

Chance was sitting in the headquarters of the Cubs recently. The telephone bell rang and the West side manager was called.

"Is this Manager Chance?" he was asked.

"It is," was the reply.

"Well, who are you going to pitch this afternoon against St. Louis?"

"Well, who is this?" queried the manager.

"Now the thing for you to do is to pitch some of those younsters," continued the voice. "Now," but the fellow got no further. Chance hung up the receiver.

"What's the trouble," he was asked.

"Oh, another assistant manager," was his answer.

Which caused one Mordecai Brown to laugh. For while no one attempts to tell how the West side team should be conducted, there are a lot of fellows who write and tell him just how to pitch to certain batters. There is a fellow down in Pittsburg who is a great friend of Brownie. That is, the West side twirler believes he is, for he is continually and constantly telling the three-fingered pitcher just how to set Wagner down on strikes.

"I get a letter from him every few days telling me just what to pitch to Hans. He saw Alexander fan him once on three roundhouse curves. I get an average of two letters from him a week."

Then there is a fellow in New York who has written both Chance and Brown. He argues that the Giants haven't a chance. You would be surprised at the interest which some of these fans display. They figure that the Cubs are still in the running. They also realize that it is to be a desperate fight and they have the idea that they know exactly what ails the West siders.

"The trouble is, you don't pitch Reulbach often enough," writes one fellow. "You should pitch him every other day because he needs a lot of work. If you could get him to win a few games in a row he would be a grand pitcher."

The assistant manager fans are not confined to Chicago by any means. It's a certainty that McGraw receives them and that some are in the mail for Fred Clarke. When the Tigers and Athletics were neck and neck Hugh Jennings used to get them. They merely show the interest of the fans. For there are mighty few of these fellows who do not possess the idea that they could make a runaway race of it if they but had the opportunity of stepping into the managerial shoes.

ARMSTRONG IS DEFEATED

After Splendid Showing, Minnesota Man Is Beaten By Whitney of Harvard.

Philadelphia, Sept. 9.—Princeton won the championship in the doubles of the intercollegiate lawn tennis tournament by scoring victories over Harvard in both matches in the semi-final round. The singles championship between Harvard and Yale will be decided tomorrow.

The significance of Princeton's victories lies in the fact that they insure the championship trophy remaining in competition for another year. Seven points are necessary for permanent possession of the cup, a win in singles and a win in doubles counting one point each.

As a result of today's finals in the singles, either Yale or Harvard will be tied with Pennsylvania for the lead, with six points each, while the losers will be tied with Princeton for second place with five points each.

In the singles, the feature match was the defeat of J. J. Armstrong of the University of Minnesota, the Western intercollegiate champion, by E. H. Whitney of Harvard. The latter won by three sets to one.

NOVICES ARE LEARNING.

Candidates for places in the work boats for the novice regatta on Sept. 16 are coming out rapidly, and while there is still room for a large number of men, the places are filling up with aspiring huskies at a fair rate. Ten Eyck has a crew or two on the water every night.

A veteran will row in the stroke and bow positions in each boat. The experienced men have been apportioned between these two positions as follows:

Stroke: Kent, Thorben, Tronsen, Puck, Thompson, Slack, Soley, Dougan.

Bow: Quinn, Grant, Quimby, L'Estrange, Paddock, O'Donnell, Longton, Helmick.

Golfers at Rye, N. Y.

Rye, N. Y., Sept. 9.—Some nine score of golfers from nearly all the prominent Eastern links and a few from the South, Canada and England streamed into this old shore town today to get their bearings of the traps and the roll of the fair green of the Apawamis course, where the championship of the country will be fought out next week.

SCHULTE FOULS BALL THIRTEEN TIMES.

Chicago, Sept. 9.—Saier scored from first base on Needham's single, beating the relay of the ball to the plate in the eleventh inning, and Chicago won, 3 to 2, over Cincinnati. The visitors took a two-run lead on two passes, a stolen base, an error and a single. Chicago tied it up by timely hitting, coupled with a hit by a pitched ball. Schulte made thirteen fouls before he finally struck out with the bases full in the eighth. Score: R. H. E.

BROOKLYN HELD SAFE BY MARQUARD.

New York, Sept. 9.—Marquard held the Brooklyn team safe in every inning but one today and New York won by a score of 3 to 2. With one out in the seventh both Smith and Hummel doubled and Davidson followed with a long single, the combination netting Brooklyn two runs. Rucker was easy for the Giants but Knetzer, who pitched the last five innings, held the locals hitless. Only sixteen men faced him. Murray twice drawing passes, but being doubled up on one occasion. TIGERS SLIP FURTHER AWAY FROM PENNANT.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 9.—Chicago pounded three Detroit pitchers for a total of sixteen hits and won, 9 to 3. Walsh pitched good ball after the first inning. Remarkable fielding by Bush kept down the score. Berghamer, a recruit from the Central association, made his first appearance at second for Chicago. Score: R. H. E.

KANSAS CITY WINS TWO FROM SAINTS.

St. Paul Sept. 9.—St. Paul dropped both games of a double-header to Kansas City by scores of 5 to 1 and 5 to 2. The locals outhit the visitors in the first game but gave a wierd exhibition of base running. Pitcher Dauss, formerly with Winona of the Minnesota-Wisconsin league reported to St. Paul this afternoon. Scores:

MILLERS TAKE TWO FROM THE BREWERS.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 9.—Minneapolis won both games of a double-header with Milwaukee by scores of 13 to 1 and 8 to 6. The home club featured the afternoon with 32 hits. Cravath got his twenty-fourth home run of the season. Third Baseman Clark was benched by Umpire Eddinger in the first game and Pitcher Dougherty was sent off the bench. In the second game Umpire Ferguson put Lewis out of the game. Scores:

First game: R. H. E.

COLONELS SPLIT DOUBLE WITH COLUMBUS.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 9.—Loulsville broke even with Columbus in a double-header, the visitors winning the first and the locals the second. Criss was a puzzle in the second, which was called at the end of the sixth inning on account of darkness. This was the Columbus club's last appearance of the season here. The score:

First game— R. H. E.
Louisville .....0 0 0 0 0 1 0 2 0—3 11 0
Columbus .....4 0 0 0 2 0 1 0 0—7 12 3

WILL SCOUT AGAIN.

Darby O'Brien is planning to leave soon for Cleveland to pick up new players. Darby is long on the scouting game and has not purchased a player since he has been at Duluth. Woodburn, Miller and Leber are among the finds of the Duluth manager and he thinks there are more where they came from. All these men came from Cleveland or the surrounding towns.

All-Star Baseball Match.

Richmond, Va., Sept. 9.—Probably the biggest sporting event in the history of Richmond will come off when an all-star baseball team including Ty Cobb and managed by James McAleer of the Washington club, will meet the Athletics, the champion baseball team of the world, on Oct. 11 and probably again on Oct. 12.

THREE DULUTH BOYS WHO EXPECT TO STAR ON BIG COLLEGE ELEVENS THIS YEAR

"BILL" CRAWFORD,
Who Is Expected to Make Pennsy Team.

"HANK" BOYLE,
Hailed as Another Eckersall.

ELMER McDEVITT,
Who Will Be a Yale Standby.

At least three Duluth boys will probably be playing football this season on big college teams. Elmer McDevitt, "Bill" Crawford and "Hank" Boyle are due to star in some of the most important of this season's games.

McDevitt, former high school captain and halfback, and one of the fastest big men that ever played here, has gone back to Yale in response to the call of Camp and his staff of assistants to begin the fall work. "Muck" got his "Y" last year in a line position and is regarded as a sure thing in this season's work.

Boyle will return to Michigan. The little quarter made a wonderful showing on the Michigan freshman team last fall and with McMillan gone is pretty sure to be the man who will call the signals for Yost's great team. Those who watched Boyle work last year are calling him a second Eckersall, and Yost is said to be counting on him for the pivot of what he has forecasted as "the greatest team Michigan ever had."

"Big Bill" Crawford will go back to Pennsy during the coming week to arrive in time to answer the first call for practice at the Eastern school. Crawford did valiant second team work at Pennsylvania last season, and aside from his weight and speed has a valiant toe that should be a feature if Bill "arrives" this season. He was one of the strongest men in reserve on the Quaker staff last year and Eastern predictions of this year's line-up consider the Duluth man as one of the most likely candidates.

EFFECT IS DISCUSSED

New Rules Lessening Forward Pass Penalty Are Criticized.

Some Authorities Fear Line Plunging Against Necessarily Weakened Defense.

Considerable discussion is being aroused by the changes in the football rules for this season which lessen the penalties for failure when making forward passes. Whether this is a desirable thing is a matter for widely variant opinions among coaches and players, and there seems to be a lot which may be said on either side.

While it can clearly be seen that the lessening of the penalty for the forward pass will open up the game a little more, it may also result in just the thing which is trying to be avoided—that is, that with the more open game that is expected the teams will be taught to play an even more open defense than before, and result in coaches taking advantage of the fact and hurling the main power of their attack at the much weakened line of the defensive eleven. Whether this condition of affairs will be brought about by the change is something that cannot be told uptil the season is ended.

It would seem, though, that the same tactics which were pursued last season will be in order in the majority of the colleges this year in that practically all the coaches will try to develop a system that will be a happy medium. While a premium will probably be placed on speed and open work, it is more than likely that a great deal of close work and line plunging will also be seen, because it will be almost necessary, as unless some play of that kind were in the repertoire of a team the eleven on the defensive could simply lay for the end runs and forward passes and the ground gained would be little, and it would be vice versa with a team which held to the old tactics, as did Yale during the first half of last season. It can be seen, though, that the team which has just enough of each in its offensive play always to keep the defensive aggregation guessing as to what is coming is the one that will gain the ground and be successful under the present conditions.

Of course, there will always be a premium on line plunging, and as long as football is played under anything like the present rules that feature of the game is not apt to be eliminated, for the simple reason that it is an effective method of gaining ground, and no coach will do away with any means by which he may hope to gain a few needed yards. It is an effective method of gaining ground for the simple reason that now, for fear that a forward pass may be shot out to some player who is loose, and a touchdown result, the defending teams always play an open defense, which necessiates the backfield men playing some distance back of the line of scrimmage, and the line itself is not strong enough to withstand the rushes of the heavy line plunger who is sure to be back of the line on every team.

INTERNATIONAL TOURNAMENT

Americans Play English at Tennis for Right to Meet Australians.

New York, Sept. 9.—Provided the clouds that completely obscured the sun did not bring rain, the weather today was distinctly favorable to the British lawn tennis team for the opening of the international elimination tournament this afternoon.

The tournament, which is scheduled to continue Monday and Tuesday, will dedfde whether Great Britain or the United States will send a team to Australia this winter to challenge for the Davis cup, now held by that country.

The turf courts are in superb condition and the number of tickets sold indicated that a crowd of nearly 3,000 persons would witness the opening matches. Singles were scheduled for today, William A. Larned, the national champion, being pitted against C. P. Dixon, captain of the British team, and Maurice E. McLaughlin of California, the challenger at the recent national championship tournament, against Arthur H. Lowe.

LATEST SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

(Written by Albert B. Wegener, Physical Director Y. M. C. A.)

Without doubt hand ball is the most fascinating indoor game and has many advantages over other games either indoor or outdoor.

Other things being equal, an outdoor game is always preferable to an indoor one on account of the fresh air and sunshine, but most outdoor games have so many other handicaps that some indoor games in the end are more beneficial because they can be played whenever the player wishes. This is true of hand ball.

It is a game that originated in Ireland about a hundred years ago, where it was played outdoors against a wall or specially built back stop, and it has been played much since then in the same way. Indeed the game can be played with a tennis ball up against any flat surface such as the side of a building if there is a level ground space for the court twenty-five feet wide by fifty feet long or thereabouts. These outdoor courts vary so much that almost any size court and wall makes it an enjoyable game, and can be played in city, village or even country where the side of a barn will often make a good wall to beat the ball against.

As an indoor game however, a clear room is necessary. The best size is twenty-two feet wide by forty-five feet long by sixteen to twenty feet high, with a visitors' gallery twelve feet high back of the rear wall. It is best made of glazed brick, with maple floor, but may be made of wood walls with a brick front wall. But a good game can be played in much smaller rooms.

The game corresponds in vigor to basket ball, but is superior to it in many ways. Basket ball easily becomes rough and vicious. The rough playing of basket ball such as holding, pushing, tripping, striking, backing and the like, makes it so difficult for the referee to detect and keep is played by older men as well as handball.

No Personal Contact.

Then too, handball is more of a social game than basket ball. Opposing teams in basket ball seldom, if ever, feel friendly during the game. Each contestant is on his nerve, the blood flows fast, and in the heat of action it is the easiest possible thing to lose one's temper. In fact there are some who never enter the game without losing their temper, while there are few who do not show temper. Handball on the contrary, although not quite so intense, has not this objectionable feature. There is always the friendliest relaxation existing between the players since players seldom come into personal contact.

Another desirable factor in hand ball is not found in either basket ball, base ball, foot ball, lacrosse or other vigorous team games is that it can be and under control is entirely avoided in younger.

This is just where our national sports differ from England's. Over there cricket is played by young and old. This is a great advantage. Nothing is needed in physical recreation so much as games that are adapted to old as well as young, so that the business man will have a natural incentive to continue the game learned in school. Hand ball supplies this feature fully.

Then, too, as a man advances in age he does not enjoy playing before a crowd that is equally ready to applaud or hiss. He rather likes to get away "from the maddening crowd" and enjoy his pleasures with a chosen few. This is one of the features of hand ball as contrasted with most other games.

In most games there is so much time lost between actual playing time that it is a trial of patience. In golf the player strikes the ball and then walks a mile before he can strike it again. In baseball all but the battery stand about nine-tenths of the time waiting for something to happen. Even in football some analyist has shown that the actual playing time in a forty-five minute game is only five minutes.

This is not true of hand ball, for in this game the player is in action at least three-fourths of the time. He is not compelled to "shag the ball," for it is always nearby.

Another desirable element is that it is played all the year round. It is as enjoyable in summer as in winter. In this it is only equalled by volley ball. All other games are seasonal. Baseball is for the summer. Football for autumn, skating for winter, etc.

Not Expensive.

In addition to all this, hand ball is the least expensive of all really enjoyable games, as far as running equipment is concerned. Baseball requires bats, gloves, protectors, masks and balls. Football requires uniforms and an expensive ball. Golf requires a long list of sticks, balls are easily lost, and the caddy is expensive. Tennis requires expensive racquet, balls, and net, etc. Hand ball requires only a 35-cent rubber ball with little or no suit.

From all these reasons it is no wonder that it makes such a strong appeal to young and old men alike. No modern gymnasium is up to date unless it has from one to three courts. At present the Duluth Y. M. C. A. has the only court in this part of the country, and it is the most used part of the building. Tournaments are held during the winter in which many of Duluth's young business men are greatly interested. The players are put into different grades depending on their ability. In the last tournament the following men competed: Class A: Kitchill, Wendlandt, Dreisbach, Sturm, Brundage, Critchfield, Walker, Solie, Deighton, Merrill, Pease, Olson.

These represent the top-notchers and play fast, exciting games. William Wendlandt won the tournament as he did the year before. Wendlandt has met and defeated some of the best players from othe rcities.

Class C players are represented by some of the following names: Brewer, Wisted, McRae, Sterling, Kenny, Mace, Flaaten, Sheldon, Newell, Warren, Matter, Bjorquist, Harbison, Totman, Hayden, Honigman, Levin. This series was won by Hayden.

Since this list is only a part of those who play the game outside of tournaments, it will be readily understood that the hand ball court is a busy place.

More Courts Needed.

This game is so good that other clubs and organizations ought to build courts and promote the game. Lodges, schools and even business firms will find it a paying proposition. What provision for recreation during noon hour does one find in some of our big plants? Here is a place where employers can get into sympathetic touch with employes.

The writer will be glad to co-operate with business men to whom this suggestion appeals.

What is done for recreation in many of the suburbs and small towns up on the range? Hand ball furnishes an inexpensive means of physical employment.

The game consists of 21 points. One of the players, called the server, stands in the server's court at the center. He drops the ball to the floor and then bats vigorously with either hand against the front wall of the court so that it will drop back of the service line. The tother player, called the receiver, then tries to bat it with either hand against the front wall, and each in turn does the same until one or the other has failed to do so.

The ball may strike the side walls, or ceiling or back wall, but it must be batted after a fly. For example: After the server has batted he ball against the front wall the ball may hit the ceiling or either wall and then bounce on the floor. He may strike it any where in its flight, but he must hit it before it strikes the floor the second time. If it strikes the floor first and then bounces against a wall, the receiver must hit it before it bounces on the floor again.

If after the server bats the ball against the front wall and the ball does not strike the floor back of the serving line (a line down across the court half-way back) he may have another trial. If he fails the second time he has lost his serve, the receiver takes his place.

The server is the only one who can score a point. If the server fails to return the ball against the front wall after it has been successfully placed by the receiver, neither one of them scores a point. The only advantage that the receiver gets by this process is in taking the server's place and then he has the opportunity of making a point, if the receiver fails to place the ball successfully.

The skill and interest in the game lies in so placing the ball that the receiver will be unable to return the ball successfully to the front wall. Some times the ball is batted low and hard close to the floor, and at other times high so that it bounds against the back wall, or in one corner, or sometimes it is so batted that it strikes three walls before returning to the floor. It will be seen that the skill and judgment required in returning the ball thus batted is the very greatest and is extremely fascinating.

The game is not complicated and has but few rules and can be played with just as much enjoyment by the beginner as by the expert. It may, similar to tennis, be played with two on a side.

Rules for Singles.

When only two men are playing the following rules are used:

(1) If the server fails to serve the ball back of the service line twice in succession the server becomes the receiver and vice versa.

(2) If the receiver fails to return the ball to the front wall the server gets one point.

(3) The server continues to serve as long as he succeeds in returning the ball to the front wall.

(4) The ball may be batted with either hand, but only one may be used. It is against the rules to use both hands at the same time.

(5) After the ball is batted so that it goes into the air but fails to reach the front wall it cannot be again hit; in other words the player has an opportunity to strike only once at the ball.

(7) If a player in attempting to return the ball to the front wall accidentally hits the opponent with the ball it is called a "hinder" and does not count for either side and the ball is put into play again as though it had not been played; if, however, the referee decides that the player was hit intentionally, it shall count against the one who committed it.

(8) If the ball strikes any of the players on its way from the front wall it counts against the person whom it hits.

(9) If the server fails to serve the ball back of the service line the receiver may if he chooses attempt to return the ball against the front wall and the play shall continue as though the service had been fair.

(10) The player may return the ball, either from one bounce from the floor or from the volley. If he waits until the ball bounces the second time he loses the point.

In case of doubles; that is when two play against two the partner of the server must stand against either wall back of the service line until after the first ball is served so as not to be in the way of the receiver returning the ball. The usual manner of serving in four-handed game is that the side that wins the toss is allowed only one player on the side to serve at the beginning. In other words it is as follows: the server, then when he is put out one of the receivers becomes server, and when in turn he is put out then his partner becomes server, and when in turn he is put out then his partner becomes server, and finally, when he is put out the partner of the first server becomes the next server.

In a four-handed game if anyone returning the ball to the front wall hits either one of the opponents it is counted a hinder, and does not score but if it strikes his partner it is a score against them. The only exception to this rule is when the server so places the ball that it hits his own partner before it can be played by the opponent it shall count a hinder and no point is scored.

When three men play they may play two against one or each for himself. In the former case the single player takes his serve after each player is put out rather than after both are put out, although they may agree upon the latter plan.

If each plays for himself they take turns in serving, but the two that are receiving the ball play against the server.

The writer invites conference or correspondence from any one who wish to inquire further about the game, or who wish explanations made.

THIRTY-FIVE MEN ATTEND MEETING

Captain Mars and Manager Phillips Talk on Football Season.

Rain prevented any actual work on the part of the Central high school football candidates who were called together for the first time by Capt. Robert Mars yesterday, but thirty-five aspirants for gridiron honors gathered to listen to short talks from the captain from Faculty Manager T. F. Phillips.

Mars' talk consisted of an exhortation to the men to get out and do their best, while Phillips talked about the schedule, finances, etc. He stated that some good trips were in prospect for the team, trips to Fargo, Chippewa Falls, and Grand Rapids, all being possibilities.

ROBERT MARS,
Captain of High School Football Team.

At the meeting of the athletic association to be held Monday afternoon, officers will be elected and a coach appointed.

GREAT ROOTING FOR LAST GAME

What promises to be the final game of Duluth's baseball season, the Adams-Fitwell contest at Athletic park tomorrow afternoon, will probably be featured by some of the most frenzied and effective rooting ever heard outside a college field. The game is the second of the city championship series between the two teams, the Adams having won one. Backing the Adams will be a goodly portion of the West end, and the club members will be out in tally-hos with banners, colors, megaphones and fish horns. The Fitwells will be supported by the fans from West Duluth and they are not planning to be drowned out by the Adams noise contingent.

In the midst of this fray Darby O'Brien will stand bravely counting balls and strikes on the celluloid indicator. It took some persuasion to get the White Sox chief to officiate at the contest, but he has finally consented.

The Adams team has held the championship for two years, and Manager Geistman is confident that they will land the flag again this season. The Fitwells have been playing great ball all season, however, and have taken a big brace since the last Adams game.

The lineup for tomorrow will be as follows:

Adams—A. Olson, 3b; Al. Olson, rf; C. Foster, 2b; Kriz, c; Grenner, 1b; Ed Olsen, ss; Alder, cf; Whittle, lf; Graham, p.

Fitwells—Rouska, 3b; Doyle, rf; Saulto, 2b; Thompson, c; F. Johnson, 1b; Young, ss; Wicklund, cf; Swanstrom, lf; Talbot, p.

FURNI CHOSEN TO COACH NEW TEAM

Jeffersons Will Put Formidable Eleven in Field This Year.

While the union of the Fairmonts and the Irving Tigers removes one football team from the contest for the city championship, another organization will be in the field this fall, making a strong run for title honors. The Jefferson Athletic club is planning to put a team in the field which will give the West Duluth champions a hard run.

Ed. Furni will coach the Jeffersonian aggregation. Furni has helped whip the high school team into shape for the past four years and is expected to do wonders with the candidates.

A meeting of the club has been called for Monday night by President Carl Zuck, and at that time applications for membership will be received. James MacCauley was elected manager of the team at the last meeting and Larry Dryer captain.

FINAL HEATS WERE CALLED OFF

Kalamazoo, Mich., Sept. 9.—Darkness prevented the final heats of the Great Western races from being witnessed by the crowd that had remained to see the finish of the events.

So dark was it that the starter had difficulty in getting the horses away properly, the final heat of the 2:13 pace being called off as the result of an agreement among the drivers. The money was divided between Loretta and Mabel J., each having won two heats.

The fastest time of the week was made in the 2:10 pace, Peter B., going a mile in 2:07⅞. Elizabeth Ray was the only horse that did not break in the final heat of the 2:18 trot.

BARBERS TO PLAY BALL.

Duluth and Superior Tonsorial Artists Will Clash Sunday.

Tomorrow afternoon at Hislop park, Superior, the Duluth and Superior barbers will clash in a game to decide the tonsorial baseball championship of the Head of the Lakes. The game promises to be replete with weird and exciting features.

Following the game the players and their friends will adjourn to a hall where a big banquet will be served.

The teams will line up as follows:

Duluth—P. Behrens, c; A. Young, p; H. Hagen, 1b; A. Erespacher, 2b; W. Begle, 3b; Joe Melegich, ss; Ed. Malmo, lf; A. Thompson, rf; Hitch or Daniels, cf.

Superior—A. Norman, c; H. Jepson, p; W. Schuank, 1b; Peter Clemens, 2b; J. Grant, 3b; John Hossman, ss; Charles Swansen, lf; W. Skinner, rf; Ed. Bruner, cf.

Cy Perkins and E. Strum will umpire.

AGAIN POSTPONED.

Women Golfers Balk at Wet Links; Men Play in Rain.

The week's rains have made the Northland links too wet for the ladies' matches for the president's trophy, and play in this event has again been postponed until more favorable weather.

The men golfers will not be deterred by the wet courts, however, and unless rain is actually falling, the Patrick-Ames match in the finals of the spring championship and the qualifying round of the fall championship will be played off today and tomorrow.

Lentz, Loren Hixon, John Kendall, George Bochler; Minneapolis, J. P. Gilligan; Toledo, James Ray Frost, Gus Epler, Arthur Hauger.

Releases—Louisville, to Chicago Nationals, Larry Cheney and E. Lennox; to Philadelphia, American league club, Chester Emerson, unconditionally, Walter Slagle. Milwaukee, unconditionally, John P. Gilligan and Frank Harrington.

ONLY SIXTY-NINE BALLS PITCHED TO WIN GAME

Two weeks ago last Wednesday Christy Mathewson hung up a big league record by pitching only ninety-three balls to beat the Cincinnati Reds by a score of 6 to 1. He permitted two hits and did not issue a pass. Last Tuesday, Walter Johnson, the Washington speed merchant, took a shot at this fresh target and hit it square in the bull's-eye.

Johnson pitched only sixty-nine balls to retire the Cleveland team at Cleveland, holding the Naps to four hits and winning by a score of 2 to 1. He not only shattered Matty's record, but set a new mark for all leagues. The world's record was seventy-two, made in a minor league.

Superb control enable Mathewson and Johnson to attain this unusual proficiency. An odd feature of the two games was that there were few strikeouts. Matty fanned only four basmen and Johnson breezed six. Like Matty, the Big Swede did not yield a base on balls.

Two Ohio teams were the goats in these games. Cleveland's pitcher being Kaler and Cincinnati's Suggs.

Matty pitched only sixty balls to retire twenty-one batsmen in the first seven innings—an average of less than three to the man. He averaged a tride over three for the nine innings. His worst inning was the ninth, when poor support compelled him to serve the pill fourteen times.

Johnson pitched only fifty-one balls to retire twenty-three batsmen in the first seven innings. Furthermore, the seventh was his worst inning, nine strikes and three balls being required to subdue the Naps in that round. In the first six innings he served the horsehide only thirty-nine times to retire twenty-one batsmen—an average of less than two balls pitched to each man.

IN THE MOTOR WORLD

PAYS A VISIT TO DULUTH

Chalmers Passes Through City on His Way to Detroit.

Spent a Vacation of Two Weeks in Northern Minnesota Woods.

During the past week Hugh Chalmers, of the Chalmers' Motor company paid Duluth a visit on his way back to Detroit. He just completed as he stated, two weeks of the finest vacation he has ever enjoyed.

Mr. Chalmers, although a very busy man, and one of the most prominent and foremost manufacturers of automobiles in America, usually devotes two weeks in the year, to an outing in the wilds of Minnesota. Mr. Chalmers and a party of associates own a small piece of land near Deer lake about five miles from Grand Rapids, Minn., and usually during the latter part of August or the fore part of September, each year, Mr. Chalmers and his party spend two weeks' outing in Minnesota.

Mr. Chalmers is a strong believer of the great possibilities of the state of Minnesota, and during the past few years has had an opportunity of knowing the remarkable growth of the Cuyuna iron range. During his vacation he took the opportunity of touring to Hibbing, Virginia and Eveleth, accompanied by E. J. Fillatrault, of the Mutual Auto company.

Last evening at the Spalding hotel, Mr. Chalmers stated that there is no doubt in his mind but that in a few years Duluth will be recognized as a second Chicago in the commercial world.

A trip was taken to the site of the new steel plant and all the details explained to him. He is another enthusiastic booster for Duluth.

Mr. Chalmers is an exceptional man; at the age of 32, as general sales manager of the National Cash Register company, he was receiving a salary of $72,000 per year, undoubtedly the largest salary that has ever been paid to any sales manager in this country. His career has been wonderful, as well as interesting. After leaving the National Cash Register company, he affiliated himself with E. R. Thomas of Buffalo in the automobile business in the building of the Chalmers line of motor cars, which are so well known at the present time. In speaking of the outlook for next year Mr. Chalmers is very optimistic in his views. The Chalmers' Motor company is turning out 700 to 800 cars each month. The output for the month of August was 724 cars, all of the 1912 types. They have over 1,200 orders on their books at the present time with specified dates of delivery, and while the conditions at the present time, generally speaking seem rather quiet, they are not as quiet as a great many people around here seem to think, as explained by Mr. Chalmers. The season of 1910 far exceeded the expectations of every one, and owing to the great prosperity that year, everybody seemed to feel that they should do double the business in 1911. The mere fact that their expectations were not fulfilled, does not prove that the conditions in general are bad.

AN AUTO TRIP OF 1,700 MILES

W. E. Richardson and Party Have a Beautiful Tour Through Indiana.

W. E. Richardson with Mrs. Richardson and Frank A. Day, his business partner, have just returned after a 1,700-mile automobile trip from Duluth through the state of Indiana. The trip was made in a Hudson "33."

The party chose an entirely new route, going from Duluth to Long Beach, Minn., and from there striking through Wisconsin territory to Eau Claire from which point they went to Chicago, afterwards running through Indiana.

Beautiful weather was experienced during the entire trip the top was not used. The roads, Mr. Richardson says all through Wisconsin and Indiana are in fine shape.

The trip was made purely for pleasure, the party taking plenty of time at each stop.

There have been a good many touring parties out of Duluth this summer. Duluth machines have been in nearly every part of the United States during the last six months.

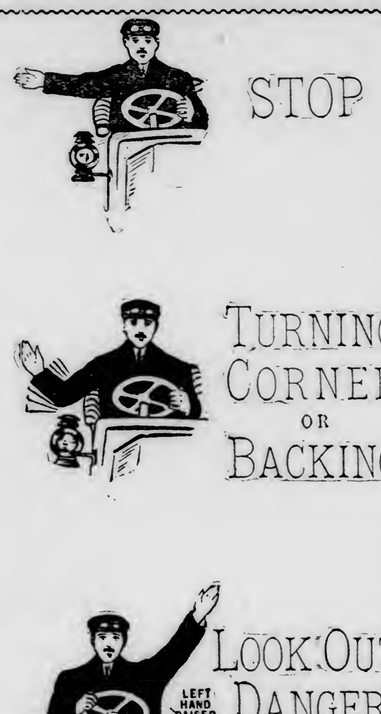

AUTO RACES AT CINCINNATI

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 9.—The most important long distance automobile races ever held in Ohio will be those scheduled for today over an eight-mile triangular shaped course near this city. Two events are on the program, the Hamilton county trophy race at 150 miles and the Cincinnati trophy race at 250 miles.

For the 150-mile race all the cars entered except three are of local make and driven by local chauffeurs. In the 250-mile race the entries are as follows: Monty Roberts in an Abbott-Detroit, Rupert Jeffkins in a Schacht Johnny Jenkins in a Cole, Harry Matthews in an Ohio, William Thatcher in an Ohio, J. K. Gilchrist in a Cino, Andy Burke in a Cino, John Rainey in a Cino, Eddie Hearne in a Fiat, Harry Knight in a Westcott, Gil Anderson in a Stutz and W. H. Pearce in a Colby.

Aviators Charles Willard and J. A. D. McCurdy will make exhibit flights while the races are on and will contest with some of the fast cars in making a circuit of the course.

SIGNALS SUGGESTED FOR USE OF AUTOMOBILE DRIVERS

The Above Signs May Be Used by Automobile Drivers for the Prevention of Accidents. They Are Suggested by The Herald. The Same Signs Are in Use in Many Parts of the Country and Wherever Used Automobile Accidents Have Been Few. The Signs Are Self Explanatory.

AUTOMOBILE NOW PERFECT

Construction Has Not Changed Materially During Last Two Years.

Cars Are Now Manufactured to Suit all Tastes and Purses.

Questions today that are heard advanced from every side are "Will the price of automobiles be further reduced as time goes on?" "Who in the future can afford or not afford to own an automobile?" The majority of Americans are to a greater or less degree lovers of recreation—perhaps to a greater extent than any other nation. It would seem that the love of pleasure and luxury increases as the years go on.

A great and growing nation, wealth in America is increasing pro rata more rapidly than with any other nationality, hence the circle of individuals who can afford automobiles is an ever widening one.

The subject of motor cars has a somewhat broader aspect, however, when one observes it from the point of serviceableness. Men who were less prone to buy automobiles in time gone by, now feel themselves justified in making the investment. The perfection of the machine itself has increased to such a degree that it is far more capable of giving good service than it ever was before. Buyers have realized this and where their various lines of businesses permit them to use the automobile a portion of the time as a thing of economics in their line, they feel justified in making the purchase and turn about and use it for pleasure during leisure hours.

One manufacturer is of the opinion that the automobile is rapidly approaching a fixed standard, not only from a mechanical point of view, but price as well. He is quoted as saying: "Prospective buyers of motor cars who are waiting for prices to be lower and await the coming of the 'perfect car' will never be automobile owners. Automobiles are today reaching almost the point of mechanical perfection, furthermore, manufacturers who are producing cars in quantities are listing them at a small margin of profit.

"A walk along Automobile Row in any of the large cities will prove that any ideas a possible purchase may have in regard to design, power, construction or price can be met. There is a wide range of bodies to select from, and the wide diversity of prices will meet most any pocketbook.

"The trend of construction has not changed materially during the last two years except in refinements."

USE AUTOS FOR HUNTING TRIPS

Duluth Owners Find Them Useful in Going After Ducks.

Duluth automobile owners are using their machines for fall hunting trips.

Since automobiles have been perfected sportsmen have found them useful for hunting. If the game is not plentiful in one section, it may be in another and with a good car, many locations may be visited in a single day.

The season is open for ducks. It began on Sept. 7 and many left the city today for a try at some of the birds on lakes close to Duluth.

On Oct. 4 the partridge season will open. As the partridges are plentiful about Duluth it is possible to get a good day's sport by using an automobile.

Last year many of those who went hunting used automobiles. The for rent cars always do a big business during the hunting season as those who are unable to get out for several days find that they can get a good day's sport by using the cars.

Automobiles are popular during the deer season, too, for the meat can be hauled to the city without making a special trip for it.

AT THE THEATRES

AT THE LYCEUM

The ordinary play is regarded as highly successful if it has to its credit two or three prosperous years, or, at the most, five or six. "In Old Kentucky" was first produced in 1892, and during all the years since then it has never been shelved for a single season, but has gone on season after season, delighting audiences and packing theaters to the doors from the Atlantic to the Pacific. So far from showing any signs of decrepitude, it seems to wax lustier and stronger as the years roll by, until it has come to be regarded as the most popular drama in America.

What is the secret of this perennial popularity? What elements have intrenched it so firmly in the affections of the people that they go to see it again and again and always with the same pleasure and delight? These elements are necessarily subtle and complex, yet perhaps more easy to define than to duplicate.

In the first place, the atmosphere of one of the most romantic and interesting states of the Union has been reproduced with fidelity. The characters, drawn from life by the author, are necessarily real people. They are not stage characters, but living, breathing human beings, into whose thoughts and emotions one enters with the same understanding and interest that is felt for friends with whom one has spent his life.

Then there is the deep sympathy aroused by the little mountain girl, handicapped by poverty and ignorance, but with a heart so true and brave that she knows no fear, regards no danger when love leads the way.

There is that dear delightful old maid, Aunt Alathea, and the gallant Kentucky colonel, torn by two conflicting passions, his love for Alathea and his passionate devotion to the race track.

Then, there is that wonderful reproduction of the barnyard life of the plantation, the cute little pickaninnies with their dances, their frolics and their marvelous playing on musical instruments as the Waugdoodle brass band.

There is also the tremendous interest and excitement of the great horse race, on which the hero's fortunes depend, with its paddock, and the irresistible comedy of the race itself as it is watched by the colonel up a tree, and Aunt Alathea, dancing in frantic excitement before a convenient knot hole in the fence. All the passions, hate, love, jealousy, revenge, are consistently shown in the development of the plot, and all are woven together in a logical and harmonious development to a conclusion that sends the audience home with that thoroughly satisfied feeling given by so few plays of the modern stage.

There is also another feature not less important. Litt & Dingwall, the managers of "In Old Kentucky," recognizing its perennial qualities, have wisely kept up the standard of production, so that this beautiful picture of Southern life is never marred by a faulty presentation, but is given with the same care and attention to detail that marked its first presentation years ago. The consequence is that "In Old Kentucky" is today, and will doubtless long remain, the most enduringly popular of American plays.

There is a delightful little racing story in the new play, "Macushla" (Pulse of My Heart), which Chauncey Olcott will present at the Lyceum theater all next week, with the exception of Sunday, with Saturday matinee. It has a spirit and dash in it that is guaranteed to set the pulse beating high, and gives a picture of sporting life in Ireland such as has never before been presented on the stage. It is from the Pen of Rida Johnson Young, who has furnished Mr Olcott with some of his greatest successes. The work has a technical value far beyond the ordinary and in the treatment of the subject the masterly skill of the author is displayed in no small measure.

The story of "Macushla" involves the rescue from ruin of a famous old estate in the southern part of Ireland through the practical methods of a young Irish-American, and the lucky winning of a great steeple-chase by a horse, the name of which gives the title to the play. Brian Fitzgerald, hopeless of ever succeeding to the title of baronet, between which and him were three living heirs, went to Texas, where he became the possessor of a large ranch. Through various causes, the barriers between him and the baronetcy became swept away and he was recalled to Ireland to take possession of a bankrupt estate and the title. By selling most of the racing stable and art treasures of the place, he was enabled to lift most of the heavy incumbrances, but there still remained some notes made by his predecessor which must be met. One of the horses kept back from the sale of the racing stable was a splendid mare, Macushla, whose powers were so unusual that the new baronet determined to enter her in the great race of the year. Warren Fairchild, the English owner of an adjoining estate to that of Fitzgerald, has a mare entered in the same race and has backed the animal heavily. A former groom of the Fitzgerald family, one Thomas Wiggins, now in the employ of Fairchild, warns the latter to be careful of Macushla. Secretly watching the training of the mare and fearing her prowess, he attempts to bribe Fitzgerald's groom to drug Macushla, and sends Wiggings to the groom, Dinny O'Mara, with a powder to put in the mare's feed on the morning of the race. Brian fortunately discovers the plot in time to frustrate it, and Macushla wins the race. The love interest is furnished by the attachment of Brian for the chum of his boyhood, Patricia Boyer, better known as "Pat." He cares nothing for the social gulf that separates him, a baronet, from the woman he loves, because she is the daughter of an old servitor of the family. He settles up the financial affairs of the Duncannon estate, and, making Lady Fitzgerald out of his chum, "Pat," sails for his beloved America, where class distinctions are unknown. The picturesque locale of the story has given Manager Augustus Pitou many opportunities for picturesque scenic settings, and, as usual, he has taken full advantage of them. In the first act there is a built up house with a thatched roof in the center of the stage, the pretty cottage being surrounded by a typical Irish garden. There is a racing stable, the picturesque scene depicting the race track on the Carragh, as seen from Sir Brian's tent, and finally the baronial hall of the Fitzgeralds, all superb efforts of the scenic artist. The costuming is quaint and picturesque, and there is a fine cast of well-selected players. Mr. Olcott will introduce a number of new songs, some of which are among the most popular of all his compositions.

Grace Studdiford, who first charmed theater-goers by her voice, when she created the title role in "Red Feather," and afterward added to her prestige by her artistic work in "The Golden Butterfly," will appear early in the coming season at the Lyceum. She will be under the management of Daniel V. Arthur.

Amy Leslie of the Chicago Daily News, when it was produced in Chicago last season, in her review of "The Flirting Princess," wrote as follows: "As I said before, there are a dozen or more fetching ensembles, and the whole performance moves with a verve and spirit that tingles the nerves and sweeps you laughing on with it." That is the reason why "The Flirting Princess" played to a big and enthusiastic audience for 340 nights in Chicago and will play to the same kind of audiences wherever it goes."

Opera lovers will find promise of great enjoyment in the announcement that when Messrs. Werba & Luescher send their new famous Viennese operetta, "The Spring Maid," to this city, at the Lyceum theater, it will be given as elaborately, with the same orchestra under the direction of Theodore Bendix and the same chorus of singers, as when played so many months at the Liberty theater, New York.

MR. FRED LINDSAY,
Stock Whip Expert at the Orpheum Next Week.

AT THE ORPHEUM

Mr. Fred Lindsay will be the headliner at the Duluth Orpheum next week.

Mr. Lindsay has one of the really unique acts in vadeville, it is claimed. He is called "An Australian Whip Expert," sent out of the Never-Never land.

Mr. Lindsay can cut a bottle in half with his long thirty-foot lash; he can flick the ash from the end of a cigar held in a man's mouth; can pick splinters out of a pine board with his lash, and can flog a man without hurting him in the least.

Mr. Lindsay is an Englishman by birth, raised in Australia on a ranch; educated at Cambridge; and a Canadian by adoption. He is possessed of considerable wealth, having a 2,000-acre farm in Saskatchewan, among other property, and could retire comfortably, and even luxuriously, if he so chose. He prefers, however, the wandering life, and uses his vaudeville act as a means of travel. His real name is Holman James, and he is quite a warm friend of ex-President Theodore Roosevelt, having secured buffalo hunting privileges for Mr. Roosevelt when he went to Africa. Mr. Lindsay is a member of many of the well known London clubs, and served as an officer in the first contingent of Australian bushmen sent to Africa for the Boer war. He acquired his skill with the whip during his life on his father's Australian ranch. The whip is the type used by the sheep rangers and with it they can flick a bolo in a playing card at thirty feet, or make a report like a pistol shot beside a sheep's head, without touching the animal. Mr. Lindsay has built quite a pretentious little act around his skill with the long lash. He has provided an Australian setting for his act, and has four assistants. During the time he is on the stage, one trick follows another with great rapidity.

The first juggling act of the season will be seen next week when Bedini and Arthur appear on the bill. They style themselves "The Jovial Jugglers," and they are two of the best known jugglers in modern vaudeville. Bedini does the straight juggling work, and his tricks are said to be marvels of skill and delicate balancing. His partner utilizes these feats to provide his comedy. He appears as a blackface assistant, and seeks to avert the near calamities threatened by the miscarriage of the juggler's efforts. His attempts to duplicate the juggler's feats also provide many laughs. During their act enough crockery is broken to stock a fair-sized store, it is claimed.

The Duluth theater has had one singing comedienne this year, and she proved to be one of the biggest hits of the season to date. Next week there will be another on the bill, Miss Elida Morris will present an act consisting of a number of recent song hits. The singer's personality is said to be a large part of the act. "Vivacious, winsome, pretty and a particularly smart dresser," is the manner in which a Chicago critic described her during her recent appearance in that city. One of her songs is sung in a man's costume, and she also gives several graceful little dances during the act.

"The Piano Movers" are two entertainers who help a pretty actress out of a predicament. The sketch, which bears this title, is presented by McDevitt, Kelly and Lucey. A young actress is about to rehearse her new act, when she is told that two young men who were about to appear with her, have joined another company. The piano movers enter and are promptly impressed into service. They prove to be better entertainers than the missing men, and the act is then rehearsed for the benefit of the audience. It is said to be a clever and entertaining number.

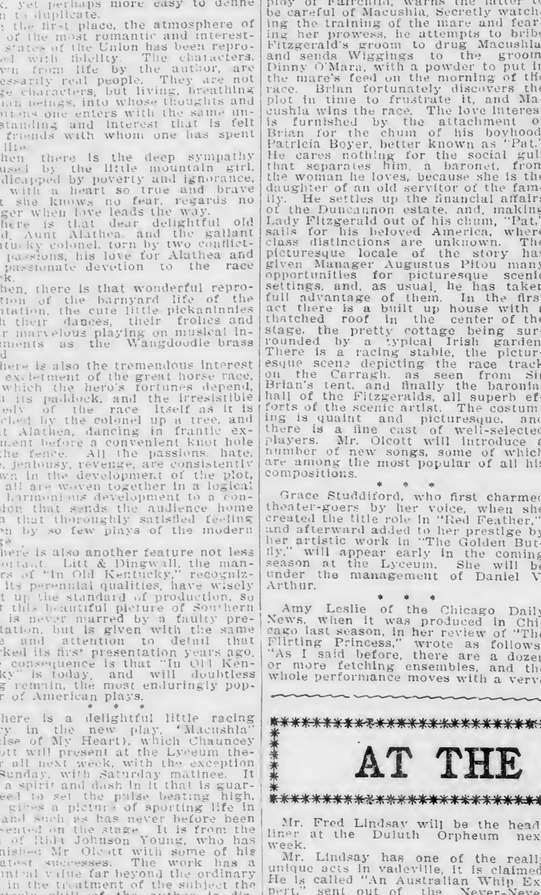

Monroe Hopkins and Lola Axtell have been making a lot of friends for themselves around the circuit this year in their little sketch called "Traveling." It is a comedy turn, and will be seen on next week's bill.

An acrobat and two Lilliputians will be seen on next week's bill. Ergotti is the name of the acrobat, who is assisted by two midgets. The little men are proficient in athletic feats, and their size permits them to perform feats which the average sized acrobat would not even attempt. They introduce some thrilling risley work, the acrobat juggling the little men with his feet. Ergotti is quite a famous athletic and instructor. The Lilliputians are two little Germans who have been in this country about three years. Their act is a real novelty in the acrobatic line.

The Clover Trio will present the seventh act on the bill. This trio is composed of a man and two young women, who are claimed to have a very neat and clever singing and dancing act.

The kinodrome and the concert orchestra will complete the bill, which will continue all week with a daily matinee. The opening performance will be given Sunday afternoon.

For the week of Sept. 17 some old favorites in Duluth will return. The Four Fords will be joint headliners on the bill for the week after next with Josie Heather, the English singing comedienne. The Four Fords were seen in Duluth last season with their dancing novelty, and were great favorites with the Orpheum patrons.

SOME OF THE EMPRESS FEATURES NEXT WEEK.

AT THE EMPRESS

A banner week of vaudeville is promised the patrons of the Empress beginning with the Sunday matinee. "The Strongest Link," a powerful human playlet, will be the headline attraction for the week. This playlet is from the pen of Herbert Hall Winslow, who has probably written more successful vaudeville sketches than any playwright of the present day and any piece presented over his name, has the confidence of the public. "The Strongest Link" will be presented by Harry First, billed as America's foremost actor, who will be remembered as the star of "Old Isaacs From the Bowery;" and Miss Florence Hadley, a well known legitimate star. Mr. First and Miss Hadley will be supported by a very capable company of artists. "The Strongest Link" is heralded as a powerful dramatic playlet which combines all that is best in the dramatic field. It is well written and contains many intense situations which cause great heart interest and while it is gripping at times, it contains just the right quantity of clever comedy lines and situations to make it a well balanced and enjoyable playlet, according to the advance advices. Mr. First needs no introduction to the theatergoing public and he has already established himself on the highest pinnacle of success and the mere mention of his name, guarantees the patrons of the Empress a rare treat. Mr. First has made a careful and life-long study of the Hebrew character and is in a position to give a natural and life-like presentation of this character. Critics who have seen Mr. First as David Aaronson in "The Strongest Link," have said that it is the best role he has ever attempted. Miss Hadley is a beautiful and talented actress and her emotional scenes are said to be very capably acted. "The Strongest Link" tells a gripping story and is a sketch that makes one run the gauntlet of human emotions. It combines laughter and tears, joy and sorrow, but all in a manner that is decidedly charming. When "The Strongest Link" was presented in New York, critics were unanimous in the praise and the New York Herald spoke of it as "The greatest dramatic hit in the history of vaudeville." "The Strongest Link" uses an elaborate set which gives it just the right color and the

The grand march will be the feature of tomorrow afternoon and evening. This has proved one of the most popular numbers that has run through the summer. The summer season at the rink is rapidly drawing to a close. Roller skating during the evenings of the winter is one of the most popular of pastimes, and with the coming of winter the popularity of skating in Duluth is certain to increase. Many of the features that are being used in the rinks of Chicago, Pittsburg and New York will be introduced here the

The piece is said to be uproariously funny and in the hands of Howard & Lawrence, it is said to be doubly so. "The Stage Manager" tells of the experience of a girl who is anxious to become a star. She wanders into a theater seeking employment and is met by the stage manager, who puts a damper on her hopes and changes her mind regarding the brightness of an actress life. This piece was written for laughing purposes only and it is said to succeed admirably in its purpose.

The usual motion pictures will close the bill. Matinee daily at 2:45. Evening at 8 and 9:30. Seats may be reserved one week in advance by either 'phone. Special school children's matinee every Saturday at 2:30. All scholars under 14 years of age admitted for 5 cents. Special attention paid to the comfort and entertainment of ladies and children at all times.

This is the last bill of vaudeville to be presented in the Empress this season. Commencing Sunday, Sept. 17, the Sullivan & Considine shows will be presented at the Lyceum theater for two weeks. During that time, the Empress will be redecorated throughout, new and more comfortable chairs will be installed, a new system of lighting the stage will be put in, and the stage will be fitted out with entirely new scenery and a new system of ventilating will be installed. These repairs will cost in the neighborhood of $10,000, and when they are completed the Empress will be thoroughly modern and up to date, and one of the prettiest and most comfortable vaudeville theaters in the entire Northwest. Oct. 1 is the date set for the reopening of the Empress.

GOSSIP OF THE RIALTO

Maude Adams is to make a tour of the country all the way to the Pacific coast this season in "Chantecler." Her supporting company is to number 132 persons and will be one of the largest organizations ever sent out.

A new play is being written for Viola Allen by Louis N. Parker. The story of Lady Godiva is said to be the basis of the plot.

"The Woman," the new play by William C. De Mille, which will be staged by David Belasco, is to receive its first production on Sept. 19 at the Republic theater.

Margaret Anglin is to be seen in "Green Stockings" next season and is assembling her company for an early production. Among the engagements for the cast are those of Ivo Dawson, Arthur Lawrence, Stanley Dark and Esther Evans.

Otis Skinner has been selected for the role in "Kismet" created by Oscar Asche in London, when the Knoblauch play is produced in this country. The character is that of an Arabian beggar and in style should suit Skinner exactly. His performance of it ought to be a superb one and will unquestionably help the play to a success in this country.

Wagenhals & Kemper have decided that hereafter they will open no more new plays at their Astor theater on Monday nights. They will open the A. E. Thomas comedy "What the Doctor Ordered," on Wednesday night, Sept. 20. The company will have a preliminary week in Toronto, then return to New York and lie off until the following Wednesday night.

The Hippodrome opened its sixth season with a massive production entitled "Around the World." As has been the custom, it is slightly more stupendous than any previous production. The piece was invented and built by Arthur Voorhis, written and staged by Carroll Fleming and supplied with music by Manuel Klein. It deals with a party of American travelers making a tour of the globe, and occupies the entire evening. There are more than seventeen great scenes, including several magnificent ballets, and the use of the Hippodrome's big tank. More than 300 people are in the company and 200 animals participate.

Cyril Scott will be seen in a new comedy this season called "A Modern Marriage." It is by Harrison Rhoades and will receive its opening performance at the Bijou theater on Sept. 11. Emily Stevens will be his leading lady.

Ethel Barrymore's new play is entitled "The Witness for the Defense." A. E. W. Mason, the English novelist and the author of the play, has written Charles Frohman of his intention to come to America in time to attend some of the later rehearsals. Her supporting company includes A. E. Anson, last season of the New theater; Leslie Faber, the son-in-law of Henry Arthur Jones; W. L. Abingdon, Lumsden Hare and Earnest Stallard. "The Witness for the Defense" had a long run this summer at the St. James theater, London. Miss Barrymore's New York engagement will succeed that of John Drew at the Empire.

Dr. Lurwig Wullner, the German Lieder singer, arrived in this country Sunday. With him came Coenraad V. Bos, accompanist. Dr. Wullner has been engaged in concert singing abroad for a number of years. He opens in Milwaukee on Orpheum time.

Rehearsals are to begin at once for "Le Million," the Henry W. Savage production, for which William Burress, the protean actor, has been engaged to play the leading comedy role. The adaptation of the piece was made by Leo Dietrichstein.

Lee Wilson Dodd, author of "The Return of Eve," has written a comedy entitled "Speed," and Cecil De Mille has arranged to produce it. The play deals with a family of moderate means who are sublimely happy until they acquire an automobile.

Cohan & Harris will soon turn their managerial attention to Winchell Smith's new play, "The Only Son." Several members of the cast have already been engaged, among them Wallace Eddinger for the title role.

"An Artic Widow" is the title of a new play from the pen of Wilson Mizner. It is a story of life in the frigid Northwest. Lillian Rose has been engaged for the title role.

The new Second Avenue theater in New York that was built for David Kessler, the Yiddish actor and manager, was opened on the evening of Sept. 7. A performance of Jacob Gordin's "God, Man and the Devil," was given.

Charles Dillingham and Florenz Ziefeld, Jr., have undertaken the management of Eddie Foy. "The Pet of the Petticoats" is the vehicle. A. H. Woods sold the entire production, in which he had planned to star Foy to the new managers, for, it is said, $20,000. It will be recalled that A. H. Woods and Eddie Foy disagreed at rehearsals of "The Pet of the Petticoats" over the engagement of Harry Fox for the Foy supporting company, and that Mr. Foy thereupon left the Woods management.

Messrs. Wagenhals and Kemper have just had new evidence of the popular favor of the comedy, "Seven Days." They opened the present season at their theater with this comedy, and although it had run 402 performances at this playhouse, it drew one of the biggest audiences of the early season on Broadway. The preceding Saturday the comedy was presented at Asbury Park, N. J., where it had been seen twelve times, and it packed the new Savoy theater there.

Changes made at the Astor theater in New York this summer include the re-establishment of the old time green room. Messrs. Wagenhals and Kemper, once actors and ever considerate of the players in their companies, have equipped a comfortable room off the stage of the Astor for the use of the company during performances.

"Paid in Full" which time without number has been called the "great American drama," began its fifth year in Newark, N. J., the last week in August and proved that time increased its popularity.

Chauncey Olcott, at one time, was a member of a small minstrel company, singing solos in the first part and playing a part in the afterpiece. It was early in his professional career and the company that he went on tour with was small in size and deficient in capital. Business was very bad and the payment of salaries was never attempted by the manager; in fact, the best the company could get in the way of money was cash sufficient to get two collars and a shirt from the laundry every week. Then even this luxury was cut off, as the manager of the company heard of the invention of celluloid collars and shirt fronts and purchased a supply for the company. After that the minstrels did their own laundry work, every day with a sponge and a piece of rosin soap.

The merry minstrels had to burn their own cork so as to make up for every performance. Things went from bad to worse and it only required something out of the ordinary to disrupt the company.

One of the end men of the organization, whose name was Hi Goodman, fretted and worried over the non-payment of salaries and tried to get the other members of the company to join him in a strike. He claimed that if they all refused to go out at one performance the manager would be compelled to dig up money to pay them. The company was thoroughly disgusted, however, and refused to join with him.

One night, in a small town in Ohio, Goodman went to the manager of the company just before the performance and said:

"Look here. This th'ng has gone on long enough and I refuse to wash up tonight until I get my salary." He meant by this that he would refuse to take the cork off his face until he was paid. Mr. Olcott heard this declaration and, seeing that the finish of the company was inevitable, he went to his dressing room, washed the cork from his face, went to the hotel, pledged a scarf-pin he owned for the price of a railroad ticket to New York and boarded an early train for that city. When he arrived there he secured an engagement with a dramatic company and inside of two years was starring in the plays which have made him such a favorite with the theater-going public. He has never heard of Hi Goodman since, and while he mentally thanks that individual for a speech that changed the whole of his life, he often wonders if Hi is still going around with the same coating of burnt cork on his face.

But success has its drawbacks.

Mr. Olcott is haunted by a song he wrote.

Wherever he plays, he is made to sing, "My Wild Irish Rose." From every audience some one shouts for the song. The obliging comedian complies. Its popularity is not strange. The melody is full of charm; once heard it is not forgotten. Apathy greeted it the first time it was sung in "The Romance of Athlone," for which Mr. Olcott composed it. It did not receive as much applause as other songs in the play. The following season when Mr. Olcott was using another play, people began to call out for him to sing it. Since then he has been compelled to keep it in his repertoire. Someone asked him the other day how he came to write it. Let him tell the story:

"It was the year I took my mother to Ireland, and the wild roses covered the hillside. We were riding along, mother, my wife, and myself, and as we turned a bend in the road, we came upon a large rose bush.

"'That's wild roses,' said the lad who was guiding them.

"'The wild Irish rose,' repeated my mother.

"'That's a title for a song,' said my wife. Out came my note book and I jotted it down. Some of the words came to me, too. It was not until we came home on the steamer that I got the melody. I play the guitar a great deal, and I was walking up and down the deck with my wife, strumming, when suddenly I caught it.

"'Don't come into the cabin for a little while,' I said, and she understood. I often do that way.

"I composed the song and wrote the words to it, and sang it to Richie Ling and others who were on the boat. In fact, I first sang it at a concert on board, advertising it as having been especially written for the occasion. I suppose a million copies of it have been sold."

WEDDED AT BEACON, MICH.

Miss Jessie Marchand Married to Rudolph P. Morck of Duluth.

Ishpeming, Mich., Sept. 9.—A pretty wedding took place at the Sacred Heart church at Beacon at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, when Miss Jessie Marchand, daughter of Gideon Marchand, became the bride of Rudolph Porelius Morck of Duluth. Rev. Father Hasenberg officiated. Miss Louisa Marchand, sister of the bride, was the bridesmaid and Carl Henry Rohl the groomsman. Miss Lillian Fish, stepsister of the Misses Marchand, played the wedding music. The bride was attired in a light cream satin gown, with train and with a garniture of pearl ornaments and lace. She wore a white tulle veil and orange blossoms. The bridesmaid was dressed in light tan cashmere.

Following the ceremony, an elaborate dinner was served at the home of the bride. Rudolph P. Morck has made his home in Duluth for the past five years, as has his bride, the latter having been employed as a stenographer in the employ of a leading firm of architects. Mr. Morck is a painter and interior decorator. The couple were the recipients of a large number of presents. Among those who attended the wedding are: Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Mullen of Anasa, Mich.

Verdict Sustained.

Marinette, Wis., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge Hastings has sustained the verdict of $2,000 by a jury to Mrs. Elizabeth Perkins against the city of Marinette, for damages sustained through falling on a defective sidewalk. The city appealed on the ground that the damages were excessive. The appeal was dismissed.

50,000 CITIZENS LISTED BY DULUTH CREDIT ASSOCIATION

Filing Cabinet Contains Name, Address, and Financial Reliability of Nearly Every Adult Resident of City.

In a big filing cabinet that covers all of one side of an office at 312 Torrey building there is a card bearing your name and below it are various cabalistic symbols which to those who have the key will tell you how you pay your bills, whether you ever pay them, how long it usually takes you, whether you can be trusted and in short about all the information about your credit that the most exacting merchant could desire.

That is, it is probable that you are catalogued there, for 50,000 citizens of Duluth are listed there, and as there are only 78,466 people in the city according to Uncle Sam's figures and a goodly portion of this population is not of trading age or considered as a credit problem as yet, most of the balance are classified.

The office where this cabinet of very personal information is situated is that of the Duluth Credit association, a co-operative institution maintained by the business men of Duluth including grocers, shoe dealers, hardware dealers, clothing dealers, butchers, metal workers, dry goods stores, department stores, plumbers, furniture stores, grocers, doctors, real estate dealers, dairymen, painters, undertakers, druggists, fuel dealers, attorneys, jewelers, florists, tailors, feed stores, flour dealers, blacksmiths, electrical companies, millinery stores, decorators, laundrymen, insurance agents, brewers, and in fact every line of business that could be imagined.

It was organized in 1909, a union of the grocers' credit association, then defunct, and the paint and oil club. At that time it was incorporated and every member of the association buys one or more shares of stock at $10 each. T. W. Walker was in charge of it originally, but has been since succeeded by George T. Fairley, who has charge of its daily work in his capacity of secretary.

There are now 236 members of the Duluth Credit association. Representing as they do, every line of business activity, the person who is not known to some of them is rare indeed. As a result information as to the credit and often as to the personal characteristics of about everyone who has traded in Duluth since the organization of the association is available from some, and nearly always from several of the members. Rating sheets are distributed annually to the members from which new information, based on the actual ledger experience of the different merchants is easily gained.

Part of National Body.

The association is a member of the National Association of Mercantile agencies, and is in a position to secure from them information as to the past credit reputation of new arrivals in the city. It is often, in this connection, valuable to the police in locating departed citizens who have taken with them goods and chattels which they did not rightfully own. A former Park Point resident who skipped suddenly to the far West a few weeks ago, and who is now awaiting trial on a grand larceny charge was located in this way, through an inquiry arriving here from the Western association. Moral, if you want to keep your whereabouts a secret do business on a cash basis and don't ask for credit.

The local association delivers information to its members over the telephone at rates varying from $1 to $3 per month. Most of this reporting is done over the telephone and this year the average number of reports given in a day has been 150. The rates charged by the local association make it the cheapest operating association in the country. Four telephones and two telephone girls are required to handle the business.

Early next year the association will issue its first publication. In this will be given information regarding the credit standing of practically all of Duluth's citizens. It is estimated that close to 60,000 names will be given in this book.

R. D. Annis of the Northern Hardware company is president of the association; Felix Seligman of the Columbia Clothing company is vice president, and George Fairley is secretary-treasurer. Besides the officers, the board of directors is composed of William Burgess of the Burgess Electrical company, George A. Gray of the George A. Gray department store and John E. Roos, grocer.

GEORGE FAISLEY,
Secretary-Treasurer of Duluth Credit Association.

NO REASON FOR IT

When Duluth Citizens Show the Way.

There can be no just reason why any reader of this will continue to suffer the tortures of an aching back, the annoyance of urinary disorders, the dangers of serious kidney ills when relief is so near at hand and the most positive proof given that these ills can be cured. Read what a Duluth citizen says:

Mrs. J. E. Kennell, 324 N. Twentieth Ave., W., Duluth, Minn., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills have given entire satisfaction in our home. About a year ago a member of our family was so crippled with his back that he could hardly straighten. He had much pain and lameness in the kidneys and there were other troubles in evidence which plainly showed what was wrong. Doan's Kidney Pills were publicly recommended and a supply was procured. This remedy brought relief and thus proved its merits."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

NO MORE MISERY IN THE STOMACH

Indigestion, Gas, Sourness or Dyspepsia Goes in Five Minutes.

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch Gas and Eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of Dizziness, Heartburn, Fullness, Nausea, Bad taste in mouth and stomach headache—this is Indigestion.

A full case of Pape's Diapepsin costs only 50 cents and will thoroughly cure your out-of-order stomach, and leave sufficient about the house in case some one else in the family may suffer from stomach trouble or Indigestion.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula plainly printed on these 50-cent cases, then you will understand why Dyspeptic trouble of all kinds must go, and why Diapepsin always relieves sour, out-of-order stomachs or Indigestion in five minutes. Diapepsin is harmless and tastes like candy, though each dose contains power sufficient to digest and prepare for assimilation into the blood all the food you eat; besides, it makes you go to the table with a healthy appetite; but, what will please you most, is that you will feel that your stomach and intestines are clean and fresh, and you will not need to resort to laxatives or liver pills for Biliousness or Constipation.

This city will have many Diapepsin cranks, as some people will call them, but you will be cranky about this splendid stomach preparation, too, if you ever try a little for Indigestion or Gastritis or any other Stomach misery.

Get some Pape's Diapepsin now, this minute, and forever rid yourself of Stomach Trouble and Indigestion.

REMEDY SUGGESTED.

Bess—What a pity it is that the pitcher for the home team is so wild.

Tom—Single man, isn't he?

Bess—Yes, I guess so. But what has that got to do with it?

Tom—Well, if he were to get married, I fancy that might steady him down a bit.

ENTRANCING VIEW.

Tom—What do you think of the view from the hotel veranda?

Harry—Magnificent! I can see four heiresses right from where I stand.

OLD GLORY WAS N.G.

I WAS foreman in an American silver mine in Mexico when the late unpleasantness broke out," said the man with the husky voice. "When things began to grow hot all the other officers pulled out and left me to face things. The order from the manager was:

"'If any rebels appear here you are to run up Old Glory and threaten them with the vengeance of the United States.'

"Four days later a gang appeared, and I run our glorious flag to the mast-head and got off what might be called a fervid address. I was patiently listened to, and when I had finished the chief of the band said:

"'It is one beautiful flag, senor, but you would look more beautiful in its place!'

"And they did things?" was asked.

"You bet they did! Down came Old Glory, and up I went in its place!"

"Not by the neck?"

"Sure, and I'd hung half a minute before the halliards broke. When I came to the offices were looted and the rebs gone, with O. G. tied to a mule's tail and dragging in the dust!"

"But——but——"

"Oh, that's all. Our flag is a corker here at home, but over in Mexico the climate seems to fade it out. You can't make the Greasers see the stars!"

"When did you see him?"

"Oh, I haven't seen him. I just got a telephone from papa."

MAIN POINT.

Sailor—I fear we are lost, sir. The boat is filling fast.

Reggy Million—Yes, and my feet are becoming indecently saturated, too. I just know that I'll have another touch of the influenza.

An Explanation.

THE Englishman had landed in New York and had been met by a friend who had taken him to lunch in the business district. There was the usual rush and bolting for food, and the Englishman kept tab and finally said:

"I find that the average patron of this place stows away his lunch in seven minutes."

"He usually does it in six," was the reply, "but the crowd is a little slow today."

"And do you mean to tell me that business is so driving that a man can't take but six or seven minutes for his lunch?"

"Business? Oh, no! All these men are rushing to get back to their offices to finish up game of poker begun at nine o'clock this morning. We are rather lazy as to business, but when it comes to poker we hustle!"

There is no grave so deep as that of Buried Hopes.

The test of beauty is to get a seat in a crowded street-car.

Lots of people could be good if they weren't so well off.

REAL MANTRAP.

What photograph is that you are placing in your desk?

Why, it's the picture of a mantrap I took this summer.

Indeed! Some tiger lair in the tropics, eh?

Oh, no. It's a snapshot of a girls' bachelor club on a picnic.

After Snipe.

HE was at the depot with a shotgun in his hand and a game-bag over his shoulder when his friend Brown came along and saluted:

"Off for a shoot, eh? What's the game?"

"Snipe," was the reply.

"Yes, this is the month, I believe. A snipe is a bird, isn't he?"

"Damfino!"

"But he can't be an animal."

"Mebbe not."

"But it seems rather funny that you are going out to shoot snipe and don't know what a snipe is."

"I don't have to. My wife wants $30 for a fall hat, and I can't spare it, and the object is to get away from home for two or three days and shoot somebody or something."

JOE KERR.

SMITH'S WAY.

Smith telephoned me when that heavy shower came on last night.

What did he want?

He wanted to borrow an umbrella.

Why did he telephone?

He wanted me to bring it over to his house.

POSSIBLY.

My physician told me I would have to quit eating or my stomach would be ruined.

Well, what are you going to do about it?

I've arranged to stop at the Starvelilla farm house for the next two months.

No Job for Him.

A WEEK previous to Labor Day the rising young lawyer called on the president of a labor union to ask:

"Will your union have an excursion or picnic to celebrate the Day?"

"That is the plan," was the reply.

"Then, of course, you will want an orator?"

"What for?"

"Why, to speak of labor as ennobling, and all that—to refer to the wheels of industry—to picture the vine-clad cottage—bone and sinew—brawn and muscle. You know how those things go, and I'll give you something extra for ten dollars."

"I see. Can you bring down rents?"

"Hardly."

"Or the price of foodstuffs?"

"I don't think so."

"Can you tell us how to beat the trusts?"

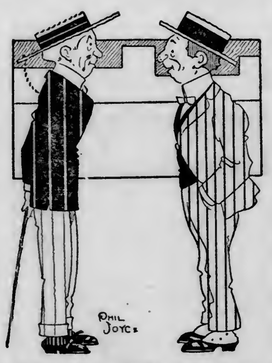

"I can't promise."

"Can you raise our wages?"

"You must know I can't."

"Just hot air, eh? Then please excuse me. This is my busy day. Yes, labor is ennobling, but we work with our hands instead of our mouths!"

SENATOR GEORGE SUTHERLAND OF UTAH.

IN the present congress there are at least eighteen men—five in the senate and thirteen in the house—who are entirely free from the ambition to become president of the United States. They may go a step higher up the official ladder than the one on which they now stand—were a cabinet position offered to any one of them he might accept it without hesitation—but the rather less than ten-millionth possibility of reaching the White House which is the birthright of the humblest native-born American citizen is not theirs. They are debarred forever from that privilege. It would be treason for them even to attempt it.

What have these eighteen men, sent by their appreciative fellows to represent them in the highest legislative body in the nation done to provoke this discrimination? In the recently-issued volume of the congressional directory, which contains their biographics in brief, there is no record of any disqualifying act done by any one of them, although the secret of their permanent exclusion from the highest place is revealed in each opening sentence.

It is the Constitution of the United States which debars them, not, indeed, for the reason of any personal unfitness but on account of the accident of birth which has made them foreigners of the sort that subsequent American citizenship of whatever standing cannot transform into presidential timber.

As interpreted originally, but not officially, the prohibition extended to all born on foreign soil even though their parents were American citizens by direct inheritance. A later statutory definition restricted the exclusion to those born of foreign parentage on foreign soil. Were it not for this after construction Senator George T. Wetmore of Rhode Island and Senator George T. Oliver of Pennsylvania would have shared the prohibition—the former born in England during a visit of his parents to that country and the latter making his first appearance in Ireland under similar conditions.

At the time when the Constitution was ratified by the thirteen states, promptly in some cases and with a reasonable hesitation in others, there was no voice raised in opposition to this discrimination against men of foreign birth. Rhode Island, in 1790, was last to fall into line, with a rather doubtful vote of 34 to 33, but from that day to this there has been manifested little antagonism to the rule. Some of those who have been victims of its positiveness have lamented its ultra exclusiveness, but no one has ever revolted. At this period when there is a disposition on the part of our national lawmakers to modernize the Constitution—made evident by the favor with which the proposed income-tax amendment has been received, as well as the proposition to elect senators by direct popular vote—it will be interesting to learn how the members of congress affected by the Constitutional prohibition debarring those of foreign birth from the presidency regard the discrimination.

The Lone Socialist's View.

Most positive of all in his belief that he and the foreign-born millions of America are the victims of unjust legislation is Congressman Victor L. Berger, the Socialist from the Fifth Wisconsin district, a native of Austria-Hungary.

„s a citizen of this republic," he maintains, "I see no reason why we should continue to be satisfied with anything so antiquated and obsolete as the Constitution. Viewed as an ancient document, it certainly is most interesting, but it is nothing less than hypocrisy to claim that it is as fit for use today as when it was adopted. Why, our Constitution is really a hindrance to any reasonable growth in our public life. It certainly should be remodeled. There is no other example in history of a grown-up nation being compelled to wear the swaddling clothes of infancy.

"For instance, why should I and thousands of others who have been law-abiding citizens all during our adult lives be debarred from the executive office on account of the adventitious circumstances of birth? The supreme egotism that declares a native-born American only to be fit for the position would be laugnable under other conditions. We have believed it so long that it has become second nature. Such an idea may be unquestioned in an Asiatic despotism, but it is a joke in free America. It is time that such nonsense was eliminated from our system of government and that is why, on April 19 of this year, I introduced a resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution granting the authority to call a Constitutional convention. It is time something was done to rescue us from our ridiculous position."

An Illinois Congressman's View.

Less radical in his expression, but quite as firmly convinced of the necessity for a more liberal construction of the rule is Congressman Adolph J. Sabath of the Fifth Illinois district, who lived in the Bohemian town of Zahori until he was 15 and who is now serving his third term in congress. He approves most heartily of the action of the framers of the constitution, but he believes that time has brough about the necessity for a change.

"Not only is the loss to the country in the services of the exceptional man to be deplored," he says, "but the country fails to recognize publicly, by still adhering to this restriction, the immense debt which good citizenship and reform often owe to voters of foreign birth in the overturn of boss rule in American municipalities. There has been no movement for municipal reform in any city of note within the last fifteen years that has not depended for its success, not upon golf-playing, week-end-visiting, indifferent Americans of large means, but upon the masses of naturalized citizens whose business sense and sane ideas could be counted to follow the more trustworthy leaders in civic betterment.

"In fact, if the ideals of American popular government are being kept alive today, it is because of the devotion to those ideals, and the fresh enthusiasm borne for them in the hearts of the despised and discriminated against naturalized citizen.

"During the formative period of a boy's life his ambition should be quickened to the highest degree. No position within the gift of the republic should be excluded from by law. Who shall say how much of our industry and general efficiency have been stimulated by the hope popularly supposed to exist in the heart of every American boy that he may sometime be president?

"Certainly I believe that in the revision of the Constitution of the United States, which is sure to be undertaken within the next few years and to which the legislature of my own state of Illinois stands committed by joint resolution, this prohibition which smacks of the mediaeval ages and perpetuates injustice and prejudice should be amended to read as follows:

"'No person, except a natural-born citizen, or a citizen of the United States for at least twenty years, shall be eligible to the office of president; neither shall any person be eligible to that office who shall not have attained the age of 35 years nor have been twenty-five years a resident within the United States.'

"Briefly summarized, to make American citizens of foreign birth ineligible in any particular to any position, privilege or right enjoyed by their fellow citizens of American birth, is directly criminate against them; is to remove a healthful stimulus to ambition both in youths and adults; perpetuates medaeval injustice; and causes our beloved country herself from time to time, to lose the services of distinguished and self-sacrificing patriots."

The Clause Satisfied Them.

Congressman Michael Donohoe of the Fifth Pannsylvania district, who did not come to Philadelphia from his native Ireland until he was 22 years of age, is not in favor of tinkering with the American constitution.

"As it stands," he argues, "it is one of our most cherished institutions and shows no signs of becoming obsolete. I see no reason why the nationality clause should be modified. It seems to me that any person of foreign birth should be satisfied to know that his children, born on American soil, are eligible to the presidency. To me it is no argument that such discrimination is to be found only in this country. I do not see why this government should take pattern of any other in this respect."

John M. C. Smith of the Third Michigan district, another of our new congressmen, who was born in Ireland, but who has lived on American soil since he was 2 years of age, is not enthusiastic over Mr. Berger's plan to remodel the constitution although its successful promotion might make it possible for him to enter the competition for the presidency. "That restriction for the chief executive office to a native-born American is about the last thing that I should criticize," he says. "There still exist very good reasons why it should not be interfered with, and so long as the presidential term is only four years it would be foolish to make any change.

"It has never occurred to me to question the wisdom of the provision or even to regard it as a subject for discussion," said Senator Stephenson of Wisconsin, who was born near Fredericton, New Brunswick. "So far, I do not believe the country has been a loser by the arrangement. Whenever a man makes his appearance who proves himself to be of such superhuman worth that it would be a national calamity to do without him, a way will be found to overcome the difficulty of making him president. Any one who doubts the wisdom of children who introduced that safety valve into the constitution does not know history."

A Fractious View of the Question.

Congressman Julius Kahn of the Fourth California district, a native of the grand duchy of Baden, who came to America when he was 5 years of age, was graduated from the public school into the theatrical profession and played ten years with Edwin Booth, Joseph Jefferson, Salvini and others of like eminence, then abandoned the stage, went into the law and has represented the Fourth California district at Washington since 1899, with a couple of intervals, is inclined to be facetious over his lack of opportunity to get to the top.

"I admit that I have a very decided taste for the exercise of executive authority," he laughed when he was asked how he felt on the subject. "I suppose the reason I have not felt my inability to reach the White House more keenly is due to the fact that I have been so absorbed in the business of getting hold of what is open to me and so anxious not to overlook anything worth while that falls within my limit. Well, I cannot blame any one for it. I went into politics with my eyes wide open. I knew from the beginning—got it in school, you know—that I was barred from the White House by that Baden business, but I shut my eyes and waded right in. Why, I should have stood a better chance by remaining in Germany. The European countries are not so particular as to the nationality of their rulers. We frequently we hear of a vacant throne going by default and sometimes it happens that it requires a long search to find a man who is willing to take it as a gift. Seriously, though, I think I have a good deal to console me. You may regard it as an acquired taste, but I confess that I like the old Constitution best just as it stands."

William B. Wilson of the Fifteenth Pennsylvania district, who was born at Blantyre, Scotland, came to this country when he was a boy of 8 and went to work in the coal mines, has been a member of three congresses, but his experience in public life has not convinced him that he has been subjected to unreasonable hardships in being debarred from the White House. When asked for his opinion as to the expediency of removing the Constitutional restriction he expressed himself very decidedly against the proposition.

"In my opinion," he said, "there is less reason now for removing the Constitutional prohibition against those of foreign birth than existed at the time of its adoption, because at the present time there are so many more competent men who are native born from whom to make a good selection. While there can be little or no danger to our institutions from the selection of men of foreign birth as members of the house of representatives in the present proportion of twelve in a total membership of 391 or in the senate, with its five or six out of a total of ninety-two, there is no telling what intrigues might result from making men of foreign birth eligable to the presidency, with its resultant control of the civil, military and naval branches of the government. It is for these reasons that I am convinced that it would be most unwise to remove the Constitutional disability of men of foreign birth to enter the presidential competition."

Cautious Senator Nelson.

When asked for his opinion on the subject, Senator Knute Nelson of Minnesota replied: "In view of the fact that I belong to the excluded ones, I feel that it would not be in good taste for me to say anything on the subject. It seems to me that whatever is said ought to come from those who are not directly affected by the Constitutional provision."

For one unacquainted with Senator Nelson and the interests he represents, the inference would be that the Constitutional restriction as it stands is not altogether satisfactory to him, since there seems to be no good reason why he should not give his hearty public approval of the wisdom of our Constitution makers were he so inclined. Before accepting that explanation, however, it should be remembered that there is a large and influential Scandinavian population in the Northwest which accepts any public utterance from the lips of Senator Nelson as a matter of great moment, a sort of ex cathedra finality. There is little doubt that every man, woman and child among these estimable transplanted Norsemen would be made happier by their leader's preferment, and anything that blocks his way to the very summit will always be regarded with disfavor by them. Should Senator Nelson hold a contrary opinion—should he regard the Constitutional prohibition as a wise provision—manifestly it would not be "in good taste" for him to avow it publicly.

Man of strange expletives, stranger impulses and strangest manifestations that he is, it would be strange indeed were Senator Nelson at all dejected over the accident of birth which bars him from the presidential competition. No mere president could exercise a more absolute authority in the Middle Northwest. A Northwestern politician who was also a humorist once made the rather mystifying statement in a campaign speech that Senator Nelson was the only professional Norwegian in American politics. Such a novel assertion required an explanation and the spellbinder was provided with one. "He began his professional career of being a Norwegian," he went on to explain, "by being born in Norway and coming to this country almost immediately afterward. At the tender age of 6 he was prattling Norwegian-American to his Norwegian and American neighbors in Dodge county, Wisconsin, during his youth he assumed the leadership of Young Norway in his part of the country and at the outbreak of the Civil war he shouldered a musket and marched to the front with a Norwegian company. Returning with a creditable record, he resumed his business of being a Norwegian with more than usual industry, and soon captured the Norwegian vote of Dodge county and the entire district. After awhile, with the eagle eye of the Viking, he saw that Minnesota was destined to be the Norwegian stronghold in America and thither he betook himself, laid siege to the Scandinavian trans-plantation and made himself master of it, and he will never relinquish his hold on it so long as the business of being a Norwegian is good."

Senator Nelson a Matchmaker.

Were Senator Nelson inclined to chafe beneath the Constitutional restriction which debars him from the presidency he is one fact that should minimize the sting to his lack of opportunity and that is the certain knowledge that his prestige and authority in the Middle Northwest, which is so largely populated by his fellow Scandinavians, could not be more positive were he to become chief executive. A striking instance of this matter of race loyalty came to light recently.

One day a page informed the senator that a man outside the chamber was insisting on having an audience with him and that the doorkeeper could not induce him to leave the building. "And Mr. Keller wants to know shall we put him out?" added the boy eagerly, on the lookout for a little excitement.

"What does he look like?" inquired Senator Nelson.

"Oh, he's just a common jay, with a hayseed hat and a red sweater for a vest," explained the boy.

"After such a vivid description I shall have to see him; you have aroused my curiosity," said the senator. "Tell Mr. Keller to show him into my committee room—public lands, you know."

The importunate visitor turned out to be a young Norwegian who was a workman on the senator's place at Alexandria. He had made the journey from Minnesota for the express purpose of enlisting the services of his employer in a love affiar which had shown desperate need of outside stimulation. The young woman in the affair was a maid in the Alexandria household, and she had been less definite in her choice of the wedding date than her ardent lover desired.

"But what do you want me to do? How am I to influence Takla in your favor?" asked the senator after he had heard the plaint.

"It you will but say to Talka that you wish it, it will be enough," suggested the swain.

"Very well, then, I'll write to her and tell her that if she doesn't marry you immediately, he must get some other fellow. I do not believe in single blessedness," declared the senator promptly.

With this assurance the now radiant lover set out on his return to Minnesota, every doubt removed, his mission a complete succees.

What Our Scandinavian Member of the House Thinks of It.

Charles A. Lindbergh, member from the Sixth Minnesota district, who, like Senator Nelson, is a Scandinavian, a native of Sweden, does not agree with his fellow Norsemen that it would be in doubtful taste to discuss the matter of the Constitutional restriction. "I think the restriction should remain as it is," he says, without reservation. "Its importance is in the fact that the president has great powers initiating treaties and he should have no close natural ties with any country except his own. Naturally, as we go back in our history the proportion of naturalized to native-born citizens increases, and originally there may have been enough naturalized citizens, if they had united for that purpose, to dictate our foreign policy, although it is wholly improbable they would have done so. Still, as long as there was a possibility of such a thing, the wisdom of the provision is clear. At present, with such an excess of native born population, there could be no improper control of sentiment in favor of any foreign policy. But that might not apply to the president. Were he foreign born he might have natural ties that would induce him to negotiate undesirable treaties. There would at least be a possibility of such a thing.

"But aside from the reasons suggested, and if there were no others, I think that we would be unwise and unnecessary to amend the Constitution, for certainly we shall always be able to secure competent nativeborn citizens for the high office."

Senator George Sutherland of Utah, a native of Buckinghamshire, Eng., is not in favor of removing the restriction. He says: "At the time the provision was adopted there were undoubtedly reasons for it which do not exist, at least in the same degree, at this day. Our form of government, when adopted, was very largely an experiment and it was thought necessary to guard it in this manner from foreign influences. There is, of course, no longer any danger of our institutions being disturbed by the intrigue of other nations and there is probably no longer any harm to be apprehended from the removal of the provision of the Constitution against the eligibility of the foreign-born citizen. The reasons for the prohibition today are mostly, if not entirely, sentimental. At the same time there is nothing to be gained by removing or modifying the restriction that I am aware of, and I am one of those who believe that the provisions of the Constitution should not be altered unless it can be shown that some positive good will result from the alteration."

Foreign Born Citizens in the Cabinet.

James M. Graham, member of congress from the Twenty-first Illinois district, is an Irishman by birth and his method of disposing of the question is as follows: "I have no fault to find with the Constitutional provision requiring the president to be a natural-born citizen of the United States, nor with the statutory provisions confining the right of succession, in case of the president's death, to men of American birth. They seem to me to be proper and reasonable provisions for the public safety.

"I do not think it at all likely that a time will come when it will be necessary to choose a citizen of foreign birth for a position in the president's cabinet which is in the line of succession, but I can readily imagine that a condition might arise which would make it wise to do so, in favor of some future Hamilton or Gallatin, and I think the statute regulating the line of succession might be modified to advantage by allowing such service in the cabinet, but making the incumbent ineligible to the presidential succession."

Congressman Richard Bartholdt, member from the Tenth Missouri district, who was born in Germany, voices his opinion as follows:

"Neither the national laws nor our state laws, as far as I know, make any distinction whatsoever between native and naturalized citizens, and this fact is a source of genuine satisfaction to all citizens of foreign birth. It is in harmony with the spirit which gave birth to this nation and a recognition of the circumstance that the rapid growth of the United States has depended to a large extent upon immigration. In the whole history of our country nothing has as yet happened which would demonstrate that the granting of equal rights to native and adopted citizens was a mistake; on the contrary, the liberality of American laws respecting foreigners has largely contributed towards a more rapid identification of the latter with American institutions. The one restriction which makes a citizen of foreign birth ineligible to the presidency has never given cause for complaint among that class of citizenship. They are aware that such limitation was not the outgrowth of a nativitic spirit, but rather a safeguard at a time when our government still had reason to fear the designs of Europe. Such a danger is, of course, a thing of the past, and, as far as our liberties and independence are concerned, we could safely remove the restriction referred to, especially as any citizen of foreign birth big enough to be mentioned for the presidency would surely be worthy of as well as fit for it. But to my knowledge there is no demand for such a change of the Constitution.

"In this connection I should say, however, that the regulation of the presidential succession by extending it, in case of death or resignation, to the members of the cabinet in rotation works an injustice, unintentional perhaps, upon our adopted citizens because it bars them from holding a cabinet office. Evidently this was not intended by the framers of the Constitution, and up to the time the new succession law was passed several citizens of foreign birth have filled cabinet positions with great distinction. As an example I refer to Carl Schurz, who was secretary of the interior under President Hayes, and as such made a brilliant record, for he was the real father of the conservation policy, at least as far as our forests are concerned. The law in question should be amended so as to remove this bar."

When Dr. Gallinger Was Reminded of His Disability.

Senator Gallinger's view of the matter appears in the following story told recently by a prominent physician of New York:

"Thirty years ago I began to read medicine, after the now obsolete fashion, in Dr. Gallinger's office in Concord, N. H. Although I had been born and brought up in the vicinity I do myself no injustice to admit that I was probably the most verdant specimen of humanity who ever made up his mind to be a physician. I think it was the evidence of Dr. Gallinger's prosperity that influenced me to go into medicine. He used to drive about the best team in town and I envied him and longed to become his rival.

"He had a very large library and on the morning of my installation in his office as his student I looked at the array of volumes and wondered how much of it I should be obliged to swallow before I could hope to drive a team like the doctor's.

"'You have to learn everything in them books?' I asked rather doubtfully.

"'I hope you'll learn to keep some of the dust off those books!' he laughed. 'If you do, you'll do better than any one else has done. Here,' he continued, taking a big, leather-bound volume from one of the shelves, 'take this to begin on. When you've mastered it I'll give you another. Of course, you may ask me to explain whatever you don't understand.'

"After he went out I opened the book and proceeded to look into it. A very brief examination convinced me that I was not likely to become owner of that team for a long time to come. It was Gray's 'Anatomy,' and it struck me forcibly that the illustrations were even more mystifying than the text, which was no more intelligible to me at that stage than Sanskrit would have been. I pounded a while over the opening paragraphs and then threw it aside in hopeless disgust.

"When the doctor returned from his round of visits, not until late in the afternoon, he found me asleep on the lounge in the inner office.

"'Well, how did you and Brother Gray make out?' he asked when I opened my eyes.

"Something in his manner nettled me—I hadn't had my nap out, for one thing—and I answered rather pettishly: 'Brother Gray be darned!'

"The doctor looked serious, but there was a twinkle in his eyes that added to my irritation. 'Dr. Gray was a wonderful man,' he said, 'and his book is one of the most useful works ever published. When you are better able to appreciate what he has written you will be sorry for your unkind remark.'

"'Dr. Gray be darned!' I reiterated, with dogged insistence, fired by his reflection against my present power of appreciation. I had an ungovernable temper in those days, and I was approaching the point at which I lost control.

"'Oh, well,' said the doctor, indifferently, 'I guess you'll change your opinion in time.'

"'Never!' I raged. 'And no man that can't never be president of the United States can't make me, neither.'

"At this outburst the doctor fairly gasped. 'Why, Francis,' he exclaimed, 'what do you mean? Who put that nonsense into your head?'

"'Jerry—the man that drives you. He says he don't care a dime how easy you are to him, for he always thinks it ain't worth minding from a man that can't never be president—he says you're a Canuck.'

"With a perfectly straight face and without a sign of annoyance the doctor put his hand gently on my shoulder and said: 'Francis, it is true that I can never be president of the United States, and - want you to promise me that so long as you live you will never again remind me of the fact that by having been born at Cornwall, on the wrong side of the St. Lawrence river, I have been deprived of a chance that both you and Jerry enjoy.'

"His manner was so pacific and he was apparently so serious that there was no chance for further argument. I remember that I didn't know absolutely whether he actually meant what he said or whether he was guying me, and I don't know to this day."

Senator William Lorimer of Illinois, a native of Manchester, Eng., holds the following opinion:

"I am in entire sympathy with the sentiment expressed by one of the greatest of my countrymen who stated, in effect, that the American Constitution is the most wonderful instrument ever conceived by the brain of man. The truth of this becomes more apparent with the advancing years and the crucial tests which time has brought to bear upon it.

"The provision to which attention is called was adopted, of course, at a time when the fear of foreign domination in our domestic affairs was a great deal stronger, and with more reason, than now; yet, the reasons which led to its adoption then are still of an impelling force. The provision guarantees that the executive entrusted with the administration of this great government will not have a divided allegiance, either in fact or sentiment; that the foreign policy will be independent, with no favorites and no entangling alliances suggested by a former allegiance; and that his birth in this country, with the added requisite of fourteen years residence after becoming of age, should make an American of him and place him in accord with American institutions."

The four foreign-born members of the national legislature who have not expressed themselves on the subject are Congressman George F. O'Shaunessy of the First Rhode Island district, who was born in Galway, Ireland; Congressman William Pitt Campbell of the Third Kansas district, a native of Nova Scotia; Congressman James A. Hughes of the Fifth West Virginia district, who comes from Corunna, Ont., and Congressman Eugene F. Kinkead of the Ninth New Jersey district, a native-born Irishman.

THE TONNAGE TAX BOGEY.

Something like three months ago The Herald began its fight for an increase in the railroad gross earnings tax at an extra session of the legislature to be held next winter.

During that time threats have come to The Herald from several different sources that unless it ceased this campaign in behalf of the people, a tonnage tax bill would be brought up and passed.

First came the Minneapolis Tribune, political mouthpiece of ex-Senator Ed Smith, with the intimation that further prosecution of The Herald's campaign would mean the passage of a tonnage tax bill, and that unless The Herald ceased calling attention to the fact that the Twin City interests were opposing the extra session the Twin City representatives in the legislature would vote for the tonnage tax.

Then came a "quiet tip" from a member of Governor Eberhart's official family to the same effect.

Next came a similar intimation from railroad sources.

For years the representatives of St. Louis county in the legislature have had this bogey brandished before them every time they dared entertain a thought out of harmony with the wishes of the combine of interests that has controlled the public affairs of Minnesota.

In the absence of any real public sentiment for this vicious proposal, which would vitally injure the plain people of the iron regions without harming in the slightest degree the "steel trust," at which it is aimed, special interests having axes to grind have kept it alive as a convenient club to hold in line the political and legislative representatives from St. Louis county.

For its part, The Herald wishes to say with all the emphasis at its command that it refuses to be cowed by this threat, and that it will continue to perform its duty to the state and its people without regard to what the interests concerned in keeping the control of the state where it is may threaten.

When these interests threaten to inflict a tonnage tax on the people of Northeastern Minnesota if The Herald continues its campaign for equitable taxation of the railroads and for control of the state government by and for the plain people of the state, they presume that the people are stupid enough to let their representatives becomes parties to a plot of that character; and The Herald does not believe that to be possible.

We are heartily tired of a condition under which no representative from St. Louis county is allowed to say his soul is his own without the tonnage tax bogey being flourished over his head.

We are heartily disgusted with a condition under which the interests which are guilty of this business seem to think that all they have to do to choke off a free newspaper, which owes no allegiance to anybody but the plain people who support it, is to whisper "tonnage tax" and see us run to cover.

The Herald is for an increase in railroad taxes because the railroads not only do not pay half enough taxes, but because they seem to think that they have this state by the throat and can do to it what they please.

The Herald is in favor of making this increase at an extra sesssion of the legislature to be held this winter because if it is postponed until the regular session of 1913 it means a delay of two years and the loss of two years' additional revenue.

And because it conceives it to be its duty to do so, The Herald proposes to fight it out along this line, no matter who threatens, and no matter what is threatened.

THE ISSUE IN MAINE.

After more than half a century of prohibition, the people of Maine are to vote Monday on the question whether or not it shall be stricken out of the Constitution.

For a generation there has been a more or less powerful revolt in Maine against prohibition, and that this revolt has grown is evident from the fact that "resubmission" has been a leading issue in all recent state campaigns, and the further fact that after many years "resubmission" has come at last.

It would not be fair to say that the impulse toward the repeal of prohibition in Maine comes only from those interested financially in the liquor traffic. If prohibition prohibited, there would be nobody in Maine interested in the liquor traffic. But as it does not prohibit, there are many in Maine who are interested in the repeal of prohibition. But besides these there are many who object to the hypocrisy of prohibition that does not prohibit, and who prefer legalized, licensed and regulated traffic to an outlawed traffic which persists in spite of prohibition and brings with it many abuses peculiar to law violation of this character.

A writer in Hampton's Magazine who believes that the people of Maine will vote down the repeal, and that while prohibition does not prohibit it has lessened the consumption of liquor, says: "Maine liquor dealers obtain anywhere from 500 to 1,400 liquor dealers' licenses each year from the United States internal revenue department. Each license is prima facie evidence of 'intent to sell.' But the total number of licenses is only a fraction of the number of places actually selling liquor. In Portland there are about four times as many places selling liquor to thirsty citizens as felt it necessary to take out Federal licenses through fear of the revenue officers. Two thousand public drinking places, at least, are steadily active in Maine."

This writer tells a story that reeks with graft and public scandal. Liquor is vile and highpriced. Public officers more or less openly countenance its sale and receive pay for doing it. "A couple of Cumberland county deputies were recently each making $500 a month—so state some of the Portland liquor dealers from whom they were getting part. From time to time word went forth that the deputies were about to make a formal raid. Then the saloonkeepers filled an empty beer barrel with water. It was toted down to the sheriff's office and emptied—confiscated. No one lost by this pleasing observance of the law."

Again: "There are families of hereditary rum sellers who have handed down the technique of evading law and intimidating officers for two, three and four generations. Some of them are descendents of the original brewers who were rooted in the soil until the prohibition wave washed them out. They know how to sell liquor. Sheriffs come and go, but the liquor sellers go on forever."

It appears, too, that there is a regular schedule of prices for "protection," which the Hampton's writer gives. The average has been, he says, from $40 to $60 a month.

So even in Maine, oldest of prohibition states, prohibition does not prohibit; hence the revolt against it. On the whole, the indications are that the attempt to repeal it will fail next Monday, and that the people will vote to retain it; largely, according to the same authority, because no plan of regulation offering better results is before the voters.

THE PEOPLE OR THE BOSSES?

It seems to be taken for granted that the nominations for congressman-at-large in Minnesota next year are to be made by the conventions and not by the people. The Burton amendment, on which this action is based, is intended to cover cases where there is no provision of law to cover such nominations; but there is ample provision in the Minnesota primary law, so the amendment does not apply.

If the nomination of congressman-at-large is made in convention instead of at the primaries it will be because it has been juggled out of the hands of the people and into the hands of the bosses.

HOW TO COOK A LOON.

We are indebted to Fur News for a recipe for cooking a loon. We are not particularly anxious about knowing how to cook a loon, for hunger would have to drive hard before we should eat one. Why we are interested in this recipe is because it reminds us of something.

According to Fur News, Bill Crozer, a guide, says this is the way to cook a loon: "Cook the loon in water for twelve hours. At night pour off the water and cook him again overnight. In the morning throw in a piece of grindstone. When you can stick a fork in the grindstone the loon is done."

That reminds us of the difficulty that attends penetrating the intelligence of Governor Eberhart with the news that the time is ripe for an extra session of the legislature to increase railroad taxes, and with the fact that unless the extra session is held the state will lose $2,000,000 in taxes.

GERMANY AND THE TRUSTS.

Several prominent Wall Street gentlemen, who in private life are expert jugglers of securities and are closely associated with the Wall Street kin of the humbler fry who coax the gaping Reuben's money away with three walnut shells and a pea, have lately returned from European trips very enthusiastic about conditions in Germany.

Germany is highly prosperous, they say, and they draw a moral for us from the conditions they found there. Their moral is: Leave the trusts alone.

In Germany, they say, the government helps business and does all it can to encourage combination and superior organization of industry, realizing that under modern conditions success depends upon efficiency and economy. In this country, on the other hand, "the feeling is against combinations," and the government hampers and hurts business by its policy.

That's all very true, too; only these Wall Street gentlemen do not tell the whole truth.

The Chicago Record-Herald truly tells the rest of it:

"Germany does help business and does help combinations, but she at the same time takes a hand in things and regulates very drastically the affairs of the trusts she fosters. There is no 'let alone' policy in the Teutonic empire. Wall Street would not welcome a similar policy here. The suggestions of Colonel Roosevelt and Judge Grosscup and others, who do understand Germany's policy, are regarded as far too radical by our average man of affairs for the present day and generation. The less the conservative critics of the Sherman law say about Germany's 'lesson' the better, for in that lesson our industrial radicals rightly find hope, aid and comfort."

Judge Gary, who though a master in the affairs of the country's greatest corporation cannot in any sense be termed a "Wall Street man," has caught the right lesson from conditions in Germany. These Wall Street men who drew the lesson of "let the trusts alone" caught the wrong lesson, and one that they might as well not waste breath talking about.

Sooner or later the government of this country, like the government of Germany, will foster combinations and superior organizations of industry; and the sooner it gets to doing that and abandons the hopeless policy of the Sherman law the better for all.

But the government will not stop with fostering the organization of industry on a high plane of economy and efficiency.

If the government would stop there Wall Street would be happy; but Wall Street is not going to be made happy in that way.

The government will keep right on in a direction that is thoroughly logical and wise, and will see to it that the benefits of this "superior organization of industry" are shared with the workers who are the foundation of industry and with the consumers who use its products.

The only harm in organization—in trusts, if you please—consists in letting the few reap the benefits that flow from them. The real good in trusts will be developed when the government, by wise regulation in the public interest, sees that these benefits are distributed as they should be.

WHAT OF THE INJURED WORKMAN?

Governor Hadley of Missouri in a recent speech made this strikingly true statement:

> Eighty per cent of accidents to workmen are due to modern industrial conditions, 10 per cent to the negligence of the employes, and 10 per cent to the negligence of the employers. The last 10 per cent is the only percentage that is compensated. * * * Ninety per cent of all the killed and injured last year went entirely without compensation.

Governor Hadley might have added, as to the 10 per cent of injured that are compensated, that they are compensated only when the lawyers they can hire and the expense money they can afford are able to overcome the skill of the able lawyers hired by the defending corporations and the unlimited expense money at their command. When the cost of trials is taken out of the money recovered in behalf of this 10 per cent of compensated injuries, and the personal injury lawyer has taken his immodest share, there is precious little left for the injured workmen.

Says the Kansas City Star, commenting on Governor Hadley's speech: "The last legislature of Missouri refused to enact either a workman's compensation act or an employer's liability law. It placed its refusal on the ground that it wanted an expert investigation of the whole subject of compensation and liability for industrial acts. And it made no intelligent provision for getting information for the next session. A committee of its own members was appointed by the senate to report recommendations in 1913; but no apropriation was made for the expenses of an inquiry and the collaboration of experts. Of such stuff is our law-making."

With one exception, there is a startling parallel between the situation in Missouri and the situation in Minnesota.

The Minnesota legislature, too, refused to pass either a workman's compensation act or an employer's liability law. The Minnesota senate, too, appointed a committee of its own members to investigate and report in 1913, and failed to provide it with any appropriation for expenses.

The single difference is that in Minnesota a commission was appointed in 1909 and provided with a small allowance of funds for investigation. Its report—which was divided and none too attractive in either division—was rejected by the last legislature, which failed utterly in its duty in this respect.

Whatever excuse there may be for postponing the passage of a workman's compensation law, there is no excuse whatever for failing to pass a just employer's liability law. At the very least the legislature should do three things: it should discard the infamous doctrine that the employe assumes the risk of employment when assumption of the risk may be the only alternative to the death of his family by starvation; it should discard the equally infamous rule that responsibility may be shifted from the employer to a fellow-employe of the injured man; and it should restrict the operation of the often unjust doctrine of contributory negligence.

Throw as much as possible of the burden of risk upon the employers, and very quickly the employers will be found co-operating actively and earnestly in the creation of a fair workman's compensation law.

HITCHCOCK'S PARCELS POST PLAN.

Postmaster General Hitchcock has taken the public into his confidence regarding his plan for the installation of the parcels post.

It is a very delicate plan, with much of the tact shown by the man who cut his dog's tail off an inch at a time so it wouldn't hurt him so much.

And it's about the kind of plan for a parcels post that you would expect from a member of the Taft administration.

Mr. Hitchcock's idea is that in the first stage of the "experiment"—he calls it that though this is the only civilized country on the globe that hasn't had a parcels post system for years—the parcels post should be limited to packages passing between two persons on the same rural free delivery route.

In the second stage, which presumably he would suggest taking up in forty or fifty years, the parcels post is to be limited to packages passing between two addresses in the same city.

When he proposes to have a real parcels post, which is a parcels post under which packages can be sent from one town to another, or from one town to a point in the country and vice versa, he doesn't say. Doubtless the concession of such service as that he regards as too violent and revolutionary to be mentioned at this time.

The beauty of his method of introducing the parcels post is that it doesn't affect the four reasons ex-Postmaster General Wanamaker said were why this country has no parcels post—the American Express Company, the Adams Express Company, the Wells-Fargo Express Company and the United States Express Company. It wouldn't affect these reasons—or these companies — in the slightest degree, because they do not deliver parcels in the country or do a city parcels business.

But this isn't the parcels post, by a long way. It is a miserable, melancholy substitute for the parcels post. It can serve no useful purposes except to reassure the agitated express companies, and it will do little good to the people.

It is to be hoped that congress, which is reasonably well controlled by Democrats and insurgents who profess to owe no allegiance to vested interests, will go the postmaster general several better by passing a law providing for a real parcels post.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

CITES INSTANCES TO PROVE HIS CLAIM.

To the Editor of The Herald:

P. A. Bryant in Thursday's Herald attacks the truthfulness of my letter which appeared in last Saturday's Herald, and with your permission I will say that as a citizen of mature judgment, I do not have to call an officer when I see any wrong, although I did put an officer on watch by walking fifty feet. I believe in denouncing such doings in the best way, that is through the public press; for publicity is the best remedy in such cases and the press is the public forum in which justice can be secured most quickly. I made no attack on the right of anyone having an automobile coming in front of any building. Secondly I made no attack on drivers waiting for a fare, but I certainly did and will attack anyone who uses the language and inducements to young girls that I heard the one in charge of the auto I spoke about, use. The number of this auto was in my letter as given to The Herald. I did not speak of toughs but I said, "A noisy, windy squabbling lot of cigarette smokers" who may be all that and yet not what is commonly known as toughs, "police characters," although after saying "that is not so," he admits that the police are there to protect the people from the very toughs whose presence he denies. They go there and cannot be kept out while they behave. Also it is a fact that there are two policemen there instead of one. Again he talks about drunken men, something I did not mention, although he knows they go there, for only tonight, Thursday, I saw a man and woman go to the back door of a saloon nearby after 11 o'clock, then walk up into the Duluth Dancing academy. Again a few days ago, a drunken man stopped a married woman outside the academy. Her husband gave him all was due him and there was blood on the sidewalk for a whole block. Again two young girls were insulted by a young man whose escort they refused, but would not be sure what he said when they knew they would have to appear in court.

Duluth, Sept. 7. JACK PLANE.

How the Author Does It.

New York Herald: Once upon a time many years ago Anthony Hope began a serial causerie in an English magazine entitled "The Fly on the Wheel." In it he played with the problem of an author's method in writing stories. In a woman's mouth, he says, the question runs, "Oh, Mr. Fly, how did you think of those lovely stories?" In the mouth of a man, "I say, Fly, old chap, how the deuce do you turn out all that stuff of yours?"

The fly confessed that the question was too much for his candor, and as he had no desire to make a secret of his method he proposed to exhibit it in the form of a diary—the record of a day.

"Let us suppose," he said, "that I am bidden to write a short story. I arrive at my working den at 9:45 o'clock and read my letters. The rest of the day is much as follows:

10:00—Put on writing coat; find a hole in the elbow.
10:03—Light pipe and sit down in large armchair by fire.
10:15—Who the deuce can write a story on a beastly day like this? (It was quite nice weather, really—that's the artistic temperament.)
10:45—I must think about that confounded story. Besides I don't think she meant anything at all.
11:15—I wish the—these people hadn't asked me to write for their paper!
11:45—Hullo! Will that do?
12:00—Hang it, that's no use!
12:30—I suppose if I happened to have a head instead of a turnip I could write that story.
12:40—Yes! No! By jove, yes! Where's that pen? Oh, where the—? All right, here it is! Now then! (Scribble, scribble.)
1:00—Lunch! Good, I believe it's going.
1:30—Now I'll just knock it off. (Scribble.)
2:15—Well, I don't quite see my way to—oh, yes, I do! Good! That's not so bad.
3:00—One, two, three—200 words a page. Well, I've put that in in good time anyhow! Where's that pipe?
3:15—I think I'll fetch 'em. Pitched in passion by Jove!
3:40—Oh I say, look here! I've only got about 1,200 words and I want 2,000. What the deuce shall I do?
3:50—I must pad it, you know. She mustn't take him yet, that's all.
4:00—She can't take more than a page accepting the fool, though; it's absurd, you know.
4:15—Oh, confound it!
4:45—Now, let's see. Two, four, six, seven, Good! I'm in the straight now.
5:00—Thank heaven, that's done! Now I suppose I must read the thing over, I know it's awful rot. Well, that's their lookout; they've bought it.
5:03—It's not so bad, though, after all.
5:11—I rather like that, I don't know, but it seems rather original.
5:15—H'm! I've read worse stories than this.
5:20—No, I'm hanged if I touch a word of it! It's not half bad.
5:25—Pretty smart ending!
5:30—Well, if there are a dozen men in England who can write a better story than that I should like to see 'em, that's all!
5:35—Puff, puff, puff, puff. Well, I shan't touch a pen again today.

Aristocrat and Plutocrat.

Chicago Evening Post: Mr. Paul Rainey, a Newporter by right of money made in Cleveland, is now in the heart of Africa shooting big game. His latest letter reports that near Nairobi he killed twenty-seven lions in thirty-five days "through the use of dogs."

A Chicago man related the other day one of the best hunting stories it has ever been our fortune to hear. He was traveling upon a P. & O. steamer upon which was an Austrian archduke. The latter was returning from Ceylon, where he had gone upon a hunting trip after elephants.

"Did you get any?" asked the Chicagoan.

The archduke was silent for a moment. "Well," he said, "I went into the heart of a great jungle and sat there all the still hours of a tropical night. Early in the morning I heard the crashing of the elephants coming down to drink. Suddenly they broke from cover—three of them—and stood there, splendid, awesome, monumental. I asked myself why it was that I had traveled thousands of miles just to spoil this magnificent thing. I could find no answer. I put up my rifle, and now I am going home—having killed nothing."

The aristocrats of Austria seem to have attained a higher degree of civilization than the plutocrats of America.

Fearless of What?

Collier's: Discussing the recall of judges it is common to speak of "a fearless judiciary." As one of our readers pertinently asks, fearless of whom, or what? The fear of God has usually been looked upon as desirable. Whether or not vox populi is vox Dei, an argument can well be made that a fear of settled public opinion is more wholesome at least than the fear of bosses under the present system. For our part, we think Arizona or any other community should be allowed to apply the recall to judges if it thinks best. The recall is neither a panacea nor a crime. It is a piece of machinery, which may work well in a given situation or may not, and a full-grown people should be allowed to experiment with it if the said full-grown people so desires.

A MOMENT WITH THE WITS.

Toledo Blade: "You are false!" he hissed. "You are the artificial product of the artificial age. Even your figure is not your own."

"Liar!" she cried triumphantly, "I paid the last installment on it this morning."

He slunk away.

Punch: Traveler to Native—But don't you find it a bit dull here?

"Dull, is it? Divil a bit, sorr; sure a raisonable man can find all the heighth of divershun just sittin' here watchin' the thrains go by.'

"And how many trains are there a day?"

"Just the wan, sorr."

Puck: Reverend Gude—The question is brethren, how shall we send salvation to the Fiji Islanders?

Deacon Tightwadde——Though I am not intimately familiar with the present case, I would suggest that we send it collect."

Philadelphia Record: "Why, Tommy," exclaimed the Sunday school teacher, "don't you say your prayers every night before you go to bed?"

"Not any more," replied Tommy. "I uster when I slept in a folding bed, though."

Baltimore American: "My good man, are you systematic in your work?"

"No, sir, I'm rheumatic."

Washington Star: "I don't know what to do about this portrait," said the artist.

"Can't you get the likeness?"

"Oh, yes; but I'm doubtful about how far to go. If I don't make it look like him the critics will roast it, and if I do he'll refuse to pay for it."

The Reserve Association.

Ellis O. Jones in Life: When Senator Aldrich was greasing the plank to slide the contents of the United States treasury into the pockets of Wall street, we can imagine that not the least of his worry came in devising a suitable name for the operation.

It is a bank, but to call it a bank would not be safe. We have had one classical experience with a United States bank, in which the United States was a silent partner with a majority interest. The literature on this subject is readily available and is known to have affected the public inflammably.

It is also a corporation of the trust variety, in that it puts the entire monetary machinery of the country in the hands of a single group of stockholders. But it wouldn't do to call it a company or a corporation. The supreme court has been too busy on corporations the past few years to make them a popularly paltable pill.

For obvious reasons it could not be called Aldrich's Private Graft, or the Treasury Looters' club.

We can imagine Mr. Aldrich, awakings perhaps from a sound sleep, with the happy thought of calling it an association. Association is a kind of nice, friendly, co-operative, innocuous word which neither suggests piracy nor conjures up bitter recollections.

Now, then, what kind of association? Several sleepless nights were undoubtedly passed on that part of the program. And finally Reserve Association was hit upon. A happy thought! Reserve suggests something cautiously virtuous and forehanded, something that will always be there when it is wanted, something that we can fall back upon, something that will be safe, sound and salutary.

No. Let us not object to the name Senator Aldrich may be a perfectly pluotocratic political person, but as a fashioner of appellations, he is O. K.

"Peekweek."

Pall Mall Gazette: The news that "Pickwick" is being set for the French stage raises that mixture of feeling in our breast which is always described as respect not unmingled with awe. It is not the first time, of course, that "Boz" has been Gallicized either for production or for publication, and Thackeray has put on record his impressions of an unconscious travesty of "Nicholas Nickleby" he witnessed once in a Paris theater. The designing crew of Gride, and Pyke, and Pluck, if we remember rightly, were transformed into unutterable villains with impossible ferocious whiskers, and the hero who unmasked their machinations turned out to be a polished and effeminate person rejoicing in the name of "Smique." Needless to say, he was a Frenchification of the hapless Smike.

On some such lines, "Les Aventures de M. Pickwick" might lead the benevolent Samuel to any length. His innocent scrapes with the fair sex might easily become Lotharian intrigues of the most abandoned sort, the scenes in the Fleet develop into a chain of horrors calculated to knock the Bastile and the Conciergerie into a cocked hat and a coal scuttle bonnet. We are reassured, however, by the news that the adapter, M. Charvay, has steeped himself in Dickens, and may therefore rank on a level with Mr. Davray, who has done so much in France for Meredith and Kipling. Unfortunately, one of M. Charvay's friends is so anxious to prepare French taste for the humor of the play that he has talked of its being Americanized, and there could hardly be an unkinder cut all around. Fancy the late Samuel Pickwick, esquire, of Gossiwell street, with a trans-Atlantic twang!

The Banshee Cry.

When the great, gray fog rolled in,
The cry came up from the sea;
'Twas not the shriek of the wind-swept bird
Or the voice of human kind.
It beat like a dead man's hand
On the casement he fain would find;
Three times it came and went, three times I quaked as I heard—
For you or for me, O'Connell, is it for you or me?

I flung the casement wide;
The gray fog drifted through;
Three was roar of the wind and wave,
And never a sound beside.
I pressed the cross to my heart
Till my breast with the blood was dyed.
Oh, little the use to pray, little the time to rave—
For you or for me, O'Connell, is it for me or you?

Oh, Mary, Mary, mother!
Which soul dost thou hold in fee?
Mine, the bride of a night and a day,
Priest bound to a bond abhorred?
Or the red O'Connell himself,
Chieftain and master and lord?
I have heard the banshee's cry, the death hoves on their way—
For you or for me, O'Connell, is it for you or me?

Reflections of a Bachelor.

New York Press: Nearly every girl secretly believes that she could win fame and fortune as an artist's model.

Many a man isn't particular about what he has to eat if the accompanying drink is satisfactory.

No bachelor likes to be roasted, but it is no more uncomfortable than being married and kept in hot water.

Sometimes a man fails to accomplish anything worth while because he is too busy criticising some other fellow's work.

Too Good to Be True.

New York World: "John," she asked after she had finished packing her trunk, "will you remember to water the flowers in the porch boxes every day?"

"Yes, dear, I'll see that they are properly moistened regularly."

"And the rubber plant in the dining room. You know it will have to be sprayed about three times a week."

"I'll remember it."

"I'm afraid you'll forget the canary and let the poor little creature starve."

"Don't worry about the bird, dear, I'll take good care of him."

"But I feel sure you'll forget about keeping the curtains drawn, so that things won't be faded out when I get back."

"Don't give yourself a moment's uneasiness about the curtains. I'll keep the house as dark as a tunnel.

"John, I'm not going. You have some reason for being anxious to get rid of me."

SATURDAY NIGHT TALK

The Highest Education.

The children are trooping back to school after the long vacation. With well-browned faces and in spick and span attire they throng the rooms from which last June they went, "storming out to playing." The teachers; God bless them, are at their posts again and the educational mill has begun to grind its year's grist.

If one is ever tempted to get grumpy and pessimistic over some of our national problems let him direct his thoughts to the work of our public schools. Much is being taught there beside the three R's. Into the melting pot of this great system a score of races go to come out not only with instructed minds, but with the spirit of good Americans. Go through some great city school and in the various rooms hear small delegates from every land as they "pledge allegiance to my flag and to the republic for which it stands—one nation, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all." I tell you we ought to stand with hats off when the national school bell rings in a new term.

We have a widespread conviction in America that education is worth while. What lordly gifts to educational work! What sacrifice in thousands of homes that children may have more than their parents' advantages! Father will gladly wear that shiny suit and mother will pass coldly by the milliner's window in order that James or Jennie may have another year at the academy. "Wisdom is above rubies," said King Solomon, and say most American parents.

Now let me suggest that there is one grade of education higher than that of the mind. I call it the education of the spirit. Not that I assume that the two terms are to be too sharply differentiated. Doubtless both mind and spirit are parts of the same personality. Distinction is made merely to urge the need of ethical drill as well as that which is solely of the head.

"Learn to do well," said the old Prophet Isaiah to his people. He wanted them to learn not only how to think accurately or to work skillfully with their hands, but also how to do that which was right. Simple training of the mind does not, of necessity make a man a true friend or an honest official, or a worthy citizen. It may make him only more slyly devilish. The educated rougue is doubly equipped for mischief.

The finest of the fine arts is the art of right living. It is the most important study in any curriculum. Those teachers are laying the republic under an immense debt who add an informal course in morals to what they teach their young charges out of books. As, by precept and example, they show the possibility and the power of a right life, they are doing much to make the America of the future strong and prosperous and happy.

Can we "learn to do well?" Is it proper to speak of the attainment of virtue as a matter of culture and practice? To a large degree—yes. We can learn truthfulness, for instance. Children have riotous imaginations. They naturally prevaricate. They can be taught the danger of that habit and the beauty of truthfulness.

We can learn generosity. The worst "tightwad" of my acquaintance is a man who was never taught to share his toys with his playmates. Now that he is a man grown he simply does not know how to give. On the other hand, the richest man in the world exhibits the little account book which he kept when his weekly income amounted to the princely sum of from $3 to $6. But in that book there is the record of a regular gift of 1 cent a week to the Sunday school with which he was connected. Now he gives millions. It is all a matter of training.

We can learn contentment. The apostle tells us, "I have learned in whatsoever state I am therewith to be content." He had studied in the university of hard knocks, whose colors are black and blue, but he had learned one of the greatest lessons that any college can impart. And we can learn it.

Whether the clanging school bell, then, summons us to our books or only to golden memories, let us reflect that we are still in school. We are all the time learning how to live. And it may be we are trying to help a few of the primary scholars with some of the easier lessons that we managed to get hold of ourselves years ago.

—THE PARSON.

More Democratic Unfitness.

New York World: To a practical lawmaker like ex-Senator Aldrich, who gave final shape to the tariff schedules of 1909, the decision of the house Democrats that hereafter public business shall be done in the open must be final proof of their party's unfitness to govern.

It is unthinkable that Mr. Aldrich would have humiliated the woolen trust and the cotton-goods men and the Steel trust and the crockery interests by requiring them to state in the presence of outsiders what protective duties they were entitled to in return for their political services to the Republican party. All that is said in a committee room when a tariff bill is being framed is not fit to print.

Imagine Mr. Hines of Chicago, Senator Lorimer's good friend the lumber trust lobbyist, who haunted the corridors of the capitol for weeks and entertained senators and representatives, being compelled to do his work in the open! The suggestion is indecent.

It is bad enough that senators like Guggenheim of Colorado and Scott of West Virginia should have had to demand on the floor of the senate high duties on their own products. But to make it rule that there shall be no secrecy about the making of tariff rates is to strike at the very keystone of the arch.

THE PATRONS OF

recognizing the good work it has done during its seven years in Duluth, have perfected an organization to assist in the development of its work. This advisory board consists of

Mr. David Williams, President.
Mrs. C. H. Bagley, Secretary.
Mrs. Coryate Wilson.
Mr. Henry Turrish.
Mr. E. P. Towne.

It will interest itself actively in the work of the school which will be made more effective than ever.

•••S. Arthur Tomlinson arrived on the City of Paris this afternoon from Lapeer, Mich., to visit his brother-in-law, J. S. McPherson.

•••The B. B. Richards sawmill at New Duluth sawed its first board yesterday. The machinery, which was made by the Marinette Iron works, is working very smoothly.

•••Rev. G. F. Lee of Minneapolis has arrived to take charge of the Superior Lutheran church.

THOMAS U. SISSON, OF MISSISSIPPI

By SAVOYARD.

It is the land of the sun whence this young man hails. He is from the heart of the most intensely Southern of all the Southern states. With a perceptible tincture of Huguenot, the whites of Mississippi are pure Anglo-Saxon, computing the Scotch-Irish for what they are, for Jefferson Davis and Stonewall Jackson, both Scotch-Irish, were as Saxon as Robert E. Lee himself. And I will say besides that, the planters of Mississippi prairie and their families are cultivated and refined folks. Every household contains books of excellent selection, and what is better, they are read and mastered by the white members of that family. There are no unread private libraries in Mississippi, very few in the entire South.

In that land where dwells Mr. Sisson there are sweet violets in the forest, blooming and fragrant at St. Valentine's, and radiant roses are voluptuous at the vernal equinox, when every grove is vocal with the music of songbirds. The geographical nomenclature of this state is the richest and most tuneful, embracing names like these: Tishomingo, Itawamba, Pontotoc, Panola, Coahoma, Tallahatchie, Yalabusha, Chickasaw, Oktibbeha, Choctaw, Attala, Noxubee, Neshoba, Yazoo, Issaquaena, Copiah, and hundreds of others just as musical. And in the effulgent spring time, when efflorescence makes the landscape dazzling in its splendor and sun, sky, and air conspire to perfect that Arcadia, he is grave indeed who fails to revert to the lines to the East:

Know ye the land of the cedar and vine,
Where the flowers ever blossom, the beams ever shine;
Where the light wings of zephyr, oppressed with perfume,
Wax faint o'er the gardens of Gul in her bloom!
Where the citron and olive are fairest of fruit,
And the voice of the nightingale never is mute;
Where the tints of the earth and the hues of the sky
In color though varied in beauty may vie,
And the purple of ocean is deepest in dye,
Where the virgins are soft as the roses they twine,
And all save the spirit of man is divine?

The prairie region of East Mississippi, part of which is in the Fourth Congressional district, is such a land, such a sun, such a sky, and such an atmosphere.

Thomas U. Sisson is of the younger set in congress, having been born in 1869, when the despot's heel was on Mississippi's shore and the C. O. P. at Washington was pulling off its grand stunt of "making treason odious." It was the day of grandeur of the carpet-bagger and the scalawag, when the bottom rail was on top, and the only possible way to be prosperous was to be infamous. But when this chap, Tom Sisson, had exactly fulfilled his first lustrum, "the white folks' riz," and in contempt of bayonets seized hold on their state government and have held it ever since.

I reckon he is Scotch-Irish, for he was educated at the Southwestern Presbyterian university, Clarksville, Tenn., whence he was graduated at the age of 20. Then he turned pedagogue and was first principal of a high school and later head of a graded school. Bye and bye he studied law and attended that famous institution, Cumberland university, Lebanon, Tenn., from the law department of which he was graduated in 1894, and was immediately admitted to the bar at Memphis, but subsequently he moved to his present home at Winona, Miss., opened a law office and has resided there ever since.

A tall, well-proportioned man in his physical frame, Tom Sisson has a commanding presence. The face is strong, rather than handsome, though it is by no means homely. The eye is fine, open, clear, steady, and it could not be furtive if it would, and would not if it could. Some folks would call his demeanor breezy, and thousands who never saw him will get an idea of him when I say he reminds me of Dr. Clint Kelley, so long dean of one of the leading medical schools of the South at Louisville, Ky.

A man of the people, it is simply inevitable that one like Tom Sisson must get into politics. And so he did. He was returned to the state senate, and in 1900, when he was 31, he was elector for the state-at-large, on the Democratic ticket. Then he was district attorney for the Fifth Judicial circuit, and in 1907, at the age of 38, he made a splendid race in the Democratic primary for governor of the state and was beaten by a slender margin. The next year he was elected a member of the Sixty-first congress, and in 1910 he was re-elected.

Though one of the most genial men socially, and universally popular, there is much of the bull-dog in Tom Sisson's mental composition. He is not a doctrinaire. He don't care a fig whether the hair is parted on the south or the southeast side. He goes in for facts. Young he was, we may be sure that he was delighted with Grover Cleveland's sententious declaration, "It is a condition and not a theory that confronts us." Though by no means of the school of Charles Dickens' Gradgrind, yet Sisson demands facts, facts, facts, and I doubt if he is willing to value higher than the multiplication table that finest thought in even Shakespeare:

Sweet are the uses of adversity,
Which, like the toad, ugly and venomous,
Wears yet a precious jewel in his head,
And this our life exempt from public haunt,
Finds tongues in trees, books in running brooks,
Sermons in stones, and good in everything.

And I'll warrant that in the courtroom Sisson was the despair of every adversary who split hairs. On the contrary, he seized on the vital fact of the case and would not allow bench or bar to depose it from its place of primacy. Hence we cannot say his is an exquisite mind; but it is a strong mind, and that makes him a holy terror in a forensic melee. And besides, and better, he is of that Old South that will never die until the last shred of integrity is evaporated from American public life. As early as 1865, Horace Greeley, the most loyal heart the American press ever knew, hoped that the doors of both houses of congress would be re-opened to Jefferson Davis, Alexander H. Stephens, Robert Toombs, John C. Breckenridge and the other rebels, "for," said he, "whatever their faults, they would not steal themselves nor allow others to steal." At that time the badge of loyalty was indulgence to any grafter to plunge both hands into the public treasury up to the elbow and rake out graft by the box-carful.

Sisson is of the elite of the new set of youngsters now on the carpet. He is laborious and he is zealous. Though at the beginning of his second term, he is of the very aristocracy of congress, a member of the committee of appropriations. Congress is not infallible. It makes mistakes. It does many fool things; but congress never yet got a misconception of one of its members after he had served one term. The very horned and hoofed devil himself could not fool congress as to his capacity and skill for the game of solonizing on Capitol hill in this town.

That's how Tom Sisson came to get a place on appropriations.

PUBLICITY IN PUBLIC UTILITY LABOR DISPUTES

How Disinterested Investigation Helps—30 Days Notice of Strike or Lockout Suggested—Operation of "Lemieux" Act in Canada.

By MARCUS M. MARKS.
National Civic Federation.

(Exclusive Service the Survey Press Bureau.)

Upon the healthy ambition of our workingmen to improve their efficiency and to advance their position in life depends our industrial and social progress. The strike is and social progress. The strike is the acute manifestation of the desire to improve conditions of employment. As a last resort, we cannot blame workingmen for expressing their dissatisfaction with oppressive conditions by striking unless we provide a proper official court of investigation which will tend to secure justice without strikes.

Before the mutual losses of strikes and lockout are risked, two distinct efforts at prevention should be made. The first is the attempt to peacefully arrange for improved conditions while work continues. Of course, this is not always possible, but it should be tried.

Even when negotiations have failed, the strike is not yet in order. The next move should be an appeal for arbitration. It is only after conferences and then arbitration have either been refused or have failed that employers or employed may be excused for inflicting the serious blow caused by stopping the wheels of their industry. It is much more costly to adjust industrial differences during a strike than before it. Arbitration by an impartial tribune before a strike is more apt to establish just conditions than will be established by the strike itself. A strike, in fact, rarely settles a dispute on the basis of justice. Whether in the right or not, the stronger usually wins and the end leaves one or the other side rankling for retaliation.

Let us assume that negotiations for conference and attempts to secure arbitration have failed and that a strike has been called.

The employers try to fill the places of the strikers—the latter try to prevent this. Unfortunately, in many strikes this effort to checkmate the employer in his attempt to run his business has been accompanied with violence and riot.

Violence leads to counter violence and it has been hinted that in some cases employers have resorted by intimidating the intimidators. This procedure savors of the middle-age methods of warfare and is a stepping stone to anarchy. If the parties affected cannot by peaceful conference success in settling the strike, efforts to secure arbitration should again proceed. Disinterested third parties of experience, carefully selected, are frequently helpful in clearing up misunderstandings and in bringing order out of disorder.

The fight to a finish is usually carried on when a clear question of principle seems to be involved. In many recent strikes wages and hours appeared to be secondary considerations and the real issue was recognition of the union. The right of workingmen to organize should be unquestioned. The employer who excludes a man simply because he is a member of a union is not acting in the spirit of our day, which is one of organization and co-operation. On the other hand, the union that attempts to force an employer to exclude all non-union men is equally intolerant and unwise. Strikes for better wages and shorter hours are apt to meet with sympathy and where the complaints are just, grievances are likely to be remedied. The strike simply for the enforced closed shop, however, almost invariably fails.

The public who suffers, especially through strikes affecting public utilities, have a right to expect reasonable efforts to prevent the discomfort and loss consequent to strikes and lockouts in express service, street railway, gas, electric light, telephone, telegraph, etc. There is need of official machinery in this connection—state laws to deal with threatened strikes in intrastate utilities and federal laws to deal with threatened strikes in interstate utilities.

In Canada these problems have been quite effectively solved by the Lemieux act, which provides for thirty days' notice by either side, as the case may be, in advance of strikes or lockouts in mines and public utilities. This notice gives time for thorough investigation, the education of the public as to the causes of friction, and full opportunity for mediation and conciliation. The operation of the Lemieux act since its passage in 1907 has averted seventy-six out of eighty-two threatened strikes and lockouts in the Dominion of Canada that came under its provisions. The method is very simple. On request of either party to an industrial dispute affecting a public utility, an investigation board is organized by the appointment of a representative of each side and one from the public. This is not a fixed board, but one made up in each case by men thoroughly experienced in the industry involved. The minister of labor assists in the selection of the board whenever necessary. The three members of the Canadian board study the situation and try to bring about order and peace. They usually succeed. Their report need not be accepted by either side, but almost invariably it is. There is no arbitration, only voluntary acceptance or refusal of the judgment of the board. The publication of the report educates public opinion as to the rights of both sides. In cases of industrial disputes outside of public utilities, no investigation is made under the Lemieux act except upon the consent of both employer and employed. In September of last year I visited Toronto, Ottowa, Montreal and Quebec and found the sentiment among representatives of employers and employes as well as that of judges and other representing the public favorable to the bill. Only one man seemed dissatisfied with the working of the act—a railway president, who, when asked by me whether he would rather have no bill, answered "no." He wanted the bill to remain in force but desired the judgment of the board to be accepted as compulsory arbitration.

In the United States the idea of compulsory arbitration is not viewed with favor. Our people are ready to be convinced but not to be forced. But whatever objections there may be to investigation in advance of strikes I believe can be overcome. Some union leaders here fear that the thirty days' notice before strike will bring them a disadvantage. That has not proven to be the case in Canada.

Another objection that may be raised to such a law affecting public utilities is that the 30-day delay cannot be enforced. The experience in Canada shows that in at least seventy-six out of eighty-two cases the question did not arise. May we not expect that the people of the United States will likewise have respect for a law of this kind and not await its enforcement? It is the moral effect of the law that tells. If, however, we cannot agree on the Canadian system, let us try to adopt some substitute to prevent as many strikes as possible. Investigation and publicity are certainly forces that make for justice.

NEW TAX LEGISLATION IN DENMARK IS PROPOSED

Additional Income of 20,000,000 Kroner Expected—Taxation of Spirits Arouses Opposition.

Copenhagen, Sept. 9.—The all absorbing topic here is the coming session of parliament, which is expected to make radical changes in the prevailing systems of taxation and suffrage. Some of the proposed tax legislation will be supplementary to the acts passed at the last session when taxes on theater and other amusement tickets, revenue dues and additional railroad rates were added to the budget.

The new taxation acts will include a higher impost on spirits, an increase of the income and property tax, and probably a real estate value raising tax.

The necessity for these measures to increase the income of the state is due chiefly to the operation of the new social laws providing for old age support and workingmen's compensation. The budget for this purpose has already grown far beyond the original estimate. The burden has been increased further by the higher pay given civil and military officers. On the other hand the usual revenues have been decreased by the reduction in custom duties.

It is expected that the new taxation laws passed by the last session of parliament and the ones proposed for the coming sitting will give the state an additional income of 20,000,000 Danish kroner.

The position of the present government, already shaky on account of its taxation policy, may be made very uncomfortable, especially by the taxation of spirits which up to the present time it has feared to touch.

Among the suffrage proposals will be an act making the franchise for the lower house of parliament universal. Both men and women over 25 years of age will be permitted to vote for the members of the lower house. It is also planned to do away with the restricted suffrage of the upper house whereby only highly taxed voters are allowed to vote for its members.

Among other acts to be proposed will be a law to compel beneficiaries of old age support to share in the expense of the plan. An act contemplating the reform of the present management of the elementary public schools will also be proposed by the government.

The official announcement that the Panama canal will be opened in 1915 has given rise to the rumor that negotiations for the cession of the Danish West Indian islands to the United States have been opened. Dr. Maurice Egan, the American minister, refuses to discuss the matter, but his frequent interviews with business men interested in the islands has given some color to the rumor. It is known that Dr. Egan believes that the commercial growth of the islands would be facilitated by the proposed change in ownership, but evidently he is convinced that all overtures on the subject should emanate from the Danish government. The story that there has been a proposition broached to cede one of the Philippine islands to Denmark with the view of its later cession to Germany in exchange for Schleswig has been pronounced ridiculous by the American legation here.

Besides the opening of the canal and its posible effects on the Danish West Indies, the growing interest of the South American republics in Danish commerce is exciting interest here. This is due largely to the growth of exports from the United States to Denmark. A remarkable feature of the trade relations between the two countries is the fact that in spite of the lowering of the duties on hides by the United States the export of them from this country to America has almost ceased.

EMPEROR WARNS THE GERMAN STUDENTS AGAINST DRINKING

Urges Them to Adopt American Model of Student Life and to Give More Attention to Sports.

Berlin, Sept. 9—Emperor William now seldom misses an opportunity of warning German students to moderate their drinking habits, and to adopt rather the American model of student life. Several days ago, upon the occasion of presenting a flag to the gymnasium at Cassel where he was prepared for the university, in order to commemorate his connection with that school he made a brief address to the students of the senior class, advising them, when in the university, to use less alcohol. The traditional drinking customs, he said, were no longer adapted to a time in which Germany must struggle for its position in the world's markets. Then he praised the abstemious life of American students, and he had often been impressed, he said, with their ability. German students, his majesty repeated in a line with what he has often said to other student assemblies, must give more attention to sports of all sorts, including fencing and rowing, instead of trying to create new records for the amount of beer that they can swallow.

Emil Zimmermann, a German writer who has recently been traveling in German East Africa, announces an important fact bearing upon the spread of the sleeping sickness in that colony. Hitherto it had been supposed that the tsetse fly, the cause of the disease, bred almost exclusively in grassy or lightly wooded strips of land bordering on lakes or rivers, keeping about the paths where animals come to drink. Hence the chief method of combating the pest has hitherto been to cut down the trees along the lakes and rivers and to prevent the shoreland from becoming overgrown with high grass and reeds. Zimmermann found, however, that the fly finds one of its favorite haunts in groves of the oil palm. He mentions the case of two huge palm groves aggregating 800,000 trees situated near Usambura at the northern end of Lake Tanganyika, in which the natives are rapidly dying off. There was formerly a dense population in the groves, but now there are only about 200 persons left, and the physicians say that fully half of these are affected, and it is only a question of time, and not very long time, till the groves will be completely depopulated and revert to wilderness. All this is of no little economic significance for the colony, where the Germans have been vigorously exerting themselves to promote the cultivation of coffee, sisal grass, cotton, rubber and palm trees.

The generosity of the late King Chulalongkorn of Siam has brought the little town of Homburg, the emperor's favorite watering-place, into some trouble. Upon the occasion of his last visit to Homburg several years ago, the king announced a gift to the city of a temple-like pavillon to cover a spring which had been named in his honor. He also promised the sum of about $8,500 for erecting it after its arrival from Siam. It was built and shipped according to promise, but the king died before sending the money for erecting it, and now the city is wondering who will bear the expense of putting it up.

It is announced that the Bayreuth summer opera season will be repeated next year, the Wagner family having departed in this instance from its usual practice of having the operas given only on alternate years. The reason for this change appears to be connected with the expiration of the Parsifal copyrights at the end of 1913, after which that famous opera will naturally be placed upon the repertoire of all the leading opera houses of Germany.

The state railroad administration is determined in future to keep its personnel in the highest condition of physical and mental fitness, and thus to avoid as much as possible the occurrence of accidents on its system arising from breakdowns of the men's health. Orders have just been issued for the holding of a series of stringent tests, to which all locomotive engineers, firemen, signalmen, switchmen and other track employes are to be immediately subjected. Up to the age of forty-five these tests are to be repeated every five years, sight, hearing and nervous condition being submitted to thorough investigation. After the age of forty-five the examination is to take place every three years, and after sixty every two years, while in case of doubt as to any man's condition he will be sent before the examining board much more frequently, and in the event of deficiency of some kind being confirmed he will be pensioned.

THE RED FOX'S SON. By Edgar M. Dilley. Boston: L. C. Page & Co. $1.50.

For a change it is rather diverting to get back to something of which we had an over-dose only a few years ago—the romance of the mythical, tiny European principality where a dashing young American falls in love with a princess and gets tangled in a mesh of royal politics. That's what this book is, and as it is pretty well told it makes very easy reading. It deals with the little kingdom of Bharbazonia, in the Balkans, where the succession to the kingship is the subject of plotting and romance. Dale Wharton, the hero, gets excitingly mixed up in some very lively affairs, including a rather conventional fight on some stairs to protect the heroine; and altogather it makes a very entertaining romance.

His work is embellished by a handsome binding and by many excellent photographs. Not many realize that Argentina is as large as the United States east of the Mississippi, with enough over to make a Texas. The climate is varied enough to span the gulf between Sicily and Iceland. Argentina is, it is fair to say, the United States of South America. But let Mr. Winter tell about it. He has been there, and he tells an entertaining story.

The critic of "The Bellman" opens her interview of "The Legacy" (Macmillan) by objecting to the many comparisons which have been found between Mrs. Watts's book and the works of the masters of English literature. But after stating that Letty, Mrs. Watts's heroine, is not quite like any character in fiction and pointing out that Mrs. Watts's style is cosmopolitan rather than American, "The Bellman" falls into the way of the other critics and finds someone to whom Mrs. Watts may be compared. This time it is Balzac; a new and startling thought!

"We said Mrs. Watts was not like any other novelist, but we make an exception. In her treatment of this character (Letty) she is like Balzac. She has his energy, his color, that which the French in analytical portrayal call 'foulillier'—or as Mr. James translates it, 'to rummage into a character.'"

PREFERS VIRGINIA EVEN TO HEAVEN

Kate Langley Bosher, whose heroine in her latest book, "Miss Gibble Gault," is an aristocratic Virginian, is herself a native of that state. "A Virginian," Mrs. Bosher says in the matter of a dwelling-place, "will accept heaven as a compromise, but will make the change regretfully." She was born in Norfolk, and since her marriage has lived in Richmond. The sunny character and the humorous sayings of her little orphan, Mary Cary, were suggested, she says, by her own little niece. In her second book the lovable child has grown up, and her sweet reasonableness, aided by Miss Gibble Gault's masterful nature, accomplishes wonders in the charming sleepy town of Yorkburg.

Fitger's Beer
Brewed in Duluth
For More Than 30 Years
Brewed to Be Best in Flavor, Purity and Healthfulness

MORE than thirty years ago Fitger's Beer was first brewed in Duluth. Duluth was chosen as the location of the brewery mainly because of the abundant supply of the finest water for brewing—Lake Superior water. Scientists tell us that this water has no equal for brewing purposes.

Year by year every department of the plant has been improved to keep abreast of the times, and today no more complete brewing establishment operates in this country. Several are larger, to be sure, but their refrigerating and technical equipment is no more modern. Then there's the Fitger knowledge of the best methods and the peculiar Fitger skill which produces a beer of individuality, so differently delicious that Fitger's Beer is famous across the continent.

Order a case for your home. It will be found a source of enjoyment and health. (7)

SOCIETY

WEDDINGS have undoubtedly predominated in the social world this week. Not since the popular month of June have so many marriages taken place in one week as during this last seven days.

The weddings of Miss Madge Miller to Clay Beckwith on Monday and Miss Grace Duncan to A. D. McLeod Wednesday evening were the chief social events of the week and many delightful little informal social affairs have been given for the young people who are "going away to school."

From now on until the middle of October girls and boys will be leaving for colleges, universities and boarding schools, and packing and arranging the elaborate school wardrobe are demanding a good deal of attention. Many more affairs are planned for next week for the college people who will leave soon.

The wedding of Miss Barba Patrick to Dr. Floyd Ferdinand Clark which will take place Tuesday evening at the Patrick home at Twenty-third avenue east and Superior street will interest a large number of society people.

Dr. A. W. Ryan of St. Paul's Episcopal church will read the beautiful Episcopal service at 8:30 o'clock in the presence of relatives and a circle of intimate friends of the bride. Miss Isabel Patrick will be the maid of honor and little Miss Louise Moyer of Rockford, Ill., who is a guest with her mother at the Patrick home, will be the flower girl. Miss Elsie Wall and Miss Marie Agatin will stretch the ribbons for the bridal party and Dr. Clark will have as his best man, Dr. William Abbott.

Miss Marie Agatin of 2402 East Fifth street entertained at a prettily appointed luncheon Wednesday at her home in honor of Miss Patrick. Covers were laid for eight, and pink asters were effectively used on the table.

Misses Elsie Wall and Helen Wall of 707 East First street were also hostesses in honor of Miss Patrick yesterday afternoon. They gave a pretty informal afternoon tea, at which about thirty guests called. Garden flowers were effectively used about the rooms, and assisting the hostesses were Miss May Jeffery and Miss Margaret Panton.

Motor Parties.

The guests who motored to the Island Lake inn during the week were: M. W. Alworth and party, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Martin, Dr. and Mrs. F. C. Lee, A. L. Miles and family, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. McBride, Mr. and Mrs. R. G. McKenzie, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Harper, Miss Dora Lacey, Miss Kern, D. A. Munroe, A. S. Monten, Miss M. Matteson, J. H. Staacke, H. Nickels, Mark Smith, Mrs. J. A. Watterworth, Mrs. Covery, Minneapolis, J. R. Quigley and son, Miss Marie Turrish, Miss Nannie Turrish, Chauncey Hazen, Joe Morrow, Florence Sheehan, Myrtle Johnson.

Weddings

At a beautiful and impressive wedding service read Monday afternoon by Rev. Robert Yost of the First Presbyterian church, Miss Madge Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Millar, became the bride of Clay Beckwith. The service was read at 4 o'clock at the Millar residence, 1531 East Third street, in the presence of about sixty guests.

The house was transformed into a perfect bower of green and white for the occasion, the rooms being artistically decorated with a profusion of boutinne smilax and white asters, and in the living room a pretty canopy was arranged under which the wedding party stood. In the dining room sweet peas and roses were used with the smilax.

The large porch was screened in with vines and evergreens and a quantity of golden glow and nasturtiums added bright touches to the scene.

Preceding the wedding ceremony Mrs. R. C. Caples of New York sang "Because," a beautiful little number.

The bridal party then descended the stairs to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, played by A. F. M. Constance. The bridesmaids, Miss Isabel Patrick and Miss Barbara Rupley, headed the procession and stretched the white satin ribbons marking an aisle for the rest of the party. Miss Rachel St. Clair as maid of honor was next and the bride followed on the arm of her father. Mr. Beckwith was attended by Walter Cheney as best man.

After the ceremony Mrs. Caples again sang several numbers.

Miss Millar made one of the prettiest brides of the season in an exquisite gown of white satin with an overgown of white net with wide panels of duchess lih a. It was made with a round neck and very short sleeves and long square court train. Her veil fell over the entire gown and was fastened into a dainty little cap of the lace and a few lilies of the valley. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and white orchids and an interesting little innovation which she introduced was the concealing of a miniature ring, thimble, coin, wishbone, and bachelor button in different strands of the shower arrangement of her bouquet, which she clipped off and tossed down to the guests. Miss Barbara Patrick, who is to be one of this month's brides, received the coin which denotes riches and the ring which denotes the approaching marriage. Miss Isabel Patrick caught the wishbone, and Fred Beck caught the bachelor's button. The name of the maiden who caught the thimble is a secret and Miss Margaret Anneke caught the rest of the bouquet.

Miss St. Clair wore a handsome gown of rose-colored chiffon over white satin with gold trimmings, and her hat was of pink, trimmed with a large American beauty rose and blue forget-me-nots. Miss Patrick's gown was of yellow chiffon over pink and she wore a hat of the same colors trimmed with tiny pink rose buds. Miss Rupley wore a gown of ecru marquisette embroidered in blue, made over white satin, with a hat made entirely of pink roses. All of the attendants carried arm bouquets of pink roses.

Mrs. Caples' gown was of embroidered ecru net over gold-colored crepe with elaborate trimmings of Irish lace and marabou.

After an informal reception at the home following the ceremony and the cutting of the wedding cake, which was a huge heart of angels' food, by the bride and the tossing of the bouquet, Mr. and Mrs. Beckwith and the members of their bridal party went to the steamer Juniata, where they had a delightful dinner party. Mr. and Mrs. Beckwith left on the same steamer for a trip East, where they will visit for a month. They will be at home at the Berkshire flats after Oct. 15.

Mr. and Mrs. Millar gave the bridal dinner Sunday evening at their home for the members of the bridal party and a few other guests. It was a progressive dinner and the tables were decorated in pink and white. Among the guests were:

Messrs. and Mesdames—
R. C. Caples, New York, G. A. Tomlinson.
Mesdames—
Florence M. Beckwith, H. Reeves.
Misses—
Millar, Patrick,
Rachel St. Clair, Rupley.
Messrs.—
Beckwith, Walter Cheney.

The handsome residence of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Duncan, 2215 East Second street, was the scene of a beautiful wedding Thursday evening, when their daughter, Grace, became the bride of Norman D. McLeod of this city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Alexander Milne of the Pilgrim Congregational church at 8:30 o'clock.

The Lohengrin wedding march was played by La Brosse's orchestra, and to the well-known strains the bridal party entered. Miss Helen Forsythe of Yonkers, N. Y., and Miss Virginia Frick, the bridesmaids, entered first and stretched the ribbons which formed the aisle for the rest of the party. Mrs R. N. Marble, Jr., of Hibbing and Mrs. J. A. Bradley, sisters of the bride, as matrons of honor entered next, followed by Miss Mary Curtiss of Newton Centre, Mass., who was the maid of honor. The bride came next on her father's arm and they were met at an altar improvised of banked palms, evergreens and southern smilax dotted with sweet peas and outlined with tiny electric bulbs, by Mr. McLeod and his best man, David Duncan.

The bride was beautifully gowned in white satin with trimmings of rose point lace and crystal beads and her long veil was edged with lace. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley.

Miss Curtiss, Mrs. Marble and Mrs. Bradley wore pretty gowns of pink chiffon over yellow satin and wore wreaths of sweet peas in their hair. Their bouquets were of the same flowers.

The bridesmaids were in charming little linnerie frocks of creme trimmed with pink.

The halls were profusely decorated with golden glow and in the dining room sweet peas were effectively arranged. In the latter room Mrs. A. C. Taylor and Mrs. F. A. Brewer presided, assisted by Misses Louise Frick, Virginia and Carolyn Moore. Assisting about the other rooms were Mrs. A. W. Frick, Mrs. Clarence Taylor, Mrs Ralph Moore and Miss Mary Frick.

Mr. and Mrs. McLeod have gone on a wedding tour, after which they will reside here.

Mr. McLeod is secretary of the boys' department of the Y. M. C. A. of this city and is the oldest member of the staff of officers next to Secretary Bevis. Yesterday the various officers of the Y. M. C. A. gave a luncheon for Mr. McLeod at the association building, and the boys' cabinet presented him with two fine oriental rugs.

Mr. and Mrs. John Burns Greenfield issued invitations Thursday for the wedding of their daughter, Evelyn to Raymond Phillip Westaway. The event will take place Saturday, Sept. 23 at their home, 4321 McCulloch street, Lakeside, in the presence of friends and immediate relatives. Rev. Sutherland of the Lakeside Presbyterian church will perform the ceremony.

Mr. Westaway and his bride will be at home in Eveleth, Minn., after Jan. 1, 1912.

Miss Mabel Wilkinson of London road entertained at an afternoon party today at her home in compliment to Miss Greenfield.

A pretty wedding took place Wednesday evening of this week at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Watts, of 907 East Sixth street, when their daughter, Clara Irene, became the bride of Archie A. Adams of this city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Yost of the First Presbyterian church at 8 o'clock.

The bride was beautifully gowned in white chiffon over white silk and wore a long bridal veil carrying a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Henrietta Watts, who was gowned in white and carried a bouquet of pink sweet peas. Mr. Adams was attended by William Koors.

Assisting about the rooms were the Misses Emma and Mable Miller and Estelle and Adeline Watts.

The color scheme used throughout the rooms was green and white.

The bride's bouquet was caught by Miss Gertrude Watts.

Mr. and Mrs. Adams will be at home in this city after Oct. 1.

A wedding of interest which took place Tuesday evening was that of Miss Pearl Louise Johnson and Wellington C. Vince, both of this city. The ceremony was performed at the home of Mr. Vince's uncle, George Martin, 2130 East Third street, at 8 o'clock, by Dr. A. W. Ryan of St. Paul's Episcopal church, in the presence of relatives and only a few of their intimate friends. The bride had as her maid of honor her sister, Miss Mabel Johnson, and Stephen Dingman was best man. Miss Olive Kreitter played the wedding march and Arthur Kreitter sang two solos before and after the ceremony.

The bride's gown was of white chiffon over rose-colored silk, and she carried Killarney roses. The maid of honor wore a gown of marquisette over green silk and carried white sweet peas. Mrs. Martin wore a gown of yellow chiffon over yellow satin.

The Martin residence was beautifully decorated for the occasion with garden and wild flowers.

In the living room, where the ceremony was performed, masses of delicate flowers were arranged and a pretty altar was improvised of palms and dainty white blossoms. In the hall and on the wide staircase golden glow and golden rod were arranged in big bowls, the dining room was in green and white and sweet peas and ferns, and in the sunroom wild flowers were effectively arranged.

Mr. Vance and his bride left that evening for a short trip, and upon their return will be at home at No. 8 Chester terrace.

At a quiet wedding ceremony Wednesday afternoon at the home of Rev. Robert Yost of the First Presbyterian church Miss Lydia Fagerstrom of this city and Martin W. Johnson of Floodwood were united in marriage. The service was read by Rev. Mr. Yost at 2 o'clock in the presence of only a few friends and Mr. and Mrs. Johnson left last evening over the Soo Line for Chicago. They will visit in Cleveland and Buffalo and upon their return will be at home at Floodwood, where Mr. Johnson is the president of the Floodwood Mercantile company. The bride was married in her traveling suit of navy blue and there were no attendants.

Miss Annie Nelson and Harvey Jensen were united in marriage Wednesday evening at the home of the bride, 1822 West Second street. The rooms were suggestive of autumn with leaves, asters, sweet peas and golden glow. Rev. J. A. McGaughey of the Second Presbyterian church read the wedding service at 8 o'clock in the presence of relatives and a few intimate friends. The bride wore a pretty lingerie gown of white and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses. Her sister, Miss Lillian Nelson, was the maid of honor. She was attired in a dainty frock of white and her flowers were carnations. Irvin Pohlman served as best man. After a luncheon, Mr. and Mrs. Jenson left for a wedding tour and will be at home at 129 Devonshire street, Oct. 15.

Miss Clara Johnston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Johnston of Duluth Heights, and Oscar Stevens were quietly wedded Wednesday evening at the home of the bride. The rooms were prettily decorated with white sweet peas, asters and golden glow arranged with ferns and palms.

Rev. M. S. Rice of the First Methodist church performed the ceremony at 8 o'clock in the midst of relatives and intimate friends. The bride, who was unattended, wore a gown of silk mull and carried sweet peas. After an elaborate luncheon, Mr. and Mrs. Stevens left for a wedding tour. They will reside at 219 Seventh avenue west after Oct. 1. Miss Abbie Fox of Two Harbors was the out-of-town guest.

Miss Ida B. Redlock and Stanley W. Sternal were married Monday morning at 10 o'clock at St. Mary's Polish Catholic church by Rev. S. A. Iciek. The bride wore a white chiffon dress made over white silk, with a long bridal veil and she carried a shower bouquet of lillies of the valley. She was attended by her sister, Miss Agnes C. Redlock, as bridesmaid, who wore a white marquisette over pink silk and a large white picture hat. Her bouquet was of pink roses. Little Miss Lucile Poterek was the flower girl, carrying a beautiful basket of sweet peas, and Master Edward Kazmier was ring bearer, carrying the ring in a lily.

Mr. Sternal was attended by George S. Malecki as best man and the ushers were William Bird and Frank Borski.

The church was beautifully decorated with palms, ferns, smilax and white astors. A large arch was made of the smilax and a pretty bunch of asters tied with white satin ribbons marked each pew.

During the ceremony John Koneczny sang.

Oscar A. Overby and Sarah A. Ketchesen, both of this city, were quietly married Monday evening at the home of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Overby of 4711 East Superior street, at 8 o'clock, Rev. Wultsberg of the Norweglan Synod church, officiating.

The ceremony was performed in the presence of relatives and only a few of their intimate friends.

The bride wore a gown of white embroidered net over white silk. Her veil fell over the entire gown and was fastened with a wreath of lilies of the valley. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and white carnations.

She was attended by Miss Julia Walker of Lutsen, Minn., as bridesmaid. Mr. Overby was attended by his brother, George Overby, as best man.

The house was beautifully decorated in flowers, pink and red asters, white sweet peas and marigolds, being used.

After the ceremony a supper was served.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Miller, 1303 West Michigan street, was the scene Wednesday evening of a pretty wedding, when their daughter Miss Mary Miller, became the wife of William Dieley of Minneapolis. Rev. Milton Fish of the Central Baptist church read the service at 8:30 o'clock in the presence of relatives and a few intimate friends.

The bride wore a costume of cream silk poplin trimmed with real lace and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses. Her maid of honor, Miss Ruth Glover, was gowned in pale green silk and her flowers were pink azaleas. John Sullivan served as groomsman.

The house was artistically decorated for the occasion. In the parlor, where the ceremony was performed, white asters and sweet peas were combined with palms and ferns, while golden glow brightened the hall. The color scheme, red and white, was carried out in the dining room with asters.

Mr. and Mrs. Dieley left for the Twin Cities, and after Sept. 15 will reside in Superior. The out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Reid of Virginia, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Miller and daughter of Renshaw, Minn.; Mr. and Mrs. Russell Miller of Grand Forks, N. D.; Mr. and Mrs. George Macfarlane, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Green and Miss Laura Krantz, all of Superior.

NORMAL NOTES

The fall term of the Duluth Normal scool opened Tuesday with a larger number of students enrolled than on the first day of any previous year. About fifty-five of the out-of-town girls are staying at Torrance hall. Among these are: Maud Williams, Minneapolis; Alice McCarthy, Coleraine; Dolly Amundson, Coleraine; Mabel Bostad, Fosston; Idella Bradley, Tenstrike; Guna Elnsweiler, Chisholm; Genevieve Lambert, Pine City; Anna McDougall, Delhi; Edna Savage, Hurley, Wis.; Josie Shea, Ironwood, Mich.; Jessie Stephan, Pine City; Mabel Whiteside, Hurley, Wis.; Ella Hawkinson and Victoria Hawkinson, Harris; Laura Elberson, Proctor; Elvira Wilander, Duluth; Esther Minor, Duluth; Mary Minor, Duluth; Olive Scandling, Iron Mountain, Mich.; Nellie Pederson, Tower; Gladys Roskilly, Virginia; Esther Strand, Tower; Mabel Smith, Brainerd; Margaret Sever, Pineville; Sigrid Anderson, Biwabik; Beatrice Cummins, Barnum; Ellen Sjostrom, Barnum; Matilda Runsvold, Two Harbors; Alphie Anderson, Biwabik; Gladys Parmalee, Virginia; Scharlie Robertson, Crookston; Lena Cohen, Akeley; Beda Holst, Biwabik; Gladys Caine, Gilbert; Anna Adams, Hibbing; Brainerd; Amy Carlson, Escanaba, Mich.; Hanna Frederickson, Pelan, Minn.

Several of the students who are members of this year's senior class have accepted positions in country schools. Among them are Hilda Roberts, Hattie Lipke, Ruth Brown, Helen Jumer, Mabel Christopher, Elizabeth Strick, Mabel Lindstadt, Grace Hanneman.

President Bohannon has suggested that chapel and chorus periods be combined, and that on certain days of the week the time be used for conferences and library work. The students are much pleased with this proposed plan, as it will give more time for the necessary library work.

The Greysolon Litterary society held its first meeting under the new officers last Wednesday. These officers, who will serve during the fall term, are: Betsy Duclett, president; Anna Grant, secretary; Helen Nelson, treasurer. Plans for the coming term were discussed and a committee appointed to arrange programs. This committee consists of Elizabeth Buckbee, George Stickles, Anna Sturminski.

Miss Ely gave a short talk Friday noon concerning the rules and restrictions of the school library.

Francis Gottwald, the former president of this year's graduating class, is teaching manual training in the industrial high school of Duluth.

President Bohannon spoke in chapel Friday about the pledge to teach two years in this state, which students entering the school are accustomed to sign. He also talked to the students regarding the special courses in music, manual training, drawing and domestic science, which are offered this year for the first time. These special courses consist of an additional year of technical work, and can be taken only when the student has already completed either the two-year or five-year course, or their equivalent. A class is being organized for the work of this special course in domestic science.

Work on the addition to the normal school has not yet been finished, so the model school cannot occupy the new quarters at present.

CLUBS AND MUSICAL

CECELIAN SOCIETY.

Club Work to Open Next Month—Officers and Program for Year.

THE Cecilians will open the year of study at the home of Mrs. S. P. Stocker, Thursday, Oct. 5, at 2 p. m. The officers for the year are: President, Mrs. K. A. Ostergren; vice president, Miss Josephine Carey; recording secretary, Mrs. John Segog; treasurer, Mrs. Leo Ball; librarian, Mrs. G. W. C. Ross.

The program committee, composed of Mrs. A. Flaaten, Miss Joephine Carey and Miss Florence Williams, has prepared an excellent outline of good music to be studied and enjoyed this winter. The opening meeting will be devoted to the classics. Beethoven and Schubert will be the composers, whose familiar music will give the keynote of enthusiasm.

November, the symphony to be played by the Minneapolis orchestra will be analyzed and played, and the vocal work will be the consideration of public school music, and the development of child-song, suitably illustrated.

The chief numbers of the December meeting will be Brahm's Festival overture, and for voice, Christmas carols.

In January, Brahm's Symphony No. 4 will be analyzed by Mrs. Josephine Carey and the relation of folk-song to art-song will be considered and illustrated by art songs used in modern programs.

In February, the Brahm's Symphony No. 4 will be played and art-song continued.

March will bring the symphonic poem, "Francesca di Reminlo," by Tchaikowsky, and the vocal work will be illustrations from modern operas.

In April, Mrs. Stocker will analyze the symphony to be played by the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra in May and the subject of modern opera will be continued.

In May the symphony analyzed previously will be played and the vocal subject will be "Women in Music," illustrated by songs of our most eminent American women composers.

The committee has provided a great variety of subjects, yet with such logical sequence as shall make of the whole a complete scheme of study.

Following is the outline for the year:

October, President's day—Hostess, Mrs. P. S. Stocker. Instrumental leader, Mrs. K. A. Ostergren. Vocal leader, Mrs. A. Flaaten.

November—Hostess, Mrs. W. C. Winton. Instrumental leader, Mrs. K. A. Ostergren. Vocal leader, Mrs. W. C. Winton.

December—Hostess, Mrs. James Wanless. Instrumental leader, Miss Josephine Carey. Vocal leader, Mrs. H. A. Jones.

January, 1912—Hostess, Miss Josephine Carey. Instrumental leader, Miss Florence Williams. Vocal leader, Mrs. C. P. Craig.

February—Hostess, Mrs. E. M. Morgan. Instrumental leader, Miss Florence Williams. Vocal leader, Mrs. A. M. Gow.

March—Hostess, Mrs. E. F. Burg. Instrumental leader, Miss Clara Stocker. Vocal leader, Mrs. John Segog.

April—Hostess, Mrs. O. J. Larson. Instrumental leader, Mrs. S. P. Stocker. Vocal leader, Mrs. Leo Ball.

May—Hostess, Miss Helen Coburn. Instrumental leader, Mrs. S. P. Stocker. Vocal leader, Mrs. G. W. C. Ross.

"The Love Tales of Hoffmann."

FOR the past four years the Sheehan English Opera company has ranked as one of the finest singing organizations in America.

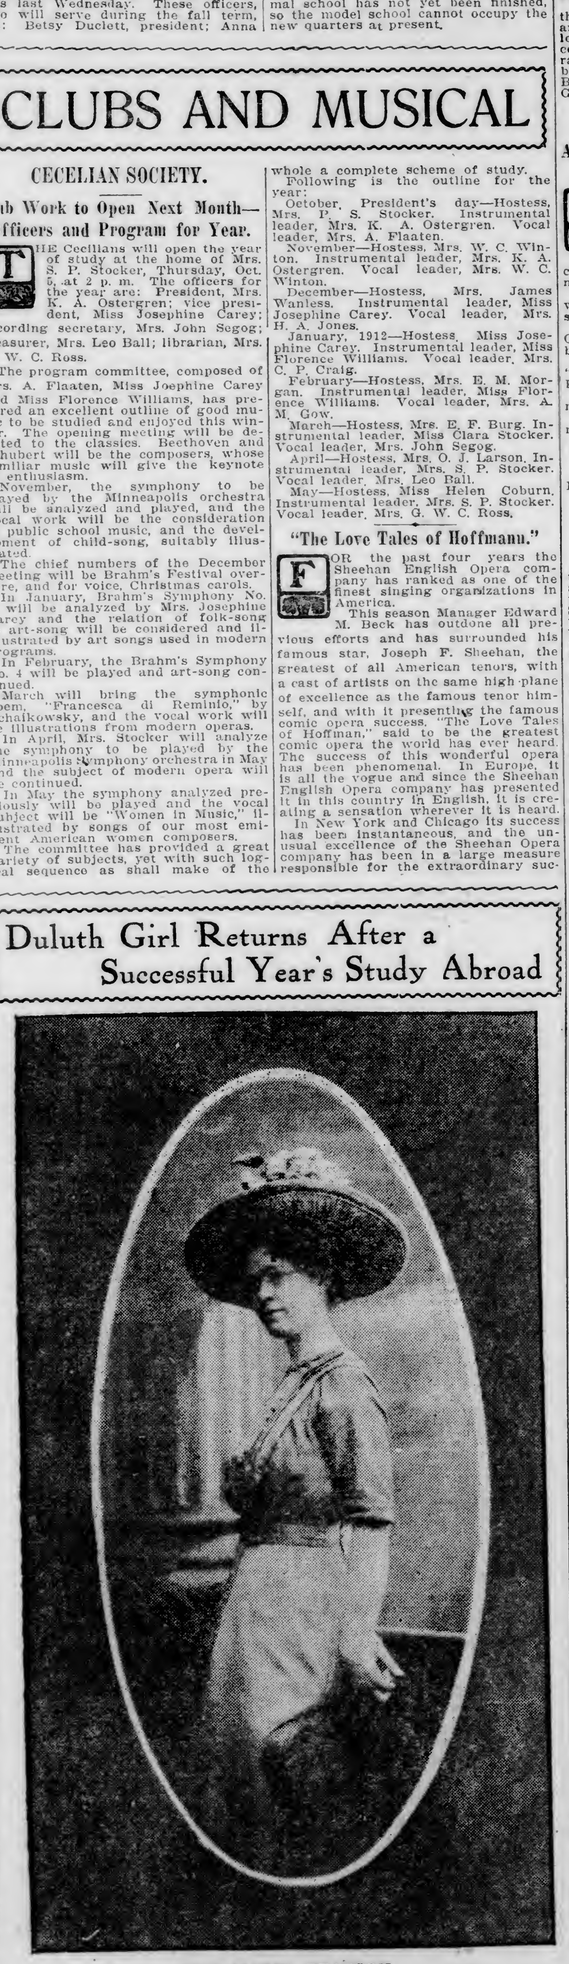

This season Manager Edward M. Beck has outdone all previous efforts and has surrounded his famous star, Joseph F. Sheehan, the greatest of all American tenors, with a cast of artists on the same high plane of excellence as the famous tenor himself, and with it presenting the famous comic opera success, "The Love Tales of Hoffman," said to be the greatest comic opera the world has ever heard. The success of this wonderful opera has been phenomenal. In Europe, it is all the vogue and since the Sheehan English Opera company has presented it in this country in English, it is creating a sensation wherever it is heard. In New York and Chicago its success has been instantaneous, and the unusual excellence of the Sheehan Opera company has been in a large measure responsible for the extraordinary success with which this wonderful opera is meeting.

In addition to the famous tenor himself there will be heard the eminent English prima donna, Miss Gladys Caldwell, who plays the role of Olympia, the mechanical doll. Miss Caldwell's interpretation of this character is one of the greatest pieces of work ever seen on the American stage. If there were nothing else in "The Love Tales of Hoffman" this one scene alone would make it a success. This, however, is only one of the many great numbers. The third act depicts a moonlight night in Venice and is one of the most beautiful stage settings ever produced. It is at the opening of this act that the wonderful Barcarole is sung.

Miss Marion Walker, the famous contralto of the Metropolitan Opera company is another member of this company, playing the role of Nichlausse, the boy friend of Hoffman. Other members being Charles Swickard, the famous baritone, the man who made the English version of "The Love Tales of Hoffman"; Francis J Tyler, Joseph Haywood, William J. Jorgenson, Kenneth Dudley, and Annabel Tarlton. Mr. Sheehan himself will, of course, sing the title role of Hoffman, a part of which affords him unusual opportunities to display his wonderful voice as well as his ability as an actor.

"The Love Tales of Hoffman," with this remarkable cast of principals, and an extracrdinary chorus of specially selected singers will be heard at the Lyceum Monday, Oct. 2 and by special arrangements the same cast of stars will be heard Sunday evening, Oct. 1, in Balfi's popular opera, "The Bohemian Girl."

Duluth Girl Returns After a Successful Year's Study Abroad

MISS ISABEL PEARSON.

Miss Isabel Pearson, one of Duluth's most talented pianists and organists, returned this week from a year's study abroad in Paris and London. She will begin the teaching of piano and organ at once.

Miss Pearson had the great honor of being accepted as an organ pupil under that master of masters, the late Alexandre Guilmant. Since his death in March, she has been in London working under H. W. Richards there, and while in London Miss Pearson substituted as organist at the Horbury church in Bayswater, playing upon the same old instrument used by the well known Sir Arthur Sullivan, and she appeared in a most successful organ recital of Guilmant compositions before sailing for America.

Miss Pearson is an active member of the Matinee Musicale club of this city and she will appear in an organ recital on Oct. 16 before the members of that club.

Musical critics all over the country have given Miss Pearson most favorable criticisms and she apparently has a bright future ahead of her. During her absence Miss Pearson has been the correspondent from Paris and London for the Western Musical Herald of Chicago.

MATINEE MUSICALE.

American Music Will Be the Feature of the Year's Program.

AMERICAN music will be the feature for the year in the work of the Matinee Musicale club. The program for the year has been prepared by the plan of work committee, of which Mrs. J. N. McKindley is chairman. Mrs. McKindley is also the musical director of the club.

Following is the program for the work of the general club during the season of 1911-12:

Oct. 4—President's day. Mrs. Frank O'Meara, St. Paul, contralto; Miss Valborg Gunderson, violinist.

Oct. 16—Organ recital, cantata, "Legend of Granada." Miss Isabel Pearson.

Oct. 30.—American compositions, Cadman.

Nov. 13—Thursday Musicale of Minneapolis.

Nov. 27—American compositions.

Dec. 11—Christmas music.

Jan. 15—American compositions.

Jan. 29—Cantata by Mrs. H. H. A. Beech.

Feb. 12—American compositions.

Feb. 26—Schubert club of St. Paul.

March 11—Lenten music.

March 25—American compositions.

April 8—Miscellaneous.

The Study Class.

The study class of the club open to all club members, which is always an important feature of the year's work will be directed by Miss Carlotta Simonds. The work for the season in the class will be in taking a general view of music and American composers, and others, who appear on the artists' recitals.

The study outline for the year in this class should recommend itself to every student of music.

The orchestra lessons will consider the development of the orchestra from a few string instruments up to its present efficience and scope. The lessons on voice will consider the voice as a musical instrument, and fifteen minutes of each lesson will be given to the study of American composers.

The outline of work for the class is as follows:

Oct. 9—Piano, fifteen minutes given to American composers.

Oct. 27—Piano, composers on the program of Mde. Zeisler.

Nov. 6—Orchestra, compositions on the program of the Minneapolis orchestra.

Nov. 26—Orchestra.

Dec. 4—Chamber music.

Jan. 26, 1912—Chamber music, compositions on program of Flonzaley quartet.

Jan. 30—Harmony.

Feb. 13—Harmony.

Feb. 27.—Harmony.

March 13—Voice—(as an organ.)

March 27—Resume.

Mme. Nordica.

AMONG the artists who have appeared in Duluth none establishes themselves more firmly in the regard and admiration of the public than did Mme. Nordica and the announcement that she will be heard at the Lyecum in November has awakened great interest. Nordica stands at the top of the artistic world and she has but recently added to her world-wide triumphs. Only last October she won Paris in her singing of the role of Isoalde in French. She had of course sung it in Germany many times and the difficulty was all the greater because of her familiarity with it in the one language.

Of her Isolde, the Figaro says: "The vocal interpretation of the principal character was of rare beauty. Mme. Nordica's success was noteworthy. The public fully appreciated the fact that this Isolde not only incarnated the traditions of the past, but that she imbued the part with a lyricism and pathos that were admirable. She re-created it in accordance with the noble conception of its author. In her the singer is the equal of the lyric tragedienne; her voice, of rare amplitude, is used with consummate art. Her representation was a true, triumphal success."

In this desire to constantly add to the achievements already won, Nordica proves herself the true artist. With the wonderful thing she has accomplished, the honors that she has had heaped upon her, the firm position she has achieved, an artist less sincere would rest content. A year ago last December this wonderful woman sang Marguerite in "Faust" and gave a wonderfully interesting interpretation of the well known role.

Nordica will appear at the Lyceum Friday evening, Nov. 17, and her appearance will be one of the most important and brilliant events of the season.

Duluth Concert Course.

DULUTH'S musical course of concerts, the Alice Nielsen-Riccardo Martin Operatic concert company, the Minneapolis Symphony orchestra, Mme. Frances Alda (Mrs. Gatti Casazza) and Signor Alessandro Bonci, has appealed to all music lovers as the best course of concerts ever arranged for Duluth.

Additional announcements can now be made with regard to the series. Charles L. Wagner, representing the Nielsen-Martin company, was in the city on Wednesday, the guest of Horace W. Reyner, and in the course of conversation stated that all Miss Nielsen's encores would be well known favorites and that she would be prepared to sing any number of them. He also stated that Riccardo Martin was spending his holiday in Italy, climbing mountains, which Martin says is the best lung developer he knows of. Martin will return to this country by the end of this month.

The Minneapolis orchestra announces that the soloist for the Duluth concert in November will be Mme. Luella Chilson Ohrman, an excellent artist with a beautiful voice. Mme. Ohrman will appear at all three concerts of the orchestra in solo numbers and in conjunction with the Duluth Festival chorus, in the "Inflammatus," from Rossini's "Stabat Mater." Rehearsals of the chorus will commence under Mr. Reyner's direction by the first week in October. The concert will be devoted chiefly to the orchestra, the chorus upon the occasion not taking up more than fifteen or twenty minutes each evening with choral work.

Mme. Frances Alda's operatic success in Italy was so great this summer that she was offered ten appearances there this fall. This engagement she was compelled to decline owing to concerts booked for her in this country. She will arrive early in October and in addition to her operatic appearances her concert engagements will take her South in November. Her Duluth date is Jan. 15 and while in this vicinity she will sing with both the Minneapolis Symphony and the St. Paul Symphony orchestra in their respective cities.

Bonci will be a great attraction in March. Wherever he goes he is acclaimed as the greatest lyric tenor of the age. He created a tremendous impression in Buenos Ayres in opera this summer. He is now in Italy and will return to this country in January and commence a tour which will last until June.

For this course advance subscriptions are now being received.

Officers Chosen.

OFFICERS for the year were chosen at the regular meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the First Christian church, which was held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Rhoim, 525 West Third street. Those elected were: President, Miss Laura Wagner; vice president, Mrs. E. R. Cobb; secretary, Miss Millie Older; treasurer, Mrs. J. F. Eby.

Linnaea Society.

The Linnaea society will meet Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with Mrs. Oscar Peterson, 714 Fifty-sixth avenue west.

Business Meeting.

There will be a business meeting of Trinity Guild Tuesday afternoon of next week at 2 o'clock in the guild room of Trinity pro-cathedral.

Silver Guild.

The first meeting of the year of the Silver Guild of St. Paul's Episcopal church will be held Monday evening with Mrs. Mary T. Sparks, 1829½ East Superior street, at 8 o'clock. With the opening of the new year a full attendance is desired that the work of the guild may be well started.

WEST END NEWS

DULUTH MAN CHOSEN DELEGATE TO INTERNATIONAL CONGRESS

JOHN J. MOE.

When the international congress of Methodists meets at Minneapolis during the month of May, 1912, John J. Moe of this city, will be in attendance to represent the Norweginn-Danish conference of the Methodist Episcopal church at the sessions. The big convention promises to be one of the largest church gatherings held in recent years. Delegates will attend from all corners of the globe.

Mr. Moe's election as a lay delegate from the Norwegian-Danish conference is considered to be a signal honor by his friends. Each conference is entitled to two delegates, one lay and one clerical. Dr. N. E. Simonson, principal of the theological seminary at Evanston, Ill., was elected as the ministerial delegate. The sessions will commence at Minneapolis early in May and will continue through the month.

Mr. Moe and Rev. Edward Erickson, pastor of the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church, have returned from Racine, Wis., where they attended the annual meeting of the Norwegian-Danish M. E. conference at which the election to the international congress of Methodists, which is held every fourth year.

The election of Rev. Hans K. Madsen of Chicago as the alternate ministerial delegate is also of local interest, as Rev. Mr. Madsen was the predecessor of Rev. Edward Erickson, the present pastor, and has many friends in the West end. He served as pastor of the local church for about eight years and was here when the congregation erected the handsome $27,000 edifice at Twenty-fourth avenue west and Third street. The alternate lay delegate from the conference is Conrad Hanson, a prominent Chicago man.

The Norwegian-Danish M. E. conference which Mr. Moe will help represent is one of the larger conferences of the Methodist church. It embraces several states including Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska and Michigan. Last year, the annual sessions of this conference were held in this city. Tomorrow evening at the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church, Mr. Moe will give a report of the convention to the congregation. Rev. Mr. Erickson will also tell of some of the work accomplished.

Pastor Erickson is already looking forward to the month of May, which is expected to bring to Duluth a number of prominent ministers from Norway and Denmark, who will probably stop in Duluth before and after the conference.

RECEPTION FOR FORMER PASTOR

Swedish Mission Congregation Will Tender Rev. F. O. Kling Farewell Party.

Rev. F. O. Kling, a former pastor of the Swedish Mission church of the West end, now of Minneapolis, who recently accepted a call to the Swedish Mission church of Los Angeles, Cal., arrived in the West end yesterday. He and Mrs. Kling are guests at the home of Pastor John J. Daniels of the Mission church, Twenty-first avenue west.

Rev. and Mrs. Kling have been invited by the local congregation to attend a reception planned in their honor this evening at the church. The reception will be in the nature of a farewell function. A suitable musical program has been arranged, in which the choir, the ladies' chorus and Mrs. J. J. Daniels will participate. Rev. Mr. Kling will be the principal speaker and several vocal solos will be rendered by him.

Refreshments will be served on the parsonage lawn, if the weather permits, otherwise in the church parlors. Rev. Mr. Kling will preach his farewell sermon to the West end congregation tomorrow evening. He will also occupy the pulpit at the morning service.

LAST HERALD CONCERT PLANNED FOR WEST END.

That West end people have thoroughly enjoyed their share of The Herald free band concerts has been demonstrated by the enormous crowds which have thronged Lincoln Park on occasions when concerts were held there. Next Sunday, another concert will be held at popular Lincoln Park under the auspices of The Herald, this being the last of the summer series. Of special interest will be the appearance of the famous pickanniny band from the "Old Kentucky" company. The colored boys are real musicians and will have an entertaining program.

Improvements Complete.

Practically all the improvements needed at the Second Presbyterian church, 1515 West Superior street, have been made. The last of the alterations was ordered Wednesday evening at a meeting of the board of trustees, when a new steam heating plant was ordered installed. The hot air furnace formerly used by the congregation was sold.

West End Briefs.

Funeral services were held this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock for Marie, 4-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Scholtes. The funeral was conducted by Rev. J. A. McGaughey, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church, from the residence, 2323 West Third street, to Forest Hill cemetery.

Lysglimt lodge, No. 7, I. O. G. T., will hold a basket social this evening at Maccabee hall.

Martin Falk of 2012½ West Michigan street has gone to Minneapolis on a few days' visit.

C. L. Greeley of Waterman, Ill., who has been a guest at the home of his brother, Dr. L. Q. Greeley, at 317 North Twenty-third avenue west, left today on the steamer Hamonic for a trip down the lakes.

Robert Johnson was pleasantly surprised by a number of his friends last evening at his home, 2308 West Eighth street, and presented with a handsome signet ring. Mr. Johnson will leave Monday for the state school for the blind at Faribault, Minn.

Mrs. Joseph Teer and Miss Atchley of 2721 West Fourth street are visitors at the state fair.

The Misses Etta and Lydia Treverarnus of 2722 West Second street have returned from a two weeks' visit in Milwaukee.

Miss G. Williams of 1709 West Second street will leave Monday for Hamline, where she will enter Macalester college.

The Women's Missionary Society of the Second Presbyterian church will be entertained Tuesday afternoon at the home of Rev. and Mrs. J. A. McGaughey of 6128 East Superior street.

Mrs. L. Steen and Mrs. H. M. Larson returned to their homes in Chicago after a visit at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Edward Erickson. 430 North Twenty-third avenue west.

Expert watch repairing. M. N. Berg, 1928 West Superior street.

WOMAN BLAMED FOR DEATH OF HER STEPSON.

Woodward, Okla., Sept. 9.—Mrs. Maggie Miller has been held to await the action of the grand jury after a preliminary hearing on a charge of being responsible for the death of Ray Miller, her 12-year-old stepson. THE MAN WITH A TOUPEE

Might Have Had a Good Head of Hair

The man who wears a toupee does not like it, but has the courage of his convictions.

Nature never intended that the top of the head should be left entirely without protection. A bald head is very susceptible to contraction of colds and neuralgia. Wearing an artificial top piece counteracts this tendency, and, aside from the improvement in the personal appearance, is amply justified.

How much better it would have been had the man, now chronically bald and wearing a toupee, but realized earlier in life the approaching danger and devoted a little regular attention to his hair, which would have saved it.

There is a remedy which will absolutely prevent baldness. Loss of hair in nine cases out of ten is unnecessary, being due to dandruff and the germ that causes it. This germ must be destroyed and the accumulations of dandruff checked. Then the hair will not fall out, but instead will grow naturally and luxuriantly.

Newbro's Herpicide is the remedy, regular applications of which will do this. It has long been known as the original remedy that kills the dandruff germ and is absolutely dependable.

So reliable is this preparation that all druggists now sell the one dollar size bottles of Herpicide with a binding guarantee to refund money if unsatisfactory.

Herpicide applications may always be obtained at the better barber shops and hair dressing parlors.

Anyone desiring to try Newbro's Herpicide before purchasing a large bottle will receive a nice sample and booklet by sending 10c in postage or silver to The Herpicide Co., Dept. R., Detroit, Mich. Lyceum pharmacy, special agent for Duluth.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

SEND BAND TO THE EAST

Plan for Advertising North Dakota Proposed By Business Men.

Scheme Designed to Attract More Settlers to the State.

Pekin, N. D., Sept. 9. — (Special to The Herald.)—For the purpose of advertising North Dakota in general and Nelson county in particular, there is a move among the business men of the county to send the North Dakota State band of this place on a trip to the Atlantic coast. It is proposed that the band accompany the commission that will go East next fall to present the silver service to the battleship North Dakota and then make a several weeks' tour through some of the large cities.

A lecturer would be taken along to present the claims of North Dakota in a way that would create an interest in the state among the people of the East to the end that some of them would be induced to come West and be land owners instead of factory slaves as at present.

Local men are interested and are working with others of the county to enlist support and the raising of the necessary funds.

PROMOTE CLEAN SPORTSMANSHIP

Devils Lake Hunters Proposing to Form State Association.

Devils Lake, N. D., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The organization of a North Dakota Sportsmen's association is a movement that has had its inception in this city and is arousing considerable interest. A call for a meeting to be held in this city will be issued in a few days, and it is expected that the organization will then be perfected.

The object of the association will be to promote clean sportsmanship and to assist the game and fish commission in the enforcement of the state laws and also to take the matter of the protection of game out of politics. The hunters of this city have formed themselves into a committee to arouse interest in all sections of the state.

TRAIN WRECKER DOES NOT PLEAD

Preliminary Hearing to Be Held at Waupaca Sept. 13.

Waupaca, Wis., Sept. 9.—Because he was not represented by counsel, 15-year-old Leonard Eake, of Fremont, refused to plead when arraigned in justice court on the charge of having tampered with the Soo Line switch Tuesday morning, causing three deaths, the wrecking of the Velvet Special, and the injuring of a score of persons.

The boy will be kept in the Waupaca county jail here, until Sept. 13, at which time he will be given his preliminary hearing.

The third victim of the wreck was identified as being Fred Lestrance of Oconto, well known in state baseball circles. He was one of a party of Oconto young men en route to procure work in the shingle mills at Merrill.

The other man killed while riding the blind baggage with Lestrence was Fred Mueller of Neenah.

BARLEY YIELD OF $40 PER ACRE

Net Proceeds From Tabor Field of Forty Acres, $1,619.44.

Crookston, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The following figures on a field of barley on section 36 in the township of Tabor, tenanted by Frank Kobetski and owned by Miller and Foote and J. W. Wheeler, will be of more than ordinary interest for several reasons.

The barley was shipped by the owners and sold at Duluth, the net weight of the shipment in Duluth being 1,623 bushels and sixteen pounds. The barley was sold for $1,717.33, the freight and expense of sale totaled $97.89, making the net proceeds $1,619.44, or a little more than $1.05 per bushel, and more than $40 per acre. For the same grain the owners were offered but 93 cents per bushel at the elevator.

Naturally, Messrs. Miller, Foote, Wheeler and Kobetski are extraordinarily well pleased with the receipts of the shipment and consider that barley raising in the Red river valley is very well worth while.

FIRST MISHAP OF HUNTING SEASON

Boy Receives Charge of Shot in His Left Arm.

Hawley, Minn., Sept. 9.—Frank Whaley, 16-year-old son of Mrs. Wright Works of Muskoda, accidentally received a charge from a shotgun, in his left arm Thursday morning. From the particulars that can be learned it seems as though with two other lads he was going hunting, taking with him a single barrel shotgun. While climbing into the buggy pulling the gun up after him, the hammer caught on the buggy steps, discharging the load. The shot entered his arm between the wrist and elbow, tearing a large hole almost through the arm.

The arm was hastily bandaged above the elbow to stop the flow of blood and brought into town by Wright Works for medical aid. The wound is a serious one and the arm will probably have to be amputated.

MUCH CORN IS NOT RIPENING

Some Shows Little Sign of Ripening Before the Holidays.

Jamestown, N. D., Sept. 9.—Just south of Jamestown is a ninety-acre field of excellent corn owned by J. A. Noel, samples of which have been placed on exhibit in the Citizen's National bank. The corn is rapidly maturing and will make an excellent crop.

The present season has shown the absolute necessity of corn growers buying their seed from reliable dealers and getting only those early ripening varieties. Large quantities of corn for seed was bought last spring, which was stated to be early maturing. It is probable that the seed was believed to be that but some of those who bought it say that corn is nearly ten feet high and still growing and with little evidence of ripening before the holidays. It is estimated that probably $60,000 worth of corn is now growing in the county which will have to be cut for fodder instead of ripe corn as was hoped when planted.

RUNAWAY GIRL IS HEARD FROM

Joined Man at Toledo, Ohio, and Probably Married There.

Aberdeen, S. D., Sept. 9.—The mystery of the disappearance of 17-year-old Marion Silvernale of Baker, Mont., while on her way to Aberdeen, Aug. 11, was explained when her father arrived here and found she had left the next day, after her arrival here, for Toledo, Ohio, where she joined W. H. Callin, a divorced man. The couple are supposed to have been married there. Callin formerly lived at Baker, and his attentions to the girl were objected to by her parents.

FAIR PROMISES TO BE BEST EVER

Auto Races to Be Feature of Beltrami County Fair.

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The sixth annual fair of the Beltrami County Agricultural association will be held at the fair grounds in this city next Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, and present indications are that, barring adverse weather conditions, this year's exposition will eclipse all former fairs, in the matter of excellence and variety of exhibits and interest shown in the competitions for premiums.

At one time the directors had under consideration the holding of a horse racing meet in connection with the fair but the matter of expense of racing was thoroughly gone into and the racing proposition, as far a shorses were concerned, was dropped.

Instead of the horse races, there will be exciting auto races the last two afternoons of the fair, and it is believed that more real good will come of the exhibition of agricultural products, dairy products, livestock, etc., than in drawing crowds for sporting events, although it is believed that the auto races will in a large measure take the place of the steppers.

ARREST WOULD-BE 'BAD MAN'

Lad, Dressed as a Cowboy, Held for Shooting a Train.

Hot Springs, S. D., Sept. 9.—When a chap under age acquires the dime novel habit in Kentucky, dons cowboy clothes in Texas, and finally annexes a six-shooter in South Dakota, then he is ready to make his debut in the Black Hills. This is the effect "Deadwood Dick" stories had on John Burke.

Burke, who is about 17, fired his Colt's revolver at a Burlington train between here and Minnekahta. The ball crushed through a chair car window and lodged in the casing a few inches from the head of Miss Merle Delahoyde of this city. The sheriff took up Burke's trail and caught him making his way to Edgemont. Burke was dressed in a white hat, high-heeled boots and flannel shirt with a red handkerchief tied about his neck. The gun he carried had been stolen from Harry Clark, for whom he worked, near here. He says he was shooting at the ventilator pipe when he hit the window.

RASTALL NAMED DIRECTOR.

Elected Head of New Wisconsin Board of Public Affairs.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 9.—The new state board of public affairs organized Thursday at a meeting here by electing the following as officers: Prof. H. M. Bastall of the department of business administration of the University of Wisconsin, director, at a salary of $4,000 a year; Prof. Robert A. Commons in installing a unit cost system for the city of Milwaukee and will give four days a week to the work on the new board until the work in Milwaukee is completed. Prof. Campbell graduated from the University of Wisconsin in 1906.

PARTRIDGES PLENTIFUL.

Timber Cruisers in Wisconsin Say They Are Numerous.

Couderay, Wis., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Timber cruisers and Indian guides report seeing more partridges through this section and in the eastern part of this county then they have seen for many years. As high as fifty birds are seen in a covey. The weather conditions have been ideal all summer for the birds, and they are very large and plump for this time of the year.

ASLEEP, FELL FROM CHAIR AND BROKE BOTH ARMS.

Marquette, Mich., Sept. 9.—As the result of a peculiar accident Stanley Brakeman, a Marquette man, is a patient at St. Mary's hospital. He fell from a chair in which he was sleeping on the porch of his home and broke his arm. It was only recently that Mr. Brakeman was near death with typhoid fever and he has not fully recovered from the attack of that disease.

SUBPOENAED IN THE STEPHENSON CASE.

Appleton, Wis., Sept. 9.—E. A. Edmonds, chairman of the Republican state central committee at the time of United States Senator Isaac Stephenson's election has been served with a summons to appear before the senate investigating committee in Milwaukee next month. Other Appleton men who were also subpoenaed were J. D. O'Connor and Former Deputy Game Warden William Haslam.

KILLED THIRTY-FIVE BIG RATTLESNAKES.

Schafer, N. D., Sept. 9.—While going over a hill near his ranch one day last week, Lupean Fancy was brought up standing by a clattering noise a few feet in front of him. The warning noise came from three large rattlesnakes coiled with heads erect directly in his path. Disregarding the trio's warning to take the back trail, Fancy picked up a stick and made short work of them. The snakes were bursted open by the blows of the stick. From two of the largest of them squirmed a mass of baby rattlesnakes which kept Fancy busy. He found after counting heads that he had made a record for himself by killing thirty-five rattlesnakes within a few minutes.

Baby's Voice

Every woman's heart responds to the charm and sweetness of a baby's voice, because nature intended her for motherhood. But even the loving nature of a mother shrinks from the ordeal because such a time is regarded as a period of suffering and danger. Women who use Mother's Friend are saved much discomfort and suffering, and their systems, being thoroughly prepared by this great remedy, are in a healthy condition to meet the time with the least possible suffering and danger. Mother's Friend is recommended only for the relief and comfort of expectant mothers; it is in no sense a remedy for various ills, but its many years of success, and the thousands of endorsements received from women who have used it are a guarantee of the benefit to be derived from its use. This remedy does not accomplish wonders but simply assists nature to perfect its work. Mother's Friend allays nausea, prevents caking of the breasts, and in every way contributes to strong, healthy motherhood. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Kempton, N. D., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—M. E. Watts of this place shook his fist under Mrs. Emma C. Freidenburg's nose and was arrested on a charge of assault a few minutes afterward. Mr. Watts was found guilty and his fine and costs amounted to $22.55. The trouble was the result of a quarrel over a boy who had given Mrs. Friedenburg some cause for chastisement.

NORTH DAKOTA MAN IS GETTING RICH ON WOLVES.

Schafer, N. D., Sept. 9.—By methods known only to himself and a few other wolfers in this section of the Northwest, L. Prettywood, who has been employed at the R. B. Gore ranch and its vicinity for the last two months, has killed six full-grown gray wolves, six gray wolf pups and fifty-five coyotes.

With the bounty of $15 which the county pays for all full-grown gray wolves, together with the state bounty of $2.50, he will receive the neat little sum of $105 for the six old grays. For the six gray pups and the fifty-five coyotes he will get only the state bounty of $2.50, amounting in all to $152.50.

As he will undoubtedly get at least $50 for the pelts of the animals killed, he will have received a neat little roll of some $300 for what the majority of people would call two month's sport.

WILL ANDY JONES GO BACK TO HIS OLD HOME?

Rugby, N. D., Sept. 9.—As the time for the parole of Andy Jones, the defaulting banker of this city, who has been in the federal prison at Leavenworth, draws near, the people here begin to wonder whether he will return to Rugby or go to some other field. It is understood that Jones is still interested in some mining deals in New Mexico, and that he will walk the straight and narrow path in that clime looking after his interests there after his release from prison.

SAFETY ON RAILROADS OF UPPER PENINSULA.

Calumet, Mich., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Members of the state railroad commission of Michigan were in Calumet for a short time this week, following their inspection of the Keweenaw Central railroad. They had nothing but the kindest words to say of all three of the railroads entering the Conner county and of the other lines using these roads, such as the Chicago & Northwestern and the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul.

One of the chief points made by members of the commission, in discussing railroads of Northern Michigan, was that safety seems to be the first principle on these roads, that more attention is paid to the safety of the passengers than to anything else. Particular mention was given the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic road in this regard, for this road stands with a record of not killing a passenger in a great number of years.

CASS LAKE WOMAN DIES AFTER LENGTHY ILLNESS.

Cass Lake, Minn., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. Clara Foster, wife of David L. Foster, died at her home in West Cass Lake of a complication of diseases on Thursday evening. Mrs. Foster had been ailing for nearly two months, during which time everything possible in the way of medical aid was done for her, but without avail. Mrs. Foster was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Iver Anderson; born in Fillmore county, Minn., April 14, 1885, and leaves three children, two sons and a daughter, besides her husband and relatives and numerous friends to mourn her death. Funeral services will be held Sunday from the M. E. church, Rev. G. O. Parish officiating.

LINIMENT SET AFIRE BY PIPE AND ARM BURNED.

Turton, S. D., Sept. 9.—Through a peculiar incident Edmund Labrie made a human torch of himself. He had been suffering with rheumatism in his right arm. Wednesday he bathed the arm with liniment and then wrapped the arm in cotton batting. This done he decided to enjoy a smoke. In lighting his pipe the cotton batting saturated with the liniment, caught fire and before those nearby could rush to his assistance and extinguish the flames the arm and hand wtre terribly flames the arm and hand were terribly burned.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Devils Lake, N. D.—The Horton Automobile garage of this city was entered by thieves some time during the early hours Wednesday morning who stole an $1,800 new Cadillac automobile belonging to T. A. Haslam of this city. The automobile was discovered in an uninhabited portion of the reservation in the evening mired in a coulee. Officials think the men stole the car to get away after the robbery of a bank at some point on the reservation.

Fargo, N. D.—Fargo chapter of the Loyal Order of Moose is being organized here. R. P. Craton is in the city and has charge of getting in shape the new original organization. It is hoped that the charter list of members may consist of at least 150 names, over 100 having been secured already.

Chamberlain, S. D.—Postmaster W. H. Ochsner of this city has been notified by the postoffice department at Washington that Chamberlain has been selected as one of the postal savings banks for South Dakota, the new department of the postoffice to be in operation by Sept. 19.

White Rock, S. D.—Horse thieves have been unusually active in Roberts county. Sheriff Swanson personally recovered fourteen stolen horses in two weeks and Deputy Sheriff Radde recovered two.

Yankton, S. D.—As the result of the canvass started a few days ago for articles to place in the Yankton county exhibit at the state fair to be held at Huron, Sept. 11 to 15, a car load of agricultural and other exhibits left Yankton for Huron Tuesday. The exhibit will be taken to the Mitchell Corn palace and the interstate livestock fair at Sioux City, Iowa.

Langdon, N. D.—Three hundred and seventy dollars seems to be an enormous price to receive for a single wagon-load of grain, yet that is what C. D. Kennedy got for a load he sold over at Hampden last week. The grain was timothy seed and was raised by Mr Kennedy.

Regent, N. D.—The commercial club of this city has shown its progressive spirit in a very practical and laudable manner, by its recent decision to construct an irrigation project on the bottom lands of the Cannon Ball river adjoining town. They have made arrangements for the lease of about thirty acres of land and will install a centrifugal pump with a capacity of 1,500 gallons of water per minute, raising the water from the river with a gasoline traction, about 12-horse power being required for the work.

Mott, N. D.—One of the men who is employed by Contractor A. K. Sleeger in the excavation work on the new Anderson building struck something hard below the surface of the earth. Upon uncovering it he found a petrified turnip. The specimen is attracting considerable attention, and may be presented to the state museum at Bismarck.

Upham, N. D.—Jake Nelson, the Upham banker, is looking forth to his potato crop, which it is believed will be the most successful ever raised in this section. Mr. Nelson is interested in a quarter section of potatoes, and is known in this section as the "potato king." A warehouse is being erected here to care for the yield of 35,000 bushels which is expected. Mr. Nelson is cashier of the Upham State bank and is one of the most promising young men in Western North Dakota.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Barnesville — The first accident to mar the chicken hunting season occurred Thursday, when Fred Christainson, a farmer living east of here attempted to pull a loaded gun from his buggy and in doing so the trigger caught and the gun discharged, the shot taking effect in Christainson's side. The wound is serious.

Austin—The case of Sadie M. Weber vs. John L. Weber for damages from her father-in-law, for the alienation of the affections of her husband, has been appealed by the father-in-law to the supreme court. The Freeborn county jury gave her a verdict of $5,000 and Judge Kingsley of this city granted the application for a new trial unless the plaintiff accept $2,500, which she agreed to do. The father-in-law has taken the case to the supreme court, claiming that the evidence does not entitle the plaintiff to any damages whatever.

Faribault — Fire, started by spontaneous combustion, caused a loss of $4,000 in the wall paper and paint store of C. H. Dunham here Thursday night. The largest amount of damage was caused by the water, as the fire was hard to put out among the paints and oils. The loss is partly covered by insurance.

Sleepy Eye—Oscar F. Barnes, charged with kidnaping the two Isaac girls of this city, when called before Judge Geschwind asked that the hearing be postponed until next Wednesday, which was granted. Pauline, the oldest of the two girls, upon evidence produced was committed to the state training school. Her younger sister was placed on probation.

Red Wing — H. L. Olson was found unconscious near a livery Thursday. He had fallen in a faint in the middle of the street and suffered a fractured nose. Olson has been in ill health the past few weeks.

Hastings—John G. Mertz of the undertaking firm of J. G. Mertz & Son, died suddenly Thursday of an acute attack of pneumonia. He was a veteran of the Civil war, a former member of Company F, Seventh Minnesota infantry; a member of Dakota lodge, No. 7, A. F. and A. M.; Vermilion lodge, No. 8, I. O. O. F., and Peter Peller post, No. 89, G. A. R. He is survived by a son, Alden G. Mertz, and two grandchildren, Karl J. and Louis C. Glencoe — Carl Hagen, a farmer of Mcleod county, died Thursday night. Mr. Hagen was secretary of the Sumter Fire Insurance company for twenty years.

Detroit — Oscar Morken is another Becker county young man who is making good since his graduation from the Detroit high school. For two years he has been employed in the city ticket office of the Northern Pacific in Minneapolis. Recently he was promoted to the position of city ticket agent at Billings.

Hawley—J. L. Johnson & Co.'s store was entered late Wednesday night by a burglar or burglars—it is not known how many were implicated in the deal—and succeeded in getting away with a considerable quantity of merchandise.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Green Bay—William Light of Carlton, Kewaunee county, and Mrs. Josephine Collopy of Green Bay were married Thursday. Light is 79 and his bride 60. He has been married once, while this is her third matrimonial venture.

Manitowoc—Mrs. Anton Erickson of Cato, who just buried her husband, is now nursing her child, who was bitten by a mad dog and was rushed to Madison for treatment. Mr. Erickson died ten days ago and scarce had the widow returned home when the rabid dog entered the yard and attacked the child.

Chippewa Falls—Undersheriff Samuel Nelson went to Boyd and arrested Steven Marek for shooting a little red squirrel on charges preferred by Game Warden Charles Little of Taylor county, that the squirrel was killed out of season. The penalty is $25 fine.

Marshfield—Charles Tewes, an aged farmer, was instantly killed near his home at Hewitt, Wood county, while attempting to stop a runaway team.

Milwaukee—Rabbi M. Shayeson of Cincinnati, highly recommended by his congregation there, has been engaged by Temple Sinai, and will arrive in Milwaukee on Sept. 17. He will succeed Rabbi Goodman Lipkind, who recently went to St. Louis. Rabbi Shayeson is said to be a most able speaker in both English and German, besides being a professional cantor. Services for the coming holidays will open on Sept. 22.

Madison — Wisconsin prison-made binder twine is not a product of the immediate future. When the wheels of the elaborately equipped Waupun plant will begin to turn is a question clothed in indefiniteness of the deepest kind. This is the situation as gathered from interviews with President W. H. Graebner and Ralph E. Smith of the state board of control. President Graebner said about three-fourths of the necessary machinery is in place, and that the board does not propose at present to purchase the rest.

Eau Claire—The Eau Claire Concrete company is now pushing building operations on its new concrete-making plant on the southeast corner of Main and South Dewey streets, and expects to have the new plant in operation before the first of the year. The main building will be 82 by 75 feet, one story high. It will be built entirely of concrete blocks.

Milwaukee—The International Harvester company, with 4,500 employes, accepted the new Wisconsin workmen's compensation act by filing its bond and charges of getting in shape for operation Thursday. Big plants are maintained in Chicago, Milwaukee, Canada and elsewhere. This is the largest industrial concern to come under the provisions of the act thus far.

Marquette—John Rough, formerly the marshal, has been appointed deputy state game warden for Marquette county and the Upper Peninsula, by State Game Warden William R. Oates. His commission is dated Sept. 1, and he has already assumed his duties, having gone to Gwinn yesterday morning on official business. Mr. Rough has served the public in the capacity of an officer of the law for the past ten years, having been sheriff of the county for two terms.

Gwinn—Corall Pepin was painfully, though not seriously, injured while working at the Kidder shaft Tuesday morning. He was assisting in the hoisting of some heavy material, when a block broke and hit him across the knees. Mr. Pepin was quite badly bruised and had to be taken to the Gwinn hospital, where he received treatment.

Ishpeming—The Ishpeming men who are boosting for the Upper Peninsula in Detroit this week are: M. M. Duncan, W. P. Belden, R. P. Bronson, W. H. Johnston, C. J. Byrns, W. J. McCorkindale, A. B. Miner, A. J. Yunbluth and W. H. Oakley.

Calumet—Notice of a caplas proceeding has been filed by the law firm of MacDonald & Kerr on behalf of Miss Elnore Hoeft of Nevada City, Cal., against August Gren of Calumet for slander. The plaintiff seeks damages to the extent of $25,000 for alleged defamation of character and uttering slanderous expressions relative to the character of the plaintiff.

Houghton—A. W. Anderson, senior partner of the contracting firm of A. W. Anderson & Son, has returned from Duluth and other Minnesota towns. He reports that his son, Charles, who left recently for Winton, where he has taken a position as timekeeper with Wick O'Connell & Co. lumbering crews, is making a great hit in baseball circles.

Gwinn—Clark Tisdale of Duluth and the Misses Mary and Margaret Heaton of Ishpeming spent a few days this week visiting with Capt. Thomas Trebilcock and family at Princeton.

Laurium—Dr. M. M. Kerr and bride, formerly Miss Antoinette Priest of Evart, this state, are expected to arrive home today from a honeymoon on the St. Lawrence.

Calumet—The petition of railway postal clerks for a steel mail car on the Marquette-Calumet run of the South Shore road has been granted and within a few days the car will be put in service. The car arrived in Marquette on Tuesday, and advices from headquarters are to the effect that it will be in commission immediately.

Hancock—The Quincy school opened Tuesday with two new teachers, Misses Wells and Coy of Iowa, taking the places of Misses Frimodig and Parker. At the Boston school there is a new principal, Prof. Liberty of Marquette, who succeeds A. W. Graunstadt, who has gone West to go into business with his brother.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Largest Enrollment in History of Big Building on Hill—New Faculty Members—Football Practice—Freshmen Hazed.

During the week the greater part of the attention of the faculty and students of the high school was devoted to arranging the schedules for the year and at the close of school yesterday the programs were made out and everyone is ready for the regular weeks of work until the end of the first semester.

Chapel exercises were held only twice during the week; Tuesday, the first day of school and again yesterday morning. The enrollment is the largest in the history of the school and 400 freshmen presented themselves this week for the beginning of their high school course. The senior class numbers at this time 125, the total enrollment being 1,030.

Principal Young extended the faculty greetings to the students Monday morning and hoped that after their vacations they had returned ready for the efficient work of which they were capable. Mr. Young suggested that the high school students apply scientific management to their studying and get down to work right from the start.

Many of the freshmen were not present at chapel Tuesday morning, because of the arrangement of their programs, and yesterday Mr. Young advised them to work to the point of their highest efficiency. Next week chapel exercises will be held Tuesday and Thursday mornings and in all other details the regular programs will be followed.

The first meeting of the candidates for the football team was called yesterday afternoon by Capt. Bob Mars. About fifty hopeful ones attended the meeting in the physical laboratory. Capt. Mars spoke first and thought that with the interest shown by the large attendance the Central school ought to make a good showing and that those who work on the second team will get experience that will probably enable them to make the regular team next year.

The old men who are back are: O'Brien who played right guard; Jerominus, right end; McClaran, quarter; Kerns, half back; Currie tackle; and Crassweller, a young brother of the two former Crasswellers who have made the high school teams.

The first practice was held this afternoon at Athletic park. The coach for the year will be decided upon at the meeting of the Athletic association which will be held Monday afternoon at the assembly hall.

Faculty Manager Phillips was present at yesterday's meeting and gave a talk to the candidates. "Stick all the way through" advised Mr. Phillips. "When you start out even if you don't make the first team, stick till the end of the season and with the experience gained you have a better chance of making the team next year. There is every chance of making a fine record this year."

The cannon from the Spanish American war, which more or less decorates the front lawn of the school, served its time honored purpose during the week in providing a means of allowing the sophomores to mildly haze the freshmen. The hazing program did not advance very far as some of the faculty put a stop to the proceedings.

STEADY BUSINESS IMPROVEMENT

New York, Sept. 9.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade today says:

Steady improvement in business conditions is indicated by most of the reports which come from the leading industries and from trade centers. The enlarged operations in pig iron are indicated by returns covering the production during August, which rose 133,569 tons. Most of last month's expansion was due to the increased output of the leading interest whose bookings in that period were heavier than in any previous month this year. In the finished lines the existing price situation induces consumers generally to confine purchases to actual needs. Competition for new business has become keen and buyers accordingly find it easier to obtain concessions. Wire trade reflects reduced activity, but in the structural division, many mills have enough work to keep them fully occupied for several months.

An improved demand for dry goods is noted both in the primary markets and by jobbing houses. Retailers' purchases steadily increased and practical novelties, specialties and goods for fall distribution, but there is little activity for future delivery. Export trade is improved. Prints sent abroad during August were in large amounts. Printers are finding trade better, drills and sheetings are firm and colored cottons in moderate demand. Ginghams, however, are quiet and bleached cottons are being ordered from hand to mouth. Woolen and worsted mills report better inquiry and stock goods are being called for steadily. Fall underwear is selling more freely. Taking all together, the market shows a tendency to broaden in a moderate way.

Trade in foot wear shows further improvement, but buyers still display conservatism and purchase only such varieties as can be readily delivered. Trade in hides improved slowly. Upper leather is firm, although some concessions are reported in combination tannages of calf-skins. Further activity has developed in packer hides and advances ranging from ¼ to ½ have been secured. Common varieties of Latin-American dry hides are ½ cent per pound lower.

TEACHER TARRED AND FEATHERED

Nine Kansas Men and Boys Arrested—Claim She Was Gossip.

Shady Bend, Kan., Sept. 9.—Nine men and boys have been arrested and placed under bond here for alleged connection with the tarring and feathering of Miss Mary Chamberlain, a young school teacher, ten days ago by a mob.

A strong effort had been made to keep the matter quiet, but County Attorney McCandless refused to allow the affair to go uninvestigated. The trials of several of the suspects have been set for next month. The men arrested are Edward Ricord, E. G. Clark, A. M. Simms, John Schmidt, Watson Scranton, Jay Fitz Water, Chester Anderson, Delbert Kindles Sparger and Shirrell Clarke.

Miss Chamberlain belongs to a prominent family. The only excuse given for the affair is that she "had talked about" other women of the community.

Girl Not Seriously Hurt.

It is charged that one of the men under arrest took Miss Chamberlain for a ride in a buggy, and that upon reaching a lonely spot on the road he stopped the buggy and ran into the woods. Several men, it is said, were waiting near the spot. They went to the place on motor cycles. These men it is said, took Miss Chamberlain from the buggy, removed part of her clothing, applied the tar and feathers and left her. Her escort returned later and drove her back to her boarding house. Miss Chamberlain was not seriously injured.

Two of the boys already found guilty in the justice of the peace court and sentenced each to three months in jail, have appealed to the district court and are out on bond. Edward Ricord, who took the girl to the spot where the attack was made, is serving a sentence of a year in jail.

Shirrell Clarke the last man arrested, is a merchant and miller of Shady Bend.

Queer Making of Tea.

In Thibet, the people get their tea in hard bricks. From these they break off and pulverize a little, boil it in a kettle with water and a pinch of salt, then put it into a little churn, adding a little butter and ground barley, churn for a while, then pour the mixture into a teapot, boil and strain through bamboo. Each Thibetian carries his own tea bowl concealed about his robes. No such rigmarole needed to get fine healthful golden grain belt beers. They come keyed up to perfection of taste. Buy of your dealer or duluth branch minneapolis brewing company.

WOMAN MAYOR PUTS LID ON SUNDAY CARDS.

Hunnewell, Kan., Sept. 9.—Hunnewell citizens have learned that they must not play cards on Sunday during the administration of Mrs. Ella Wilson as mayor. To discover this fact, four young men of this town paid $10 each in Judge Bonfall's court at South Haven. The complaints against them were sworn to by Mrs. Wilson. She charged they played cards on Sunday in a house on the main street of Hunnewell without even closing the front door.

Mrs. Wilson said the convictions were just a start in her crusade against gambling, society and professional.

FINALLY WEDS WIDOW.

Baron Refused License in New York Is Married in Chicago.

Chicago, Sept. 9.—Baron Berger von Weissell, to whom the county clerk of New York refused a marriage license, was married here yesterday to Mrs. Marie Neer, widow of the late Albert Neer, a former wealthy Chicagoan, by a justice of the peace. The baron said he would return to Europe with his bride immediately.

The baron was married three times in Sweden, the three wives being sisters. Two of them died and he obtained a divorce from the third. It was because he failed to bring proof of the divorce that the license to rewed was refused him in New ork.

PERRY MEMORIAL ON PUT-IN-BAY ISLAND.

Sandusky, Ohio, Sept. 9.—The Perry Centennial committee, at Put-In-Bay yesterday afternoon, decided that the memorial will be erected on Put-In-Bay island, contrary to the many reports current that it would be erected on Green Island. The site will be the water front acreage recently condemned by the Ottawa county courts. The Put-In-Bay board of trade has raised $10,000 to be applied on the purchase of the memorial site, in case it is needed.

PINCHOT PARTY GOES TO ALASKA COAL FIELDS.

Seward, Alaska, Sept. 9.—The Gifford Pinchot exploring party, composed of the former chief forester, Senator Miles Poindexter of Washington, Mr. Pinchot's secretary and two newspaper men, arrived here on the steamship Northwestern and started yesterday for the Matanuska coal fields.

Bankers Elect Officers.

Aneta, N. D., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual meeting of the Nelson County Bankers' association was held in this city and the following officers were elected: President, J. E. Fodness, Aneta; vice president, George C. Magoris, Tolna; secretary-treasurer, H. C. Olsgard, McVille.

Corner Stone Laid.

Langdon, N. D., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The corner stone of the new public school in this city was laid yesterday afternoon, the ceremony being attended by almost every resident and school child. Rev. Dr. Walters of Fargo delivered the address and the history of the city schools was read by Miss La Belle Mahon. The new school is being erected to take the place of the one destroyed by fire last winter and is costing $50,000.

Cruelty to Animals.

Devils Lake, N. D., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. Kelly and T. Phoenix, farm hands at the home of William Redmond, were given nine days in the county jail on a charge of cruelty to dumb animals. The complaint was filed by Mr. Redmond, whose horses they had abused terribly.

Indians to Hold Fair.

Plaza, N. D., Sept. 9.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Indians on the Fort Berthold reservation will hold their first fair and first Indian congress on the reservation this month, the dates being Sept. 18 to 24. The fair will be an exhibit of all the farm products raised on the reservation together with a program of broncho busting, horseback riding, driving and roping contests, and all the different sports which the red men indulge in.

BUILDING WORK HELD UP BY WEEK OF STEADY RAIN

Good Record for August Shown By Building Inspector's Report.

Many Sketches Being Prepared By Architects for New Dwellings.

The general lull in building lines in the city was accentuated during the past week by the unusually wet period. All week there has been an almost continuous rain, which has interfered with outside work, and as a result, nearly all plans to start new construction work were postponed.

However, during the week twelve permits for an estimated cost of $16,350, were issued by the building inspector. According to contractors and architects, a lively increase is expected during the coming week.

Excepting the large permit taken out in August, 1910, by the Minnesota Steel company, which called for an estimated expenditure of $10,000,000, the permits for the month of August, 1911, far exceeded those of the corresponding month a year ago. During the month just passed the building inspector's office issued 126 permits, totalling $278,910, while a year ago there were 154 permits issued, totaling $10,195,110. It will be noted that if the permit for the steel plant were taken out, the total for building construction in Duluth exceeds that of last year by $83,770, which may be considered a good gain. It will also be noted that the number this year is small, which gives evidence that the character of the buildings is of a higher grade.

There was a net gain of 11 per cent in building operations in the country for August, compared with the corresponding month last year, according to reports from sixty-eight of the largest cities published by the Construction News today.

Last month 18,880 permits for new buildings involving an expenditure of $80,757,650 were issued against 17,480 buildings involving $72,555,232 for the corresponding month last year, an increase of 1,320 buildings and $8,232,418 or 11 per cent.

Philadelphia led in the number of building permits issued with 1,359. Los Angeles was second with 1,280 and Chicago third with 1,163. Six hundred and twenty permits were issued in New York.

Architects are busy at this time preparing sketches for dwellings, a large number of which call for handsome residences ranging from $5,000 up. The architects are confident that those requesting the sketches are prepared to have the plans drawn in the near future, and they claim that a renewed activity may be expected at any time.

The building committee of the Duluth Camp, No. 2341, Modern Woodmen of America, has called upon A. Hofstead to prepare new plans for their proposed $15,000 home, which is to be erected at Twenty-first avenue west and First street, with the main entrance on First street. The plans call for a building 50 by 100 feet, with a large auditorium on the first floor and two lodge rooms on the second floor. It will be of brick with a concrete foundation.

Anthony Puck has received instructions from the board of education of the village of Buhl to complete the plans for the grade and high school which is to be erected there at a cost of about $100,000. The plans as submitted were approved. It will be of brick and stone, with terra cotta and stone trimmings. It is to be arranged so that manual training, domestic science and agricultural departments will be included. There are to be eight grade rooms, four high school recitation rooms, two large laboratories, two kindergartens, a large play room, a high school assembly room, a drawing room, library, the teachers' room, doctor's room, principal's office, and a stock room. The contract for the foundation will be let within a few weeks, and the contract for the superstructure later. It is expected that the school will be ready for occupancy at the opening of the school term in 1912.

Figures will be taken by Anthony Puck the first of next week for a small cold storage warehouse to be erected at Two Harbors by Duluth people. It will cost about $5,000.

A contract was let by Mr. Puck this week for a rural school to be built near Chisholm to Gus Anderson of Chisholm. The school, which is of frame, will cost about $3,000.

Next week Mr. Puck will place out for bids, plans and specifications for three residences to be erected in the East End. Two will be of brick and the third of frame and stucco, the average cost of each being about $10,000. The bids will be received sometime during the following week. One of the houses will be located on Fourth street near Twenty-third avenue east, another on the lower side of Fifth street, between Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth avenues east, and the third on the upper side of Fifth street, between Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth avenues east.

The Lake View Home company has taken out permits for six frame houses to be erected on Fifty-first avenue east and Avondale avenue, each permit calling for a cost of $850.

Plans have been completed for a residence for Norman D. McLeod to be constructed on Fourth street near Twenty-third avenue east. It will be of frame and stucco, costing about $6,000.

P. M. Olsen is preparing plans for T. F. Moore for a frame residence on Robinson street, between Forty-first and Forty-second avenues east, costing $4,500.

Ellerbe, Round & Sullivan let the contract for the remodeling of the store occupied by W. H. Richter of West Duluth to G. Miller. The work will cost about $2,000.

The contract for the stone and brick apartment house for Peter Johnson, to be built on Sixteenth avenue east, between Superior and Jefferson streets, was let this week by the architect, J. J. Wangenstein to Charles Danielson. It will cost $10,000.

Mr. Wangenstein is receiving bids for a three-story brick and stone hotel building for the Duluth Brewing & Malting company, to be constructed at Virginia. The contract will be let next Monday.

Work will be started on Monday on the store and flat building to be put up by Frank Brelich on Commonwealth and Crestline court, in Norton's Steel Plant addition. The building will be 34 by 60 feet, costing about $3,500, and will be used for a general store and rooming purposes.

A bakery will be built at Norton's Steel Plant addition by Julius Vilato, who has recently moved here from Bessemer. M. Divjak and F. Srech will build a block at the same place, which will be used as a wholesale liquor and beer store. Steve Gigos of Hibbing has plans completed for a store and flat building to be built at Commonwealth avenue and Crestline court, costing about $2,500.

A. W. Kuehnow, who is the agent for this addition, states that many who have recently purchased lots in the Norton Steel Plant addition have plans for the erection of dwellings and stores, among them being two Calumet men.

Building permits for the week follow:

HERALD'S POPULAR PRICED HOMES

This attractive design is for a cozy home-like cottage of seven rooms. It covers a small area, is economical to build and is very conveniently arranged.

The arrangement of the rooms on the first floor is very compact, there being a large living room, dining room, pantry and kitchen with their accessories. Double doors keep kitchen odors from the front part of the house.

On the second floor there are four large bedrooms with closets for each and a bathroom. The hall is exceptionally well lighted.

One chimney serves the whole house.

These plans can be reversed or altered to suit the owner's wishes.

The cost of this home, complete, in Duluth or vicinity would be $2,800.

VERNON J. PRICE,
Architect.

WEEKLY SURVEY OF REAL ESTATE DEVELOPMENTS

Visit of Steel Corporation Officials Opened Eyes of Many Duluthians to Steel Plant Possibilities—Architectural Club and Its Plans.

THIS week has been an eye-opener for hundreds of Minnesotans, who for years have looked with skeptical air upon the proposed plans of the United States Steel corporation to build at the Head of the Lakes one of the largest steel manufacturing plants in the world.

Duluth and the iron range are new hosts to one of the biggest parties of leading business men ever assembled here at one time, and while here they have told the people of this section of the state things that have aroused genuine enthusiasm in them. The predictions which these leaders in the biggest industry of the world have made, are sure to come true, for they are not prophesies to them, but announcements of plans which will be carried out.

President Farrell of the United States Steel corporation has told the business men of this city some of the things that are bound to happen here, and his statements have been corroborated by other men, who are at the head of other big institutions, subsidiary to the Steel corporation.

The steel plant at Gary is destined to make this city one of the biggest and greatest manufacturing centers in the world, according to President Farrell. The natural advantages have been recognized by the financial leaders of the country, and not only wishing to benefit the community from which the resources come, but also looking out for the most economical method of producing the finished goods, they have come to Duluth with the big plant.

In the big undertaking, this corporation needs the good will and co-operation of the people of the community, the speakers said, and judging from remarks heard during their visit here, they will have that co-operation.

MEMBERS of the Duluth Architectural club enjoyed a social gathering and smoker Thursday evening at the Armory clubrooms. The gathering was a large one, nearly every architect and draftsman of the city being present. The evening was most pleasantly passed, every member offering his share to the entertainment. Refreshments were served.

Abraham Holstead, one of the recent additions to the profession here, who comes from London, and who is a member of the Royal Institute of Architects, as chairman of the educational committee of this club, delivered a talk, in which he outlined the course of study which he will offer during the coming winter to the members. He will give a series of lectures, illustrated by stereopticon views, in which he will present various designs for architectural work. This is of particular benefit to the draftsmen and those whose experience has not been extensive.

Among the Duluth architects there are a large number who are experts in the line of water-coloring and rendering. Special attention will be given to this line of study during the year, and arrangements will be given to have competitions. The men of this city are determined to show the people that they are competent to do all kinds of work along architectural lines, and prove to them that there is no necessity for them to go outside with their work. During the last year much of the best architectural work has been going to other cities, to men who are said to be more competent than the Duluth architects. The local men claim they have not been given an opportunity to show their ability, and so they have decided to hold these competitions, after which their work will be placed on exhibition. If the business will not come to them they claim they will go after the business by demonstration that they are capable of turning out good work.

M. A. Thompson of the firm of Thompson & Stewart gave a short talk to the members, in which he spoke of the advantages of the club, especially for the younger men. He emphazized the point that "as we grow old we must keep young in spirit and up with the times." He thought the members were starting their club right when they instituted the educational feature, and that they showed the proper spirit by their efforts to bring the club to success. He believed that the building material men and others interested in building would give their hearty co-operation to the club.

At meetings of the future the club hopes to have a number of expert material men, who travel through the country, appear before the organization to lecture on various materials. Heretofore the club has been meeting at the Builders' exchange rooms, but the board of directors of the Architectural club has been instructed to get a permanent clubroom, where the members can meet and can work whenever they wish.

The club at present is composed of the younger architects and draftsmen, but it is expected that the older ones will be interested in the organization, and soon added to the membership. Such clubs have been organized in other cities, with success and benefit to the members, and the Duluth men feel that they are now on the road to success with a club of their own which will compare favorably with any in the Northwest.

ON MONDAY last a dissolution of partnership in the architectural field of this city took place, which comes as a surprise to many. Abraham Holstead, who for the past year has been associated with Anthony Puck, under the name of Anthony Puck & Holstead, severed his connections, and has opened an office of his own at 814 Alworth building. Both men are well known in the city as competent architects.

DEMAND FOR GARDEN PLOTS FEATURE OF REALTY MARKET

"Five Acres and Liberty" Idea Has Firm Hold on Duluth.

Acreage Transfers Constitute Great Bulk of Week's Business.

A glance over the real estate transfers for the past week shows the enormous amount of business done in the land business, which each week seems to be on the increase. All dealers of real estate claim that inquiry for farm lands is growing, for the people are interested in the land proposition, and they are realizing the importance of the agricultural possibilities in this section of the country.

The exhibits of the crops from nearby farms, show that land in the vicinity of Duluth is fertile and can produce, with proper care any of the roots and fruits common to the Northwest. The showing made by the Producers' Co-operative Market association at the state fair is also conclusive evidence of the value of lands about Duluth.

The small acreage tracts continue to attract the working people, who find that they can maintain a little tract of ground near the city and also hold their jobs in the city. Whitney Wall reports that the demand is now coming in for acre tracts north of the boulevard and east of Fifth avenue east. This section is almost adjacent to the Homewood division which Mr. Wall recently put on the market. The land in this vicinity, being cheap at this time, will rapidly advance in price it is claimed, for within a short time the Duluth Street Railway company will construct its extension on Ninth street.

In all parts of the outskirts of the city the demand for the small tracts is on the increase. W. M. Prindle & Co. report activity in their sections east of the Woodland car line, and especially in the Riverside Suburban Homes.

N. J. Upham & Co. have had a busy week at Home Farms, on Duluth Heights, where they sold five tracts, ranging from thirteen to 120 acres. Other acre tracts were, eighty acres in section 2, 51-14 from Leander St. Onge to W. A. Hicken, for $1,500; and 120 acres in section 10, 51-14 from William McBean to Stack Bros. This tract is fronting for three-quarters of a mile on the Howard-Gnesen road.

This company has also sold the east one-half of lot 56, block 31, Duluth proper, Third division, from Delia E. Rost to Margaret Thatcher, which is improved with a house. It is the lot adjoining the Thatcher & Thatcher grocery on West Fourth street on the west.

This firm has also taken earnest money on four flat buildings in the West end, and upon a 100-foot lot with frontage on the Normal school district, all of which deals are expected to be closed next week.

Ebert, Walker & McKnight report the purchase of 160 acres of land from Augusta Marwitz, at a consideration of $10 per acre. This land is about two miles from Rice Lake, and will be subdivided into small tracts.

They also report the sale of ten acres about half a mile from the poor farm from the St. Louis County Investment company to Charles A. Graves, for $65 per acre, and a lot in Oakland Park to Sarah Lane for $300. Eleven lots in Kenwood Park addition were sold by this firm for the St. Louis Investment company to F. B. Rossom, the consideration for which is said to be about $75 per lot. They also sold 240 acres north of the Cloquet river, on the Miller Trunk road for John Miller to Andrew Peterson, the consideration of which is said to be $2,000.

John P. Samson has purchased from the Lakeside Land company, two lots on Peabody street, near Forty-second avenue east for $500, upon which he will start the construction of a residence immediately.

The Lakeside Land company sold a lot, 50 by 140 to Helen Hoy, on Wyoming street, near Fifty-fifth avenue east, for $700, upon which she will build next spring.

The Highland company sold lot 30, block 3, Fifth division, Duluth Heights, to John Robertson. This lot is on the north side of Palm street. This company reports a lively inquiry for houses on Duluth Heights, as well as for lots, and many of those who have already made purchases there are planning to build.

Stryker, Manley & Buck reports the sale of a lot on Fifty-third avenue west between Roosevelt and Nicollet streets, from the Vencedor Investment company to George L. Shoub, for $350.

C. L. Rakowsky & Co. report several contracts for houses and lots under way, most of which will be signed up next week. This firm reports that business is active and that the fall and winter will show a decided improvement over that of last season.

A. W. Kuehnow reports considerable activity in the Norton Steel Plant addition, which adjoins the site of the steel plant. During the past week he sold five lots to Milwaukee parties, and two lots to Calumet people. These parties are planning to improve the property. This addition has many houses and stores up already, and many others are now either in the course of construction or are being planned.

At Gary, which adjoins the steel plant, there has been activity, and the agents, A. C. Volk & Co., report many sales as well as an increased number of inquiries. The building here is also progressing rapidly, and Gary is readily taking on the form of a little city.

Anna C. Giesen has sold to Carl E. Johnson lots 17, 18 and 19, block 149, West Duluth Fifth division, for $1,200.

Martin West has sold to Henry W. Ream an undivided one-half interest in the northerly 68 feet of the easterly 25 feet of lot 62, and the northerly 68 feet of lot 64, East Sixth street, Duluth Proper First division, for $2,500.

Darwin E. Stephens has sold to Hiram E. Elliott lot 367, block 111, Duluth Proper Second division, and part of lot 365, block 111, for $5,000. This is the property where Capt. Stevens has resided for years, at Twenty-third avenue west and Third street.

William Carroll has sold to Magnus Westerlund lots 16 and 17, block 88, West Duluth Sixth division, for $1,000.

The most important sale of the week was the transfer of the property between Ninth and Tenth avenues east between Superior street and London road from the Duluth Banking company to Edward Hilliard. This property has a frontage of 200 feet on Superior street and 225 feet on London road. It is improved with nine houses, and overlooks the lake. It is said the consideration was about $25,000. The deal was made through the office of Frank I. Salter & Co.

You Can't Sell Your Rent Receipts

--neither can you borrow money on them; your rent may increase any time, but the value of your rent receipts will always remain the same---they will always be worth exactly NOTHING.

Why not stop paying rent every month and start making monthly payments on a fine house and grounds instead?

Our home-owning plan makes it possible for you to do so right away--it makes it possible for you to buy a fine fifty-foot (or even larger) lot and a fine little home with practically the same sums you now pay in rent, all in about 5 years' time!

The poor weather we have been having lately may have delayed you from coming out to SEE the property, but we want to urge you to come out tomorrow, Sunday, without fail.

The vast building activity created by this plan of ours is, naturally, driving up the value of land in Crosley Park continually, and PRICES MAY BE ADVANCED ANY TIME.

Make sure of YOUR home and grounds BEFORE that advance, thus not only securing the present low price, but taking the profit of that advance yourself, as well as the steady and continual advances that will go on from now on.

Come out Sunday! We have a number of houses nearing completion, so that you will be able to see both the LAND and the HOME we offer you for your rent money for five years.

How to go: Take any Lakeside car to Fifty-fourth avenue east, walk north four blocks and you will come to our office on the grounds. Our men will be there all day.

BEARISH DAY FOR THE COPPERS

Liquidation Heavy on New York Exchange List; Boston Feels Effect.

Most of the copper stocks lost more or less today on account of the influence of the bearish trend of the general stock market, where the liquidation was heavy. At the same time, it is but fair to say that the coppers resisted this influence well, and the undertone was firm and strong, showing the copper stocks to be basically sound, and to possess a rallying power that is sure to show forth with telling effect when the proper time comes. The markets showed considerable uneasiness on account of the delay in the Moroccan settlement and the uncertainty of the Harriman railroad labor situation. The following were among the copper movements:

Amalgamated, yesterday's close, $57; today, $66.12½, $56.37½, $56, $55.87½, $55.75. Butte Balaklava, yesterday $4 bid, $4.50 asked; today, $4.50, $4, $4.50. Butte Coalition, yesterday, $14.75 bid, $15 asked; today, $14.62½ to $15, $14.87½, $15. Calumet & Arizona, yesterday, $49.50 bid, $50 asked; today, $50, $49 to $49.50, $49, $49.50. Giroux, yesterday, $4 bid, $4.06¼ asked; today, $4, $4.06¼. Greene Cananea, yesterday, $6 bid, $6.12½ asked; today, $6 bid, $6.12½, $6, $6.12½. North Butte, yesterday, $23.25 bid, $23.50 asked; today, $23, $23.25, $23, $23.12½, $22.75, $23.12½. Ojibway, yesterday, $5 bid, $5.25 asked; today, $5. Shattuck, yesterday, $17 bid, $18 asked; today $18 asked. Curb—Butte & Superior, yesterday and today, 92c to 94c asked. Keeting, yesterday and today, $2.75 asked.

CONFERENCE OF STATE EDUCATORS

Agricultural Education Will Be Discussed at Meeting at St. Paul.

Supt. R. E. Denfeld of the Duluth schools will attend a conference at St. Paul Sept. 22 and 23 of all educators interested in agricultural education. The object of the conference is to discuss uniformity of agricultural education in the grades and in the high schools.

Mr. Denfeld has been asked by Superintendent of Public Instruction C. G. Schulze to preside at the opening session, Friday, Sept. 22. President George E. Vincent of the University of Minnesota will give the first address.

About thirty so-called Putnam schools and fifty Benson-Lee schools are expected to be represented. The schools are so named from the bills under which they receive state aid.

There is now no uniformity of agricultural education in the state and the idea of the educators is to get the work so standardized that a more intelligent development may be made.

RANGE LEADS STATE IN SCHOOL EFFICIENCY.

The range leads the state in the efficiency of its schools, in the opinion of C. H. Barnes, superintendent of schools for District No. 12, which includes the city of Ely.

Mr. Barnes says that the schools on the range are better financed than the schools in other parts of the state, in towns of approximately the same size as the range towns, so that better salaries are paid and more efficient teachers are employed on the range. There are 140 students in the Ely high school this year, an increase of twenty-five over last year.

LOVE SONGS OF HALF A CENTURY AGO POPULAR WHERE WHITE LIGHTS GLEAM

"Silver Threads Among the Gold" Replaces "Casey Jones."

"Ben Bolt" Has Forced the Ragtime Songs Out of Favor.

A high tenor voice, a smiling, sympathetic countenance and some sentimental old-fashioned songs to use them on—that's the present day cafe "dope."

"Believe me," said the portly person who fondled a mug and glanced in the direction of the orchestra—9 to 12 nightly—"that was some song."

"Silver Threads Among the Gold" had just been teased by a mellow, perhaps over-ripe youth, with a good looking suit of clothes and a high-pitched tenor.

He sat down, although it was only a bluff—performers do that sort of thing, you know—he knew he would have to get up and give the chorus over again. Great applause greeted his efforts and they had been efforts, too, for down the young man's face there chased sparkling beads of perspiration, or was it that he put a good deal of feeling into the song?

So he got up again and gave the chorus of "Silver Threads Among the Gold" and got as part payment the generous applause of those who stay up late along with a smile when he drew his pay envelope Saturday night and the pleasant news that he could "work a week longer."

This encouraged him to dig up some more songs which were popular a generation ago. So down in the musty bottom of a pile of music in a harmony store he dug out "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms" and his future for another week was established.

"What one can do can be accomplished by another," if knock-down furniture house catalogues, literary bureaus and correspondence schools are to be believed.

So all that is necessary is an appealing high tenor—remember, it must be tenor, and high tenor at that—a smile, a fat, good-natured looking countenance, an outing suit, a humble and an appealing set of eyes and hands that can be folded at will in front of one's person, to be a cafe favorite. (Send for list of references and those who are now pleasing thousands throughout the length and width of the land).

Old Songs Popular.

Just at this time the singers have gone back a generation. Jingling sleigh bells, ragged rag time, the hesitating and the toot toot "I'm going away songs" are forced to give way to the old timers. And over mugs and spaghetti dishes the songs of a generation ago are strong with frequenters of cafes all over the country. The reason for the new enthusiasm and present day popularity of the old parlor ballads is not known unless it is that the modern stuff has proved tiresome. Then the older listeners are carried back to a time, long forgotten, and the recollections stirred seemed to be most pleasant for the old boys keep time with their feet and enthuse the younger people over the old songs.

It was only a short time ago that a cafe performer would whip out a small American flag, give an imitation of George Cohan and be a hit. It doesn't "go" now. It's the sentimental stuff of a generation back that seems to get across and warm the spectators to make popular the high tenor.

There was a time when the raggier a ragtime piece could be operated upon, the better the audience would like it. They liked it dissected and chewed up. "Chicken Wiggle," "Moses," "Sambo," "Tickled to Death" were some of them and there were others.

Then there came a class of rather cheap sentiment songs like "After the Ball," "What Drove Maggie Away," "The Poor Girl Didn't Know" and a lot of others.

Then there descended that hesitating brand of which "Naughty Eyes" is a good example. These songs were for nervous people who stutter. For a long time they stammered through them to the great delight of cafe audiences.

Somewhere between came the comic opera hits. They played to good business for a long time and even now they are brought forth for a polishing or punishment regularly.

Character Songs.

Then came the character songs. A year ago it was impossible to go into a cafe from New Rochelle to Frisco without hearing "Casey Jones" tickled on stringed instruments or the words from some lusty voiced performer. Along with Casey and "Every Little Movement" were the real red bandanna handkerchief songs. It was hot stuff to turn a coat inside out, tie a flaming wad of calico about the head and imitate some Italian workman who was in awful straits after having lost his pick or something like that. The wailing stuff was great in its day, but it won't go now. Nothing is accepted with real enthusiam outside the old-time favorites.

Hard as it is for performers to give up the stuff that gives them a chance to take their physical culture while "out in front" they have been forced to do it.

Times got rather slow down in Chicago some time ago. Business fell off. The performers did not seem to have the right line of stuff and some one happily hit back in time's flight about a generation, dragged out some of the has beens that our grandfathers liked when they were sporting around and immediately the lights seemed to get brighter, the audiences began to look alive and the waiters lost less time from the kitchen to the tables.

Chicago the Center.

Chicago is the center of the cafe entertainers and as what pleases Chicago ought to please others and it was tried out in different parts of the country.

"Ben Bolt," "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes," "Bonnie Sweet Bessie, the Maid of Dundee," "Annie Laurie," "Comin' Through the Rye," "Loch Lomond," "Spanish Cavalier," "Swanee River" and others of that period are the real tickets these days, or nights rather, for they wouldn't sound right in daylight.

Sometimes those who chirp for the amusement of the cafe frequenters will try something like "A Bird in a Gilded Cage," but it is no go.

For a time the Spanish-American war songs were unloaded with success. "The Blue and the Gray" and "Just Break the News to Mother" were features.

Then along somewhere came the parodies on the old songs and those of the near-old variety. If a performer tried that just now he would have about as much chance as a dew-drop in a certain warmer climate.

Even the Holy City is brought out now and then, and most always you are pretty sure to hear "Traumerei" (by request) if you don't get discouraged.

"We are being mauled by cafe singers. Take us home and try us over" is the sign on a music store window. And people are buying the old songs after having their memory refreshed at the cafes.

That the business of entertaining during the dinner hour and especially during the evening has grown to huge porportions is a well known fact among all hotel and cafe owners.

The business is handled for the most part by booking agencies in Chicago. The performers are kept moving about the country much the same as vaudeville performers. There are established circuits and there is always work for those who can make good. The performers are well paid, too, some of them getting as high as $50 a week. The people demand that they be entertained during their leisure hours and managers say that vaudeville amusement in the cafes is a paying proposition with them.

Duluth has three such cafes and they are all popular. The enthusiasm for old-time songs has arrived in the Zenith City.

SUPERIOR SHOT ENDS CARD GAME

Paul Davis Wounded By Negro in Resort in Superior.

Assailant Is Under Arrest—Wounds Not Regarded as Serious.

James Cummings, a negro habitue of a Third street gambling resort in Superior, shot and wounded Paul Davis, a familiar character in the lower end of town, last evening at the Golden Key club, 1209 North Third street. The place in which the shooting occurred is run by Fred Holden and has a doubtful reputation. Cummings tried to escape, but was caught in the railroad yards and was taken to jail.

Unless complications set in, Davis will recover. After the shooting, he was taken to St. Mary's hospital, where a 32-calibre bullet was removed from the right side of his abdomen. The wound was not considered as serious and Davis was later taken to his room in the Saratoga hotel.

The shooting is said to have been a culmination of a quarrel over a game of cards. Cummings, the man under arrest, is aged 51 and to the police gave his occupation as porter and claimed that his home is in Lincoln, Neb.

BLUE LODGE MASONS ARE GIVEN PATTISON PICTURE.

At a banquet last evening at the Masonic temple, Martin Pattison presented to the local blue lodge a large and costly oil portrait of himself. Fred S. Thompson made the presentation address. Judge J. B. French responded in behalf of the lodge. After the formal presentation of the picture, 200 members were served a seven-course dinner. The likeness was painted by William Patterson, a Chicago artist.

CONGRESSMAN LENROOT IS BACK FROM MINNEAPOLIS.

Congressman I. L. Lenroot returned to his home in Superior yesterday from Minneapolis, where he has been in connection with the launching of the La Follette presidential boom. Mr. Lenroot said that he was much pleased with the enthusiasm shown at the big meeting held in Minneapolis Wednesday evening under the auspices of the Progressive Republican league.

Off to Convention.

Postmaster O. K. Anderson of the Superior office left yesterday for Omaha, where he will attend the annual convention of postmasters of the United States, which will be held for four days commencing next Tuesday. Among the speakers at the convention will be the postmaster general and several of the high postal officials.

New Pastor Arrives.

Rev. Father Louis Canuel of Cyprles, Quebec, arrived in Superior this week to take up his new duties as associate pastor of the St. Louis French Catholic parish. A special mass will be held in his honor at 7 o'clock tomorrow morning. The new priest will be an assistant to Father Gagnon, an old-time friend. They worked together fourteen years ago in the province of Quebec.

Woods-Michaels.

Miss Florence E. Woods, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Woods of 1713 Seventeenth street, and Fred Michaels, traffic manager for the People's Telephone company, were married yesterday afternoon at 4:15 at the home of the bride's parents. There were no attendants. Mr. and Mrs. Michaels left on a trip down the lakes. Upon their return, they will be at home in the Broadway flats. Miss Woods was a teacher at the Peter Cooper school.

Old Chapel Sold.

The deal for the sale of the old chapel building on the Blaine school grounds to the Norwegian Evangelical Free Lutheran church by the school board was consummated yesterday. The consideration was only $200. For the past eight months, the chapel has been used for storage purposes.

INCREASE IN ENROLLMENT

Attendance for First Week Shows Gain Over Last Year.

Total Enrollment Falls Short of Figures at Close of Year.

The enrollment of the Duluth public schools at the end of the first week is 11,824, with the attendance at the Washington school estimated, and exclusive of the Fond du Lac school, which has not yet reported.

At the opening of school a year ago, the attendance was 11,361, which gives an increase this year of 463. Considering the fact that the weather has been bad all week and many of the little ones have not attended school on that account, the enrollment is very satisfactory to those in charge of the schools.

The enrollment at the close of school last June was 13,677. The fact that the opening week shows a falling off is not significant, as the enrollment falls off heavily at the opening each year and increases as the time passes. For instance last year the enrollment at the opening was 11,361 and it increased by the end of the year to 13,677, the highest enrollment in the history of the schools. At the end of the previous years, the enrollment was 13,033, giving an increase of 644 for the year.

The enrollment by schools, as far as it has been reported definitely, follows: Adams, 581; Bryant, 621; Bay View Heights, 13; Central high school, 1,039; Colbyville, 17; Ely, 418; Emerson, 401; Endion, 426; Ensign, 267; Fairmont, 386; Franklin, 670; Irving grade school, 648; Industrial high school, 170; Jefferson, 849; Jackson, 497; Kenwood, 30; Kruger, 13; Lincoln, 609; Longfellow, 525; Lakeside, 305; Lester Park, 200; Lowell, 171; Madison, 191; Monroe, 411; Nettleton, 380; Oneota, 115; Radisson, 72; Salter, 267; Stowe, 115; Smithville, 41; Washburn, 248; Webster, 112; Whittier, 128; Merritt, 288.

WANT SCHOOL REOPENED

Colbyville Residents Opposed to the Transportation of Children.

Objections Submitted to the School Board Committee at Hearing.

If the members of the board of education accede to the wishes of the people of Colbyville, the school at that suburb will be reopened this year. At a hearing held at the Colbyville school this morning by Dr. S. H. Boyer and Andrew Nelson of the committee on schools and teachers, the sentiment among the residents was strongly in favor of the reopening of the ungraded school, and some of the people present said that if the school were not reopened, they would keep their children at home rather than have them transported to the Washburn building at Hunter's Park.

After hearing the statements of the residents, the members of the school committee were inclined to the opinion that the school should be reopened. They are without power to act, however, and will report to the board at a special meeting to be held early next week.

The long, cold ride of two miles each morning and evening, the fact that the children must leave home over an hour earlier and return over an hour later, the putting up of lunches, the loss of the children's services during the daylight hours, and the crowding of children unsupervised into a closed conveyance were some of the objections offered to the transportation of children to the Washburn building.

The mothers said that they are put to a great deal of extra work in preparing the children for the ride; that the children go without warm dinners, and that the inconvenience is much too great to be offset by the advantage of the graded school.

There are seventeen children of school age outside of seven children of two families who will have their children taken to the graded school regardless of the action taken in regard to the Colbyville building. Seven of the seventeen are girls and ten boys. One child is 6, one 7, one 8, one 9, two 10, two 11, two 12, three 13, three 14, and one 16 years of age. The wide diversity of ages precludes satisfactory grading in the Colbyville school, but the residents say they are content to have the children taught as well as can be under the circumstances.

Those present at the meeting this morning were: Mrs. Flynn, Mrs. Carroll, Mrs. Murdoch, Mrs. Dougherty, Mrs. Stevenson, Mrs. Malzach and Mr. La Tour. All expressed themselves as unalterably in favor of the reopening of the Colbyville building.

In following out the plan of centralization in education, the board closed the Colbyville school last year and transported the children to the Washburn school, a distance of two miles. A closed conveyance was used and during the first part of the year, an oil stove was used to warm it. That was found unsatisfactory on account of the danger, and after it was eliminated, hot bricks were used as footwarmers. Two children had their feet frozen at different times during the winter, it was said this morning.

IMPROVEMENTS AT THE Y. M. C. A.

Nearly 30 Additional Sleeping Rooms Are Being Provided for.

The improvements which have been going on at the local Y. M. C. A. building are rapidly nearing completion. It is expected that the new rooms will be ready for occupancy by Oct. 1.

The work has been in progress about thirty days. At a cost of about $4,000, nearly thirty new rooms are being made. The changes are taking place on the first and second floors in that part of the building known as the northwest wing.

The class rooms of the night school are being arranged more conveniently, although no actual room is taken from any of them. An addition is being made to the cafe.

While more sleeping rooms are being made, no other part of the institution will suffer for room. The religious and night school departments have been added to, if anything, and the arrangement under the new plan is better, those who planned the improvements believe.

The improvements were authorized by the board of directors about a year ago.

When finally completed, the improvements will provide for more rooms as well as make the educational and religious departments more convenient, it is thought.

At the present time there are, according to Secretary Phil Bevis, applications for more than twice the number of rooms being added.

NEW YORK MAN MAKES BIG SUCCESS IN DULUTH.

James L. Hand, Jr., of New York City, who has been in Duluth for the past month conducting a sale of the jewelry stock for the Henricksen Jewelry company, has completely changed the attitude of Duluth people toward auction sales.

Under Mr. Hand's able management the sale has been a great success. During the progress of the sale it has, at times, been a hard matter to get into the store, so great have been the crowds.

Before Mr. Hand's coming Duluth people were inclined to look with suspicion on a jewelry sale conducted by auction. By his courteous, frank and obliging manner, combined with his honesty and fair dealing, this feeling has been changed entirely.

After his phenomenal success in this city Mr. and Mrs. Hand will leave Wednesday for their home in New York.

Want Larger Annuity.

Depere, Wis., Sept. 9.—The Oneida Indians have declined an offer of the federal government to give them a lump sum of $20,000 in full settlement of the annuity of $1,000 which they have been receiving under the treaty of Nov. 11, 1794, with the Six Nations. They have retained an attorney to press their claim for $1,300.

WHEAT MAKES SLIGHT GAIN

Dealers Still Conservative as Reciprocity Is Not Yet Settled.

Most of News Received During Session Is Bullish.

Duluth Board of Trade, Sept. 9.—Many bullish influences were at work on the wheat market today, and yet there were no sensational fluctuations either up or down, though the general tendency was clearly upwards. Dealers do not seem to like to take any radical steps just now, for nobody can tell whether the reciprocity treaty is going to let the Canadian wheat, rush over the border to get the higher American prices.

The government crop report was a decidedly bullish factor. Many of the brokers declared it to be more so than any report of the kind they had seen for a long time. It had the natural effect of resulting in strong openings for wheat in all markets. Foreign cables were higher. There were reports of frost in Canada, especially in the region of Swifth Current. An announcement came from Oregon to the effect that China and Japan were buying more American flour than they ever did before, and there was no sign of a let-up in the orders. All these were bullish factors, but still the market was conservative. Duluth September which closed at $1.04¼ asked yesterday, opened today at $1.04⅛ bid and later rose to $1.04¾, at which price it closed, but that was the highest point it reached.

Flax took another slump. There were big declines in September, October, November and December flax. Duluth October, which closed yesterday at $2.38, opened today at the same figure asked, but later slumped to $2.25 asked. It closed at $2.26. The cause was not far to seek. There were heavier flax offerings on the market today than there has been at any time this fall. The new crop is coming in. Today Duluth had seven carloads of newly inspected flax on the track, against three on the corresponding day last year.

CHICAGO MARKET.

Wheat Futures Turn Upward on Crop Report.

Chicago, Sept. 9.—With the spring wheat crop officially reported as the smallest since 1900, the market for futures today took an upward turn. The bulls noticed in particular that the yield in the three most important Northwestern states had turned out to be less by 2,000,000 bu than in the black rust year of 1904. In addition, Liverpool regarded the Moroccan affair as still a threatening factor. It was also said that exporters were buying wheat heavily in Oregon. Opening prices were ⅛@⅞c higher, December started at 97⅝@97c to 97⅜c, a gain of ⅜c to ½@⅝c, touched 97@97½c, and rallied to 97⅜c.

Continued absence of Russian offers led to a further advance. The close was steady with December at 97⅜c, a net gain of ⅞@1c.

The bullish character of the government report on corn gave that cereal quite a life. Continued agitation for the suspension of duties in both France and Germany had an influence in the same direction. December opened ⅞@⅞c to ¾c up at 64c to 64⅛@64⅜c, reacted to 63⅞@64c, and rallied to 64¼@64¾c.

Thereafter the market hardened a trifle more and closed steady with December ¾c up at 64¼@64⅜c.

Oats derived firmness from the fact that the hay crop is nearly 15,000,000 tons short. December started ⅛@¼c to ⅜@⅝c higher at 40⅝@40¾c, fell back to 40c, and again rose to 40¾c.

Good commission buying strengthened provisions. Initial sales were the same as last night to 5c higher, with January delivery at $16.17½ to $16.20 for pork, $9.40 to $9.42½ for lard, and $8.45 for ribs.

Renewal of Heavy Selling Causes New Low Records in Year.

Recovery Is Interrupted By Fresh Break in Canadian Pacific.

New York, Sept. 9.—A renewal of heavy selling at the opening of the market today sent prices tumbling downward. Many stocks made new low records for the year, including Missouri Pacific, with a drop of 1¼, Lehigh Valley, Northern Pacific, Brooklyn Rapid Transit and Amalgamated Copper 1, Reading ¾ and Southern Pacific ⅝. Canadian Pacific, following its heavy decline in the London market, fell back 3⅜.

A fitful fractional rally provoked fresh selling, and the market surged downward to a still lower level. Active stocks, almost without exception, sold from a fraction to a point below the previous low level of the year. United States Steel bore the brunt of the selling for a time, and when it declined to 67¼ the remainder of the list succumbed readily.

The market closed unsettled. Reading had sold 2 points below yesterday's close and the active list generally 1 to 1½ before the usual Saturday covering movement attained sufficient volume to bring about a rally. The recovery was interrupted by a fresh break in Canadian Pacific, sending it down to 218, which was 6 points below last night and 29 under the highest of the year. Later on the list stiffened again but prices continued to sag in spots, Northern Pacific falling to 114, Amalgamated Copper to 55¾ and Lehigh Valley to 154, all new records.

Midway Horse Market.

Minnesota Transfer, St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 9.—Barrett & Zimmerman report: Trade continues active in tone, and numerous good sales were booked. Good, blocky, 1,400-pound draft mares are in demand. The heavy rains have caused a good crop of grass and hay and farmers in the dry belt are less inclined to sell their horses than a mouth ago, with the result that the prices are more firm. Shipments were made to Clouquet and Newfolden, Minn; Bibon and Superior, Wis.

Cotton Market.

New York, Sept. 9.—The cotton market opened steady at 3 points lower to 1 point higher. There was only a moderate local trade at the opening, with rather a bearish feeling among speculators owing to the poor cables and generally favorable news from the belt. Most of the forenoon was given over to awaiting some action by the leading bull traders, who did not seem disposed to renew their support. The promise of a big and early movement was the main bearish factor.

Futures closed barely steady. Closing bids: September, 11.60; October, 11.35; November, 11.39; December, 11.49; January, 11.46; February, 11.50; March, 11.57; April, 11.60; May, 11.67; June, 11.66; July, 11.65. Spot closed quiet, 10 points higher. Middling uplands, 12.00; middling gulf, 12.25. No sales.

PLAY POSTPONED TOURNAMENT

Weather Permitting, Labor Day Tennis Program Will Be Held.

If the rain lets up this afternoon the postponed Labor day doubles tournament will be played at the Spirit Lake courts this week end. The courts have been kept covered all week and the first few hours of sunshine will put them in condition for play.

The draw in the tournament is as follows:

Stillman and Gidding against Sullivan and Kreidler; Wurtele and Measer against Barnes and B. Gravatt; Ames and Grimm against Deighton and W. Gravatt; Robinson and Kincaid against Cheney and Cerf; Trott and Lowrie against McGregor and Baker; Gall and Matzke against Ketchum and Bjorkquist; Falk and Fuller against Ingalls and Clarke; Libby and Marshall against Craig and Wall.

WHITNEY WINS TENNIS TITLE

Harvard Man Gains Easy Victory Over His Yale Opponent.

Philadelphia, Sept. 9.—E. H. Whitney of Harvard today won the intercollegiate lawn tennis championship in singles by defeating in the final round A. H. Mann, Jr., of Yale on the courts of the Merion Cricket club at Haverford. The scores were 6-1, 6-2, 6-2.

Whitney's victory was an easy one and not expected. His win makes Harvard a tie with Pennsylvania with six points each for the championship trophy. It takes seven points to gain pennant possession.

The final round in the doubles championship will be played this afternoon between Tiffit and Kuhn of Princeton and Mathey and Butler of the same institution.

STUDENT PERFECT IN MEASUREMENTS

The University of California Produces a Wonderful Physical Specimen.

Berkeley, Cal., Sept. 9.—Physical perfection equal to that of the ancient Greeks is ascribed to C. H. A. McKim, a 20-year-old freshman at the University of California. Although but 5 feet 8 inches in height and 148 pounds in weight, McKim in his strength test for football practice registered higher than any other member of the freshman class.

Prof. W. A. Magee, the university physical culturist, speaks of McKim as approximating the academic standard for the perfect physical man.

The requirement for eligibility in athletics is a strength test totaling 650 kilograms. McKim's test was 1,133 kilograms, nearly twice as much. Only three other freshmen made above 1000 in their test.

The lad's athletic record in Pomona high school shows that he is not a specialist, but that coveted prize, an all-round athlete. He was captain of the football team during his last year.

MACK SCOUTS ON THE CORNER LOTS

Boston, Mass., Sept. 9.—Connie Mack entered town the other day, and while on his way to the ball park saw a number of youngsters playing on a sand lot. It was one of the uncountable junior organizations that abound in the Hub, but it mattered not to the astute leader of the Athletics. While seemingly he did not pay any attention to the players, yet he was interested enough to note what the pitcher was doing. He was a youngster below the legal age, but he was splendidly developed. That night the youth was sought out by a representative of Connie's and he and both the sand lotter and his parents were affixing their John Hancock's to contracts.

Capt. Harry Davis of the world's champions is the author of the story, and it has been backed up by a scribe accompanying the team. It was pointed out that Mack gains some of his most famous players in the vicinity of Massachusetts. He picked up Stuffy McInness from off a wharf at Gloucester, Jack Barry from off a college campus at Worcester and Cy Coombs from off a Maine farm at Kennebec. These are but a few of the stars secured hereabouts. It's just the opposite with John I. Taylor. Nearly all his players come from the Pacific coast or Texas. It has been said that he would not look at a player this side of the Pacific coast. While he has been gathering a few stars, after much time and effort, not to say money, Connie Mack has stood on the threshold of his native city and had unrecognized stars literally fired at him.

It is said that the youngster secured by Connie gives ample evidence of developing into a crack pitcher. He has been pitching on a number of teams in this vicinity, and has gained considerable local fame.

EMERSON WINS.

Seagirt Championship Medal Goes to an Ohio Man.

Seagirt, N. J., Sept. 9.—The Seagirt championship match, the principal match event of this, the final day of the twenty-first annual Seagirt Shooting tournament, was won by Capt. Guy H. Emerson of Ohio with a total of 190 out of a possible 200.

The match was in individual squaded competition open to everybody, the use of any military rifle and any ammunition being permissible. The distances were 200, 600, 900 and 1,000 yards, ten shots by each competitor at each distance. The winner received the Seagirt championship medal presented by Gov. Woodrow Wilson.

TIGERS LEAD IN AMERICAN

Chicago, Sept. 9.—Detroit and Philadelphia are leading the American league in club batting, the former having an average of .297 and the Athletics being second with .293.

Ty Cobb figures at the top of more than one list. Besides being the best batter with an average of .420, he is the best base stealer, run-getter and heavy slugger. As a base purloiner he averages .57, while Calahan of Chicago, with .39, is second. Cobb's average for run-getting is 1.03, while Jackson of Cleveland, holds second place with an average of .93. Cobb has made 39 two-baggers, 19 three-baggers and 7 home runs, his extra bases numbering 98.

Joe Jackson of Cleveland is running close to Cobb, having made 36 two-base hits.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE—

A mortgage, with a power of sale, was made by Nels Carlson, a widower, as Mortagor, to F. H. Doer, as Mortgagee, dated the 23rd day of September, 1909, and recorded in the office of Register of Deeds of St. Louis County, Minnesota, on the 14th day of May, 1910, at 9:30 o'clock A. M., in Book 274 of Mortgages, on page 263.

Default has been made in the conditions, agreements and covenants of said mortgage and there is claimed to be due and is due the subscriber at the date of this notice upon the said mortgage, in principal, interest and taxes paid, the sum of One Hundred Ninety and 65-100 Dollars ($190.65), and no action or proceeding has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now, Therefore, Notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and of the statute in such case made and provided, said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the mortgaged premises described therein and hereinafter described, to satisfy the amount which shall at the date of sale be due on said mortgage, together with the costs and expenses of said sale, as allowed by law, the taxes paid by the subscriber, and the further sum of Twenty-five Dollars ($25.00) as an attorney's fee, which is agreed in said mortgage to be paid in case of foreclosure. Said sale will be made at the main front door of the Court House, facing on Fifth Avenue West, in the City of Duluth, St. Louis County, Minnesota, on Saturday the 30th day of September, 1911, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, by the sheriff of said St. Louis County, at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash.

The premises described in said mortgage and so to be sold are situated in the County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota, and are known and described as follows:

All of the Southwest Quarter (SW.¼) of the Southwest Quarter (SW.¼) of Section Fourteen (14), the East Half (E.½) of the Southeast Quarter (SE.¼) of Section Fifteen (15), and the Northeast Quarter (NE.¼) of the Northeast Quarter (NE.¼) of Section Twenty-two (22), all in Township Fifty-seven (57) North of Range Twelve (12) West of 4th P. M. in said County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota.

Dated this 11th day of August 1911.

UPRIGHT AND HONEST POLITICIANS THE RULE, ASSERTS CHAMP CLARK

Democratic Speaker Says Most Public Men Are Patriotic.

Protests Against Loose Talk of Corruption in Public Life.

Pike County Gives Warm Welcome Home to the Speaker.

Louisiana, Mo., Sept. 11.—Prefacing an address in which he dealt with vital problems facing the American people, Speaker Champ Clark told his friends and neighbors something of the struggles of his early days and the ties which bound him to Missouri soil.

He told of starting his Missouri experience by teaching school thirty-six years ago, and said:

"I came to Louisiana, Mo., on $10, borrowed the first time I ever saw him, from Judge H. H. Priest, now an eminent lawyer of St. Louis, and then struggling along as city attorney of Moberly. And that is not the last time I have borrowed from Missourians."

Warming to his subject, the speaker made a plea for more politics and more politicians, and forcefully asserted that upright and honest politicians are the rule, and not the exception in America.

"It is constantly asserted by the unthinking that we have too much politics and too many politicians," said the speaker. "When we reflect that the word 'politics,' in its higher and nobler sense, means the science of government, we must concede that the more politics we have, the better, for government affects the happiness and prosperity of every resident between the two oceans, and, therefore, we should all strive to make our governments, national, state and municipal, as nearly perfect as any human institution can be.

Not Enough Politicians.

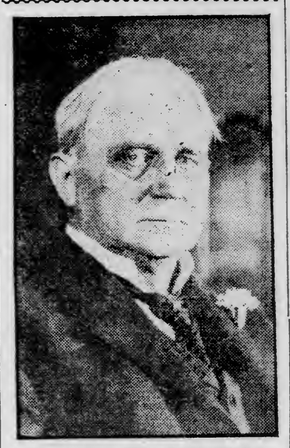

"Instead of there being too many politicians, there are not enough. In a country whose institutions are based upon popular suffrage, every man should be a politician, and every man owes a portion of his time, energy and talents to the service of the state. I do not mean by that that every man should run for office. That is a poor business at best—poor when you succeed—inexpressibly poor when you fail, have been tried by both extremes of fortune and speak by the card on that subject.

"What I do mean is that every citizen should, so far as in him lies, study the problems which confront us, and help, so far as he can, to solve them for the betterment of government, the improvement of society, and the perpetuity of the republic. If needs be, he should become a candidate for office as a duty to his country and his kind. Truth to tell, it requires but little coaxing to induce the average citizen to run for office.

"It is the duty of every citizen to attend both the primaries and the general election to the end that good and capable men may be selected. The man who fails to do that, except for valid reasons, falls short of living up to his privileges and of assuming his fair

CLAIMS ARE ENORMOUS

Germany's Reply to French Proposals Received Unpleasantly at Paris.

Wants All German Claims to Concessions in Morocco Recognized.

Paris, Sept. 11.—The nature of Germany's reply to the proposals submitted by France with the idea of reaching an agreement regarding the Moroccan problem, has affected French government circles unpleasantly.

Germany's counter-proposals were received in Paris Saturday night and it was decided to refer them to specialists on Moroccan questions. When the specialists have formed an opinion, Premier Caillaux will lay the whole matter before the cabinet for decision.

Germany asks, it appears, that every claim of German subjects to concessions in Morocco shall be recognized by France and that no new enterprise shall be started under the French protectorate without being internationalized equally.

The claims of German subjects, particularly those of Mannesmann Brothers, and speculative companies organized by them, are enormous.

The German terms also ask for a free hand in Morocco with conditions that would, according to the French view, deprive France of all her advantages, and would give Germany privileges in Morocco beyond those of any power, even France.

Will Not Be Accepted.

There seems no likelihood of the

FOUR INJURED IN FOG IN CHICAGO

Due to Collisions Between Street Cars and Vehicles.

Chicago, Sept. 11.—A heavy fog, described by the local weather bureau as the worst Chicago has experienced in years, lifted this morning after hanging over the city for twelve hours and causing serious interruption of all kinds of traffic. Steam railroads, street cars and lake boats were compelled to use the utmost caution in their movements. In many outlying parts of the city women telephoned the police stations for patrolmen to act as escorts, the women being afraid to venture on the way home alone.

Four persons were injured as a result of collisions between street cars and vehicles. The injured:

John Lavin, 30 years old, back wrenched and three ribs broken; Mrs. Lillian Cramer, 24 years old, hip dislocated and fingers crushed; William Jennings, 32 years old, severely bruised and injured internally; Tarlaf Thomson, 18, arm broken and back injured.

THREE HUNDRED DYING DAILY OWING TO FLOODS.

Shanghai, Sept. 11.—The Yangste Kiang river is forty-five miles wide at places. The floods cover a territory 700 miles in extent. Seventy thousand survivors surround Nankin, where 300 aer dying daily.

Similar distressing details are being received from many places.

It is feared that the water will not subside before the middle of October. The floods this year were unusually early and caught the crops before they had matured.

BIG VOTE BEING POLLED IN MAINE

Ideal Weather for Election on the Prohibition Amendment.

Portland, Me., Sept. 11.—Maine's fame as the pioneer prohibition state of the Union is swaying in the balance today.

With ideal election day weather, there was every indication that the vote on the Constitutional amendment would be unusually large in all sections.

Simultaneously with the opening of the polls this morning prayer meetings, which were to continue without cessation throughout the day, opened in many of the city churches.

If the license interests are successful today there is said to be every possibility that Governor Plaisted may be prevailed upon to call a special session of the legislature to take action on the repeal of the statute law, which in effect is the same as the Constitutional amendment and the enactment of any law for the regulation of the liquor business.

A local option law such as prevails in Massachusetts is what the license advocates seek. In the regular course of events the matter would not come up before the legislature until January, 1913, when the complexion of the state government might be much different than that of the present body.

In addition to the prohibitory law the people are casting their ballots on three other referendum questions—two of them have to do with amending the constitution, one to make Augusta forever the capital of the state, and the other to raise the debt limit of cities of over 40,000 from 5 to 7½ per cent, which affects Portland alone.

The third question has to do with the adoption of a state-wide direct primary law which was initiated by petition of 15,000 voters.

PERSIAN PENTECOST MISSION RAIDED AGAIN.

Chicago, Sept. 11.—Police raided the Persian Pentecost mission in North Clark street early today and arrested six men and seven women. Later two of the women, who were carrying babies in their arms, were released. The others were booked on a disorderly charge. This was the second time in a month the police have raided the place on complaint of residents who declare that the shouting of the worshipers keeps them awake at night.

CONDITIONS IN FAVOR OF CONSUMERS

Cost of Living Not Likely to Increase During Winter.

Prices Higher in Some Instances But Lower in Others.

Sugar Has Reached Highest Point in Twelve Years.

New York, Sept. 11.—While thousands are starving in China, and France is being torn with riots in protest against the high cost of food, there is renewed attention in this country to the fact that sugar has reached its highest point in twelve years, that coffee is soaring, and potatoes are selling as high as $1.10 a bushel in the field.

In view of this householders are asking themselves:

"Will this winter see a recurrence of the conditions of 1909-10, when the cost of living reached its apex and declined slowly only after many so-called boycotts against meat and other high priced commodities were declared throughout the land?"

To this question economic experts seen here today answer no. Prices will be higher, they say, in some instances above those of last winter, but they add that the man who sets his table with plain every-day fare, avoiding fancy brands and near-luxuries, may await the approach of cold weather without undue anxiety.

It is pointed out that, generally speaking, with the exception of coffee, sugar, potatoes and a few canned vegetables, the present month of September was ushered in with conditions more favorable to the consumer than was the case a year ago.

Pork and Lard Higher.

On Sept. 1 mess pork was quoted at $19 a barrel, wholesale, as against $24 on the same date in 1910; the wholesale price of ham is a little more than

THOUSANDS GO BACK TO WORK

Eighty-Five Thousand Resume in New England Textile Industry.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 11. — Nearly 25,000 persons engaged in the New England textile industry resumed work today after various periods of idleness due to a pronounced policy of curtailment. Within eight days 85,000 textile operatives in the New England states have been called to their machines.

ILLINOIS CENTRAL MEN WILL SOON LEARN IF STRIKE IS TO OCCUR

NEW PRESIDENT OF THE ORDER OF ELKS

JOHN PATRICK SULLIVAN

Of New Orleans, Elected National President of the Elks at the Recent Meeting in Atlantic City.

Action Depends Upon Decision of Machinists' Executive Board.

Shop Employes Reported to Be Eager to Walk Out.

Persistent Report That Machinists Will Not Sanction Strike.

Chicago, Sept. 11.—"We are going to let the Illinois Central shop employes know before the day is over what the machinists will do with relation to the proposed strike," declared P. J. Conlon, first vice-president of the International Association of Machinists, today.

"I expect a message from our international executive board which went into session this morning at Davenport. We are not going to fool with this matter any longer. The board will decide whether the machinists are to sanction this strike or not.

"As soon as definite action is taken I will be notified, and I will immediately communicate with the members of the international conference committee representing the nine trades."

Vice-President Conlon would express no conviction as to what the action of the machinists' executive board would be, but the persistent report is that it will be unfavorable to the shop employes, who are eager to strike.

In a Quandary.

Members of the committee of the system federation of shop employes of the Illinois Central railroad were in a

GETS $50,000 IN WEDDING FEES

Record Made By Episcopal Rector in New Orleans.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 11.—That the ministry is sometimes a paying proposition from a financial standpoint of view is borne out that from the fact that from wedding fees alone, in his twenty-seven years as rector of Trinity Episcopal church of this city, Rev. A. Gordon Bakewell has taken in $50,000. Rev. Mr. Bakewell's statistics show that during his pastorate here he has performed 1,036 wedding ceremonies for which he received an average fee of $5. He has baptized 1,099 babies and has officiated at 2,001 funerals.

STATIONARY ENGINEERS MEET AT CINCINNATI.

Cincinnati, O., Sept. 11.—Over 1,500 delegates to the twenty-ninth annual convention of the National Association of Stationary Engineers, which opens here tomorrow, are expected to arrive today. President Carl S. Pearse of Denver, arrived last night.

A feature of the convention will be an exhibit at Music hall by the national exhibitors' association which was thrown open to the public today.

DULUTH TRAIN IN A COLLISION

No One Hurt in Accident at Crystal Lake, Ill.

Chicago, Sept. 11.—Two railroad wrecks, due to the fog, occurred on the Wisconsin division of the Chicago & Northwestern. A Duluth train collided with a local at Crystal Lake as the local was pulling from a siding onto the main track. No one was hurt. A half hour later, the wreck train on its way to Crystal Lake was run into by a Chicago local. The engineer of the wreck train was killed and six of the crew injured.

ANDREW SAMAM OF VIRGINIA IS FOUND MURDERED AT EMO

Body Had Been Dragged By Feet Until Wedged Between Trees.

Small Amount of Money and Papers Found on the Body.

No Clew Yet Discovered as to Identity of the Murderer.

Emo, Ont., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—A man about 27 years of age was found dead about six miles east of this place about 6 o'clock Saturday night by Roland Tibbs, son of a farmer living near the place of the shooting, while out in search of a colt that had strayed away. He at once went home and told his father, who immediately notified Mr. Bethume and Constable J. P. Kelly, who left yesterday for the scene of the tragedy. The motive for the shooting is hard to fathom, as money to the amount of $1 and change, together with other personal belongings and papers of identification, were found on his person.

One letter found gave his name as Andrew Samam and address 21 East Oak street, Virginia, Minn. Another letter bearing the same name, addressed to Fort Frances, Ont., was also among his belongings. President Thomas McDonald of the Merchants & Shippers' association accompanied the coroner and sheriff to the place of the tragedy, who, after learning the address of the unfortunate young man, notified the chief of police at Virginia, which will in all probability materially assist in further identification of the victim.

Shot Through Head.

The body was found about 100 yards south of the Canadian Northern right-of-way. At the preliminary examination it was found he had been shot through the head at close range by a large caliber revolver. Shells of a .32 Smith & Wesson type were found in the pocket of his trousers, but careful search failed to locate the weapon with which the dastardly crime had been committed. It is evident the man had a chum with him, who, it is thought, fired the fatal shot, as the body was found fifty feet from where he was shot, having been dragged by the feet until the body became wedged between two trees, indicating the murderer had either become frightened at hearing some noise or considered he had his victim far enough into the woods where the body would soon be devoured by the various animals of the woods.

A small lapel button, bearing the emblem of the Workers of the World, commonly known as a Socialist emblem, was found in his vest pocket. It is said two shots, fired in rapid succession, were heard about 2 o'clock by residents of Devlin, a small village some two miles east of where the tragedy occurred. No clew to the murderer has been obtained. The body was brought to Emo, where a post mortem examination is being held.

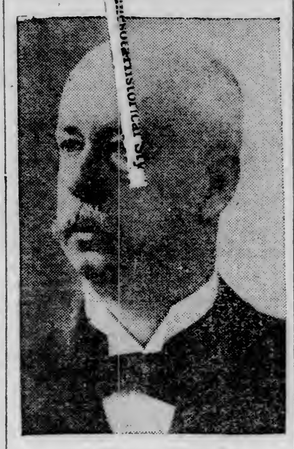

Not Known By Police.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—The chief of police has received a message from Devlin, Ont., saying Andrew Samam of Virginia was murdered in the woods west of Devlin. The officials here know nothing concerning the man referred to, but are investigating.

THE UP-TO-DATE MAZEPPA.

MELLEN DENIES HE IS TO LEAVE NEW HAVEN

CHARLES S. MELLEN.

Portland, Me., Sept. 11.—President C. S. Mellen of the New York, New Haven & Hartford, today denied that he intended to retire as the head of the company, when shown a New Haven dispatch to that effect upon his arrival in this city today. Mr. Mellen said: "No such announcement has ever been made and no step of this nature is in contemplation."

MURDERED FOR MONEY

Sheep-Herder Is Found Dead in Wagon at Marmarth, N. D.

Pockets Are Rifled of $300 He Had the Previous Night.

Marmarth, N. D., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—With a bullet wound in one shoulder and with his pockets rifled of about $300 which he was known to have had on his person the night previous, Thomas H. Corcoran, a sheep herder, was found dead in his wagon here. Two suspects, Bert Gass and Tom Carberry, seen in the vicinity of the crime scene on the night previous, have been placed under arrest, one of the men having a gunshot wound in the thigh which he is unable to explain.

Corcoran, a former telegraph operator in this region, had been engaged as a sheep herder for only a short time and had just returned from Aberdeen S. D. where he had taken a drove of sheep for his employer.

His sheep wagon was located in a lonely spot and he went to it on the evening of his return to the city, drawing about $300 at a local bank during the afternoon. About 11 o'clock at night several shots were heard but no investigation was made and the murder was not discovered till the following morning, when his employer went to call him for breakfast.

In his wagon Corcoran also had a dog, and the canine had been shot in the head.

LOST IN CLOUDS IN HIS BIPLANE

Capt. Beck's Craft Rocked Like Boat in Rough Sea.

Washington, Sept. 11.—Capt. Paul M. Beck of the army aviation school at College Park, Md., told yesterday of his remarkable experience Saturday when he became lost in the clouds in his biplane while flying from College Park to Annapolis. The young aviator, who was about 1,400 feet in the air, suddenly found himself enveloped in a dark cloud.

The pressure of air currents was such that Capt. Beck's craft rocked as does a boat in a rough sea and he was seized with a feeling akin to seasickness. He felt himself losing all control of the machine which descended rapidly for about 700 feet. This brought him out of the cloud, when he had no difficulty in recovering his equilibrium.

IMPROVED ORDER OF RED MEN IN SESSION.

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 11.—The sixty-fourth great sun session, the national meeting of the Improved Order of Red Men opened here today with 250 delegates present. An open session this morning, with addresses of welcome by Vice-Mayor Walker, Chloe Forschner, great pocahontas of the Daughter of Pocahontas, and others, social affairs this afternoon and degree-conferring sessions this evening, constituted the day's program. The meeting continues until Thursday.

Woman Found Murdered in Chicago and Police Hold Husband.

Chicago, Sept. 11.—With black marks on her throat, indicating that she may have been choked to death, the body of Mrs. Jennie Mozinski, 36 years old, was found today in her home in the southwest section of the city. Joseph Mozinski, 38 years old, husband of the woman, is being held by the police pending further investigation of the crime.

One of the front windows of the house was open and the woman's savings of $64, which she kept in a stocking, were missing. The husband denied all knowledge of his wife's death, and said he believed burglars entered the house during the night and killed her.

AVIATOR SAVED BY MAIL BAGS

Machine Crashed to Earth and Hubert's Legs Are Broken.

London, Sept. 11.—Hubert, one of the aviators of the aerial postal service inaugurated by the British post-office last Saturday, met with an accident this morning and only the mail-bags, which the flying postman was carrying from Hendon to Windsor Castle, probably saved him from an almost certain death.

Hubert had just got away from Hendon with 200 pounds of mail when the machinery went wrong and the machine crashed to the earth, burying the aviator under a mass of debris.

Hubert's legs were broken and he suffered other injuries, but the mail-bags on top of him acted as a buffer and saved him from being crushed to death by the weight of the machine.

COLLEGE MAN SPENDING HIS VACATION TALKING SOCIALISM

T. E. Lattimer, A. M., a graduate of two state universities and a college man who spends his summer vacations lecturing in the cause of Socialism, will speak Friday evening, Sept. 15, at Victor hall, 5528 Grand avenue.

"Socialism and the Labor Problem," will be Mr. Lattimer's theme. It is said to be a stirring lecture and masterfully handled by the speaker. The address will be held under the auspices of the West Duluth Socialists and admission is free.

Mr. Lattimer was raised on a farm. He also worked in the western mines and was imprisoned in the Idaho "Bull Pen" with his comrades. He is said to be a speaker and organizer of labor, surpassed by few in the lecture field.

Ladies are especially requested to be present at the lecture.

T. E. LATTIMER.

FIVE SHOTS "RENT THE AIR"

But Nobody "Bit the Dust" and Police Went Home.

Five pistol shots frightened a neighborhood, brought a policeman to the scene and broke up a beer party, early Sunday morning at a West Duluth boarding house. No one was injured and no arrests were made.

The scene of the rumpus was at 118 South Fifty-sixth avenue west, a place conducted by Emil Stanley. Several of the boarders, it is claimed, were intoxicated and the gun play followed in the back yard.

When Sergeant Barber of the West Duluth police arrived the excitement had calmed and no one would give any information as to who was responsible for the shooting.

AUTO KILLS HIS DOG; MAY SUE FOR DAMAGES.

Andrew Colin of 2915 Oneota street came to the police with the complaint that an automobile had run over and killed a valuable water spaniel owned by Colin. Colin claimed that the machine was being driven at a high rate of speed and that the driver did not stop after the accident. Colin told the police that he would sue to collect damages.

Hanson Will Recover.

George Hanson, who was injured at West Duluth last week by falling from the top of a pile driver, a distance of forty feet, will recover, according to a statement given out at St. Mary's hospital in Superior where he is confined. Hanson is a loftsman employed by Whitney Bros., and lives at 1507 Fourth street, Superior. It was thought at first that his injuries were fatal.

FORMER MERCHANT DIES IN ST. PAUL

Louis Mark, Once Engaged in Business at West Duluth, Expires.

News comes from St. Paul of the death there last week of Louis Mark, aged 60, a former West Duluth business man. Mrs. M. B. Abrahamson of 608 North Fifty-seventh avenue west, a daughter, returned yesterday from St. Paul after attending the funeral.

Mr. Mark conducted a furniture business on Central avenue for nine years and had many friends in the western end of the city. Prior to his coming to West Duluth, he resided five years in Virginia. He left West Duluth six years ago to reside in St. Paul.

Besides his daughter, Mrs. Abrahamson of West Duluth, Mr. Mark is survived by four sons and two daughters. They are: Mose, Max, Lazarus and Harry, all of St. Paul and Mrs. Mayme Goldberg and Miss Mary Mark, also of St. Paul.

OPENING OF NEW STORE

Luery & Company Make Their Bow to Duluth Women.

The hundreds of visitors who attended the opening of Luery & Co.'s new store at 17 East Superior street Saturday, were charmed with the beautiful fittings in the new shop and with the fine lines of goods which are offered.

The articles of women's and misses' wearing apparel which are displayed are of the finest quality, newest designs, and are well and artistically made to suit the most exacting taste. H. H. Luery has recently returned from a buying trip planned especially for making this opening day a success, and the display of suits, cloaks, dresses, millinery ornaments and furs made a good showing.

The store was thronged all day with shoppers and those who went out of curiosity in the opening of a new store were greatly impressed with the value of the goods shown.

The shop is beautifully fitted out with rich mahogany finishings, green carpets and numerous electrical fixtures which brilliantly light the interior.

As a souvenir of the opening, Luery & Co., presented each visitor with a carnation.

TWENTY RIOTERS KILLED IN BATTLE

Soldiers Also Fall in Turbulent Province of China.

Washington, Sept. 11.—Blood has been spilled in Sze-Chuen, the turbulent province of China, and the situation has grown rapidly in seriousness. Over twenty rioters and a number of soldiers have been killed in battle during the past few days, resulting from attacks of the infuriated and dissatisfied natives. This reached the state department today.

The gravity of the conditions and the fearful possibilities of the mammoth uprising has brought the central government of China to a quick decision to suppress the trouble with a strong hand. On Thursday the ringleaders of the agitation were arrested by the viceroy of the province. This inflamed their followers and resulted in a vicious attack upon the Yanuen by the mob. The soldiers on guard fired into the rioters, killing some twenty of them. The mob returned and made an assault on the viceroy's residence, slew a number of the troops.

The reports to the state department indicate that the American women and children have already left Cheng-Tu under escort and it is thought that others also have departed.

FARMER'S BOY AVERTS WRECK

Warns Omaha Passenger Train of Washout Near Mendota, Minn.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Eugene Labbey, 17 years old, a farmer boy, this morning saved train No. 2 of the Omaha road from Omaha from running into a washout near Mendota. The washout was caused by the cloudburst at an early hour.

The danger point was behind a short curve, and the lad ran for a quarter of a mile before he was at a point where he could stop the train and prevent loss of life.

The train left Omaha an hour late and was running fast to make up time, when the engineer caught sight of the boy's red bandana danger signal. Because of the washout the train had to be detoured and did not reach St. Paul until 12 o'clock.

The passengers on the diner took up a collection and forwarded to the boy $10.70 and a set of resolutions thanking him for his forethought.

WILL BACK TAFT AGAIN

Roosevelt Will Be Behind President in 1912, Says Miller.

Does Not Attach Much Importance to Attack on Treaties.

"Theodore Roosevelt will be backing Taft for the presidency next year," said Congressman Clarence B. Miller this morning. "I know what I am talking about when I say that, and you can bet your last dollars that it is a fact.

"I do not attach any importance to T. R's recent attack on the arbitration treaties. Everyone who knows Theodore knows that he would rather have peace after a war than before it. That Outlook editorial is a mere expression of the Rooseveltian point of view, and that is not in favor of peace by a long ways.

"Personally, I regard the arbitration treaties as the greatest step toward universal peace in the history of the world. They are not perfect, but, being the first things of their kind ever attempted you cannot expect perfection. They are carefully drawn by men who are just as good statesmen as the ex-president could hope to be, and while they have their defects I think they are most desirable arrangements."

Congressman Miller does not expect that Woodrow Wilson will be the Democratic candidate next year, but thinks that Champ Clark, even though he comes from "below the line" is the strongest man. Mr. Miller says that the only political organization in working order in New York today is the Tammany ring and that the tiger will never support Wilson. With Harmon in the contest from Ohio, Wilson cannot hope to carry the delegation from that state, and without one of these two delegations in his camp, Mr. Miller does not think that Wilson stands much chance in the convention fight. He also thinks that Clark would make a better run in next year's election than would the New Jersey governor.

Congressman Miller stated that the recent Wiley-Wilson controversy was regarded with general regret at Washington, as Wilson stands very high, and Wiley has everybody for his friend.

"I regard Wiley's work for the country in his department as inestimable. The doctor is somewhat erratic and about once in 100 times he fails to hit the nail on the head. His opponents have seized on the one-hundredth time. Wilson is really not involved but was dragged into the fight between Wiley and McCabe as head of the department. We are awaiting the report of that committee with great interest. It is a well selected, careful, non-partisan committee and will make a comprehensive report."

Congressman Miller said that he regarded this as the only investigation which did not have a political motive for its origin, in an attempt to discredit the administration.

Taft's Veto.

Mr. Miller regards Taft's veto of the wool bill as justifiable. Speaking in this connection, he said:

"I expected to see a great storm of disapproval sweep over the country at the news of the president's vetoes, but it is not nearly so intense as I had expected. While I think from the president's point of view the act was justified, I can see reasons for public disapproval. Taft's Winona speech, where he condemned the wool schedule, is ringing in the people's ears still. His veto does not look consistent with it.

"But a failure to veto this bill would have resulted in a number of tariff measures being pushed through in hurry-up style. Representative Cooper of Wisconsin, a leader of the progressives, voted against the measure. He said he did so because he had investigated the work of the tariff commission and found it so thorough, so comprehensive, and so wisely planned that he believed that tariff action should come only after the report of the committee in December. I voted for the bills vetoed by the president, but, with Mr. Cooper, I can see much in his views.

"If, as a result of the committee's report, and of a good, strong presidential message in December, we get a revision of the tariff, the vetoes will either be forgotten or pronounced right. It will be a shrewd Democratic move to backslide at that time and cause a failure of the tariff revision measures, as this would put Taft in a bad light. I do not think that they will do this, however, when the question is put squarely up to them."

Mr. Miller announces the appointment of Mrs. Katarina Kylen as postmistress of Petrell, St. Louis county, Minn., to succeed Mrs. Sophie Kela, resigned.

NEW STATE INSPECTORS WILL BEGIN WORK SOON.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—C. C. Neale, chief of the new state bureau of weights and measures, has all the equipment ready for the new state inspectors who are expected to be in the field early next month. Ten men will be selected by the railroad and warehouse commission in a few days to get instruction from Mr. Neale before they enter upon their new duties.

A new chief clerk for the bureau, A. L. Swanson, has been appointed by the commission. He was formerly of the auditing department of the Omaha railroad, and began his new duties today.

Suits

Our Suit showing is divided into three great classes.

First is the class of High Class Novelty Suits in the best American Imported models. Prices— $54 to $95.

Secondly, our Custom Tailored Suits that are strictly hand-wrought, in every detail of cut, fit and finish. They are made just as your private custom tailor would make them, and we're glad to prove it. Prices $40 to $70.

Third, good-looking, well-made Popular Priced Suits—$22.50, $25, $27.50 to $35.

Polo Coats

It's a long time since any class of garments has taken us by storm the way these big, comfortable, swagger-looking Polo Coats have done!

And of all the swagger Polo Coats there are none more swagger than the Gidding Polos. A fine showing of Raglan and Mannish Overcoat Styles, as well as French-cut Models; in Double-faced materials, Imported Diagonals, soft Vicunas, Camel's Hair, etc. Prices $25, $29.50, $35 to $85.

The Subject of Fall Hats

Is the Chief Topic of the Hour.

Women are giving a great deal of attention to the learning of the fall Hat Styles. They are looking, comparing, criticising and speculating as to what sort of a hat will be most becoming to themselves.

Dame Fashion has declared in no uncertain terms that Tailored Hats are tall; that they are small in circumference, and rest well down over the head.

As to Shape, "unique" is the one word that aptly applies to the vast variety of odd and irregular shapes.

This Daring Originality is the thing that demands authentic knowledge, skill and Good Taste. It's dangerous for incompetent people to "toy" with such styles, for they all depend on "knack" and "knowledge."

Our people are well versed; our stocks are well selected, and we're laden with an abundance of exclusive novelties selected from American shops and European shops as well. Yet prices are reasonable, $8.75, $10, $12 and up.

Skirts

in new fall models are numbered among the recent arrivals. Nobby styles in Serges, Mannish Mixtures, etc. Prices, $8.75 to $25.00.

Dresses

in tailored cloth styles, suitable for business wear, traveling, street and general service, seem more neat and attractive than ever. And the styles elicit praise from all who see them. Prices, $19.50 to $45.00.

Waists

for fall and winter wear are already in their places, awaiting selection. And many are being chosen every day. Very smart Tailored Linens, Tailored Silks, Fancy Evening Blouses, and a full line of dainty White Waists. All prices from $2.75 to $35.00.

WOMAN'S REALM.

Keeping Up to the Mark

By CARA REESE

It is the keeping it up all the time where the test lies. Undoubtedly, hasty passerby, you might make good your boast of laying hands on the street diggers' shovel and showing the toiler how to make the dust properly fly.

But in an hour or two you are bound to become more or less of an automaton and as the appreciative crowd diminishes there is less zeal and energy on your part and your enthusiasm lags as the cheers wane. In the end you are the slower and more ennuied toiler of the crew of two.

This factor of keeping it up all the time is too frequently overlooked in an estimate of values. There is the capable "all around" woman who has the skill to rise to the occasion. When unexpected company comes she takes matters in hand and contrives, controls, plans, executes and, presto! there is a dinner fit for the gods; there are sleeping apartments enough to go around; there are readjustments and combinations, while admiring applause is showered on her movements by the wholesale. The vanquished, dazed and tired "ordinary" looks on drearily, but thinks thoughts of her own.

The expert and capable one has in the time of emergency ruthlessly pried off the lids of the delicious preserve jars; she has cut relentlessly into the fruit cake set aside for christenings and anniversaries; she has rung the phone; invaded the realm of present and future supplies and nothing has been sacred in the way of appointment and to set forth the highest in transient hospitality appreciation is hers in a perfect deluge as the good and bountiful feast disappears and the wayfarers lay themselves down to sweet dreams later in the lavender smelling best sheets, the swansdown comforts and new fleece.

The spurt lasts but a day or two and then the "ordinary" takes up the routine. The empty jars must be refilled, for the "capable" one has never made a jelly or preserve or pickle in her life. The intricate cake stores must be again replenished, for the "capable" one has never stirred an original batter in her life. There must be an inventory of stock, a systematic economy to overtake the outlay, the putting to rights after upheaval, for the "capable" one yawns over these things and moreover there is backache and rough hands after the strenuous effort of the past few days. The "ordinary," like a piece of faithful machinery, steps into the ditch once more and by measured sure strokes of pickax and shovel, soon accomplishes while the "capable" one rests.

It might be well to take into consideration the ability of keeping it up all the time. The brilliant examination papers at finals, the showy work on showy days, the super-human achievement while the multitude applauds are excellent in their way, moreover the one who can rise to emergency is a hero, but remember the faithful.

Women of Other Lands

By MARGARET E. SANGSTER

That which is said of womanhood in Japan may with some variations be repeated so far as the womanhood in other countries is concerned. In China, Korea and India man has the upper hand. Men have the most beautiful portions of the home. A woman has no freedom to go about, receive her friends occupy her mind or engage in any of the occupations which occupy and delight us in our own happy land.

Mrs. Alice Hamilton Rich, who has spent some years in China, tells us that a small boy often rules the household, and the mother is usually his slave. Two women were heard conversing, one the mother of five sons. One said to the other: "I am going to get my daughter-in-law into the house. You see, a daughter-in-law is no more expensive than a servant. If I beat a servant she leaves, but you can beat a daughter-in-law and get obedience, and your work will be done as you wish it."

All through the Orient the old woman is supreme. A woman ages much earlier in the East than in the West, but also she enjoys in her maturity privileges and pleasures which were not hers in youth, and she is able to arbitrate between her several daughters-in-law, and to rule the house with a scepter from which there is no appeal.

One sees continually in Eastern lands how true to life are the descriptions we find in the Bible. The patriarchal mode still obtains in Eastern family life, as it did in the days of Abraham. The story of Ruth and Naomi, that beautiful poetic idyl of which we never tire, illustrates the devotion of the daughter-in-law to the mother-in-law. It was not to her own mother, but to the mother of her husband that Ruth said: "Entreat me not to leave thee, or to return from following after thee: for whither thou goest I will go; and whither thou lodgest, I will lodge: thy people shall be my people, and thy God my God: where thou diest, will I die, and there will I be buried: the Lord do so to me, and more also, if aught but death part thee and me."

A glance at other civilizations, in times remote or near at hand, makes us more contented and more grateful than words can express that our lot has been cast in the twentieth century on American soil.

THE EVENING STORY

THE SENATOR

By T. A. C.

Nothing could have exceeded the contempt which Senator Houston felt for the theater and all connected with it. Had he had his way every touring dramatic company would have been banished eternally from the fair town over whose civic destinies he had presided with dignity and authority for four years in succession.

He gratified his contempt and distaste for the dramatic art and all its works by inducing the local board of guardians to refuse the annual invitation extended by the manager of the local theater to the poor little workhouse wastrels to visit his pantomime. At these times he would fulminate against the playhouses something after this style—"Gentlemen, we are the guardians of the morals of these waifs and strays. The theater is degrading, is pernicious. We and they will have none of it." Had he any justification for his never-ceasing hatred of things theatrical? Old friends who knew the story of his life thought he had.

Never had Beeston reared a more delicate or more winsome flower than Dorothy Houston. She was not so tall as to be overbearing in her stature; she was as graceful and as dainty as a piece of Sevres. Her features were not austerely perfect, but were rather cast in the mold of pretty irregularity. A blunt critic would have said that her nose was snub. A lover would have described it as the nez retrousse, and averred that it was the fitting companion of those bright cheeks, those laughing eyes, and those lovely lips.

Her father loved her—and, in a different fashion, so did the principal tenor of the Orpheus Operatic company. In a greater love she forgot her father's tender care, his anxiety, the solitariness of his widower's life, and married the tenor. From that moment she went out of Arthur Houston's life, and he became a morose, bitter, remorseless man—a magistrate who never tempered justice with mercy.

"Hello, Mr. Houston. What, you in New York? Dear me, who would have expected to find you gallivanting here?" This was the greeting of young Kenneth Minton.

"Not gallivanting," replied the senator, forced smile; "I am here on business, and I am just returning to Beeston."

"No, no," said Kenneth in a hospitable tone, "you must not go tonight. Come and dine with me at my club. And after dinner," he added thoughtlessly, "we will go to the theater."

Mr. Houston could not refrain from flashing a look of indignation at the young man. Twelve years had sped since his daughter left him—"left him," as he used to say, "for a rascal who could only troll out love songs and look romantic." And this invitation had reopened the wound then inflicted. But Kenneth was ignorant of the gloom that had entered Mr. Houston's life.

"Come to the club," he said gaily, linking his arm in that of the senator's, "and let a good digestion wait on appetite."

"You see," said Kenneth Minton as they rattled along in a hansom, "I've an interest in the Belvidere theater. It's built on our New York property and naturally as we draw a rent for it, I'm rather anxious for its success. Besides, the present pantomime is an altogether ripping one."

Still the senator hesitated; but his obstinacy was a little affected by the thought that, after all, it would be an act of friendship to accept the invitation. Thus he argued to himself, still, however, hesitating.

"Oh, I know," exclaimed Kenneth, "you haven't got evening dress with you. That's all right; my man will see to that."

The pantomime was "Babes in the Wood"—one of the old fashioned type, a delightful phantasy in which the fairy book story was woven with pretty romance and up-to-date foolery, and in which the pictures of beauteous coloring served to quicken the child-like imagination.

Never had two sweeter children than the babes appeared on the stage. The boy was the younger—a boy with black lustrous eyes, black curly hair and a quaint little method of self assertion. The girl, a sweet faced maid of perhaps 11 summers was as fair as the morning. Her soft flaxen hair ever and anon rustled over her face in generous disorder, her eyes reflected her own enjoyment; her little form moved as lissomely as the stem of an auratum lily. And her voice. Ever and anon the senator started as he listened. Of what was it reminiscent?

Arthur Houston was strangely intent on the play, or rather on the children. When they were on the stage he fixed his eyes on them and his ears were open only to their voices, though occasionally he bestowed a thought on the somewhat buxom, if beautiful fairy who saved them from the machinations of the wicked uncle.

Kenneth Minton laughed uproariously at the jokes and eccentricities with which the pantomime was bounteously provided. He even nudged the worthy next to him. "Why, there isn't a laugh in you, Houston," he said at length. And there wasn't. Yet the Belvidere contained no more intensely sympathetic auditor than Arthur Houston. He could not tell why—his own emotion was a mystery to him.

"Heaven bless those children," he unconsciously exclaimed as the curtain finally fell on the "Babes in the Wood." Kenneth looked up in surprise.

"Why, Houston," he remarked, "I believe you've been crying. Here, would you like to see the kiddies? I can take you behind the scenes." Houston hesitated, and then nodded assent.

The two little ones entered the manager's room, a hand of either in that of the erstwhile fairy—a singularly handsome, well dressed, well preserved, and courteous lady, who looked about 30, but was probably older. "Here Miss Dawson," said the manager to the elder of the two children, "here's a gentleman would like to speak to you and your brother."

They timidly advanced to Houston, who held out a hand to each. "What is your Christian name?" said he in tremulous tones to the girl.

"My name is Dorothy, sir, and," she added, quaintly, "his name is Arthur. "Dorothy and Arthur Dawson, eh?"

"Oh," interjected the manager, "Dawson isn't their real name. That was given to them by their aunt over there." And he pointed to the fairy.

An Old Man's Darling

By POLLY PAGET

There is scarcely a more misleading idea than the one so often driven into the head of sweet and twenty—that it is better to be an old man's darling than a young man's slave.

Its real meaning is, of course, that it is wise to marry a man well dowered with the world's goods, without loving him, rather than make a love match with some bright-eyed youth whose way is yet in the making.

No greater folly was ever written or preached. The girl who marries an old man will bitterly rue the day, even though she be his "darling," as promised.

"Bread and Butter" Notes.

Hospitality received demands the courtesy of a gracious not of thanks. To call up your hostess on the phone and tell her what a delightful visit you had at her house is not sufficient.

Send the "bread and butter" note at once, don't put off writing it until several days have elapsed since your visit.

The girl who makes a point of acknowledging a favor done her by a gracious little note sent at once, wins more friends than she who spends much time in telephoning or in being effusive in her thanks when she happens to meet her hostess perhaps several weeks after the favor has been granted or the hospitality offered her.

Senator Houston breathed more freely. He thought of releasing the children from his hold and escaping after having made them a present. Somehow—he knew not why—he felt sorry. Here the lady who had been indicated interposed.

"They are not really my nephews and niece."

Arthur Houston looked up in astonishment. Kenneth was also now interested, and his look invited confidence.

"You know," she said to the manager, "my elder sister died a little over four years ago. Dorothy and Arthur had been living with us three or four years then. I remember what a crying little chap Arthur was. My sister took them when their mother died. Their father had gone to his grave only six months before." Arthur Houston was gazing with almost dramatic earnestness at the speaker.

"You see," she said, turning to the senator, "my sister and their mother had been great friends from the days when they used to sing in opera. My sister told me of the pledge her friend, whom she dearly loved, exacted from her on her death bed. 'You know, Madge,' she said, 'how I have loved my dear little ones. You know their father loved them. I know I am asking much of you; but Madge, dear, will you promise me to look after them?' My sister," proceeded the fairy, "used to cry as she herself told the story. 'I took her thin wasted hand in mine,' she told me, 'and I said, 'Dear Dorothy, while I can work your children shall never want.' She died with her hand still in Madge's. Naturally, when my sister died I became their guardian, and they called me aunt, and they have been a comfort and a joy to me."

"Did their mother ever speak of her relatives?" asked Houston, in a harsh, constrained voice.

"Yes—she sometimes spoke of her father."

"Did she denounce him?"

"Denounce him," the fairy exclaimed. "Why, she always regretted that she had not been frank with him. Her boy was named after him."

"Was her husband's professional name Fenton?" inquired he in a tone of tense anxiety.

"It was," exclaimed the actress in surprise. Kenneth uttered a cry almost of alarm.

Arthur Houston was on his knees; the children were held tightly to him; he was eagerly kissing them.

"My Dorothy's little ones. My Dorothy's little ones!" he cried in the intervals of his passionate greeting.

Kenneth, the manager, and Miss Dawson left him to his newly found happiness.

Arthur Houston sorely disturbed that town during the next three months. His appearances in the town were surprisingly few—just to preside over a magisterial bench or at the town council meetings. Report had it that he was at the Belvidere theater in wicked New York every night, and that he invariably escorted home a handsome lady called Miss Dawson and two children. At the end of three months he resumed his life and his duties at Beeston. The children and the lady accompanied him.

The little ones were introduced as "my grandchildren," the lady as "my wife, Mrs. Arthur Houston."

Sweethearts and Friends

By VIRGINIA HARLAN.

A distinct struggle often goes on in the mind of a newly engaged man as to the conflicting claims of his sweetheart and the friends of his youth with whom he has a thousand ties of shared work and play hours.

Of course he wants to enjoy every possible moment of his fiancee's society yet when to do so means absolutely to sever himself from his chums and all the sports and pastimes that are his relaxation how shall he decide?

A wise lassie will take care that the idea of a conflicting claim never enters his mind. By insisting that he does not neglect his old friends or miss his old amusements she will make him her willing slave forever and cause him to be the envy of every man he knows—for, alas! in the matter of bachelor friends a new-made fiance is often both selfish and unreasonable.

To deliberately force the man who loves her into choosing between herself and his old friends is a deed altogether unworthy of a loving woman.

The Nursery

Children's Diet.

The diet of children who constantly complain of headache should be light, plain, easily digested and nutritious. Candies, cakes and pastry should be avoided.

Milk, eggs, light puddings, fish, poultry, vegetables and stewed fruit are all excellent. In cases where the headaches are due to debility, cod liver oil, cream and butter often work wonders, but they must be given only in moderate quantities.

A Liquid Diet.

Should a child be slightly feverish a warm bath should be given him; then the little patient should be dried carefully and wrapped lightly in a blanket. He should not be covered with a lot of hot clothes. Give him nothing but a liquid diet.

The Reason Why

Women lean on us for correct styles and reliable merchandise is many-fold.

They bank on 41 years of active business existence and continuous prosperity in the community.

They know that we know our business from Alpha to Omega—every detail, no matter how inconsequential, being personally overseen and watched by some member of the firm itself.

We do not change our buyers yearly, nor our sales force, ensuring the same courteous and careful attention to customers' wants and personal preferences year after year.

And lastly, we aim for Quality—first, last and always—Quality and Moderate Prices.

Hats for "Every Woman"

We cannot tell of every new idea that comes out of our milliners' minds; they crowd our space and ability to describe "Beautiful," "Smart," "Elegant," "Quaint," "Refined," "Practical,'—all these terms and many more apply to hats the writer has seen.

The pronounced new features are for street wear—short curled brims, high crowns. The trimmings consist of novelty feathers, wings and ribbons.

The dress hats are large with low crowns, slightly turned up at the back. Velvets and soft velour finished felts cover these hats and they are trimmed with beautiful French plumes and paradise.

First With Velvet Coats

Our line of these handsome garments is now almost complete. Every coat is a novelty, and we will sell only one of a kind, so that no woman need fear duplication in style.

They are made of finest velvet and velour. Some with the long roll revers and sailor collars; others simply tailored but elegant; still others with collars of real fur, such as natural raccoon, sea, Persian lamb and lynx. Prices, $45, $52.50, $57.50, $75 and $85.

The Coat Section

Offers wide variety of styles, materials and prices to make selection easy.

You're bilious, you have a throbbing sensation in your head, a bad taste in your mouth, your eyes burn, your skin is yellow, with dark rings under your eyes; your lips are parched. No wonder you feel ugly, mean and ill tempered. Your system is full of bile not properly passed off, and what you need is a cleaning up inside. Dont continue being a bilious nuisance to yourself and those who love you, and don't resort to harsh physics that irritate and injure. Remember that every disorder of the stomach, liver and intestines can be quickly cured by morning with gentle, thorough Cascarets—they work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you and the entire family feeling good for months. Children love to take Cascarets, because they taste good and never gripe or sicken.

LARGE BARN DESTROYED

Fire Causes $22,000 Loss to S. F. Snively—Incendiarism Suspected.

Largest and Most Complete Structure of Kind in the County.

Fire reported to be of incendiary origin destroyed the big barn of S. F. Snively near Colbyville, about two miles from the end of the Woodland street car line, last night, causing a loss estimated at $22,000.

The blaze was discovered about 8:30 o'clock and in a few minutes the structure, with sixty tons of hay stored in the loft, was a spectacular mass of flames, plainly visible in the downtown section. That it was the work of a firebug is not positive, but that is the theory which was given to firemen which were sent to the scene from headquarters with a chemical.

Had it not been for the prompt assistance rendered by nearby settlers the loss would have been much heavier. By quick work a large quantity of farm machinery, some of it afire, and half a dozen horses, on the lower floor, were saved. A bucket brigade prevented the spread of the flames to the outbuilding and the other outhouses. The heat from the barn was so intense and it burned so fiercely that it was impossible to save it.

The barn was said to be the largest and most complete structure of its kind in the county. The main building was 110 feet long, 47 feet wide and 32 feet to the eaves, and a recent addition was 76 feet long, 32 feet wide and of the same height. The cost of the building was about $20,000. It was leased by the Northland Dairy company. The value of the contents was estimated at $2,000.

quandary today what to do in regard to their dispute with the railroad company.

After the conference of executive board members of the International Association of Machinists and James O'Connell, its president, in Chicago yesterday, where several of the international officers plainly declared they did not favor a strike of the shop employes, the board adjourned to meet in Davenport, Iowa, today.

The full executive board will further consider the shopmen's position and final announcement of the machinists' position will be made soon. Should the machinists decide not to indorse the strike, there is small likelihood that J. F. McCreery, president of the Illinois Central shopmen, and his colleagues on the federation committee, will order the men out, because there would be little funds to depend upon for strike benefits.

Members of the international conference committee of the nine trades involved in the federation remained in Chicago awaiting word from Davenport, which, they said, might not come for several days.

It was stated today that the second vote of the unions on the advisability of striking or not striking, has not been completed. Some of the shops have been heard from but no indination of how they stand was given out.

P. J. Conlon, first vice president of the International Association of Machinists, is not attending the meeting of the executive board at Davenport, but remained here to keep the Illinois Central labor leaders and those at Davenport in touch with each other.

Meeting at Davenport.

Davenport, Iowa, Sept. 11.—President James O'Connell and ten other officers and members of the executive board of the International Association of Machinists, arrived here this morning to attend to business preparatory to the opening of their biennial convention next Monday.

O'Connell refused to comment on the refusal of the union to sanction a strike on the Illinois Central.

The threatened strike situation on the Rock Island and the Harriman lines will be the first matters for consideration at the sessions of the executive board which opens today.

French government accepting the German counter proposals.

A temporary way out of the difficulty may be that some other signatory of the Algeciras act will ask for another international conference.

A semi-official note issued today says that Minister De Selves has examined the observations by the German government in reply to the French proposals, and that he probably will take a favorable view of the suggestions contained therein for establishing the economic equality of the powers in Morocco, but that in opposition to this international economic equality is a privilege desired by Germany alone.

Other points, the note says, are raised by the German response which are equally serious.

The negotiations between France and Germany, the note says in conclusion, probably will be prolonged for some time.

Protest Against Withdrawal.

Berlin, Sept. 11.—At the annual convention of the Pan-German league, in session here yesterday, resolutions were unanimously passed protesting against the withdrawal of Germany from her political position in Morocco and against her acceptance of territorial indemnity in the French Congo.

The German imperial chancellor was asked to break off negotiations with France relative to Morocco, rather than settle the dispute on that basis.

STRUCK BY STREET CAR

Arthur Lindgren, 14 Years Old, Sustains Injuries That Cause Death.

Second Street Corner Scene of Three Accidents in Two Weeks.

Arthur Lindgren, 14 years old, was struck and fatally injured by an eastbound street car near Second avenue east and Second street at 11:40 o'clock yesterday morning. He died at St. Mary's hospital about 5 o'clock the same day.

Saturday evening about 6 o'clock Percy Weinberg, 8 years old, and his mother, Mrs. Joseph Weinberg, miraculously escaped seriously injury at the same corner when they were hit by E. E. Esterly's automobile.

This is the same corner where John W. Day was seriously injured two weeks ago, when his automobile collided with a street car.

The only apparent explanation of the accident to young Lindgren is that he was so tired that he did notice the street car coming and walked right into it. He is employed by the Maple Grove dairy, about two miles back of Duluth Heights, and had been up since long before daylight engaged in delivering milk. He walked from between the houses at 210 and 212 East Second street with a milk pail in his hand. The street car was coming from the west towards him and was the only car on the tracks in that vicinity. He evidently did not notice it and the motorman thought that he would stop to let the car past. He was struck by the front corner of the car and hurled heavily to the pavement, sustaining a fractured skull which resulted in his death a few hours later at the hospital. He was picked up unconscious and hurried to the institution, where he was attended by Dr. J. A. McCuen, who pronounced his recovery impossible, after a careful examination. The body was taken to the undertaking establishment of Olson & Crawford in the West end.

He was the son of Andrew Lindgren, who resides in the vicinity of the Maple Grove dairy. No funeral arrangements have been made.

When struck by the auto Mrs. Weinberg and her son were crossing the street at Second avenue east and Second street. The pavement was slippery and in making the turn the automobile skidded, striking the boy and his mother. The child was carried to the home of A. Coran at 212 East Second street, and a doctor summoned. He later accompanied his mother to their home. Mr. Esterly was in the car, which was being driven by his chauffeur, and said this morning that as far as he could learn the driver was the only occupant. He said that the boy escaped with a slight bruise and that his mother was going about her household duties as usual when he went to their residence yesterday.

proportion of the government burden. Neglecting that, he is estopped from setting up a lugubrious howl about the unfitness of officials and the corruption of politics.

"No victory for purity in politics has ever yet been won by kicking about the character of the men selected. The only way to reform politics is to be active before and at the elections, for Jefferson uttered an immortal truth when he said, 'Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty.'

An Untenable Excuse.

"In answer to all this, it is sometimes urged that there is so much corruption in politics that good men are defiled by participation therein. That excuse is not tenable. In fact, it is preposterous. To use a common expression, 'it will not wash.'

"The probabilities are that there is not a congressional district in America where there is a majority of purchasable voters; and that the unpurchasable voters can control every one of them if they would only do their duty.

"No doubt, there are corrupt men in politics, so are there corrupt men in every business and profession, but it is a consolation to reflect that there are not so many corrupt ones either in politics or in any other walk of life this year as there were last year, and there will not be so many corrupt ones next year as there are this year. Corrupt men ought to be scourged and they are being weeded out.

"But while there is undoubtedly corruption in politics, the malicious marplots who go about proclaiming that all public men are corrupt ought to be restrained from running at large pro bono publico. They are the enemies not only of the republic but of all constituted authority."

In conclusion, Speaker Clark pleaded for more enlightenment on the real political facts, and said:

Has Woeful Effect.

"The persistent charge that all public men are for sale, and that all government in this country is thoroughly rotten, not only puts improper ideas into the heads of our own people and of our own children, but has a woeful effect on the immigrants coming to our shores at the rate of more than a million per annum, to be assimilated by us and to be formed and fashioned into American citizens. They came hither because of the opportunity to improve their condition and to enjoy the blessings of our free institutions. They look to America as a sort of heaven on earth. They have been taught at home to regard this as the best government on earth—which it is. What must be their astonishment and regret, then, to hear and to read, as soon as they land on our shore, that all public men are corrupt; that the voters are venal and the government rotten to the core! As certain as a gun is made of iron, that must have a bad and demoralizing effect upon them. It is a bad and a sad lesson in preparing themselves for the onerous and important duties of American citizenship.

"They should be taught that our theory of government is the best ever devised by the wit of man; that the vast majority of American voters of all parties are absolutely honest; that the majority of public men are of high character and patriotic; that the corruptionists are only the exceptions which prove the rule; that the voters of the land, without regard to political preference or affiliation, are more and more demanding perfect integrity as a condition precedent to a public career; that they are engaged in the self-appointed and patriotic endeavor of bringing all governmental functions closer to the great body of the people; and that the consensus of opinion among honest folks in this country is that the only proper home for corrupt officials is the penitentiary. That's the truth, and it ought to be preached incessantly to our own people and to these newcomers into our midst. I have no sort of patience with these pessimists and marplots who go about preaching the utter and universal vileness of American citizens.

Slander Should Be Contradicted.

"I have gone into this subject somewhat in extreme, not to cover any man's sins, not to offer a plea in mitigation for sinners, but because it has appeared to me that there are so many pessimists in the land, and that the indiscriminate defamation of public men must have inevitably such a deleterious effect upon the boys and girls who must soon take our place, that somebody who can get a hearing should contradict the palpable and mischievous slander that all public men are corrupt.

"I do not believe, for one moment, that the country is going to what Mr. Mantalini was wont to denominate as 'the demnition bow-wows.' I am an optimist, not a pessimist. It is better to look upon the bright side of things than the dark. A jubilate is more pleasant music than a miserere. It surely must be that 93,000,000 Americans, habituated to free institutions, will not permit those institutions to perish from the earth.

"It is a great and glorious privilege to be a Missourian, but the greatest and most glorious privilege vouchsafed to us is to be Americans, with all the proud recollections, fond hopes and high aspirations of Americans."

Welcomed By Home Folks.

Speaker Clark's address was delivered today on the occasion of his being entertained by the home folks, all Pike county and the greater part of the population of the Ninth Missouri congressional district joining to make his homecoming from Washington an epoch in Missouri history.

It was here that Mr. Clark landed from a steamboat thirty-six years ago as a young attorney from Kentucky, and throughout all these years he has accumulated an acquaintance which is legion and loyal.

So, when it came to preparations for the homecoming no one could be considered as uninterested, and arrangements were made on as non-partisan a basis a possible, Republicans, as well as Democrats of the district being placed on the various committees.

Next to Mr. Clark's address, which was the biggest thing on the program, was the basket dinner, the main prop of which was home-fried chicken. As the gastronomical climax a wagon load of home-grown watermelons were on ice being cooled to the proper degree for dessert.

Illinois and Iowa, as well as Missouri, are represented in the celebration. Among the speakers are Representatives I. S. Pepper, Iowa, and Henry T. Rainey, Illinois.

15 cents a pound as compared with 18 cents in the early fall of last year: Western lard is selling at a fraction more than 9 cents as against more than 12 cents in September, 1910, and butter and eggs are both comparatively reasonable and a few cents cheaper retail than last September.

Flour of good quality is selling at lowest retail prices at $5.95 a barrel, the same price that prevailed at this time last year, and bacon may be had at some stores for 20 cents a pound as against 25 and 25 cents a year ago.

The "average family" steak costs about 28 cents a pound, as it did last year, though experts say that with all feeding crops short it is not unlikely that beef will go higher as the winter progresses. The cost of poultry will be largely determined by cold storage hoidings.

Indications are that the shortage of potatoes is serious, not only in this country but in Great Britain and Germany. In the fall of last year one could buy good potatoes in the field at 55 cents a bushel; today the prices ranged from $5 cents to more than a dollar.

Canned peas, beans and tomatoes also will be higher, but rice remains cheap, and unless there is a marked advance in pork, it is argued that the man of slender means can provide for his family without serious strain.

Sugar and Coffee High.

Sugar and coffee are both phenomenally high, but those who are studying the market predict that decreased consumption, which invariably follows a prohibitive advance, will soon restore these two breakfast table necessities to a more normal level. No. 7 standard Rio spot coffee brought 13½ cents a pound wholesale in New York Saturday against 10½ cents a year ago, and the standard grade of granulated sugar was quoted wholesale at 6.70 cents per pound, the highest levels since July, 1899. Failure of the European sugar beet crop and poor prospects in Cuba are given as the cause of the abrupt jump in the sugar market.

It is almost impossible to strike an intelligent average of the price to the consumer, so much depending upon the location of the dealers store.

Comparison of Prices.

The following table of twenty-five standard commodities, however, shows the prevailing wholesale prices when the month of September opened. These figures have changed only slightly since:

Article—	Sept. 1911.	1910.
Flour, straight winter, per barrel	$ 4.10	$ 4.55

Sugar Advances Again.

New York, Sept. 11.—All grades of refined sugar were advanced 5 cents a hundred pounds today.

ILLNESS OF MISS CLARA BARTON IS NOT SERIOUS.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 11.—Fears for the health of Miss Clara Barton, founder of the American Red Cross society, who has been ill at her summer home at Oxford, are not well founded, according to a statement issued here today by her nephew, Stephen E. Barton.

When Miss Barton, who is 90 years old, took to her bed a few days ago, there was considerable alarm expressed by her friends on account of her advanced age. The trouble, said her nephew, was due to a slight muscular weakness of the heart and is not serious.

REPEATED TRICK IN MINNEAPOLIS

Andrew Rusky Claimed to Have Worked Confidence Game There Also.

Andrew Rusky, one of the two men arrested in Duluth a week ago on a charge of having swindled Gordon Sewell out of $22 by a con pocketbook game, is under indictment in Minneapolis for the same offense.

He and one Paul Wisvadsco are said to have beaten Andrew Asplund out of $160 in the same manner. Rusky was released on $300 bail and jumped it, while Wisvadsco is in jail awaiting trial on a charge of grand larceny in the second degree. Rusky and Peter Adamovich are under indictment here. After they had swindled Sewell, their victim dressed in old clothes and caused their arrest. He located one of them on the street and shadowed him until he joined his companion, when he called in a policeman, who sent them to headquarters.

RECOVER BODY OF RAY NELSON

Duluth Boy Was Drowned in Lake Helen on Nipigon.

The body of Ray Nelson, the Duluth boy who was drowned in Lake Helen in Ontario Aug. 27, was recovered yesterday. Mrs. Amanda Nelson, the young man's mother, received a message this morning announcing that the body had been found and she wired a request that it be sent to Duluth.

Nelson, who was 22 years old, had been employed with an engineering crew on the Canadian Northern extension. He and two engineers were rowing on the lake when the drowning occurred. There were no witnesses to the accident and the finding of the overturned boat first told of the death of the three men.

Besides his mother, who lives at 1431 Jefferson street, the young man is survived by a sister, Mrs. F. D. Hutchinson of Superior. On its arrival here, the body will be taken to the family home. The funeral will be private.

MISSING MAN'S BODY IS FOUND IN POTTER'S FIELD.

Toledo, Ohio, Sept. 11.—His body buried in a Potter's field for five days and searchers still combing the waters of Maumee bay in the hope of finding it, Rudolph Yunker, one of the seven men drowned early on Saturday, Sept. 2, when the launch Nemo was rammed by the barge Philip Minch and seven men drowned, of whom many were city officials, was exhumed yesterday and positively identified. Identification was made by a dentist who had filled his teeth, and a shoemaker.

MALCOLM HAS CREAMERY.

Organized in New Country North of Red Lake.

Thief River Falls, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dairy Inspector H. A. Linderberg assisted in the organization of a creamery association of the farmers about Malcolm, north of the large Red Lake, east of this city. This creamery is at least sixty miles from Thief River Falls, which is its nearest railway shipping point. For all this handicap the farmers in that section are enthusiastic over the undertaking. They attended the organization meeting in large numbers and subscribed generously to the stock to establish the proposition. There is another creamery at the town of Grygla, some fifteen miles nearer Thief River Falls than Malcolm, and the patrons of the former creamery haul their product here for shipment the intervening forty-five miles. Numerous creameries are found in the territory between the two points mentioned and Thief River, all of which are paying large sums each month to the farmer patrons of their respective enterprises.

Old Deeds Filed.

St. Clairsville, Ohio, Sept. 11.—Five deeds, all dated prior to 1795, have been filed for record in the office of the county recorder here. The deeds are for land in Goshen township, Belmont county, and two of them are written on sheepskin. The deeds never have been recorded and were filed now to clear the title to the land.

ELECTRICITY IN HOME.

Farmer Near Warren Has Up-to-Date Arrangements.

Warren, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Nels Malm, a well-to-do farmer of the township of Bloomer, ten miles northwest of town, has installed an up-to-date electric lighting plant on his farm. The plant was installed by his son, Victor, who is an electrician, and is similar to outfits used in smaller towns, but in addition to the generating machinery there is a storage battery, making it necessary to use a low voltage. The batteries when they are fully charged will run an ordinary farm residence for about two weeks. The generator is run by a small gasoline engine. Mr. Malm's residence has also a heating plant and hot and cold water in different parts of the house.

Drop Into the Ocean.

New York, Sept. 11.—Thomas Sopwith, the English aviator, dropped into the ocean, 150 yards off Brighton Beach, while making a flight with Lee Hammond as a passenger yesterday afternoon and both had a narrow escape from drowning. Two other accidents also occurred, but neither was serious.

EVELETH OFFICIAL FINED FOR THREAT

Alderman Gust Kauppi Pays $10 and Costs for Store Closing Row.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—On complaint of H. Press, who alleged that Alderman Gust Kauppi threatened him during a row over the efforts to close stores at 7:30 p. m., the alderman was haled before Judge McInnis in municipal court this morning and fined $10 and costs which he paid.

The trouble originated in a local clothing store where Kauppi and Press clashed over the early closing movement.

RANGE MINISTERS MEET AT EVELETH

Second Monthly Meeting of Range Ministerial Association Held.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—The second monthly meeting of the Range Ministerial association was held at the M. E. church here today.

The meeting was opened with devotional services led by Rev. B. D. Hanscom of this city. Rev. George W. Turner of the First Presbyterian church of Gilbert gave the only address of the morning, speaking on "The Union of Canadian Churches." The afternoon session was opened with devotional services led by Rev. C. P. Keast of Chisholm. Rev. J. W. Helmuth of Hibbing spoke on "The Preacher and His Message." Rev. R. W. Wilcox of Virginia also gave an address on "Are the Methods of Jesus Christ Adapted to Present Day Needs."

All the addresses were limited to forty-five minutes. During the noon hour luncheon was served at the Methodist Episcopal church by the ladies' aid society of the church.

About twenty-five members of the association attended the gathering.

PAVING WORK IS DELAYED BY RAIN

Nevertheless Virginia Hopeful of Completing Much Work This Year.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Owing to the almost constant rains of the past few weeks the paving work has been greatly delayed and it is feared several streets which it was planned to pave this year will have to wait till next year for improvements. Although the paving contracts were let the latter part of June, two months have passed and the H. L. Barthett company has been able to complete several blocks and get several streets laid with the concrete base, but owing to the frequent rains has been unable to complete the work. Last week no paving was done owing to rain every day. Contractor P. McDonnell has some of the excavating done on his contract but has laid no concrete base. He expected to get busy on his contract last Monday, but the weather prevented any work. With favorable weather for several weeks the paving contracts may be completed this year.

Building Operations Progress.

Building operations also have been seriously handicapped, but in spite of this good progress has been made. A. N. Thompson, local agent for the Singer Sewing Machine company, will erect a two-story brick business block on Central avenue. The Matheson building on Chestnut street has been torn down and in its place will be erected a three-story brick business block, fronting fifty feet on Chestnut street and 110 feet deep. The exterior work on the American Exchange bank building has been completed and work has begun on the superstructure of the Virginia State bank building. The exterior work on the three-story Frank Klink business block on Chestnut street has been completed and also the Shanedling building on Chestnut street.

More cement sidewalk is being laid than during any previous season.

COTTAGE BURNS AT NETT LAKE

Methodist Missionary Building and Contents Are Destroyed By Fire.

Nett Lake, Minn, Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Fire early Friday destroyed the missionary cottage here. The resident missionary, Rev. Frank H. Pequette was at the agency office interpreting some agency business when his wife discovered the fire. The alarm was given but before help arrived the fire was beyond control. The cause of the fire was a defective flue. The building belonged to the Methodist mission and was worth about $300. In the fire the government lost two beds and bedding and Mr. Pequette lost all his valuables, clothing and bedding together with his library and religious books.

DRIFTING GOING ON.

Work Being Prosecuted at Cannon Property Near Tower.

Tower, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—A. W. Bevire of the Scott-Bevire Iron Mining company was here Saturday evening on his way to the company's property at Rice bay.

Drifting is now in operation at the Cannon Iron Mining company property. A road is being built to reach the property and when finished will facilitate the transportation of machinery and supplies. The county will spend about $1,000 per mile on this piece of road, which is partly through swamp land.

Dr. A. H. Spears, superintendent at the government Indian school, expects to leave soon to take up a similar, but more important, position at a Rosebud agency government school.

The H. Gibson family, who have spent over two months at Goodwill's summer home, left last Friday for their home in Oklahoma.

TO DEVELOP POWER FOR THREE TOWNS

Scheme on Foot to Harness the St. Louis River Near Biwabik.

Biwabik, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—This village, Aurora and Gilbert may be furnished light and power developed at a water power plant on the St. Louis river near here, if the plans being discussed in the three villages go through. The three villages are at present furnished power and light by the mining companies. The Republic Iron & Steel company, which has been furnishing Gilbert with electricity, recently notified the village to look elsewhere for its service and this has started a skirmish for power from a new source.

Engineers, who have been inspecting the St. Louis river, say that a 16-foot fall can be developed without any trouble and that if a dam is put in a 24-foot fall can be had. It is figured that without having to construct a dam 1,000 horse power can be developed.

BULLET GRAZES HEAD OF WOMAN

Mrs. McCarthy of Ely Is Nearly Accidentally Shot.

Ely, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—As Mrs. Jenks and Mrs. McCarthy were passing Laing's hardware store Saturday evening a bullet fired from a high-power rifle inside the store speeded past, barely missing Mrs. McCarthy's head.

It developed that John Selberlich, clerk in the store, was showing the rifle to a prospective buyer by showing how to run cartridges from the magazine, when one accidentally exploded, and the bullet crashed through the window as the women were passing and lodged itself in the wall of a nearby saloon.

CANDIDATE INDORSED.

Italian Political Club of Eveleth for James Marra.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—James Marra, candidate for mayor, yesterday was indorsed by the Italian Political club at a meeting at Uranla hall, attended by over 100 members of the club. Many addresses were made.

The club also requested President L. Massucci to make the race for alderman either in the Third ward or for alderman-at-large. President Massucci is still undecided.

A mass meeting of the Italian Political club and Austrian Educational society will be held at Uranla hall Sunday, when political issues will be further discussed.

Charles McNarama, a Civil war veteran and former United States court commissioner at Tower, is seriously considering entering the judgeship race.

Mert Trevarrow, candidate for alderman-at-large, returned last evening from San Francisco where he attended the Eagles' convention as representative of the local order. He will at once commence an active campaign.

HIBBING'S NEW STATION.

Missabe Road's New Concrete Structure Being Used.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Missabe road is now using its new passenger depot here, the first train steaming into the new terminal Saturday evening.

The new station is built of concrete with a rough coating of plaster on the outside, and is strictly fireproof.

The interior finishings are first-class and the plumbing is of the latest and most expensive kind, no money being spared to make the work lasting and good. The ticket office and waiting rooms are commodious, and the platform is nearly six feet wider than the one at the old depot.

Arrangements are being made to have the express office up town so that people can send their packages away without having to walk a mile to the depot, and a free delivery of express matter has just been inaugurated.

DEMASSE ON TRIAL.

Man Recently Acquitted Is Facing Another Charge.

Virgina, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—The trial of Bruno Demasse on the charge of carrying concealed weapons began in district court before Judge Hughes this morning. Demasse was cleared of the charge of murdering Joseph LaMonte, but admitted pulling a revolver to shoot the man.

BIG POTATO CROPS

Are Reported By Farmers in Eveleth Vicinity.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Farmers near Zim, Forbes and other points in this vicinity report very large potato crops. Eight potatoes grown on the Byrnes farm near Zim weighed six pounds. Large potatoes are reported on all the farms and the farmers will make considerable money this year from their large crops.

HELD FOR STABBING.

Luke Tonkovich Alleged to Have Cut Fellow Countryman.

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 11.—Special to The Herald.)—Luke Tonkovich, a Montenegrin, is being detained in the village jail pending the outcome of injuries he is alleged to have inflicted with a knife upon Gorchen Jakovich, a fellow countryman. The assault is claimed to have taken place in the Elizabeth mine dryhouse.

Eveleth Nimrods Successful.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—About twenty-five local nimrods celebrated the opening of the hunting season yesterday by hunting in the vicinity of Forbes and Iron Junction. Most of the hunters made the trip to Iron Junction and Forbes via the Missabe road at an early hour and returned in the evening with much game.

GIRL BROUGHT BACK.

Leaves Chisholm Home and Is Arrested in Hibbing.

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Claiming that her home life was not agreeable and that she would not return home, Florence Gilchrist aged 15, daughter of Mike Gilchrist, engineer at the Shenango mine, who ran away from home and was arrested in Hibbing, had a hearing here in municipal court. She denied any charge of incorrigibility. It is expected she will change her mind and return home.

GATHERING EVIDENCE.

Officers Are Further Probing Killing of Brown.

Nett Lake, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Police Chief Ellis Walsh of Virginia and Deputy Sheriff Merrill have been here on the Bolse Fort Indian reservation gathering evidence connected with the recent murder of Forest Guard "Billy" Brown, Aug 8 last, to be used at the trial of the accused.

CHISHOLM PLANS ON FINE SEWER SYSTEM.

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—If the plans under consideration by the village council are carried out Chisholm will possess in time one of the most complete sewer systems on the ranges. The plans are expected to be perfected in the near future to put the deal through.

BRIEFS FROM ELY.

Ely, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Chief Brennan of the police force returned Thursday from the state fair.

Dr. H. J. Lockhart returned last Thursday from Stillwater, where he and Mrs. Lockhart had been visiting. Mrs. Lockhart and daughter remained at the home of her mother, Mrs. Willklow.

Peter Western, formerly of Ely, but now of Two Harbors, is here on his vacation.

Mr. Poskitt, who had charge of the Bartlett & Co. sewer contract, returned to Virginia, and T. H. Ames of Minneapolis arrived and took charge of the work left undone.

Mrs. Charles Seraphine of British Columbia, who has been visiting friends in this city for some time, has left for Ishpeming, Mich.

Miss Jenny Skogland of the postoffice force is on her vacation at Duluth.

A pickup team consisting mostly of high school boys and a few clerks went to Winton yesterday morning and played a game with a pickup team of that town, and in a well played game defeated the Wintonites by the score of 6 to 5.

WINTON DEFEATS ELY.

Winton, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—The local ball team defeated the Ely fire department nine here yesterday, 11 to 1.

The batteries were: For the locals, E. Byers and P. Byers, and for Ely, Gianotti and Skala. A return game will be played at the Athletic park in Ely.

Plans Fine Buhl Home.

Buhl, Minn., Sept. 11.—Joseph E. Gardiner, of Salt Lake City, who has been here several days looking over mining land which he owns, has decided to erect a handsome home here this fall. The house, which will cost about $10,000, will be of frame construction and will occupy one of the best sites in the village.

AMUSEMENTS

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—Chauncey Olcott.
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.
EMPRESS—Vaudeville.

BILL MINUS ITS HEADLINE

Australian Whip Expert in Auto Accident—Balance of Program Good.

With the headliner on this week's bill, Mr. Fred Lindsay, lying on his back on a country road under an automobile, the Orpheum bill got away to a bad start yesterday, although the bill showed promise of being an excellent one, when topped off with the Australian whip act of Mr. Lindsay.

The management announced that seat cheks for yesterday's performances would be honored during the week, so that the two big audiences that attended yesterday's performances will not miss the headline act, if they care to return during the week, as Mr. Lindsay arrived this morning.

The six other acts on the bill provided a first class bill. The honors were probably carried off by Bedini and Arthur, two well known jugglers. Bedini is a very clever manipulator, and his assistant, who appears in blackface provides some very amusing comedy work. The act is different from the ordinary juggling act, and it probably made the biggest hit on the bill yesterday.

Monroe Hopkins and Lola Axtell have something new in the comedy sketch line. They call their cat "Travelling," and it consists of three quite pretentious scenes. The first is placed on the pier at New York, the second in a Pullman car and the third in a street car. The second scene shows the interior of a Pullman car with the berths made up, and the performers carry on their conversation from behind the curtains of the berth, a negro porter helping out with the comedy. It is a most amusing little sketch, and kept the audience in roars of laughter.

Edith Morris sings four songs, wears four different costumes, and does a very clever little dance, as her contribution to the general amusement. Her costumes are most attractive, her songs good, and her dancing exceptional. The last song is sung in a man's costume, and she makes a very fetching young blood.

Two little German Lilliputians offer a dashing acrobatic turn that is very much out of the ordinary. They are assisted by Ergotto, an acrobat and risley worker, who juggles the little fellows about on his feet. Their agility is amazing and they do feats that full-sized men could not attempt. Their tricks are done with most surprising speed and finish, and the ordinary acrobatic act looks tame in comparison with theirs. They are also exceptional hand to hand and head to head balancers, and finish their act with a novel aeroplane stunt.

The Clover Trio consists of two attractive young girls and a youth of the George M. Cohan type. They sing several songs and do some neat dance steps. The best feature of their act is probably the scarecrow dance by the two girls, and a George M. Cohan dance by the youth.

"The Piano Movers," is the name of the act presented by McDevitt, Kelly and Lucy. It is a comedy sketch. An actress is supposed to be in trouble because her two assistants fail to appear. The piano movers who are bringing in a piano for her use, come to her rescue, and this gives them an excuse to introduce an eccentric dance and piano number, which was a big hit with last night's audience.

The new motion pictures and the overture by the concert orchestra complete the bill, which will continue all week with the daily matinee. The headline act by Mr. Lindsay will be seen this afternoon and the remainder of the week.

NEW VAUDEVILLE AT THE EMPRESS

Program Pleases Three Large Sunday Audiences at the Opening Performances.

With a program of acts, all thoroughly enjoyable, but widely different from one another, the new vaudeville bill at the Empress theater, which was given for the first time yesterday afternoon, is one of the best staged at this popular theater in some time.

The present bill is the last to be given at the Empress theater before the extensive improvements which were planned some time ago, have been made. The improvements will cost about $10,000 and besides including an entirely new set of scenery and new interior decorations, a new ventilating system will be installed.

While the improvements are going on at the Empress there will be no interruption in the shows, for the management has made arrangements to stage Empress shows at the Lyceum theater during the two weeks the improvements are in progress.

The bill this week includes besides some stirring opening selections by Schneider's orchestra, a cycling act a dainty singing and dancing turn by two pretty girls, an interesting play of stage life, a couple of young men who have some good songs and some bright lines, and a strong one-act play called "The Strongest Link" besides some entertaining moving pictures with which to wind up the show.

The Torleys are wonders on bicycles. They open the show with what is about as neat a cycle act as has ever been staged at the Empress. Some of their tricks are wonderful. The sensational way in which they are done keeps the audience keyed up to high pitch of excitement.

Pearl Reeves and Vinnie Bradcome are two clever girls who sing and dance for the amusement of Empress patrons. The girls are good to look at and have some startling costumes. They sing and dance equally well. Their entertainment is thoroughly enjoyable.

In "The Stage Manager," Bert Howard and Effie Laurence keep the fun moving at a rapid pace. "The Stage Manager" is a swift-moving little sketch with lots of good comedy. The people are capable and yesterday it proved to be one of the most popular numbers on the entire bill.

Kenny and Hollis lay claim to being the two original college boys in vaudeville. They sing, dance and give some curbstone talk that gets across in good shape.

Harry First, the star of "Old Isaacs From the Bowery," and Florence Hadley have a strong little play in "The Strongest Link." In all there are five in the company. There is a good deal which appeals to people in the play. It is along more serious lines than most of the plays given at the Empress and the players make it thoroughly interesting.

The program is concluded with the usual moving pictures. There will be three performances daily, one each afternoon and two each evening during the remainder of the week.

"In Old Kentucky."

If the famous comedy, "In Old Kentucky," which was presented last evening at the Lyceum, had been entirely new to the public, it could not have been received with more enthusiasm than was actually manifested by the audience.

The play has appeared from time to time for a score of years, and yet it seems to have lost none of its old-time popularity. It was produced last night by Litt & Dingwall, with a strong company of colored players. The Pickaninny brass band, which yesterday afternoon at the concert given at Lincoln park under the auspices of The Herald, drew crowds from all parts of the city and its environs. The leaders in the cast of characters were: Burt G. Clark as the colonel, Miss Mildred Johnson as Madge, George M. De Vere as Uncle Neb, and Helen C. Gurney as the comical Aunt Alathea. Strong support was also furnished by Andrew Rogers, Walter Fredericks and Theora Carter. The play as a whole was presented with a skill that sustained intense interest in the plot from first to last.

Chauncey Olcott.

Augustus Pitou offers Chauncey Olcott in a new racing play, "Macushla" (Pulse of My Heart), as the attraction at the Lyceum theater for the week commencing tonight, with Saturday matinee only.

The play, which is a product of the pen of Rida Johnson Young, deals with a period of Irish life, that of the early part of the nineteenth century, which has hardly been touched as yet by dramatic writers. It is an epoch which saw some of the most stirring times in Ireland, and when racing and other sports were at their zenith. In Kildare, where the action of the play takes place, the best horses in Europe were bred. For leaping obstacles they were famous and in the hunting field they were unequalled. Even today no great stable in Europe is complete without one Irish hunter at least. Steeple-chasing was the natural race of such a country, and it was run to perfection on the Curragh, where even royalty entered horses for the more important events. "Macushla" tells an exciting story of a fine mare, the last of the racing string of the Fitzgerald family, being entered for this celebrated steeple-chase in the hope that the winnings will free the ancestral estates from debt. Sir Brian Fitzgerald, the part played by Mr. Olcott, is a young baronet who has returned from America to take possession of the estate he has inherited, and his efforts to lift the incumbrances form much of the interesting theme of the romance.

MEMBERS OF BOY GANG OF BURGLARS ARRESTED.

Marion, Ohio, Sept. 11.—Four boys, all less than 17 years old, alleged by the police to be members of a gang that has committed more than fifteen burglaries in the farming community around Marion and many other robberies within this city, were captured last night by a posse of farmers whose homes had been robbed.

The boys, Carl Bartsch, Thurman Huntsman, George Parker and Albert McWhorther, had large sums of money, watches, rings, pocketbooks and other stolen valuables in their possession when arrested. Six others are believed to be members of gangs that have carried on an organized system of robbery for the last ten months.

NINE KILLED, MANY WOUNDED

Clash Between Partisans of Mexican Candidates for President.

City of Mexico, Mex., Sept. 11.— Nine persons were killed and more than twice that number wounded when Heyistas and Maderistas clashed Saturday in Tuxetla, a village in the state of Chiahas, near the southern border of Mexico, according to reports received at the president's office.

Meriden, Yucatan, Mex., Sept. 11.—Partisans of Jose Pino Suarez, candidate for vice president, traveling here on a special train to participate in a manifestation for Francisco I. Madero, were attacked yesterday by a mob of the followers of Moreno Canton, the opposition candidate for governor. Seventeen of the Pinistas were injured by rocks thrown at the train.

MILWAUKEE CAR FATALITY.

One Man Is Killed and Many Are Injured.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 11.—Henry Hamalka was killed and nearly forty people injured Sunday when an electric car on the Greenfield avenue line jumped the track at a switch and turned over.

Of the injured several were badly hurt and the hospital authorities say there will probably be no further deaths.

Among the badly injured was Rev. F. C. Reilly, a Chicago Roman Catholic priest.

HOLIDAY AT CLOQUET.

All Going to Barnum Thursday for County Fair.

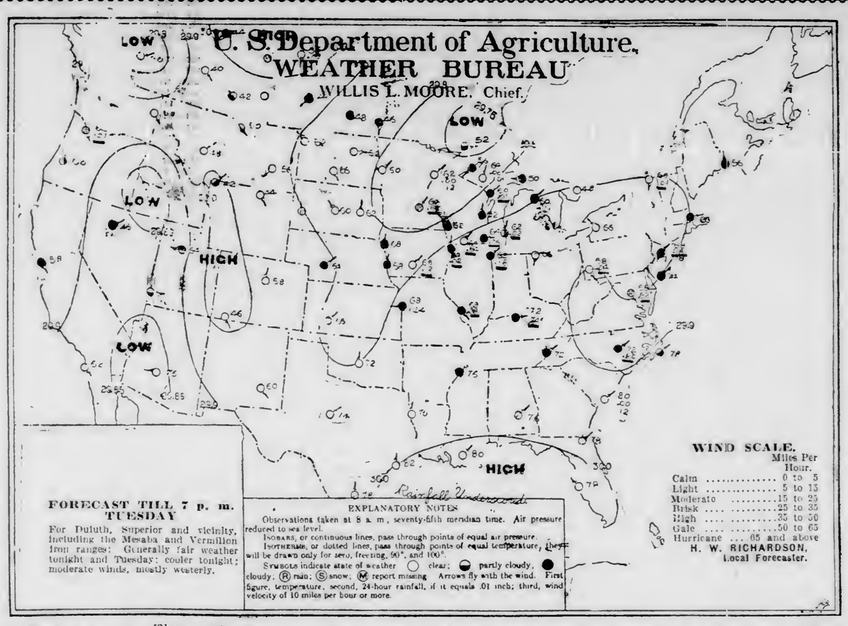

Cloquet, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Next Thursday, Sep. 14, the second day of the Carlton county fair at Barnum, has been designated as Cloquet day, and the annual merchants' picnic will be held at that time, all the stores and business places in Cloquet closing for the occasion. The fair exhibits, which are said to far surpass those of other years, will be at their best that day, and an excellent program of sport is scheduled to be given.

Cuban Editor Shot.

Havana, Sept. 11.—Ernesto Mendoza, editor of El Combate, yesterday killed Rudolfo Fernandez, editor of the Guines De Rumbo. Both papers are published weekly at Guines, about forty miles from Havana. The men met in a street of that town and Fernandez attacked Mendoza with a cane. The latter drew his revolver and shot Fernandez. A newspaper controversy caused the trouble.

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

The weather man was brimming over with good nature yesterday, and he gave Duluth a Sunday that was a delight. It was the kind of early fall weather that draws every one out of doors, and the cold, rainy week was forgotten. Cooler but fair weather prevails today, and continued fair, cool weather is promised for tonight and tomorrow.

Raw, rainy, cold weather prevailed a year ago today.

The sun rose this morning at 5:40 and it will set at 6:29 this evening, giving twelve hours and forty-nine minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"During the last twenty-four to forty-eight hours light to heavy rains have fallen over the Lower Missouri, Upper Mississippi and Ohio valleys, Atlantic and Gulf states and the North Pacific region in connection with the barometric depressions now centered over Western Ontario, Arizona, Idaho and British Columbia. Somewhat warmer weather prevails in Northwestern states, but a turn to cooler may be expected in Minnesota during tonight. At the Head of the Lakes generally fair weather will prevail during the ensuing thirty-six hours."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Sept. 11.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Tuesday:

Upper Michigan—Cloudy tonight, with cooler in west and central portions; Tuesday fair and cooler.

Wisconsin—Unsettled, with showers tonight or Thursday; cooler Tuesday and in north portion tonight.

Minnesota—Unsettled and cooler tonight; Tuesday fair, with cooler in south portion.

Iowa—Unsettled tonight, with cooler in northwest portion; Tuesday generally fair.

North Dakota—Generally fair tonight and Tuesday; cooler in east portion tonight.

South Dakota—Generally fair tonight and Tuesday; not much change.

Montana—Unsettled but generally fair tonight and Tuesday.

Upper Lakes—Light to moderate variable winds; unsettled tonight; Tuesday probably fair.

TOURNAMENT AT THE BRANCH

Gravatt and Fraker Win Postponed Labor Day Event.

The postponed annual Labor day double tournament was held on the Boat club's Spirit lake courts during the week end just passed, H. C. Gravatt and Walter Fraker winning from A. P. Barnes and Erastus Kreidler in the finals 6-2, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4.

The courts had been kept covered all week and were in fairly good condition in spite of the prolonged rains. Prizes in the shape of pearl handled pocket knives were awarded to the winners.

No definite date has been set for the 20-foot motor boat races which will wind up the club's motor boats season. It has been decided to allow the owners to get together any day when the weather is propitious and the motors are all tuned up at the same time, providing such an unforseen bunching of favorable conditions ever occurs. Most of the club boats were up the river yesterday but no races were held.

WELCOMED TO CLOQUET.

J. E. Lynds and Party Back From Trip Around World.

Cloquet, Minn., Sept. 11.—Special to The Herald.)—J. E. Lynds, his wife and their son, and Mr. Lynd's sister, Mrs. Biglowe, returned Saturday night from a trip around the world, after an absence of more than a year. The beautiful Lynds' home on Sixth street had been opened by Mrs. J. J. De Lescaille of Davenport, Iowa, a sister of Mrs. Lynds, and about thirty Cloquet people welcomed Mr. and Mrs. Lynds back. A sumptuous banquet was served at the Lynds home. An orchestra from Duluth furnished music. Mr. Lynds is the secretary of the Cloquet Lumber company as well as one of its heaviest stockholders, and is one of the Cloquet's most progressive citizens. The flag on the city hall was raised shortly before Mr. Lynds' train arrived in the city.

COUNTY WINS MANY PRIZES

Eleven First Awards Received By Exhibits at State Fair.

St. Louis County Potatoes Again Win Over Entire State.

Eleven first, nine second and four third prizes were awarded St. Louis county exhibits in the agricultural section of the state fair which closed Saturday. The showing is considered very satisfactory by the people interested in agricultural work in the county and it indicates that this section of the state is more than holding its own.

The St. Louis county exhibit, collected and shown by the Duluth Commercial club, was in a separate building and was not entered in competition. The exhibits which were awarded the prizes were entered by individual growers or by the Producers' Cooperative Market association. St. Louis county was represented more thoroughly than ever this year and the exhibits were a great education to fair visitors. The display from this county attracted more attention than any other exhibit on the grounds.

One first and two second prizes on celery were taken by St. Louis county exhibitors, as well as a second prize for cauliflower. First prize was taken on the best collection of twenty varieties of potatoes. The score was 94 points. Last year, St. Louis county potatoes scored 100 points, but the lower score this year was sufficient to win first honors.

Other prizes taken by St. Louis county were first on medium red clover, first on alsike clover, first on rape plant, first on millet, first on bale clover, first on bale alfalfa, second on bundled alfalfa, second for the market gardeners' display, third on bale timothy hay, first on rutabagas for stock, second on rutabagas for table first on beets for stock and third on mangels.

A portion of the St. Louis county exhibit will be shown at the Missouri valley fair at Kansas City the latter part of this month. The cars of the Northern Pacific and Great Northern will also take exhibits from this county.

From this time on, A. B. Hostetter, superintendent of agriculture of the Commercial club, will be busy collecting additional exhibits for display cars and for the Northwest Land show, which will be held in St. Paul, Dec. 12 to 23.

WEST END

DEGREE OF HONOR STATE MEETING

Delegates Will Hold Sessions at Columbia Hall Thursday.

Practically all arrangements have been made for the annual state convention of the Degree of Honor, which will be held in Columbia hall, Twentieth avenue west and Superior street, Thursday, under the auspices of Progress lodge, No. 6.

Mayor M. B. Cullum has consented to deliver the addres of welcome to the delegates who will attend the convention.

The convention will be started with a business meeting at 2 p. m., which will be followed by a banquet at 6 o'clock. An open meeting will be held at 8 p. m. Mrs. Dora E. Burgess of Minneapolis, grand chief of honor, and Mrs. Schroder of Minneapolis, deputy, will be among the principal speakers.

VISITORS TO PREACH AT SWEDISH MISSION CHURCH.

Rev. Isaac Skoog of Iron Mountain, Mich., one of the most prominent preachers in the Swedish Mission denomination and quite actively engaged in evangelistic work, will be in Duluth Sunday and will preach at two services at the Swedish Mission church, Twenty-first avenue west and Second street.

While in the city, Rev. Mr. Skoog will be a guest of Rev. and Mrs. J. J. Daniels at the parsonage on Twenty-first avenue west.

Wednesday evening, Rev. M. Nold, a Swedish Mission pastor at Winnipeg, Man., will be in Duluth and arrangements have been made to have him speak at the local church.

REV. STROMBERG TO ATTEND CONFERENCE MEETING.

Rev. Edward Stromberg, pastor of the First Swedish M. E. church, Twentieth avenue west and Third street, will leave this evening for Minneapolis, where he will attend the annual meeting of the Northern Swedish Methodist conference, which will be held for five days, beginning Wednesday. The Northern conference is composed of Minneapolis and Lake Superior districts, which in point of territory takes in several states, including Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan and the Dakotas. Rev. Mr. Stromberg says that he does not look for any changes which might affect the local church. He will return next Monday.

RECEPTION TO PASTOR ON RETURN TO CHARGE.

A reception in honor of Rev. and Mrs. Edward Erickson will be held Thursday evening at the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church, Twenty-fourth avenue west and Third street.

The occasion is the return of Pastor Erickson to the charge for another year. This was decided upon at the annual conference which took place last week at Racine, Wis.

The affair is being tendered by his congregation and a short informal program has been arranged. Rev. Mr. Erickson is now serving his third year as pastor of the local church.

Funeral Held.

The funeral of Mrs. Selma Asbjeld, wife of Olaf Asbjeld, who died Wednesday at her home, 2026 West First street, at the age of 47 years, was held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the Olson & Crawford undertaking rooms, 2118 West First street, to the Lutheran cemetery. Rev. Rosholt, pastor of the Immanuel Norweglan Lutheran church of West Duluth, officiated.

West End Briefs.

Jacob Jacobson has returned from Seattle, Wash., with his bride, who was formerly Miss Anna Qually of the West end. Mr. Jacobson is engaged in the contracting business. They will live at 2113 West Second street.

Mrs. G. H. Giffin, a returned missionary from China, will give a lecture Tuesday afternoon at a meeting of the Women's Missionary society of the Second Presbyterian church at the home of Rev. and Mrs. J. A. McGaurney at 6128 East Superior street.

Rev. F. O. Kling of Minneapolis, a former pastor of the Swedish Mission church of the West end, preached his farewell sermon to his Duluth friends yesterday at the local church. He will leave soon for Los Angeles, Cal., having accepted a call to the Swedish Mission church of that city. Saturday evening, the congregation tendered a reception in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Kling.

Miss Anna Hanson will entertain the Epworth League Sewing circle of the First Norwegian Danish M. E. church at her home, 1728 New street, tomorrow evening.

Mrs. Charles Nelson of 2311 West Seventh street will entertain the Ladies' Aid society of the Swedish Mission church at her home Wednesday afternoon.

The Junior league of the First Norwegian Danish M. E. church will hold a business and social session at the church, Twenty-fourth avenue west and Third street, this evening.

TWIN PORTS CLOTHING CO. INCREASES SALES FORCE

Chas. W. Ericson, Pioneer Duluth Clothing Man, Enters Employ of Progressive Twin Ports Clothing Concern.

Brisk Fall Business in Men's Wearing Apparel Predicted.

The aggregation of experienced clothing men composing the Twin Ports Clothing company, 405-407 West Superior street, has been still further augmented during the past week by the addition of Charles W. Ericson, the pioneer Duluth clothing man, who for more than a quarter of a century has been prominently identified with the retail trade in men's and young men's clothing in this city. Mr. Ericson is a valuable addition to the sales force of the Twin Ports Clothing company, which is already recognized as the strongest in the city, consisting as it does of men who have years of experience in handling the high quality of merchandise carried by this store and are trained in catering to the popular demands of the great buying public. The many friends which Mr. Ericson has made during his long residence in this city, unite in wishing him success in his present connection. His wide experience in the clothing line could always be relied upon in the past to insure satisfaction to his patrons. Backed by a quality store like "The Twin Ports," with a powerful buying organization and a stock incomparable in completeness, Mr. Ericson is now in even better position to serve his friends and fill all their requirements in the clothing line.

The Twin Ports Clothing company is offering the best selection in the Northwest of fall clothing for men and young men and looks forward to the most active season in its history. Indications are that the coming season will be an unusually brisk one with this progressive concern.

SEPTEMBER TERM IS IN FULL SWING

Petit Jurors Report for Duty and Are Assigned to Cases.

About fifty petit jurors reported for duty to Judge William A. Cant of the district court this morning.

Immediately after they had been checked off, the cases were assigned to the several rooms and the work proper on the September term of court was under way.

The September term has been on since Wednesday of last week, but divorce cases have occupied the attention of the judges up until this time.

Before Judge Dancer, Ole Olssen and Christian Evans have suits against the city of Duluth for property which they claim was destroyed as the result of a gas explosion at 202 St. Croix avenue. The case is another of those growing out of the explosion on that avenue about a year ago. The plaintiffs claim negligence on the part of the city in that the break in the pipe was not repaired.

Olssen asks $1,405.50 and Evans asks $1,467.00. Olssen owned the saloon on the ground floor and Evans was the owner of the building.

SPLENDID INVESTMENT.

Desiring to leave the city I have for sale a small block of stock in one of the best little manufacturing plants in the city. Stock is preferred bearing 7 per cent payable semi-annually and a dividend has never been passed. Full insurance kept up on merchandise and machinery. No indebtedness. This is a gilt-edged safe investment. Stock is in shares of $100 each. Address, H. C. B., care Herald.

HOLD BANQUET AT ZENITH CITY

John Erickson Republican League Will Celebrate in Duluth.

William Anderson, Otto Gafvert and Andrew Horngren, the delegates from the Svea Republican club of this city to the meetings held last week at St. Paul by the John Erickson league, have returned.

The annual banquet of the John Erickson league will be held at Duluth on the evening of March 8. Representatives of the Swedish Republican clubs from all over the state will be here for the event. On the next day, March 9, the delegation will leave for Chicago on a special train for the purpose of attending the national banquet of the Swedish Republican clubs. President Taft and Governor Eberhart will be in attendance at the Chicago banquet.

The league is planning much work for the coming fall and winter months. It is proposed to have a Swedish Republican club in every town, village and hamlet of the state. At the St. Paul meeting plans were made for the formation of the clubs throughout the state and committees appointed to take charge of the organization at each place.

At the present time the Svea club of Duluth is the largest organization of the kind in the state.

Centenarian Dies.

Canton, Ill., Sept. 11.—Nelson Raker, the oldest man in Fulton county, died yesterday morning on the 100th anniversary of his birth, at his home, southeast of Canton. He was a native of Clark county, Kentucky.

COMMITTEE TO REPORT

Improved Methods of Handling City Contracts Will Be Recommended.

No Sensations Expected in Report on "Paving Scandal" Investigation.

Recommendations for improving the local system of handling contracts, bettering the methods, reducing expenses and generally putting the work on a more efficient and workmanlike basis, are expected to feature the report of the special council committee which investigated the "paving scandal." The report will be submitted to the council this evening.

The investigation was brought on by the so-called "$1,000 letter" of Hugh Steele, in which he alleged that he had been offered that amount by Contractor P. McDonnell not to bid on the Fourth street paving job. Steele also claimed that he had been discriminated against by city officials.

The sentiment of the committee at the conclusion of the hearing, which lasted several days, appeared to be that Mr. Steele had not substantiated his allegations. His declaration that he had been offered $1,000 by Mr. McDonnell was unsupported by other witnesses. Contractor A. G. Osman also said that Mr. McDonnell had offered him $1,000 not to bid on the same job, but it was not in the presence of any witnesses, according to his own statement. Testimony was offered to show that Mr. Steele's estimate had carried extras as well as those of Mr. McDonnell. The West Superior street paving job was gone into at considerable length, but it resolved itself into a legal question which should be settled by the courts. To bring the matter to a head it is quite possible that the city may send Mr. Steele a bill for the last repairs which were made to the job by the board of public works.

The declaration that City Attorney Bert Fesler was Mr. McDonnell's attorney was not proven in the evidence submitted. Mr. Steele asserted that he thought so because Mr. Fesler had appeared before the school board relative to the substitution of sandstone for granite curb. The work was done by Mr. McDonnell. Mr. Steele said that Mr. Fesler denied it and that if he did so he supposed that Mr. Fesler's statement was correct.

What the report of the committee will be as to the statements concerning Mr. McDonnell is problematical, but it is certain that no testimony was produced to show that he had bribed any city official. Throughout the hearing the statements were universal that no city officials had been subjected to the influence of cash. Mr. Steele claimed that Mr. McDonnell had not lived up to specifications in some of his contracts, but this also was not substantiated.

WILL RESIDE IN NEW YORK

S. G. McConaughy and Family Will Move to the East.

S. G. McConaughy who for years has been associated with the local Y. M. C. A. and also has been in business here, will leave the last of this week for New York, where he will enter upon a new line of work. He has affiliated himself with the Monroe Art Publishing company, of that city, taking charge of the mezzograyure department, a new department handling lithographic work. There is but one other concern in this country which does this kind of work, also located in New York.

Mr. McConaughy will be accompanied by his two older sons, Griffith and Dwight, who will also take position in New York. They will leave on a freighter for a trip down the lakes to Buffalo, the vessel leaving the last of the week.

Mr. McConaughy first came to Duluth in 1890 at the time the old Y. M. C. A. building was being erected at 18 East Superior street. He was then made its general secretary, which position he held until 1894, when he resigned to take up association work in Philadelphia. After four years' of association work there he entered upon a business career, and in 1906 he returned to Duluth. He has been connected with N. J. Upham & Co., in the real estate business, but left that firm a year ago, when he became interested in Florida lands. Not finding the Florida proposition satisfactory, he quit it and took up the new work with the New York concern.

Fall Excursions Via the South Shore.

From Duluth, Sept. 8, 13, 15, 17, via St. Ignace and D. & C. steamers to Detroit, $12.50; Toledo, $13; Cleveland, $14; Buffalo, $14.50. Return limit approximately three weeks. Apply early for stateroom reservation. A. J. Perrin, general agent, 430 West Superior street, Duluth, Minn.

K. OF C. INITIATION.

Large Class of Candidates Received Into Duluth Council.

Duluth council, Knights of Columbus, initiated a large class of candidates yesterday. Visitors from Superior, the range towns and other nearby points attended the sessions. The degrees were exemplified during the morning and afternoon. In the evening, a smoker was held, at which Father Floyd, Brother John, Raymond M. Hughes Leo A. Ball, P. E. Dowling, Dr. E. W. Fahey and others spoke. A. E. Oullette, John Golcz and E. Sauv contributed to the musical program.

ENGINEER IS INJURED NEAR WARREN, MINN.

Warren, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—In backing up the engine the engineer Arvid Swansen was pinned between the engine and the feeder of the separator Saturday and was so badly hurt that he had to be brought to the hospital here. The accident occurred on the Erickson Bros.' farm in Vega.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE—

Default has been made in the payment of the sum of One Thousand and Forty-six and 66-100 ($1,046.66) Dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain Mortgage, duly executed and delivered by C. J. Eklund, a single man, Mortgagor, to Colvin-Robb Lumber Co., Mortgagee, bearing date the 24th day of December, 1910, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of St. Louis and State of Minnesota, on the 6th day of January, 1911, at One o'clock P. M., in Book 284 of Mortgages, on page 398, such default consisting in the non-payment of the first installment of interest on said debt, which became due and payable June 24th, 1911, amounting to Forty Dollars ($40.00), and no action or proceeding has been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said Mortgage or any part thereof.

NOW, THEREFORE, NOTICE IS hereby given, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said Mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said Mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said Mortgage, viz.:

That portion of the Northwest quarter of the Northwest quarter (NW¼ of NW¼) of Section Eleven (11), Township Fifty-eight (58), North of Range Sixteen (16), bounded as follows, to-wit: Commencing at a point 125 feet South of the Southeast corner of Block Fifty-five (55) of the Town of Biwabik on the extension of the East line of said Block Fifty-five (55), running thence West parallel to the South line of said Block Fifty-five (55), to the Right-of-way of the Duluth & Iron range Railway, thence in a Southeasterly direction along the East line of said Right-of-way, to the intersection of said line with the extension of the East line of said Block Fifty-five (55), thence North along the East line of Block 55 to the place of commencement. It being the intention of grantor to convey that piece of land fronting on the extension of Canton Avenue, North of and extending West to the Right-of-way of the Duluth & Iron Range Railway, the North of which is 125 feet distant and parallel to the South line of Block 55, in the Town of Biwabik aforesaid, in St. Louis County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said St. Louis County at the Sheriff's office in the Court House, in the City of Duluth in said County and State, on the 11th day of September, 1911, at 10 o'clock A. M., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said Mortgage debt, and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and Fifty ($50.00) Dollars, Attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said Mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated July 24th, A. D. 1911.

SCHOOL WILL BE REOPENED

Board of Education Accedes to Wishes of Colbyville People.

Lunch Room Will Be Established in Washington Building.

After a lapse of a year, during which the children of Colbyville were transported to the Washburn school at Hunter's Park, the Colbyville school will be reopened.

At a special meeting of the board of education this afternoon the committee on schools reported on a hearing held at Colbyville Saturday, and recommended that the building there be reopened for the accommodation of the seventeen children shown to be there and needing school facilities. It was pointed out that the residents of the suburb object to the long, cold ride to Hunter's Park and the other inconveniences attendant to the transportation of the children, and the board concurred in the recommendation.

Steps were also taken for the reopening of the lunch room for the high school students. A committee from the Women's council attended the meeting and set before the board the desire of parents to have the lunch room reopened. The board agreed to furnish the lunch room in the Washington building with all equipment necessary, and to furnish gas, light, etc. The women said that they thought they could get a manager, who would put the lunch room on a self-sustaining basis. It was decided to have the lunch room supervised by a committee of women. The arrangements were left to the committee on schools, who will furnish the lunch room as soon as possible. It is believed that the inviting surroundings in the new room in the Washington building will increase the patronage so that the lunch room will be a more profitable venture for the person in charge than was the old room in the Central high school building.

COPPERS RALLY AT THE CLOSE

Showed Much Weakness During the Day But Made a Final Spurt.

What promised to be a decidedly bearish day, not only in the coppers, but in the general stock list as well, took a sudden turn for the better when the close was not far off, and the rally was so sharp and decisive that both the coppers and the general list closed at actual gains over the closing prices of Saturday. On the coppers the shorts were numerous and when the market sagged low, they rushed to take advantage of the bargains that offered themselves. A sharp upward movement was the result.

Probably the most bearish feature acting on the market was the failure of the conference at San Francisco to come to any satisfactory settlement of the troubles between the Harriman lines and their men. It seemed that the delegates insisted on a recognition of the railroad labor federation and the railroad managers were determined that this should not be granted. Among the day's copper quotations were the following:

Amalgamated, Saturday's close, $55.75; today, $56.12½, $56.25, $56, $55.75, $56.25, $54.75, $55, $54.87½, $55, $56, $56.12½. Butte Coalition, Saturday, $14.87½ bid, $15 asked; today, $14.87½, $14.75. THREE MEN ARE UNDER ARREST

Mystery of Murder of Chauffeur May Be Explained Soon.

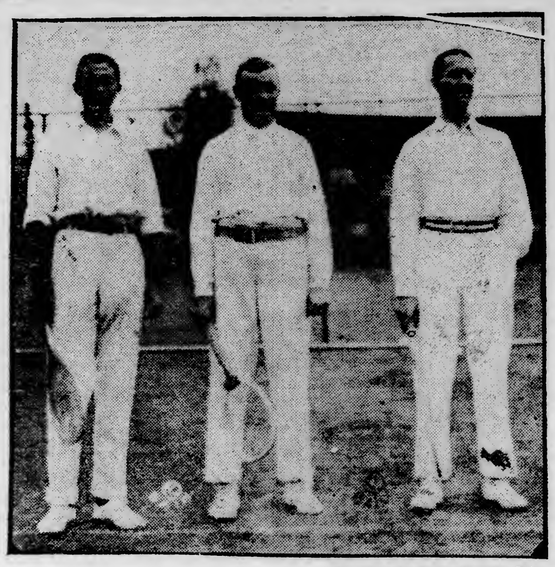

Chicago, Sept. 11.—Three men were arrested at Cary today by Detectives working on the case of the mysterious murder of Frederick Wennerstrom.

The suspects, who were well dressed and said they were looking for an automobile, gave their names as Edward Marland of Pittsburg, William Loggman of New York, and Matthew Jeffrey of Philadelphia.

According to Marshal Auringer of Cary, who was alone when he came upon the trio, the men resisted arrest. They were taken to police headquarters to be questioned.

Wennerstrom was a chauffeur and the car which he used at the time he was slain, was found several days ago in a grove near Crystal Lake, at Cary. The body of the victim was thrown into the river.

WILL FIGHT; WON'T FIGHT

Sheriff and Promoter May Fight If Wolgast and McFarland Don't.

Acting Governor of Wisconsin Orders Sheriff to Do His Duty.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 11.—While Sheriff William A. Arnold of Milwaukee county says that there will be no boxing contest between Lightweight Champion Ad Wolgast and Packy McFarland Friday night, next, in this city, Matchmaker Frank Mulkern of the National Athletic club, under whose auspices the boys are matched to appear, says the bout will be staged as per agreement, and that the law will not be violated.

Sheriff Arnold is firm in his determination not to permit the bout and today received a telegram from Acting Governor Thomas Morris of La Crosse, Wis., requesting him to see that the law governing prize fights is obeyed.

The message from Acting Governor Morris, which is dated at La Crosse, is as follows:

"I am informed that a prize fight is advertised to take place in Milwaukee next Friday evening. The statutes of Wisconsin prohibit prize-fighting. As sheriff of Milwaukee county, it is your duty to enforce the law. I expect you to see that the law is obeyed."

The officials of the National Athletic club, when informed of the message from the acting governor, still persisted that the contest will be carried out.

"Why didn't the sheriff inform us several weeks ago that he contemplated taking action to stop the bout, instead of waiting until a few days prior to the time the boxers are to meet?" said Matchmaker Mulkern. "We have gone to great expense in preparing for this bout and spectators are now on their way from all parts of the country to witness the affair and it is now too late to call the match off. There will be no violation of the law."

NOTHING LOWER THAN 85 WILL QUALIFY.

Rye, N. Y., Sept. 11.—The play in the qualifying round of the United States amateur golf championship at Apawamis was sufficiently fast up to noon to indicate that 86 or better would be necessary to continue in the tournament another day.

Even those players who were unfortunate enough to start early and met a lively two-hour rainstorm came in with cards around 80, while Former Champion Robert A. Gardner, of Hinsdale and Yale, made the first holes in 76.

Interest naturally centered in Hilton the British champion, but owing to the delay early in the day he did not drive off until nearly 1 o'clock. All the players complained of the turf which held back long drives and turned holes usually made in 4's into 5's. The best scores up to noon were as follows:

Robert A. Gardner, Hinsdale, 76; Albert Seckel, Riversido, 77; George Brown, Wyantenuck, 79; Roy White, Englewood, 80; Richard Mott, Huntington Valley, 81; B. S. Evans, Braeburn, 81; F. A. Martin, Shinnecock, 83; M. R. Harstron, Crawford, 83; G. S. Lyon, Toronto, 84; G. W. White, Oakland, 85, and B. F. Allen, Foxhills, 85.

Duluth Barbers Lose.

The Duluth barbers were defeated to the tune of 17 to 4 by the Superior razor artists at Hislop park yesterday afternoon. Members of the Duluth and Superior unions turned out in force to witness the game. After the contest was over the Duluth barbers were the guests of their Superior brethren at Eagles' hall. Refreshments were served and several speeches given.

Sodality First in Field.

At a meeting held last Sunday afternoon, the Young Men's Sodality of St. Clement's church, West William A. Padden manager of the indoor baseball team for the coming season. It's a little early to talk indoor baseball, but Padden believes in getting started early and is now getting a line on the men whom he will gradually round into shape for the opening of the indoor season. Mr. Padden speaks very strongly of the organization of a city indoor baseball league.

WITHDRAW CHARGE AGAINST NEWBERRY

Ex-Secretary of Navy Will Not Be Accused of Killing Child.

Wakefield, R. I., Sept. 11.—The charge of manslaughter on which Former Secretary of the Navy Truman T. Newberry of Detroit was arrested last Tuesday when his automobile ran down and killed a child, was withdrawn when the case came up in the district court before Judge Natah B. Lewis today.

George Wells of Milford, Mass., whose 7 year old daughter, Helen, was killed by Mr. Newberry's automobile at Narrangasett Pier, said he did not hold Mr. Newberry criminally liable for the little girl's death and refused to prosecute.

MACKENZIE AND MANN COMING

Officers of Canadian Northern Will Be Entertained Here.

Duluth business men may entertain the high officials of the Canadian Northern railroad on Sept. 23, when a party including Sir William Mackenzie, president; Sir Daniel Mann, vice president; H. C. McLeod, general manager, and others will come to this city on an inspection tour.

Under the auspces of the Duluth Commercial club a fitting reception will probably be accorded the officials at that time.

The officials of the Cimmercial club some time ago extended an invitation to the railroad magnattes to visit Duluth and be entertained by the business men, but the date was left entirely to the convenience of the visitors. It will probably be Sept. 23.

STRIKE NOT CONSIDERED.

Hope for Another Conference With Kruttschnitt Expressed.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 11.—"We have not yet considered the question of a strike of the shop employes. We are still hoping for another conference with Mr. Kruttschnitt, or with the general managers of the Harriman lines. However, we have not and will not modify the demand for recognition of the federation."

This statement was made today by J. W. Kline, president of the Blacksmiths' and Helpers' unions of Chicago, who arrived here today.

FASHION OF THE BRACELET.

Perhaps the finest pair of bracelets in existence were those in the regalia of the Mogul emperors of India. They were set with diamonds of unrivalled beauty and of fabulous worth. In madiaeval times, before the advent of Benvenuto Cellini, bracelets were simple both in form and design, and were of little, if any, artistic value. But the graceful elegance of the trinkets made by Cellini, and their exquisite workmanship, changed this forever.

The goldsmiths of the East were better at this kind of work than those of the West, says the London Globe, although of course Italy produced some splendid jewel workers in the persons of Ghiberti and Arditi. Taste in jewelry changes almost as much as taste in dress, but of late years it appears that there is a decided liking for barbaric ornament, and in many cases it is marvellously becoming, but, as in all matters of personal adornment, a very great deal depends upon the wearer.

It is rather amusing to read in a book written some fifty years ago that it was considered "fast" for a woman "to wear horeshoes in any form whatsoever." A somewhat favorite arrangement with the jewelers of the time was that of a set of small horseshoes worked on the outside of a band of plain gold, to be worn in the form of a bracelet. The writer decries it thus: "Of all hideous and unmeaning symbols, horseshoes are the worst. They argue, even on quiet girls, a certain predilection for imitating their fast sisters; whereas, such an attachment to the turf as they seem to imply is only appropriate to grass widows."

It would be hard to find a relic of barbarism which has descended to us in a form less changed than the bracelet. One of the earliest records of these trinkets is the Biblical passage, which gives a list of the ornaments which Abraham's servant, Eliezer, gave Rebekah as presents from Isaac. In it two bracelets are mentioned among other things.

In these very ancient times it was the custom for men as well as women to wear bracelets and there is in the museum at Leyden a bracelet an inch and a half wide, made of pure gold and bearing the name of Thothmes III., who lived nearly 1,300 years ago. For many years it was the overwhelming opinion in Rome for women to wear bracelets, and yet they were first used among the Romans as a reward for valor on the field of battle. Curius Dantatus received no fewer than 160 armlets, which he certainly could not wear all at once as a single armlet was frequently too heavy to be carried on the arm with comfort.

When William the Conqueror came to England he found many of the Angles wearing bracelets, and in the Saxon Chronicle Edgar is spoken of as "the bestower of bracelets," a custom taken of course from the Romans. When the Danes made peace with Alfred they swore fidelity upon a holy bracelet.

The Scandinavian antiques of the bronze period have many bracelets among them. Some were spiral and a foot or more in length, long enough to cover the whole forearm and in the sagas these are very often mentioned. A very curious bracelet was employed for divination purposes in Iceland. When there was anything of importance to be divined, it was placed upon the altar and the blood of the victim sprinkled over it.

In some parts of the East women of high caste wear huge bracelets, the object being to prove their noble birth by making them unable to do work of any kind. Savage races delight in all kinds of weird ornament, but it must be a high price to pay for beauty to wear two large bracelets attached to the ears —for one cannot call them earrings—and another through the cartilage of the nose. But most frequently they wear a mass of hoops on their arms and legs, and are fairly content with that.

Before lunatics were confined to asylums, and when they were allowed to wander at large over the countryside, they wore an armlet for distinction.

A bracelet was once used to perform the marriage ceremony, no other article approximating a ring being handy. It so happened that the bracelet was the gift of the bridegroom to his bride.

RIVAL PEOPLES IN AUSTRIA.

"Outside of Italy I have rarely seen men going barefoot either in the country or in the city," writes Booker T. Washington in the Outlook, "but in Southern Europe it seems to be the custom among working women.

"I saw many barefoot women later in the course of my journey, both in the field and elsewhere. I confess, however, I was surprised to meet in Vienna, Austria, as I did on several occasions while I was there, women walking barefoot on the pavements in one of the most fashionable streets of the city.

"One day in speaking to a native Austrian I expressed my surprise at what I had seen. 'Oh, well,' replied he, 'they are Slovaks.'

"How vividly this reminded me of a parallel remark with which I was familiar: 'Oh, well, they are negroes!'

"It was the tone of this reply that caught my attention. It emphasized what I soon discovered to be another distinguishing feature of life in Southern Europe. Everywhere I went in Austria and Hungary I found the people divided according to the race to which they belonged.

"There was one race at the top, another at the bottom and then there were perhaps two or three other races which occupied positions relatively higher or lower in between. In most cases it was some section of the Slavic race, of which there are some five or six different branches in the Austrian empire, which was at the bottom.

"Several times, in my efforts to find out something about these so-called 'inferior people,' I made inquiries about them among their more successful neighbors. In almost every case, no matter what race it happened to be to which I referred, I received the same answer. I was told that they were lazy and would not work; that they had no initiative; that they were immoral and not fitted to govern themselves.

"At the same time I found them doing all the really hard, disagreeable and ill paid labor that was being done. Usually I found also that with fewer opportunities than the people around them they were making progress. I was frequently surprised at the bitterness between the races. I have heard people talk more violently, but I do not think I have heard any one say anything worse in regard to the negro than some of the statements that are made by members of one race in Austria in regard to members of some other.

"The Czechs are but one of the seventeen races of Austria-Hungary, each one of which, with the exception of the Jews, who are an exception to everything, is seeking to preserve his own language and if possible compel all his neighbors to learn it. Preserving its own language is not difficult in the country districts, where each race lives apart in its own village and maintains its own peculiar customs and traditions. It is more difficult in the large cities, like Vienna and Budapest, where the different nationalities come in intimate contact with each other and with the larger European world."

OLD ENGLISH GARDENS.

The maze at Hampton Court is world renowned, and there is a good maze in the garden at Hatfield. The grounds of the latter go back to the days of Queen Elizabeth. There is an old fashioned garden and a yew tree garden, where rows of thick yews make dark and sheltered pathways. And there is also a walled vineyard, where grapes for the sacramental wine were grown by the monks of past centuries.

Some country houses are noted for the special hedges in their gardens, says the Queen. Raby Castle has enormous yew hedges; Howth Castle, in Ireland, has fine, upstanding beech hedges; Melkleour House, in Scotland, owned by Lord Lansdowne, has a beech hedge eighteen feet in height and a quarter of a mile in length; there are huge holly hedges at Tyingham, which belongs to Lord Haddington, and a holly hedge of vast proportions to be seen at Keele Hall, in Staffordshire, which was for so long rented by the Grand Duke Michael and Countess Torby.

Gardens with grass paths and with paved paths have a charming Old World appearance. Grass paths may be seen to perfection at Knole, Lord Sackville's wonderful old home near Sevenoaks. Knole, by the way, was the Vauxe of Disraeli's Lothair. And the grass paths at Sutton Place, which belongs to Lord Northcliffe, are also most exquisite.

Paved paths are also a pleasant variant from commonplace gravel. Helmingham, Lord Tollemache's place in Suffolk, has its garden paths paved with stone, and the same may be seen at Hackwood Park, which is now owned by Lord Curzon of Kedleston. Blue tiles are used as paths and as edges to flower beds at Wood End, Sir Hugo de Bathe's place, near Chichester.

Some people go in for specialties in horticulture. The fuchsia walk at Penrhyn Castle is a sight to see, and so are the rhododendrons at Heron Court, Lord Malmesbury's place near Christchurch. In late spring a valley-like part of the park seems a blaze of brilliant colors—pink, red, mauve, yellow and orange. Two rivers, the Avon and the Stour, run through the grounds, and later on this latter will be covered with water lilies.

Lady Ilchester's garden at Abbotsbury is rich with the pomp of magnolia and camellia, and gay with spirea, mimosa and ceronilla. Lady Pembroke's garden at Wilton is very fair to see. Near the Italian garden is an evergreen oak with a girth of twenty feet and the cedars are older than those at Warwick Castle.

REWARDS OF WRITING.

What reward, apart from the fun of the thing, do most writers get? Everybody reads of the big sums earned by the fortunate few, but few people hear of the small sums earned by the hopeful many, perhaps the hopeful many usually pretend that they are really in the fortunate few class. How much do the hopeful many make in dollars and cents?

An answer to the question has recently been furnished in an article in Collier's Weekly on the "Rewards of Writing," by a "Near Writer," in which the writer's experience was set forth. Passing over earlier years the author recorded that in the last two years he had sold forty short stories to Munsey's, Black Cat, Blue Book, Leslie's Weekly, Red Book, New Idea, etc., had run three newspaper serials in most of the large cities of the country and had published two text books and a romance through two of the most important publishing houses in the United States. For all this he had received altogether about $1,500 and had to depend on a government office for his main support. The author closed by begging some one to show him the way into the promised land.

But mark the sequel. The writer has been too candid to permit his identity to remain hidden. He was recognized as Crittenden Marriott, author of "The Isle of the Dead Ships," "Out of Russia," etc., the latter just issued by Lippincotts. Letters poured in upon him from all over the country. Merely on his record, as set forth in the articles, three jobs were offered him, all at salaries higher than the one he was earning from the government. One of them, that of editor and press agent for the Hudson Motor Car company of Detroit, he has accepted, nearly doubling his income thereby. Moreover, his new romance, "Out of Russia," is having a demand that seems likely to lift him into the class of big sellers.

SHE TALKS THROUGH HIS HAT.

The newest thing in wireless is to talk through a hat, says the World To-day. Frank Chambers of Philadelphia, who has been experimenting for years in curious methods of using the wireless means of communication, has succeeded in making a receiving apparatus so small that it can be carried in the crown of a high hat.

He has a sending apparatus at his home and he has taught his wife to use this and has perfected her in the Morse code, at which he is an adept. Consequently e enjoys the pleasure of being able at any time to carry on a one-sided conversation with his wife.

Chambers has three ways of connecting the receivers at his ears with the wireless machine at his home. He can hitch to the guy wire of a telegraph pole, he can stand on a metal manhole, or he can stand on the rail of a trolley road. By this method any wireless enthusiast can keep in touch with his headquarters while camping during the summer by rigging up a simple aerial and a wireless sending apparatus and then taking with him on his excursion the simple little receiving device that he can carry in his pocket.

He will not be able to report his own progress, but he will at least get the camp news, and by agreeing to be in a receptive situation at a certain time any man can get the latest news from home by means of the little wireless device, provided he has installed a sending apparatus and trained his wife to use it as Chambers has.

TOO MUCH FOR THE CLAIRVOYANT

Cleveland Plain Dealer: "You claim to be a great clairvoyant," began the client who had been shown into the rooms of Mme. La Faque. "I am told that you can read the past, present and future. Nothing is hidden from you."

"It is true," answered the famous medium. "For $2 I will tell you—"

"I will give you $10 if you will put me wise to one problem, interrupted the client impatiently. "What was it that my wife told me to bring home for dinner tonight?"

The money was refunded, but not cheerfully, as the advertisements promised.

The Duluth Herald accepts advertising contracts with the distinct guarantee that it has the largest circulation of any newspaper published in Minnesota outside the Twin Cities. Its value as an advertising medium is apparent.

THE TWIN CITY ATTITUDE.

The other day The Herald asked how it happened that Minnesota, alone among the Northwestern states which reduced passenger rates by state law, had been singled out by the railroads for attack.

In view of the fact that the low rates of North Dakota, Wisconsin and Iowa are still undisturbed, while Minnesota has been back on the 3-cent basis since July 1, it looked very much as though the railroads had picked out Minnesota for their demonstration of power because they felt secure against any sort of interference from the state administration.

If there is any other reason than this The Herald wanted to know what it is.

We were interested, therefore, when we got a rise out of the St. Paul Pioneer Press, and found it publishing an editorial of some length in answer to The Herald's inquiry.

We read that editorial carefully, and then read it again, hoping to find some explanation of the situation that would reassure a Minnesota citizen who wanted to feel proud not only of his state but of his state government.

No such explanation was to be found.

All there was in the Pioneer Press editorial was the usual and expected Twin City hostility to an extra session of the legislature; the usual and expected Twin City opposition to any interference with railroad plans; the usual and expected Twin City fear that if the legislature got together and took up railroad legislation something might be done to disturb the delicate balance of the inclined plane, arranged by railroad favoritism to the Twin Cities, down which all trade and traffic is irresistibly diverted to feed two overgrown cities, to the building of which every other community in the state has been sacrificed by railroad discriminations.

Without exception, The Herald's campaign for an extra session to readjust railroad taxation has been met with hostility by every Twin City newspaper. Though half the country newspapers in Minnesota have approved the extra session and have joined The Herald in its campaign to increase railroad taxation, not a single newspaper comment favorable to either has found its way into the columns reserved for the opinions of other newspapers in any Twin City newspaper.

The Herald has not counted upon any support from the Twin City press. The Twin Cities have everything to lose and nothing to gain by railroad legislation. Beneficiaries of a gigantic system of special favors and discrimination by which Duluth and every other community in the state has been handicapped, it is not to be expected that these cities, or the newspapers published in these cities, will favor any move toward redeeming the state from a condition under which the railroads do their will without regard to the wishes or needs of the state and its people.

The Pioneer Press wants to know if The Herald favors legislative "reprisal." If raising railroad taxes from a point that is lower than the taxes on any other class of property in the state to a point where railroad property shall bear somewhere near its just share of the tax burden is "reprisal," then The Herald favors reprisal. If wishing to have that change made now, instead of being postponed unnecessarily for two years at a loss of $2,000,000 to the state, is favoring "reprisal," then The Herald is for reprisal.

But all through its fight for fair railroad taxation The Herald has repeatedly disclaimed the idea that punishment of the railroads has any part in its program. Redemption of the state from the ignominy of high railroad rates and absurdly low railroad taxation is not punishment, but justice.

CONFIDENCE IN CORPORATIONS.

Business in certain lines being a little slacker than we should like to see it, and the stock market being especially dull and flabby, a favorite explanation from reactionary sources is that the whole trouble comes from the fact that there is so much muck-raking and senseless agitation that the people have lost confidence in the securities of the great corporations.

We have believed all the time that the people would have more confidence in corporation securities when there was regulation of corporations to prevent the many abuses that have crept into their management, and that the real trouble in Wall Street is not that the people have lost confidence in the nation's industries, but that the people have lost interest in Wall Street gambling.

Figures prepared by the Wall Street Journal bear out this belief. While transactions in Wall Street have been the smallest in many years, there has been a steady and remarkable absorption of good stocks and bonds by investors, until the ownership of the great corporations is today scattered more widely than it ever was before.

Taking 223 of the principal concerns, the Wall Street Journal finds that they have today 853,724 stockholders as compared with but 428,774 in 1906, and only 225,897 in 1901. In five years the number of stockholders has doubled, and there are almost four times as many as there were ten years ago.

Though real regulation hasn't progressed as far as it should nor as far as it is going to, there is more of it than there used to be, and there is very much more publicity of corporation affairs than there was. That means that it is now more difficult than it used to be for those in control of the great corporations to juggle their affairs for their own particular profit; and therefore there is greater public confidence in these securities. Because of this greater confidence the public has been buying these stocks—for investment and not for speculation—and instead of a few large holders there are now many small holders.

This tendency is good, because the wider the ownership of the great corporations the greater the public concern in their welfare, the less likelihood of destructive attacks and, above all, the closer the relationship between these corporations and the public they serve.

Under the old go-as-you-please conditions of the McKinley-Hanna days corporation managers could do as they pleased, not only with the public but with their stockholders. The stockholders were victimized almost as frequently as the public.

Under public regulation the government will safeguard the interests of the stockholders as well as the interests of the public.

There will be less squeezing of stockholders and less milking of the public.

Everybody is willing that a corporation, however great, that is formed to furnish a useful service to the public shall earn reasonable dividends on its honest investment.

The average investor is contented with the assurance that his investment in railroad or industrial stock will return him reasonable and steady dividends.

It is only the greedy few that wish to squeeze the public for "all the traffic will bear."

It is only the arrogant tyranny of these greedy few that the public wishes restrained.

Under strict regulation profits will be honest and steady, and service will be honest and good. Therefore there will be more confidence in corporation securities, a wider ownership of the corporations, and more settled and tolerable conditions generally both for the stockholders and the public.

LETTING DOWN THE BARS.

Collier's Weekly seems to have aroused the ire of some of the state officers by criticizing the law passed at the last session of the legislature repealing the restrictions surrounding the sale of state lands.

Yet the purpose of Collier's is wholly friendly, and state officers would better heed its advice than to become peevish because an outside publication presumes to counsel the state regarding one of its most important duties—that of getting its vacant and idle lands as soon as possible into the hands of actual settlers and tillers of the soil.

The Herald some time ago condemned the action of the legislature in removing these restrictions, which were thoroughly wholesome and reasonable. The law that was repealed simply required, as a guaranty that the purchaser was buying for actual settlement and cultivation, that a small percentage of the area purchased be cleared or tilled within a reasonable time. The requirements were very moderate, and any purchaser for settlement would be certain to do much more than the law required and in a much shorter time.

Attorney General Simpson is quoted in the St. Paul newspapers as saying that he knew of a certain Northern Minnesota capitalist who offered a lawyer $1,000 to draw up a bill repealing the law limiting purchases to 320 acres to an individual. On the face of the situation it would appear that that unnamed person, finding himself unable to get such a measure drawn and passed, contented himself with removing the restrictions compelling cultivation.

The state's land is not for speculators, but for settlers, and the state authorities should exercise the utmost vigilance to see that settlers, not speculators, get that land. The legislature at its next session will do well to re-enact the law which it repealed last winter, besides enacting new laws facilitating the settlement and development of idle acres.

BEING GOOD WILL HELP.

The Herald Saturday evening reported the speech of A. W. Green, president of the National Biscuit company, who in Kansas City said that "it behooves every officer of a corporation so to manage its affairs that it shall commend itself to the public sentiment of the country—of all the people of the country—to the end that the attitude of the people toward these corporations shall not be hostile, but friendly."

That's wise and good and enlightened advice. After the people get over being irritated by mere bigness—which they will do when they get used to it—they will learn to choose between corporations which conduct themselves as public servants and corporations which seek to arrogate to themselves mastery over the public. The corporation manager who keeps his corporation in the good graces of the public by dealing fairly will have less trouble with the public than the shortsighted manager who can see in the public nothing but a source of exorbitant profits.

Yet this process will not do away with the need of public regulation of corporations. It will double that need. As conscieneless competitors tend to set the pace in an industry, regulation will be needed to protect those who are willing to deal fairly with the public if competition will permit it.

In other words, while many corporation managers are willing to be good and doubtless many are trying to be good, the surest way and the better all around will be public regulation that will compel all of them to be good whether they want to or not.

THE TAFT VETOES.

Governor Harmon, for a possibly prospective opponent of the presidency, is reasonably charitable in discussing the Taft vetoes of the tariff bills when he ascribes them to "wrong advisers." Many others so account for them. And yet—though it is the most characteristic comment on the president—it isn't so charitable after all to intimate that the president of the United States is in the habit of getting his opinions secondhand.

Judge Harmon floods with light a vital situation when he says: "The Payne-Aldrich-Smoot law had a far worse sire than ignorance. And it is a reflection on our plan of government to say that the flagrant iniquities of that law shall go on defying good sense, common knowledge and honest purpose until a commission without legal responsibility or authority shall decide how the duly chosen lawmakers may deal with them."

A REFRESHING INNOVATION.

We note in the columns of a near-by exchange that a young couple were "quietly married" the other day.

This is a commendable example which should be emulated by the youth of the land when its thoughts turn to orange blossoms and wedding bells.

If there is anything unseemly in American life it is the tendency toward noisy weddings, which the description quoted above subtly reproaches. A wedding that arouses a neighborhood by its racket is entirely unfitting, and we cannot too strongly deprecate the practice of jarring the solemnity of a sacred occasion by loud noises and boisterous behavior.

Weddings should always be "quiet," as this one was, and it is to be hoped that now that the practice of keeping weddings quiet and orderly has been started, it will be continued.

ROBERT M. LA FOLLETTE

By SAVOYARD.

I don't know whether this man is Hugenot or Catholic; I do know that he harks back to the seige of Rochelle, in spirit, at least, whether his ancestors of that epoch were with the defenders or the assailants. It is a fascinating chapter in the history, the story of France when Valois, Bourbob and Lorraine were contending for the mastery. All were fanatics in perpetual war, with the Christian religion the paramount issue. The issue was heroic and infamous, and deeds of daring in the field were linked with conspiracies of infamy in the council. Assassination was practiced by all, and Coligny was murdered the eve of St. Bartholomew because the greatest of the Guises had been murdered only a short while before by a Hugenot. They were terribly in earnest in their savage faiths, both Catholic and Protestant, and each one believed that he was the more acceptable to the lamb of God the more he could practice the creed of Moloch. Guise, father and son, Francis and Henry, of the house of Lorraine, fell by the hand of the assassin; so did Henry III, the last of the Valois, and so did Henry IV, the first of the Bourbon dynasty.

Far is it from my thought to hold the Wisconsin statesman a bad man, but in his composition is an element of that fanaticism that was terrible at Moucoutour and glorious at Ivy. We saw the same in the raidings of De Wet, another Frenchman, in the Boer war of ten years ago.

If La Follette's wisdom were commensurate with his sincerity, he would be the first statesman of his time. He has a strong and an exquisite sense of justice, and a wrong visited on a stranger on the other side of the earth he feels as sensibly and resents as furiously as though he were himself the victim of it. He hates wrong instinctively and combats it intrepidly. The devil of it with him, as with the rest of us, is that he is not infallible and sometimes confuses Canaan with Egypt. But La Follette is not going to do, or condone, wrong if he knows it. He would sooner be respectable than rich. He may do his country great harm but he will never sell his country. He loves his job of national law-giver, but it would be valueless to him if he had to buy it and pay cash for it. He loves public applause much, but he loves self-approval more.

The first time I saw La Follette was in 1886. He was a slender man then, though now somewhat portly. He was a member of the Forty-ninth congress and stood near the north entrance to the chamber. There was great intensity in his voice and manner, and the man appeared to be enraged. I was sitting directly in front of him in the house press gallery and got a good look at him. I am sure that his voice then was much stronger and far more commanding than it is now, and certainly there was more animation in his manner. He was talking about the tariff. I don't recall what he said except that he left the impression on my mind that Pig Iron Kelley was too much of a free-trader for him. Little did I then think that a time would come when anybody could concoct a tariff grog too strong for the Hon. La Follette.

In those days a bag of money named Sawer was Republican boss of Wisconsin. Matt Carpenter was dead and John C. Spooner had just appeared on the national stage. La Follette was a protege of old Sawyer; but it seems that the young man soon discovered that his patron was too much of the earth earthy. They had a row, and Sawyer went to the wall. So did La Follette and Spooner, for the Democrats got the upper hand and would have kept it had not the party of Jefferson and Tilden taken a whirl with the party of Tom Watson and Sockless Simpson.

However that might have been, the Democratic party of Wisconsin retired from politics and the Republicans swept the deck. Spooner returned to the senate, which he ornamented by his character as well as his intellect. He, too, preferred to be honest rather than rich, and after pulling the Roosevelt administration out of the fire time and again he resigned in order to make a living. He could have been a millionaire without leaving the senate, but he had too much self respect to get rich that way.

After Spooner retired, La Follette was everybody himself. He and old Stephenson were allies for a time, but later he severed his connection with that bag of money as he had from old Sawyer. La Follette elected himself to the senate, but Stephenson had ambition also to be senator and was ready to spend a barrel of money to get the toga. He got it all right, and has been La Follette's colleague ever since the retirement of Spooner.

Taft was elected president and found a senate dominated by Nelson W. Aldrich. Congress was convened to revise the tariff down. The standpatters of both houses were resolved to revise it up. That caused a split in the Republican ranks, and La Follette joined the insurgents, who were brilliantly led by the late Jonothan P. Dolliver. But Dolliver died when the presidency seemed in his grasp, and it was as sore a loss to the senate and the country as the defeat and death of Carmack. With Dolliver gone it was but natural that La Follette should obtain the leadership of the insurgents, and he has been a thorn in the side of the Taft administration ever since he got his leadership.

He is no orator, as was Dolliver, but he is terribly in earnest. Unfortunately he believes in tariff graft, but he refuses to go to the lengths reached by the standpatters. Allied with the Democrats he drove the president into the arms of the standpatters, and if Mr. Taft can be re-elected president in 1912 Mr. Aldrich can be, if he, and not Taft, shall be nominated. Though a rather poor public speaker, La Follette is very garrulous and eternally on his legs. It takes most of a week for him to make a speech. What a pity it is that he has not the gigantic intellect and is not the consummate orator Matt Carpenter was!

They were talking about naming La Follette for president; but it is manifest that Taft will get that nomination, and thus if La Follette shall be a candidate in November, 1912, it will be as the head of a bolting ticket like that of Palmer and Buckner in 1896. There is no doubt that the Wisconsin man is in accord with W. J. Bryan on every public question except the tariff, and if the tariff shall be paramount in 1912, as seems inevitable, I do not see how it is possible for these two to play together in the same team.

It would clear the atmosphere considerably if Judson Harmon would follow the example of Woodrow Wilson and say how he stands on the subject of free raw material.

But the little man from Wisconsin is a very considerable force in the political world, and we shall hear a deal of him the next double decade if he lives.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

PUBLIC SUGAR BOWLS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

With all due respect to those concerned I wish to make a suggestion, which if carried out will make my noon-luncheon more agreeable, and I am sure will meet with approval by many others.

The suggestion is that proprietors of lunch rooms or restaurants replace the sugar bowl now in use with some kind of a shaker top receptacle, something resembling a salt cellar only larger. Such a thing is on the market although I do not know what it is called.

I have many times seen people sip coffee or tea from the spoon and directly afterwards each, into the bowl for sugar with the same spoon.

As there are no spoons provided with the sugar bowl, we are, any one of us, liable to do the same thing without thinking.

The same conditions prevail in this as in the case of the public drinking cup, and to my mind equal precautions should be taken.

I have actually seen a man during a late evening lunch take his spoon out of a half filled coffee cup dip it into the sugar bowl, pass it to his mouth and repeat the same again. Would you Mr. Editor like to use sugar from this same lot considering that a lunch room is a public place, I believe we have as good eating places as any in the land, and that the proprietors are doing everything in their power to have things right, and I believe they will see the force of my argument in the right light. Thank you. J. D. L.

Duluth, Sept. 9.

REGULATION NEEDED; NOT PROHIBITION.

To the Editor of The Herald:

I notice in a recent issue of The Herald you took up the question of automobile noises, and rightly, because that is one thing that ought to be regulated. In fact, what is needed in reference to noise of this sort is regulation, rather than prohibition.

The use of the muffler cut-outs is absolutely unnecessary except in the case of high grade. The one thing that the motorists needs is an adequate warning signal, one whose harsh note speells danger, but at the same time is not a roar nor a screech. There are such signals, and the motorist ought to be forced to restrict his choice to them. The average bulb horn is of about as much use as a warning of danger as the fifth wheel is to a wagon.

Chicago's new ordinance, while loosely drawn, has one phrase that demands attention, because of its excellence. It is that an automobile warning signal shall only be used as a warning of danger. That is the beginning and end of the usefulness of the warning signal. It should be kept within that channel and those who misuse it will thus make public nuisances of themselves and should be arrested and fined.

Mrs. Isaac L. Rice, the apostle of the Anti-Noise campaign, said to me that the society should be called the anti-unnecessary noise society. That is an organization to which every good citizen should be willing to subscribe his approval. It is the unnecessary noise, not the necessary noise, that ought to be suppressed.

Let us have an adequate automobile warning signal, one that will send a note of danger in no uncertain tone, and yet not screech it as though it were from a housetop. Yours very truly, CHARLES JOHNSON.

A Judge With a Caustic Tongue.

Philadelphia Star: A St. Louis judge says he finds newspaper men as honest as lawyers. These judges can be pretty mean sometimes.

A MOMENT WITH THE WITS.

Chicago Record-Herald: "We don't hear much about Omar Khayyam any more."

"No. Let's see, what team was he with?"

Harper's Bazar: Miss Budd—What do you think of the coming man?

Miss Spinster—I think he must have met with an accident.

Stray Stories: Kate—Maude is married and she doesn't know the first thing about housekeeping.

Alice—Yes, she does; the first thing is to get a husband to keep house for.

Chicago News: Ashley—Every time I buy a new automobile I deposit $5,000 in the bank.

Seymour—Why do you do that?

Ashley—So as to have a fund I can draw on to pay for repairs.

Housekeeper: "You, there, in the overalls!" shouted the cross-examining lawyer, "how much are you paid for telling untruths?"

"Less than you are," retorted the witness, "or you'd be in overalls, too."

Washington Star: "So you don't care much for life in a large city?"

"No," replied Farmer Corntossel. "The population of a large city is composed too largely of folks that went there with money an' had to stay there 'cause they was broke."

Exchange: During a recent hot spell a broker was complaining to a friend of the dull trading.

"Business," he said. "What can one do in the way of business with the mercury standing at 100?"

"Do?" replied his friend. "Great Scott, man; it's the chance of a lifetime to sell mercury."

Chicago Tribune: "Life isn't worth living," sighed the sad-featured man.

"I quite agree with you," said the solemn looking stranger.

"Ah, then, you, too, are a pessimist," said the sad-featured man.

"No; I'm an undertaker," replied he of the solemn visage.

Pointed Paragraphs.

Chicago News: Men have no idea what funny ideas women harbor until they get married.

Inject common sense into a love affair and often it will die a natural death.

Lots of men would make good if employed to furnish the motive power for windmills.

If a girl meets a man who doesn't admire her she imagines that he is a confirmed woman hater.

A girl may frankly admit that another man kissed her, but she always adds that it was on the cheek or forehead.

When a young man is walking with a girl and happens to meet a min'ster in front of a courthouse it's his cue to start his thought generator.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

New York Press: Some people are such good bluffers they can bluff themselves.

It's to be hoped the Lord loves a fault finder, for nobody else can.

A man is nearly always willing to do something for his country if he gets paid enough for it.

It appears as if shy little girls wouldn't talk because they will have so much of it to do later in life.

The way a woman can handle hatpins would make a swordsman think she had taken fencing lessons all her life.

An Incident of the Road.

Harper's Weekly: "Stop!" cried the man in the road. "You are exceeding the speed limit!"

"That's all nonsense," retorted Binks, bringing his car to a standstill.

"That's what they all say," said the man in the road, climbing into the car. "You can tell your story to the magistrate at Hinktown—jest seven miles up the road. Start along, please."

They drove on in silence to Hinktown, where, as the car drew up in front of the courthouse, the man in the road got out.

"Much obliged for the lift," said he. "You can settle the matter of speed with the magistrate if you want to. As a stranger in these here parts I don't think my word would go for much."

DULUTH AND THE HERALD.

An Old Complaint.

Mankato Free Press: The big city of Duluth has a grievance against the railroads. It is not a new complaint, but is one that has been talked about by the people and the newspapers for to these many years— freight rate discrimination in favor of Minneapolis and St. Paul.

Every town in Minnesota feels the baneful effects of this discrimination and their growth and prosperity is retarded. We hope Duluth will compel the railroad companies to see the error of their ways and that that city will obtain the justice to which she is entitled. If Duluth gains what she is seeking, other towns in Minnesota may come in for just rates.

How to Recall a Bad Judge.

Fergus Falls Journal: The Duluth Herald says there is one judge who should be recalled and that is Judge Lynch. If some of the murderers, who participate in the inhuman lynchings which have disgraced this country were punished, lynching would not be as popular as it is in some localities.

They Are Alive, Anyway.

Blwabik Times: We note from the Hibbing papers that quite a number of Duluth men attended the St. Louis county fair. Duluth people, it sometimes seems, are more alive to the agricultural possibilities than are the citizens of the range.

Duluth Wakes Up.

Chisholm Tribune Herald: The Duluth Commercial club has filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission charges of freight rate discrimination against nearly all transportation companies entering Duluth, and the hearing will be closely followed by those who have suspected for a long time that Minneapolis and St. Paul were being built up at the expense of the smaller cities of the state. Were it not for the fact that Duluth is being robbed of the commercial advantages bestowed upon her so liberally by nature, by unfair freight rates, St. Louis county would today have the largest city in the state instead of having a poor third. Transportation companies can make or break a town at will, as many a Minnesota town can testify. There is no blacker page in the history of our state, if the truth were known, than the rate discriminations which have throttled the efforts of the smaller towns to encourage small manufacturing. An effort was made in the last legislature to pass a distance tariff measure, a measure which The Tribune-Herald believes was fair and just, but the Twin City jobbers had no difficulty in defeating the measure. Strange as it may seem the members of the Railroad and Warehouse Commission joined the lobby in opposition to the measure. If the Cashman bill was not perfect why did not these servants of the people, who should know something of rate matters, propose a remedy? We are sincerely glad Duluth has started something, since the result may be an awakening throughout the state.

The People Or the Bosses.

Crookston Times: The Duluth Herald and the Twin City newspapers are having a jolly little tilt over the question as to how congressmen at large in Minnesota will be nominated, and it looks as though the Duluth Herald has all the best of the argument in contending that the nomination should be made by the people at the primary elections, instead of by a group of politicians at a state convention. The Herald has both the right and popular side of the argument.

The federal and state provisions, viewed collectively, seem to be very plain on the subject, and we thoroughly believe that the people should do the nominating at the primary election.

Treasures.

I know a man with scads enough to buy a dozen earls,
And he lives in a mansion grand, but has no boys or girls;
And his amusement day and night as time keeps up its flow
Is grabbing all the scads in sight and never letting go;
The poor man marks the rich man's shack and fearfully he goes Across the street for fear he may be snatched out of his clothes;
The baby with the apple tart almost falls in a fit
When it sees him for fear he may get his swift hooks on it;
The widow with insurance hugs it to her bosom tight,
But dreams of him and springs awake
a-shrieking in the night.
This man has brothers, one or two,
or maybe two or three,
They live the other side of town and boys and babies wee
And little girls with golden curls cling to each mother's skirt,
Swing on the gate and laugh and run
and make pies in the dirt,
And make them dolls of stockings
tightly stuffed with castoff rags;
The little boys amuse themselves with busting paper bags;
They never had a rocking horse or had a choo-choo train,
And while their uncle revels as he figures up his gain
Their fathers and their mothers come and take the babes to bed
And kiss each dimple in each cheek and stroke each tousled head.
And baby arms go 'round glad necks
to give a baby squeeze,
And little boys with pudgy feet climb
to their daddies' knees,
And as the yellow stars come out and blink across the sky
A mother sits in perfumed gloam and trills a lullabye;
And—whisper this—the rich man hived within his palace grand
Would give his gold to have a babe
to clasp his withered hand;
And the poor man would give his life almost to gain the gold
That's made his brother scant of hair and lean and sour and old;
Aye, they envy one another, but the baby wealth is best!
No store of gold can buy the babe held tight to mother's breast.—J. M.
Lewis in Houston Post.

A Real Bargain.

An Old Man's Gospel of Work.

New York World: At 94 Abraham Teachout, a wealthy manufacturer of Cleveland, lays down the rule of hard work for old age. Working six days a week himself, he says: "A man of 60 who has good health is in his prime. It would be the greatest folly for a man of that age, if he was vigorous, to settle down to a life of inglorious ease."

Physicians have noticed a tendency among men of years to break down rapidly after withdrawing from active business. Work provides the physical stimulus and interest in life without which their forces fail. Idleness, even voluntary, is apt to become a confession of incapacity and loss of usefulness, and saps the moral energy.

To die in harness is a title to honor. Foreign critics who make it a national reproach that few rich Americans retire to live on their fortunes attribute it to the insatiable love of money in this country. What they do not understand is that the leisure class idea has never taken strong root on this side of the Atlantic. A fixed occupation is still part of the American system. Love of the game, the need of doing things for the sake of doing them aside from the rewards, the sense of power and responsibility, are habits that old age finds hard to change.

The busy man who has not learned how to seek rest and recreation before he is 60 is too old to learn. His "inglorious ease," when freed from need of work may bore rather than profit him.

Lo! and Behold!

Life: "See the Tenements!"

"Yes, they are very bad."

"No, they are very good."

"Very good! How now?"

"They are very good investments."

"And investments are?"

"Ways of making money."

"I should think one would have to make a great deal of money to be willing to live in such places?"

"Ah, but the people who live there do not make the money."

"Do you mean that people get paid for not living there?"

"Well, not exactly that. They get money for owning them."

"Well, what do the people get for living there?"

"They do not get anything. They are the ones who pay."

"What! Are they content to live there without being paid?"

"No, they are not content. They are poor."

"If they are not content, there is some ultimate hope, perhaps. In the meantime, however, it looks like a good chance for a philanthropist."

"Your suggestion is too late. The philanthropist has already seen his opportunity and seized it."

"Who is he and what has he done?"

"He is the owner of the tenements. Even now he is helping to educate the negro and every week he sends money to the heathen."

MAY STRIP HARD ORE BODY FOUND ON THE RAINY RIVER

E. P. Packard, now of Chicago but formerly with the Drake & Stratton company at Hibbing, has just returned from a vacation trip along the Rainy river with his son. Mr. Packard reports a find of remarkably high-grade ore near Indus, about the central part of the northern boundary of Koochiching county, and states that he is confident that the find presages the opening of large bodies of ore in that vicinity.

The find which came to Mr. Packard's notice is in section 16, 159-25, on land owned by John Kennedy, George Lang, Dr. Bethune, and the original homesteader, a Milwaukee man. They are now twenty feet down in a large test pit and are in a body of hard ore which commenced just below the surface and is expected to assay 58 to 60 per cent. Several samples were sent out by the owners for assay a week or two ago and they received, instead of assay reports, an offer of $10,000 for their prospects. This was refused.

"It looks to me like a stripping proposition on hard ore," said Mr. Packard this afternoon. "That's a new feature for this country, as the only stripping done here has been on the soft ore of the Mesaba. If there is not too much pitch to these ore bodies they ought to be able to strip profitably, blast the ore a little and take it out with a steam shovel.

"That whole country is in my opinion likely to be productive of fine ore mines. They pick up high-grade ore on the surface on both sides of the international boundary, and there seems to be a lot of it. The finds here promise much better to my mind than do the reported discoveries near Ray, Minn., about which so much has been said."

Mr. Packard is stopping at the Spalding today and will leave this evening for Chicago.

SEVEN AFTER ONE TRACT

Legal Battle for Two Harbors Property Begun in Land Office.

Property Worth $10,000 Is Subject of Some Spirited Litigation.

To determine the ownership of lot 4, in the south half of the northwest quarter of section 5, 53-11, which is said to be a valuable piece of land in Lake county, just northwest of Two Harbors, a hearing has been started before Charles Hartman and Gust Bergquist, receiver and register of the local United States land office. The case is entitled Charles A. Moore against the Northern Pacific Railroad company, Florence A. Coffin, Joseph McMahon, William Millen, James E. Howard, and Joseph L. Picotte.

The hearing started at 10 o'clock this morning in the local land contest room and continued all day, and will be in session all of tomorrow. As J. L. Picotte and Joseph McMahon, two of the defendants failed to make an appearance and were without representatives, their cases were eliminated.

According to the allegations made by Mr. Moore, he filed upon the land under the stone and timber act on Oct. 25, 1895; Joseph McMahon filed upon the same land as a homestead on March 24, 1896, while William Millen filed on the land as a homesteader claiming settlement on Nov. 12, 1896; James Howard, on March 26, 1897 filed a homestead application on this lot without any settlement alleged; J. L. Picotte filed a homestead application alleging settlement, on April 7, 1897 and Florence A. Coffin filed a soldiers' scrip on March 26, 1897.

In 1883, it is claimed, the Northern Pacific Railroad company selected this land in its second indemnity limits, but that it has since lost its rights thereto. The property is said to be valued at about $10,000.

The hearing is being held upon the orders of the commissioner of the general land department to settle for all time the order of the claims. Capt. W. H. Smallwood and W. E. Culkin are appearing for Mr. Moore; Phil Seymour and W. D. Bailey of Washburn, Bailey & Mitchell are representing Florence A. Coffin; Mr. Abbott of Washington and J. C. Herman Engle are the attorneys for William Millen, while H. Oldenberg of Carlton is looking out for the interests of the Northern Pacific road.

MIDWIVES CHECKED UP

Those Who Refuse to Take Out Licenses Must Quit Practicing.

Dr. I. J. Murphy of the health department is checking up all the midwives in the city, informing them that they will have to take out state licenses, as required by law, or cease practicing.

Up to date he has found five midwives who had not taken out their licenses. Some of them will comply with the law, but the others, it is thought, will not be able to fulfill the requirements and be obliged to quit the business. He also located six births which had not been reported to the department, as required by the statutes.

The department will continue its investigations until the entire city has been covered. The officials are suspicious of several others in the city, and state that unless they make their reports voluntarily they are liable to prosecution.

It is stated that it is most important to report births to the department, not only in order that the statistics may be correct, but for the protection of the child. If in after years a question should arise as to their births, there would be no official record to which reference could be made.

EVELETH MAN'S TRIAL.

Matt Lake Alleged to Have Stabbed Joe Lampala.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—The trial of Joe Lampala of Eveleth for stabbing Matt Lake began in the district court here today and continued all day. The evidence goes to show that Lampala tried to eject Lake from his home and the latter attacked him with a knife.

Bartenders Organize.

A branch of the International League of Bartenders was organized at a meeting held Saturday evening at Eagles hall. Deputy State Organizer Beaton Gordon of Minneapolis was present at the meeting and delivered an address.

The Duluth branch begins life with about fifty members. At a meeting soon to be held, officers will be elected and an effort will be made to become affiliated with the Trades and Labor assembly.

MARINE

LAST PASSENGER LIST OF THE SEASON.

The passenger steamer, Lakeand, of the Port Huron & Duluth Steamship company, will make her last passenger run on Wednesday, Sept. 13 from this port. She will, however, continue to run between these two ports handling package freight. The Pere Marquette, No. 5, which has been in the service of the company this summer as a passenger vessel closed her season on Sept. 2, and has been turned over to her owners. This week she will be placed on the Ludington-Milwaukee run in the freight business, which is said to be increasing in that section.

COAL SHIPMENTS HEAVIER THIS YEAR.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 11.—Coal shipments from this port as indicated by the official report of the United States customs for the first week of September show a decided increase over the corresponding period of last year. The shipments for the first week of the month this year were 97,700 tons as compared with 39,700 for the first week of September last year.

NEW FREIGHTER FOR OCEAN TRADE.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 11.—A. C. Pessano, president of the Great Lakes Engineering works of this city, now in the East, has booked an order for construction of another package freight steamer for coast trade.

The steamer is to be of steel hull, similar in dimensions, design and equipment to the three package freighters for coast trade which Mr. Pessano booked an order for last spring and which are to be built at the Ecorse plant of the Great Lakes company for next season's delivery.

It is said the new freighter probably will be operated between ports on the Pacific coast. For the present no information is given as to the identity of the purchaser.

Tug Returns.

The Tug Goulder, of the Union Towing & Wrecking company, returned this morning with a scow belonging to the Zenith Dredging company, from Toledo, where she went on Aug. 26. The Zenith Dredge company of this city has a large contract with the government at that point.

Ferry Is Sold.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—A Montreal concern has purchased the ferry Algoma of the International Transit company, and the steamer will be taken to Montreal this week. The Algoma has been on the ferry route between the two Soos for the past seven years and will be replaced by a new steamer now being built, which will be operated by oil.

Chicago, Sept. 11.—George Busse, brother of Former Mayor Fred Busse, was gored by a bull at his home at Fox Lake yesterday and his life was saved only by the assistance of farm hands. Three ribs and one leg were broken.

DISPLACING THE COMPASS.

Chamber's Journal: The magnetic needle is in danger of being displaced. The magnetic compass is easily deranged, that it is one great disadvantage. Its rival is the gyro compass.

This device carries a compass card of the ordinary description, and is placed similarly in the binnacle. The heavy disk is mounted within the machine in a framework floating on mercury in such a way that the disk is kept absolutely vertical and the axis horizontal, in accordance with the lines laid down by Foucault, the eminent French scientist. It is driven by means of a small electric motor at 20,000 revolutions a minute.

With this instrument the true geographical and not the magnetic north is indicated, while, moreover, it is not affected by the metal in the ship as is the ordinary magnetic compass.

The gyro compass is the invention of some German scientists, and in the land of its origin exhaustive tests have proved it to be so reliable that it is now being introduced into the German navy. The British admiralty propose to submit the invention to searching trials.

The one obvious weak spot is the rotation of the disk. Should this fall below the critical speed it would become unreliable in operation, while dependence upon the electric motor might arouse misgivings. This is not the first attempt to supplant the ancient compass, and whether it will meet with any greater measure of success than other efforts in the same direction time alone can show.

THE TRUE DIFFERENCE.

Los Angles Times: D. C. Richardson, the mayor of Richmond, Va., was talking about a politician whose policy was remarkably obstructional and pigheaded.

"Bash," said Mayor Richardson, "is one of those men who never learn the true difference between perseverance and obstinacy. Perseverance, you know, is a strong will, and obstinacy is a strong won't."

DULUTH POLICE WILL NOT ADOPT NEW SYSTEM OF IDENTIFYING CRIMINALS YET

A "PORTRAIT PARLE" CLASS IN FRANCE.

The Duluth police department is not adopting a new system for the identification of criminals which is being tried in New York. The system is known as "protrait parle," having been invented by the French, and in general terms would mean that the portrait that talks or speaks. The idea is that all men have distinct features and that they can be identified by them very readily if they are studied. The local department uses both the Bertillon system and the thumb print.

Capt. Joseph A. Faurot of the New York police department has returned from a visit to Paris, bringing with him the new method of identifying criminals known as the "portrait parle." Like the thumb mark and the police measurement system the "portrait parle" is the work of Bertillon, the famous Frenchman who is at the head of the identification school in France. Commissioner Waldo has discussed this new system with Bertillon in Paris and he sent Capt. Faurot across the water to learn it. Every criminal is to be identified hereafter by a description of certain features which are never precisely alike in any two men. These features are the eyes, nose and ears. There are three kinds of noses—convex, straight, and conclave. There are four classes of ears—triangle, square, oval and round. There are many kinds of eyes. They are classified according to the distance between the outer edge of the sockets; distance between the pupils; distance between the inner angles; distance between the outer angles; distance between the outer angles of the eye and the ear; distance from the eye to the arch of the hair. After these are the forehead, head, the brow, and the profile are analyzed. So a description of the criminal for whom the police are seeking can be sent out what we call a "speaking likeness." From New York undoubtedly this system will be taken to other cities. This picture shows a class of men studying the "portrait parle" system in Paris.

RAILROADS

PASSENGER MEN COMING

Delegates to National Convention Will Take Side Trip to Duluth.

Party Will Include About 125 General Passenger and Ticket Agents.

Following the annual convention of the American Association of General Passenger and Ticket Agents which will be held in St. Paul on Sept. 19, 20 and 21, the members of that association will make an excursion to Duluth to spend all of Sept. 22 here.

The party which will include about 125 general passenger agents, will gather at Chicago on Monday, Sept. 18, and in a special train leave for St. Paul. On the evening of Sept 21, the party will leave in the special for Duluth, coming over the Northern Pacific railroad. That evening the party will leave about 5 o'clock for Chicago over the Northwestern line, and from this point they will disperse.

While here they will be royally entertained. They will be the guests of the Duluth Commercial club. The reception committee will be composed entirely of railroad men, the committee being made up of the following: J. I. Thomas, general agent of the Northern Pacific; Mart Adson, general passenger agent of the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic; J. B. Hanson, general passenger agent of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern; W. D. Burr, district passenger and freight agent of Omaha; C. W. Keiswetter, general agent of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern; H. Johnson, general passenger agent of the Duluth & Iron Range; Fred Hills, northwestern passenger agent of the Great Northern; James Maney, assistant general passenger agent of the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic; Charles P. O'Donnell, city passenger agent, Northern Pacific; F. J. Ober, ticket agent at the Union station, and W. L. Hathoway, city ticket agent of the Great Northern.

The program for the day's entertainment has not been completed yet, but it will include a boat ride about the harbor and around the horn, and an automobile drive about the boulevard and throughout the city, and a visit to the steel plant.

Mart Adson, who is a member of the association, will leave here on Sunday for Chicago, where he will join the party. He will be the ony Duluth man in attendance at the convention.

RAILROADS WILL EXHIBIT AT BIG LAND SHOW.

Besides the official exhibit of the products of this state which is to be made under the direction of the governor at the Twin City land show, the efforts of the state officials will be supplemented by big exhibits to be made by the railroad companies.

The Northern Pacific has just bought 1,000 square feet of floor space at the Twin City show, which is to be given from Dec. 12 to 23, under the auspices of the Northwestern Development league. This means the railroad company will make a good showing for every state along its lines. Being one of the first railroad companies to buy space, the Northern Pacific has selected a section sixty feet long between the main etnrances, about the best there is in the show.

Representatives of the railroads are now at work collecting materials for the exhibit. While a special part of it will be shown for the first time at the big show in St. Paul, the Northern Pacific will also show in New York city, in Omaha and at several other shows during the fall and winter.

From all of these displays the state will reap a benefit.

Excursion Well Patronized.

The first fall excursion of the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic road, according to reports from the officials was the most successful one ever given by this company, and they express the opinion that the remaining three will be big ones. The next excursion will be held on Wednesday, while another will be given on Friday and the last on next Sunday.

AMONG RAILROAD MEN

J. J. Conolly of Marquette, superintendent of motive power and machinery of the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic, is in the city today. He is making arrangements for an extensive Western trip.

William Noon of Marquette, superintendent of bridges and building for the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic, is in the city today on business.

FINE HARVEST ON CANADIAN FARMS

Saskatchewan Owner Expects Forty-Five Bushels to the Acre.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred S. Lindsay of London, Eng., arrived in Duluth this morning after looking over Mr. Lindsay's extensive farm holdings in Saskatchewan, Can. Mr. Lindsay owns 2,000 acres near Saskatoon, and is now purchasing 3,000 acres adjoining the original tract.

He says that stories received here relating a bad harvest for the Canadian farmers are greatly exaggerated, though rains and frosts have damaged the crops to a very slight extent. He expects to get forty-five bushels to the acre from his lands, and says that he has made 150 per cent on his investment which was made last year, while the land has, besides this, increased greatly in value. He has been raising wheat this year and will put the newly purchased land into flax. On this trip Mr. Lindsay also purchased a fruit farm in the Windermere valley, which he says is the finest valley in Western Canada. The railroad will reach it next year, and there will then be a tremendous settlement.

Mr. Linsay is appearing this week at the Orpheum theater. He failed to arrive yesterday on account of an automobile accident.

KICK'S FATAL RESULTS.

Said to Have Caused Man's Death at Oconto, Wis.

Marinette, Wis., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—A kick in the head is said to have caused the death of Herman Tagatz at the hospital in Oconto. The deceased was at one time one of the most influential citizens of Beaver. The injury which caused his death is said to have been inflicted in a saloon in Green Bay, and it is expected that his assailant will be arrested on the charge of murder.

DRINKS CARBOLIC ACID.

Maple Lake, Minn., Youth Takes His Life.

Carrington, N. D., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Clarence Nugent of Maple Lake, Minn., employed at Bordulac, near here drank carbolic acid while spending the night in a hay loft in a livery barn. He was 21 years old and had purchased the acid two days before suiciding, explaining that it was to be used in doctoring a horse.

BLOWS OFF HIS HEAD.

North Dakotan Touches Off Gun With Pitchfork.

Braddock, N. D., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Holding the gun between his knees and pulling the trigger with the aid of a pitchfork, his chin resting on the muzzle, Bertin Williamson, a homesteader residing north of here, blew almost his entire head off in his barn.

Williamson recently had proved up on his claim. His only complaint to friends previous to the suicide had been that he had a severe headache, remarking that he did not expect to live long.

New Russian Ambassador.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 11.—The appointment of George Bakhmetieff as Russian ambasador to the United States to succeed Baron Rosen, was officialily announced yesterday. M. Bakhmetieff was formerly ambassador to Japan and was at one time one of the secretaries of the Russian legation at Washington.

NORMAL BOARD BLOCKED.

Work on Minot School Buildings Stopped By Court Order.

Minot, N. D., Sept. 11.—An order to show cause why the state normal school board should not proceed with the erection of the buildings for the new Minot normal school has been issued by Judge K. E. Leighton of the district court. The order was served on the members of the board as they assembled here to start work on the buildings.

The order is returnable Sept. 16, and until then the board is blocked from going ahead with the work. It was issued on the application of Frank W. Youngman, who maintains that the board previously had selected a site on the south hill, and that it is bound by that action.

BIG REWARD EARNED.

Capture of Murderer Who Escaped From Pennsylvania Prison.

Bison, N. D., Sept. 11.—Sheriff John Anderson has returned to this city from Jessup, Iowa, having in his custody Harry Dively, alias George Davis, who broke jail here last March and since that time has been at liberty. Davis escaped from the Pennsylvania state prison after having killed a man. He was in jail here with eight counts of grand larceny against him. He will probably be taken to the Brown county jail at Aberdeen, where there will be less danger of him effecting another getaway. His capture carried with it a reward of $1,300, of which $300 was offered by the officials of Perkins county, and $1,000 by the state of Pennsylvania.

WANTS RATE RESTORED.

Thrashing Machine Company Before North Dakota Commission.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 11.—A big fight is on here before the North Dakota railroad commission over what is termed the return rate on agricultural implements for repair. Prior to May, 1910, manufacturers of agricultural implements were entitled to ship back to their factory defective machinery for repair at one-half of the regular rate on new machinery.

The railroads claim that this privilege was being abused, that the manufacturers were shipping back scrap iron and other goods not properly under the classfication of defective machinery, and that the goods took a higher rate and wiped out the lower rate. The present fight is to have this old one-half rate restored.

The Minneapolis Thrashing Machine company is the company making the protest, although it is backed by practically all other machinery manufacturers.

Killed in Gravel Pit.

Lansing, Mich. Sept. 11.—While playing in a gravel pit near the city limits, yesterday, Alexander Gross, aged 10, and his brother Charles, aged 5 were buried under several tons of falling earth. When the bodies were recovered two hours later life was extinct.

Gets Much Coveted Honor.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 11.—Prof. Guy Vowles of Fargo college has recently received an unusual and much coveted honor in being elected the vice-president of the Classical Association of the Middle West and South. This association includes practically all the leading colleges and universities in this section of the country and exerts a wide influence in maintaining and correlating the study of classical languages.

SUPERIOR

PLAN CHILDREN'S DAY.

Opening Date of Fair Will Ge Given Over to Juvenile Entertainment.

Wednesday, Sept. 27, the opening day of the Douglas county fair, will be designated as "Children's day," and all children between the ages of 6 and 15 will be admitted free if accompanied by their parents. School children will be provided with tickets.

There will be special entertainment features for the children, such as a Shetland pony race, etc. The premium list will be distributed this week, and the erection of the buildings needed on the fair grounds will also be started this week. Most of the exhibitions, however, will be in large tents.

The committee has received some concessions from the railroads, which have agreed to transport one way free of charge livestock and articles intended for exhibition purposes. The South Shore road will not charge for either way.

BILLINGS ESTATE AFFAIRS OBJECT OF THEIR VISIT.

Frederick J. Billings of Woodstock, N. J., and S. E. Kilner of New York city, trustees of the Billings estate, which gave to the city Billings park and owns Billings drive and the property on which the Country club is situated, besides other valuable acreage in the city, are in Superior. The object of their visit was to look after certain business interests of the Billings estate.

Third Shop Excursion.

Superior business men will take their third "shop excursion" Wednesday, the objective point not having been decided upon by the publicity committee of the Superior Commercial club, which has the affair in charge. The committee has planned a series of six trips, one each week, the object being to better acquaint the Superior business man with his own town. The last excursion, which was made to Parkland, was well attended.

Hibernian Picnic.

A large crowd attended the annual picnic of the Ancient Order of Hibernians of Superior, held yesterday at Fond du Lac. About 650 Hibernians, their families and friends were present and enjoyed the river trip on the steamer Columbia and the day's festivities on the picnic grounds.

In the ball game between the Ojibwa tribe of Red Men and the Pirates the former won, 5 to 4.

More Postal Banks.

Washington, Sept. 11.—All of the approximately 1,800 postoffices of the second class and many of the first class having been designated as postal savings banks, Postmaster General Hitchcock has begun the designation of the third class offices. It is his purpose to extend as rapidly as practicable the postal savings system to the smaller postoffices of the country.

Assessment Changed.

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 11.—The Minnesota tax commission, according to advices received by County Auditor George, has increased the assessment on eight classes of property in Beltrami county, ranging from the stocks of retail merchants, increased 5 per cent, to dogs over six months old, increased 30 per cent. According to the same advices, a decrease has been made in four classes of property, horses 1 year old, 2 years old, 3 years old, and cows.

Keene Recovers.

London, Sept. 11.—James R. Keene, who was operated on for stomach trouble here last week, is making such good progress toward recovery that his physicians left London today for a holiday. Mr. Keene expects to be out within a fortnight, as well as ever.

Rice Mill Merger.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 11.—Twenty-eight of forty-six rice mills in Louisiana have been merged into the Louisiana state Rice Milling company, with an authorized capitalization of $9,500,000.

INDICTMENTS AGAINST SIX

Grand Jury Makes Partial Report and Resumes Work.

Gust Hettela Claimed to Have Taken $855 From Farmer's Hoard.

The grand jurors reported six indictments to Judge Cant of the district court this afternoon and went immediately back into secret session. They have forty-five cases for consideration. But fifteen cases have been reported thus far, some of which are kept secret.

Gust Hettela is accused of grand larceny in the first degree. While working for Peter Wesala, who owns a farm near Floodwood, Hettela, it is claimed, took $855 from Wesala's bank which was a common 2-quart tin pail hidden away in the hay mow of his barn. There was nearly $2,000 in the pail, but Hettela, it is said, only took the top layer. After taking the money Hettela went to Floodwood where he was later arrested with more than $700 still on his person, it is claimed.

Frank Jarner is accused of issuing checks without sufficient money in the bank to cover the amounts. This is the first case of the kind under the new law.

William Wilson is accused of grand larceny. He took $25 from the person of Matt Hill, it is claimed.

Toivo Ruohonen is accused of assault in the first degree. He tried to kill John Grisdale with a knife, it is claimed.

For attempting to swindle Gordon Sewell of $22 by use of the "lost pocketbook" gag, Andrew Rusky and Steve Adamovich are accused by the grand jury of attempted swindle.

Ell Drauzavich is accused of robbery in the first degree. Rude Bulatovich claims that Drauzavich held him up at the point of a gun and took $105 from him.

The criminal calendar this term is the heaviest in years and the grand jury will probably be in session until Thursday or Friday of this week.

DUTCH PROPOSE TO BE NEUTRAL

Will Resist Possible Interference With Netherlands' Neutrality.

The Hague, Sept. 11.—Owing to the alarming war news arising from the prolonged Franco-German negotiations over Morocco, the Dutch government is making full preparations to resist all possible interference with the neutrality of the Netherlands.

The Dutch fortifications along the German frontier have been occupied by strong garrisons and the coast defenses have been fully manned. An order has been issued ordering out the national reserves for the army maneuvers.

The government is buying provisions to keep the men and horses for six months at prices four or five times higher than normal and it is ordering large quantities of rice from the colonies.

RATE ADVANCE IS SUSPENDED

Rates on Single Packages and Small Lots Hold Until Next April.

Washington, Sept. 11.—Advances in freight rates on single packages and small lots, filed with the Interstate commerce commission by railways generally today were suspended until April 26, 1912.

The case in which this suspension order was issued was one of the most important now before the commission as it affects large and small shippers in every part of the country.

It was found impossible to dispose of the case on an early date on account of the ratifications it has taken.

THIRD DEGREE FOR PARENTS

Lembergers Given Rigid Examination By the Milwaukee Police.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 11.—Mr. and Mrs. Martin Lemberger, parents of the murdered 7-year-old girl, Anna Lemberger, and their oldest boy, George, aged 9, were brought to the police station at 11:30 this forenoon immediately upon their return from the funeral. They were taken to the office of Chief of Police Shaughnessy to be put through a rigid examination by the chief, City Detective Patrick Boyd and Detective E. L. Boyer of a Chicago detective agency.

The funeral of the murdered child was held from St. James' Catholic church. Over 100 of Annie's schoolmates, all dressed in white and with wreathes of flowers in their hair, formed a double row as the casket containing the body of their playmate was carried into the church by six little girls. The children were in charge of the sisters of the school.

Thousands thronged the church yard, unable to gain admission. The parents bore up bravely and showed little grief.

Several thousand people passed through the Lemberger cottage prior to the funeral to view the face of the murdered child as she lay in her bier.

Detective Boyer, a Chicago detective, bluntly charged Lemberger with knowledge of the child's death, when he talked with the child's father today.

Lemberger answered stoutly to the charge that he did not know any more about it or the circumstances than any one else. Mr. and Mrs. Lemberber and their son George were subpoenaed as witnesses at the inquest.

The Lembergers spent the noon hour in the police station, waiting for the hour of the inquest this afternoon. Mrs. Lemberger garbed in black, was secluded in the chief's private office while her husband engaged in conversation with officers in the other office. At times he smiled and made attempts to be cheerful, but with Mrs. Lemberger cheerfulness was entirely lacking.

Dr. E. S. Bugbee,

The well-known eye specialist of Minneapolis, will be at Parlor K, Spalding hotel, Duluth, Minn., on Friday and Saturday, Sept. 15 and 16. Eyes carefully examined and glasses made that will fit. Special attention to relief of headaches and other nervous troubles by proper fitting of glasses. Cross eyes straightened. Dr. Bugbee will not advertise what he can't do.

NIGHT SCHOOL!

Every young person in Duluth should know about the night school at the Duluth Business University. Ten teachers are in charge this year. Private or individual instruction is given and satisfaction is guaranteed in all departments. Stenographic, commercial and English courses taught. For full particulars call at the college office, 118-120 Fourth avenue west.

Contract Awarded.
The board of public works this morning opened bids for the paving of Fifth alley between Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth avenues east. Nelson & Noren were the lowest bidders for concrete, their figure being $1,060.70. The contract was awarded to them subject to the approval of the council.

Left Glass on Street.
John Miller, driver of a brewery wagon, pleaded guilty in police court this morning to spreading broken glass on the street and paid a fine of $7. He dropped two bottles on the street and neglected to pick up the broken glass, which endangered horses' feet as well as automobile tires.

Head Cut During Celebration.
Fred Johnson and Charles Peterson, arrested on a charge of assaulting Erick Glison at a celebration for the birth of his child, asked for an examination in police court when arraigned this morning. It was set for Friday afternoon. It was first reported that they had cut his head with a knife, but Glison stated this morning that he does not know how the injury was inflicted and the two prisoners deny all knowledge of it.

Poor Luck With Ducks.
Judge Page Morris of the United States district court returned this morning from Thief River Falls after a week's hunt for prairie chickens. He was much disappointed in his trip, not having had his usual good luck. He attributes his misfortune in bagging the birds to the poor dog that his party had along.

Furs at 25 Per Cent Discount.

Officers Elected.
At the meeting of the High School Athletic association, held this afternoon in the assembly hall, the election of officers was held. The officers chosen for the first half of the year follow: Robert Mars, president; "Dutch" Jeronimus, vice president; Kenneth Harris, secretary; Stetson, treasurer.

Shot Deer Out of Season.
Jean La Voy was given his choice between paying a fine of $62.50 or spending thirty days in jail in municipal court this morning, when he admitted that he shot a deer out of season. The shooting took place near Floodwood. La Voy is a timber cruiser.

Forbes Goes to Calgary.
Gus Forbes will leave tomorrow on a vacation trip to Calgary, Can., where he will remain for several weeks.

Olcott Playing Golf.
Chauncey Olcott is this afternoon playing his annual game of golf on the Northland Country club links. Mr. Olcott, though decidedly Irish, is a great devotee of the Scotch game, and he never misses an opportunity when in Duluth to play over the course here.

Meeting of Executive Committee.
A meeting of the executive committee of the Associated Charities will take place Thursday afternoon at Miss Fohrer's office at the courthouse. This meeting is the regular monthly meeting and outside the monthly routine business, the chief matter for discussion will be the meeting of all the charitable societies of the city which will take place on Sept. 27.

Park Committee Meets.
The committee on parks and playgrounds of the Commercial club held a meeting this noon at the Commercial club rooms. Merely matters of routine business were taken up.

Slept in Box Car.
William Mars, Martin Garlze and Frank Baker pleaded guilty to trespass in police court this morning. They were arrested while sleeping in a box car. They got $5 or five days each.

Planned to Sweep Wheat.
Andrew Gunyeau was arrested this morning while in a box car to sweep wheat. He had not swept any, but he had a broom and sack with him. On pleading guilty he got $5 or five days.

Manager Resigns.
E. J. Conry, manager at the St. Louis hotel for three years, has severed his connection with the hostelry and will leave this evening for Virginia, where he has secured an interest in the European hotel at that place. Mr. Conry made many friends while in Duluth.

PROHIBITIONIST PAYS COURT FINE

One Time Minneapolis Mayoralty Candidate Accused of Drinking.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. C. Russell, who was the Prohibitionist candidate for mayor of Minneapolis in 1902, was fined in municipal court today on a charge of drunkenness.

He said in court that he was out of politics and had spent the summer gardening. J. C. Haynes, the present mayor, defeated Russell. In 1894 Russell came within 11 votes of being elected alderman of the Third ward on the People's party ticket.

FOWLER LEAVES FRISCO.

Aviator Starts on His Transcontinental Trip.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 11.—Robert Fowler, the aviator, who will attempt to fly in a Wright biplane from San Francisco to New York, was at work early this morning tuning up his machine preparatory to starting on the first lap of his journey. Fowler started about 11 o'clock from Golden Gate park.

The aviator plans to make the distance in twenty flying days, arriving in New York Oct. 7. He will cross the Sierras. A special train will accompany him with a pilot and will carry mechanicians and machine parts. The aviator will follow the line of the Southern and Union Pacific and the Illinois Central.

Fowler will carry a message from Brig. Gen. Daniel D. Brush, commanding the department of California, to Maj. Gen. Frederick D. Grant, commanding the department of the east with headquarters at Governor's island, New York.

THE HAI CHI ARRIVES.

Chinese Cruiser Is Welcomed at New York.

New York, Sept. 11.—Greeted by an official salute fired by the U. S. S. Utah and from oGvernor's Island and by the blowing of whistles by steam vessels the Chinese cruiser Hai Chi reached New York today.

The Hai Chi which is commanded by Rear Admiral Ching Pih Kwang is the first Chinese warship to visit this port. She will remain here a week and then go to Boston, Newport, Philadelphia and Annapolis.

AWARDED ONE-TENTH OF CLAIM FOR DAMAGES.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 11.—United States Judge Denison today awarded the Chandler Dunbar company of Sault Ste. Marie approximately $700,000 for its property taken over by the government for the construction of ship locks at the Soo. The company claimed that the property involved was worth more than $7,000,000.

ST. PAUL AUTHORESS WHO THINKS AMERICA CRUDE

ANNA WARNER FRENCH,
Who Will Seek Higher Culture in England.

Anna Warner French, formerly of St. Paul, is leaving America. She has written some books which have been published by reasonsible and dignified publishers, but which the literary world does not regard as epoch making. She finds Americans "crude" and unsympathetic, so she is going to England and she feels she will find a higher degree of culture and appreciation there.

ARE SAVING THE BABIES

Number of Deaths From Infant Diseases Shows a Decrease.

Only Nine Succumbed to Gastro Enteritis During August.

Figures show that the campaign which has been conducted in Duluth by the health department for the protection of babies during the summer months has had surprising results.

A year ago in August thirty-two infants less than a year of age died of gastro enteritis, commonly known as summer complaint. During August of this year the records show that but nine babies died of that complaint.

The authorities are greatly pleased with the showing which has been made. They do not claim that the surprisingly large reduction is due solely to their efforts, but they feel that they have aided in the general result. They recognize that the present summer has not been as hot as that of a year ago, and that this factor enters into the reduced mortality. Further much work along this line has been done by other organizations in the city.

The monthly report of the health department prepared by Dr. I. J. Murphy, shows that fifteen cases of typhoid fever were reported. Of these, four had their origin in the city. It is believed that flies in some of the camps have been the chief agency in spreading the disease. Three new cases of small pox were reported, all from outside the city, while there was also a slight increase in diphtheria and scarlet fever. No cases of measles were found in the city last month. Sixteen new cases of tuberculosis were reported and in this connection the report states that of the fifty-three resident deaths in Duluth in August, eleven were due to the white plague.

Latta's Condition Worse.
Rochester, Minn., Sept. 11.—Congressman J. P. Latta of Nebraska, who underwent a serious operation in this city some time ago, has taken a turn for the worse and his condition is causing some anxiety. While he still has a chance to recover, the outlook is not nearly so bright as a few days ago.

Suicide Is Capt. Matthews.
Washington, Sept. 11.—The navy department is satisfied that the body of the man who committed suicide at San Pablo, Fla., several weeks ago, is that of the missing Capt. Arthur J. Matthews of the marine corps, who disappeared Feb. 3, last, while acting as commandant of the naval prison at Mare Island navy yard.

WHEN WRITERS SLIP A COG.

The haste with which Sir Walter Scott produced the greater number of his novels doubtless accounts for the numerous blunders, such as those first pointed out by his literary kinsman, Robert Louis Stevenson, "says Youth's Companion.

In "Rob Roy," two horsemen, riding on urgent business, are made to take six days to cover a distance of 100 miles, whereas, on another occasion, the same horses cover fifty miles in a single day. Stevenson also called attention to Sir Walter's glaring mistake in "The Antiquary," where the sun is actually caused to to set in the eastern heavens! But, careful worker that he was, Stevenson himself, to use his own words "came to grief over the moon," in "Prince Otto."

More than one writer has described the moon as riding high in midheaven while in the crescent stage—a condition of things impossible on any night of the year.

Another blunder relating to the moon is to be found in the familiar lines of Charles Wolfe on "The Burial of Sir John Moore."

We buried him darkly, at dead of night,
The sods with our bayonets turning.
By the struggling moonbeam's misty light,
And the lantern dimly burning.

Some captious critic, doubtful of the accuracy of this description, consulted the nautical almanac for the date of the burial. This showed conclusively that the moon was then barely a day old, and therefore quite incapable of shedding any appreciable light, misty or otherwise.

Victor Hugo puts into the mouth of Charlemagne, in "Aymaillot," the words, "You dream like a scholar of Sorbonne." That famous institution was founded in 1254, 450 years after the days of Charlemagne.

Errors of geography in fiction are numerous enough. That graceful romancer, Sir A. T. Quiller Couch, in his first published story, "Dead Man's Rock," placed Bombay on the east coast of India, in the Bay of Bengal, whereas geographers agree in locating it on the western shore.

Rider Haggard committed a queer blunder in "Jess." A simple matter of arithmetic, upon the data supplied by the novel itself, shows that a character therein had grown up and become the father of two children before he was in his teens.

One French novelist used a number of puppets, each labeled with the name of a character in the story. Whenever a personage died, or was killed in the course of the narrative, the doll representing that character was removed from the rest to avoid any accidental return to life. A most effective finish to one of this author's novels had to be rewritten when it was discovered that someone, by accident or design, had mixed the "dead" dolls with the "living," with startling results.

Had Thackeray employed some such device in "Henry Esmond," he might have avoided the resuscitation of the venerable dean of Winchester, who writes a letter in chapter nine, some time after his demise had been announced in chapter six.

DID HER BEST.

Chicago News—"What is it that smells so funny?" inquired Miss McGuire, pausing in her work and sniffing the air.

"Smells like paint," observed Miss Peterson, also pausing and sniffing. "Wonder if they're decorating the halls again. Seems as if it was only this week they did it the last time."

"I think it's more like benzine," said Miss Casey, who had already paused and sniffed.

"Kerosene, it seems to me," chimed in Miss Johnson, following the example of the others.

Miss Brown, working furiously, contributed nothing to the conversation.

"Say," pursued Miss McGuire, "I know what it is—it's turpentine. Brownie, have you been trying some of that home-made black dye on your shoes again?"

Miss Brown's flying fingers stopped and her hands dropped into her lap. Two round red spots appeared in her cheeks and two little bright flashes came into her eyes.

"I've just been waiting for that," she announced. "No, I haven't been dyeing my shoes or painting my gloves or bleaching my hat, but it's my waist, and I'll just tell you how it was. Say, but it makes me sore!"

She took out her barrette, twisted up a lock of hair with an exasperated jerk and replaced the barrette.

"You know that it was less than two weeks ago that I put this waist on, brand new," she said. "Well, what should I do on the way home that night but run up against some fresh paint and get it on my sleeve! I could have just cried, I was so mad. Well, when nia saw it she says: 'Rub some turpentine on it—that'll take it out! I put the turpentine on it and it took the paint out all right, but, say, it smelled like the dickens, so I hung it out on the back porch all night.

"Well, in the morning it was just as bad as ever, so Nia says: 'Get some benzine and pour on it, and when the benzine evaporates it'll take the smell with it.' On my way home I bought a bottle of benzine, and after super I stuck the sleeve into the washbowl and poured the bottle of stuff on it. But, take it from me, it was a bottle of kerosene that pa'd got to clean the clock with! Now what do you know about that?"

"That certainly was fierce, Brownie," sympathized Miss McGuire.

"Well," pursued Miss Brown, "thinks I 'I might as well put the benzine on, anyhow, and maybe it'll take the smell of the turpentine and the kerosene both off.' So I dumps in the whole bottle and sousled the sleeve around in it and hung it out on the porch again.

"Every morning and every evening I'd go out and smell that darned old waist, and last night—I don't know whether I'd got used to the smell or what—it didn't seem to be so terrible strong, so I decided I'd wear it downtown this morning.

"I dressed in such a hurry that I didn't have time to notice anything, but I hadn't any more than got into the elevated when the people around me began sniffing and looking around to see where the odor came from. I went on reading my book and acted as if I didn't notice anything, but I was thinking to myself: 'That bunch at the office'll have a fit till they find out what's the matter with this waist.' Oh, yes, I put a little violet perfumery on it, too, thinking maybe it would help to kind of drown the rest of the smells. It's a wonder some of you didn't get onto that, too."

"We hadn't come to that, Brownie," interpolated Miss Casey. "We'd figured out all the others."

There came a waspish buzz from the call board.

"Well, what do you think of that!" exclaimed Miss Brown, wrathfully. "There's old Jenks ringing, and I thought he was out of town! I'd rather answer any other call in the office than that old fussbudget's. I won't be in there three minutes before he'll be looking at me as if I ought to have a 'fresh paint' sign hung on me."

She seized a bunch of pencils and a notebook and started for the door.

PSYCHOLOGY OF GOLF.

Golf differs from most other games in its individuality—it is absolutely oneself, says Baily's Magazine. There are correct and incorrect ways of making the strokes, but the whole apparatus of the game is in the player's own hands.

There is no one to interfere with the ball except the golfer himself, and he can use just which club he prefers. His opponent may be yards distant from him during the whole of the game, and while there is no one to blame but himself if he plays badly he can appropriate the whole of the glory if all goes well.

In billiards you have to manipulate what is left for you on the table; in golf you make your own lie of the ball. In cricket you make the best of what is sent down to you, and there is a field of phagacytes in wait to annihilate you at every point where you wish to place the ball, but in golf there is no one to make things unpleasant; you are everything to yourself, you are the game.

This explains the greater consistency that is met with in the golfer, because though the element of chance must of course enter into the game to some degree, there is less of the accidental and unexpected—of fluking in fact—than in most other games, and the golfer has not to make the best he can of what others choose to send him.

Just as in other forms of sport there is the "natural" and the "made" performer, in the natural golfer there is an inborn proportion and combination between the various parts of the body which enables the player to get the most out of his strokes; in the "made" golfer some physical irregularity or even defect has to be overcome, a proceeding which of necessity interferes with the freedom and certainty of those better endowed, making for doubt and hesitation and consequent failure to achieve the best. What the best combinations are is impossible to define within exact limits; they probably are not the same for all parts of the game.

The vis viva, the living force, of a ball is the velocity multiplied by the mass, so that other things being equal the quickness of the stroke is a very important feature, and it is not given to everybody to bring great velocity into his stroke. The phlegmatic is often the possessor of this faculty, and ujst as one notices an unexpected rapidity in the hitting of some boxers of calm and even temperament, so it is in golf, the quiet, steady, non-emotional player is found to be able when required to come down upon the ball with almost lightninglike quickness.

Not so the man of nervous temperament, whose very excitability tends to make him press unduly, to hesitate about his strokes, to fidget about with his feet until this muscular contortions get disorganized and he finishes with a disappointing foozle. Like few other forms of sport, the golfer has everything in his favor; he has the ball lying still at his feet, he knows the distance to which he has to send it, he can estimate the strength of the wind and the position of the various obstacles in his path—all he has to do is to use his acquired knowledge of "strength" in the right way, and this the good professional does.

Time after time he accomplishes the round of his own ground in almost identically the same number of strokes and in about the same time, so that among the first flight of professionals there must be little to choose; at times one, at times another is in front, the displacement being brought about by some chance factor, as may occur in any sport or occupation.

RING BROUGHT MISFORTUNE.

Pearson's Weekly: Among the many curiosities left by the late Lady Meux is an Egyptian mummy which is said to have brought ill luck to every one who handled it.

Now, whether it is possible that a curse pronounced in the dim past can by any means work harm through the ages is a matter of opinion. But such stories and the strange facts connected with them are too numerous to be altogether neglected.

We may instance the case of the painted Egyptian coffin lid numbered 22,542, which stands in the British museum, and the remarkable tale of misfortune and death which has been associated with this pictured face of the priestess of the college of Amen-Ra.

The story is fairly well known, for two years ago all the daily papers were full of it. It is sufficient to say that from the time of the discovery of the coffin in 1889 the priestess seemed to bring misfortune on every one who had anything to do with her coffin.

All five of the original finders came to grief, and even the carrier who took the case to the museum, the photographer who photographed it and the well known writer who described the event connected with it all died shortly afterward.

Then there was the case of George Alefounder, who having discovered a mummy too large to conveniently carry away, deliberately beheaded it and brought the head back to Europe in a bonnet box.

Then everything went wrong with him. Misfortune piled upon misfortune. One day he chanced to meet a medium. The latter at once told him that he could see a figure with high cliffs behind it, and clouds of dust about it. The figure, he said, was headless.

As it happened, Mr. Alefounder had at the time forgotten all about the mummy head. Now he remembered it and, much startled, consulted another medium. From her he heard precisely the same story. This was enough. He sent the head back at once to its original resting place.

The late Shah of Persia owned a dagger which is said to make its possessor invincible. But as the superstition is that he who uses it shall inevitably perish by it, it is kept securely locked in a sandalwood box.

A curious parallel to this Persian dagger is vouched for by C. W. Leadbeater. A certain English family owns a stiletto which inspires every one who holds it with a horrible and almost irresistible desire to kill some woman.

This weapon belonged to an ancestor whose wife deceived him and drove him mad. He swore revenge against the whole sex, and with the dagger killed his wife his wife's sister and another woman before he was disarmed and secured.

In the summer of 1906 M. Andreef, a well known business man of St. Petersburg, bought at auction for £2,000 a beautiful old necklace made about 120 years ago by a famous Parisian jeweler for the ill fated Louis XVI.

Nearly all the members of the French royal family lost their lives in the revolution, but the necklace was taken by a survivor to Brussels and there sold. Over and over again it changed hands and every one who owned it was unlucky. Finally a Russian prince bought it for £4,000 and gave it to the dancer, Tzukki.

Tzukki's health failed, she was reduced to abject poverty and died. The necklace was sold to M. Linevitch, the collector. He died suddenly at Monte Carlo and it passed to a relative, who lost all his money and was only saved from beggary by selling the piece of jewelry.

Andreef bought it, and almost the first time that his wife wore it he fell into a fit of senseless jealousy and cut her down with a sword.

Such instances may be multiplied. Count Zborowski when killed in a fearful motor accident at Nice in 1908 was wearing the fatal ring which had belonged to his family for four generations, every head of which had met a violent death.

Still more amazing is a story told by the late head of the Paris morgue. Five times within his experience dead bodies brought to the morgue were found to be wearing a certain ring easily distinguishable by its strange design.

It bore in Eastern characters this legend: "May whosoever wears this ring die a miserable death." M. Mace, late chief of the Paris police, vouches for the truth of this.

NORTH CAROLINA BEAR HUNTS.

Raleigh correspondence Forest and Stream: Jones county farmers are making a regular campaign against the bears, which are giving hog raisers no end of trouble. A year ago some of the farmers bought a couple of bear dogs, from which they have raised a pack. Almost daily hunts have been conducted, and the nine hounds have never failed to get a bear.

Last week there was a hunt on Mill creek, in which two score men participated, and these were delighted to see the skillful way in which the dogs handled the bear, the latter, true to his fighting style, sitting upon his haunches and fighting. Henry Oliver finished the bear with a bullet. The leading bear hunters are V. A. and W. H. Bender, who are the owners of the pack. In that section there are many swamps, with a thick growth of bay and other trees, in which bears and deer take refuge. It is a capital hunting ground for Northern sportsmen in the winter.

HURT BY WAR RELICS.

Youngstown Telegram: While in Chattanooga a few weeks ago a local man noticed an old colored man who carried his right arm in a sling.

"What is the matter, uncle?" he asked. "Is your arm broken?"

"No, sah," grinned the old man, "it's jest gun sore."

"Been hunting?"

"No, sah. Ah been shootin' trees."

"Oh, I see; target practice."

"No, sah."

"Then you'll have to elucidate."

"Well, sah, it's like dis," the old man explained. "We goes out into de woods an' shoots bullets into de trees. After a while the trees grows around de bullets a little bit, den we cuts dem down to sell to people fum de Norf as relics ob de battle ob Lookout Mountain."

JAPANESE KITE FIGHTS.

In Japan there is an annual feast day for boys, when each house having male children hangs out strings of paper carp, which inflated by the breeze become lifelike monster fish.

"It was on this feast day," says a writer in the Wide World, "that he left Yokohama for Kamakura, once the eastern capital of Japan, now merely a quiet little seaside village.

"As it was such an important occasion, the whole world made holiday, some families hurried to the seashore to fly their enormous humming kites, from which the parents appeared to derive quite as much enjoyment as the children. The loud hum emitted by the soaring kite is caused by a piece of thin bamboo, which is stretched lightly across from shoulder to shoulder.

"This taut bamboo filament not only acts as an aeolian harp but bends the whole kite, so its surface is concave instead of being, as in our kites, a plane. The noise when some three-core or so of these monsters are in the air at the same time is deafening.

"The Japanese kite has no tail, but is furnished with numerous long streamers. Great competitions are held by the owners of the kites, and occasionally a mimic battle will be fought in the air, the rival factions endeavoring by means of powdered glass, which has been previously worked into a definite length of the kite strings to saw through a rival's string, and so bring the vanquished kite tumbling ignominously to the ground."

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

METHODISTS IN BIG MEET

Silver Anniversary of North Dakota Conference at Grand Forks.

Dr. M. S. Rice Among Minnesotans to Participate in Sessions.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Distinctive features of the annual conference of the North Dakota Methodists, to be held here Oct. 18 to 22, will be quite numerous, among these being the contest for election as delegates to the general conference in Minneapolis next year and the silver anniversary celebration. Four of the pastors who have been in the conference service continuously for a quarter of a century will be in attendance and in their honor, an evening will be given over entirely to addresses by them, with a reception to follow.

Among the speakers who have been selected are many of prominence. Dr. M. S. Rice of Duluth is one of them and Rev. Thomas McClary, D. D., of Minneapolis is another. Bishop Robert McIntyre will preside.

To Celebrate Anniversary.

Particular interest attaches to the anniversary features that have been arranged. Dr. E. P. Robertson will discuss the work of the educational branches in the twenty-five years; Dr. H. H. Cooper of Casselton will talk on the board of home missions and church extension, while Rev. F. L. Watkins of Bismarck will speak on the anniversary of the temperance society. Rev. J. M. Taylor, the conference Sunday school missionary, is assigned the subject of the anniversary of that branch of the church's activities, while Mrs. S. Newlove cares for the anniversary of the ladies' missionary societies.

Ordination ceremonies will be another part of the conference program, while there will also be the assignment of pastors for the coming year.

In the lay electoral conference, the body naming delegates to the national Methodist conference in Minneapolis, greatest interest will be centered, as there is an active contest in progress for places on the state's delegation.

VALUABLE PEARL FINDS ON PEPIN

Prosperous Season Is Being Brought to End By the Clammers.

Winona, Minn., Sept. 11.—The clammers who have been at work on Lake Pepin this summer have made some nice finds of pearls. Edward Stuever of Reeds being the luckiest, having found several, one of which he disposed of for $1,000 and others at smaller figures and he made another find last week which he values at $3,000. Frank Curdue of Wabasha got one worth $500, John McDonald, one for which he received $400. Huber brothers, one worth $100. Rev. Holland found several fine ones. In addition to these scores of them worth from $5 to $25 have been secured.

RAISED HIS PAY CHECK.

Is Charge Against East Grand Forks Laboring Man.

East Grand Forks, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Chance played a prominent role in bringing about the capture in this city of Paul Wright on a charge of raising a check from $2.40 to $22.40. John Sullivan of Key West had paid Wright for some labor by check, and when he came to the city in the evening he walked into a local saloon and in conversation with the proprietor, the latter remarked that he had that day cashed a check for $22.40 drawn by him. Investigation followed and the fact that the check had been raised was discovered, and in three hours the alleged check raiser was lodged in jail. He will be given a hearing today.

THE SOO LINE MAKES OFFER

Will Sell Chequamegon Park to Ashland for $35,000.

Ashland, Wis., Sept. 1.—Land Commissioner Killan of the Soo Line has made a verbal definite offer from his company for the sale of Chequamegon park to the city, and will on his return to St. Paul submit the offer in writing. Under his offer, the park will cost the city something less than $35,000. This is a striking reduction in the price fixed by the former owner, the Wisconsin Central, which was $75,000. It is understood that this amount is considerably less than it has cost the railroads in the matter of taxes, since the property ceased to be self-supporting. The formal written proposal, together with an explanation by the committee will be made in due time.

The offer includes all of Chequamegon square, and the half block north of Front street fronting on the bay.

FUMIGATION IS ALMOST FATAL

Old Resident of McKenzie, N. D., Nearly Suffocated to Death.

McKenzie, N. D., Sept. 11.—Grandfather Lappler, one of the old residents of McKenzie, came near losing his life in a peculiar manner.

County Commissioner Korn operates a store and meat market in the little town. The gentleman is an apostle of Dr. Wiley and was putting some of his sanitary methods into practice when the aged Lappler was caught. The meat market portion of the place was fumigated and when Mr. Lappler attempted to pass through the place after a bucket of water he was overcome by the fumes and fell unconscious to the floor. His predicament was fortunately discovered soon enough to save his life, but when carried in the air he was very near death. A few moments more and he would have passed out of existence along with the disease germs Mr. Korn was trying to destroy.

POLICE CHIEF IS MADE DEFENDANT

East Grand Forks Official Is Sued By Former Policeman.

East Grand Forks, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—As an upshot of the recent fight in this city involving Chief of Police Paddy Sullivan and Former Policeman John Gordon, which resulted in the arrest of the chief at that time on a charge of assault and battery, a civil action for $1,000 damages has been started. The case comes before the district court of Polk county.

The original charge that was brought against the police chief resulted in his acquittal.

FAIR AT MANDAN.

Interesting Events Are Planned for This Week.

Mandan, N. D., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Tomorrow the first annual Missouri Slope exposition will be opened here, and the indications point to an immensely successful event. The first day has been designated for the children, the second is farmers' and dairymen's day, the third is Bismark day, and the fourth and closing day is Pioneer day.

On the farmers' and dairymen's day there will be addresses by Prof. Merrill of the Federal Bureau of Animal industry; by Prof. G. L. Martin of North Dakota Agricultural college; by E. R. Edwards of Marion, N. D., by Dairy Commissioner R. F. Flint, and by Prof. C. L. Waldron of the state experimental station at Dickinson.

PICTURE STOLEN, THEN RECOVERED

Valuable Work Taken From Minneapolis Hotel Is Found in Drug Store.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 11.—The mystery surrounding the theft of "Die Frau," a painting said to be valued at $1,000 that was stolen from the women's parlor of the Radisson hotel Saturday night under circumstances similar to those surrounding the theft of "Mona Lisa" from the Paris Louvre was cleared up yesterday afternoon when the picture was found in a drug store where it had been left by a woman. The woman, about 35 years old, and wearing a gray suit, was seen late Saturday, it is said, sitting in a chair directly under the piteure at the hotel. It is said she was not a guest there.

At the drug store she made a purchase of some stamps and according to the clerks, appeared very nervous. Whether she purposely abandoned the painting or forgot it in her confusion, is not known.

CASH FOR STATE FAIR.

Twin Cities Raise $100,000 to Carry Board Over Deficiency.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 11.—Minneapolis and St. Paul on Saturday raised $100,000 to carry the state fair over the deficiency resulting from the week of unfavorable weather and provide cash for the requirements at the close. Business organizations and businessmen have agreed to guarantee the amount. The plan provides for the issuing of state fair warrants in the regular way. Back of them will be the guarantee. Cash will be provided for all payments that the board will have to make.

The Minnesota State Agricultural society has assets of $1,300,000, but cannot borrow money under the law. Action looking to the relief of the State Fair association followed an appeal from President Glotfelter of the board of managers and other officers of the agricultural association.

FOR STEAM PLANT.

Thief River Falls Plans Erecting Building.

Thief River Falls, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—This city will erect a building to be utilized for the purpose of housing the auxiliary steam plant to aid in maintaining a better electric service in the city. The proposed steam plant will be eighty feet long and correspondingly wide and will cost with the machinery about $35,000. The city owns its own electric lighting plant and for several years this municipality owned institution has netted the city annually about $5,000 over and beyond the cost of maintenance, extension and interest.

DRAGGED TO DEATH.

North Dakota Youth Is Killed Near Bowman.

Bowman, N. D., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—Thrown from his horse and with his foot caught in the stirrup, Fred Peterson, aged 10, was dragged to his death when the animal took fright. A pail full of eggs which he carried on his arm was responsible for the horse's fright. When the animal was finally stopped the boy had been horribly crushed and there was hardly a piece of clothing left on his body.

OLD-FASHIONED INDIAN COUNCIL TO BE HELD.

Elbowoods, N. D., Sept. 11.—Sept. 21 will be a notable date in this town, and on that day the big Indian fair, which will be held here, will be visited by Representative L. B. Hanna, who will be accompanied by Honorable F. A. Abbott, first assistant commissioner of Indian affairs at Washington. However, the main purpose of the visit of these distinguished visitors will be that they may have an opportunity to attend the big Indian council which will be held here. The council, to be attended by the chiefs and braves of the Fort Berthold Indian reservation, has for its purpose some proposed congressional legislation of interest to the red men. It will be a typical old fashioned council where the Indians will sit around in a circle. Mr. Hanna and Mr. Abbott will occupy positions next the chief. There will be the consultation, the old time powwow, and the smoking of the pipe of peace. That the council will be one of importance is evidenced by the fact that Mr. Abbott will journey all the way from the national capital to attend the proceedings.

GEORGE KIBBE BECOMES LANDLORD OF WEST HOTEL

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 11.—George Kibbe, proprietor of the Merchants' hotel, St. Paul, has practically closed negotiations with Miss Helen Wood for a 15-year lease of the West hotel. Some minor matters are to be attended to before the deal is made. Mr. Kibbe is one of the best known hotel men in the Northwest.

The details of the West transaction provide for the remodeling of the hotel. The main floor will be changed to provide room for a large cafe.

BILLINGS, MONT., MAN IS DROWNED WHILE BATHING.

Williston, N. D., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—A. L. Webster of Billings, Mont., was drowned in the Missouri river near here while bathing. The drowning man's cries for help were heard by C. Christo, pumpman for the Great Northern, and he hastened to the scene, but too late.

Webster sustained an attack of cramps, was caught in the swirling eddies and dragged down to his death. The body has not been recovered. A hunting license led to the knowledge that Webster was the man who had been claimed by death.

ALLEGED THAT RUSSIAN IS BEING HELD ILLEGALLY.

Jamestown, N. D., Sept. 11.—Attorney George W. Thorpe of this city has presented to Judge Coffey of the district court, an application for writ of habeas corpus, in connection with the alleged illegal imprisonment of Charles Wall, a young Russian from the western part of the state who is in the county jail here on the complaint of a Russian newcomer to this country, who claims that Wall obtained certain money from him under false pretenses.

The grounds alleged in the application are that no proper and legal hearing was had, and that Wall was not advised of his rights at the preliminary examination.

BROTHERS AVENGE ATTACK.

Judge Discharges Two for Assaulting Man Who Struck Sister.

Kenosha, Wis., Sept. 11.—George N. Tully, matchmaker of the Kenosha Athletic club and son of Alderman J. M. Tully, is inclined to regret a flash of temper which led him to punch the nose and bite a finger of Mrs. Anna Osby, a domestic in the home of Frank H. Truax, a general traffic manager for the Simmons Manufacturing company.

While Tully lay in the hospital, thinking over the episode and its consequence, Judge Randall discharged Charles Peterson and Fred Sorenson, relatives of Mrs. Osby, for slugging Tully.

Tully, it is said, had been on friendly terms with Mrs. Osby until several days ago. Then they had a disagreement which ended in the aforesaid injuries to the woman. Peterson and Sorenson brooded on the indignities offered their relative—one being a brother and the other a half brother.

So Peterson invited Tully for a stroll along the lake front. When they reached a quiet spot he whistled, and Sorenson appeared. Then the two proceeded to beat up Tully in knightly fashion.

ITALIAN STABS NORTHERN PACIFIC SECTION BOSS.

Dawson, N. D., Sept. 11.—Notwithstanding the fact that George Petrou, an Italian section hand at this point, dangerously stabbed H. J. Mowry, the local section boss and his superior, last week, the Italian has not been apprehended. The physicians who are attending Mr. Mowry state that he will in all probably recover from his wounds. The wound, however, is a long one, extending from the belt line on the left side of the back, upward and inward for about six or eight inches.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Havana, N. D.—James Smith of Cogswell has purchased the local creamery and will at once remodel the same and equip it for use as a cheese factory. It is expected that this venture will be a very profitable one and that it is only a question of time before North Dakota becomes noted as much for its cheese as for its other dairy and agricultural products.

Sioux Falls, S. D.—John Kills Crow, a full-blooded Sioux Indian, has been placed in the Sioux Falls penitentiary to serve a term of one year for forgery. It is alleged he forged the name of a McIntosh business man named Hartinger to a couple of checks.

Pierre, S. D.—Governor Vessey has appointed Milton H. Derby to be county judge for Buffalo county to fill the vacancy caused by the death of F. C. Heard.

Deadwood, S. D.—Fire of unknown origin destroyed the Sam Fish ranch buildings, twenty-five miles south of here, near Merritt, with a loss of over $10,000 and little insurance. A large barn, filled with fodder, and twelve other structures, were consumed. A cyclone at the lower ranch of the same owner caused a loss of $1,000.

Jamestown, N. D.—Miss Lucile Corwin, daughter of S. F. Corwin, and prominent in musical circles in this state, was married Thursday at the home of her parents to J. J. Nierling, Jr., a young banker of this place.

Fordville, N. D.—Beal's large blacksmith shop, erected last spring, went up in smoke. Mr. Beal's family live in chambers over the shop. He arose at 5 o'clock in the morning to find a mass of flames under the stairs in the shop. It had gained such headway that by the time his wife and boy were taken out of the building it was past help. The loss is estimated at $5,000.

Minot, N. D.—L. D. McGahan's successor as city commissioner will be chosen at a special election on Sept. 26. At this time five park commissioners will also be chosen with terms expiring the third Tuesday in April, 1912, 1913, 1914, 1915 and 1916 respectively. The new city commissioner's term will expire in April, 1913.

Grand Forks, N. D.—A decision in the famous case of Charles C. Gessner vs. Arthur Horne for alienation of his wife's affections and criminal conversation has just been handed down. The case was tried befroe Judge Cowan at Devils Lake and a verdict was returned in favor of the defendant. An appeal was taken to the supreme court on the grounds that the instruction to the jury was erroneous and the judgment is reversed.

Mandan, N. D.—Mandan is to have a lodge of Elks. Under the laws of the order a city to secure an Elks lodge must have a population of 5,000. The last federal census gave Mandan something like 4,000, but by the showing made the lodge boosters have increased the population to the required number and a charter has been granted.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Milwaukee—Two thousand guests attended the wedding on Friday afternoon of Miss Ruth Mitchell, daughter of the late United States Senator John L. Mitchell, and William van Rheinfeld van Breda of London. The wedding took place at Meadowmers, the country home of the bride's mother, on the outskirts of Milwaukee. The bridegroom is a practicing lawyer in London, where he and his bride will make their home.

Racine—Rev. Walter Gardner Blossoom, for five years rector at St. Luke's church, has been appointed archdeacon of the Madison convocation by Bishop Webb. The archdeaconry is a part of the Milwaukee diecese and includes the following counties: Crawford, Iowa, Richland, Grant, Sauk, Rock, Columbia, Green, Dane, La Fayette.

Appleton—Brokaw hall, the $75,000 boys' dormitory at Lawrence college, will be dedicated on Sept. 19. Bishop John W. Hamilton of Boston, Mass., will be the dedicatory speaker. The building will accommodate upward of 150 boys and will contain a gymnasium, assembly room and reading room and a Y. M. C. A. hall.

Rhinelander—Warrants have been served on F. A. Lowell, county superintendent of schools and editor of the New North Printing company; N. T. Baldwin, Prescott Calkins and N. Bolger, on the charge of failing to file their expense accounts of the last election. The cases will be heard at Minocqua.

Shawano—Work was started today on the new $125,000 county insane asylum which will be built by this county. J. F. Weinberg of Grand Rapids, Wis., has the contract. It will take a year to complete the building.

Green Bay—William Light of Carlton, Kewaunee county, aged 79, and Mrs. Josephine Collopy of Green Bay, aged 80, were married here on Friday. He has been married once, while this is her third matrimonial venture.

Eau Claire—John Domini, ager 50, of Loyal, Wis., is at the Montgomery hospital in a serious condition as the result of injuries received in a fall while working at the Lange Canning company plant. Domini met with his injury after working just one day for the Lange Canning company.

Waukesha—There is a movement on foot in Waukesha to form a civic improvement league. The first effort will be toward improving the Fox river above the dam. The league expects to dredge and widen the river, also to put in a new and higher dam, if the privilege can be secured. If these improvements are made, the upper river will be an ideal place for canoeing.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Hancock—Judge Charles O. Olivier, formerly justice of the peace in Hancock for a period of fifteen years, will leave about Sept. 24 for Ann Arbor to enter as a student at the University of Michigan law department for a three years' course.

Houghton—In the case of Henry Hughes, charged with assault with intent to do great bodily harm, the jury returned with a verdict of guilty as charged. He was accused of committing a cowardly assault upon an elderly woman. The case of John Fausone of Laurium, charged with arson, was begun. Fausone is charged with having set fire to his house with the intention of collecting the insurance upon it.

Negaunee—Mr. and Mrs. John F. Allison have as their guests O. W. Allison, who is station agent for the Southern Pacific line at Fairbanks, Ariz., and is a brother of J. F. Allison and also Mrs. P. L. Metzger of Elkhart, Ind., and Mrs. Noah Hatfield of Rolling Prairie, Ind., sisters of Mr. Allison. Their parents are dead, and while the brothers and sisters have met individually from time to time, this has been their first opportunity in many years to have a complete reunion of the surviving members of the family.

Republic—Alexander Brevig, who is a sailor on one of Uncle Sam's warships, and who has been spending the past thirty days on sick leave with his folks here left Wednesday evening for Plymouth, N. H., where he will resume his duties in the service. Mr. Brevig has already spent two years in the navy.

Escanaba—The plant of the Escanaba Manufacturing company has been closed and will be out of commission at least three weeks while a new power plant is being installed. The present power plant has been found inadequate for the needs of the company. All of the machinery in the factory is also to be overhauled and placed in condition for better operation. A large number of men and girls employed at the plant are affected by the suspension of work.

Ishpeming—Grover Gordeau, son of Dr. A. E. Gordeau of this city, who has had charge of the manual training department in the public schools at Paris, Tex., for the past few years, has accepted a position as assistant instructor in the manual training school at Oak Park, a suburb of Chicago. Mr. Gourdeau received his first instructions in manual training work in the Ishpeming schools.

Negaunee—The Negaunee countrymen of Mat. Saarikoski, who was shot and instantly killed Tuesday night about 11:40 o'clock, intend to raise a fund for the defense of Herman Oksanen, George Sutila and John Niemi, who were arrested on suspicion of having been implicated in the affair, and for the prosecution of Officer William Nadeau, whom they believe fired the shot.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Royalton—Postmaster A. E. Joslin is again ill and has been taken to St. Barnabas hospital in Minneapolis for treatment. Mr. Joslin suffered from a severe and extended illness during the past year, and the present disability is a recurrence of his old trouble.

Moorhead—Potatoes are king in Clay county this fall. Louis Altebernd, who has already shipped twenty-seven car loads, will clear $30,000 from his farm of 330 acres near here. The farm is devoted exclusively to potatoes and scientific methods of growing are used. Mr. Altenbernd said yesterday he would average a net profit of $100 per acre and that he was done with wheat farming for all time.

Wadena — While prairie chicken hunting Ed. Fischer was accidentally shot by his son, who was hunting with him. Mr. Fischer was not seriously hurt, however, although he received several wounds about the left arm and body.

Fosston—In reply to a letter of inquiry regarding the reported death of a man at Regina, Sask., supposed to be his brother, Nelius, Selmer Miller writes from Petersburg, N. D., stating that he fears that the man who was found was his brother, from whom he had not heard for two years past.

Grasston—Carl Ahlgren, who with C. M. Pearson rented the John Aurelius farm last year, has sold his interest in the crops to his partner and departed with his family and household goods for his old home at Rockford, Ill.

Onamia—Mrs. N. A. Vanderhoof and Mrs. E. S. Brechwald of Bismarck, N. D., have arrived and assumed proprietorship of the Soo hotel.

Crookston—R. H. Purvis has closed a deal for the sale of the Ernest Rolsch farm southwest of the city, 400 acres, comprising one of the finest farms in Polk county, for $22,000, $55 per acre, spot cash, to Mr. Perry of Iowa, an extensive land owner.

Warroad—A number of men are working in the country between here and Baudette at gathering evidence on the fires of last year. It is supposed this is part of the preparation for the big legal battle between the insurance companies and the Canadian Northern over burning of Baudette and Spooner.

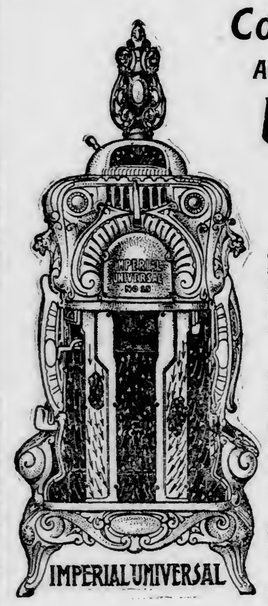

Waterville—Frank Siess, one of the oldest pioneers here, died at his home after a long illness. The deceased was 80 years old and leaves several children.

SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

TRIMMED BY THE MINERS

Superior's Pennant Winners Given Two Drubbings By Virginia Team.

Meniece, Playing for Range Team, Wins Second Game With Homer.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—In the fourteenth, after Virginia and the pennant winners of the Minny league had drifted along for five extra frames without a score to break the tie, Sam Meniece found one of Dunbar's slants for a home run and won the game for the Miners here, yesterday.

A big crowd witnessed the game and it was exciting throughout. Virginia should have won with greater ease, as up to the first of the ninth the locals had an 8 to 5 lead. Superior tied it up in the ninth, however, and Meniece's long bingle was the first thing that looked like a score after the tie arrived.

FITWELLS WIN SECOND GAME

Series for Amateur Championship of the City Is Tied.

Winning the second game of their city championship series with the Adams team yesterday afternoon, the Fitwells tied things up for the title and rendered a third game necessary for a decision.

It was the Fitwell's game from start to finish and the mill closed with the score 8 to 4 in their favor. Talbot let the West end athletes down with six hits, and he kept them from bunching until the eighth when he weakened a little and let in three runs.

The deciding game will probably be played next Sunday at the park. A good sized and noisy crowd witnessed yesterday's performance.

The score follows:

GREAT BASE RUNNING BY COBB AT DETROIT.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 11.—Thanks to Tyrus Cobb, whose wonderful base running tied the score in the eighth, Detroit broke Cleveland's winning streak yesterday, 2 to 1, in a thrilling thirteen-inning pitchers' battle. Donovan and Blanding twirled magnificent ball, but the latter weakened in the closing rounds. In the last inning Donovan walked, advanced on Bush's sacrifice, and Cobb's infield hit. Crawford walked, filling the bases, and Donovan came home when Olson, with a double play before him, muffed Delehanty's easy grounder.

Lajoie's double scored Jackson in the seventh. Cobb's performance in the eighth came with two out and the bases empty. He easily beat a grounder to Olson, whose throw sailed over Lajoie's head. Cobb, approaching second when Blanding secured the ball, saw the pitcher throw to Ball and set sail for third. Ball threw wild and Cobb tore for the plate, sliding around Easterly, who had the ball waiting for him. Cobb stole second and third in the first. Score: R. H. E.

Batteries—Blanding and Easterly; Donovan and Stanage. Umpires—Egan and O'Loughlin.

CHICAGO SCORES EASY VICTORY OVER BROWNS.

Chicago, Sept. 11.—Extra base hits gave Chicago an 8 to 3 victory over St. Louis yesterday. Bodie led in the hitting, getting two doubles while Lord and Block both batted out triples. St Louis found White for four hits in the first inning, and he was relieved by Benz, who held the visitors to three hits. Score: R. H. E.

SWEEPSTAKE RACES AT DETROIT YACHT CLUB.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 11.—The sweepstake races of the Detroit Yacht club started this morning with forty-two boats of various sizes entered in the six classes. Twenty-one are catboats, five universals, and the remainder entered in the other classes ranging from 16 to 21 footers.

Four entries in the 21-foot class are contesting for the Gardner cup and the race is made more interesting by the fact that it has brought together the Otsiketa, Camilla and Toledo.

During the Detroit Country club regatta the Otsiketa scored 166 2-3 points, the Camilla 133 1-3, and the Toledo 100.

BREWERS AND SAINTS DIVIDE DOUBLE HEADER.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 11.—Milwaukee and St. Paul split a double-header here yesterday afternoon, the visitors winning the first game, 8 to 4, and dropping the next, 6 to 3. Eddie Karger, purchased from the Boston Americans Friday, pitched the second game for St. Paul, and allowed six hits. Beaumont's home run with the bases full decided the local victory, while Harry Clark's homer performed the same service for Milwaukee. Dauss, a recruit from the Minny league, pitched one inning of the opener. Liebhardt's play was the feature. Scores:
First game— R. H. E.

INDIANS WIN TWO GAMES FROM COLONELS.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 11.—Indianapolis won both games of a double-header here today from Louisville. This was the visitors' last appearance here for the season. Robertson and Link worked on the slab for Indianapolis and both proved too much for the locals. The last game was called at the end of the fifth inning on account of darkness. An unassisted double play by Howard featured the games. Scores:
First game— R. H. E.

MILLERS PLAY WELL AND BLUES ARE BLANKED.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 11.—Flashy support behind Peters' clever pitching gave Minneapolis a 6 to 0 victory over Kansas City yesterday. Rhoades lasted less than three innings and Brandom, who succeeded him, was batted hard. Flene pitched the last inning. Altizer's work at bat and in the field featured a brilliantly played game. Score: R. H. E.

PITCHER COOK SCORES SEVENTH STRAIGHT VICTORY

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 11.—Cook's seventh straight victory was scored yesterday in a battle with Yingling, who did not give Columbus a hit until the seventh, when Perring's double and Downs' single produced the tieing run. Singles by Congalton and Odwell won in the ninth.

Yingling scored Toledo's only run, his two-base hit in the third being duplicated by Hinchman. Sharp fielding by Manning and Perring barred the losers from runs. Score: R. H. E.

PLAY TWENTY-FOUR INNINGS TO TIE

Sacramento and Portland Teams in Wonderful Contest on the Coast.

Sacramento, Cal., Sept. 11.—Twenty-four innings of fast baseball played in three hours and forty-five minutes was not enough to decide the game between the Portland and Sacramento teams of the Pacific Coast league here yesterday and when darkness closed the contest, the score was 1 to 1.

The number of innings played approaches the record by Bloomington and Decatur of the Three-I league, May 30, 1909, when it required twenty-six innings for Decatur to win, 2 to 1.

The game yesterday was scheduled as the first of a doubleheader. Portland in the fourth inning bunched two of its ten hits off Jack Fitzgerald and scored a man. Sacramento bunched two of its twelve hits and scored one in the sixth. Both Fitzgerald and Elmer Koestner, the Portland pitcher, were going well at the finish. Fitzgerald walked eight men against Koestner's six. Fitzgerald struck out fourteen and Koestner eleven.

GREEN SQUAD TURNS OUT

High School Football Practice Begins With Many New Men.

Cook Coaches on First Day and May Continue on Job.

High school football practice started Saturday afternoon with twenty-four candidates out.

Max Cook was in charge Saturday and at the meeting of the athletic association to be held this afternoon it is likely that he will be chosen as the regular coach for the season. Cook played football on the Dartmouth freshman team and last year got more football pounded into him by "Keg" Driver with the Wisconsin freshmen. Max was a star here, knows the game thoroughly, and should make good with half a chance in the coaching department.

The outlook is somewhat discouraging for a new coach, or for any coach, however. There were a bunch of willing and fairly husky candidates on the field Saturday, but the things the majority of them did not know about football would have made a large and unabridged set of the Encyclopedia Brittanica look sick if put in book form. While considerable football knowledge can be pounded into a man in a season's work it is an exceptional man that knows all the tricks of the game until after his first fall's work, and the excess of green material on the squad is apt to put the coach up against some difficult problems.

Five "D" men are eligible, Capt. Mars, end; Brown, sub-half; Jeronimus, end; McLaren, sub-quarter; and O'Brien, tackle. These men got into several games last year and form the sum total of the experienced men that Cook will have to work with.

Among other candidates who were out yesterday were: Harris, Crasswell, Duclett, Wasgatt, Davis, St. Clair, Hunter, McLeod, Currie, Friemuth, Le Moine, Brooke, Hutchins, Young, Dunn, Moore, Lawrence, Gaetz, Stevens and Kerns.

WOLGAST TRAINING FOR McFARLAND

May Unite With Dominion in Order to Secure Reciprocity.

Sheriff's Announcement That Fight Will Be Stopped Does Not Halt Work.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 11.—Lightweight Champion Ad Wolgast continued his training yesterday as usual for his contest with Packy McFarland in Milwaukee next Friday night, despite the statement of Sheriff William A. Arnold that he would not permit the contest to be staged.

Matchmaker Frank Mulkern reiterated his statement that there would be no trouble in going through with the contest, that the affair would not be a prize fight, but would be a boxing contest strictly within the law.

Wolgast went through his usual routine, consisting of road work, boxing with his trainers, shadow boxing, etc.

The champion is in the pink of condition and is said to be three pounds under weight. A large crowd of spectators visited the training quarters and watched the little fellow work throughout the afternoon.

Matchmaker Mulkern announced last night that Jack Welch of San Francisco, had been agreed upon as referee. Emil Thlery, McFarland's manager arrived in Milwaukee yesterday to get a line on the local conditions.

NATIONAL GOLF TOURNEY AT RYE

English and American Stars Entered in Big Eastern Meet.

Rye, N. Y., Sept. 11.—The dew was still on the fair green of the Apawamis Country club today when Thomas G. Stevenson of Boston and A. H. Gussman of Belleville, N. J., started the seventeenth amateur championship of the United States Golf association.

Leading off at 8 o'clock, Stevenson and Gusman were followed at four minute intervals well into the afternoon by golfing stars of two countries and notably by H. H. Hilton, the British amateur champion, around whom centers the interest of this year's struggle for national golfing honors.

The test today was an 18-hole play round with a similar round tomorrow forenoon, after which holders of the best thirty-two cards will play an 18-hole match play round in the afternoon. Only sixty-four players can start tomorrow.

FOG AND RAIN MAY PREVENT TENNIS PLAY.

New York, Sept. 11.—A real British fog smothered the courts of the West Side Lawn Tennis club early today, and when the mist turned into rain it began to look like a postponement of the doubles match scheduled for the second day of the international tennis tournament.

A. E. Beamish and Charles P. Dixon, the Britons, were to meet Thomas C. Bundy and Raymond Little, the Americans, this afternoon.

The tournament is to decide whether the United States or Great Britain will send a team to Australia to challenge for the Davis international trophy.

AMATEUR GOLFERS PLAY AT APOWAMIS CLUB.

New York, Sept. 11.—The amateur golfing supremacy of America will be decided this week on the links of the Apowamis Country club. Play begins today and will be continued each day, the winner on Saturday to be declared national amateur champion, while his club will have the custody for the coming year of the championship trophy, the Havemeyer cup.

William C. Fownes, Jr., of Pittsburg, who won the title last year, will defend it. Representatives of the Northwest, West, and South and of Canada and England have raillied to dispute its possession.

This year England has sent Harold Hilton, her strongest player to lift the cup, while the Canadian representative is George Lyons of Toronto who narrowly missed capturing it in 1906.

SUPERIOR MAN WINS CYCLE RACES

Glen Roberts of Superior carried off all the honors in the Superior Motorcycle club's racing meet yesterday afternoon, winning the Henrickson trophy cup, the five-mile free for all, the ride against time and the pursuit race. Walter Holmberg won the five-mile race open to Duluth riders only.

Only a fair sized crowd witnessed the events, but the meet was one of the most exciting ever held in Superior and the club expects that the quality of the numbers put on yesterday will result in better attendance in the future. Fair time was made in spite of a soft track. Roberts took the five-mile free-for-all in 7:51 1-5. In the ride against time he made the circuit twice in 1:30 3-5. The Henrickson trophy went to the rider making the best total points in three three-mile heats. Roberts won two of these heats, Hoffman taking the third.

Another series of races will be staged at the Douglas county fair which opens Sept. 27.

New Motorcycle Record.

Richmond, Ind., Sept. 11.—Erwin G. Baker of Indianapolis, set a new world's motorcycle record for 100 miles over a one-mile dirt track when he covered the distance here yesterday in two hours, nine and one-half minutes. He made the run without a stop.

Bancroft Apologizes.

Chicago, Sept. 11.—Frank C. Bancroft, business manager of the Cincinnati National Baseball league team, apologized to Umpire O'Day for attacking the umpire in a message Saturday in which it is an exceptional man that knows all the tricks of the game until after his first fall's work, and the excess of green material on the squad is apt to put the coach up against some difficult problems.

Five "D" men are eligible, Capt. Mars, end; Brown, sub-half; Jeronimus, end; McLaren, sub-quarter; and O'Brien, tackle. These men got into several games last year and form the sum total of the experienced men that Cook will have to work with.

Among other candidates who were out yesterday were: Harris, Crasswell, Duclett, Wasgatt, Davis, St. Clair, Hunter, McLeod, Currie, Friemuth, Le Moine, Brooke, Hutchins, Young, Dunn, Moore, Lawrence, Gaetz, Stevens and Kerns.

NEWFOUNDLAND WANTS BENEFITS

May Unite With Dominion in Order to Secure Reciprocity.

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 11.—Word has reached Ottawa that if Canada ratifies reciprocity, a movement will be launched in Newfoundland for union with the dominion. Newfoundland has several times without success sought better trading terms with the United States.

The proposed reciprocity, agreement, which would give free entry to fish to the United States, has aroused great interest in Newfoundland and a desire to share with Canada in any advantages of the American market.

Both Leaders Confident.

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 11.—The Canadian election campaign has been in full swing for a month. An army of orators has been busy throughout the country daily and large quantities of political literature have been distributed. The leaders of each party claim that victory is assured.

"Victory is in the air," declared Premier Laurier at a meeting in London, Ont., Friday last. "I feel the swing that makes it sure. I find for the cause I represent such enthusiasm as I never found before." Premier Laurier has been through Ontario, Quebec and the maritime provinces, speaking daily to large audiences. This week he goes to the district around Quebec city to finish the campaign.

"I am confident that on Sept. 21 the electors of Canada, will cast their votes against the ratification of reciprocity," declared Opposition Leader Borden at Charlottetown, P. E. I. on Friday. Mr. Borden has spoken at the principal centers of Canada east of the Great Lakes since the opening of the campaign, and also has had large and enthusiastic audiences wherever he has appeared.

NEW CHAUTAUQUA.

Residents of Lake Nebagamon Are Planning One for This Fall.

Lake Nebagamon may become the Chautauqua center of Northern Wisconsin, Minnesota and part of Michigan.

The idea is to book a long list of entertainments that hundreds of people will go to Lake Nebagamon for the purpose of attending them. While there, they will be shown the wonders of the place as a summer resort and inducements will be held out to them to erect cottages and live there during the summer.

Many of the residents of the town are former Duluth and Superior residents. They are much interested in the scheme and hope to try it this fall.

Efforts are being made to book Senator La Follette. It is proposed to hold a nine-day Chautauqua. A large tent which will seat 3,000 people will serve as a pavilion. Those who attend will sleep in tents. The town will furnish water and lights on the ground set aside for tenting purposes.

Among those interested in the new Chautauqua are Capt. A. G. Earnshaw, David Dibble and A. H. Burg.

GERMAN ENGINEER FINDS MUCH OF INTEREST HERE.

M. Plate, a civil engineer of Bremen, Germany, is in Duluth studying some of the remarkable engineering work that has been carried on in this city. He will devote special attention to the aerial bridge and the Great Northern Power company's plans.

M. Plate is connected with a large engineering firm in Bremen, which has charge of a power plant and huge locks. He was therefore especially interested in the water power plant at Niagara Falls, and is anious to see the Duluth plant, of which he states he has heard much.

From here he will go to St. Paul and return to New York, from where he will sail on Sept. 26.

Aetna Active Again.

Catania, Sicily, Sept. 11.—Mount Aetna is showing a revival of activity. Two new craters have opened about 8,000 feet above the sea level. An immense cloud of smoke is visible over Aetna and ashes are being erupted continuously. Frequent earthquake shocks occur at intervals of from five to 10 minutes and can be felt in all the surrounding villages where the inhabitants are greatly alarmed.

Terms: 15 per cent of the purchase price and interest on the unpaid balance from date of sale to June 1, 1912, must be paid at the time of sale. The balance of purchase money is payable in whole or in part on or before forty years from date of sale; the rate of interest on the unpaid balance is 4 per cent per annum, payable in advance on June 1 of each year, provided the principal remains unpaid for ten years; but if the principal is paid within ten years from date the rate of interest will be computed at 5 per cent per annum.

Appraised value of timber if any, must also be paid at time of sale.

Lands on which the interest is delinquent may be redeemed at any time up to the hour of sale, or before resale to an actual purchaser.

All mineral rights are reserved by the laws of the state.

Lists of lands to be offered may be obtained of the state auditor or the state commissioner of immigration at St. Paul and of the county auditor at above addresses.

SMALL FORTUNE IN LOAD OF TIMOTHY.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 11.—(Special to The Herald.)—John W. Scott of Gilby hauled a single load of timothy seed from his farm one mile from Gilby to an elevator. In that place, receiving $1,241.00 for the load. The timothy seed was grown on his farm. It would require twenty loads of 100 bushels each of wheat, sold at 60 cents a bushel, to attain the same amount.

The Universal Language.

He spoke his love in German—she answered not a word. In French he tried to woo her—the maiden never heard. He tried his luck in English, in Irish—all in vain; in Turkish, Greek and Latin, and in the tongue of Spain. And then an inspiration came to this anguished youth, "The universal language, I'll try—I'll bet she hears, and so he poured out for her some golden grain belt beers. She smiled so sweet upon him; he had her won for fair. No wonder, they are guaranteed to make friends everywhere. Order of your dealer or duluth branch minneapolis brewing company.

WOMAN'S LIFE IS SAVED BY WEARING A CORSET.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 11.—That Mrs. Samuel Burns of this city is alive probably is due to the fact that she wears a corset. Following a quarrel with her husband, from whom she has been separated, the man fired two shots at Mrs. Burns. Later when the woman was undressing, she found the two bullets imbedded against the stays of her corsets, with only a bruised spot showing on her body.

After he had attempted to shoot his wife, Burns turned the revolver upon himself and is in a critical condition.

SINGING SOCIETY OBSERVES ANNIVERSARY.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 11.—The twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the Normandinez singing society of Minneapolis was observed here Sunday with a concert in the afternoon and a banquet last night. Among the guests were Elven Almas, a Norwegian composer now touring the United States, and Lars Christiansen of Fargo, N. D., president of the Norwegian Singing association. About 200 attended the banquet, many of them being from cities throughout the Northwest.

Killed Her Husband.

Hunt City, Ill., Sept. 11.—Mrs. John Bodell, wife of a restaurant keeper, Saturday night shot and killed her husband shortly after his return from St. Marie, where he had spent the afternoon.

AFTER 7 YEARS SUFFERING

I Was Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Waurika, Okla.—"I had female troubles for seven years, was all run down, and so nervous I could not do anything. The doctors treated me for different things but did me no good. I got so bad that I could not sleep day or night. While in this condition I read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and began its use and wrote to Mrs. Pinkham for advice. In a short time I had gained my average weight and am now strong and well."—Mrs. SALLIE STEVENS, R. F. D., No. 3, Box 31, Waurika, Okla.

Another Grateful Woman.

Huntington, Mass.—"I was in a nervous, run down condition and for three years could find no help.

"I owe my present good health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier which I believe saved my life.

"My doctor knows what helped me and does not say one word against it."—Mrs. MARI JANETTE BATES, Box 134, Huntington, Mass.

Because your case is a difficult one, doctors having done you no good, do not continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It surely has cured many cases of female ills, such as inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, and nervous prostration.

DRINKING BY STUDENTS

Millionaire Business Man Arraigns Big Universities of Country.

Makes Charges of Alarming Prevalence of Drinking and Gaming.

Chicago, Sept. 11.—R. T. Crane, millionaire iron manufacturer, made public yesterday an arraignment of the big universities of the country. He charges alarming prevalence of drinking and gaming among the students. Columbia he ranks the worst, but conditions at Harvard, Princeton and Cornell he declares are almost as bad.

Of the students at Harvard, 90 per cent drink in their freshman year, 95 per cent in their senior year and 15 per cent go irretrievably to the bad, according to the report of an investigation which Mr. Crane made. Mr. Crane has spent much time and money putting under scrutiny the results of higher or college education. So bitter is he in consequence that he declares colleges do more harm than good.

Wine and Women.

Mr. Crane says in his report:

"An outsider can scarcely realize the amount of drinking that goes on in the clubrooms of the colleges." Referring particularly to Harvard, he estimates the number of students who combine in a mild degree wine and bad women as 65 per cent, who drink heavily 35 per cent, and who also have two or three "bats" a year, 45 per cent.

"I do not doubt that even worse states of affairs exist at other colleges. At Princeton it is beer, beer, beer. The town is licensed and the body of students, in my mind, drink even more than Harvard men. On one occasion, I believe, there must have been more than 500 students dead drunk.

"At Yale drinking is recognized in so great a degree that clubs have their tables at the bar rooms. I was never so struck in my life as when I found New Haven the dissolute, debauched and whisky town that it is. Some time ago the statement appeared in a New Haven paper that there were 2,000 fallen women in that city.

"At Cornell the conditions are somewhat the same, although I believe Cornell students do not carry their excesses so far as do the boys at Princeton, Yale and Cambridge. The Cornell boys are great on beer, as are also the men at Princeton.

Debauchery at Columbia.

"At Columbia I believe there exists more debauchery than at any other college, on account of its proximity to the famous resorts of the city. If further proof be necessary, let me quote from a letter received from E. C. Mercer, who is special secretary of the association of colleges of North America. He is following this matter up for the association, which shows that it is has taken upon itself the work of reforming college men. He is its special agent and is visiting the colleges and delivering a lecture entitled 'College men I have met in the slums and prisons of New York.'

"He says: 'I did say and have written proof to back me up that I have met personally and have heard from the most reliable authorities of some 1,200 college-bred men in the slums, prisons, jails, and sanitariums who were down and out through fast living. The noted bread line in our city has constantly in it college-bred men.'"

The rest of Mr. Crane's report is a story of drinking, immorality brawling and reckless money-spending. He gives a large number of examples and says the proof is irrefutable.

The report, which is printed in the current numbers of the Valve World, owned by Mr. Crane, denounces unsparingly student dissipation, and is a remorseless indictment of not only the universities, but of the municipal governments that permit such conditions.

UNION OBJECTS TO BOY SCOUTS

St. Louis Musicians Demand They Be Barred From President's Escort.

St. Louis, Sept. 11.—As a condition precedent to their furnishing music for the parade planned as an escort for Prseident Taft on his visit to this city, Sept. 23, organized musicians yesterday demanded through the central trades and labor union of the committee in charge of the arrangements for the chief executive's visit, that permission be denied the local contingent of the Boy Scouts of America to participate in the parade.

Resolutions adopted by the trades and labor union leaves the committee no alternative. Either the Boy Scouts must stay out of the parade or union musicians will not play.

A request from the Boy Scouts for permission to join in the president's escort has been under consideration by the committee but no action has been taken.

Organized labor here has opposed each successive step in the up-building of the boys' order, although yesterday's action is the most drastic yet attempted.

SKELETON OF A WOMAN

Found in Box Sent to Crematory By Express Company.

Sacramento, Cal., Sept. 11.—A large box was brought to the city crematory Saturday night by a negro garbage hauler with the request that it be burned. The crematory authorities became suspicious and upon opening the box found the skeleton of a woman. The box had been entrusted to the garbage hauler by the local manager of the Wells-Fargo Express company. According to Wells-Fargo officials the box had been consigned to a Mrs. J. T. Wilson of this city by A. K. Brown of Waco, Texas. Mrs. Wilson has been dead for some time.

Local officials are awaiting news of the shipping of the box from Waco to determine whether the body had been lawfully exhumed.

MISSING GIRL'S BODY IS FOUND

Sensational Tragedy in North Carolina May Be Disclosed.

Hendersonville, N. C., Sept. 11.—The finding of the bruised and scarred body of 17-year-old Myrtle Hawkins in a lake near here yesterday is expected to disclose one of the most sensational tragedies in the history of the state. On the face and neck were deep bruises, and while the coroner's jury verdict was death by unknown means, it is stated there is evidence that the girl died before her body reached the lake.

She had been missing since Thursday, when she left home to do some shopping. When she did not return, a search was made, but no trace of her was discovered until yesterday morning, when three small boys found the body. Lake Osceola, where the find was made, fronts Lake View inn, and the drive is traversed day and night by hundreds of vehicles. The girl was a daughter of W. H. Hawkins, a jeweler of Hendersonville.

NINETEEN HURT IN CAR COLLISION

Interurban Trains in Michigan Crash Together During Fog.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 11.—Nineteen persons were injured, one of them probably fatally, when two cars on the Grand Rapids, Muskegon & Grand Haven Interurban railway met in a rear-end collision one mile east of Fruitport last night.

Motorman William Darling and Conductor William Smith were in charge of Car No. 2, the second section of No. 1. There was a heavy fog and it is believed that Darling was unable to see that the first section had been stopped to let off passengers.

Motorman Darling of Grand Rapids had both legs broken and received internal injuries. Conductor Smith of Grand Rapids sustained a broken arm and minor injuries. Others injured are: John Hoogerhide, leg broken; Nicholas Waltz, left leg crushed and H. W. Holmstead, injuries to right leg. All of them live in Grand Rapids.

HIT AGED HUSBAND WITH HOT SKILLET

Woman and Her Son Held in Jail in Indiana.

Petersburg, Ind., Sept. 11.—Mrs. William Grubb, aged 75, was arrested at her home, eight miles west of here, yesterday on the charge of assaulting and seriously injuring with a hot skillet her sick husband, 77 years old, and chasing a daughter off the premises with a butcher knife when she interfered.

The woman is held in jail here with her son, Fred Grubb, who is awaiting trial also for an attack on his father. The son, who is 26 years old, is said to have beaten his father into insensibility for allowing a stick of stove wood to fall on his mother's toes.

HOOT AND JEER NYE AND DAVIS

Labor Shows Displeasure for Congressman Nye of Minneapolis.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 11.—Labor showed its displeasure for Congressman Nye of Minneapolis yesterday by refusing to hear him at the postponed Labor day celebration of Twin City unions at the Eberhart picnic grounds.

Vials of wrath likewise were emptied upon the head of Mayor Davis of Marshall, Minn., who also attempted to speak.

The Rev. Thomas Green of Minneapolis delivered an address and was heard respectfully.

It is said the celebrants refused to hear Nye because the latter voted against the La Follette wool bill during the recent extraordinary session of congress. Umbrage was taken at Mayor Davis because it is said he is not in sympathy with the McNamara brothers, arrested in connection with the alleged dynamiting of the Los Angeles Times building.

Both Nye and Dav's were hooted and jeered, the labor men shouting, "he's not ours" when the Minneapolis congressman tried to speak.

Nye, Davis and the Rev. Mr. Green were on the program in the absence of Congressman Victor Berger and Mayor Emil Seidel of Milwaukee, who it had been announced, would speak if they were able to attend the celebration.

FELL THROUGH SKYLIGHT WHILE SLEEP WALKING.

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 11.—Walter Irwin, 59 years old, is in a critical condition in a hospital following a fall of forty-eight feet through a skylight and a wooden floor while sleep walking. Irwin landed in the midst of a moving picture theater, crashing through a seat after he had shattered the skylight and fallen with terrific force through another floor. He may recover.

Tragedy in Kansas.

Kansas City, Kas., Sept. 11.—Henry C. Gumbel, a wealthy business man of Wichita, Kas., and son of a local capitalist, who was shot here by Robert F. Curtiss, a cigar salesman, died yesterday. The shooting occurred at a hotel where both men were stopping. Curtiss recently filed suit for divorce against his wife and in his petition mentioned Gumbel as being friendly with her.

LISTENED TO THE BAND

Nearly 10,000 People Enjoyed Last of Herald Free Concerts.

Pickaninnies Attracted Record-Breaking Crowd to Lincoln Park.

The popularity of outdoor band concerts was fully demonstrated yesterday afternoon when the final concert given under the auspices of The Herald was held at Lincoln Park, by the famous Pickaninny band, of the "In Old Kentucky" company, under the leadership of Maj. John Powell, renowned the world over as the "Black Sousa."

Upon the authority of the officials of the Duluth Street Railway company, the crowd that was attracted to Lincoln park yesterday afternoon to hear this famous band, was the largest that ever assembled there.

The weather was ideal. After a week of continued rain, the sun came out Saturday and dried the ground, and all day yesterday it beat its warm rays upon the park. The thousands of people who were gathered at the park were scattered about in groups, many of them having come early and enjoyed their lunches in the fresh autumn air.

To estimate the number that flocked to Lincoln park to hear The Herald concert is a difficult task, but officials of the car company believe that there were at least 10,000 present. That they appreciated every selection, was evidenced by their applause following the playing. The tunes selected by Maj. Powell were catchy and full of "snap," the kind one hears hummed and whistled on the streets almost every day.

Maj. Powell is today considered the greatest negro band leader in the world, and his ability as a leader was recognized years ago. He was given the name "Black Sousa" in the early days of his band leadership and the title seems to fit him most appropriately, and has traveled with him to all parts of the world, where his famous band has appeared.

The concert furnished free to the public yesterday by The Herald was a most fitting finale to the series of concerts given this season. That the people of this city have fully appreciated the many entertainments at the parks which have been arranged by The Herald, has been shown by the many personal communications to this paper.

The ideal fall weather yesterday brought out nearly every person in Duluth. Thousands of people spent the day in other parks of the city, while others were enjoying the warm sun on the water. Those who are interested in hunting, took a day off to the woods and nearby lakes, and others went automobiling in the country.

IRON AND STEEL SITUATION BETTER

Seventy-Five Per Cent Steel Mills' Capacity Engaged.

New York, Sept. 11.—The volume of business in iron and steel products last week suffered some contraction because of the labor holiday and the inactivity of the railroads, but miscellaneous orders for finished steel are still coming at a rate that keeps approximately 75 per cent of the steel mills' capacity engaged.

August records all along the line were notably encouraging. In finished lines the United States Steel corporation reported, on Saturday, an increase of 111,900 tons in untilled orders, which on the first of September will aggregate 3,695,985,000. New contracts were booked in August aggregating 1,053,000 tons, or at a rate of 39,000 tons per day, exclusive of Sundays. Shipments were about 940,000 tons. The corporation produced 1,228,000 tons of steel ingots and 976,000 tons of pig iron during the month. The American Steel & Wire company did an unusually heavy business in August, sales aggregating 190,000 tons and shipments 140,000 tons. The American Steel & Tin Plate company continued active and on Sept. 1 was operating 75 per cent of its tin mill capacity. The National Tube company also gained 1 to 2 per cent.

Although the recent activity has continued at the expense of prices, the situation was somewhat improved last week. Keen competition continues, however, in fabricated steel. The principal building orders included the Aeolian building, 4,000 tons, which went to Post & McCord; 25,000 tons for the Boston store at Chicago, awarded to the South Halstead street iron works, and 15,000 tons for the American Trust building, Birmingham, which went to the American Bridge company.

The volume of business in pig iron was again light, but some large contracts were placed by New York state consumers with Buffalo furnaces. Some fair business also has been taken since the first of September for export to Canada. The production of pig iron today is at the rate of about 23,200,000 tons annually.

The Danger of Imitations.

An Ohio druggist writes to "The Practical Druggist," a prominent New York Drug Journal, as follows: "Please furnish formula for Castoria. All the formulas I have worked with are either ineffective or disagreeable to administer."

To this "The Practical Druggist" replies: "We do not supply formulas for proprietary articles. We couldn't if we wanted to. His experience with imitative formulas is not surprising, but just what is to be expected. When Castoria is wanted, why not supply the genuine. If you make a substitute, it is not fair or right to label it Castoria. We can give you all sorts of laxative preparations for Children, but not Castoria, and we think a mother who asks for Castoria would not feel kindly toward you if you gave her your own product under such a name."

OFFICIALS LEAVE CITY

Touring Officers of Steel Corporation Spend Sunday in Duluth.

Entertained at Northland Country Club and Take Boat Trip.

President James A. Farrell and the other officials of the United States Steel corporation and its subsidiaries, who spent two days touring the ranges inspecting the corporation's properties, returned to Duluth yesterday morning at 6 o'clock. Their special train left last evening over the Omaha for Chicago, following the regular train which left at 6:15.

President Farrell expressed himself as well pleased with the trip. He said it was his first trip to the mines of Northern Minnesota and that it was a great education. Reports and figures could not give the impression of magnitude that observation did, he said. Mr. Farrell complimented Duluth people on their city and expressed appreciation of the reception accorded him and his associates here.

J. H. Reed, president of the Bessemer & Lake Erie Railroad company, also expressed his pleasure over the trip and its results. "I never had a more pleasant trip in my life," he declared. Mr. Reed said that the reception accorded the visitors in Duluth and on the ranges was greatly appreciated and that he is sure personal and business ties of friendship have been securely formed by the visit.

After the arrival of the special train yesterday morning, the visitors were taken to the Northland Country club, where breakfast was served. President Farrell and several others of the party attended church, while some enjoyed an automobile ride around the boulevard, others played on the links and others visited J. Uno Sebenius' Trianon farm.

After luncheon at the Northland Country club at noon, automobiles took the party to the Fifth avenue dock and they were taken on a trip up the river on the steamer Plowboy. They returned about 5:45 and went immediately to their special train on the Omaha tracks.

The decorations at the club in honor of the visitors were beautiful. President Walker supervised the work himself, and the dining tables were artistically adorned with freshly cut flowers.

BAILEY TO PRACTICE LAW IN FORT WORTH.

Fort Worth, Texas, Sept. 11.—Senator Joseph W. Bailey yesterday confirmed the report that he would retire from the senate at the expiration of his term in 1913 and would locate in this city. Mr. Bailey said that he would move here when his term expires and that he and his son, now a student in the law department of the University of Virginia, would open law offices here.

BULLS ARE PUT TO ROUT

Heavy Slump Occurs in Wheat, Especially on the Duluth Board.

Flax Continues to Go Lower on Account of Heavy Offerings.

Duluth Board of Trade, Sept. 11.—Seldom has wheat taken such a slump as it did on the Duluth board today. Duluth September closed at $1.05⅝ asked, or 3⅛ cents below Saturday's closing figure. In other markets of North America wheat also went down, but not in so great a degree as here at Duluth. Heavy arrivals of the new crop were the principal factor that enabled the bears to win a signal victory.

Flax likewise made much lower closes. This, too, was due to the movement of the new crop. The decline was about 10 cents a bushel all along the line as compared with Saturday's close.

Up to noon today the bears had things their own way in the Duluth pit. This was also the case, though in a lesser degree, at Chicago, Minneapolis and Winnipeg. Heavy arrivals of the new crop have been beating down the price. At Duluth there were larger wheat offerings than there have been at any time this season. The total number of grain cars received for inspection Sunday was 437 and today's estimate was 392. These were mostly laden with wheat. The two days' receipts make the largest number of cars here for inspection on any one day, namely 829. As a natural result, Duluth wheat sagged heavily. Saturday's closing price on the September delivery was $1.04¾. Today's opening was $1.03⅞. The highest point it reached during the morning was $1.04. Before noon, however, it was selling at $1.02¼. Duluth December, which closed Saturday at $1.05 asked, opened today at the same figure, but later quotations were $1.03 asked and $1.02⅛ asked.

Flax, too, had some sensational declines. Here before, during the present season, were the offerings so heavy as they were today. It shows plainly that the new crop has begun to move. September linseed, which closed Saturday at $2.50, opened today at $2.36 asked but before noon it was selling at $2.39 and a little later at $2.38. October linseed opened at $2.25, a cent under the closing price of Saturday, and later sold at $2.16, $2.15, and $2.14.

LINSEED.

During the latter part of the week ending Saturday, Sept. 9, the price of flax took a decided turn downward. For many days previously the tendency had been almost steadily upward. During the last few days, however, there have been more and more offerings on the floor of the Duluth board of trade. The constantly increasing volume of shipments of the new crop from Western Minnesota and North Dakota has begun to tell, and though the grain has not been arriving in anything like the volume it will when the thrashing of flax becomes general, the arrivals of the new grain have been enough to put an end to the aggressiveness of the bulls. Rainy weather through the Northwest has delayed the thrashing of flax. It is hardly likely that flax will again be so high this fall as it was during the early part of the week, covered by this summary. The farmers who got their linseed to market early had the best of it as far as getting good prices was concerned. It it thought that the bulk of the crop, which is soon to arrive, will be sold at much lower figures than what the present arrivals have been bringing. Following is a story in figures, summarizing what the Duluth linseed market has been doing:

Broomhall cables that according to the preliminary official report the wheat and rye crop this year is equal to that of last year. The oats crop slightly less and the potato crop shows a great deficiency from last year.

The wheat crop last year amounted to 141,883,000 bu, rye 413,802,000, potatoes 1,517,174,000 bu. The report caused heavy realizing in the Berlin market and also was the cause of the decline in the Liverpool.

While receipts of flaxseed have increased, the volume arriving is not yet sufficient to put the maket on a shipping basis. Then, too, there is still uncertainty regarding the crop, due to the frosts last month and the recent rains which are delaying harvesting in the northern part of North Dakota. There is rather an active demand for spot linseed oil, but very little inclination to contract for deferred shipment. Just at present there is a very strong situation in oil cake, as the demand from Europe is unusually good while offers are light. The result is that $35 can be had by the crushers, though some of them are asking $36.—Minneapolis Commercial West.

A complete failure in cereals and hay crops exists in the trans-Ural district, that is, in Western Siberia and Eastern Russia. The districts most seriously affected are the Shadrinsky, Kamishlovsky, Jalutrocosky, Kurganasky, Tscelabinsky and Petropavlovsky.

Some weeks ago the peasants in these districts began to sell their stock, as they saw no possibility of being able to feed the herds during the coming winter. On account of the expectation of a very limited hay supply, the prices of meat and milk have dropped most incredibly.

Where a milk cow usually sold for $12.50 to $18, she now commands only $5. A 4-year-old heifer, pasture fed, now sells for only, $3, while calves are being disposed of at the value of their hides; that is, about 75 cents apiece. The peasants believe that is only the beginning, and that later on cattle will be killed to be consumed by the owners in order to avoid starvation.

A dispatch from Winnipeg says: "It may be said now that the crop of the Canadian West has passed through the period of hazard and has suffered very materially. Frost has done most damage, with black rust a very close second. Hail has also done its part in lowering the aggregate as well as the quality of the yield. At the time of writing all grains have reached maturity and binders are busy at work. In Southern Manitoba and Saskatchewan thrashers have started and the result shows so far an inferior grade, generally speaking. In a few days the inspections will indicate more accurately the effects of frost and rust, as the receipts will come from a wider area. It is expected, however, that the average grade will be much below what it usually is, although the quantity will be very much greater than it has ever before been."

THE CHICAGO MARKETS.

Heavy Shipments From the Danube Caused Wheat to Drop.

Chicago, Sept. 11.—Large world shipments with surprisingly heavy contributions from the Danube acted today as a weight on the price of wheat. Weakness in Berlin confirmed traders from there in the news.

It was also reported that stocks in Liverpool were accumulating rapidly and that demand there was very slow. Opening figures here were ⅝c lower to ⅛@⅜c up. December started at 97⅜c to 97½c, a decline of ¼c to ⅜c, and fell to 97@97⅛c.

With the visible supply increased, the short interest eliminated and German crop prospects improved, quotations dragging still lower. The close, however, was steady at 96½@96⅝c for December, a net loss of 1⅛@1¼c.

Bullish cables gave corn a stronger tone. Buyers showed considerable activity, but found sellers scarce. December opened ⅛@¼c higher at 64½c, rose to 64⅝c and reacted to 64⅜c.

Later the market eased off with wheat and closed weak with December at 64@64⅛c, a decline of ¼c under Saturday night.

Oats eased off with wheat, although scalpers took the buying side. December started unchanged and ¼c off at 46⅛c to 46¼c and receded to 46c.

Provisions displayed firmness owing to an advance in the market for hogs. Initial sales were unchanged to 5c dearer, with January delivery $16.32½ for pork, $9.42½@9.45 for lard and $8.50 for ribs.

MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Several Factors Combine to Make Wheat Prices Decline.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 11.—Pit offerings today were liberal, but demand was slow and consequently prices registered a sharp decline. The increase in the visible supply, heavy world's shipments and weakness at Liverpool, were encouraging to bears. September closed 1¾c lower than Saturday; December 2c lower and May 2c lower. Local elevator stocks of wheat decreased 56,000 bushels for two days.

Minneapolis today received 428 cars of wheat against 745 a year ago; Duluth 313 against 159 and Winnipeg 212 against 105. September opened $1.02⅜; high, $1.02⅝; low, $1.01⅜; closed $1.01⅜. December opened $1.05½; high, $1.05½; low, $1.03¼; closed $1.03⅜. May opened $1.08½; high, $1.08⅞; low, $1.7⅛@$1.07¼; closed $1.08⅞; low $1.07⅛@$1.07¾; closed $1.07⅛@$1.07¼.

The cash wheat was steady; demand good for choice grades but slow for poor qualities. No. 1 northern sold ½c under to 1½c above December.

Cash close: No. 1 hard, $1.04⅞; No. 1 northern, $1.03@1.04⅝; to arrive, $1.02⅞@1.04⅝; No. 2 northern, 98⅝c@$1.02⅝; to arrive, 98¾c@$1.02⅝; No. 3 wheat, 92½c@$1.01⅝; No. 3 yellow corn, 63c; No. 3 white oats, 43@43¼c; No. 2 rye, 81@81½c.

Millstuffs—Shipments, 1,982 tons. Demand strong and prices firm. Bran in 100-pound sacks, $20.50 @21.00.

Flour—The demand was fair to good. Prices firm and shipments light. Shipments, 44,698 bbl. First patents in wood, f.o.b. Minneapolis, $4.90@5.10; second patents, $4.10@4.65; first clears, $3.25@3.45; second clears, $2.25@2.40.

Flax—Receipts, 30 cars; year ago, 40; shipments, 5. Demand for flax good at prices about 7c lower than Saturday. Closing price, $2.40.

Barley—Receipts, 231 cars; year ago, 148; shipments, 71. Barley market strong and active. Offerings over Sunday heavy, but demand excellent for all grades at unchanged prices. Closing range, 75c@$1.14.

LOSSES ARE RECOVERED

Heavy Selling of Stocks Resumed at Opening of Market.

Prices Rally After Noon and Early Declines Wiped Out.

New York, Sept. 11.—Following the lead of the London market, stocks made important gains today in the opening trading here. Canadian Pacific was especially strong with a gain of 2¾. Advances of a point were made by United States Steel, Erie, Union Pacific, Lehigh Valley, American Smelting and American Beet Sugar.

Stocks were thrown on the market at a lively rate following the strong opening, and before the expiration of the first hour many representative issues were ruling a point more below Saturday's closing. The liquidation began in the Hill stocks and extended to other leaders, with business increasing largely on the slump.

As has been frequently the case of late, the most acute weakness was in the railroad section. Northern Pacific was down 2 points, Lehigh Valley 1½, Union Pacific 1⅞, and St. Paul, Reading and Atchison 1.

Heavy selling of stocks was resumed today. Despite the higher range of prices sent from London at the opening, quotations soon reached new low points of the year. Much of the morning's selling was attributed to further liquidation by Berlin, where calling of loans by Paris and London was said to have disclosed more weak bull accounts.

The Harriman stocks were affected by reports that a strike on those roads was inevitable. A falling off in steel exports was given as a reason for the weakness in United States Steel. A pause in the liquidation in the second hour caused some hasty covering, and the market rallied a fraction. Another downward plunge uncovered many stop-loss orders, and the bears put out large blocks of stocks, driving prices still lower. The reaction from the opening resulted 3½ lower in Lehigh Valley, 3⅛ in Union Pacific, 2¼ in Northern Pacific and 2 in United States Steel, St. Paul and Southern Pacific. Bonds were heavy.

A number of stocks went lower than in the forenoon, including Union Pacific, Northern Smelting, Lehigh Valley, Chesapeake & Ohio and American Smelting before the decline was checked by a fractional rally. Trading became very quiet after the recovery. Norfolk & Western made an exceptional gain of 2 points.

The market closed irregular. The retirement of short contracts accelerated the rally. Reading and Southern Pacific reached a point above Saturday's close and a number of other stocks, including United States Steel, Great Northern preferred, Amalgamated Copper and St. Paul advanced to a fraction above parity.

The stability of prices in the last of the session led to more general buying for the long account and the list showed more animation on the rise than for many days.

PREFER THE EVENING PAPER!

"The evening papers are preferable. In large cities like Chicago a large proportion of morning papers are carried from home early in the morning to the place of business, whereas a similar proportion of evening papers are carried from the office to home, where they are more effective, particularly as there is more time to read and digest the advertising offered.

GIVES ADVERTISERS A SQUARE DEAL

The Duluth Herald holds a unique place in the Duluth newspaper field, in that it is the only daily paper that has never used voting, guessing or premium schemes of any nature to artificially stimulate circulation. The Herald today leads all Minnesota papers (outside of the Twin Cities) by thousands of daily paid subscribers.

HERALD ADVERTISERS GET THE BENEFIT OF A HOME CIRCULATION OF A HIGH ORDER—A PROVEN CIRCULATION OF QUALITY AS WELL AS QUANTITY.

FOWLER IS ON MOST DIFFICULT PART OF HIS ENTIRE FLIGHT

Must Cross the Sierra Mountains at Very High Altitude.

Starts From Auburn Amid Cheers of Many Thousand People.

Flight From San Francisco to Auburn Made Without a Hitch.

FALLS WITH MACHINE.

Alta, Cal., Sept. 12.—While flying over this place at a considerable elevation Aviator Fowler fell with his machine. Fowler escaped with a few minor bruises. He said the accident was caused by the rudder failing to work and declared that the motor might be repaired as it did not appear to be badly damaged. It will take three or four days to rebuild. The engine is all right.

Auburn, Cal., Sept. 12. — Aviator Robert G. Fowler, who arrived here last night at the end of his first day's air journey from San Francisco en route to New York, slept as soundly as if no attempt at making history confronted him. He was up early today and went at once to the hangar, where his biplane had been guarded throughout the night. A crowd was present and cheers greeted his appearance.

There was little more than precautionary inspection to be done to the machine, as the engine made the 124.7 miles from San Francisco to this place without a hitch. Fowler said his machine was in perfect condition when he started, and that it was just as fit when he arrived here.

Long before 8 o'clock, the hour designated by Fowler as that of his start on today's journey, the machine was

NOVEL ESCAPE FROM A JAIL

Prisoner Uses Radiator As Sledge to Break Ceiling.

Racine, Wis., Sept. 12.—Ernest Franke, imprisoned in the county jail on a charge of burglary, last night broke jail in a novel manner, making good his escape.

After the lights in the jail had been extinguished for the night, Franke loosened a radiator in his cell and using the heavy mass of iron as a sledge, succeeded in bursting a hole through the ceiling of his apartment.

Entering the garret through this aperture, Franke made his way to the rooms of the sheriff and with a rope of bed clothing easily made his escape out of a convenient window.

TWO SUSPECTS UNDER ARREST

May Be Murderers of Chauffeur Found in Fox River.

Chicago, Sept. 12.—Continuing their search for the alleged murderers of Frederick Wennerstrom, the chauffeur whose body was found in the Fox river at Cary, Ill., Chicago detectives today arrested Oscar E. Brown, said recently to have been released from a penitentiary, and a man who gave the name of John Clopton. The information which led to th arrest of the suspects was furnished the police by a mysterious woman said to live near Woodstock, Ill.

The police are working on the theory that the men may have knowledge of several recent holdups in which chauffeurs were the victims. Brown had $30 in his pockets and wore a large diamond pin when taken in custody on the West side.

Among the victims of recent robberies who were asked to try to identify the alleged suspects are William McClelland and Charles Price, chauffeurs.

It is said that G. C. Wennerstrom, brother of the dead chauffeur, also will be asked to try to identify the man as patron of the murderer.

Another man sought by the police, who, it is believed, may be able to throw light on the Wennerstrom murder is one who was arrested in connection with the Edward Alberti jewelry store robbery, in which $20,000 worth of jewelry was stolen, but was later released. He is said to have hired automobiles for mysterious night rides in the country on several occasions during the past month.

SELLS FARM, BUYS AUTO: GUARDIAN APPOINTED.

Macon, Mo., Sept. 12.—A farmer who sells his farm in a prosperous community and buys a picture show and a motor car in a large city needs a guardian, decided a jury in the probate court here today. The jury appointed a guardian for A. E. Cunningham, on petition of his wife, who said he was too easily influenced by smooth tongued men with quick money making propositions.

GREATER IN STRENGTH

Two New American Dreadnaughts Also Largest Vessels Afloat.

Keel Is Laid for the New Super-Dreadnaught New York.

New York, Sept. 12.—The arrival here of the new American dreadnaught Utah, to join her sister ship, the dreadnaught Florida, now nearing completion at Brooklyn navy yard, again sets the scales in motion to determine theoretically the relative position of American sea fighters as compared with the navies of the other great powers.

While naval expects concede that Great Britain has the largest aggregate of fighting ships, with Germany and the United States in a close race for second place, it is equally conceded by these experts that the two new American dreadnaughts now here outrank in size and strength anything afloat in the British and German navies at the present time.

The American ships have a displacement of 22,000 tons as against the original dreadnaught of 18,000 tons. They also take the lead over the Delaware and North Dakota, 20,000 tons each, which have heretofore held the lead of big gun ships in the American navy.

Lead All in Size.

The two American dreadnaughts, besides leading the ships of all the great powers in point of size, also bring Germany and the United States nearer together for second place among naval powers. Among naval experts the or-

AGED WIDOW SUES FOR HEART BALM

Charges Wealthy Shoe Merchant With Breach of Promise.

Lawrence, Kan., Sept. 12.—Ending unromantically a courtship of several months, Mrs. J. L. Sperry, a widow, aged 65, today filed suit in the district court here against James D. Faxon, 69 years old, alleging breach of promise and asking $10,000 damages. Mr. Faxon is a wealthy shoe merchant of this city. Mrs. Sperry, who has been twice married, owns many acres of valuable farm lands near here.

WILL FIGHT THE "BREAD TRUST"

International Bakery Union to Launch Its Own Bakeries.

Kansas City, Kan., Sept. 12.—The International Union of Bakery and Confectionery Workers, which opened its triennial convention here yesterday, will fight the alleged "bread trust" which refuses to recognize the union, by going into the baking business itself.

At least it will launch its own bakeries in cities where the trust refuses to recognize the union, if the recommendation made to the convention today by Otto E. Fisher of Chicago, international secretary of the union, in his annual report is followed.

WIND STORM KILLS SEVEN

Woman and Six Children Meet Death at Hobart, Mich.

Schoolhouse and Several Other Buildings Are Blown Down.

Tustin, Mich., Sept. 12.—A windstorm swept through the southern part of Wexford county at dusk last night, doing much damage in several settlements and little villages. A call for a relief train was brought to Tustin from Hobart, five miles south of Cadillac, but wire communication with points where an engine could be secured was cut off.

Passengers on a southbound Grand Rapids & Indiana train reported that a woman and six children were killed and the bodies were burled under the debris of a store. Another report said three children were taken out alive. Neither report could be verified. The schoolhouse and several other buildings at Hobart were blown down.

Much Damage Caused.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 12.—One of the worst rain and electrical storms of the year swept across lower Michigan last night causing a large amount of damage. Communication to many points has been destroyed but meager reports indicate that the northwestern portion of the state, especially the district around Cadillac, suffered the worst. Jackson, Kalamazoo and Battle Creek also were isolated for a time.

ADRIFT DURING SEVERE STORM

Chicago Police Sergeant and Companion Have Narrow Escape.

Chicago, Sept. 12.—After being adrift for five hours in a twenty-five-foot gasoline launch during a severe storm which swept Lake Michigan, Police Sergeant John Lacey and a companion were rescued today by Crib Keeper James Ward. The men were five miles from shore when the storm broke and were buffeted about by the wind and waves until seen by the keeper of one of the city water cribs who went to their rescue.

HAIL STORM CAUSES DAMAGE OF $25,000.

La Crosse, Wis., Sept. 12.—It is estimated here that the loss in the city of La Crosse by last night's hail storm was $25,000 or more. Every greenhouse in town was riddled and windows in hundreds of houses and stores were smashed. Official records were taken of hail more than 3 inches in diameter. It was the worst hail storm ever known here.

Eight Wounded in Spain.

Bilboa, Spain, Sept. 12.—There was a clash between the strikers and the civil guards last night during which the latter fired into the crowd and wounded eight persons, two of whom were fatally injured, it is thought. All trades unions have proclaimed a general strike here.

NORTHWEST HAS RAISED GOOD CROPS

Almost as Many Bushels of Wheat Secured as Last Year.

Yield of Grain, Potatoes and Hay Is Worth $600,000,000.

Minnesota More of Mixed Farming State Than Was Supposed.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The world will be amazed at the unvarnished truth about the staple crops of the American Northwest produced this year. The early summer drouth in parts of the Dakotas and Minnesota was widely advertised and has created an impression in the rest of the country of a great shortage in the staples of the Northwest. The real truth, as revealed by an exhaustive inquiry conducted by Orange Judd crop reporting service, including reports from every county in the eight states, makes a remarkable showing in Orange Judd Northwest Farmstead of Minneapolis for Sept. 16. The reports were mostly written or telegraphed between Aug. 28 and Sept. 8. Should corn be uninjured by frosts until the middle of September, the harvest prospects reported will be fully realized.

Developments in Wheat.

An extraordinary gain in North Dakota's wheat acreage was revealed by the federal census of the acres sown to wheat in the spring of 1909. The Farmstead's reports for 1911 confirm that the westward movement of the wheat acreage has been more rapid than even the best observers have realized. The Montana acreage has also largely increased, while Minnesota has become more of a mixed farming state than was supposed.

Instead of nearly 6,000,000 acres devoted to wheat last year and this, Min-

FORMER MILWAUKEE MAN SHOT HIMSELF

Head Was Recently Injured in Street Car Accident.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 12.—While preparing for a visit to his former home in Milwaukee yesterday, William Cyrog, a grocer, seized a revolver and shot himself dead as his wife stepped from the room for a moment. Cyrog recently suffered injuries to his head in a street car accident and since then is said to have acted queerly.

Mrs. Cyrog's parents reside in Milwaukee.

HAS BROKEN WITH CLAPP

Former Campaign Manager Has Deserted the Minnesota Senator.

Rich Objects to His Attacks Made on President Taft.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Unable to stand for the speeches Senator Moses E. Clapp has made in the West attacking President Taft and because of his alignmen with the Progressives, W. W. Rich, the senator's former campaign manager, has broken with him and a decided breach, politically, has formed between the two. Usually as close together as brothers, Senator Clapp came to St. Paul Sunday and departed without seeing his old political friend and adviser, and the latter made no effort to see him. The bonds between them appear to be severed.

Mr. Rich admits that they are on different sides of the politcal fence, and added that he did not know what caused Senator Clapp to "go skylarking away knocking the president" as he has.

"He says he is a Prosessive," Mr. Rich exclaimed. "What is a Progressive? I believe in Progressive principles as much as he does and yet I'm for Taft. It appears to me that this so-called Progressive agitation has gone too far. Either they're Republicans or they're not Republicans. Either they're with the Republican

POSTMASTERS MEET AT OMAHA

Cincinnati After the Next Convention of the Association.

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 12.—With over 300 postmasters representing every portion of the country in attendance, the annual convention of first-class postmasters opened a three days' session here today.

Nearly all the national officers of the association were present at the opening session. They include F. G. Withoff, Dayton, Ohio, president; E. R. Sizer, Lincoln, Neb.; first vice president; E. R. Woods, Louisville, Ky., second vice president; Isadore Sobel, Erie Pa., third vice president; G. W. Bean, Tampa, Fla., fourth vice president; E. C. Mansfield, Boston, fifth vice president; D. C. Olin, Milwaukee, treasurer; and Howard Marshall, Dayton, Ohio, secretary. Postmaster E. P. Montfort of Cincinnati, is here with the avowed intention of taking the next convention to his city.

ELEVEN UHLANS DROWNED IN THE RIVER ELBE.

Dresden, Saxony, Sept. 12.—The Saxon army maneuvers assumed a realistic character today when eleven Uhlans lost their lives in the waters of the Elbe. These cavalry scouts were drowned while attempting to swim the river near Pirna.

ANTI-PROHIBITION VICTORY IN MAINE NOT A CERTAINTY

Latest Official Returns Show Result Not Definitely Settled.

Prohibitionists Still Hopeful That Amendment Is Not Repealed.

State-Wide Primary Act Is Carried By a Good Margin.

MARGIN VERY SLIGHT.

Portland, Me., Sept. 12.—Official returns received up to 2:15 p. m. continued to decrease the small unofficial anti-prohibition majority shown this morning, and at that hour it looked as if the official margin one way or the other would be slight. The Prohibitionists were very hopeful that further figures would turn the result in their favor.

Portland, Me., Sept. 12.—Little change in the apparent result was shown today by a revision of the returns of the vote cast at yesterday's special election on the question of taking prohibition out of the state Constitution. At 8 o'clock today fourteen towns had not been heard from and without these towns the vote stood: For repeal, 60,721; against repeal, 59,958.

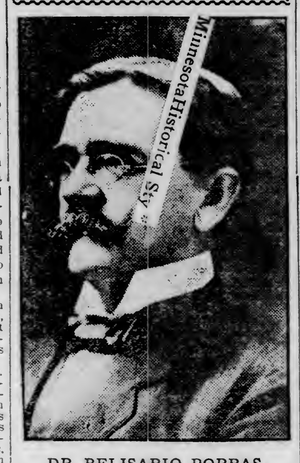

This gave a majority of 763 for the repeal of the prohibitory amendment to the state Constitution.

Announcement was made this morning that steps would be taken for a recount of the vote unless the official returns should materially increase the majority for the repeal of the amendment. Official returns had been received this morning from fifty-six cities and towns.

Next in interest to the prohibition question was that of the adoption or rejection of a state-wide primary act. Returns thus far received indicate its adoption by a good margin. The offi-

IS A BRIDEGROOM WITHOUT A BRIDE

DR. BELISARIO PORRAS.

Washington, Sept. 12.—Dr. Belisario Porras is waiting at the legation. He is a bridegroom without a bride. Dr. Porras was engaged to marry a charming young woman of Costa Rica. Several months ago he was sent to the United States as minister from Panama. He did not have time to get married. As the business of his country was so urgent that he could not leave Washington for the ceremony, he decided to be married by proxy. So a friend was sent from Panama to San Jose and there he went through the marriage ceremony as Dr. Porras' representative. Mrs. Porras will arrive in New York early next month and will then go through a second ceremony at which Dr. Porras will answer for himself.

FRANCE IS QUITE FIRM

Reply to German Note on Moroccan Question Conciliatory.

No Withdrawal, However, Upon Any Questions of Principle.

Berlin, Sept. 12.—No further developments in the Moroccan affair are expected here pending the receipt of France's reply to the German note. The French ambassador, M. Cambon, is in Dresden with his family, awaiting the next move by his government.

Although the public anxieties regarding the differences between France and Germany have been largely delayed, stocks opened somewhat weaker on the Bourse today, owing to the unsatisfactory course of the New York and Paris markets yesterday.

A report printed in the foreign press that the Russian government had withdrawn great sums of money from Berlin is authoritatively denied, and it is asserted that the withdrawal of French credits from German houses has been much exaggerated in the reports. Whatever withdrawals were made were so slight, it is declared, that they played no part in the recent stock market panic.

France's Reply.

Paris, Sept. 12.—It is understood that the French reply to Germany, while written in a spirit of conciliation, is absolutely firm with regard to the position France has assumed

DIEGLE LOCATED AT FRENCH LICK

Expected to Make Confession of Ohio Legislative Graft.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 12.—Redney J. Diegle, convicted sergeant-at-arms of the Ohio senate, who is expected to make a confession which may result in further stay of execution of his sentence, and who disappeared from Columbus yesterday, is in French Lick Springs, Ind.

Information as to Diegle's whereabouts was procured by friends of the convicted man early today.

Diegle is accompanied by a special officer representing the state, Harry Bradbury of Cleveland, and is expected to remain in the Indiana resort until Saturday or Sunday, returning to Columbus in time to appear in court Monday. On that day his stay of sentence expires, unless he submits information which will be valuable to the court in prosecuting the lobbyists and legislators, whose operations already have been considered by the Franklin county grand jury.

John E. Egan of Dayton, one of counsel for Diegle, who left Columbus with him, was reported to have accompanied his client to Indiana, but went to his home instead.

INCREASE POWER OF GOVERNORS

Governor Norris of Montana Gives His Views at Conference.

Spring Lake, N. J., Sept. 12.—Two methods in which the powers of state executives throughout the Union ought to be strengthened, in the opinion of Governor Edwin L. Norris of Montana, were discussed by him before the conference of governors here today.

The first vital step to be taken, Governor Norris believes, is to bestow upon governors the power to remove inefficient state officers charged with the enforcement of the criminal and remedial laws. The second is to grant the governor the right to initiate and refer legislation to the voters for their approval or rejection.

MYSTERY MAY BE EXPLAINED

Neighbor of Lemberger Family Held at Milwaukee Police Station.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 12.—John A. Johnson, a neighbor of Martin Lemberger, in his cell at the police station this morning, is awaiting the summons to appear in court and tell what he knows of the death of Annie Lemberger, the 7-year-old girl whose body was found in Lake Monona on Saturday morning.

District Attorney R. N. Nelson said that he had not yet decided when Johnson will be called, but it probably will be on Wednesday morning.

Lemberger testified at the inquest yesterday that he had had a little trouble with John about three years ago and that Johnson had invited him to fight it out. This is important evidence in the minds of the police.

Johnson's criminal record which includes two years in the state prison, two commitments in state insane asylums and numerous jail terms for drunkenness and non-support, is remembered by the police in connection with his career. Johnson himself denies knowledge of the circumstances of Annie Lemberger's death.

A photographer visited Johnson in his cell yesterday. A crowd of hangers-on followed to get a glimpse of the man whose name is now on everyone's lips. Johnson, it is reported saw them surrounding the bars and cried out:

"My God, are they coming?"

The prisoner is somewhat nervous and spends considerable time in reading the Bible.

SHOOTS GIRL DEAD AND KILLS HIMSELF.

Calgary, Alta., Sept. 12.—Charles Steadman shot and killed Emily Grote and then killed himself at the girl's home here last night. They were lovers and it is believed a quarrel was the cause of the shooting. Both had recently come here from England.

WHAT'S THE ANSWER?

Weather—Generally cloudy tonight and Wednesday. Warmer tonight.

BEST SOLUTION IS TO PULL DOWN THE BLINDS.

A proper adjustment of the blinds in some of the second story windows of a few West Duluth homes, would, according to the police, probably forever silence all talk about "Peeping Toms" and save no end of trouble for the guardians of the peace.

A policeman, who did not wish to have his name mentioned today declared that on several occasions, when he had been called to places, where women asserted that they had been frightened during the evening by seeing some man peering in the window, in most cases, the window shades had not been pulled down.

"Such things as these encourage the 'Peeping Tom' and the safest and best preventative is to pull the blinds down. Prowlers who come on to premises for the purpose of peering into a window would meet with disappointment and the practice would be stopped."

Last evening again the police were called to a home on North Fifty-third avenue, where a woman claimed to have seen two men peeping in the window. By the time that the police had arrived, however, the "Peeping Toms" had decamped. The police have had other complaints of this sort within the past few nights.

FOUGHT IN DEFENSE OF WIFE'S GOOD NAME.

Pete Polovich and Steve Polovich, not related, fought yesterday afternoon in Rady Orlich's saloon at 5316 Raleigh street, resulting in the arrest of the former on a charge of assault.

Pete and Steve work at the coke ovens of the Zenith Furnace company, but were off duty yesterday afternoon, when the assault is alleged to have taken place.

At the preliminary hearing this morning before Justice John J. Moran of the West Duluth court, it developed that Pete was defending the good name of Mrs. Polovich, his wife, when he committed the alleged assault.

Justice Moran postponed the case until tomorrow morning.

Saginaw Child Dies.

W. H. Richter of Richter & Bellmeur, undertakers at 425 Central avenue, left this afternoon for Saginaw, Minn., to get the body of the 10-year-old son of Section Foreman Carlson, who died yesterday at Saginaw, of infantile paralysis. The body will be brought to the undertaking rooms at West Duluth. No funeral arrangements have been made.

WILL DEDICATE NEW CHURCH BUILDING.

The Harvey Memorial M. E. church, Ninety-second avenue west and Clyde street, Smithville, will be dedicated on Sunday, Oct. 8.

Rev. Robert Forbes, D. D. of Philadelphia, Pa., a former pastor of Asbury M. E. church, Sixtieth avenue west and Raleigh street and former superintendent of the Duluth district of Methodist Episcopal churches, will be the principal speaker.

The congregation has been organized at Smithville for several months and has been in charge of Rev. E. F. Stidd, pastor of Merritt Memorial M. E. church, Forty-sixth avenue west and Halifax street. During the summer, church services have been conducted in the old schoolhouse.

The new church is a frame building, thirty feet wide and forty feet deep.

WEARY OF DELAY IN BUILDING NEW ROAD.

New Duluth people are wondering what is the reason for the delay in the building of the proposed road between Dimmerly street and Commonwealth avenue. The highway, when constructed, will provide a good thoroughfare to the steel plant.

The contract for its completion should have been completed by June 1. The old road, which is now being used, is in a bad condition and property owners and others feel that something should be done.

It is probable that the matter may be brought to the attention of the West Duluth Commercial club Friday evening.

West Duluth Briefs.

Miss Marie McDonald of 919 North Fifty-sixth avenue west has returned from a visit to the state fair.

Rev. John G. Leitch, pastor of Westminster Presbyterian church, who has been spending the summer in Scotland, is expected to return to West Duluth next week.

J. P. Wier of 409 North Fifty-third avenue west has left for Mount Pleasant, Iowa, on a two weeks' vacation trip.

Misses Florence Kern of 4809 West Sixth street and Agnes Ehr of 617 North Fifty-sixth avenue west have returned from a visit to the Twin Cities.

The Fairmont-Tigers football club will entertain tomorrow evening at the fourth of the series of dancing parties of the fall season at Wade's hall, Central avenue and Ramsey street.

E. D. Abbott of 5609 Grand avenue left today for a three weeks' trip to Florida, where he will visit his son, H. C. Abbott, who resides at Fort McCoy. Mr. Abbott is also interested in lands in the Santa Rosa district and will also visit there.

Mr. and Mrs. Unger of Chicago are visiting relatives in West Duluth.

ADDITION TO POSTOFFICE

Postmaster A. P. Cook Says More Working Space Is Needed.

Business in the local postoffice has reached such proportions that the space occupied by the clerks and carriers is crowded to the limit and more room is needed.

The situation which has been serious for some time, was not improved this week when four more carriers were added to the force. Postmaster A. P. Cook asked the department for eight additional carriers, and had he been given that number the force in the postoffice would be in a very cramped situation.

It is likely that within a short time a request will be made to the treasury department for another addition to the building. Not only does Mr. Cook realize the seriousness of the situation, but L. M. Willcutts, who has charge of the federal building, is fully cognizant of the condition, and will probably call the attention of the authorities at Washington to the urgent need of an enlargement.

About three years ago a large addition was made to the postal department, and it was believed that this would be sufficient for many years. But Duluth has made such big increases in the postal business during the past three years that many additions had to be made to the working forces.

Addition Is Needed.

As the government will not construct the new building which is proposed to be erected on the opposite side of Fifth avenue west, on property already purchased by the government, for some time to come, it is quite apparent that some provision must be made to enlarge the present building to supply the needs. The postal savings station will be a new department added to the postoffice, which will require considerable room, which is now much needed by the regular postal department.

The only available place to make another addition to the federal building would be on the northeast corner, where there is now a large driveway court, used by the mail wagons. The space is a large one, and could afford an excellent space for an addition. This space has been selected by Mr. Willcutts for the proposed addition if it can be secured.

"The business of this office is increasing to a great extent every year," said Mr. Cook this morning, "and the need of an addition to the postoffice is urgent. We need more carriers, and if we get them we will have to get more room. Besides having a big business here, we are greatly handicapped by the physical peculiarities of the city, which is so long and narrow, making delivery of mail difficult."

"There is no question but that we must have an addition to the postoffice soon," said Mr. Wilcutts, "but I do not know just when it would be the best time to take the matter up. However, that will be attended to soon."

NORTHERN WISCONSIN RAIN PROVING BENEFICIAL.

Couderay, Wis., Sept. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The steady rains which has been falling all through this section during the last seven days was of immense benefit to the farmers and other land owners, as it was the first through soaking the ground has had for over two years. The soil is now in good condition for the fall plowing. The rains also insures this section from the danger from forest fires.

ESCAPES LIGHTLY UNDER NEW LAW

William Seams, charged with non-support, got off easily in superior court today when he pleaded guilty and was sentenced to six months in the county workhouse by Judge Smith.

Under the new law, the maximum penalty is two years in the state penitentiary. Seams admitted having failed to provide for his family for over a year and that he had repeatedly refused to contribute anything to their support. Seam's case was the first under the new statute.

The trial of William Krause, who is charged with having burglarized the county workhouse and stolen some beer from the superintendent's private stock was not finished in superior court late this afternoon.

Killed By Lightning.

The body of Erick Kergas, aged 31, supervisor of the town of Maple, who was struck and killed by a bolt of lightning during yesterday morning's electrical storm, was brought to Superior today and taken to the Le Sage undertaking rooms. Kergas was seeking shelter in a barn on his farm. The bolt entered the barn through the roof and struck Kergas on the head. He is survived by a wife and two children.

Indians Are Fined.

Billie Kouris and M. P. Hailing, two of the thirty-six Indians arraigned in federal court before Judge Sanborn on a charge of introducing liquor on the reservation were fined $100 each yesterday. The others were let off with suspended sentences on the promise of god behavior.

Held to Higher Court.

John Koukenen, accused of robbery, was held to the present term of the superior court, when arraigned before Judge Parker in police court yesterday afternoon. Koukenen is charged with complicity in the robbery of $900 from Herman Maki of Floodwood, Minn., about six weeks ago in a Third street saloon.

Contractor Quits.

A special session of the city council has been called by Mayor Crumpton to consider the Main street paving job. Owing to court proceedings, which have been started, Swan Holmquist, the contractor, has thrown up the job and yesterday notified the board of public works to readvertise for bids. On account of the lateness of the season, it is probable that the street will be paved with plain macadam. The paving is to extend from the Interstate bridge to the Lamborn avenue bridge.

Falls Sixty Feet; Lives.

Joseph Baker, while operating an elevator used to convey brick and mortar, fell a distance of sixty feet yesterday afternoon and is alive. Strange as it may seem, his injuries are said only to be slight and it is expected that he will be about in a few days. Baker was working on the new addition to Roth Bros. store.

Schools Cost $212,053.

A budget of $212,053.34 will be required to operate the public schools in the city for the coming year. The tax levy will be $171,461.55, the money derived from the state tax $19,350 and from the county tax, $21,241.79.

LIVE FISH DISPLAY.

Two Sturgeon to Be Shown at Baudette Fair.

Baudette, Minn., Sept. 12.—The Baudette fair will have one attraction this year that will be the only one of its kind in the state. The committee has been very fortunate in making arrangements with Harry Curry and Prof. Surber for a display of live fish from the Lake of the Woods.

The fish will be shown in a specially constructed tank eight feet in length, and their every movement will be plainly visible.

Two sturgeon, each weighing more than 100 pounds, have already been secured and placed in the pen at the lake, and it is hoped that another weighing around the 150-pound mark will be captured. So little is known by the average person about sturgeon and their habits that the exhibit of these big fellows should be very interesting. In addition to the sturgeon splendid specimens of the other fish that inhabit the lake will be shown in the tank.

PERMANENTLY CURED!

Records of Progressive Medical Association Show That if Once Cured the Disease Will Never Return.

Twenty-five years ago when these scientific specialists settled down in Duluth, they had scores of patients come to them who had been fooled by men who could not cure them. People had parted with their money, but had not parted with their diseases. The principle of the Progressive Medical doctors always has been to do what is right, and if a man could not be cured they have not kept him guessing about it, but told him the truth; they never charged a patient for any disease which they could not thoroughly cure him of. This principle could not fail to lead them to success, fame and reputation.

MISTAKES. People have read of late many glaring ads of so-called specialists in Duluth papers, they promise everything in the way of cures. Some of them stayed for a few months, and quietly disappeared. Others have a hard fight to keep up expenses, because it is hard for them to find enough people at the Head of the Lakes who can be fooled all the time. All of these glaring advertisers have fooled people in other cities and states, till they could fool them no more, and then came to Duluth. The doctors of the Progressive Medical association had such tremendous success for more than twenty years in Duluth that they did not need to go somewhere else. They have always been successful in their cures, they avoided operations, charged a moderate fee for their work, and never charged if a cure could not be effected. People they cure stay cured for life.

EQUIPMENT. For the last five years the doctors of the medical association have equipped their offices with every latest machine and instrument which medical science has invented, so that people who were in their office fifteen years ago would not recognize it to be the same office. They have invested thousands of dollars in their office, and have by far the best of medcines, of which probably not one ounce could be obtained from any drug store in Duluth or Superior. These specialists go even so far as to give a legal guarantee where they know they can cure a case. They cure all diseases of men, rheumatism as well as lung troubles, catarrh and stomach diseases, strictures and bladder trouble, blood poison and all acutely contracted men's diseases. Their offices are on Lake avenue and Superior street which are open from 9 a. m. to 8 p. m.; Sunday from 10 to 1. Consultation is always free of charge.

Lighting Talks

NUMBER 62 DULUTH, SEPTEMBER 12, 1911

THE LIGHT OF EXPERIENCE

"Municipal ownership" is a fine, high-sounding term to some good people who because of its glamor blind themselves to its real meaning. In Great Britain they call the thing by its right name, "Municipal trading."

And Great Britain has experimented with municipal trading—the ownership and operation of lighting plants and other public utilities—longer and more extensively than we have in America. Her experience sheds a light on this subject that is invaluable to Duluth right now.

There is no greater authority on municipal trading in Great Britain than Lord Avebury, noted English author, scientist, philosopher, long known to the world of science and letters as Sir John Lubbock. After many years of conscientious study and close personal investigation, Lord Avebury sums up the results of municipal trading in Great Britain in these words:

"1. That local expenditure is increasing more rapidly than taxable property.

"2. That local indebtedness is increasing more rapidly than taxable property.

"3. That municipal trading cannot fail to give rise to difficult labor problems, and may lead to serious corruption.

"4. That profits are only made, if at all, when municipalities have a monopoly; they are confined to businesses such as the manufacture of gas, which has long been established and reduced to regular rules; that even in such cases the accounts have been so kept as to make it impossible to determine what the real result has been; that the profit, if any, has been but small; and that much more satisfactory and remunerative results might have been obtained if the works had been leased to private companies or firms.

"5. That municipal trading has seriously interfered with private enterprise and our foreign commerce.

"6. That government and municipal ownership, BY REDUCING THE DEMAND FOR LABOR, WHILE INCREASING PRICES AND RAISING TAXES, has not only injured the taxpayers generally, but especially the working classes; and that if carried to its logical conclusion IT WILL INVOLVE THE LOSS OF THEIR FREEDOM."

These are the lessons of municipal ownership, succinctly summarized by a master mind. Read them over again.

The Duluth-Edison Electric Company has made Electric Light THE POOR MAN'S LIGHT in Duluth.

A municipal electric plant will injure the taxpayers, injure the poor man who does not pay taxes, and injure the City by piling up a back-breaking burden of debt and retarding its growth and progress and prosperity for years to come.

Let your alderman know what YOU think of such colossal folly; and read the next Lighting Talk in next Thursday's Herald.

MEETING OF OFFICERS

Program Issued for Sessions of Minnesota National Guard Association.

The program has been prepared for the thirty-second annual meeting of the Minnesota National Guard association, which will be held in Duluth Monday and Tuesday, Sept. 25 and 26.

The membership of the association is made up of the commissioned officers of the National Guard and it is expected that 200 officers from different points in the state will be present. All sessions, except the afternoon session on the opening day, will be held at the Commercial club, the other sessions being held on the U. S. S. Gopher, training ship of the Minnesota Naval militia.

The convention will be called to order at 9:30 o'clock Monday morning, Sept. 25, by Major William T. Mollison, Second infantry, M. N. G., president. Capt. George E. Leach, First Field artillery, M. N. G., is secretary of the association.

The entertainment prepared for the visitors includes a theater party at the Orpheum theater on the evening of the first day and an automobile ride around the city on the afternoon of the second day.

At the first session, the reports of officers and committees will be received and the following papers will be read, followed by discussions:

"Military Needs of the United States," Lieut. Col. William Gerlach, U. S. army, retired, on duty with Minnesota National guard.

"Camp Sanitation," Major Thomas C. Clark, Medical corps, M. N. G.

"South America as It Is," Brig. Gen. Charles McC. Reeve, First brigade, M. N. G.

"The Texas Maneuvers," Capt. Bert M. Lennon, First Infantry, M. N. G.

Session on Gopher.

The afternoon session Sept. 25, will be held on board the U. S. S. Gopher, leaving the dock at 1:30. The program follows:

Address by the commander-in-chief, Hon. Adolph O. Eberhart, governor of Minnesota.

Remarks: Col. Arthur W. Wright, Second Infantry, Minnesota National Guard.

"Battle Exercises," Maj. Nicholas Nicholsen, Second Infantry, Minnesota National Guard.

Remarks: Brig.-Gen. Fred B. Wood, the adjutant general.

"National Guard Legislation," Capt. Albert Pfaender, Second Infantry, Minnesota National Guard.

"Communication in the Field," Maj. Frank W. Matson, Third Infantry, Minnesota National Guard.

The program for the morning session Tuesday, Sept. 26, at the Commercial club, follows:

Remarks: Col. Charles E. Johnson, Third Infantry, Minnesota National Guard.

"Battle of the Yalu," Maj. Arthur Johnson, United States army, detailed to Minnesota National Guard.

Remarks: Col. Erle D. Luce, First Infantry, Minnesota National Guard.

Remarks: Commander Guy A. Eaton, Minnesota National Guard.

At the afternoon session, the following subjects will be discussed:

"The Federal Pay Bill," Maj. George C. Lambert, First Field artillery, Minnesota National Guard.

"Congress and the Organized Militia," The Minnesota delegation in congress.

At the close of the discussion, the place of the next meeting will be selected and officers will be elected.

OBITUARY

Congressman J. P. Latta of Nebraska, died at 7:20 o'clock p. m., Sept. 11, at St. Mary's hospital, Rochester, Minn. He served in the Sixty-first and Sixty-second congresses and was a Democrat. He was active in the last congress, but because of ill health did not figure to any extent in the recent extra session. Having been for many years president of the First National Bank of Tekamah, he was particularly interested in banking affairs and was placed on the banking and currency committee of the house. He took much interest in Indian legislation.

Phil Check, aged 70, a former state insurance commissioner of Wisconsin and a member of the famous Iron Brigade during the Civil war, died Sept. 11 of stomach trouble at Baraboo, Wis.

Capt. George Edward Merritt, one of the pioneer navigators of the Great Lakes, died at his home at Detroit, Mich., Sept. 11, after an illness of three years. He was born in Cleveland in 1843. He was in charge of vessels for more than thirty years and never had a serious accident.

Rev. Freeman Pratt Tower, formerly president of Montana Wesleyan college of Helena, Mont., died suddenly at Everett, Mass., of a paralytic stroke, Sept. 11.

Gen. Joseph Wickham died at his farm near Kennett, Mo., Sept. 10. He was adjutant general of Missouri under Governors Francis and Stone. He was born in Michigan in 1844 and served in the Sixty-eighth Ohio infantry volunteers.

Rev. George Thompson Knight, professor of Christian theology at the Crane theological school and an author lecturer on theological subjects, died at Medford, Mass., Sept. 10.

RAISING PEANUTS IN NORTH DAKOTA

The Herald recently published a picture of a peanut plant raised at Swanville, Minn., by Otto Rhode. A letter has been received from Dr. E. H. Wilson of Towner, N. D., saying: "I have just read the enclosed clipping about peanuts at Swanville, Minn., and will enclose you a small spray taken from a thrifty hill of peanuts in our garden. We have a lovely patch of them, and it is our first attempt at growing them. We will have another month of growing weather and they may mature. But, everybody knows that Dakota has not been at her best the past two seasons, so we are lucky to get anything. This spray was pulled from the side of the hill and is, perhaps, a twentieth of the whole plant."

Automobile Is Burned.

Osnabrock, N. D., Sept. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Skidding into a ditch so deep that the drop overturned the machine resulted in the loss of a $1,750 automobile, belonging to H. A. Helgeson of the Great Western bank of this city. Mr. Helgeson was driving with an Illinois land seeker at the time but both jumped and escaped injury. A gasoline pipe broke when the car fell and in a minute the machine was in flames.

PROSECUTOR OF DIETZ HERE

S. J. Williams, prosecuting attorney of Sawyer county, Wis., who caused the conviction of John Dietz, the famous defender of Cameron dam, now serving a life sentence in the penitentiary, is a visitor in the city.

Mr. Williams is a former Minnesota man and numbers among his friends and acquaintances many of the most prominent men of Duluth. Besides attending to some private business, he is saying "hello" to them. Mr. Williams was averse to speaking of the case which attracted the attention of the United States, and of which he was one of the central figures. He called at headquarters for a short time this morning, and judging from the remarks which he dropped in the course of a general conversation, he has an intimate knowledge of the life and habits of the famous prisoner. Mr. Williams will probably be in the city the remainder of the week. He is stopping at the Spalding hotel.

ALL ENTER PLEAS OF NOT GUILTY

Eight men and one woman, indicted on various charges by the September grand jury, now in session, in the report made yesterday to Judge Cant of the district court, appeared this morning in court and were arraigned. Each pleaded not guilty.

Andrew Rusky and Steve Adamovich pleaded not guilty to a charge of swindling. It is claimed that they worked the "lost pocketbook" trick on George Sewell and took $22 away from him on it.

Gust Hettela is charged with grand larceny. Peter Wesela claims that Hettela stole $855 from its hiding place in his barn. There was nearly $2,000 hidden away in the hay, but Hettela found but $855 of it, it is claimed.

Frank Jarner is accused of issuing checks without money in the bank with which to meet them. He pleaded not guilty.

Toivo Ruohonon pleaded not guilty to assault. Eli Dranzavich pleaded not guilty to robbery. William Wilson pleaded not guilty to grand larceny. Mrs. Lena Peterson pleaded not guilty to the charge of receiving stolen property. Michael Crowley pleaded not guilty to grand larceny.

As many of the prisoners did not have an attorney when arraigned in court this morning, they were allowed to enter a plea of not guilty which they may later change on advice of their attorneys.

WARDENS MAKE TOUR OF CAFES

T. J. Storey and G. H. Huseby, state game wardens, yesterday made the rounds of the Duluth cafes, looking for "white owl."

At the Spalding, they found nineteen partridges and at the St. Louis, four birds were discovered. The wardens confiscated the game. Their efforts to locate any game birds at the other hotels and restaurants were fruitless.

No arrests have yet been made. Under the state law, it is unlawful to serve game birds at a public restaurant or hotel.

Strike Guard Beaten.

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 12.—Thirty men held up a street car at East Twenty-second street and Broadway today and removing William Jamer, a strike guard, beat him into insensibility with clubs and pieces of lead pipe. He will recover.

DRUGGIST ENDS LIFE WITH POISON

Walter W. Baldwin, said to have worked recently in Duluth as a druggist, committed suicide on his farm three miles north of Stillwater yesterday.

Baldwin's name does not appear in the last city directory and little seems to be known of him in the city. It is claimed that he was in Minneapolis Saturday, where he completed arrangements for the purchase of a drugstore. He swallowed strychnine and laudanum. He is survived by his wife and two sons, who are on his farm at Stillwater.

COMMERCIAL CLUB'S AUTO HERE

The Duluth Commercial club's new automobile, built at Luverne in this state, has arrived and was driven around the streets of Duluth this morning. It attracted a great deal of attention and favorable comment by its appearance and evident adaptability to the needs of the club.

The car is a seven-passenger touring car, with a 50-horse power engine. The body is long and low, the exceptionally long wheel base adding greatly to the pleasing rakish appearance of the car. The body is painted a golden tan and "Duluth Commercial club" is lettered on panels on the hood.

The car was displayed by the manufacturing company at the state fair last week and attracted a great deal of attention there. The spirit of the Duluth Commercial club in purchasing a Minnesota-made car was warmly commended and the fact that the car was shown at the fair was an excellent advertisement for the club.

WOMAN'S REALM.

"Tenement Houses in Duluth," will be the subject of a talk to be given by Courtenay Dinwiddie, secretary of the Associated Charities at the lecture rooms of the Pilgrim Congregational church Friday evening following the Harvest Home supper, which the women of the church will serve there at 6 o'clock to all members of the church and their friends, and all who are interested.

Stereoptican views of some of Duluth's tenement houses will be shown by Mr. Dinwiddie during his talk, and as the subject is one upon which there has been considerable agitation of late, it will strike a note of interest.

The exhibit of home-grown vegetables which will also be held there Friday evening, will be an added attraction to the evening's entertainment.

NORDAL-THAYER.

Quiet Home Wedding Takes Place Today.

The wedding of Miss Margaret Nordal, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Nordal to Raymond W. Thayer of this city took place this afternoon at the home of the bride's parents, 823 Ninth avenue east. It was a very quiet affair only the members of the two families being present. Rev. R. S. Read, assistant at St. Paul's Episcopal church read the service.

Mr. and Mrs. Thayer left afterwards for a trip to Chicago, Milwaukee and other Eastern points and upon their return will make their home here.

Patrick-Clark.

The principal social event of this evening will be the wedding of Miss Barbara Patrick, daughter of F. A. Patrick to Dr. Floyd Ferdinand Clark of this city which will take place at the handsome Patrick residence at Twenty-third avenue east and Superior street.

Dr. A. W. Ryan of St. Paul's Episcopal church will read the service at 8:30 o'clock in the presence of relatives and the intimate friends of the bride. The ceremony will be performed in the alcove end of the big living room which has been turned into a pretty chapel of green and white for the occasion and in which a pretty altar has been improvised.

The members of the bridal party will be as follows: Misses Marie Agatin and Elsie Wall, who will descend first and mark the isle down the long room to the altar with white ribbons. Miss Isabel Patrick, sister of the bride, who will be maid of honor; little Miss Elizabeth Moyer, flower girl. The bride will be given away by her father, Dr. Clark and his best man Dr. William Abbott will meet them at the altar.

In the receiving line with the bride and bridegroom and Mr. and Mrs. Patrick at the reception which will follow, will be the bride's sister, Mrs. M. F. Jamar, Jr., Mrs. Moyer and Mrs. E. Wohlfarth.

Miss Wall and Miss Agatin will preside in the dining room and Miss Helen Wall will be at the punch bowl.

Officers Chosen.

Officers were elected last evening at the annual meeting of the Philathea class of the First Presbyterian church which was held at the parlors of the church. Those chosen were: President, Miss Lilly Grogan; vice president, Miss Ellen Anderson; treasurer, Miss Gertrude Bradt; secretary, Miss Clara Hill, and chairman of the social committee, Miss Fay Joy. Dr. Wilson is the teacher of the class of which there are about forty members.

The first part of the evening was given up to a progressive circus with numbers on the program given by Misses Lillian Gronseth, Mary Sayer McDonald of Minneapolis; Florence Bailey and Margaret Johnson.

Dinner for Actors.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Walsh of 328 Lake avenue north were hosts at dinner Saturday evening at their home in honor of Mrs. J. B. Carney of Minneapolis and her grandsons, the six Brown Brothers who appeared at the Orpheum last week. Mrs. Carney came up especially to see her grandsons, whom she had not visited for some time. She will remain here until Saturday.

Miss Flynn Hostess.

Miss Beatrice Flynn of 1099 East Third street entertained at cards yesterday afternoon at her home. Bridge was played at three tables and the prizes were won by Miss Eleanor Aske and Miss Ruth Willcutts.

TRUE DRAMATIST SAYS BERNARD SHAW

LADY GREGORY.

George Bernard Shaw says that Lady Gregory of Ireland is one of the few persons in the world possessing true dramatic instinct. Undoubtedly Mr. Shaw thinks himself one of the others. Lady Gregory lives at Coole Park at Gort, in County Galway. Her husband was governor of Ceylon. Lady Gregory had never taken any interest in dramatic writing until the company of Irish players was organized to produce native drama at the Abbey theater in Dublin. Lady Gregory has written a number of the plays in which the Irish players have appeared and she will come to this country when they visit us in the fall.

Griggs-Clemson.

Invitations have been received here from Eli Z. Griggs for the marriage of his daughter, Mabel, to Richard Dow Clemson of Middletown, N. Y., on the evening of Wednesday, Sept. 20, at 8 o'clock at Trinity church, Athens, Pa., the home town of the bride's father. Miss Griggs is very well known here, having been a former resident of Virginia, Minn., and visiting here many times. She is also a niece of O. D. Kinney, formerly of this city.

THE EVENING STORY

Unmarried Men Only

By Fred Horner.

"Assistant caretaker wanted for large building for three months. Must be unmarried. Apply —." There is another place, John, but it is for an unmarried man. They are all the same, either unmarried, or with no incumbrances. Fancy calling our little angels incumbrances!"

And Mrs. Munson, with an expression of despair in her careworn face, glanced round at the three little Munsons, who were playing on the bare floor, unconscious of the desperate straits in which their parents were placed. John Munson reached over for the paper, perused the advertisement, and threw it down with a bitter half smile.

"But, John, I have an idea. We can't go on like this for more than another fortnight. All our money will be gone then. Why shouldn't you be an unmarried man just for awhile? It is a that or nothing." Munson looked up with a comical expression upon his face, as he quickly grasped the idea.

"I know; you mean I should go to the place and apply as though I was single? But what would you do in the meantime?"

"Oh, I can stay here, and if you get the place you can send me money without anyone knowing."

"A good plan. I'll try it, at any rate."

And John Munson rose from his chair and began to tidy his appearance as far as the scanty resources at his command would allow. With the help of the last clean collar, which had been carefully stored in the hope of an emergency of this sort, one or two repairs with Mrs. Munson's skillful needle, and a general brush down, he presented a sufficiently smart appearance. "Goodby, Vi. I'll come back as soon as I can."

And with a kiss for his wife and for each of the little ones, he set out on his long walk to the other side of the city, his pockets containing nothing more valuable than two slices of bread and butter. Happily for him there were only four other applicants for the post, and his honest looks and clean appearance secured him the job in the face of this competition. He was instructed in his duties, which formed a combination of caretaker and watchman, working in turns with another permanent man who was unmarried.

Munson hastened home to the squalid couple of rooms in which his wife and family were installed and broke the good news. Mrs. Munson cried with joy, and any misgivings which she may have had as to the dishonesty of the deception they were practicing were smothered by the thought that her children would, for a time at least, be certain of sufficient food.

"How will you arrange about the money, John," she asked.

"Oh, that will be easy. I have Saturday afternoons off, and that will give me time to walk to here, and see you for a couple of hours." So things were arranged; Munson would come at about the hour of tea, and leave again in time to get back to the place before 10 at night.

Munson's fellow worker, Phillip Large by name, was a man of inquisitive nature, and it took some little skill to answer his questions. He had a habit of suddenly putting a question, which was most disconcerting to Munson, whose honest mind was scarcely equal to the strain of keeping up the little fraud by which he had obtained his position. One day during the first week, Phillip suddenly turned to Munson:

"Your people live here, Munson?"

"Yes-s-that is, they used to. They don't now. They've gone away."

"Then you've got nobody in town to go to?"

"Er-no. What do you want to know for?"

"Oh, nothing particular. Only I was thinking that on Saturday afternoon we can both go out, and if you don't object I'll enjoy company, we might make a duet of it."

"Yes-er-of course."

Munson's heart sank into his boots, as he wondered how on earth his wife would be able to see him on Saturday. For Large to know the truth would mean the sack, and that was not to be thought of. He must try to elude him in some way. Or, failing that, he could contrive to send a postal order to her. But then she might not get it until the Monday. He must see her on Saturday.

When the fateful day arrived, after being paid, Munson endeavored to get out first before his leech-like friend could come. But no sooner had he reached the street than he heard the voice of Large behind him.

"Hello, Munson, half a minute. I'm coming." There was nothing to do but wait, and Large, totally unconscious of how superfluous his presence was, trotted along the hall and joined the distracted Munson.

"Where shall we go, Munson?"

"I don't care. Anywhere," said he; and finished to himself: "Opposite ways would suit me best." So they wandered along, Large keeping up a constant chatter, and his companion answering chiefly in monosyllables, all the time wondering how the thing was going to turn out.

A drowning man will catch at anything, and Munson, in despair, endeavored to shake off his friend by an old trick which he saw the stupidity of the moment after he mentioned it.

"I forgot to tell you, Large, that I have an aunt living in Pitman street. I think I'll go and see her. I can meet you again about 7 o'clock."

"Very well. But I may as well come as far as the house with you."

Munson's scheme being thus stifled before it scarce had time to breathe, he had to dispose of it as best he could. "No; I don't think I will call on her after all. Saturday, you know; she might be out shopping."

Time was flying, and the luckless Munson formed the desperate project of getting accidentally lost in a crowd and so giving Large the slip. In the hope of carrying out his plan, he led the way to the busier streets, and luck temporarily favored him. A crowd of considerable dimensions had collected around a horse fallen in the street.

As Large went round to one side, craning his neck to look over the people's heads, Munson slid around in the opposite direction, and turned off into an alley which offered the only visible means of escape. Unfortunately for him, the town-planning fervor had not been strongly developed at the period when the alley was built, and it ended —like this plan—in nothingness. He retraced his steps and ran into the arms of Large at the top, who greeted him with: "Hello, Munson, where on earth have you been? We nearly lost each other. The horse is all right now. They've got him up." Munson's interest in the fate of the horse was so markedly little that his companion said: "What's up, old man? Aren't you well?"

"No; got a bit of a headache. Let's go out of these streets. Isn't there a park or some place where we can sit down?"

"Yes, there is, only about a mile from here."

Curiously enough, their wanderings had led them in the direction of Munson's home, and this park lay but a quarter of a mile from his lodgings. They sat on a seat in the park, which was thronged with children and grown-ups, revelling in the brilliant sunlight. But Munson thought little of the sunlight. His brain was turning over various more or less wild schemes, none of which seemed likely to lead to the much-longed-for result.

Suddenly something happened which electrified him into instant action. Two children came running in play across the sunlit sward, and as he gazed listlessly at them, he gave a sudden start. They were his children. Another movement and they would have noticed him, and the inevitable cry of "daddy" would would have rung out, to his undoing. He stood up suddenly and turned sideways, so as to half conceal his features.

"What's up, Munson? Head still bad?"

"Yes, it's draughty here. Let's move on." Seeing the month was August, and the sun so strong, the statement seemed doubtful. Large remarked that he did not notice any draught, but suggested that they should go and have a drink. Perhaps it might act as a reviver. Munson had no intention of drinking, but he welcomed any move that led him, though against his real inclinations, out of the range of the children.

Crossing over to one of the gates of the park, he mentally congratulated himself upon his providential escape, and was on the point of suggesting to Large that it would be better to go into the streets again and have a cup of tea at a refreshment place, when a shrill cry of "Daddy! Daddy!" broke upon his ears. He hastened his steps and affected not to hear. But to no avail. A tiny hand pulled at his coat, and he turned round to find his youngest daughter, a mite of some five summers, looking into his face. He stood staring at her in a helpless, stupid sort of way, and the little one, surprised at her daddy's unusual behavior, said:

"Mammy's tummin', mammy's tummin'; see!"

Munson turned round in a dazed manner, to meet his wife's smile. She forgot everything in the pleasure of seeing her husband after a week, and exclaimed:

"We've been expecting you for an hour, John, and came this way in the hope of seeing you."

Still the agonized Munson made no reply, and he was just thinking of how he could make it all right with Large, when that gentleman's voice broke in with:

"I see how it is, Munson. But don't look so scared, old chap. I'm as big a fraud as you are. My wife keeps a boarding house down Taunton way, and I send her money on Mondays!"

Beats and Robs Officer.

Anamose, N. D., Sept. 12.—Mike Williams, a harvest hand is in jail here after having beaten Officer Goodlaxen and robbed the official of his cane as the latter was trying to arrest him. The officer was recovering from breaking his leg and was unable to give chase when Williams broke away from him after stealing his cane and belaboring him over the head. Citizens caught the runaway.

CHAUNCEY OLCOTT AT THE LYCEUM

Famous Irish Singer Opens Week's Engagement in New Play.

As Sir Brian Fitzgerald, who has unexpectedly come into a worthless title and a run-down estate, Chauncey Olcott swaggered, skipped and sang through four acts and an extra scene in "Macushla" at the Lyceum last evening, and he will swagger, skip and sing every night the remainder of this week.

Chauncey Olcott, his songs with the sob in them, his scenes of Ireland, his triumphs over villains, both English and Irish, the good old Irish characters in his plays, and "My Wild Irish Rose" form an institution. Even though one may be so unappreciative and blase as not to laugh, sob and sway to the music with Chauncey, he feels that the theatrical season is not being properly ushered in unless Chauncey and his Irish atmosphere come along during the first weeks of the season.

In "Macushla," which is Mr. Olcott's vehicle this year, some of the sobs have been eliminated to give space for laughs and the piece runs more to comedy and less to pathos than any of Mr. Olcott's plays in recent years. There is just as much intrigue, just as much triumph for the hero, and just as much love as ever, for without these elements, an Irish play would not be what it pretends to be.

The story deals with the fortunes of a young Irishman, who, having come to America, unexpectedly comes into the title and the bankrupt estate. Macushla is a horse and upon Macushla is placed the burden of freeing the estate from debt by winning the historic sweepstakes. Efforts of the owner of the favorite to bribe the groom and then the jockey of Macushla, result in Brian riding the mare himself and coming in victorious, despite the handicap of weight which Mr. Olcott displayed in his jockey colors.

The estate was freed of debt, the tenants were given three years free of rent to work out their own salvation, Brian marries "Pat," his boyhood sweetheart, and they leave for America to win a fortune that will fit the Duncannon estate.

Mr. Olcott sings four songs and sings them with a voice that has come through the years with an undiminished charm. And of course, he sings "My Wild Irish Rose," when many curtain calls require him to do something in the intermission after the third act.

Mr. Olcott has surrounded himself with a very capable supporting company. Miss Gail Kane, as Patricia Boyer, or "Pat," is a winsome young woman, who portrays the boydenish "Pat" and the womanly "Pat" equally well. Charles Wellesly as Warren Fairchild and E. H. Reardon as Thomas Wiggins are sufficiently villainous. The comedy parts in the hands of Robert V. Ferguson as Sandy McNabb and Jennie Lamont as Mrs. Boyer, are well taken. Mr. Ferguson's burr would be a delight to any Scotchman and Mrs. Boyer's brogue is not overdone.

The incidental musical program under the direction of Frederick Knight Logan is one of the pleasing features of Mr. Olcott's production. The violin solo by Albert Pearl and the 'cello solo by Herman Steisel, were received with hearty applause by the audience last evening.

Mr. Olcott's engagement will continue for a week, with a matinee Saturday.

Amusement Notes.

Jean Bedini, who is at the Orpheum this week presenting a juggling act with his partner, Roy Arthur, performs one of the most spectacular and sensational advertising stunts known.

Mr. Bedini holds a fork in his mouth and catches on the prongs a turnip thrown from the top of any high building. He has performed this stunt in a dozen large cities in America, and it has attracted crowds of from 15,000 to 20,000 people.

"I could easily catch a turnip thrown from the top of the Alworth building," said Mr. Bedini yesterday. "I have caught it thrown from a greater height than that, although they tell me that is the highest building in the state.

"It is difficult to realize the force with which that turnip strikes the fork. It weighs something over 100 pounds, I have been told by mathematicians, and if it struck me on the head it would kill me. Once it did brush the side of my head, and I was laid up for a week."

Although some very excellent bills of vaudeville have been presented at the Empress, it is doubtful if any have been equal to the one which is being presented this week. "The Strongest Link," a powerful one-act playlet, which is presented by Harry First and Florence Hadley & Co., is the feature attraction for the week, although any one of the other acts could top the average bill. "The Strongest Link" is the playlet which the New York Herald called the greatest dramatic hit in vaudeville and many who have seen it agree that they have never seen a better vaudeville sketch. "The Strongest Link" has as its theme the story of a Hebrew who has left Russia to make a fortune which he succeeds in doing. During the time he is away from Russia, his entire family with the exception of his daughter are massacred. He finally remarries and is enjoying his wealth when he discovers that his little daughter is living and he sends for her. His second wife objects to her presence because she is uncultured and does not fit in her sphere, but the father's love is too strong and he insists upon keeping his daughter with him. Harry First is seen as David Aaronson, the father, and Miss Florence Hadley as Sonia, his daughter. In David Aaronson, one sees a Hebrew character which is true to life and just reverse of the conventional Hebrew character. Love is held above riches and social standing and he is portrayed as a very lovable and human personage. "The Strongest Link" tells its story in a clean cut and forceful manner and stands in a class by itself. A decided contrast to "The Strongest Link" are the offerings of Howard & Lawrence and Kenney & Hollis, as they are constructed for laughing purposes only. Howard & Lawrence offer a little skit entitled "The Stage Manager." As an opener, the Perleys are presenting a very good bicycle act and are followed by Reeves & Bradcome, two clever misses, who offer a clever song specialty.

JURYMAN HEARS OF SON'S DEATH

Herbert H. Marston, Juror No. 8 in the case of Ole Olssen against the City of Duluth, was excused from duty yesterday, when, after the case had been opened, he received a telegram from a small town in Colorado stating that his son had died. The case was finished with eleven jurors, the attorneys making their final arguments this afternoon.

The attorneys in the action agreed to proceed with eleven jurors and the case was submitted to them this afternoon.

Three small cases occupied the attention of three judges and three juries in district court today. The cases were begun yesterday.

Judge Dibell is still holding court on the range. He is expected back shortly and then all four local courts will be busy on the September calendar.

Clapp to Speak.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 12.—Senator Clapp of Minnesota is announced as the principal speaker at the La Follette banquet which will be held here Thursday evening of this week as the preliminary steps in the formation of a state La Follette league.

SEEN IN THE SHOPS

It was such a nice bright morning to shop that the shopper could not stay at home today, but the little touch of coolness in the air sent her mind to furs and the fur departments were visited.

Such a lovely array of fluffy soft warm furs was displayed that it would be hard to make a choice even with an unlimited bank account.

The head of the department told some interesting things about the fashion of furs this season.

She said that black furs were to be very fashionable, the silver tip fox and skunk leading for the collar and cuff sets and she also showed many pretty lynx sets in black. The skunk furs, which only a short time ago were so much scorned and which one could buy at a very low price, have assumed great importance in the world of fashion and made up in pretty sets, are making big profits for the dealers.

For the younger people nothing is so good as a natural fur, and she patted and dangled a beautiful set before the shopper most temptingly. It was a handsome cross fox set, the muff a large soft pillowy affair lined with satin to match the red gold color of the fur, and the neckpiece was made of two whole fox skins with heads, paws and tails. In both the front and back one head and one tail were fastened together and the furs spread out and dropped over the shoulders. She casually mentioned the price, which was somewhere in the nineties, and she showed some similar sets made up of the silver tip fox and one of the skunk, which was very attractive. The muff of the last set was an effective combination of two wide bands of the fur with soft silk and velvet. The edges of the muff showed frills and frills of the black satin lining and pleated chiffon, which covered the satin lining. This would make a very dressy set for afternoon wear with a suit.

Australian opossum was also declared to be "very good" this season, especially for trimmings. This is a thick fuzzy fur of gray, which has splendid wearing qualities and which would be durable.

In spite of her statement that black furs were the best, the browns of the sables, minks sable fox and sable squirrel were as numerous in the display as the other furs. This is to be an extremely strong season for browns anyway and the furs which match will be the most used.

The long fur coats which have been worn so much the past few seasons, both in seal and pony skins, are too comfortable to give way to style and the racks in the shops are full of beautiful long coats.

The seals are, many of them, trimmed with other furs, Australian opossum, lynx, skunk and mink all being used for collar and cuffs. Most of the coats are made on long straight lines, but they are showing some in the flowing lines of the polo coats and other novelty cuts. The pony coats are to be worn as much as ever and are not quite as expensive as they have been. But this seems to be the only line where there is any decrease in price of furs.

One shop is advertising a sale of 25 per cent discount for opening week, which is proving quite an attraction to the buyers.

NO STRIKE IS ORDERED

Threatened Trouble on the Illinois Central Road Is Averted.

Shopmen's Method Declared Irregular By the Machinists' Board.

Chicago, Sept. 12.—The strike threatened by the shopmen of the Illinois Central railroad because of the refusal to recognize the system federation of mechanical employes, has been averted.

Of chief influence in preventing the strike, was the refusal of the executive board of the international association of machinists in session in Davenport, Iowa, to authorize the strike on the ground that the system federation had not conducted its negotiations properly with the Illinois Central and because the strike would imperil the working agreements now existing between the railroad and several of the international unions.

The federation officials were informed by the machinists board that the method of procedure in demanding recognition from the Illinois Central was irregular. They were told that the action they had taken was in violation of the thirty-day notice clauses in the contracts between the international unions represented and the railroad, and that a strike for recognition on that basis could not be endorsed.

It was concluded therefore to reorganize the shopmen's federation along new lines in the near future and to proceed in conformity with agreements so that the support of the international unions may be procured without jeopardizing existing agreements.

The committee of international officers and the system federation leaders met again today to formulate an announcement to the Illinois Central shopmen setting forth the circumstances and suggesting lines of future action.

FRANCE IS QUITE FIRM

concerning questions of principle from which France will not depart a hair's breadth.

The premier's energetic manner of proceeding has had a good effect. It is regarded as another proof of the absolute unanimity and firmness of the government as to its policy and as a manifestation of the government's desire to do its utmost to shorten the period of uncertainty which is having such prejudicial effects on the markets of the world. It also removed any possibility of charges that France by delay assisted in bringing about further financial distress in Germany.

The broad outlines of Germany's proposals have been communicated to the public, because the government believes the people have a right to know at this period what is being done. Foreign Minister De Selves has also indicated in a semi-official note that France's reply would be a refusal to accept Germany's conditions. In this French opinion appears to be wholly united and prepared for any contingency.

One point of view in official quarters is that Germany's financial situation, which is expected to reach a climax by the end of September, may tend to moderate Germany's demands party or the Democratic party and they're not strong enough to form a party of their own. I don't know what's the matter with him."

"Did you see the senator when he was here?" he was asked.

"I did not. I don't know anything about him except what I saw in the papers."

Did you try to see him?"

"I did not."

Cause of the Break.

"What caused the break between you and him?"

"This skylarking around of his, and turning against the president. He should not have done that."

When Mr. Rich returned from Washington a short time ago, after he had been separated from his position of custodian of the federal building, he brought a decided Taft leaning with him. If he was "peeved" in any way because Senator Clapp had not succeeded in having his name retained on the federal pay roll, he would not admit it. He says now that he and the senator are personally friendly, but that their diverging political views have led them in different paths.

Mr Rich will not admit that the coming visit of President Taft will in any way injure the political strength of Governor Eberhart, the Tawney precedent notwithstanding. He thinks the Minnesota delegation to the national republican convention will get instructed for the present president.

Persons who have long been on the inside of Minnesota's state politics, will see in the break between Clapp and Rich, a fight for the faction which heretofore has been back of them. It naturally becomes a personal duel between the two and the spectacle of them opposing each other in the next campaign will be unusual.

Is Against La Follette.

Northern Minnesota, by about 3 to 1, is against La Follette for president, according to J. S. Arneson of Chisholm, secretary to Lieutenant Governor Gordeen. He says that, excepting the steel interests, it is against Taft, too, but not so strongly as it is against "Fighting Bob" of Wisconsin.

"Three out of every four farmers will tell you that they won't stand for La Follette," Mr. Arneson said at the Merchants' yesterday. "They are not friendly to Taft, but they would take him in preference to the Wisconsin senator."

Mr. Arneson was just warming up to the subject when the lieutenant governor broke in with—"I think we'd better go on up to that place and buy our paper, Jim."

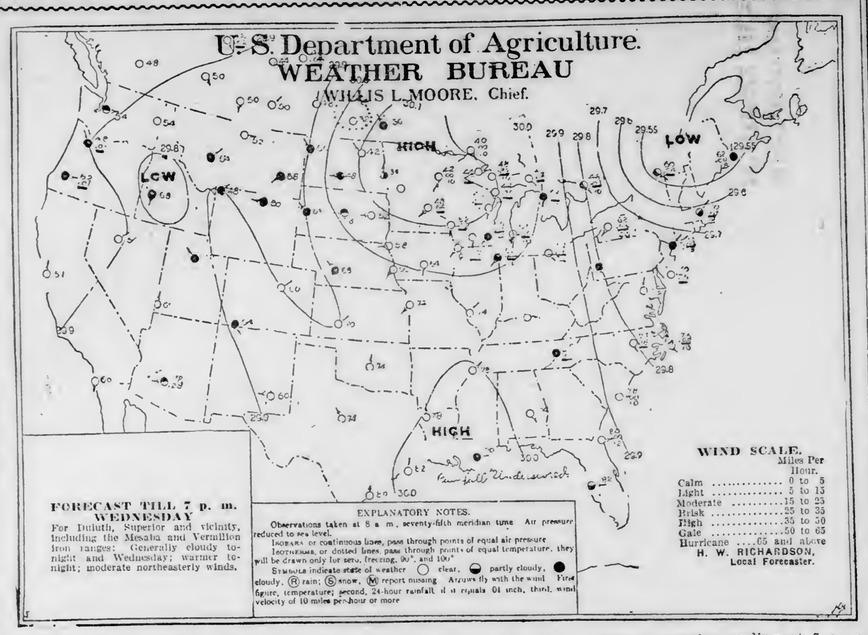

Being a progressive Republican, the lieutenant governor did not like to hear his secretary hauling the progressive candidate for president, over the coals, and led him away to a paper house to buy a stock for his printing plant. Before going, however, he facetiously remarked that the coming visit of Taft would not tend to give Mr. Eberhart the nomination for governor, by acclamation. He is of the opinion that the Eberhart crowd gladly would have the president forego his visit at the present time, but there is no way to head it off now.

Lende Not Chosen.

State Senator O. A. Lende of Canby has not been chosen to make the race for congressman-at-large for the progressives of this state, according to a statement made by a member of the executive committee who was present at the conference of progressives last Thursday night.

"The league has not indorsed anyone," he said. "We have gone on record for La Follette and expect to place a full ticket in the field, but thus far the race is open to all."

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

WARMER

A drop in temperature to 38 deg. during the night makes one think that it is about time to lay aside the airy garb of summer and assume habiliments more in keeping with the chill of fall. This is really beautiful fall weather and nobody is complaining against the weather man. The bright sunshine will give way to cloudiness tonight, the sage on the hill says, and higher temperatures will rule. The northeasterly wind doesn't hold out any promise of scorching flights of the mercury, however.

Fair, cool weather prevailed a year ago today.

The sun rose this morning at 5:42 and it will set at 6:27 this evening, giving twelve hours and forty-five minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"A high pressure condition that moved from Saskatchewan to Minnesota has caused much cooler and frosty weather in that state, Manitoba, Eastern North Dakota, Wisconsin and Michigan. The disturbance centered Monday morning over Western Lake Superior has advanced to the Lower St. Lawrence Valley in light to copious showers over the Upper Mississippi valley, Lake region, Middle and North Atlantic states. The depression central over Idaho is causing warmer weather from Nevada and Utah northward, which condition will probably extend eastward to including the Head of the Lakes during tonight."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Sept. 12.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending 7 p. m. Wednesday:

Upper Michigan—Fair tonight and Wednesday; frost tonight; rising temperature Wednesday.

Wisconsin—Fair and continued cool tonight; Wednesday probably fair with rising temperature.

Iowa—Generally fair tonight and Wednesday; not much change in temperature.

Minnesota—Increasing cloudiness tonight and Wednesday; warmer tonight.

North and South Dakota—Increasing cloudiness and probably unsettled tonight and Wednesday; warmer in east and central portions tonight.

Montana—Unsettled but generally fair weather tonight and Wednesday.

Upper Lakes—Light variable winds on Superior; moderate north, becoming variable on Michigan and Huron; fair tonight and Wednesday.

nesota has only about 3,500,000 acres. North Dakota had 8,500,000 acres, or about 1,000,000 acres more than was credited to that state early in the season. For this reason, also because of drouth in some sections, Minnesota's wheat crop of 39,000,000 bushels is only about one-half that of last year. South Dakota's 14,000,000 bushels of wheat is only about one-third the outturn of last season, owing to the worst drouth during May and June that ever hit that section. North Dakota jumps to the front with 72,000,000 bushels, or well up toward her normal, and more than double her short wheat crop of last year, when she was hit by unprecedented drouth.

The mountain and Pacific states have a splendid wheat crop.

Total wheat for the eight states is 224,000,000 bushels, or almost as much as last year.

Other Grains and Totals.

The production of oats in the eight states has been influenced much as the wheat. The American Northwest makes a total of 154,000,000 bushels of oats, or within 10 per cent of last year's great crop. The promise is for 116,000,000 bushels of corn, or a 5 per cent crop. The total production of flax is nearly double last year's short yield, and there is some increase in barley.

These five grains together make a total for 1911 of 587,000,000 bushels in the eight Northwestern states, compared to 606,000,000 bushels last year.

The potato crop is very much better than last season, and the same is true of the quantity and quality of hay available for market and feed.

Hundred Million More Dollars.

Owing to the increased value per bushel of most of these crops, Orange Judd Northwest Farmstead points out that the farmers of the American Northwest should receive for these crops in 1911 at least $600,000,000. This will be $100,000,000 more than last year. This estimate is held to be conservative, as unit values are already higher in some sections than our estimate.

The total value of the Northwestern wheat crop comes within 5 per cent of last year, the corn crop is worth 20 per cent more, there is a like increase in oats, and a tremendous increase in the total value of barley and flax, also potatoes and hay.

Minnesota staples should fetch her farmers almost as much money as last year; her minor crops should make the total well up to a full average. North Dakota's crops are worth nearly three times as much as last year and more than ever before. South Dakota's grains are worth two-thirds as much as her big crops of 1910, and a fair allowance for her extra dry fodder, silage and improved pastures and ranges will make the total return of South Dakota farmers almost up to her usual high prosperity.

The five grain staples of Montana, together with potatoes and hay, are worth over $41,000,000, or one-third more than for the past two seasons. Idaho has jumped to the front with some amazing increases, especially in alfalfa, wheat and potatoes.

It is probable that the Pacific Northwest will net a larger cash return to her farmers for 1911 than for any previous year. The seven staples are reported for Oregon at a valuation of $52,000,000, compared to $50,000,000 for Washington—figures that have been rarely exceeded, if ever.

surrounded by a cheering crowd. Fowler ate a hearty breakfast and said that he felt confident of a successful flight to Reno, Nev.

The aviator faces the most difficult flight of the entire journey today. He must cross the Sierras, and expects to reach an altitude of more than 8,000 feet. He said he probably would fly about 2,000 feet above the summit, which would give him an altitude of between 8,500 and 9,000 feet.

Fowler took flight here at 9:33 o'clock this morning to begin the second day of his trans-continental aeroplane flight. He passed Colfax, 15,7 miles from Auburn and 142.4 miles from San Francisco, at 9:55 a. m. He was flying at sixty-five miles an hour at an elevation of about 1,000 feet.

Dressed for Severe Cold.

Expecting to encounter severe cold during the three and a half or four hours in crossing the mountains, Fowler dressed warmly this morning He will carry beef tea and a thermal heater on the biplane. He will depend on chocolate wafers to satisfy his hunger while in the air.

Fowler plans to spend the night in Winnemucca, Nev., a distance by rail from this town of 292 miles. He will travel by the way of Fallon and Lovelock.

From Auburn to the highest point over which Fowler will pass is only sixty-eight miles, and the aviator will be compelled to climb skyward almost from the time his machine leaves the ground here.

Fowler sped yesterday up the fertile Sacramento valley and landed at 6:36 o'clock last evening at the foot of the white ramparts of the Sierras, the conquest of whose summit may prove the ultimate test of success or failure for his attempt. With but a brief halt at Sacramento for oil and gasoline, he drove his biplane high over the rolling foothills and landed without a single untoward incident at Auburn, Cal., 126 miles from his starting point.

Sped by a mother's kiss and "God bless you," Fowler arose from the Stadium in Golden Gate park at 1:37 o'clock. Sweeping in a circle over the surf of the Pacific, his air craft swung like a compass needle until his forward planes were notched in the gap in the snow line of the Sierras through which he hopes to pass.

Cheered By Thousands.

Then, with the cheers of thousands rippling up to him, he sped over the city, swerved past the ferry tower, skimmed over the fighting masts of the cruisers at anchor in the bay, with a hand-wave of greeting, and hummed slowly over the trail first worn by the Argonauts of '49.

Over Berkeley, Suisun, Hannons and Elmira, he sped, flying with the same speed with that marked his start. The watches that checked his progress showed that he was making a steady forty-five miles an hour pace from which he never varied.

As he swept high over the dome of the state capitol of Sacramento, a roar from the thousands massed in agricultural park directed him to his landing place. After a daring spiral he settled easily to the ground, pulled the cotton from his ear and shouted: "Well, I'm here, boys. What time is it?"

He was told it was 3:45 o'clock. He had covered the ninety miles of the first lap of his journey in exactly two hours.

"It was a great trip," he said. "I had not the slightest engine trouble and the feel of the air even over Carquinez straits, was perfect."

Called on Governor.

While his machine was being groomed, Fowler strolled over to the capitol and called on Governor Hiran W. Johnson.

"I am delighted to see you," said the governor. "We all hope most sincerely that you will reach your destination safely."

"Have you any message for the governor of New York?" asked Fowler.

"Only yourself," replied the governor. "You will be our best message from California."

After a hurried meal, Fowler returned to the field, accompanied by Governor Johnson.

At 5:50 o'clock Fowler slipped back into the driving seat, signalled the mechanics and with a "God speed" from the governor, was off to the eastward.

After leaving Sacramento, Fowler made the fastest time of the day. He covered the 18 miles from Sacramento to Roseville in 19 minutes and the 25 miles from Sacramento to Loomis in 26 minutes. He maintained a speed of 54 miles an hour from Sacramento to Auburn. It began to grow dark as he left Newcastle shortly after 6 o'clock and he decided to descend at Auburn rather than risk losing his way in an attempt to reach Colfax, the stopping place originally scheduled. As he flew over Auburn he shouted to the crowd his intention to descend and circled slowly around the dome of the Placer county courthouse until a space had been cleared for him to alight. He descended without accident at 5:34 o'clock and announced his intention of starting for Reno at 7 o'clock in the morning.

Kissed by Pretty Girl.

His mother's kiss was not the only one implanted on his lips before he started on his hazardous journey. As he passed close to the ropes that held back the crowd from his machine, a pretty young miss threw her arms about the aviator's neck and kissed him fervently. Before he could break away, women had pinned a "Votes for Women" badge on the breast of his leather coat.

"Oh you Hobson," ejaculated an envious male bystander. and Fowler broke away blushing furiously and took refuge among his mechanicians, admittedly more frightened than by any danger to be met in mid-air. He continued to wear the suffragette badge, however.

Fowler expects to make the transcontinental trip in twenty-six days. He left Auburn early this morning and will cross the backbone of the Sierras through the treacherous gusts of the Truckee pass and land for the night at Reno. He will make stops at Elko, Nev., Salt Lake City, Utah and Grainger and Cheyenne, Wyo., North Platte, Omaha, Rock Island, Chicago, Fort Wayne, Indianapolis and Pittsburg, Buffalo, Albany an dNew York. He will follow the tracks of the Southern Pacific, Union Pacific and Chicago & Northwestern railway to Chicago. He is accompanied by a special train which carries a full staff of mechanicians and parts of three complete biplanes.

ANTI-PROHIBITION VICTORY IN MAINE BY A CLOSE VOTE

cial vote from seventy cities and towns at hand this morning show 23,780 favorable and 6,362 opposing votes, a majority in favor of 17,418.

The defeat of the proposition to make Augusta forever the capital was early indicated.

Prohibition Will Yet Win.

Spring Lake, N. J., Sept. 12.—Fresh from the close of his campaign in Maine, Congressman Richmond Pearson Hobson last night heard the news of the apparent anti-prohibition victory with the declaration that prohibition would yet triumph. Mr. Hobson returned to his summer home yesterday after speaking for prohibition in Maine.

"I expected the result to be close," he said. "The growth of city population over country populations since 1884 has been very marked, making the tendency toward wet strong in proportion. I believe, however, that this fight has demonstrated to students of prohibition and temperance that the next move to make will not be confined to individual states, but should extend to the United States and I make a forecast that from this second battle of Maine a movement will begin that will end in putting prohibition in the Constitution of the United States."

Divergent Views.

Several of the governors here for the governors' conference expressed widely divergent views on the result. Said Governor Emmet O'Neal of Alabama: "I am delighted to hear that Maine has gone wet. We had the same fight in Alabama in 1909 which I led against putting prohibition in the state constitution. As a result of victory, we have disposed of the problem in an excellent manner."

Governor Albert Gilchrist of Florida said: "It appears that prohibition waves sweep the country about every twenty-five years. In 1855 or 1856 the New England states went dry. Maine got it into her constitution and could not get it out. Later the Northwest and the South experienced the same change Now comes the reflex action, the one that will put the 'prohibitionists' out of business."

Governor Vessey of South Dakota said: "I regret very much that Maine has taken a backward step."

ginal dreadnaught has become the accepted unit of fighting efficiency.

Counting the dreadnaught as a unit of 100, the American battleship Delaware and her sister ship North Dakota have a ratio of efficiency of 110 each, while the Florida and Utah have a ratio of 125 each.

These ratios for American dreadnaught ships aggregate 670 as against an aggregate of about 700 for Germany. So that Germany and the United States are separated by only a few points for position of second place among naval powers, based on the dreadnaught as the unit of fighting strength.

New Super-Dreadnaught.

Coincident with the arrival of these two leaders among dreadnaughts of the great powers, the keel was laid yesterday of the new super-dreadnaught New York, 27,000 tons, which outranks in tonnage anything thus far built or under way in England and Germany. The largest British ships under construction are those of the King George class, 25,000 tons, and the largest of the new German ships building are 23,000 tons.

PROPER WAY TO SHAMPOO

In an address before a large audience of beauty seekers today, Mae Martyn, the famed authority on such matters, said:

"Common sense teaches us that the hair and scalp cannot be thoroughly cleansed of dirt, excess oil and dandruff without using water. And yet it is a common mistake that most woman make in using soap in any form for shampooing. The woman who shampoos with soap soon notices her hair losing its gloss, splitting at the ends, becoming brittle and thin.

"These troubles can easily and best be avoided by using as a shampoo, one teaspoonful of canthrox dissolved in a cup of hot water. The hair will rinse easily; dry quickly without streaking, and becomes brighter and fluffier. Many hair-dressers have adopted this shampoo with excellent results. It seems to possess every quality of a perfect shampoo."—New York Star.

FATHER OF CREAMERIES.

Organizer of First Co-operative Creamery Is Dead.

Hutchinson, Minn., Sept. 12.—Carl Hagen, a pioneer of this county, veteran of the Civil war and a man widely known and universally esteemed, is dead at the age of 77 years. He organized at Biscay the first farmers' co-operative creamery in Minnesota. He also founded the Sumter Fire Insurance association, another farmers' organization. He belonged to the Thirty-second Indiana infantry and was wounded in an engagement at Green River, Ky., in 1861.

"GOOD OLD DAYS" A MISNOMER, SAYS VETERAN THEATRICAL MANAGER

"Anybody who talks about 'the good old days' is a fool," says Augustus Pitou, veteran of forty-five years in all lines of theatrical work. "There were no such days as 'good old days,' either, on the stage or anywhere else. The past was filled with hardships, and the only way to meet with success is to live up to the present time."

Mr. Pitou was in the city yesterday with Mrs. Pitou, and left last evening on the steamer Tionesta, of the Anchor line. Mr. Pitou bears the distinction of being the oldest manager in the American amusement business today, having engaged in various enterprises for the past forty-five years. He is now 70 years old, and has retired from active life. His efforts have borne fruit for while he has made a success from the standpoint of the theatergoer in producing high class entertainments, he has been equally successful from the financial standpoint, for he has built up for himself a fortune of several million dollars.

The first ten years of his long experience on the stage were spent as an actor, when he appeared with such great actors as Edwin Forrest, J. W. Wallack, the elder Booth, Mrs. Scott Siddons, Charlotte Cushman and Janauschek. His hard study and persistent efforts under those eminent actors soon made of him a prominent Shakespearean actor.

As a theatrical manager, Mr. Pitou was one of the first to promote the old combination system. Each city had its own stock company, and only the stars and leading actors traveled. Joseph Murphy was his first big attraction and during the following eight years Mr. Pitou offered to the public three well known stars of that time, W. J. Scanlan, Rose Coghlan and Robert Mantell. Later, in 1893, he formed the Augustus Pitou Stock company, which for years was a big success. During the life of this company he presented the following well-known actors: Nelson Wheatcroft, William Faversham, W. H. Thompson, Arthur Byron, J. W. Shannon, W. J. Ferguson, Minnie Seligman, Jane Stuart and Mrs. Le Moigne.

After several successful seasons with his stock company, Mr. Pitou devoted his attention to playwriting. As a playwright he also proved a success, as "The Power of the Press," the first newspaper play and first big melodrama, which he produced in 1894 fully demonstrated. It was first produced at the Grand opera house in New York, a combination house. Another of his productions was "The Cherry Pickers," by Joseph Arthur.

About this time, Scanlan, who had starred for Mr. Pitou for years lost his mind, and was taken to an asylum. Shortly afterwards, Pitou saw Chauncey Olcott in the Gayety theater. Lantired from active life. His efforts have don, and was so impressed with him that he formed a partnership with him which has continued unbroken for the past sixteen years. For three years Pitou paid one-half of his share of the Olcott profits to Scanlan, who was still in the asylum. Later he married Mrs. Scanlan, after the famous star finally died, and the former Mrs. Scanlan is with him on his present trip, as Mrs. Pitou.

Among the plays which he staged with great success were "Madam Sans Gene," by Sardou, in which Kathryn Kidder and Augustus Cook were starred, and in which James K. Hackett made his first New York appearance, and "Cumberland 61," by Frank-lyn Files. He starred Al H. Wilson and Jane Stuart in the famous play, "Struck Oil."

Mr. Pitou is as enthusiastic over the stage today as when a young man, although he is now retired, and he is constantly looking out for the interests of the theatergoers, endeavoring to put before them the best that the American stage can produce.

Although 70 years of age, he is still a young man in his enthusiasms and in energy, but he is now devoting that energy to play instead of play-making. He spent yesterday with his business partner, Mr. Olcott, and Manager Marshall of the Lyceum.

Free Rheumatism Cure

A Home Cure Will Be Given FREE By One Who Had It.

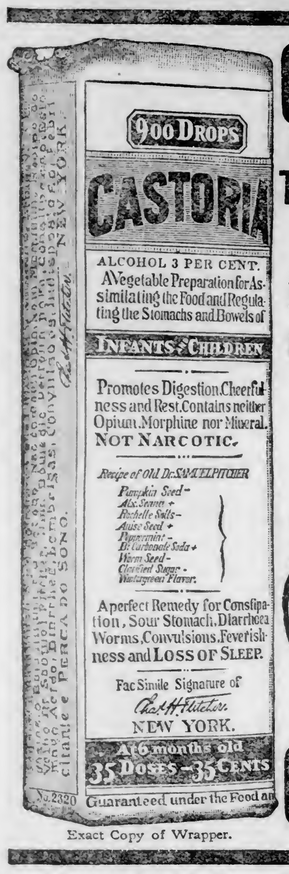

In the spring of 1893 I was attacked by Muscular and Inflammatory Rheumatism. I suffered as only those who have it know, for over three years. I tried remedy after remedy, and doctor after doctor, but such relief as I received was only temporary. Finally, I found a remedy that cured me completely, and it has never returned. I have given it to a number who were terribly afflicted and even bed ridden with Rheumatism, and it effected a cure in every case.

I will send a free trial of this precious remedy by mail, postpaid to any sufferer who writes for it. Just fill out the coupon below and mail it to me today.

EXTRA STORY IS NEEDED

Chief Recommends Addition to the Present Police Headquarters.

Mayor Calls Attention to Increase in Number of Weeds.

Chief Troyer recommended to the council last evening that another story be added to the present headquarters building to make it comply with the requirements of the state board of control.

He called attention to the fact that the upper story can be used exclusively for jail purposes, with quarters for the matron and jailer. He also stated that the installation of an elevator, in which prisoners could be taken from the Michigan street floor to the jail, would be desirable.

The chief stated that it is not probable that the present building will be used for jail purposes a great many years, but that it should not be in such shape that it would be unlawful to use the jail for the incarceration of prisoners. He commented upon the increase of the jail business at New Duluth and asked that a new lockup be placed in that suburb.

Mayor Cullum sent in a communication calling attention to the rapid growth of weeds, especially the Canada thistle, throughout the city. He explained that the mayor is authorized to deal with the situation, but that he has no funds with which to employ a man to put an end to the nuisance.

Following a communication sent in by the Twentieth Century club, the council directed the board of public works to turn on the water in the drinking fountains. This supply was recently cut off at the request of the state board of health, after several horses affected with glanders had been found in the city. The council took the position that had the disease been prevalent the horses afflicted with the disease would have been more numerous.

The construction of about $20,000 worth of storm sewers in different parts of the city was ordered.

George E. Duren, sealer of weights and measures, was directed to advertise for necessary repairs to the city scales at Fifth avenue west and Michigan street.

The bid of N. J. Upham company, $50,626, for the last issue of park bonds authorized by the council, was accepted.

Fire Chief Randall was appointed a delegate to the fire chiefs' convention at Milwaukee, Sept. 19-22.

The board of public works was directed to investigate the city gas lights and report to the council.

The city clerk was authorized to advertise for bids for city depositaries for the next two years.

The sealer of weights and measures was directed to report as to the necessity of a city scale at Lake avenue and Eighth street.

An ordinance requiring transient merchants to pay a fee of $10 per day in addition to the state license fee had its first reading.

SCHOOLBOY CAUGHT ROBBING A SAFE

Admits Robbing Same Safe Dozen Times During Year.

Chicago, Sept. 12.—Max Mossbaum, an 11-year-old pupil of one of the graded schools, confessed to the police last night that he had been robbing safes for a year, and explained how he could open them by working the combination and listening to the falling tumblers.

Young Mossbaum was arrested yesterday morning while kneeling before the safe which he had just opened in a wholesale millinery establishment. He admitted he had robbed the same safe a dozen times during the year.

ARRESTED ON SUSPICION.

Alleged to Be Wanted in Los Angeles Dynamiting Case.

Larimore, N. D., Sept. 12.—Stephen K. Smythe was arrested here yesterday on suspicion of being one of the men wanted in connection with the alleged dynamiting of the Los Angeles Times building. The warrant was sworn out by M. W. Edwards, a Larimore business man, who has had Smythe under surveillance for some time. Edwards asserts that Smythe answers the description of M. A. Schmidt, alias M. A. Perry, alias J. B. Leonard, alias J. B. Bryan.

Smythe has been working for the Elk Valley Farming company since April last. Edwards declares Smythe has admitted that he was in California at the time of the supposed explosion in the Times building and that he at one time was confined in Pennsylvania state prison.

Astors at Rhinebeck.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Sept. 12.—Col. John Jacob Astor and his bride arrived at Astor's Duchess county summer home at Rhinebeck at 6 o'clock last night. They came upon the Astor yacht Nowa, which cast anchor off Ferncliffe. An automobile met Col. and Mrs. Astor at the private landing and they were taken at once to his mansion where they intend to spend at least a week.

LOST MONEY; WON FRIENDS

C. P. Craig Says Recent State Fair Was Most Successful Ever Held.

Object Not to Merely Take Money Out of People.

Charles P. Craig, Duluth's member of the board of directors of the Minnesota State Agricultural association, who has just returned to Duluth, declared today that he regarded the state fair that has just closed as the most successful ever held in the history of the state.

"What matters it," he enthusiastically exclaimed, "if the receipts are not up to expenses as long as the purpose for which the fair was instituted was well fulfilled? The state runs the fair to educate the people and not to get money out of their pockets. For five days the rain poured down, and even on the sixth it was cloudy. The people wandered over the grounds with umbrellas. And yet the fair was visited by 225,000 people. Nearly 225,000 saw the farm produce, the machinery, the live stock and the manifold other industrial products of this great commonwealth that were on exhibition there. What if we did run $40,000 or so shy of making expenses? I feel far better satisfied with what the fair accomplished this year than what it did last year, although last year we ran about $50,000 ahead of our expenses. We used to hear the criticism made that the fair was given over too much to little 'merry-go-round' entertainments and the like of that. I believe the criticism was well founded. This year I have heard no such criticism, and I don't believe there will be any, for we are not open to it. The fair has been managed with a view to educate the people—to let them see, as far as a fair will show them, what this vast state has in the way of industries.

"There was an exhibit in the agricultural building that made me proud of being a Duluth man. That was the booth of our Producers' Co-operative association. What our market gardeners had on display there was truly magnificent. The garden truck that we can produce up here is unsurpassed by anything else of the kind in the state. For years St. Paul and Minneapolis have been dividing up the $500 of prize money for such exhibits. This year I arranged to have such exhibits rated for prizes on the scale of 100. St. Paul was afraid of St. Louis county and staid out of the contest. Minneapolis staid in. Now, take note of this. Duluth had to ship all her vegetable exhibits by rail. Minneapolis could gather hers right in from the farms and gardens about her. Duluth was entering the competition for the first time. Minneapolis had been in it for twenty years. Yet on a scale of 100, while Minneapolis scored 94 points, Duluth scored 87. I regard that as a mighty fine showing under the circumstances.

"I am also proud of what was on display in the St. Louis county building. St. Louis county owns a building on the grounds and has had it for twenty-two years. This is the only county in the state that has a building of its own on the grounds. The exhibits in that building won prizes galore."

IS HOOTED, JEERED AND ROTTEN-EGGED

President of Scio College Mobbed By Men and Boys.

Steubenville, Ohio, Sept. 12.—Hoots and jeers followed by a shower of stale eggs constituted the features of an angry demonstration aimed at President R. Emery Beetham of Scio college yesterday, as the latter departed from Scio for Mount Union with which college Scio recently voted to unite.

Feeling against the proposed merger has been exceedingly bitter in Scio and when President Beetham, who has favored the amalgamation, started for the train he was met near the station by a mob of men and boys who howled in derision and later began to throw eggs. President Beetham made no reply to the attack on him, but took refuge in the train.

Returning to Scio in the afternoon, the president of the merged institution was met at the train by the mayor and marshal of the town who acted as an escort to him until he arrived at his apartments. Citizens of Scio have instituted legal proceedings to stop the merger of the two colleges and have succeeded in obtaining a temporary injunction.

WANTS TO TAKE HIS MEDICINE

Deserter From United States Navy Gives Himself Up.

Another conscience stricken deserter of the United States navy appeared at the local recruiting station in the Federal building yesterday afternoon, and asked that he be taken back into the service. Turret Capt. Otto Heimick and Quartermaster Joseph Le Page, who are in charge here, did not let him loose, however, as they did the young man who showed up last week, but had him detained at the city jail.

The young man gave his name as George La Droute of Iron River, Mich. He stated that he enlisted last September and that he had deserted from the United States torpedo boat, Bailey, on Aug. 4, at Annapolis, while he was on shore duty.

He told the officers that he had become intoxicated and remained away from the ship longer than his shore leave permitted. He then decided to make his get-away, and started for his home town, where he visited for some time. He then left home and has been roaming about for the past five weeks, in an aimless manner, without anything to do. Now he claims he is "tired of bumming" and is willing to take his medicine.

His case has been stated to the officials at the Minneapolis branch.

Light can't spoil Schlitz in Brown Bottles

It is not enough to make pure beer, it must be kept pure until it is poured into your glass.

Beer is a saccharine product. The slightest taint of impurity injures its healthfulness. Light starts decay even in pure beer. Dark glass, the scientists say, gives protection against light.

Purity above everything else distinguishes Schlitz beer from common beer.

We use the costliest materials — we age Schlitz for months to prevent biliousness—it will not ferment in your stomach.

Schlitz is sent to you in Brown Bottles, thus protecting Schlitz purity from the brewery to your glass.

Without all these precautions no beer can be healthful, and who knowingly would drink beer that was not?

If you knew what we know about beer, you would say, "Schlitz—Schlitz in Brown Bottles."

See that crown or cork is branded "Schlitz."

PUBLIC EXAMINER FINDS SHORTAGE

Occurred in St. Paul Water Office and Was Covered Up.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 12.—With the publication yesterday of the report of Deputy State Public Examiner M. F. Kain, who has been investigating the conduct of St. Paul city affairs, there comes to light for the first time information that, prior to 1903, a defalcation of $2,348.98 existed in the metered water accounts of the water board and the shortage was "covered up" by Secretary John Caulfield of the board "for the sake of the family of the man charged with the defalcation."

The fact that the money was all repaid is recited, although the name of the man charged with the peculation is withheld, even in Mr. Kain's report. However, he is described as the man who held the position of "second meter clerk," and was acting assistant cashier, "whose connection with the department was discontinued in May, 1909."

Mr. Caulfield said that a committee of the grand jury met the water board and knew the facts but did not indict. Asked if the county attorney had been informed of the defalcation he said "no," but that Mayor Lawler knew it.

CHARGED WITH GRAFT.

Former Gary Official Arrested for Soliciting a Bribe.

Gary, Ind., Sept. 12.—A warrant charging John J. Nyhoff, former commissioner of public works, with soliciting a bribe was sworn out yesterday in Crown Point, Ind., according to Prosecutor Charles Greenwald, making a total of eight city officials, including Mayor Knotts, now facing charges of being municipal grafters.

Nyhoff was not arrested during the day. He is charged with having demanded $10,000 for his aid in pushing through a franchise giving heating and power rights to the Dean Heating & Power company of Louisville.

Y. M. C. A. CONFERENCE AT TWO HARBORS.

A conference of the Y. M. C. A.'s of Northern Minnesota is being held today at Two Harbors, at which the local organization is well represented.

Phil Bevis, general secretary delivered an address on the "Men and Religion Movement," and Athletic Director A. B. Wegener discussed "Committee Service." W. A. Lauterbach, office secretary, is the chairman of the program committee. The devotional services were led by M. R. Shelton, State Secretary W. E. Peck of St. Paul also discussed the subject "Men and Religion Movement."

In the afternoon a picnic will be held in the park. Other Duluth men at the conference are: John R. Batchelor, physical director of the boys' department; F. A. Hathaway, membership secretary; and Harry J. Sopher, educational secretary.

Gompers Meets McNamara.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 12.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, called at the county jail yesterday upon the McNamara brothers. He was accompanied by Clarence S. Darrow and Joseph Scott, attorneys for the McNamaras, and several local labor leaders. When they left the jail Gompers said he and John J. McNamara were friends of long standing but that he had never met James B. McNamara before.

Chief Justice Resigns.

Charleston, S. C., Sept. 12.—According to a dispatch from Lancaster, S. C., Chief Justice Ira B. Jones has forwarded his resignation to Governor Blease to take effect in January, 1912. It is generally understood that his resignation is to allow him to make the race against Cole L. Blease for governor next summer.

Makes General Denial.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 12.—A general denial of the allegations made by Mrs. Simeon B. Armour, widow of the wealthy packer, in her suit against Miss Harietta Byington, to recover $142,000 in bonds, has been filed in the circuit court here by Miss Byington's attorney. Miss Byington was charged by Mrs. Armour with extracting the bonds from a safety deposit box while she was in Mrs. Armour's employ as a confidante and companion.

Constitutionality Attacked.

Tacoma, Wash., Sept. 12.—The law providing for women in jury service, passed by the last legislature of this state, was asserted to be unconstitutional in the superior court here yesterday by attorneys in the case of the state against James Oliva, charged with attempted murder. The first woman bailiff to serve in this state was appointed by Superior Judge Chapman.

Want Woman Released.

Freemont, Neb., Sept. 11.—Prominent Bohemians in Chicago are attempting to secure the release of Marie Necid, under arrest here on the charge of being the second wife of Joef Broz, who has one wife living in Bohemia. She was married to Broz at Ellis island soon after landing. The woman asserts that she did not know Broz had a family and he corroborates her story. Her 4-month-old child is ill and citizens here are desirous of helping secure her release.

Two Men Drowned.

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 12.—William Hatton and James Marshall, members of a camping party, were drowned in the Red river last evening when their boat was upset.

IS MISSING ELEVEN DAYS

Carlton County Woodchopper Disappears in Very Mysterious Manner.

Companion Suspect Is Under Arrest and Sheriff Offers Reward.

Carlton, Minn., Sept. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Sheriff Harry W. McKinnon is offering $25 reward for Helar Laitenen, dead or alive, and Harti Nieminen is in jail here on suspicion of having been instrumental in the disappearance of Laitenen.

On Friday, Sept. 1, Laitenen went in to the woods to work and did not return.

With Harti Nieminen, Mike Nieminen and Emil Nelson, Laitenen had been batching for several weeks in a shanty in the timber near Spur No. 234 on the Soo Line, west of Moose Lake. On the morning in question the four men arose as usual, breakfasted and Mike Nieminen and Emil Nelson left and went over to a neighbor's where they worked until after noon. About 9 o'clock, according to Harti Nieminen's story, Laitinen went out about 600 feet from the shack to cut timber. He returned in about half an hour after a hammer and went back to work. He has never been seen since. His friends in the Finnish settlement there became aroused at his non-appearance and on Saturday Sheriff McKinnon and County Attorney J. E. Diesen visited the place, took evidence from numerous persons and decided to bring Harti Nieminen back with them. He was arraigned here yesterday before Justice W. H. Hassing, and the case adjourned until Wednesday, Sept. 20.

Had Money in Duluth Bank.

The accused says he thinks Laitinen left to go down on the Soo to another job. Laitinen, however, was dressed in blue overalls and left good clothes in the shack. He also left a bank book showing a deposit of some $50 in the First National Bank of Duluth, and has another $100 coming from neighbors which he did not collect. He had about $60 on his person the day before his disappearance.

Laitinen was known as a quiet, industrious young man and no motive for his disappearance is known. The neighborhood is wrought up over the affair. Laitinen is described as six feet high, 170 pounds, large grey eyes, light brown hair, age about 22 years, well built and very erect.

BALK ATTEMPT AT WRECKING TRAIN

Duluth Flyer of Great Northern Saved By Two Anoka Doctors.

Anoka, Minn., Sept. 12.—Dr. A. T. Crane and Dr. A. H. Carlson of Anoka frustrated an attempt Sunday night to wreck the Great Northern's Duluth flyer near Andover. They went in Dr. Crane's machine to Linwood on professional business.

On the way they crossed the Great Northern tracks near Andover and apparently the track had not in any way been disturbed. However, on their return, the auto jumped as it struck the crossing, and aroused the doctor's suspicion. They returned immediately to investigate.

At the crossing every spike had been removed from the rails and the fishplates were gone.

Wires Had Been Cut.

The doctors went to a farm house nearby to notify the railway officials, but they could obtain no telephone connection from the house. Though they tried other farm house telephones they had the same experience. They concluded the persons who had tampered with the track had cut the wires.

The doctors finally found a telephone that would work, called the railway office, and in a short time a section crew was on hand to repair the track.

STURGIS, S. D., MYSTERY.

Oil-Soaked Logs in Well With Dead Body.

Sturgis, S. D., Sept. 12.—The body of Hanford Beals of Cottonwood was taken from an abandoned well here. Beals had been missing since Tuesday. It was suggested that he might have fallen into the well. When a lantern was lowered into the well preliminary to dragging the bottom, an explosion followed, in which Robert Cruickshank was frightfully burned on the face and hands and Sheriff Collins severely burned on his arms and hands. Others sustained minor injuries.

Beals' body was found beneath a pile of oil-soaked timber. The presence of oil puzzles the authorities though it accounts for the explosion.

WISCONSIN STATE FAIR.

Larger and Better Than Ever, It Begins at Milwaukee.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 12.—Wisconsin's annual state fair, which is considered by officials to be larger and better than before, was opened here today and will continue through Saturday.

The exhibitors number close to 2,000 and include some of the best attractions of the Iowa and Minnesota fairs.

Besides daily trotting and pacing races of the Great Western circuit, the program of entertainment will include aviation exhibitions during the day and spectacular pageants of nations and fireworks at night.

Governor Francis E. McGovern has proclaimed Wednesday as Wisconsin day and Mayor Emil Seidel has set apart Thursday as Milwaukee day.

RESCUED FROM LAKE.

Two Bemidji Teachers and Escorts Drenched in Lake Irwin.

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—While spinning along on Lake Irwin near the outlet Sunday evening, a motor-equipped canoe occupied by Miss Minnie Lyons and Miss Dorothy Clark, local teachers, and Carl Hanson and Joseph Anderson, ran on to a slanting piling, upset and dumped its passengers into water that came up to their necks.

None was injured and all were soon rescued by John Kline, who with his family was fishing from a rowboat near by.

BOOST PERSONAL PROPERTY TAXES

State Tax Commission to Swell Valuations in Eighty-Three Counties.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The state tax commission will increase personal property assessments in eighty-three counties of the state from 5 to 100 per cent. Notices have been sent out that hearings on the increases would be held beginning today and continuing till Sept. 20. St. Louis, Ramsey and Hennepin county assessments will be taken up later as different conditions govern them.

Some of the increases proposed are high. Automobiles, for instance, will be increased approximately 50 per cent. In Red Lake county, where motor cars were assessed at $64, the commission has doubled the sum. The valuation of automobiles in Minnesota, exclusive of Ramsey county, amounts to $4,016,648, as against $2,970,311 in 1910.

Bankers Are Called For.

Two hundred and twenty-five bankers have been notified to appear before the commission Sept. 15-22, to show cause why their assessments should not be raised. It has been found that the banks involved returned a greater valuation of taxable property to the superintendent of banks than to the assessors for taxation.

The total amount of personal property returned by county boards for taxation, exclusive of Ramsey county, amounts to $171,526,668, as against $172,869,268 in 1910. The decrease of more than $1,000,000 is more apparent than real. In the 1910 figures, some $14,000,000 of money and credits were included. This year more than $100,000,000 have been returned. It is expected that when the returns are all in on personal property, the increase over last year in assessable personal property will be between $15,000,000 and $18,000,000.

WILL SHOOT AT HOME.

North Dakota Militiamen to Compete for Rifle Prizes.

Hillsboro, N. D., Sept. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Companies of the North Dakota National Guard will compete on their own range for the regimental prize offered by the National Rifle association. This plan has been adopted by the officers in charge because of the great expense that would be incurred in bringing the teams to one range. It will mean that the different companies will shoot under varying weather conditions but it is the best that can be arranged.

In the state shoot held in this city, First Sergeant N. G. Nyhus of the Hillsboro company was the winner with 124 out of a possible 150, while in the General Hildreth skirmish match Sergeant H. J. Sheridan of this city won.

GOING TO CROOKSTON.

Many Grand Forks People Going to Fair Next Thursday.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Many Grand Forks people will attend the fair at Crookston next Thursday, Grand Forks day. A committee of the commercial club has been named to take charge of the arrangements for an excursion to the Minnesota city. Grand Forks attended the Crookston fair last year also, making the trip by automobile, but this year will make the trip by train.

BOY IS SCALPED.

His Sister Also Hurt By Falling Under Wagon.

Richardton, N. D., Sept. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—In falling from a wagon and under the wheels of the vehicle, Adam Fink, aged 10, had his scalp almost completely torn from his head. His sister, Otilia, also fell under the wagon and suffered several broken ribs.

CROW WING COUNTY CROPS REPORTED FINE.

Brainerd, Minn., Sept. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Threshing records show that rye and oats are the banner crops in Crow Wing county, with corn a close third. John Plummer's crop of oats north of Brainerd went 40 bushels to the acre. The farm of R. R. Wise yielded 450 bushels of rye and 800 bushels of oats, the oats going 35 bushels to the acre and all being of most excellent quality. Rye throughout tte county is averaging from 20 to 25 bushels to the acre. Corn is yielding from 50 to 60 bushels per acre. Manley Champlin, the superintendent of the government farm at Highmore, S. D., who has been touring the state gathering the best samples of grain for seed, bought several bushels of No. 2 white rye from J. H. Peterson of St. Mathias, in the south end of Crow Wing county, and said it was the best he had ever seen. The county, on the whole, has made a splendid showing in the way of quality and quantity of crops.

GO TO THE RESCUE

Don't Wait till it's Too Late—Follow the Example of a Duluth Citizen.

Rescue the aching back.

If it keeps on aching, trouble comes.

Backache is kidney ache.

If you neklect the kidney's warning,

Look out for urinary trouble.

This Duluth citizen will show you how to go to the rescue.

Nels Bakken, 1 E. Sixth St., Duluth, Minn., says: "Off and on for twelve years I have taken Doan's Kidney Pills and have found them to be an excellent kidney medicine. I had sharp twinges in the small of my back and I was lame across my hips and loins. If I took cold, I had to be careful that my kidneys did not give out entirely. After taking Doan's Kidney Pills about two days, I noticed that the secretions from my kidneys were clearer and more natural. The soreness and lameness soon left and I continued taking Doan's Kidney Pills, until I was well. Since then I have used them occasionally and have always been benefited."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

HOMESTEADER KILLED.

John Oakland Cut to Pieces Near Rhame, N. D.

Rhame, N. D., Sept. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Both legs were found to be cut off, one arm was severed and his head, trunk and chest were horribly mangled under the wheels of a work train near this place when the remains of John Oakland, a homesteader, was found lying on the roadbed. He was 28 years old, unmarried, and expected to make final proof on his homestead the latter part of this week.

KNIFE HITS BRIAR PIPE,

Warding Off Thrust and Saving Carrington, N. D., Officer's Life.

Carrington, N. D., Sept. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—A briar pipe which he carried in his upper coat pocket saved Fred Beier, Jr., from being stabbed to death while acting as night patrolman. He was attacked by John Deere, while trying to arrest the man. The knife struck the pipe and glanced to one side, a gash three inches long and a half inch deep along the side resulting.

After the attack young Beier choked Deere into submission, and then jailed him.

Y. W. C. A. INSTITUTE.

Will Be Held at Grand Forks on Nov. 1, 2 and 3.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Grand Forks has been selected as one of the seven cities of North Dakota, Minnesota, South Dakota, Iowa and Nebraska, in which the national board of the Young Women's Christian association will conduct institutees under the direction of its national secretaries. The dates are Nov. 1, 2 and 3, and it is designed to care for the work in North Dakota and Northwestern Minnesota.

The seven national secretaries who will be in attendance conducting the work are Dr. Anna L. Brown, secretary of the department of physical education and hygiene; Miss Mary T. Bushnell, religious education; Miss Florence Sims, industrial and extension department; Miss Blanche Geary, economic department; Miss Helen L. Thomas, educational department; Mrs. Emma Byers, north central secretary, and Miss Nettie E. Trimble, city secretary for the north central district.

PROMISED GOOD PRICES.

Beltrami County Potato Raisers to Realize Handsomely.

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—F. M. Pendergast, president of the new Northern Minnesota Producers' Co-operative association, is receiving many inquiries concerning the Beltrami county crop of potatoes.

President Pendergast and Secretary Otto Bergh have been corresponding with potato dealers in other states, as well as with some dealers at Duluth and in the Twin Cities, with the result that the Co-operative association will be able to get a good price for the Beltrami county crop.

The association has been given a low rate for the shipment of car lots of potatoes to points south and east and west of the Twin Cities. A rate of 14 cents per hundredweight has already been granted by the roads which haul freight from Bemidji and surrounding points to the Twin Cities and Duluth, and this rate in connection with the out-of-the-state rate, will afford a most excellent outlet for Beltrami county potatoes, for which there is already a healthy demand.

MELLEN CASES ENDED.

Officials Accused of Taking $25 Pay Up and Go Free.

Mellen, Wis., Sept. 12.—The graft cases against Mayor M. Collins, Peter Fishbeck, M. Vought and H. G. Templin, who have been under indictment two years in connection with the so-called graft cases in which the sum of $25 was mentioned in the indictment have been wiped off the books. Vought was convicted two years ago and after carrying the case to the highest court served a year in jail. The others pleaded "nolle contender" in circuit court here yesterday before Judge Wickum and paid over to the city the $25 involved. The court then on motion of the district attorney gave them suspended sentences and the cases were closed.

ROSEAU COUNTY YIELDS ARE REPORTED GOOD.

Roseau, Minn., Sept. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Harry Howe has completed thrashing and he got an average of sixty bushels of oats to the acre and twenty of wheat. Andrew Johnson thrashed twenty-three bushels to the acre of winter wheat and is selling it at $1.25 per bushel for seed. The average yield throughout Roseau county as near as can be judged is sixty bushels of oats, twenty-two bushels of wheat and forty-three bushels of barley to the acre.

GRAND FORKS WILL TAKE RELIGIOUS CENSUS.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—A religious census of Grand Forks will be taken the latter part of October, under the direction of the Grand Forks Sunday School association.

The committee in charge of the work is: Prof. A. J. Ladd, Thomas Porte and W. H. Brown, and they will endeavor to secure enough young men to complete the work in a few days. The canvass will be inter-denominational, and when completed the cards will be sorted and the pastor of each different church will be given his people to look after.

HUNTER IS WOUNDED CARRYING COCKED GUN.

Moorhead, Minn., Sept. 12.—The first hunting accident of the season occurred Sunday near Moorhead, when a shotgun was accidentally discharged into the left side of Roland Vandermeer, whose home is in Georgetown. He was probably fatally injured. He was riding in a wagon which struck a furrow, discharging a gun which was cocked. He was brought to a Moorhead hospital.

Diaz' Nephew Killed.

Delafield, Wis., Sept. 12.—Guillermo Belden, 14 years old, a nephew of Former President Diaz of Mexico, was killed yesterday by falling from a tree. He came here to attend school with two of his brothers from Monterey, Mex., last winter. The latter are still here.

HIBBING MAN IS MARRIED AT MARQUETTE.

Marquette, Mich., Sept. 12.—George Lehmann of Hibbing, Minn., and Miss Mary Neely of Negaunee, were united in marriage Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, Rev. Amstutz performing the ceremony. The couple left on a trip down the lakes, after which they will be at home at Hibbing.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Marquette—C. S. Mellon, proprietor of the Dead river boarding house, reports that one Frank Vandergrift, who had been boarding there two days, took French leave Saturday afternoon with considerable stolen property in his possession, consisting of $55 in cash, two pairs of shoes, watch worth $18, suit of clothes worth $20, a razor, strop and brush and a few other small articles.

Negaunee—Mrs. Elizabeth O'Keefe, one of the oldest residents of Negaunee, died Sunday of general debility, due to her age. She was 75 years old, but is survived by no relatives, as far as can be ascertained. She has lived for years in a cottage on the Ishpeming road. She was sick only two weeks.

Ishpeming—Jacob Locher, a resident of Ishpeming for the past forty-seven years, died Sunday. Cancer of the stomach, from which the deceased had been a sufferer for several months was the cause of his demise. The deceased and his widow were the parents of fourteen children, eight of whom are living. There are also living more than thirty-five grand children, and several great grandchildren.

Marquette—Otto Johnson, aged 34, who was released from the Newberry hospital twelve years ago, where he had been undergoing treatment for about a year, died early Sunday morning at the county jail. Johnson evidently was not a well man when he left the asylum, for on Saturday he again became violently insane and attempted to kill his wife, upon which he was taken to the county jail by Marshal Manning, where he died a few hours later.

Houghton—Mrs. G. Hartman of Dodge street celebrated Friday evening the 71st anniversary of her birth. It was made the occasion of a family reunion, a joyous gathering of her sons and daughters and their families.

Ishpeming—John Nelson, an old and well known resident of Ishpeming, died Thursday after an illness of three or four months. Cancer of the stomach was the cause of his demise. The deceased was for some time employed as gardener at the home of W. H. Johnston, district superintendent of the Oliver Iron Mining company.

Ontonagon—Paul Dolan, aged 86, a pioneer of the Lake Superior district, died Friday afternoon after a short illness. Heart failure was the cause of death. Mr. Dolan is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Thomas Coughlin of Hancock and Mrs. James Corgan of Ontonagon. The funeral was held here Monday morning.

Houghton—Joseph Wissing, aged 52, veteran Houghton printer, died Saturday at St. Joseph's hospital after an illness of only a few days, though he had not been in good health and had worked at his trade only occasionally for some time. Mr. Wissing is survived by five children, Ferdinand, now a linotype operator in Chicago; Prosper, Joseph, Roy and Miss Alice.

Lake Linden—James Jewel, past president of both the Lake Linden and Hubbell aeries of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, has returned from his trip to the Pacific coast, where he, as a delegate from Hubbell aerie, No. 1830, attended the national convention of the members of that organization.

Crystal Falls—The Kimball case is settled. At the council meeting last Wednesday evening a vote was taken to accept Mrs. Kimball's offer of $4,500 for a settlement of all past and future damages together with the perpetual flowage rights to his property.

Ontonagon—Thomas H. Miller of Detroit is in the village overseeing the building of several cement walks at the light house. He is also looking after the putting in of electric lights in the light house. There will be a great amount of improvement made there at the present time. Fred Hall has a contract for doing part of the work.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Ashland—Art Childs has sold his forty-acre tract near Ashland Junction to R. A. Winckler. The tract has been used by local sportsmen for years as a hunting ground.

Sheboygan—Carl Stoll, aged 70, and an employe of the Badger State Tanning company for more than thirty years, dropped dead while at work in the tannery.

Neenah—George Williams, a Chicago & Northwestern railroad fireman, nearly lost his eyesight when particles of glass entered the eyes. A glass water gauge exploded. Physicians successfully removed the glass without further injuring the eyes.

Appleton—Fred Felix Wettengel has notified the officers of the Latin League of Wisconsin Colleges that he has accepted their offer and will give $2,500 to the endowment fund of the league and name the prize "The Fred Felix Wettengel Latin Prize."

Madison—State Dairy and Food Commissioner J. Q. Emery and Fred P. Downing, chief inspector of weights and measures for Wisconsin, will attend a convention of sealers of weights and measures at Syracuse, N. Y., this week.

Grand Rapids—The Weinberg Construction company of this city has just been awarded the contract for the erection of the new county asylum building at Shawano, Wis., for $135,000.

Fond du Lac—The body of George Roehl, 16 years old, who had been missing since Labor day, was recovered from Lake Winnebago Sunday afternoon. Roehl was out in a motor boat alone and either fell or jumped overboard.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

Fergus Falls—John Back, aged 74, one of this county's earliest settlers, dropped dead at his home three miles southeast of this city, near the Swan Lake road, Friday afternoon. He was in his dooryard at the time and had been as well as usual up to the time of his death. Mr. Back was born in Norway and came to Otter Tail county in 1868.

Winona—William Clark, aged about 50, whose home is in Durand, Wis., is in the hospital with a deep and ugly knife cut in the chest, just below the heart, and R. H. Stevens, also of Duran, is locked up in the police headquarters, charged by the injured man with having done the knifing.

St. Hilaire—At a business meeting of the Young People's society of the United Lutheran church Wednesday evening, Miss Otta Skele was elected president; Alfred Benson vice president; Miss Phenie Branum, secretary; Rev. M. S. Gjerde, treasurer, and Mrs. Nettie Lang, Misses Ida Skele and Myrtle Blaire, program committee.

Moorhead—The famous Larson-Slette cases, that have figured so prominently in district court during the past eighteen months, have finally been decided so far as the district court is concerned, Judge Taylor having Saturday handed down decisions in eleven cases.

Crookston—Juge Watts of the district court made an order Saturday that the case of C. N. Briggs against the Grand Forks Street Railway company be transferred to the United States circuit court which will be held in Fergus Falls.

East Grand Forks—Julius Brescin received a broken shoulder and other injuries when he was thrown from a carriage Sunday afternoon, being engaged in hunting, when the horses took fright at the crack of a gun.

Brainerd—C. A. Calland, principal of the Brocklehurst business college of Duluth for the past year, has accepted the position of instructor in the commercial department of the local high school.

Winona—Governor John Burke of North Dakota, accompanied by Mrs. Burke and daughter, Elizabeth, were guests in Winona Sunday of Bishop P. R. Heffron. The governor and his wife were on their way to the congress of governors at Spring Lake, N. J., and the daughter was enrolled at the Young Ladies' seminary.

Stillwater—Walter Kress, aged 21, fell into the St. Croix river Sunday and was drowned. The body was recovered. Kress was a mechanic by trade. Surviving are his parents, two brothers and three sisters.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Devils Lake, N. D.—Episcopalians of Devils Lake are laying plans for the elaborate entertainment of the North Dakota Episcopal Clericus which holds its annual fall conference in this city, Oct. 10 and 11. Bishop Cameron Mann of the North Dakota diocese will preside.

Bismarck, N. D.—By a decision of the supreme court the supporters of Pembina for county seat honors will have another chance to defend themselves against Cavalier, the latter claiming the honor by virtue of last year's election. The supreme court granted a new hearing to the Pembina petitioners.

Fargo, N. D.—The largest bag of chickens reported thus far this year was that brought in by Ed Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Morrow, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Zellar and Mons Monson Saturday. The party brought a total of seventy-four birds to the city, every one of them prairie chickens.

Rolette, N. D.—The large department store of A. B. Herrmann burned to the ground early Saturday morning and nothing is left of the stock or building or adjoining warehouse. The loss is about $25,000, partly covered by insurance.

Grand Forks, N. D.—The Red River Valley Boosters met Saturday evening in the Commercial club rooms for an enthusiastic and unusually well attended meeting. Every member of the executive committee of the organization and all the officers were in attendance.

Devils Lake, N. D.—Secretary M. J. Cowley has sent out invitations to real estate men and commercial organizations of Ramsey, Benson, McHenry, Cavalier, Nelson, Towner, Bottineau, Rollette, Pierce and Eddy counties, to attend a smoker Friday evening, Sept. 15 at the Commercial club rooms.

Bismarck, N. D.—While attempting to stop a runaway team at the corner of Main and Fourth street, a Capital City contractor was knocked down and dragged about thirty feet under the wheels of the wagon, sustaining a severe bruising and internal injuries that may prove serious.

Grand Forks, N. D.—James Hawkins, a painter, his home supposedly near Baraboo, Wis., was found dead in a room in the New York restaurant here Sunday. Death was due to heart failure.

NO INDIGESTION OR SICK STOMACH

Gas, Heartburn, Dyspepsia and all Misery in Stomach Vanishes.

Take your sour, out-of-order stomach—or maybe you call it Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Gastritis or Catarrh of Stomach; it doesn't matter—take your stomach trouble right with you to your Pharmacist and ask him to open a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin and let you eat one 22-grain Triangule and see if within five minutes there is left any trace of your former misery.

The correct name for your trouble is Food Fermentation—food souring; the Digestive organs become weak, there is lack of gastric juice; your food is only half digested, and you become affected with loss of appetite, pressure and fullness after eating, vomiting, nausea, heartburn, griping in bowels, tenderness in the pit of stomach, bad taste in mouth, constipation, pain in limbs, sleeplessness, belching of gas, billousness, sick headache, nervousness, dizziness or many other similar symptoms.

If your appetite is fickle and nothing tempts you, or you belch gas, or if you feel bloated after eating, or your food lies like a lump of lead on your stomach, you can make up your mind that at the bottom of all this there is but one cause—fermentation of undigested food.

Prove to yourself in five minutes that your stomach is as good as any; that there is nothing really wrong. Stop this fermentation and begin eating what you want without fear of discomfort or misery.

Almost instant relief is waiting for you. It is merely a matter of how soon you take a little Diapepsin.

A JUST PASSENGER RATE.

What is a fair rate for carrying passengers over railroads in the Northwest?

A brief examination of a little history may throw light on that question; and again it may confuse it still more. Let us see.

In 1906 the passenger rate universally was 3 cents a mile. This was just as it had been for many years. Freight rates had gone down somewhat, as the railroads discovered that they could handle the business cheaper and as the increase in traffic lessened the cost by distributing it over more commodities; but passenger rates never changed.

In 1907, or thereabouts, North Dakota cut passenger rates to 2½ cents a mile, Wisconsin cut them to 2 cents a mile, Iowa cut them to 2 cents a mile, and so did Minnesota.

When the 2-cent fare bill was before the Minnesota legislature, its passage having been strongly urged by John A. Johnson, then governor, the railroads presented their case.

They showed that they were carrying a good many people free. The pass system was in vogue. Public officials had passes, politicians had passes, large shippers had passes. Delegates went to conventions on passes, and lawmakers went to their duties on passes.

The railroads also showed that on special occasions they made special rates—one fare for the round trip, a fare and a half for the round trip, etc.

Taking this all together, the railroads said, they found that they were not getting 3 cents a mile for the passengers they carried, nor 2 cents a mile. They were getting, to be exact, 1⅞ cents a mile for every passenger they carried.

The railroads presented this as an argument against reducing the rate to 2 cents. But it didn't work out that way.

Besides cutting the passenger rate to 2 cents a mile, the legislature made passes unlawful, thus enacting into law another of Governor Johnson's recommendations. You see, in that year Minnesota had a governor who was big enough and strong enough and brave enough to take a stand for the people.

The legislature having abolished free passes, the railroads abolished excursion rates. Everybody — except railroad employes—traveled on the same basis. Everybody paid a flat 2 cents a mile. So the 2-cent rate law didn't lower passenger receipts. According to the figuring of the railroads themselves, it increased them from 1⅞ cents to 2 cents. Besides, the lower rates increased traffic.

The railroads should have been grateful, but they were not. They took the Minnesota 2-cent fare law—alone among all the northwestern rate laws in that respect—into court and Judge Sanborn knocked it out.

July 1 the passenger rate went back to 3 cents, because Judge Sanborn said less was confiscatory and unlawful. But the passes are still outlawed, so it is no longer true that when you pay 3 cents for a mile of railroad travel you pay 1⅞ cents for your own trip, and 1⅛ cents for the travel of those public officials and politicians and big shippers who got passes.

The railroads keep all the benefits of the legislation of 1907, and the people get none of the benefits—except that of doing away with the subtle bribery there was in free passes.

The legal rate in Minnesota is 3 cents. Less is unlawful and confiscatory. Yet if you are able to pay for a mileage book you can travel for 2 cents a mile—the unlawful and confiscatory rate. If you are a preacher you travel for 1½ cents. Two cents a mile is unlawful and confiscatory for the man who can afford only a trip ticket: but all right for the man who can afford mileage books. Three cents a mile is the only just and lawful rate except when there is something going on in the Twin Cities, when 2 cents is all right.

It seems a bit complicated. What IS a just passenger rate? We still think that 2 cents a mile is.

ENOUGH OF THE BEATTIE CASE.

The police in New York have forbidden the exhibition in moving picture shows of films picturing the details of the Beattie murder case. That's very good indeed, and the police in every community should take the same action. Moving picture shows can be very good in their effects, or very bad, depending altogether on the character of the films shown. Such stuff as the Beattie case is altogether bad, and those who have invested their capital in preparing to regale the public with it should lose every penny they have put into it.

REAL AND SHAM TARIFF COMMISSIONS.

President Taft is seeking to justify his vetoes of the tariff relief measures passed by congress on the ground that the tariff board is now studying the tariff, and that no action should be taken until the board reports.

Without definitely saying so, he contrives to leave the impression that this country has a tariff commission as those understood it who have advocated the tariff commission plan. That impression is—incorrect.

There is as much difference between a real tariff commission and the present tariff board as there would be between the interstate commerce commission and a railroad board appointed without authority to act upon railroad rates.

A real tariff commission would be empowered to summon witnesses and collect testimony of all kinds bearing on the tariff. It would be empowered to study every industry in all its aspects to determine whether it would be profitable to the nation to tax the people to stimulate its growth, how much the tariff tax should be, and how long it should be continued. It would be empowered to report tariff schedules based on its researches, for congress to enact into law. Possibly it might even be empowered to impose tariff schedules of its own motion, as the interstate commerce commission can impose railroad rate changes of its own motion, thus taking the tariff out of the confusion and hypocrisy and sectionalism of politics.

The tariff board which President Taft uses to justify his veto of measures offering relief to the people from oppressive tariff taxes is a very different body.

The law does not even give this board the dignity of a name, or recognize it as an organized body of any kind. The law strictly limits its functions to the securing of information necessary to the president in carrying out the provisions of the "maximum and minimum" section of the Aldrich-Payne tariff law, and to the giving of assistance to other administrative officers of the government. It is really a stretch of authority for the president to use this board as a body of experts to advise him in the work of directing tariff revision—a work which, he took pains to state while the Aldrich-Payne bill was before congress, is peculiarly the province of congress and no part of the president's duties. The tariff board has no power to compel the giving of testimony. The testimony it gets must be voluntary.

Clearly, a board so constituted and so poorly supplied with power can be of little assistance toward the making of an honest and scientific tariff.

Clearly, too, such a board is a very poor excuse for postponing relief from a schedule so admittedly iniquitous as the wool schedule, which the president himself has declared to be indefensible but which he has protected to the best of his ability by frustrating the congressional attempt to reduce its enormities.

This country needs a real tariff commission, but above all it needs immediate relief from the oppression of tariff schedules dictated wholly by the greed of those who benefit by them, and in the making of which the common good of an overtaxed people was never considered for a moment.

MAINE GOES "WET".

Two or three years ago a wave of prohibitory legislation was sweeping so irresistibly over the country that a good many people, including those interested in the liquor traffic, were convinced that it was going to cover the nation in a short time.

It is evidence enough that this wave is receding, if other evidences were lacking,—which they are not,—when Maine, which has been under prohibition for more than half a century, votes to repeal the prohibitory clause in its Constitution, which it did yesterday by a small vote.

Apparently this is due to several things, among them the following: First, innumerable demonstrations that prohibition does not prohibit unless it is backed by a rather overwhelming public sentiment; second, a realization that real temperance reform must come through strict regulation, rather than prohibition, and through the gradual creation of public sentiment against the abuses of the traffic and against the use of liquor; third, the discovery that under prohibition there are abuses of the liquor traffic that are as bad as those which exist where the traffic is poorly regulated, as it is almost everywhere.

The Maine fight has, in a sense, been a national fight, because both sides have brought into it their champions from all parts of the country. Both sides wished to win not only to make Maine "wet" or to keep it "dry," as the case may have been, but for the moral effect, which will unquestionably be great. It is not putting it too strongly to say that yesterday's result in Maine, small though the majority for repeal was, is the hardest blow prohibition has had in half a century.

Though a number of other states that had followed Maine's example of prohibiting the liquor traffic had gone back to regulation, Maine stood rockribbed for prohibition; and so firm was the tradition of Maine's strength for prohibition that the result yesterday is a surprise to most people.

Maine isn't "wet" yet, however. Yesterday's vote of the people takes the prohibition clause out of the Constitution, but the statute of 1857, enacted in Neal Dow's time, still stands and must be repealed by the legislature. This the legislature is almost certain to do, and it is even stated that the governor may call an extra session for that purpose. The change in sentiment in Maine on the subject is very radical, as shown by the fact that when the prohibition amendment was adopted in 1884 it carried every county and received a majority of 45,988.

Starting anew and with clear decks, the Maine legislature will have a chance to enact an adequate law regulating the liquor traffic which may prove a valuable example to the other states which, much confused by the demand for complete prohibition, either statewide or in county units, are still struggling with this problem without getting anywhere.

THE PAVING REPORT.

Every citizen of Duluth will be glad that the committee appointed to investigate the paving matter has been able to give a clean bill of moral health to every city officer concerned.

It isn't comfortable to know that public officials to whom matters of great importance are necessarily entrusted are false to their duties to the public, and it isn't any more comfortable to have suspicions about them bandied around. When such suspicions are afloat, the right thing to do is to go to the bottom of them, as the council committee appears to have done.

The committee did find a few matters needing correction, and it made recommendations accordingly; but none of these matters touched the integrity of any official.

The effect of the whole thing has been good in two ways: it has cleared the atmosphere, and it has caused greater public attention to public affairs, which is always wholesome. Corruption, neglect, incompetence and extravagance thrive in the darkness of public indifference, but die in the fierce glare of public vigilance.

NO ILLINOIS CENTRAL STRIKE.

The news that no general strike of shop employes on the Illinois Central will be declared, for the present at least, will be heard with relief by the public, that great and helpless third party and chief sufferer from all industrial warfare. If there are injustices in the situation between the railroad and its employes, it is to be hoped that they will be eradicated by amicable discussions. The public does not want strikes, but neither does it want employes, who are themselves a part of the public, treated unfairly. The question whether employes have as good a right to band together and bargain collectively as employers is a vital one, and sooner or later it will have to be decided. If it can be decided rightly by friendly debate, it will be much the better for all concerned—and that's pretty nearly everybody.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest. But discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

NATURE NOT TO BE WORSHIPPED BLINDLY.

To the Editor of The Herald:

With some little interest I have watched the spasms of "nature lovers" over the desecration of the "natural beauty" of our parks.

Now I may be something of a barbarian, but I really cannot see the beauty of half decayed logs. There is nothing to delight the eye in dead wood, or slimy stones. For my part, I think there are times, and frequently, when the hand of man can improve on Nature. Some people regard Nature as a kind of fetish which they worship. The old lady has turned out some very fine work, but she sleeps occasionally, and some of her productions are not entirely beautiful. I wouldn't go quite as far as Oscar Wilde and say that Nature follows Art and depends on art for its reputation for being beautiful, but there is no reason why we should fall on our knees and blindly worship her. I would hardly go so far as to advocate cutting down the trees in our parks and growing green hedges trained to represent dogs and deers, or as to erect a few marble lions, but neat little paths are much to be desired, and it is no crime to even clear away some underbrush and a few rocks out of the stream, or some driftwood from the banks.

LAKESIDER.

Duluth, Sept. 11.

The Children.

When the lessons and tasks are all ended,
And the school for the day is dismissed,
The little ones gather around me
To bid me good-night and be kissed;
Oh, the little white arms that encircle
My neck in a tender embrace!
Oh, the smiles that are halos of heaven,
Shedding sunshine of love on my face!

And when they are gone I sit dreaming
Of my childhood, too lovely to last;
Of love that my heart will remember,
When it wakes to the pulse of the past,
Ere the world and its wickedness made me
A partner of sorrow and sin;
When the glory of God was about me,
And the glory of gladness within.

Oh, my heart grows as weak as a woman's
And the fountains of feeling will flow,
As I think of the paths, steep and stony,
Where the feet of the dear ones must go!
Of the mountains of sin hanging o'er them,
Of the tempest of fate blowing wild;
Oh, there's nothing on earth half so holy
As the innocent heart of a child.

They are idols of hearts and of households,
They are angels of God in disguise;
This sunlight still sleeps in their tresses,
This glory still gleams in their eyes;
Oh, those truants from home and from heaven,
They have made me more manly and mild,
And I know now how Jesus could liken
The kingdom of God to a child.

I ask not a life for the dear ones,
All radiant, as others have done,
But that life may have just enough shadow
To temper the glare of the sun;
I would pray God to guard them from evil,
But my prayer would bound back to myself;
Ah, a seraph may pray for a sinner,
But a sinner must pray for himself.

The twig is so easily bended,
I have banished the rule and the rod;
I have taught them the goodness of knowledge,
They have taught me the goodness of God.
My heart is a dungeon of darkness,
Where I shut them from breaking a rule;
My frown is sufficient correction,
My love is the law of the school.

I shall leave the old house in the autumn
To traverse its threshold no more;
Ah, how I shall sigh for the dear ones
That meet me each morn at the door!
I shall miss the good-nights and the kisses,
And the gush of their innocent glee,
The group on the green and the flowers
That are brought every morning to me.

I shall miss them at noon and at even',
Their song in the school and the street;
I shall miss the low hum of their voices
And the tramp of their delicate feet;
When the lessons and tasks are all ended,
And death says, "The school is dismissed,"
May the little ones gather around me
To bid me good-night and be kissed.

The Day of the Horse.

Our Dumb Animals: In the opinion of the S. P. C. A. at Buffalo, the day is not very far distant when there will arise a wide-spread agitation for yearly vacations for all city horses. The master of the horse does not work as hard physically as does his faithful animal, which is compelled to toil long hours in all sorts of weather; is often subject to ill treatment and abuse, and has little protection from the ignorance and cruelty of those who may have him in their control. Organized effort has done much to protect the horse from the ill treatment of irresponsible and incompetent drivers but the Buffalo friend of the horse thinks that still better things are coming. He says:

"Employers have learned that their men can do better work if they are allowed a week or two of complete rest in each year, aside from the longer hours of rest which civilization has brought them. Why, then, the humanitarians will demand, should not the horse be accorded an equal freedom? Why should he not be given a vacation in the field—be turned loose to do exactly as he pleases for a certain period? Why should not better work be obtained from him if this were done?

"Of course the horses in the country do get this rest and recreation. I'm speaking about the city horses. Again it is quite true that many owners of horses do give them just such liberty in hot months. But I anticipate a law which will be obligatory, just as a human vacation law will doubtless soon be made.

"I, for one, hope that the day of the horse is not far distant."

A Braggart Taken Down.

Boston Transcript: A passenger who recently came over on one of the smaller boats relates this incident. There was a chap on board who was much given to boasting about his skill with the rifle. The captain thought he'd take the boaster down a peg, so he said:

"I don't think you could hit this bottle placed on the rail at twenty yards' distance."

The other replied that it would be mere child's play, whereupon the captain said:

"I'll bet you $10 you don't hit it three times out of six."

The boaster promptly took him up and the test was made. At the first shot he hit the bottle and it disappeared in fragments in the sea.

"Trot out another one," cried the shooter, triumphantly, getting his rifle ready.

"Not at all," replied the captain. "The conditions were that you should hit that one three times out of six. You have to hit it twice more."

FORTY-FIVE YEARS OF SCHEDULE K.

Worcester Evening Post: April, 1866—The wool growers and wool manufacturers meet at Washington, D. C., and agree upon a tariff on wool and wool goods.

April, 1866—The wool growers recommend a tariff on wool to the United States revenue commission.

March 2, 1867—A Republican congress passes a woolen tariff law substantially the same as that recommended by the wool growers and manufacturers.

January, 1880—Agitation for a revision of the tariff. The National Association of Wool Growers opposes any change in Schedule K, but favors a tariff commission.

February, 1880—The president and secretary of the National Association of Wool Manufacturers interview the president of the United States and obtain assurances as to the personnel of the new commission.

March, 1880—The National Association of Wool Manufacturers recommends the passage of the tariff commission bill without amendment.

July, 1880—The National Association of Wool Manufacturers circulates among manufacturers a petition which says:

"That the manufacturer should have a protective duty sufficient to offset the high cost of labor, interest and taxes; that the present tariff (Schedule K) should continue until special and minute information from experts shall indicate the changes that can safely be made; that the best method of obtaining the required information is through the Eaton tariff commission."

May 15, 1882—A tariff commission authorized by act of congress.

May, 1882—John L. Hayes, secretary of the National Association of Wool Manufacturers, appointed president of the tariff commission. Later he is made chairman of the sub-committee to prepare the woollen and worsted schedules.

December, 1882—Report of tariff commission sent to congress.

March 3, 1883—Tariff bill passed increasing some rates in Schedule K and making reductions that did not help the consumer.

October 1, 1890—The McKinley bill is passed by a Republican congress, increasing duties on wool goods. The duty on worsted tops, manufactured by William Whitman, president of the National Association of Wool Manufacturers, is made equal to the duty on finished cloths.

August 27, 1894—The Wilson bill, passed by a Democratic congress, becomes a law, revising Schedule K, with free wool and ad valorem duties on goods.

March, 1897—S. N. D. North, secretary of the National Association of Wool Manufacturers, is admitted to the secret sessions of the senate finance committee during the framing of the Dingley bill. April 4, 1897, North writes to William Whitman:

"I am the only person whom the committee allows in its meetings."

June 2, 1897—William Whitman writes to Secretary North, who is attending tariff sessions of finance committee:

"We all depend upon you to watch closely our interests."

July 10, 1897—William Whitman writes to Secretary North, who is attending tariff sessions of finance committee:

"I depend on you, dress goods, yarns and tops."

July 25, 1897—The Dingley bill, with Schedule K practically unchanged, becomes a law.

1898—The National Association of Wool Manufacturers presents $5,000 to S. N. D. North, its secretary, for services in connection with the revision of the tariff.

June, 1908—Agitation for a revision of the tariff. The Republican national convention at Chicago pledges the party to revise the tariff to equal the difference between the foreign and domestic cost of production plus a profit. This is practically the same as the proposition laid down by the National Association of Wool Manufacturers in July, 1884, for the revision of the tariff.

September 26, 1908—William H. Taft, Republican candidate for president, makes the following pledge in a speech at St. Paul:

"I am here to plight the faith of the Republican party, in accordance with its platform, that the revision will be honest and exact, according to the measure stated in the platform."

August 5, 1909—A Republican congress passes and President Taft signs the Payne-Aldrich bill, which leaves Schedule K practically unchanged.

September 16, 1909—President Taft confesses at Winona, Minn., that it was impossible to revise Schedule K because of the combine of wool growers and wool manufacturers.

April 8, 1910—William Whitman, president of the National Association of Wool Manufacturers, before the Massachusetts cost-of-living commission, states that he—

"Does not know of any reason why President Taft should know any more about the wool tariff than does the gentleman who recently refused to receive Mr. Roosevelt."

August 20, 1910—President Taft, in a letter to Congressman William B. McKinley, states that—

"The precise difference in the cost of production sought for is not capable of definite ascertainment" and "all that even the most scientific person can do is to exercise his best judgment in reaching a conclusion."

October 17, 1910—William Whitman, president of the National Association of Wool Manufacturers, spends four hours with the tariff board at Washington and then issues the following statement:

"I opposed the tariff commission very strongly, but the tariff board is a very different thing. I want to do what I can to show my appreciation of President Taft. I believe he means well and is doing well, and I am ready to meet him half-way."

December 8, 1910—Banquet of the American Association of Woollen and Worsted Manufacturers at New York. Chairman Emery of the tariff board present. On this occasion Chairman Emery said:

"There are certain things that are very difficult to get, and one thing, that according to the platform of the Republican party—and incidentally that does not mean anything to me, except that I have been given the job according to that platform—is to try to get the cost of production. I thank you all, gentlemen, that you did not laugh. (Laughter). * * * I frankly say right here that this idea of settling things on cost alone by any mathematical or algebraical or geometric ratio or problem or theory, is all nonsense. You must not think I am joking about this thing, but there is a joke about it, and the joke is this: I have no powers whatsoever. The tariff board has no powers. There is really no such thing as a tariff board. The law says that for certain purposes the president may employ such persons as he sees fit. I am one of such persons. That is all." (Laughter and applause.)

February 1, 1911—Banquet of the National Association of Wool Manufacturers at Washington, attended by thirty-five stand-pat senators and representatives and two members of the tariff board, Chairman Emery and J. B. Reynolds. William M. Wood, president of the American Washer company, said on this occasion:

"If all the schedules of the tariff were as well balanced as Schedule K it would be the most remarkable document, next to the Constitution of the United States, that the human mind has ever produced."

August 15, 1911—Passage of the Underwood-La Follette bill to revise Schedule K and providing for duties of 29 per cent on wool and 49 per cent on wool goods.

August 16, 1911—President Taft vetoes the Underwood-La Follette bill on the grounds that the tariff board has not reported.

A Celtic Revival.

Woman's Home Companion: Mistress—"Bridget, I told you not to put these silver knives in with the steel ones again."

Bridget—"Sure, mum, I didn't, the silver ones were already there when I put the steel ones in."

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Taken From the Columns of The Herald of This Date, 1891.

City Treasurer Voss yesterday received $12,372.58 for the first batch of fifteen assessment certificates ever issued by the city of Duluth. Nine of them were for $1,000 each. The American Loan & Trust company has arranged for the sale of $200,000 worth of them.

Maj. James B. Quinn, U. S. A., formerly in charge of Lake Superior harbors but now chief of the Mexican gulf government work, arrved in Duluth yesterday on a brief visit. The major was met at the train by his wife and many old friends and was heartily welcomed by them.

Theodore Cramp, a member of the great Philadelphia ship-building firm of Cramp & Sons, was in the office of his nephew, R. A. Taussig, when a Herald reporter saw him yesterday. He said he visited the McDougall shipyards a few days ago and was highly pleased at what he saw. He praised Capt. McDougall's boats for cheapness of construction according to carrying capacity.

At the quarterly meeting of the West Duluth Methodist church, George J. Mallory was chosen delegate to the state conference.

Miss Fannie Wheeler of West Duluth is visiting her old home at Davenport, Iowa, for a few days.

Simeoe Chapman returned yesterday from the East and is visiting H. C. Crawford.

The Unity club will begin its second season's work on the evening of Sept. 21 with a discussion between J. Adam Bede and Charles J. Johnson on the Shakespeare-Bacon controversy.

Mrs. W. H. Holladay of Minneapolis is visiting her brother, B. C. Dent, at West Duluth.

Dr. S. F. Boyce of Duluth was yesterday unanimously elected president of the Minnesota Pharmaceutical association for the ensuing year.

T. E. Considine, who has been sick for the past month with typhoid and was apparently nearly recovered, has had a relapse.

E. O. Sharpe, pastor of the Christian church, has gone to Illinois and Indiana on business.

E. L. Emery, who has been poorly for several days, was taken from the Spalding to St. Luke's hospital yesterday afternoon, having become delirious. Mr. Emery has been working very hard overseeing the improvements for the St. Lous Water Power company, the over-exertion and exposure probably being responsible for his attack of illness.

Mrs. O. P. Stearns, accompanied by Mrs. Rinsickle of Minneapolis, called on the mayor yesterday with a view to having Mrs. Rinsickle appointed matron in the city jail. The mayor said he was not vested with power to make such an appointment. Mrs. Rinsickle will probably conduct the Women's Employment bureau which is backed by the charitable ladies of Duluth.

THE DEMAND FOR AN EXTRA SESSION.

Give Them a Chance.

Preston Times: Bob Dunn can see no good in calling an extra session because "there are too many obstreperous asses in the legislature who parade themselves as progressives to permit of the enactment of beneficent legislation." Still we might give them another chance. They can do no less than pass a 5 per cent gross earnings amendment and that would be worth a lot.

Any Time.

Hibbing Mesaba Ore: It is handed out from the lower part of the state that unless The Duluth Herald ceases its agitation for an extra session of the state legislature there will appear another tonnage tax movement. The Herald, however, is calling the bluff.

An Operation Indicated.

Cass Lake Times: If Governor A. O. Eberhart wants to make himself solid with the people and insure his renomination and election all that he has to do is to call an extra session of the legislature. A 5 per cent gross earnings tax bill can be passed within a twenty day session; nothing else need be considered. Will he have the backbone?—Chaska Herald.

If Mayo Bros. could substitute a genuine spinal column in lieu of the cotton string now on duty the governor would have the backbone for numerous gubernatorial duties he has left undone.

Not Enough Work.

Northfield News: Senator Elwell of late legislature says, "For heaven's sake let's not have an extra session. We've had enough." Enough of that which could better have been dispensed with and not enough of that which would have truly benefited.

Herald's Canvass Assured That.

Madison Western Guard: If there was any assurance that the legislature would enact more stringent railroad taxation laws, then an extra session would be all right, but there is no such assurance. An extra session would cost the state a big bunch of money and might accomplish no good.

A Change of Opinion.

Hawley Herald: In its demand for a special session of the legislature to increase the gross earnings tax on the railroads The Duluth Herald states that it has secured enough votes to pass the measure both in the senate and the house. The bill to increase the gross earnings tax was introduced in the legislature last winter and was defeated, but the action of the railroads in raising the fare from 2 cents to 3 cents a mile and the increase in freight rates has evidently brought about a change of opinion in our legislators.

It Will Be Available.

Elk River Star-News: The Duluth Herald claims to have a majority of both houses of the legislature pledged in favor of an increase of the gross earnings tax, but not a majority in favor of an extra session. The list will be mighty handy when it comes to taking a vote on the matter.

Collect the Taxes.

St. Cloud Journal-Press: The Duluth Herald wants to know who pays the railroad taxes. The answer is easy. The people pay the railroad taxes, just as the people pay everything that is paid. But incidentally, if the railroads were not obliged to turn over to the state treasury the taxes the people have paid to the railroads the people would have to pay additional taxes, and the railroads would pocket the taxes they have collected from the people. Likewise the people have paid the railroads more than the 4 per cent gross earnings tax, and the legislature should see that these taxes are collected from the railroads. The people pay, all right, but they do not always collect what is coming to them.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

New York Press: Good intentions are terribly slow beginners.

A man might just as well be in love with a girl as try to convince her he isn't.

You can tell a man with a family of children by how nervous he gets when he drops a coin on the floor even in his office.

One thing a woman can never forgive in her husband is to forget the color of her hat the day they started on their honeymoon.

Just what you really think of a man who imagines you admire him wouldn't surprise him any more than what he really thinks of you would surprise you.

Pointed Paragraphs.

Chicago News: A handicap often comes in handy as an excuse.

Wise is the man who knows just when not to laugh.

Many a man goes broke in trying to break the speed record.

Some things that come to those who wait are badly moth eaten.

It sometimes happens that when a man loses his reputation he is lucky.

The man who makes history must be trying to encourage book agents.

The girl who can't cook should keep out of the matrimonial frying pan.

Agitators for Socialism.

Chicago Daily Socialist: A certain rich young woman is on her way to Paris for the sole purpose of buying half a dozen green silk stockings to match the particular color of her gown. The idle rich are continually doing frivolous things to prove that the capitalist class is unnecessary to the welfare of the workers. Such young women, along with monkey dinners, are great agitators for socialism.

Her Substitute.

Kansas City Times: A colored woman went to the pastor of her church the other day to complain of the conduct of her husband, who, she said, was a low-down, worthless, trifling nigger. After listening to a long recital of the delinquencies of her neglectful spouse and her efforts to correct them, the minister said: "Have you ever tried heaping coals of fire upon his head?"

"No," was the reply, "but I done tried hot water."

A MOMENT WITH THE WITS.

New York Tribune: Patrick worked for a notoriously stingy boss and lost no chance to let the fact be known. Once a waggish friend, wishing to twit Pat, remarked:

"Pat, I hear your boss just gave you a brand new suit of clothes."

"No," said Pat, "only a par-rt of a suit."

"What part?"

"The sleeves iv the vest!"

Columbian: "I suppose you find that a baby brightens up the house," said the bachelor to a friend who was showing off the first baby.

"Yes," was the semi-sad reply, "we burn twice the gas we used to."

Boston Traveler: He (rejected)—Then you regard me merely as a summer lover, a convenient escort to excursions and picnics?

She—That's about the case, George. I have looked upon you as a lover in the picnickian sense only.

Exchange: Gibbs— What an aggravating habit Jones has of answering a question by asking another.

Dibbs—Yes, I've noticed that. Last night I asked him if he'd loan me $5 and he replied by asking me if I took him for a darned fool.

London Opinion: Customer—Look here, waiter, is that the stuff you've got the cheek to call oxtail soup?

Waiter—That's it, sir.

Customer—Well, you'd better take it out and let the ox dip his tail in it two or three times more.

Puck: A man having fallen into the water was suddenly given considerable concern by his past life flashing upon him in a series of pictures.

"Bless me, I must have sunk for the third time!" he exclaimed. The gift of ready conjecture is often of great service in an emergency.

Lustige Blaetter: Lodger (to his landlady in the country)—I am bound to confess that after the glowing description you gave me of the neighborhood and the view, I find it rather different from what I expected.

Landlady—Well, you're different from what I expected, too.

Quite Natural.

Life: "Governments may still incline to misunderstandings," said Mr. John Hays Hammond in London the other day, "but the great producing classes, who have built up the industries of the nation and are their bone and sinew, are in favor of peace."

As the producing classes are the ones who get shot, they cannot, of course, afford to indulge their little misunderstandings as governments can.

Special Demonstration of the Famous Monarch Malleable Range This Week.

THIS WEEK we are having a practical demonstration of Monarch Malleable Ranges. There are at present in use at the Head of the Lakes at the lowest calculation five hundred and fifty Malleable Iron Ranges, and every one of them is giving perfect satisfaction, and we are only too willing to prove the above assertion. There are more good practical labor saving features on a Monarch than on any other type of range. We want you to come in so that we can show why it is to your advantage to have a Monarch Malleable in preference to all others. The saving in fuel alone will pay for a Malleable Range in a short time.

Terms—$1.00 Per Week

Monarch MALLEABLE

The "Stay Satisfactory" Range

There is no economy in continuing to use a "Gray Iron and Steel" Range, though it is only a few years old and can be made to "do" for a few years more. Every year it wastes enough fuel to pay a large part of a "Monarch's" cost. The great difference between the fuel requirements of a Monarch and the ordinary steel range is to be accounted for entirely by the difference in construction. The Monarch is made of polished steel and malleable iron, a tough, unbreakable material.

FREE!

With every Monarch Malleable Range sold during this demonstration we will give away the following first quality cooking utensils: 1 Enameled Tea Kettle, 1 Enameled Tea Pot, 1 Enameled Coffee Pot, 1 Cast Fry Pan, 1 Steel Spider, 1 Roaster, 1 Large Enameled Stew Kettle, 1 Enameled Rice Boiler, 1 Enameled Muffin Pan, 2 Enameled Sauce Pans, 2 Enameled Pie Tins, 2 Enameled Cake Tins, 2 Enameled Loaf Pans, 1 Cake Griddle, 1 Cast Kettle, 2 Enameled Drip Pans.

Sale of Bedding

Don't put off buying your bedding until later as our stock is now at its best. Note the special values being offered for this week:

Your Credit Is Good

Be Sure It's a Stewart

Don't try to worry through the coming winter with a poor heater and its leaky joints, poor grates and lack of radiating surface. You'll never be satisfied until you get a—

Stewart Base Burner

There are more Stewart Stoves in use at the Head of the Lakes than all other makes put together. They have been in constant use for the past 28 years. A Stewart Heater has more radiating surface and will burn less fuel than any other heater made.

We take your old stove as part payment on a Stewart and the terms are as low as $1 per week.

We have Stewart Base Burners as low as $25.

COUNTY FAIR AT BARNUM

Big Carlton County Show Will Be Open to Public Wednesday.

Agricultural and Dairy Exhibition Will Be Bigger Than Ever.

When the Carlton county fair opens tomorrow at Barnum, Minn., many Duluth people will be in attendance.

Arrangements have been made for special trains for Duluth, leaving Barnum at 6 and 7 p. m. Duluth people will go down on the regular train in the morning. The specials were arranged for that they might come back the same day.

More interest than ever has been taken this year by the farmers of Carlton county and each district is doing its best to have the most attractive exhibit.

The fair will continue three days, Sept. 13, 14 and 15. H. R. Patterson is president of the Carlton County Fair association and Thomas Spencer is secretary.

Large prizes are offered for the best exhibits in the different lines and horse-racing and other sporting events will furnish good entertainment. The Carlton Fair association has made a name for itself in the matter of events of this kind and some of the most famous horses in the country have been seen on the Carlton track. This year especial care has been taken in framing the events.

The premium list this year is bigger than ever. The amounts are larger and there are more classes. There is more room than ever before for the exhibition of livestock. As the farmers have, during the last few years, taken to dairying, this department is probably as interesting as any to them. In the matter of fine cattle there is keen rivalry and as many fine herds of cows are now owned and bred in Carlton county, the judges will have a hard job to decide the winners in the several classes.

The spirit of rivalry has also struck the women for in the matter of breadmaking, the arranging of exhibits, and other parts of the fair under their direction, the women have been planning and working for weeks.

On the executive committee there are a large number of ex-Duluth men who are now farming in Carlton county. The executive committee follows:

Atkinson—J. Atkinson, C. B. Oswell, G. Anderson. Skelton—W. W. Beck, Jesse Doan, G. Mesenbring. Holyoke—A. C. Wilcutts, R. Jones, A. C. McKusky. Mahtowa—O. M. Scott, A. Bentfield, Charles Johnson, Twin Lakes—Ed. Watson, H. Baldwin, F. A. Watkins. Spit Rock—Steve Tomczak, H. Patrick, F. Anderson. Knife Falls—O. Anderson, F. D. Vibert, William Kelly, Blackhoof—C. P. Munter, George Mathews, S. Naslund. Eagle—G. H. Merwin, E. Johnson. Red Clover—C. Morse, J. Wright, Ed. Walker. Lake View—L. Roderick, Thomas Trepenem D. Anderson. Wrenshall—F. B. McLaren, T. M. Ferguson, F. Habbegger. Kalavala—John Peters, Jake Mann, Charles Johnson. Thompson—Charles Mark, A. Eskio, E. E. Fisher.

HEAT-DANGERS FOR CHILDREN

The little folks do not stand the heat as well as their elders, and special care should be taken to keep them in good physical condition. One of the things to be especially watchful of is the condition of the bowels, which presents many dangers hardly dreamed of by parents. When the child shows a tendency to constipation, if it loses appetite, complains of headache, itch or fails to sleep well and awake refreshed, the mother may be certain that the child needs a tonic-laxative with ingredients such as are contained in Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, of which most mothers have heard and which thousands of mothers are using for themselves and their children. Indigestion is one of the worst troubles of child-life in the summer time, and it manifests itself in many different ways. Whatever the cause and whatever the manifestation the mother may be sure of removing the trouble with a few doses of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which should always be kept in the house for emergency. It is sold in two sizes, 50 cents and $1.00, and can be obtained of any druggist. Those who have never used it and wish to make a test of it before buying, can obtain a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE by addressing

EXPLOSION OF MOLASSES TANK

Floods New Orleans Streets With Stream Fifteen Inches Deep.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 12.—A flood of molasses swept down several streets leading from a storage warehouse where a large tank containing about 1,000,000 gallons burst with a tremendous report here yesterday. A stream fifteen inches deep made its way down Market street for nearly a mile.

The explosion brought crowds to the scene, and thrifty residents secured a year's supply by merely scooping up the syrup with buckets. The explosion was caused by a wall supporting five similar tanks crumbling beneath the tremendous weight. The flow of the molasses was so swift that two boilers, weighing fifteen tons and near the warehouse, were swept from their foundations and carried across the street. The loss is estimated at $50,000.

OPTIONS ON LANDS.

Being Secured in Morrison County By Mexican Company.

Little Falls, Minn., Sept. 12.—A representative of a Mexican company has been in Morrison securing options on iron ore lands. These options have been secured on the royalty basis to the owner if ore was found. The land on which the options were taken is in the town of Parker about sixteen miles northwest of Little Falls. The company agreed to have drills at work within sixty days, but said they would probably start drilling in twenty days. A drill has also been put on land in Rail Prairie.

Over twenty drills are now at work in Morrison.

STILL FIGHTS WOMAN MAYOR

Hunnewell Council Rejects All Names Submitted for Offices.

Hunnewell, Kan., Sept. 12.—"We don't want any more women in office," declared the city council of Hunnewell last night, and ajourned after rejecting the names of the mayor's appointees for city clerk and city treasurer and to fill the vacancies in the council.

Mrs. Ella Wilson, the mayor, determined to get the government of Hunnewell in working order, sent in the names of three women for city clerk. The council rejected each of them. The mayor then sent in the names of two women for treasurer. Each in its turn was rejected. Then the mayor tried to fill the vacancy with two masculine sympathizers, but the council would not have it, and adjourned.

"I guess I'll have to call in the state officials yet," said Mrs. Wilson after the meeting. "The councilmen were actually rude tonight. They won't be, however, after the state officials get after them. Then they'll be glad to hold down their jobs as councilmen and submit to the wishes of the mayor."

How to "Shed" A Bad Complexion

It's foolish to attempt to cover up or hide a sallow complexion, when you can so easily remove the sallowness, or the complexion itself. Rouge and the like on a brownish skin, only emphasize the defect. The better way is to apply pure mercolized wax—the same as you would cold cream—putting it on at night, removing it in the morning with warm water and soap, following with a dash of cold water. The effect of a few applications is simply marvelous. The half-dead cuticle is absorbed by the wax—painlessly, gradually, in tiny imperceptible particles—revealing the beautiful velvety white new skin beneath.

No woman need have a sallow blotchy, pimply or freckled complexion if she'll just go to the druggist's, get some good mercolized wax and use as suggested—Woman's Realm.

ETNA'S ERUPTION SCARES PEOPLE

Country Covered With Ashes and Shocks Grow in Violence.

Catania, Sicily, Sept. 12.—The eruption of Mount Etna has become more intense. The showers of ashes and cinders are heavier and the rumbling of earth shocks at short intervals is heard for miles. The shocks are growing in violence and a panic prevails. The fear of the people is augmented by the great heat. All the country round about is covered with ashes.

It is reported that three new craters have opened, but so far it has been impossible to ascertain whether they are emitting lava, because of their high situation and the thick smoke that lies over them. People of the villages on the slopes of Mount Etna have abandoned their homes. Several houses have been damaged by the earthquakes, and hundreds of men, women and children, who are without shelter, go about from place to place carrying pictures of the saints, crying and imploring for mercy.

At Giarre, sixteen miles from Catania, the patients were carried out of a hospital by nurses, who feared the building would collapse.

Formerly a Weaver.

Fall River, Mass., Sept. 12.—The Rev. Joseph Lambert, who married John Jacob Astor and Miss Madeline Force, formerly was a weaver in the Wampanoag cotton mills here. Mr. Lambert was a worker in the Christian church before his conversion to Congregationalism.

WAR GAME NOT FULLY LEARNED

German Army Maneuvers Show Inefficiency of the Officers.

New Brandenburg, Mecklenburg-Strelitz, Sept. 12.—Yesterday's operations in the German army maneuvers, in which 110,000 men are taking part, were occupied in the energetic efforts of two invading armies to capture the advance division of the army defending Berlin, before Field Marshal Baron Von Der Goltz can bring his main force by forced marches into the field. The invaders are commanded by Prince Friederich Leopold. Emperor William and a staff of distinguished generals are acting as umpires.

The defenders for a time completely deceived the scouts, on foot and in aeroplanes, by dummy lines of stones representing men, but the trick later was discovered and the advance vigorously pressed.

The operations showed that not even the German officers have fully learned the war game, cavalry and infantry regiments marching in close columns within easy range of concealed batteries.

Both armies used air scouts extensively. The dirigibles and aeroplanes, which explored every inch of territory, interested thousands of spectators even more than did the presence of Emperor William and his suite. Of the foreign officers who are guests of the emperor, the Americans easily were the most business-like in their serviceable khaki uniforms. The other officers wore parade uniforms.

The invaders were storming one position after another with the main army of the defenders still miles away.

LAWYERS' COMMITTEE IN PASSENGER RATE CASE.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 11.—The committee formed of lawyers from Iowa, South Dakota, Kansas, Oklahoma and Nebraska, who will present briefs to the supreme court of the United States in the Minnesota 2-cent passenger rate case, has been completed.

President Winnett of the Nebraska committee has appointed P. W. Dougherty, the attorney of the South Dakota commission, to represent that state. The committee will meet in Omaha Friday to prepare a preliminary draft.

NO MORE DANDRUFF, FALLING HAIR OR AN ITCHING SCALP

Your hair appears soft, lustrous, fluffy and abundant after using a little Danderine.

What causes Dandruff, itchy scalp and falling hair? Who cares—so long as Danderine overcomes this—and it does, and quickly, too—it does more, it grows hair and we can prove it.

Try as you will, after an application of Danderine, you cannot find a single trace of dandruff or a loose or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most, will be after a few weeks' use, when you will actually see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—sprouting all over the scalp.

A little Danderine now will immediately double the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy. Just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is immediate and amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy and have an appearance of abundance; and incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove to yourself tonight—now—that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine.

SHORTAGE IN BEET CROP

That Is Cause of Sudden Rise in Price of Sugar.

Duluth Buyer Says Refiners Cannot Supply the Demand.

"During the last week there has been more excitement over the rise in the price of sugar," said R. H. Redman, secretary and buyer of the Wright-Clarkson Mercantile company of Duluth, today, "than there has been at any time since the present upturn in the price began.

"Much injustice has been done by some newspapers to the sugar refiners in an effort to get a crack at the trusts. Sugar, like any other legitimate commodity of commerce, follows the law of supply and demand. The distributers have had nothing to do with putting up the cost. Austria and Germany are countries which grow immense quantities of sugar beets. These countries have suffered from a severe drouth all summer, with the result that the beet crop has not matured either in volume of beet or in percentage of sugar content. There is an actual shortage of about 1,500,000 tons of beet sugar.

"Such a shortage as this affects every country in the world. The New York refineries, which at this time of the year are usually turning out about 50,000 tons of sugar every week, have found themselves unable to buy enough raw sugar to keep their refineries going to their full capacity, or to supply the demand, which at this season of the year is at its height. Last week the great refineries of New York and Brooklyn were 20,000 tons behind their usual melting capacity. This fact ought to justify entirely the statement that the rule of supply and demand governs the situation. Every distributer of raw sugar from New York to the Missouri river is having great difficulty in getting enough sugar to take care of the business. The demand will probably ease up by the first of October, but raw sugar will become scarcer, and prices will probably not decline beyond the ordinary fluctuations between the present time and Nov. 1 or perhaps even Dec. 1."

WEST END

PAVING PLANS ARE CONSIDERED

Petition May Be Circulated for Improvement of Twenty-Second Avenue.

The grading of Twenty-second avenue west between Superior and Ninth streets is one of the proposed improvements which West end people are considering. A petition may be circulated among the property owners on this thoroughfare asking that the initial steps be taken.

During the past year, a number of houses have been built on this avenue and the feeling among the property owners is that the street should be improved. Twenty-third avenue also connects with the Hermantown road and would be a more direct route to the business section than is Piedmont avenue.

The paving of West Third street is also receiving its share of attention and it is understood that the West End Commercial club will take the matter up at its next meeting, Sept. 22.

EPISCOPAL GUILD TO HOLD BAZAAR.

Members of the Rebekah Guilt of St. Peter's Episcopal church, Twenty-eighth avenue west and First street, are making preparations for their fall bazar, which will be held in the guild room of the church, Thursday and Friday evenings, Sept. 28 and 29.

The St. Luke's guild will meet Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. C. Burton of 2127 West Third street. As this is the first meeting of the season, all members are expected to be present.

The Rebekah guild will be entertained tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. John Wallin, 2322 West Sixth street.

FUNERAL OF BOY KILLED BY STREET CAR.

The funeral of Alfred Lindgren, the 14-year-old boy who was accidentally killed by a street car Sunday, will be held Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home of his sister, Mrs. Charles Peterson, 623 North Twenty-third avenue west. Interment will be in Lutheran cemetery and Rev. Carl G. Olson will officiate. The boy formerly lived in the West end, and his parents recently moved to a farm on the Maple Grove road.

Mrs. J. Johnson and Mrs. J. Asplund of 2717 West Third street returned today from a week's visit to St. Paul and Minneapolis.

The Luther League of Bethany Swedish Lutheran church will hold a business and social session at the church, Twenty-third avenue west and Third street, this evening.

Mrs. L. A. Simonson has gone to Washburn, Wis., on a visit with friends and relatives.

Mrs. F. C. Bahr of 2127 West First street and son Fred have returned from a visit to the state fair.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Anderson and daughter Agnes of West Fifth street returned today from a visit with relatives at Fairbault, Minn.

NORTHERN PACIFIC WILL COMPLETE SANGER LINE.

Mandan, N. D., Sept. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Announcement has been made by the Northern Pacific railroad that it will complete the north branch of that road to Sanger this fall, and instructions with that end in view have already been given. Sanger is twenty-six miles north of Mandan and a regular service will be established to that point for the accommodation of the shippers in the district affected, and the railroad's action is the direct result of the efforts of the Mandan and other commercial clubs in the district.

TOWNS HAVE RECOVERED

Baudette and Spooner Are Again Substantial and Prosperous.

W. A. McGonagle and Major Eva Surprised By Developments.

W. A. McGonagle and H. V. Eva, members of the State Red Cross Relief committee for the border district, returned this morning from Baudette and Spooner. They spent yesterday attending to some details in connection with the relief work completed there last spring, and looking around to note the recovery from the desolation to which the two cities and the surrounding country were reduced by the forest fires last October.

Mr. McGonagle and Maj. Eva both expressed surprise and delight over the manner in which the people of the border country have overcome obstacles and brought order and prosperity from chaos and destitution in the short space of eleven months. They say that the visitor to the border country now would never dream that only last winter the country was a burned-over waste and the stricken people were receiving aid in order that they might make a new start.

A fair is being held at Baudette this week and yesterday was the opening day. The two Duluth men saw fodder corn eight to twelve feet high, oats, potatoes, all sorts of garden truck, well developed and in good quantities. The display was the more wonderful when it is considered that the distribution of seed in some parts of the burned-over district was late and there was some doubt as to whether the late-sown crops would be successful.

Visitors Surprised.

"I was surprised and delighted by the developments at Spooner and Baudette and in the surrounding country," said Maj. Eva this morning. "The tar paper shacks that were erected by the relief committee have become parts of substantial houses. Additions were made, and the whole completed so that the temporary shelters that we provided are now the kitchens of houses that are in most cases better than those that stood on the sites when the flames swept down on the towns last fall.

"Mr. McGongale and I made a short trip out into the country to see how the land fared in the hands of the settlers. We found that the burned over waste has been transformed by cultivation and wild growth. There is a profusion of clover, timothy and grasses growing wild over the ground that was burned over. The settlers have turned in to make up for the crops that were burned last year and in many cases, increased acreage and greater production have entirely made up for the heavy losses.

"One who didn't know the story of the fire and the desolation that followed it would never realize that Spooner and Baudette had been laid low less than a year ago. The manner in which the two towns have been rebuilt is wonderful. It shows a spirit of civic pride and a determination that cannot be commended too highly."

The people of Baudette did not falter when their earthly possessions were wiped out by flames. Amid the ruins of their homes, their business places, their schools and other public buildings, they laid the plans for the new city that has arisen from the ashes in such a short space of time. Material relief was necessary to tide the people over the first period of destitution, but the moral courage to recover and go on was already existent and the results of it are now evident.

The work of the relief committee was completed early last spring. As soon as the people gained a start, they were able to go ahead without outside aid and now the towns are more substantial and more prosperous in many ways than they were before the fire.

PTOMAINE POISONING FROM EATING CHICKENS.

Chicago, Sept. 12.—Sixty or more men, women and children are reported recovering from ptomaine poisoning from eating cold storage chickens at a wedding feast on the South side.

Health Commissioner Young, in making the story public, said that the chickens were sold by a reputable dealer who was unaware of their condition and that for that reason there would be no prosecution.

Flashlight Explodes Prematurely.

Leeds, N. GRAY HAIR MAKES YOU LOOK OLD

A Simple Remedy Brings Back the Natural Color---Dandruff Quickly Removed.

How often one hears the expression "She is gray and beginning to look old." It is true that gray hair usually denotes age and is always associated with age. You never hear one referred to as having gray hair and looking young.

The hair is generally the index of age. If your hair is gray, you can't blame your friends for referring to you as looking old. You can't retain a youthful appearance if you allow your hair to grow gray. Many persons of middle age jeopardize their future simply by allowing the gray hair to become manifest. If your hair has become faded or gray, try Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, a preparation which a chemist by the name of Wyeth devised a few years ago. It is simple, inexpensive and practical, and will banish the gray hairs in a few days. It is also guaranteed to remove dandruff and promote the growth of the hair.

It is a pleasant dressing for the hair, and after using it a few days itching and dryness of the scalp entirely disappear.

Don't neglect your hair. Start using Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur today, and you will be surprised at the quick results.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

CITY OFFICIALS AND CONTRACTOR EXONERATED OF BRIBERY CHARGES

Committee Finds No Undue Influence on Part of McDonnell.

Steele's Statement Regarding His Loss of Standing Unsupported.

Many Changes Recommended in System of Handling Contracts.

The report of the council committee which investigated the "paving scandal" did not produce anything startling when it was submitted to the city council last evening.

The committee exonerated all city officials of being subject to undue influence, or bribery.

It found that outside of the accusations of Contractors Steele and Osman, no complaints were made to the committee.

Contractor P. McDonnell was not found to have offered bribes to other contractors to refrain from bidding on paving contracts nor did the committee find that the statements that he had not fulfilled the specifications of his contracts to have been sustained. The committee stated that it thinks that Mr. McDonnell himself is largely responsible for the feeling which seems to be common among a great many people that his relations are too close with city officials and employes.

The committee went into the several paving jobs which were complained of at considerable length, but in none of them did it find grounds for any severe criticism. Recommendations were made for more accurate estimates of public improvements; for a system of bookkeeping in the office of the city engineer, for better inspection of city work; for more help, if necessary in the office of the engineer and for a heavy reduction of unnecessary estimates in the office of the engineer.

The report says in part:

"Outside of the charges made in the letters of Mr. Steele and Mr. Osman and their allegations on the stand, no complaints or accusations of any kind were made to the committee or its chairman or attorney, with the exception of one letter written by Mr. Steele to the committee, but not produced until the last day of the hearing, and then read by Mr. Steele on the witness stand, and entered into the record, which letter was chiefly a reiteration of his former charges, and when of such a reiteration simply called attention to overruns in certain estimates on works, some of them very old, but without any statement of anything wrong or explanation of how this occurred, and neither Mr. Steele nor Mr. Osman or anybody else assisted, or offered to assist, the committee in producing any evidence as to any irregularities or any other matters coming within the scope of the resolution.

"The inquiry naturally divides itself into four heads.

"First: The honesty and integrity of city officials or employes, with reference to the award and performance of contracts for public improvements;

"Second: Collusion among contractors, bidding for and performing works of public improvements;

"Third: Unfairness or favoritism in the award or performance of contracts;

"Fourth: Incompetency or inefficiency in the award or performance of contracts for public improvements.

"There was absolutely no evidence introduced, and no specific charge made of any case of dishonesty or corruption or want of integrity in any official or employe of the city in regard to any of the matters named in the council's resolution, and every witness on the stand, interrogated on the point, including Mr. Steele and Mr. Osman, expressly denied any knowledge of any such offense.

"There was a good deal of loose talk by Mr. Osman, especially as to Mr. McDonnell jollying city officials and employes, and as to his opinion that some of the aldermen thought they owed him something for help in elections, but absolutely nothing definite was testified to.

Charge Disproven.

"Mr. Steele's charge in his letter, subsequently practically withdrawn in his examination, that the city attorney, Mr. Fesler was McDonnell's attorney, was absolutely disproved, it being shown conclusively that the only matters Mr. Fesler ever had in charge for Mr. McDonnell were a certain suit in the federal court in North Dakota, regarding an alleged infringement of the Warren Bros.' patent pavement, which Mr. Fesler was requested to conduct, on account of his familiarity with such matters, and one simple matter of examining certain papers, but that both of these transactions occurred between Mr. Fesler's first and last terms as city attorney, and were completed and paid for some time before his last term in office.

"We think that Mr. McDonnell himself is largely responsible for the feeling which seems to be common among a great many people, that his relations are too close with city officials and employes. This, we think is shown by his own evidence.

"It was alleged by Mr. Steele in his first letter to the council, of July 24, and in a subsequent interview in The Herald of July 26, 1911, that P. McDonnell offered him $1,000 not to bid upon the contract for the improvement of Fourth street from Mesaba avenue to Sixth avenue east. This allegation Mr. Steele swore to in his testimony at the public hearing before the committee. Mr. McDonnell denied the allegation. Mr. Steele's testimony was, however, very much strengthened by the testimony of Mr. Osman, an unwilling witness, who only testified on this point when given the option of testifying or appearing before one of the judges of the district court, that Mr. McDonnell not only offered, but promised to pay him $1,000 for refraining from bidding upon the second call for bids for the same contract. Additional weight is also added to this testimony of Mr. Osman by the uncontradicted evidence of himself and others that at the hearing before the council on the second call for bids he urged the council to give the contract to Mr. McDonnell, although he claimed to be the lowest bidder on the first call for bids, and was a property owner upon Fourth street, who would have to help pay the assessment, and although Mr. McDonnell's second bid was several thousand dollars higher than his first. Mr. Osman also testified that the reason Mr. McDonnell gave for not paying him the $1,000 that he promised was, that his second bid not having been accepted, and he having to bid much lower on the third call, there was not enough money in the contract to enable him to pay Mr. Osman anything. This testimony of Mr. Osman was also denied by Mr. McDonnell.

"The only allegation of unfairness in letting of contracts were those made by Mr. Osman that he was not awarded the Fourth street contract above referred to, although he was the lowest bidder, and those made by Mr. Steele that he had been published as a defaulter and had been refused contracts on that ground, and that P. McDonnell was always favored in contracts, both as to being awarded contracts and as to the allowance of overruns and extras in the performance of them."

Fourth Street Job.

The committee report then takes up an exhaustive statement of the Fourth street and West Superior street paving jobs. It finds that Mr. McDonnell was not shown any favoritism on the Fourth street job and that the board was justified in following the procedure which it did. Relative to the West Superior street work the committee studied the facts in the case and gave the opinion that it is a legal question to be settled by the courts. The report also fails to find that McDonnell did not live up to the specifications for the paving of East Superior street. The committee found that one member of the board of public works had been responsible for causing its repair, although no official action had been taken by the board directing that the work should be done. It was shown that Steele received a number of contracts, but that as far as the figures of McDonnell went, he had received overruns on his work as well as McDonnell. The committee took the stand that Steele had been turned down on the paving of Second alley although he was the lowest bidder, but that the contract for the grading and graveling of West Fifth street had been let to C. R. McLean because he was the lowest bidder for the kind of work desired by the majority of the property owners.

The committee states that it is evident that D. A. Reed, former division engineer of the Soo road, gained the impression from a number of city officials that they had had some trouble with Steele and that they would prefer to have some other contractor lay the sandstone paving on West Michigan street between Eighth and Twelfth avenues west. The committee says that it does not believe that any of the officials should have discriminated against Mr. Steele on the grounds that he was a defaulter on the West Superior street paving.

The $1,000 Offer.

The report asserts emphatically that it considers the allegation of Mr. Steele that had he accepted $1,000 from Mr. McDonnell not to bid on the Fourth street paving job he would still be in good standing with the city, to be entirely without proof or foundation of any kind.

Speaking of the substitution of sandstone for granite curb on the Lake avenue job the committee says that although there was a considerable difference in the price of the two, no blame for the change can be attached to the engineer or city officials as the matter was thoroughly thrashed out by the council. The committee also finds that no special blame attaches to the engineer's department for the overruns on Jefferson street or Garfield avenue. In the former case it states that no other contractor would have done the work for less and that in the latter case no money was lost by removing the old sandstone blocks at the price paid for earth excavation. Nor had the committee any serious fault to find with the West Duluth reservoir.

Unnecessary Work.

Thence the report goes on to speak of the unnecessarily large amount of work which has to be done by the engineering department, and goes on to say:

"We are convinced that a good deal of this estimating is unnecessary, there being in many cases, no real intention or prospect of carrying out many of the estimated improvements within a reasonable time. We would suggest that the council make a rule that no estimate be called for until the matter had been referred to the committee on streets, alleys and sidewalks, and allowed to lie over for one week. This would tend to prevent hasty action on such matters. We also think that one of the weak spots in the system is the inspection of improvements. There seems to be more possibility of loss here and less possibility of locating and detecting it than at any other point. We think estimates of quantities and work should be as accurate as possible, not 'sketchy' as described by the city engineer, in justice to both contractors and property owners. An inaccurate estimate is conducive to ill-balanced bids, the contractors bidding high on classes of work which they think will exceed the engineer's estimate. And there is no doubt that honest, competent inspection is absolutely essential to secure to the property owner value received for the money which often he can ill afford to pay. There seems to be a widespread suspicion among all classes of taxpayers in the city that the contractors are not made to live up to their contracts.

"If the city engineer has not enough help it should be given him. If necessary, there should be one qualified assistant engineer for office work and one for field work. The oversight of all matters being the duty of the city engineer, it is impossible for him to attend to the details.

"The property owners are charged in their assessments with the 'necessary expenses of making survey, plans, specifications and superintendence.' This amounts, we understand, to about 3 per cent of the cost of improvements for which assessments are made. Assessments for all purposes made during 1910 amounted to $256,913.12. The city attorney's office has given its written opinion that these engineering and inspection expenses when collected, should be turned over to the city engineer's office, but this has never been done. Instead, they have been turned over into the permanent improvement revolving fund. This fund is liable to gradual depletion from two causes.

"(1st.) From having to pay the expenses of levying assessments, advertising, etc., which, under the charter, cannot be charged up to the property owner and assessed; and (2nd) from failure to pay assessments by property owners and rebates of such assessments by the council.

"As to the first, we think it would be entirely reasonable to pay the assessment expenses out of the general fund. There seems no good reason that the revolving fund should stand this expense.

"As to the second cause, we think rebates of assessments should be granted very sparingly. We would recommend that the council pass a rule that no rebates of assessments be granted until the matter is referred to the committee on streets, alleys and sidewalks, and allowed to lie over one week.

No Bookkeeping.

"We would also call attention to the difficulty of finding the actual facts about any improvement from the city engineer's office, owing to the lack of any system of bookkeeping. Space is limited, and vault room entirely inadequate and the only system of keeping track of the details of a contract is by inspectors, and engineers, and a copy book of letters written and estimates made in connection with them.

"We think the city engineer should have a bookkeeper who should keep a complete account with each contract, expenses incurred, time devoted to it, and everything done in relation to it.

"If the engineer had an elastic fund his expenses could keep pace with his work, and we feel the property owner who has to pay the bills would not grudge the slight increase in his assessment, if he felt sure he were getting what he paid for.

"We do not think that civil service examinations can be held to blame for failure to get good inspectors. No system of examinations will assure competent men, but general experience seems to point to a conclusion that it will secure at least as good a class of employes as personal favoritism or pull. The civil service rules provide for a probationary period of six months and if the man who has passed the examination cannot make good, he can be dropped any time and a new one tried. In case of persons entering the service by influence or pull, it is not so easy to remove them, if they do not make good. Persons able to take higher examinations than those given will not compete when the salary is so inadequate and the term of office so short. In addition to the examination, each applicant has to furnish recommendations signed by at least five business men, who have kown him at least one year.

"We think that it would be a good plan for the council to classify the streets of the city as to traffic, grade, location, etc., and provide that streets of a certain class should only be paved with certain materials. It might also be as well to standardize the width of streets in different localities of the city. It might be necessary to obtain the services of a consulting engineer in laying out this work, but we think it would be money well spent. The final authority to determine the nature of an improvement is lodged by the city charter in the common council and they should not evade the responsibility. Only 25 per cent of property owners and property are necessary to petition for improvements and it is often only a small number of this minority who insist on one kind of pavement. This is often not the result of a wise choice taking into consideration the factors that should enter into its consideration, but of other considerations personal to the parties themselves.

"Increased interest in civic affairs, and a desire to understand how the city administration is carried on, are among the most hopeful signs of the times.

"We believe that the city council and city officials and employes should welcome this as one of the most powerful aids they can have in the performance of their duties and it is a mistake to resent reasonable criticism and a demand to know the why and wherefore of city business. Influences of various kinds are plentiful to cause them to swerve from te straight line. The injury to the city's interest may be very small in the individual case but very large and very harmful in the aggregate. With a strong and enlightened public opinion to back it a city administration can hew to the line in a way that would be impossible without it.

"We think every opportunity was given all those who knew of any cause for complaint to appear and make or prove any charges, not only of corruption but of inefficiency on the part of city officials and employes. Mistakes will be made, especially where as in the case of the city of Duluth responsibilities are divided and the amount of work done is so large, but the people of Duluth and its administration are to be congratulated that after the fullest opportunity no charge was ever made of any corrupt action or lack of integrity on the part of any city official or employe. Given honesty on the part of the servants of the public and an awakened and sustained interest in city administration on the part of the public, mistakes may be reduced to a minimum. With human nature as it is they cannot be eliminated entirely. Respectfully submitted,

Z. D. SCOTT, Chairman.

Simple Home Remedy for Wrinkled Faces

(From Fashion Monthly.)

Thousands of women are spending fortunes in their frantic efforts to remove the signs of premature age from their faces. When in this state of mind a woman will spend almost any amount of money on worthless wrinkle removers, of which there are many.

If these women only knew it, the most effective remedy imaginable is a simple, harmless face wash which can be made up at home in less than a minute. They have only to get an ounce of powdered saxolite and half a pint of witch hazel at the drug store and mix the two. Apply this daily as a refreshing lotion. The effect is almost magical. Even after the first treatment a marked improvement is noticed and the face has a smug, firm feeling that is most pleasing.

ENGINEER IS KILLED HUNTING NEAR AUSTIN.

Austin, Minn., Sept. 12.—Paul Hart, aged 23, married, an engineer on the Milwaukee road, was accidentally killed here Sunday while on a hunting trip. He was accompanied by his father and brother. The latter occupied the rear seat of an automobile with him. A gun was lying between them. This was discharged as the machine bumped over a rough place in the road. The charge struck the victim in the side of the mouth. He died instantly.

Allen Will Not Tell.

Kenosha, Wis., Sept. 12.—Nathan Allen, the Kenosha millionaire, who was indicted in New York on a charge of smuggling jewels, returned to his home here last night from a long visit at his ranch in Drummond, Mont. Mr. Allen refused to discuss the indictment.

Accidentally Shoots Grandson.

Eau Claire, Wis., Sept. 12.—While examining a new revolver he had just purchased, F. Emery, a car repairer at Altoona, accidentally discharged the weapon, the bullet striking his 5-year-old grandson, Ray Emery, entering the mouth and passing out through the neck. It is thought that the injured child will recover.

New Way to Remove Age Marks From Skin

(Modern Styles.)

By discarding powder and cosmetics and using a mayatone lotion, it is an easy matter to gradually remove wrinkles and facial blemishes and give to an aged, flabby or unlovely skin the rich embellishment of girlhood health. The lotion, which is made by dissolving an original package of mayatone in eight ounces of witch-hazel, should be applied daily.

Before using, the skin should be thoroughly cleansed of dust and grime, and then the lotion gently massaged into the face, neck and arms until the skin is dry and smooth. With the aid of this inexpensive lotion the skin is freed of pimples, blackheads and other impurities, and the skin grows firm and smooth, and takes on an exquisite texture.

Money for a New School.
A voucher for $354.83 was sent to Edward Williams, treasurer of School District No. 52 by County Supt. of Schools N. A. Young yesterday. The voucher covers the loss sustained when the district school building was burned last spring. This is the first money sent out under the new law which authorizes payment out of the appropriation for loss by fire.

A wire from Calumet, Mich., says: "A new strike of rich sulphide ore has been made by Calumet & Arizona in a cross-cut which has been run to connect the Hoatson shaft with the Oliver shaft. The cross-cut entered the Senator claim of Calumet & Arizona the latter part of August headed for the Oliver shaft and is now within about 600 feet of that shaft. This cross-cut now shows twenty feet of sulphide ore averaging 7 per cent copper. This cross-cut was planned to cut the Oliver shaft at its 1,650 foot level, which is 150 feet below the present bottom of the shaft and this strike is 350 feet below any other ore in this part of the Calumet & Arizona territory."

HOUGHTON STRANDS IN THE POE LOCK.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Sept. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Owing to low water in the Poe lock the Douglass Houghton heavily loaded with ore from Duluth, became stranded on the east side in passing down, and it was with considerable difficulty that she was finally released without calling the assistance of a second tug. The Great Lakes Towing company tug C. D. Thompson finally worked the Houghton off with the assistance of the Houghton's engines. The Lakeland passing up was temporarily held until the lock was cleared. The temporary low water is said to be due to winds.

Gentlemen:

Replying to your favor of the 17th. instant; the Coral Heater which you furnished for my home has given us entire satisfaction at a cost of about 1/3 less for fuel than I spent to heat a house of but slightly more floor space.

In this other house I had a hot-water plant which cost me five times as much as you charged me for the stove.

To anyone requiring a stove for service, I will at all times be pleased to recommend your Coral Heater.

Faithfully yours,

ARCTIC MAN SKEPTICAL

About the Discovery of New Race of Eskimos.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Not much credence is given to the report of the discovery of a new race of Eskimos by Young Stefansen of this state by Capt. Otto Sverdrup. The captain made three Artic explorations with Nansen and spent nine years in the Polar regions. He is here visiting friends for a day or two and is enthusiastic over the possibility of whaling in Alaskan waters.

MARINE

FAMOUS OLD TUG WILL LEAVE HARBOR.

The historic old tug, the J. D. McFadden, which is the second oldest tug in the Duluth harbor will be shipped to Basswood lake, where she will tow timber for Michael Ward to the Swallow & Hopkin's boom. She was formerly named the Amethyst and was built in 1869 by Willard & Mercer, at Ontonagon. The tug John H. Jeffery, Jr., formerly known as the Agate, which is still in the local harbor, was built by the same concern in 1868. Both tugs were brought to Duluth when the ship canal was first constructed.

The McFadden is owned by Capt. James Magee, in whose possession she has been for the past twenty-one years. During this time, Capt. Magee avers, he has not spent $10 for repairs, although she has been in active service nearly all the time. She is now undergoing considerable overhauling at the Grignon dry docks before being taken on a train to Basswood lake.

CONFIDENCE MEN CAUGHT IN CHICAGO

Chicago, Sept. 12.—S. A. Potter, alias George W. Post, said by federal officials to be one of the best known gold brick and green goods confidence men in the world, was arrested today by C. F. Dewoody, division superintendent of the department of justice, on a charge of operating a confidence game.

Potter and two companions for whom federal officials are searching are said to have netted $1,500,000 in the past few years by the operation of their schemes.

Potter offered a cash bond of $50,000 for his release, but it was refused by federal officials who declared that nothing less than a cash bond of $150,000 would be accepted.

A year ago it is said that Potter and Edward Starkloff forfeited a $23,000 bond in the United States court at Philadelphia.

Potter was arrested at his home on the South side, where he is said to have lived for several months.

TO AID FARMERS.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Official advice for farmers of every county to interpret scientific bulletins, to collect data as to soil conditions, superintend teaching agriculture in rural schools and suggest methods of crop rotations and diversification is a plan announced today by President Worst of the North Dakota agricultural college. After study of years on farming problems and a tour of the European countries and an investigation of their methods he believes the plan he suggests is feasible. He thinks a sufficient percentage of farmers would become interested to increase the value of North Dakota crops from $10,000,000 to $25,000,000 annually.

SPORTING NEWS OF THE DAY

LOW SCORES TO QUALIFY

Card of 160 Necessary to Get Into First Round at Rye.

Son of Vice President Sherman Leads in First Day's Play.

Rye, N. Y., Sept. 12.—Two golfing problems confronted the sixty-four survivors in the amateur championship at the start today of the second day's play.

First was the necessity of keeping close to 80 in the morning medal play round in order to be among the thirty-two to qualify for the match play round in the afternoon

Second was to show sufficiently strong match play ability to be ranked among the sixteen best players of the year who will be the only ones left in the running tonight.

The play yesterday uncovered sixty golfers who made the eighteen holes in 85 or better, while there were ten more with scores of 84, who had to play off the tie for the sixty-first, sixty-second, sixty-third and sixty-fourth places in the final round of medal play. The committee sent off these players in the tie at 8 o'clock and followed them with those whose standing was assured.

Low Scores Recorded.

There was considerable interest in the outcome of this thirty-six hole qualifying round and a special prize was offered for the best scores. The scoring yesterday in the first half of the medal play was unusually low, and with the going a trifle faster today, it was thought that the top man on the list would show a card better than 150 and that 160 would be necessary to get into the afternoon round.

Thomas M. Sherman of Utica, son of the vice president, and a stroke advantage at the start over his nearest competitors with a fine 75 chalked up on the board. Tied at 76 were H H Hilton, the British champion, W. C. Fownes, Jr., the American title holder R. A. Gardner and Chase Evans, Jr., of Chicago, and A. H. Rhett of Brooklyn. At 77 were Walter J. Travis of Garden City, twice an American and once a British champion, Frederick Herreshoff and Albert Seckel of Chicago and Princeton.

Five players came to the first tee at 78, including J. Douglas Brown of Edmore, the 1907 Irish champion, while there were four tied at 79, making eighteen who started the day with cards under 80.

REULBACH IS STRONG AND REDS ARE BLANKED.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 12.—Chicago defeated Cincinnati here yesterday in a pitchers' battle by a score of 2 to 0. Cincinnati could do nothing with Reulbach, while Fromme kept the hits fairly well scattered. Boyd, a recruit from Iowa, pitched the final inning for Cincinnati and retired Chicago on seven pitched balls. The timely hitting of Schulte and Sheckard featured. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Chicago	1	0	1
Cincinnati	0	5	0

Batteries—Reulbach and Needham; Boyd, Fromme, Clarke and McLean. Umpires—O'Day and Emslie.

BROOKLYN LOSES FIRST GAME TO PHILLIES.

Philadelphia, Sept. 12.—Brooklyn lost the opening game of the series here yesterday, 3 to 1. Both pitchers kept the hits scattered except in one inning. In the eighth Philadelphia scored the winning run on singles by Knabe, Paskert and Beck and Lobert's sacrifice hit. Brooklyn escaped a shutout in the ninth when Hummel scored on his single, Coulson's double and an out. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Brooklyn	1	8	0
Philadelphia	3	8	2

Batteries—Schardt and Erwin; Curtis and Carter. Umpires—Klem and Brennan.

HIGHLANDERS ARE EASY FOR ATHLETICS.

New York, Sept. 12.—Philadelphia decisively defeated New York yesterday. Vaughn was driven from the mound in the second inning and Quinn proved a poor substitute. He did his share of the batting however, for in the fourth he put the ball over the left field fence for a home run and made two other hits in three times at bat. Bender was effective in pinches. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Philadelphia	2	4	0
New York	1	3	3

Batteries—Bender and Thomas; Quinn, Vaughn and Blair. Umpires—Connolly and Sheridan.

"CONS" AND GRADUATION PLAY HAVOC WITH GOPHERS

Six Members of Last Year's Squad Available for Team.

Practice Will Begin on Northrop Field Wednesday, Sept. 20.

MINNESOTA'S FOOTBALL CANDIDATES.

Graduated—Lyle Johnston, half-back; John McGovern, quarter-back; Paul Young, tackle.
Left college—George Bromley, guard.
Conditions—James Walker, tackle; George Morill, guard; Robinson, guard; Frank, end; Rosenwald, back; Stevens, back; Art Erdahl, half-back; Powers, guard.
Eligible—Pickering, end; Smith, end; Knox, end; Leu Erdahl, full-back; Capron, quarter; Solem, end.

The above schedule shows some of the difficulties with which even Dr. H. L. Williams, generally considered the most fortunate coach in the conference will have to labor this fall. As will be seen conditions already have their tentative hold on eight of the most stalwart of the Gopher veterans, and graduation has taken a heavy toll this year from the 'varsity possibilities.

Williams will probably have a larger squad of eligibles to work with than is indicated in the tabulation, as no effort has been made to list the promising members of last year's scrub and freshman teams.

Practice will start on Northrop field next Wednesday, Sept. 20, which is the first date open to conference teams. The first game with Ames comes ten days later, and as is usual Williams looks with considerable anxiety on this contest owing to the short time which he has to prepare for it. With a new set of signals to evolve and drill into the men, a dozen new rules to hammer because of late condition exams, Minnesota annually tackles the Ames game with considerable trepidation, and this year is no exception.

A week after the Ames game comes the South Dakota game, also on Northrop field. This should be little more than a practice contest. Then, after a two weeks' strenuous secret practice Nebraska is on the boards, and the annual crop of injured players may be expected as well as a stiff game. Iowa comes Oct. 28, and as Minnesota should be well along at this stage of the season the game should give little trouble. Chicago at Northrop field Nov. 4 is the last of the games at home, and on Nov. 18, the Gophers will meet Wisconsin at Madison. They wind up the season with last year's conference title claimers, Illinois, at Urbana.

WALTER JOHNSON IS PUZZLE TO BOSTON.

Washington, Sept. 12.—Walter Johnson was a puzzle to Boston yesterday after the first inning and Washington won easily 7 to 1. Bushelman pitched wildly in the first inning, it being his first game with Boston. A muddy field and slippery ball explains the errors. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Washington	5	6	3
Boston	1	4	4

Batteries—Johnson and Street; Bushelman and Williams. Umpires—Perrine and Dineen.

WHITE SOX TAKE TWO FROM BROWNS.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 12.—Chicago opened its final series on the local grounds yesterday afternoon by winning both games of a double-header from St. Louis by scores of 7 to 6, and 2 to 0. In the first game the visitors came from behind and scored four runs, winning handily. Callahan injured his leg sliding into a base and retired. Darkness halted the second game in the seventh inning. Chicago hit the ball at opportune moments in the first and sixth innings. Scores:

First game—

	R.	H.	E.
Chicago	7	11	2
St. Louis	6	12	4

Batteries—Scott, Hovlik, Walsh and Block; Lake, Nelson and Clarke. Umpires—Mullin and Evans.

Second game—

	R.	H.	E.
Chicago	2	6	0
St. Louis	0	6	2

Batteries—Hovlik and Block; Hawk and Stephens. Umpires—Evans and Mullin.

HARD HITTING GAME WON BY MILLERS.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 12.—Patterson was effective in the pinches yesterday and this, coupled with sharp fielding and opportune batting by his teammates, gave Minneapolis a 7 to 3 victory over Kansas City in the final game of the series. The score:

	R.	H.	E.
Minneapolis	7	16	0
Kansas City	3	12	2

Batteries—Patterson and Owens; Maddox and O'Connor. Umpires—Ferguson and Fox.

SENATORS WIN THIRD STRAIGHT FROM TOLEDO.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 12.—Five hits following a pass to Hinchman in the third, after two were out, gave Columbus five runs and a third straight victory from Toledo. Cooper was effective after the first inning, in which Niles led off with a two-base hit. The score:

	R.	H.	E.
Toledo	1	8	3
Columbus	5	8	1

Batteries—Swan and Baskett; Cooper and Rapp. Umpires—Bierhalter and Hayes.

AMERICANS CONFIDENT

Even Break in Singles Will Defeat British Tennis Challengers.

Dixon and Beamish Defeat Bundy and Little in Doubles.

New York, Sept. 12.—One victory in the two singles matches this afternoon at the West Side Tennis club will win the international tennis tournament for America and entitle this country instead of Great Britain to send a team to Australia in December to challenge for the Davis world's trophy.

Success in the one doubles match yesterday gave the British team one point against the two already scored by the Americans in the singles last Saturday. While the possibility of an even break today was conceded, the American team was confident of winning at least one match and the series.

Today the singles players will swap opponents. William A. Larned will play Arthur J. Lowe, the Englishman, whom Maurice E. McLoughlin defeated Saturday, and McLoughlin will face Charles P. Dixon, the captain and star of the visiting players, whom Larned already has beaten. Only a reversal of form, it is believed, could bring defeat to Larned. The McLoughlin-Dixon match was the one most in doubt.

Victory for Visitors.

The defeat of the American doubles team yesterday was attributed largely to the fact that they lacked practice together. The better generalship and general superiority of the British team, however, was cheerfully conceded.

C. P. Dixon and A. E. Beamish were the members of the British Isles challenging teams, which won the doubles match—the third of the international series to select challengers for the Davis cup. They defeated T. C. Bundy of California and Raymond D. Little of New York in three straight sets—6-3, 7-5, 6-4.

DAUSS IS RELEASED TO ST. PAUL CLUB.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 12.—Three pitchers were released by the Pittsburg ball team yesterday and a new one was signed.

George Dauss, recently purchased from Winona, Minn., goes to St. Paul, and Harry Selvert and M. J. Reagan, recently purchased from the Aurora club of the Wisconsin-Illinois league, go to Kansas City. Clifford Averett, drafted from the Charleston club of the South Atlantic league, reported to the Pittsburg club headquarters and signed a contract.

Pitcher "Marty" O'Toole, who suddenly left the team in the West, because of an injury to his pitching arm, was reported recovered last night and ready to resume work.

MATT WELLS MATCHED WITH ABE ATTELL.

New York, Sept. 12.—George McDonald, manager of Matt Wells, the English lightweight champion, announced last night that he had made a match with Abe Attell, the featherweight champion. The boys will fight at the Madison Square Garden here Sept. 20, weighing in at 135 pounds at 5 o'clock that afternoon. McDonald will leave for Milwaukee to challenge the winner of the Wolgast-McFarland fight Friday.

CROWD HISSES REFEREE AT NEW ORLEANS CLUB.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 12.—Tommy Dixon of Kansas City hammered Monty Attell, former bantamweight champion, all over the ring last night at the New Orleans Athletic club and received only a draw. Jeers and hisses greeted the decision of Referee Harry Stout. Neither of the boys tipped the beam at 121 pounds.

SAYS MATCH WILL BE HELD

Promoter Mulkern Declares Sheriff's Ban Will Not Be Enforced.

Acting Governor Will Investigate—Governor McGovern Will Not Interfere.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 12.—"The boxing contest between Lightweight Champion Ad Wolgast and Packey McFarland at the auditorium in Milwaukee, Sept. 15, will be given as scheduled," says Matchmaker Frank Mulkern.

Sheriff Arnold is just as positive that the contest will not be staged.

"This does not mean," said Sheriff Arnold, "that the men will be permitted to fight and then be arrested. It means that Wolgast and McFarland will not fight in Milwaukee Friday night. We shall prevent the fight taking place."

Not a Prize Fight.

"Fighting for prizes is prohibited in Wisconsin and has always been," says Mulkern in a statement. Continuing he says: "The late Judge Brazee, in a test case brought before him to establish a working rule, held that a 10-round no-decision boxing exhibition with nothing contingent on the result, was not a violation of the law. This is what we originally proposed to give in the way of an entertainment, and we have taken the matter up with the various authorities concerned and expect no interference. The show will be given as scheduled."

Wolgast took a day off in his training yesterday as, after a short spin on the road early in the day, he tipped the beam at 127½ pounds. His manager, Tom Jones, ordered him to take things easy, so the day was spent in automobile riding.

Word was received here last night that Acting Governor Morris would be in Milwaukee today with the attorney general for a conference with the local authorities on the fight situation. On this conference rests the hope of the fight promoters of a recall of the sheriff's ban on the battle.

Governor Non-Committal.

Spring Lake, N. J., Sept. 12.—Governor Francis E. McGovern of Wisconsin declared today he would not interfere in any way with plans for preventing or permitting the proposed Wolgast-McFarland fight in Milwaukee Friday night. He was not in possession of information sufficient, he said, to enable him to act.

"I left no instructions with the mayor of Milwaukee, as has been reported," Mr. McGovern said, "and I am unable to say at long range whether the exhibition will be a boxing match or a prize fight. Under the laws of Wisconsin a boxing match is not objectionable, but prize fighting is prohibited. Practically all I know about this matter is what I have read in the newspapers and the accounts have been so conflicting that I should not wish to pass judgment on the question on these reports alone, and at long range. Therefore, I shall have to leave the question to be decided by the local authorities and Acting Governor Morris, should he see fit to investigate."

R. S. PATRICK IS NEW CHAMPION

Defeats Ward Ames in Close Game for Spring Golf Title.

R. S. Patrick defeated Ward Ames in the final match of the spring tourney at the Country club yesterday. By winning the game, Mr. Patrick secured the title of club champion, which he will hold until the fall tournament is completed.

The match was one of the prettiest seen on the grounds during the present season.

Patrick will meet the winner of the fall championship to decide the club title for the year. Play for the fall championship has been in progress for some time. It is expected that it will be finished shortly and the big game of the year played for the championship of the club.

The women played the first round of their tourney for the championship yesterday. Mrs. W. C. Winton is the present champion. Mrs. J. Q. A. Crosby won the spring series.

R. S. PATRICK,
Winner of Spring Golf Championship.

DETROIT AND TOLEDO YACHTS WIN HONORS.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 12.—The Otsiketa of Detroit, sailed by Craig, captured the Gardner trophy of 20-footers in the national sweepstakes race of the Detroit Yacht club yesterday and incidentally won the Walker trophy which was undecided when the Country club regatta came to a close Sunday. The Camilla of Detroit and Toledo of Toledo finished second and third, respectively. The time of the winner for the twelve-mile course was 2:11:27.

The Elsie of Toledo won in the universal class while the Chewinka VI of Detroit sailed in ahead of a large number of 20-footers. The Wrinkle of the Detroit Yacht club came home first in the 18-foot class, while Toledo entries were victorious among the 16-footers and catboats.

TENNIS TOURNEY AT CLEVELAND

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 12.—The fourth and fifth rounds in the men's singles and the first of four rounds in the men's doubles constituted the program at the opening tennis tournament for the Ohio championship here today.

Play in the men's singles will have narrowed to a half dozen contestants by nightfall. On the form displayed yesterday, Dr. Nat Thorton of Augusta, Ga., Fred Harris of Brattleboro, Vt., Fred Carr of Cincinnati and C. O. Benton of Cleveland, will be the ones in the final fight to see who shall meet Frank C. Marty of Fort Lewis, Ky., present state champion in the challenge round.

BRAINERD BALL CLUB CONCLUDES SEASON AHEAD.

Brainerd, Minn., Sept. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Brainerd finishes the season with a generous cash balance on hand and the high percentage of .869 to its credit, having won twenty out of twenty-four games played, with one a tie game. Bush appeared in the box for Brainerd in nine games. Seven were won and one was a tie game. His pitching mate was Alderman who won nine out of the ten games he pitched.

The club's percentage of .869 is the highest of any team in Minnesota.

CLOSE FINISHES AT BLUE BONNET TRACK.

Montreal, Can., Sept. 12.—Close finishes marked two of the races on yesterday's card at the Blue Bonnet track. In the third race a purse event at seven furlongs, Rockville, ridden by Musgrave, won by a nose from Martin W. Littleton. In the fourth race a handicap event at one mile, Gay Fisher defeated Naushon by a scant head for first money.

It was impossible yesterday to send out returns from the track. The fight between the promoters and racing club still continues and all wires have been removed from the course. The weather was clear and the track fast.

Old Racer Condemned.

Tampa, Fla., Sept. 12.—The Mayflower, American cup defender in 1886, has been condemned and will be sunk in the Tampa bay tomorrow. The Mayflower, recently re-named the Madeline, has been used as a sponge fishing boat at Tarpon Springs for the last seven years. In 1886 she defeated the English challenger, Galatea.

Syracuse Track Heavy.

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 12.——Heavy rains which fell early this morning made the state fair track rather heavy for the Grand Circuit races this afternoon, the feature of which will be the Empire State $10,000 stake for 2:14 trotters. Tom Murphy may start both Charlie Mitchell and R. T. C. in this stake.

Barry Holds Title.

London, Sept. 12.—Ernest Barry, the champion sculler of England, retained his title yesterday afternoon, in a match with W. H. Fogwell, the New Zealand champion, rowed over the championship course from Putney to Mortlan and received a purse of $2,000. The winner's time was 32 minutes, 14 seconds.

DOCTOR SENDS IN RIOT CALL

When "Wet" Element of Stearns County Village Present Can of Beer.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Presentation of a can of beer to Dr. Kaufmann at Holdingford, a village in Stearns county, caused him to telegraph Attorney General Simpson in St. Paul, as follows:

"We are in a state of riot. Life and property in danger. Please send militia."

Attorney General Simpson got in communication with the county attorney there and told him the state did not wish any riots pulled off, especially on Sunday.

Investigation of the matter indicates that Dr. Kaufmann recently began practicing at Holdingford and attempted to require enforcement of the liquor laws. The "wets" of the town ridiculed his position and as a joke sent him a can of beer. A crowd gathered to see the presentation. The doctor became enraged, it is said, poured the beer on his tormentors then telegraphed the attorney general for the militia.

At the present writing the militia has not been called.

Catching Whales in Nets.

Just south of the Bay of Islands, New Zealand, where there is a land-locked harbor, beautiful Wangamumu nestles in the shadow of Cape Brett. There is established a whaling station where they catch whales with nets stretched across the channel between the jagged rocks. The whales seek that place to scrape off the barnacles and growths from their body and are netted by the natives. Whales may be caught that easily, but you can't catch a user of golden grain belt beers by offering any of the inferior makes. Try a case now. DOWNFALL OF AN ATTORNEY

Sentenced to Prison for Stealing Two Subway Tickets.

New York, Sept. 12.—"I am a disgrace to myself, my country and my friends," said William B. Ford yesterday, when arraigned before a magistrate for sentence on his plea of guilty to stealing two 5-cent subway tickets. "But I am not responsible. I am the victim of some force I cannot resist. I used to be a decent man."

Ford graduated from the University of Tennessee and was counsel for the Fort Worth & Denver railroad for twelve years. He served as a lieutenant in the Spanish-American war, was wounded in each of three engagements in the Philippines, and following a sunstroke, was honorably discharged.

His descent dated from this time. On returning to America he worked as a laborer in San Francisco, then re-enlisted under the name of Allen Lefort. He secured a commission as lieutenant and while stationed at Fort Schuyler stole $2,500. He was sentenced by court-martial to five years in Leavenworth prison, but was declared insane and transferred to an asylum. A nephew then took him to Oklahoma but he eluded his watchers and came to New York.

Ford pleaded to be allowed to return to Tennessee, but to no avail. He was fined $500 and sentenced to a year in the penitentiary.

MOVING PICTURES CANNOT BE SHOWN

Scenes of Beattie Murder Case Barred in Several Cities.

New York, Sept. 12.—No exhibition of moving pictures of the Beattie murder trial will be permitted in this city. After a conference with Mayor Gaynor yesterday, James G. Wallace, chief of the bureau of licenses, addressed a letter to persons engaged in the moving picture business in which he said:

"I beg to inform you that any moving picture films or stereopticon views relating to the Beattie murder case, depicting any scene in connection therewith or featuring any person implicated therein, are condemned for the reason that they are unfit to be shown in places of public amusement."

Forbidden in Detroit.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 12.—Mayor Thompson last night issued an order forbidding the reproduction in Detroit of moving pictures of the Beattie murder trial, or the pictures for which Beulah Binford recently posed.

Stopped in Jacksonville.

Jacksonville, Fla., Sept. 12.—After reading protests from 5,000 women, Mayor Jordan yesterday stopped the exhibition of the Beattie murder trial pictures at a local picture house. Protests were filed by several women's clubs.

AGITATION AGAINST SCIENTIFIC MANAGEMENT.

Washington, Sept. 12. — Agitation among the labor element in the navy yards and arsenals against the installation of scientific management, is giving the officials much concern. The announced object of the officials is to increase the efficiency of the workmen and to increase the wages correspondingly.

A conference of workmen to devise plans to oppose the scientific system of shop management has been called by the International Association of Machinists to be held in Rock Island, Ill., beginning Sept. 19.

BOYS AND GIRLS IN LINE TO REGISTER FOR SCHOOL.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 12.—A hundred boys and girls who, wrapped in blankets, had spent the night in the rotunda and on the steps, were the first of several thousands of students to register at the polytechnic high school yesterday. Students feared there would not be accommodations for all applicants. Parents brought supper and blankets for them.

DULUTH DELEGATES AT SHOPMEN'S CONFERENCE.

Livingston, Mont., Sept. 12.—For the purpose of forming a trades federation similar to that on the Harriman railway lines, delegates representing shopmen employed by the Northern Pacific railway are here from Tacoma, Seattle and Spokane; from Helena and Billings, Mont., from Duluth, Brainerd, Staples and St. Paul, Minn., and other points. The sessions probably will end Thursday night.

On Both Sides of the Counter

Whether you're shopper or clerk the result's the same --- weariness, nervousness, thirst.

Store din, vitiated air, pushing crowds, heat, stuffiness---on your feet for hours. No wonder that by the time you get away from it all you're half dead with fatigue.

Coca-Cola

solves the problem. It will relieve your fatigue ---calm your quivering nerves---refresh you--- drive away your thirst. And you'll enjoy it---every drop.

FEARS VICTIM WAS BROTHER

Virginia Man Believes Relative Was Killed at Elmo, Ont.

Andrew Newman Who Went to Harvest Fields Has Not Returned.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—It is believed by W. A. Newman, who runs a meat market at 221 Oak street, this city, that the man referred to as Andrew Saman in The Herald dispatches from Elmo, Ont., as having been murdered, is his brother, Andrew Newman. The latter left here last July to work in the harvest fields of North Dakota and Montana, and said he expected to continue on to the coast. Mr. Newman of this city has telegraphed to Elmo for a description of the murdered man.

The missing brother was of a roving disposition and nothing has been heard of him since he left here nearly three months ago. Similarity of name and address gave the police their first clew.

LUMBERMAN TO BE VERY BUSY

Big Concerns Operating Near Ely Preparing for Winter's Logging.

Ely, Minn., Sept. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Preparations are already under way by the various lumber companies for the starting up of the winter camps. The Wick O'Connell company has already started in a small scale. They recently received two car loads of horses. They have their camps near Winton. This year they must get a large amount of logs in order to fill out a three years' contract, this being the last.

The St. Croix Lumber company is also preparing for a busy winter. They have just received a large car of horses to add to their already large stock on hand. They shipped about ten car loads of horses in the spring to Chicago, where they work for them and have them shipped back for winter's work in the woods. A large number of men are continually coming to start in the woods cutting down and sawing the trees and building logging roads.

ANNEXATION PLAN BEING DISCUSSED

Question of Hibbing and Alice Getting Together Being Talked of.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The question of Hibbing and Alice combining under one government, or more properly Hibbing annexing the young neighbor at its doors, is being discussed here prominently these days, heightened by the legal proceedings that hang over Alice seeking to check the investment of $150,000 in improvements.

The Hibbing council does not seem to be certain what to do about the matter. The proposition was discussed at length at an executive session without result as a disposition developed to question whether Hibbing would benefit by the consolidation, as Alice will come in with an indebtedness of $150,000. The people of Alice do not seem to worry, as they expect to get their $150,000 in improvements anyway.

SEEKS JUDGESHIP.

Charles McNamara, Formerly of Tower, After Eveleth Job.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles McNamara, Civil war veteran, forty-five years a resident of the Lake Superior district, thirty years in St. Louis county and fifteen years in Marquette county, has announced his candidacy for municipal judge. He resided for eighteen years at Tower, where he acted as United States court commissioner for over two years and as postmaster for a few years. He has resided in Eveleth for over ten years but this is his first campaign for a city office. He is connected with many local organizations.

STABBING CASE IS BEING TRIED

District Court Jury Hearing Evidence Against Eveleth Man.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The trial of Matt Lake, charged with stabbing Joe Lampala at Eveleth, continued all day Monday in district court and will probably be concluded today.

The next case will be that of Bruno Demasse, charged with carrying concealed weapons. He will probably plead guilty.

EVELETH FIRM IS AWARDED CONTRACT

Eveleth Construction Company to Furnish Ely Street Improvements.

Ely, Minn., Sept. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Eveleth Construction company has been awarded the contract by the city council for the construction of combined curbs, gutters storm sewers and the building of cement sidewalks along the principal streets of the city for the sum of $15,-118.88, being the lowest bidder.

Although the contract has been let it is not probable that work will commence on construction of same until the Spring, as it is getting late in the fall to accomplish much of the work before the snow flies.

MINISTERS HOPED FOR "DRY" RESULT

Range Association at Eveleth Offered Prayers for Maine Prohibitionists.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Range Ministerial association before ending the meeting here yesterday elected officers as follows: Rev. P. Nell of Virginia, president; Rev. J. L. Pickard, Hibbing, vice president; Rev. P. C. Keast, Chilholm, secretary; Rev. H. Lindh, Virginia, treasurer.

Among the members present at the meeting were Rev. R. W. Willcox, Virginia; Rev. P. Lindh, Rev. Mr. Neff, and Rev. Paul Grainness, Virginia; Rev. J. W. Helmuth, Rev. J. L. Pickard, Hibbing; Rev. H. O. Harris, Rev. Mr. Parish, Biwabik; Rev. J. W. Sibert, Aurora; Rev. P. C. Keast, Chilholm; Rev. B. D. Hanscom, and Rev. Phillip A. Schwarz, Jr., Eveleth; Rev. George W. Turner, Gilbert.

Next Meeting at Virginia.

The next meeting will be held at Virginia the third Monday in October. During yesterday afternoon's deliberations, prayers were offered in behalf of a prohibition victory in the Maine election. The question of a union with Canadian churches was also discussed.

A program committee to act for six months will be appointed by President Neff before the next meeting at Virginia.

NEW VIRGINIA BUILDINGS.

Duluth Concern Will Build One of Structures.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Gust Sundling building on Chestnut street, owned by the Duluth Brewing & Malting company, will be removed to the alley in the rear and a two-story brick business block will be erected on the site, fronting twenty-five feet on the street. Just west of the brewing company building, Elmer Matheson will erect a three-story business block with fifty feet frontage on Chestnut street.

Take Alleged Thief.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 12.—Sheriff Riley yesterday arrested one "John Doe" at Swan River and brought him back here to answer to the charge of stealing some clothing and shoes from valises in the local Great Northern warehouse. A local tailor, who claims to have made one of the suits of clothing stolen says he can identify the property worn by the suspect as his product.

FORCE IRWIN TO LEAVE COUNCIL

Officer Escorts Two Harbors Man Out of the Council Chamber.

Two Harbors, Minn., Sept. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—H. J. Irwin, the recalled alderman, refuses to be recalled, at least he refused to vacate his seat in the city council chamber last night until an officer took him by the arm and gently, but firmly, guided him outside the railing, after President Esse had asked him in vain to vacate.

Mr. Johnson, who was chosen at the recall election to succeed Irwin, was also present last night, but he remained outside the railing and did not seem disposed to take his seat until all the legal formalities have been complied with. Although Judge Cant has held that the election of Johnson and the recall of Irwin were regular, Irwin is expected to appeal to the supreme court and he apparently believes that in the meantime he should be allowed to occupy his seat in the council chamber. Last night's action in having him removed from the seat is expected to hasten his appeal. After the incident the council proceeded to take up the routine matters in hand.

FAIR AT BAUDETTE.

Northern Beltrami County Fair Is Well Attended.

Baudette, Minn., Spet. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Northern Beltrami county fair is being held here today, having commenced yesterday. There is a representative attendance while the exhibits are of the eye-opening type. Visitors are surprised that this section which was fire swept only a year ago could rebuild and be in a condition to furnish such a splendid fair.

Among visitors at the fair are President McGonagle of the Duluth, Missabe & Northern road and Maj. Eva of the Duluth Commercial club, who came here to learn how the settlers and others helped by the relief committee, are getting along and to see the fair.

Y. M. C. A. HEADS MEET.

Duluth Men Participate in Two Harbors Gathering.

Two Harbors, Minn., Sept. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—There are a number of Y. M. C. A. officials and Y. M. C. A. workers here today attending the meeting of the heads of departments. The meeting began in the morning and continued into the afternoon.

EVELETH DOCTOR TAKES BRIDE IN SIOUX CITY.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Mrs. W. C. More returned last evening from Sioux City, Iowa, where she attended the marriage of her nephew, Dr. C. W. Maynard of this city to Miss Haskins of Sioux City. The newly wedded pair are expected back next week from Chicago.

Solomon Sax left yesterday noon for St. Paul to attend the marriage of his sister-in-law, Miss Freda Gudell, well known here, to Meyer Levinson of Charlevoix, Mich.

VIRGINIA TAX LEVY EXPECTED TO BE LESS.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The city board of tax levy met Monday afternoon and considered estimates for the annual levy to be made by the council tonight. The board met again today and this afternoon completed estimates of the amount of levy necessary. The levy will be somewhat less than for this year.

ELY BRIEFS.

Ely, Minn., Sept. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—A new industry has been added to the city by the City French Dry Cleaning company, which has opened up in the building next to the bank.

Earl Anderson left Sunday for Menominee, Wis., where he will continue his course in manual training.

R. E. Miller and James Moonan arrived from a two weeks' vacation trip in the East.

Marko Pluth returned last week from a two weeks' trip in Michigan and in Illinois, where he spent his vacation.

BABY PITIFUL SIGHT WITH ECZEMA

Completely Covered. Bandaged from Head to Foot. Dared Not Wash Him. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment 4 Weeks and He Was Cured.

"A few days after birth we noticed an inflamed spot on our baby's hip which soon began spreading until baby was completely covered even in his eyes, ears and scalp. For eight weeks he was bandaged from head to foot. He could not have a stitch of clothing on. Our regular physician pronounced it chronic eczema. He is a very able physician and ranks with the best in this locality, nevertheless, the disease began spreading until baby was completely covered. He was losing flesh so rapidly that we became alarmed and decided to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment.

"Not until I commenced using Cuticura Soap and Ointment could we tell what he looked like, as we dared not wash him, and I had been putting one application after another on him. On removing the scale from his head the hair came off, and left him entirely bald, but since we have been using Cuticura Soap and Ointment he has as much hair as ever. Four weeks after we began to use the Cuticura Soap and Ointment he was entirely cured. I don't believe anyone could have eczema worse than our baby.

"Before we used the Cuticura Remedies we could hardly look at him, he was such a pitiful sight. He would fuss until I would treat him, they seemed to relieve him so much. Cuticura Soap and Ointment stand by themselves and the result they quickly and surely bring is their own recommendation." (Signed) Mrs T B Rosser, Mill Hall, Pa., Feb. 20, '11.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Send to Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. 29A, Boston, for a liberal sample of each, post-free, with 32-p. book on the skin.

SELECTION OF POTATOES

A. B. Hostetter Emphasizes Need for Care in Choosing Seed.

Standardization of Production and Improvement of Quality Suggested.

Now that attention has been attracted to this section of the state as a potato producing district, the farmers of St. Louis and neighboring counties should take steps to standardize production and to improve quality by careful selection of seed. That is the view taken by A. B. Hostetter, superintendent of agriculture of the Commercial club, who is contemplating a trip through the county to instruct the farmers in the selection of seed and give practical demonstrations.

Mr. Hostetter, who has charge of the St. Louis county exhibit at the state fair, is delighted with the results obtained there. He declared this morning that is the farmers of Northeastern Minnesota exercise good judgment in the cultivation of staple crops, especially potatoes, their market is assured, and prosperity will be their reward.

Must Standardize Varieties.

"We proved the value of this section of the state as a potato producing district, and all we must do now is standardize production and carefully select seed in order to improve quality," said Mr. Hostetter this morning. "Shipments of many varieties of potatoes, with consequent expense in sorting, do not find a ready market and the best prices, and I would suggest that the farmers of this section center their attention on a few standard varieties.

"Early Ohio for early potatoes and Carman or Burbank for late crops are the best varieties for cultivation in this section, with some crops of Bliss' Triumph for Southern trade, in my opinion. If we will concentrate on the development of those varieties, our position in the potato field will be assured.

"The time for the selection of seed is when the potatoes are being taken from the ground. I will ask the agricultural committee to send me out to follow up the work done by the potato special last spring in instructing farmers in seed selection. A little time spent in selecting seed will be more than made up in the improvement of the crops.

"The farmers of this section should select their seed now, first for themselves and then for the seed market. The producers of other potato sections have become careless in the selection of seed and their crops have deteriorated in consequence. We are in a position to improve our crops by careful seed selection and we should not overlook the opportunity.

Seed Potatoes Valuable.

"We could have sold every bushel of prize potatoes we had at the state fair for $2.50 a bushel for seed. We did not do so because good seed is valuable and we can use it ourselves. The farmer who selects good seed potatoes while gathering his crop will do well to set aside enough for himself and put the remainder on the market for seed. He will find a ready market at a big premium over the bulk of his crop.

"Potatoes selected from the bins in the spring cannot be as good seed as those selected at the time of digging. The potato special demonstrators impressed that on the farmers last spring and I will endeavor to impress it again this fall. We want next year's crop to be better than that of this year and it cannot be unless attention is paid to the selection of seed."

Potato samples will be furnished the Northern Pacific and Great Northern railroads for their exhibit cars which will be sent out through the country this fall. Exhibits at the state fair, which were prepared for preservation, will be stored for display at the Northwest Land show in December.

Mr. Hostetter said today that the success of the exhibit made by the Producers' Co-Operative Market association at the state fair has put new life into the association and that great enthusiasm has been aroused by the high score made by the exhibit.

TIDAL WAVE IN LAKE MICHIGAN

Boats Carried Into Lake and Others Damaged at Chicago.

Chicago, Sept. 12.—Scores of small boats along the Jackson park harbor were carried out into the lake and others were badly damaged by a wave similar to a tidal wave, which caused Lake Michigan to rise five feet yesterday afternoon. The Iris, a valuable 20-foot launch, was carried into the lake, past the Jackson park life saving station and sank. The Lillian II, $20,000 launch, broke from its moorings in the harbor and did much damage among the 100 or more other boats.

At Chicago harbor, seven miles away, the wave was not noticed. "The tidal wave" seemingly had no relation to the brief storm which visited the city about 8 o'clock.

OFFER REWARD OF $500

For Parties Who Shot St. Cloud Man Saturday.

St. Cloud, Minn., Sept. 12.—The deepest mystery surrounds the shooting of Adolph Lindenberg early Saturday morning, and while rumors of all sorts are being circulated about on the streets nothing has as yet come to light that appears to throw any light upon the subject.

Alderman Kowalkowski offered a resolution before the council, giving the sum of $500 to any one giving information that would lead to the arrest and conviction of the guilty parties and it passed without a dissenting vote.

What puzzles the police is that one of the robbers, after having secured the booty, should walk back and deliberately shoot Mr. Lindenberg, who had commenced to call for help.

DEFEAT NOT PERMANENT

Duluth W. C. T. U. Worker Predicts Return to Prohibition in Maine.

Thinks Apathy of Temperance People Caused Their Defeat.

"It seems too bad that with two generations of people who have never seen a saloon sign except when they were outside of the state, Maine should now be turned over to the saloons," said Mrs. H. W. Bevier of 3909 Oneota street, president of the W. C. T. U. of West Duluth, this morning.

Mrs. Bevier declared that Maine will not continue in the course it adopted at yesterday's election. "After two generations of prohibition, Maine will soon discover its mistake and in a year or two will go back to the order that was upset yesterday," continued Mrs. Bevier. "The brewers and liquor interests spent millions of dollars in Maine and the results were shown yesterday.

"I think apathy was largely responsible for the result. The Prohibitionists were satisfied that Maine was secure in the fold and I believe many voters in sympathy with the cause did not get out and vote yesterday. If the full voting strength of the state had been out the result would have been different. I do not believe that the rejection of prohibition from the state Constitution is desired by a majority of the people of Maine.

"I do not believe the Maine result will give the movement a setback in the country generally. People will realize that the Maine result cannot last—that prohibition is out only for a year or two. The prohibition cause will advance through the country and new gains will make up for the loss of Maine."

Another Flight Proposed.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 12.—Advices received here by officers of the Trans-Mississippi Flight association say that Cairo, Ill., has subscribed to the $15,000 fund being raised for the aviator who will start his flight from Minneapolis to New Orleans this fall simultaneously with the opening of the deep waterway convention in Chicago.

SUIT AGAINST LOCAL ATTORNEY

Allen Haywood Wants Part of Personal Injury Money From Lawyer.

Allen L. Haywood is suing Joseph De La Motte, a local attorney for $242.75, which he claims is his portion of fees made by Mr. De LaMotte in a case in which the plaintiff says he arranged to have Mr. De La Motte employed.

The case was that of Joseph Rupcich against the Oliver Iron Mining company and the verdict amounted to $1,500 out of which came $500 attorney's fees, claims the plaintiff in the present action.

Haywood claims that he had an arrangement with De LaMotte by which he was to secure the business for him and that he was to receive one-third the lawyer's fee, which was to have been one-third of the amount given by the jury in the action. He also claims $77 expenses, and $24.75 advanced to Rupcich before the trial.

POLICE FIND OPIUM IN CHINESE STORE.

Lowe You and Charlie Quan were arrested last evening on the charge of having opium in their possession when the police raided the Chinese store at 18 West First street last evening. It is alleged that over two pounds of the stuff were found in their possession. The raid was made by two revenue officers, accompanied by Detectives Toewe and Terry. A number of Chinese were arrested in the same place, which is conducted as a store, last winter.

"WATER BOY" FOR CHAIN GANG GETS WRONG LIQUID.

John Johnson, 63 years old, "water boy" of the chain gang, was brought to the police station last evening on a charge of drunkenness. While supposed to be getting some of the cold product of Lake Superior for his fellow prisoners some one gave him some "jolly water," and he was picked up by the police in a hopeless state of intoxication. He was sent back to the jail and chain gang to finish his unexpired term.

Governor's Staff's Outing.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Prepared to simply loaf in outing clothes, twenty-five members of Governor Eberhart's official staff have gone to St. Alban's bay, Lake Minnetonka, for the annual vacation. The governor is spending as much time with his staff as possible. The vacation will last only till tomorrow evening.

Stanley Back at Capital.

Washington, Sept. 12.—Representative A. O. Stanley returned yesterday from the West, where he personally investigated Minnesota ore regions and Chicago steel plants. He will spend a month preparing data to be laid before the steel committee when it re-convenes in October. About Oct. 1 Mr. Stanley will go to Ohio to stump for the gubernatorial candidate.

Mules Call Out Department.

Stephen Minn., Sept. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—Some one tied a team of mules to the fire alarm post at Merdink's corner Saturday night and one of the animals took a swift kick at the alarm box and set the alarm in the power house off. In a few minutes the whole fire department and a crowd of people were out to see where the fire was.

LOST LIFE FOR FRIEND'S SAKE

Railroad Laborer Killed While Trying to Rescue Companion.

La Crosse, Wis., Sept. 12.—Peter Bolovals, railroad laborer, sacrificed his life unavailingly for the sake of his friend in the yards of the Milwaukee railway at Sparta, Wis., today. Riding home from work on the engine of a train, Gus Larengaon slipped and fell under the wheels. Leaping quickly to drag him out, Bolavals failed to get him in time and both were killed.

TWO MORE IMPERIAL UNIVERSITIES IN JAPAN.

Tokio, Sept. 12.—The minister of education, carrying out the new government's policy of interior development, announced today that two new imperial universities, accommodating a total of 1,000 students, would be opened. One will be located at Sendai and the other at Fukuoka in the island of Kiushu.

A MOTHER'S DUTY

It is the duty of every expectant mother to prepare her system for the coming of her little one; to avoid as far as possible the suffering of such occasions, and endeavor to pass through the crisis with her health and strength unimpaired. This she may do through the use of Mother's Friend, a remedy that has been so long in use, and accomplished so much good, that it is in no sense an experiment, but a preparation which always produces the best results. It is for exernal application and so penetrating in its nature as to thoroughly lubricate every muscle, nerve and tendon involved during the period before baby comes. It aids nature by expanding the skin and tissues, relieves tenderness and soreness, and perfectly prepares the system for natural and safe motherhood. Mother's Friend has been used and endorsed by thousands of mothers, and its use will prove a comfort and a benefit to any woman in need of such a remedy. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for free book for expectant mothers, which contains much valuable information.

PLANS ARE APPROVED

Sanitarium Commissioners Accept Drawings of Eastern Architects for Pavilion.

After a Conference With Women, Bids Will Be Called For.

At a meeting of the St. Louis county sanitarium commission held this morning at Dr. Laird's office at the courthouse, the plans for the children's pavilion, drawn by Scopes & Feustmann of Saranac Lake, N. Y., were approved.

Bids will be called for as soon as the matter can be gone over with the women of the city who raised the money for the pavilion. As both the commissioners and the women are anxious to get the building completed, it is quite probable that actual work on the building will begin within a very short time.

The pavilion will be erected on the county grounds near Midway. The county furnished the site and the women raised the $10,000 necessary to erect the building. The building will be one of the group erected by the county.

Some time ago when work on the county buildings was begun, it was discovered that but little provision had been made for children. Prominent club women of the city at once got busy, learned how much it would take to build the children's pavilion and went ahead and raised the sum, which was $10,000.

When the building is completed it will consist of three floors and will offer accommodations for more than twenty children. It will include rooms with porches, accommodations for nurses and maids, an infirmary and a large schoolroom.

The schoolroom will be a feature of the building. It will be so arranged that it can be heated when necessary and entirely in the open when the weather permits. Mrs. Parker Paine has donated a large fireplace which will add to the appearance of the room.

The plans for the pavilion were received some time ago, but there were some changes to make and they were sent back for corrections. They were approved as they now stand and all that remains is to call for bids and let the contract for the work.

When completed the building, though not as large as some throughout the country, will be most complete in every respect. It is as modern as the sanitarium experts at Saranac Lake can make it.

INSURANCE FRAUD CASES ARE DROPPED

San Francisco Lumberman and Ashland Insurance Man Not Prosecuted.

Ashland, Wis., Sept. 12.—(Special to The Herald.)—The insurance conspiracy cases against J. V. Smeaton, a San Francisco lumberman, and Con. W. Lloyd of Ashland were nolled today.

Smeaton was the owner of a lumber mill, which burned in September, 1909. Lloyd is an insurance agent. The two men were accused of taking out insurance in five companies the day after the mill and a large amount of lumber were destroyed, collecting nearly $12,000. An investigation was held by the state fire wardens' department and Lloyd's testimony was used against them, which is the ground for their discharge. T. L. Ronnan of Milwaukee, Lloyd's father-in-law, appeared as his lawyer in court.

NOTICE!

Through some misunderstanding on the part of a representative of the Tribune in conversation with the Duluth Lumber Co. it was stated in yesterday's Tribune that we had contracted for material for 50 houses to be built in Crosley Park. This statement was entirely erroneous and was made without our knowledge. We have contracted for only ten houses up to date with the Duluth Lumber Co. It is true that scores of houses have been built on Crosley Park this season and we confidently expect to build very many more in the near future in that beautiful division, but we do not wish any of our purchasers to feel that they have been misled through any misunderstanding on the part of the Tribune and therefore we publish this notice.

Our sample houses are now almost completed and Crosley Park is looking its very best. Every resident of the division is an enthusiastic booster as you will easily find out by visiting the property and talking with them.

WHEAT MAKES SLIGHT GAIN

Day of Narrow Fluctuations' Small Trading and Little Interest.

Flax Makes Marked Gain in Price on Very Light Demand.

Duluth Board of Trade, Sept. 12.—A comparatively featureless day closed with a slight gain in Duluth September wheat, the rise being but a quarter of a cent, after irregular fluctuations through the session. The close was $1.01⅞ bid. Other closing wheat quotations were either slightly above or slightly below the close of yesterday. Trading was light and not a great deal of interest was shown.

Flax, which has been declining for some days, showed quite a gain today, thought the volume of the trades was small. Duluth September closed at $2.50 bid, whereas yesterday's closing price was $2.40. October, November and December also showed gains.

Durum fell off ½c, oats went up ⅝c, rye rose ½c, corn went up ½c and barley closed unchanged.

Trading was small in wheat on the Duluth board up to noon today and fluctuations were very narrow. Duluth September went no lower than $1.01¼-⅜ and no higher than $1.02. Yesterday's close was $1.01⅞ asked and this morning the opening was at the same figure bid. The tendency early in the session was decidedly bearish. There were lower cables from all the European wheat markets. Moreover, the weather reports of the Northwest were favorable to thrashing. There were some reports of frosts in Canada, however. At noon September wheat was selling around $1.01⅞.

The volume of business in flax, too, was very narrow. A single bid for 2,000 bu raised the price of September from yesterday's closing figure of $2.40 to $2.44. Later the quotation was $2.45 bid. There was not much flax offered. Though for some days past there has been a gradual increase in the offerings, the bulk of the new crop is yet to come. When the volume of flax trade assumes its normal harvest proportions, the market will not be so easily influenced by a few bids and a few offers.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Heavy Receipts at Winnipeg Have Bearish Effect on Wheat.

Chicago, Sept. 12.—Heavy increased receipts at Winnipeg had a bearish effect today on the market for wheat. The arrivals there reached a total of 316 cars as against 151 the corresponding day last week and 156 a year ago.

The amount of wheat on hand at Russian seaboard ports was also said to be showing a material gain, and there were favorable crop advices from the Argentine. It was generally believed that a landing speculator here had thrown overboard a big line of wheat. The opening was a shade lower to ⅛c up. December started at 96½c to 96⅝c a sixteenth lower to a like variation higher, and then sagged to 96⅜c.

Reports of considerable frost damage in Canada led to a rally. So did the smallness of the world's supply increase. The close was firm with December ¼c net higher, at 96⅜@96⅞c.

Weakness developed in the corn pit as a result of the depression in wheat. Sellers were active, and the buying only fair. December open the same as last night to ⅛@¼c off at 63⅞c to 64@64⅛c and seemed inclined to keep near the lower level.

Unfavorable weather for maturing the crop caused prices later to harden. The close was firm at 64¼c for December, a net gain of ⅛@¼c.

Oats suffered from lack of support and in sympathy with other grain. December started unchanged to a shade higher at 45⅞c to 46¾@46c, and dropped to 45⅝c.

Provisions eased off with hogs. First sales were at last night's level to 7½c decline. January delivery went at $16.02½ for pork, $9.27½ for lard and $8.32½ for ribs.

MINNEAPOLIS MARKET.

Wheat Slightly Firmer But Trading of Small Volume.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 12.—Closing wheat prices were slightly firmer than yesterday. September closed ⅛c higher; December ¼c higher, and May ¼@⅜c higher. Trading was of small volume and the market was narrow and nervous. Local elevator stocks of wheat decreased 130,000 bu for three days. Minneapolis today received 170 cars of wheat against 314 a year ago; Duluth 579 against 250 and Winnipeg 289 against 256. September opened, $1.01⅜; high, $1.01⅝; low, $1.00⅝; closed, $1.01½. December opened $1.03¾ to $1.03⅝; high, $1.03⅞; low, $1.02¾; closed, $1.03⅝. May opened $1.07⅜; high, $1.07⅝; low, $1.06⅝; closed $1.07½.

Cash wheat about steady; demand excellent for choice milling grades but slower for lower varieties. No. 1 Northern sold for ½c under to 1½c over the December contract. Cash close: No. 1 hard, $1.05⅜; No. 1 Northern $1.03¼@1.05⅝, to arrive $1.03¼@1.04¼; No. 2 Northern, 99⅝c @$1.02⅝, to arrive 99⅝c@$1.02⅛; No. 3 wheat, 92⅝@$1.00⅝. No. 3 yellow corn, 63½c. No. 3 white oats, 43@43¾c. No. 2 rye, $1@$1½c.

Millstuffs—Shipments, 2,544 tons; excellent demand, export sales made to Germany. Bran in 100-pound sacks, $21.50@22.00.

Flour—The demand was fair to good at unchanged prices. Shipments, 70,410 bbl. First patents in wood, f. o. b. Minneapolis, $4.90@5.10; second patents, $4.40@4.65; first clears, $3.25@3.45; second clears, $2.25@2.40.

Flax—Receipts, 12 cars; year ago, 18; shipments, 7. Demand strong for spot flaxseed at even Duluth September prices. Closing range, $2.50.

Barley—Receipts, 75 cars; year ago, 48; shipments, 74. Barley in excellent demand. Offerings liberal and prices unchanged. Closing range, 75c@$1.14.

ADVANCES IN STOCKS

New York, Sept. 12.—There was a general advance in stocks at the opening of the market today with the exception of Reading, which fell back ⅝, and Atchison, which lost ½. Gains of a point were made by Canadian Pacific, Western Maryland and Texas Oil, Union Pacific and Lehigh Valley advanced ¾. Within the first few minutes the market reacted. Opening gains were lost and in some cases stocks fell to a point under yesterday's close.

By the time Atchison, Reading and Lehigh Valley had been depressed a point below yesterday's closing, supporting orders began to appear to offset the effects of the bear raid, and the whole list rallied briskly. Northern Pacific and the metal, Harriman and coal stocks were in large demand but fresh selling orders were encountered again after prices had risen above last night. Lehigh Valley, which opened at 154¼, sagged to 151⅞, and there was also a loss of over a point in Pennsylvania. International Harvester declined 2.

Further nervousness in the stock market was shown in the uncertain fluctuations of prices during the morning. After opening with general gains the market developed a heavy tone.

Foreign selling was less of a factor than yesterday, pressure coming chiefly from local traders. Some of the heavier selling bore the appearance of forced liquidation, the source of which was still obscured.

The weakness of the market became acute on announcement of the failure of a stock exchange firm and many stocks sold within a small fraction of their low prices of yesterday morning. Missouri Pacific went down 1½ to 35⅛, the lowest level reached for several years. Bonds were firm, with American Tobacco 4's in active demand.

The market closed firm. Profit-taking sales were on a larger scale for a period in the last hour, and the day's advances were generally canceled. Before the close prices were rushed up again to about the best, with little inquiry for Reading and some of the Western railroad stocks showing some urgency.

Special Train From Fair.

The Northern Pacific railroad announces that it will have a special train running from Barnum, Minn., to Duluth on Sept. 14, leaving Barnum at 6:30 p. m., and arriving at Duluth at 8:40, to accommodate the large number of Duluthians who will attend the annual Carlton county fair. This train will give the people ample time to see the fair and give them good service on the return trip.

Carriers Held Responsible.

Washington, Sept. 12.—Interstate carriers are responsible in damages to shippers for loss to the latter through the misrouting of shipments. This principle was laid down today by the interstate commerce commission in deciding the case of W. C. Sterling & Son Co., of Monroe, Mich., against the Michigan Central railroad and the other carriers.

COUNTY OPTION PLAN TO CONTROL OFFICES CLAIM THE REGULARS

Says "Drys" Are Using Progressive Cloak to Conceal Their Identity.

Roosevelt Again Protests Against Talk of Him for President.

Cummins and La Follette to Talk to Minnesota Progressives.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Cleverly concealing its identity under the mask of Progressivism, county option is executing a move to gain control of Minnesota's executive offices, is the charge that is being made by some of the Republican "regulars" in the Twin Cities. They point to the fact that county option has scarcely been breathed since its defeat in the last legislature and that the leaders in that movement are at present taking active part in the Progressives' campaign so early launched.

Representative W. I. Nolan, who is in charge of the Progressives' headquarters in Minneapolis, was elected on a county option platform two years ago. W. E. Lee, who was toastmaster at the Progressive banquet in Minneapolis last Thursday night, was a county optionist two years ago. Elias Rachie, who was one of the orators and an officer of the Anti-Saloon league two years ago, is taking an active part in the Progressives' campaign. State Senator C. A. Lende, who was present at the banquet in Minneapolis and who possibly may be the Progressives' candidate for congressman-at-large, was an outspoken county optionist. P. J. Youngdahl, head of the Anti-Saloon league, who has been in Maine assisting in the campaign intended to turn that old New England state dry, in all probability will affiliate with the Progressives when he returns.

With all these county optionists lining up in the Progressive ranks, it appears as though there might be reason for the charge that option is planning to use Progressivism as its front in the coming state campaign. There is reason to believe, too, that Lieut.-Governor S. Y. Gordon of Browns Valley will be indorsed by the Progressives for governor, although he did not attend the pow-wow in the Mill City last week. Mr. Gordon is a county optionist and saw to it as president of the last senate that the question got a fair

REPLY OF FRANCE TO GERMAN NOTE

Assented to By President Fallieres and Starts at Once.

Rambouillet, France, Sept. 13.—President Fallieres today gave his formal sanction to the French reply to the latest note from Germany regarding Morocco. Foreign Minister De Selves, after submitting the document, hastened to Paris, and if the reply can be transcribed in time, a courier will leave with it for Berlin tonight. Otherwise the note will go forward in the morning.

It is understood that, as had been expected, the latest French expression emphasizes the necessity of maintaining the commercial equality of all in Morocco and insists that France shall have a free hand politically in that country.

CRUISE IS PROPOSED

Atlantic Fleet May Spend Fall and Winter in Mediterranean.

Will Sail Oct. 10, Remaining in Foreign Waters Several Months.

Washington, Sept. 13.—The Atlantic fleet in all probability will cruise in the Mediterranean sea during the approaching fall and winter. The subject is now under consideration by the navy department, several alternate voyages being in mind, and the final conclusion of the matter awaits the return of Secretary of the Navy Meyer from abroad.

The Mediterranean cruise seems to receive the greatest favor, however, and, if Secretary Meyer follows the judgment of the naval officers, the battleships will pay calls of courtesy to all the countries of Southern Europe whose shores are washed by the Mediterranean.

The fleet will sail about Oct. 10, remaining in foreign waters several months. It will then be assembled at Guantanamo, Cuba, for cruising and maneuver exercises which will last until March.

Other Visits Remembered.

Last winter the entire fleet visited the English channel, calling at ports of

DIEGLE NOT TO CONFESS

Former Ohio Senator Employe Is Now Writing a Statement.

Attorney Belcher Says He Has No Confession to Make.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 13.—Rodney J. Diegle, former senate sergeant-at-arms, convicted of complicity in legislative bribery and sentenced to serve three years beginning next Monday unless further suspension is granted, is in Dayton today according to his counsel in this city. He is writing a statement, but it is said it is not to be in the form of a confession.

"Diegle is in Dayton and has been there ever since he left Columbus," Attorney C. E. Belcher of Diegle's counsel declared. "He went there to get away from the persistent annoyance of state detectives, newspapermen and others. He has been in seclusion there.

"All of these reports that Diegle was in French Lick, Ind., and half a dozen other places, were started. I believe, for the sole purpose of persecuting Diegle or injuring his cause.

Not a Confession.

"Diegle is writing a statement," added Attorney Belcher, "but it is not going to be in the form of a confession. This statement is being prepared as much for our use as for any other purpose. He will give points which will assist in defending others of these cases. He has no confession to make and I believe he has told all that he knows."

Application for a further stay of execution of the three years' sentence in the penitentiary will be made Friday. The attorneys for the convicted man declare that whether he makes any confession or not they will fight his case through the highest courts. His attorneys have been divided on the advisability of a confession.

CHARGED WITH MURDER OF GIRL

John A. Johnson Arraigned in Lemberger Case at Madison.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 13.—John A. Johnson was arraigned in municipal court this forenoon on the charge of murder in the first degree in connection with the death of Annie Lemberger, whose body was found in Lake Monona last Saturday. Johnson pleaded not guilty and bail was fixed at $10,000 by Judge Anthony Donovan. His preliminary examination was fixed for Sept. 25.

Johnson looked greatly frightened and after the hearing hastened to the jail, walking in advance of the officers.

NOT TO SEEK WIFE WHO ELOPED WITH PLUMBER.

New York, Sept. 13.—Frederick Lispenard Suydam, Jr., the young millionaire of Blue Point, L. I., whose young wife is reported to have eloped with Frederick Noble, son of a plumber, says that his wife was very impulsive and temperamental and he does not intend to make any effort to find her. Suydam avoids committing himself to any statement that he believes his wife and Noble are together. He has not heard from his wife since a week ago, when Mrs. Suydam disappeared on the day Noble left Blue Point on an earlier train.

SCARED BY CYCLONES

Much Damage at Springfield, Ill., By Three Whirling Wind Storms.

Many People Run Into Streets in Their Night Clothes.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 13.—Three cyclones, which followed one after the other, did irreparable damage in this city this morning and created something of a panic among residents of flats and apartment houses in the down town district. Thousands of trees, for the beauty of which Springfield has become famous, were torn from their roots and hurled into the streets, making many of the thoroughfares impassable.

Many plate glass windows were broken, trolley wires were torn down and the roof of the copper dome of the capitol was demolished.

All electric currents were shut off when the first storm struck the city, greatly increasing the terror of the populace, many of whom ran into the streets in their night clothes, fearing the possibility of falling walls. Others took refuge in cellars.

The first whirling windstorm came at 2 o'clock this morning. The second followed in an hour and a half, and the third came at 4:50. All were accompanied by downpours which flooded cellars and basements.

No loss of life has been reported.

STRENUOUS DAY FOR THE ADMIRAL

Chinese Officer Leaves for Beverly to Meet the President.

Washington, Sept. 13.—Admiral Ching Fin Kwang of the Chinese navy faced a strenuous day when he arose this morning. In anticipation of this, and fatigued by the round of events which have occupied every waking moment since the cruiser Hai-chi steamed into New York Monday, the distinguished visitor retired soon after he reached the city last night.

The admiral prepared for the first events of the day, the formal calls upon Acting Secretary of State Wilson and Acting Secretary of Navy Winthrop.

With the distinguished visitor, besides the members of his staff and officials from the Chinese legation, was Commander George F. Copper, U. S. N., who is acting as aide during the admiral's stay in the United States. Return calls being made immediately by Messrs. Wilson and Winthrop at the admiral's hotel, lunch awaited the naval hero at the Metropolitan club, the host being Assistant Secretary Winthrop. Besides the guests of honor or those invited to this function included the admiral's staff, Commander Cooper and members of the Chinese legation staff.

The party plans to leave Washington this afternoon for Beverly, Mass., to be received by President Taft tomorrow. A few days later the admiral and his suite will return to Washington. Their second stay being a longer one, the party will be given an opportunity to see the capitol and governmental buildings and will make a pilgrimage to Mount Vernon where a wreath will be laid on the tomb of Washington. Lunches and dinners will complete the plan of entertainment.

WARD STARTS FROM NEW YORK ON FLIGHT TO THE WEST COAST

Boyish Aviator Off for Prize of $50,000 Offered By Hearst.

First Stop on His Long Flight Is at Middletown, N. Y.

New York, Sept. 13.—Work had barely begun this morning in the busy skyscrapers of Lower New York when James J. Ward lifted his biplane from Governor's Island and started across the continent in the path of the sun.

It was 9:08 a. m. when the boyish aviator—he is only 22 years old and looks younger—rose from the level stretch of land reclaimed from the sea at the lower end of the island, which offers the best place in the city for the start or end of a flight.

Ward is the second competitor to try for the prize of $50,000 offered by William R. Hearst for the quickest flight from coast to coast, and the first to start on the Westward route. To win he must reach Los Angeles or San Francisco in thirty days.

A brisk twenty-mile breeze from the northwest was fluttering the flags over the buildings of the government military post, and directly against it Ward must fly for the first stage of his journey.

Starting with the wind behind him he turned at the lower end of the island, came humming back, rising high over the bay and heading across the mouth of the Hudson river for Jersey City.

Followed the Erie Road.

On the west bank of the river he picked up the flag decked locomotive waiting at the Erie station to pilot him over the maze of tracks across the Hackensack marshes, then settled into his course above the main line of the Erie railroad. His destination this morning and his first scheduled stop was Middletown, N. Y., sixty-eight miles away.

From Middletown, Ward planned to

ESCAPES FROM MISSOURI JAIL

Digs Through Brick Wall With Teaspoon and Horseshoe.

Warsaw, Mo., Sept. 13.—Sheriff and deputies today are searching for Arthur Carpenter, who broke jail here last night by digging through an eighteen-inch brick wall with the handle of a teaspoon and a horseshoe. Carpenter was captured at Fayetteville, Ark., last week and brought here on charge of assault with intent to kill. He has been in jail a number of times and has always escaped.

The Arkansas constable who brought him here took the precaution to lock the prisoner's hands and feet and throw away the keys. When he arrived here the chains were filed off.

WILL AWAIT NEW BIPLANE

Fowler Not Discouraged By Accident to His Machine.

Air Conditions Above Sierras Not as Bad as He Expected.

Alta, Cal., Sept. 13.—Not in the least discouraged by his accident of yesterday, Aviator Robert G. Fowler busied himself this morning planning the best course to enable him to resume his journey at the earliest possible moment.

It is possible to rebuild the machine, as the engine is not injured and he has sufficient parts in the special baggage car, but Fowler believes the best course is to send to the Wright brothers factory in Dayton, Ohio, for a biplane complete, except for the engine. Fowler said a machine could reach him by express in four or five days.

Fowler said the immediate cause of the accident was the refusal of the vertical rudder to answer to the control. He said he had discovered a new danger to aviators in the fact that a strong side wind, such as he encountered yesterday shortly before the accident, strained the vertical rudder to such a point that it refused to work. He will strengthen the control on the machine in which he resumes his flight.

Fowler said that conditions in the air above the Sierras were not nearly as bad as he had been given to expect. He was not distressed by the cold and before the accident to the rudder experienced little trouble from the winds.

PRINTER HELD UP AND MURDERED

Attacked By Chicago Robbers, Led By a Negro Woman.

Chicago, Sept. 13.—Led, it is said, by a negro woman, a gang of robbers before daylight today held up and murdered Emmet McChesney, a newspaper printer. McChesney, who was 54 years old, was on his way home when he was attacked beneath an elevated railroad structure.

Witnesses told the police the man had been followed by a gang of negro thugs who were led by a woman. McChesney, whose skull was fractured, died in a hospital.

FIERCE MAN HUNT ALONG THE BORDER; MANY SHOTS FIRED

Pretty Manitoba School Teacher Kidnaped and Badly Treated.

Forced to Spend Night in Underbrush With Her Assailant.

Henry "Bill" Wilson of Hannah, N. D., Said to Be Captor.

Snowflake, Man., Sept. 13.—A fierce man hunt and deadly skirmish resembling Indian warfare has been under way for the past twenty-four hours, ten miles south, between here and the United States boundary. The sensational situation is the climax of the kidnaping of a pretty young school teacher, Eleanor Gladys Brice, by a man alleged to be Henry "Bill" Wilson, alias Bill Miner of Hannah, N. D.

All during the night a posse of 300 armed men pursued the fugitive through the bush, and many shots were exchanged at sunrise when he was surrounded in a dense wood.

Bloodhounds picked up the trail five miles from the school house, where the man captured the girl Monday afternoon.

She returned home in a frightful condition last night. The population is in an infuriated state and the score of constables directing the pursuit will be unable to protect the man if he is captured. The United States officials just over the line have sent a posse into Canada from the south. When her fiance, who was leading the search for her, whistled their signal, she heard him, Miss Brice says, but was prevented from answering by the threats of the man who held her a captive.

Desperate Struggle.

When Miss Brice failed to appear at the Patterson home Monday night, where she boarded, it was thought she had gone to stay with friends, but when she did not appear Tuesday

SHE REJOICES OVER ELECTION IN MAINE

MRS. LILLIAN M. STEVENS, President of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

MAINE DRYS VICTORIOUS

Little Doubt That Vote Is Against Repeal of Prohibition.

Latest Returns Give Majority of 389 Against the Wets.

Portland, Me., Sept. 13.—With all but seventy-six of the 521 cities, towns and plantations verified by mail returns from the town and city clerks, there was an apparent majority against the repeal of constitutional prohibition of 389 votes.

The Portland Evening Express, a Prohibition paper, controlled by the family of the late Neal Dow, this afternoon issued a bulletin stating that Maine has gone wet by 500 votes.

Portland, Me., Sept. 13.—Town clerks' returns from 402 out of the 521 cities, towns and plantations in the state give a majority against repeal of the prohibitory law of 531. The vote on the face of these returns stands: For repeal, 60,097; against repeal, 60,628.

The almost constant gain of the "dry" faction, by which an apparent "wet" majority of more than 700 votes was wiped out yesterday, is believed to be traceable to some extent to different methods employed in collecting the result on Monday night.

PEACE CONGRESS IS POSTPONED

Scheduled for Rome But Cholera Epidemic Causes Change.

Washington, Sept. 13.—The international peace congress which was scheduled to be held at Rome on Sept. 25 has been postponed because of the cholera epidemic in that country. Announcement to this effect was made in a cablegram received today by Secretary Trueblood of the American Peace society from Dr. Gabot, secretary of the international peace bureau at Berne.

VICTORY FOR THE SPANISH

Six Hundred Tribesmen Are Killed in Battle in Morocco.

Madrid, Sept. 13.—An undated telegram from Melilla, Morocco, which had been delayed by the censor and received here today, reads:

"The losses to the Spaniards in the action yesterday were eighteen dead and seventy-seven wounded. The losses to the tribesmen were about 600 or 700. A complete Spanish victory."

POMERENE NOW MUCH IMPROVED

Ohio Senator Expected to Be Out of the House Soon.

Canton, Ohio, Sept. 13.—Senator Atlee Pomerene, who has been confined to his home by an acute attack of kidney trouble for several days, is reported much improved today. The attending physician expects him to be out of the house in a few days.

Senator Pomerene has cancelled all engagements for the month with one exception and that is in connection with the Senator Stephenson investigation. Senator Pomerene is planning to go with the committee to Wisconsin late in September to take up that work.

DEPOTS ARE ABANDONED

Lava Stream From Mount Etna Crosses the Railway Line.

More Than Thirty Openings Are Belching Smoke and Lava.

Cantania, Sicily, Sept. 13.—The eruption of Mount Etna is assuming the proportions of a real disaster. The lava stream, whose path crosses the railway line circling the volcano, is approaching the railway stations to the north and especially threatening the depots at Molo and Alcantara, which were abandoned today.

The entire crest of Mount Etna appears to be in a state of ebullition. An exact count of the number of fissures is impossible because of the smoke which shrouds the whole mountain, but there seemed to be more than thirty openings, all belching smoke and lava.

The gravity of the eruption of Mount Etna is indicated by the abandonment of the railway stations of Molo and Alcantara at the north of the volcano. Alcantara marked the limit of the flow in the eruption of 1879. Molo was threatened at that time but escaped.

The eruption means great suffering for the peasantry. The slopes of Etna with an area of more than 400 square miles, support a population more dense than that of any other portion of Sicily or Italy. There are sixty-five cities and villages in the entire area, and the number of inhabitants which obtain an excellent agricultural living from the fertile lava beds totals more than 300,000.

REPORT BY GRAND JURY

Seven Indictments Made Known and Jurors Go Back in Session.

Most Serious Charge Is That of Assault Against Theodore Koski.

The grand jury reported seven indictments to Judge Cant of the district court this morning and again went back into secret session. The report made this morning was the third since the grand jury convened just a week ago today. About twenty-five indictments have been reported and there are still about ten cases for consideration. It is expected that the jury will, after making its final report, visit the poor farm and county jail and report on the condition of the two institutions. It is thought that the men will finish the business of the September grand jury Friday noon.

Theodore Koski is accused by the grand jury of assault in the second degree. He attacked Andrew Wanski with a knife, it is claimed.

Ambrose Hutteli is charged with indecent assault. It is claimed that he indecently assaulted Catherine Grahm, a child only 9 years old.

Mike Lavesser is indicted on a charge of burglary in the third degree. He broke into a box car, it is claimed.

Fred Campbell is charged with grand larceny in the second degree. He stole a gold watch from the person of Charles A. Janssen, it is claimed.

Charles Peterson and Gust Holm are accused of rape.

Ernest Jackson is accused of burglary in the third degree. It is claimed that he broke into the building at 507 West Superior street with intent to steal.

Fred Ruthledge alias A. C. Carroll is accused of grand larceny in the second degree. He, it is claimed, stole a woman's suit from the Glass Block store.

Martin Hanson is accused of grand larceny in the second degree.

Granted a Patent.

Washington, Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—William A. Dunn of Smithville, Minn., has been granted a patent for a roller mill.

Stationary Engineers.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 13.—A day of pleasure was prepared today for the entertainment of the 3,000 or more delegates to the convention of the National Association of Stationary Engineers now in session here. Following a ride up the river an immense barbecue had been prepared.

TWIN SISTERS MEET FACE TO FACE

Shakespeare in his "Two Dromios" anticipated the experience of Margaret Yeall and Marie Freeman, twin sisters, who have just met in Indianapolis. Margaret, while on a visit to Indianapolis, went to a department store in which Marie was employed and they met face to face. As they had not seen one another in fifteen years both were astonished at the likeness, but Margaret accounted for it quickly because she knew that somewhere in the world she had a twin sister. Margaret was adopted from the children's home by a family in Wichita and Marie by a family in Indianapolis, when both were 16 months old. Neither knew of the other's name or dwelling place.

PRESIDENT REACTIONIST

Does Not Represent True Republican Sentiment, Says Works.

California Senator Urges Consideration of La Follette for Nominee.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 13.—Declaring that President Taft is a reactionist, who does not represent the true sentiment of the Republican party and strongly urging consideration of Senator La Follette as a candidate for the presidential nomination, Senator John D. Works last night told members of the Union League just where he stood on these questions.

"Republicans are now facing the question whether they will build up the Republican party or turn against it and destroy it," said Senator Works.

"President Taft is not a representative of the people. He is a reactionist, but he also is a merry man with a most plausible manner in explaining away his mistakes.

"Taft and La Follette are destined to face each other in the next national Republican convention and if it were left to a popular vote today La Follette would be nominated and easily, too.

"But, unfortunately, the 'presidential preference vote' has not reached this stage. If, however, Taft does secure the nomination it will be the duty of all Republicans to stand by this nomination and see that he is re-elected.

"It will do no good to turn Democratic as the Democrats are split worse than the Republicans ever were.

"Any Republican who votes the Democratic ticket will be sneaking away like a coward from the fight."

Senator Works strongly indorsed the woman suffrage amendment.

TRYING CASES IN VIRGINIA

Both Judges Hughes and Dibell Are Busy With Actions.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge Hughes and Dibell tried several cases today. In the case of John Nikich vs. the Oliver Iron Mining company, the plaintiff sued for $10,500 for injuries. The jury found for the defendant. In the case of Joseph Abseetz vs. Ole Saline, the plaintiff is suing for $1,050 damages for alleged imprisonment. The case is before Judge Dibell. The case of John Maki vs. the Bangor Mining company, before Judge Hughes the plaintiff sues for $30,450 damages for personal injuries alleged to have been sustained May 21 at the Bangor mine by falling down the shaft thirty-five feet.

Suicide by Hanging.

Kankakee, Ill., Sept. 13.—Frank Pallishard, a young farmer living near St. Anne, committed suicide during the night by hanging himself to a rafter in the barn. His body was found this morning. He was a nephew of Edward Pallishard, a wealthy resident of St. Anne, who ended his life in a similar manner eight months ago.

LOOKING FOR INDICTMENT

Grand Jury Expected to Promptly Find Bill Against Dr. Dumas.

Martin Behan Is Among Witnesses Before the Inquisitors.

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Before the day is over the Betrami county grand jury, which convened here yesterday, is expected to have returned an indictment against Dr. D. F. Dumas and that he will, within a week, be on trial in district court here as the result of charges brought by the state fire marshal's office, which involve robbery and incendiarism.

Dr. Dumas came to Bemidji this morning and learned that nearly all the evidence in his case had been presented and that an indictment might be expected sometime today. Following the indictment of Dr. Dumas he will be arraigned, his plea will be heard and the case set down for trial. It is expected by both sides that the case will be taken up next Tuesday.

Woman in Case Mystery.

For the first time a woman in the case was talked about today. It is understood that she is to be a witness but who will produce her and what her testimony will be, except it will create a sensation, is not known.

The first witness this morning before the grand jury was Charles Johnson, a bell boy at the hotel, who is presumed to have seen the transfer of incriminating matter bearing on the Puposky affair and now in the hands of the state.

Henry Mullen of Cass Lake, one of the signers of Dr. Dumas bond, was the second witness.

William Munhall, a bartender, was next to enter the chamber of mystery. He was employed at the Bank saloon here at the time of the Puposky robbery. Following the robbery he was arrested on the presumption that he had been a go-between, but later was released.

Anse Label of Cass Lake, the character of whose testimony cannot be learned, and "Doc" Ames, who drove Mike Davis and Martin Behan to Puposky the day before the robbery were also called.

Behan Before Grand Jury.

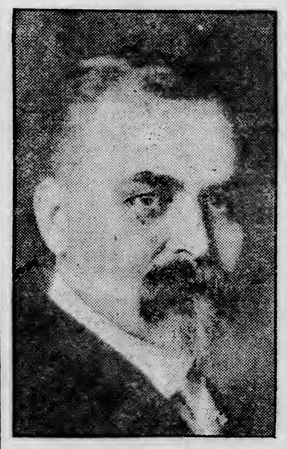

Martin Behan, who was brought to Bemidji from Wells, Wis., yesterday by State Fire Marshall Keller, was the last witness before the grand jury, and it is presumed that he told the same story that he did at the preliminary examination of Dr. Dumas, which was to the effect that he had connived with the Cass Lake mayor to rob and burn the Puposky postoffice.

It is understood that evidence has also been introduced which involves the burning of a building at Blackduck, thus dragging more persons into the case.

DR. EKLUND HANDS IN RESIGNATION

Statistics Given Relative to Asylums, Penitentiary and University.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Because insanity appears to be increasing and because of the high cost of living, the maintenance of state asylums in Minnesota has tripled within the past twenty years, according to records in the office of Walter J. Smith, state treasurer.

In 1891 it cost the state $365,940.66 to maintain three such institutions. Last year the cost of maintaining five aggregated $1,048,661.28, divided as follows: St. Peter, $308,392.91; Rochester, $280,924.79; Fergus Falls, $306,871.37; Anoka, $83,325.69; Hastings, $105,146.52; total, $1,084,661.28.

The total disbursements for the state prison alone in 1911, amounted to $1,341,646.97, while in 1881, the total disbursements for the entire state, including institutions maintenance of government and all other causes, amounted only to $1,421,813.79.

Educational Institutions Cost.

Another interesting comparison of figures is shown by disbursements to the state university and agricultural school as compared to the total taxes collected from all counties in the state some years ago. Last year, there was disbursed to the "U" and the agricultural school a total of $1,759,797.53. The total taxes collected from all counties in the state in 1904 amounted to $1,639,773.01 or more than $100,000 less than was spent on the two educational institutions last year.

SYMPATHETIC SAG IN COPPERS

Bearish Raid on General List Pulls Down Red Metal Shares.

The break that occurred today on the New York general stock list caused coppers to decline in sympathy. At the same time it is but fair to note that the coppers hold up well, in view of the sensational slump in the other stocks. There is nothing basically wrong with the coppers.

Though coppers made strong openings for the most part, and seemed on the morn of a decidedly bullish day, long before noon they began to sag, in sympathy with the general stock market. There was little in the conditions surrounding the copper market to cause any loss. London spot copper and futures both opened 5 shillings higher. It was said, however, that the German trouble had reduced the demand for the metal very materially. The Moroccan situation was declared to be still the dominant factor in the European stock markets. It was declared that on Thursday France would formally refuse the German demand and would demand commercial equality for all and an absolutely free hand politically in Moroccan territory. Whatever may be said in regard to the influence of these factors in the copper situation, it is certain that the coppers as a whole followed the trend of the general stock market at New York, and these stocks about the noon hour were very weak. One bearish factor was a rumor that the Union Pacific statement would show a decrease of $3,000,000 in the earnings. Among today's copper quotations were the following:

Amalgamated, yesterday's close, $57; today, $57.25, $57, $56.75, $56.50, $56, $55.25, $55.75, $55.37½, $55.50; Butte Ballaklava, yesterday, $4 bid, $4.50 asked; today, $4.25, $4.37½, $4.50, $4.75; Butte Coalition, yesterday, $15 bid, $15.25 asked; today, $15.12½, $14.75, $14.50; Calumet & Arizona, yesterday, $49.50 bid, $49.75 asked; today, $49.50, $50, $49.62½, $49.50, $49, $47.75, $49; Giroux, yesterday, $4.06¼ bid, 4.18¾ asked; today, $4.06¼; Greene Cananea, yesterday, $6 bid, $6.12½ asked; today, $6.06¼; North Butte, yesterday, $23.62½ bid, $23.87½ asked; today, $24, $23.50, $23.25, $23, $22.75, $23; Ojibway, yesterday, $4.50 bid, $5.50 asked; today, $5, $4.87½; Shattuck, yesterday, $16.50 asked; today, $16.50. FIRST CRIMINAL ACTION IS HEARD

Hjelmer Helgren on Trial Before Judge Dancer in District Court.

The September criminal calendar began in district court this afternoon, when the case of the state against Hjelmer Helgren, accused of abusing a female child, was called for trial.

Helgren pleaded not guilty when arraigned yesterday before Judge Cant, and the trial of the case was immediately set for today before Judge Dancer. Helgren was indicted by the September grand jury, his indictment being one of the first reported upon.

The criminal calendar is the heaviest in years, and it is expected that it will last nearly through the September term of court.

PREPARING FOR STATE CONGRESS

Executive Committee to Arrange for St. Paul Gathering Named.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Following the proclamation of the governor issued Sept. 7, providing for assembling a state congress to take up the question of fire loss in Minnesota, the executive committee to plan and arrange the congress was announced from the governor's office today. It consists of J. H. Beek, secretary of the St. Paul Association of Commerce; J. A. O. Preus, state insurance commissioner; Asa Wallace, deputy state fire marshal; James Matchitt, secretary of the state board of visitors and Louis Law.

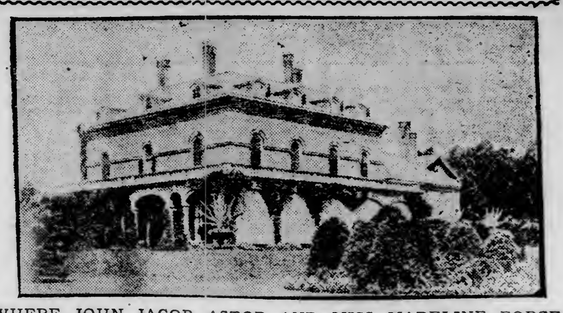

The congress is to be held in St. Paul Nov. 8.

NIMRODS IN LUCK.

Prairie Chicken Hunters in Minnesota Do Well.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Splendid success is coming to hunters after prairie chickens, according to reports which have come to the state game and fish commission. In many sections sportsmen are having no trouble in finding enough birds to provide a full day's kill. The law permits the killing of fifteen prairie chickens a day, but prescribes that not more than forty-five shall be taken by a hunter at one time.

ASTOR'S FINE HOME AT NEWPORT

WHERE JOHN JACOB ASTOR AND MISS MADELINE FORCE WERE MARRIED LAST WEEK.

DYING PRISONER WILL NOT REVEAL HIS NAME.

Leavenworth, Kan., Sept. 13.—Refusing to reveal his name or the address of relatives or friends a man who was convicted under the name of John Doe at Eau Claire, Wis., for postoffice burglary, is dying in the federal prison hospital of cancer of the stomach.

The man is about 40 years old, well educated and appears refined. Although told that he could not live twenty-four hours he today declined to identify himself.

Physician Kills Himself.

Nashville, Tenn., Sept. 13.—Bending over a shotgun and pulling the trigger with his big toe, Dr. John C. Drennan, 45 years old, a prominent physician and member of the Tennessee senate, killed himself at his home in Woodbury, Tenn., today. No cause can be assigned for his act.

INDIANAPOLIS READY FOR THE ODD FELLOWS.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 13.—With American and British flags, bunting and the four colors of the Odd Fellows already fluttering from many of the downtown buildings, Indianapolis is taking on a holiday appearance, preparatory to receiving the hosts, who will be here next week for the sovereign grand lodge meeting of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows.

Wednesday will be the big day of the week and more than 100,000 visitors are expected here for the parade, which will be held in the evening.

Arrested for Gambling.

Des Moines, Iowa, Sept. 13.—Robert O'Callaghan, former Western league magnate, today was arrested, charged with gambling, in having received bets of the recent Gotch-Hackenschmidt wrestling match. The charge was filed by Mayor James R. Hanna. O'Callaghan pleaded not guilty when arraigned in municipal court and was released on bond.

PERFECT FEMININE BEAUTY.

Art is selection. When Zeuxis sought the ideal he chose a brow from Aglaia, a nose from Lydia, a lip from Myra, an arm from Lilia, a foot from Melissa. Several ladies were laid under contribution, and through this eclectic process came perfection. Most women have one good feature. Even Katisha, in "The Mikado," with her "caricature of a face," had an elbow that people came miles to see on account of its perfection. This, then, is the true way of arriving at beauty. Choose several beauties; select the chief beauties of these several beauties; borrow a perfect eye from one, a faultless nose from another, a matchless mouth from another, and blend each feature into a beautiful whole. For it is rare that you will find two perfect features in the same face. A large, melting, violet eye, shaded by long dark lashes, an eye whose exquisite loveliness causes a thrill of admiration in the beholder, is accompanied, let us say, by a short, irregular nose. But do you notice these nasal shortcomings? Do you observe the length of the lip or the lack of chiseling in the chin? Not at all. You gaze at those glorious eyes. You are instantly under a spell, at which the dressmaker and coiffeur assist, and you go away thinking you have met the most beautiful woman you have ever seen in your life. That is why the average man is such a poor critic of female beauty. He is too much an impressionist. He feels it impossible in cold blood to analyze any other details than those which he perforce admires. Can you conceive of a man saying of a woman whose charms are manifest, "She is beautiful, I suppose; but her nose is an eighth of an inch too short, and the helix of her ear is very irregular"?

THE auction sale has closed and we take this opportunity to thank the Duluth public for the handsome patronage extended and the many expressions of confidence shown us. It was pleasing, indeed, to see so many old friends and customers almost in daily attendance, and to know that they were bringing their own friends and neighbors with them. Probably in no other city in America was such a sale ever before conducted and we are very proud of our success. Our stock was very large and it's no surprise that some merchandise yet remains. Business conditions are not the very best in any part of the country and some of our best people complained that the scarcity of money prevented them from fully satisfying their desires for jewelry. That alone explains why we have anything at all on our shelves.

Hilton Has Runaway Victory in International Golf Tournament.

Interest Centers in the Contest Between Travers and Hunter.

Rye, N. Y., Sept. 13.—The struggle between the East and West as represented by Jerome D. Travers of New York and Paul M. Hunter of Chicago, overtopped in interest the other seven matches that were played today in the second round of the amateur golf championship.

The two players stood all square on the eighth green. Travers led at the turn but Hunter evened the match at the thirteenth. Even Hilton lost his attractive powers before the Travers-Hunter contest and had only a handful of followers when he closed his first eighteen holes, 11 up on Watson.

Herreshoff ended his morning play, 2 up over Stickney.

The other five matches at the ninth hole stood as follows: Martin, 2 up on Inslee; Whittemore, 3 up on Bowers; Kirby, 4 up on Brown; Seckel and Legg, even; Evans and Jammer, even. The Hunter-Travers contest furnished far more excitement than the machine-like golf of the British champion. Hilton was not pressed by Watson for the latter was somewhat off his game.

Herreshoff and Stickney had a grand struggle to the seventh green, where Herreshoff pulled out into the lead. Whittemore had a bit the better of Bowers in the first four holes but Seckel and Legg were on even terms at the same distance.

Evans found Krammer a trifle harder proposition than was expected.

The match between Kirby and Brown was another close one. During the early states Brown narrowly missed running down a twenty-foot putt on the seventh green for the hole, but had to take a half, which made the match still all even.

FIGHTERS MUST BE LADYLIKE

Wolgast and McFarland Must Give Boxing Contest Only.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 13.—Assistant Attorney General Russell Jackson, in an opinion on the Wolgast-McFarland proposed boxing contest, says, should the affair develop into a prizefight the sheriff is at liberty to stop it.

Manitowoc, Wis., Sept. 13.—Manitowoc has made a bid for the Wolgast-McFarland fight if Milwaukee prohibits the fight next Friday night and Frank Mulkern, the Milwaukee promoter, has given local sporting men assurance that if necessary to transfer the fight from Milwaukee, Manitowoc will be given the first chance to stage it.

It is proposed to stage the fight at the fair grounds, where a big amphitheater, seating 3,500 people faces the track, upon which the ring would be erected. Business men here have contributed funds to stage the bout if necessary, and the sporting men here seem confident they will get it.

St. Leger Stake.

Doncaster, Eng., Sept. 13.—The St. Leger stakes of 6,500 sovereigns for entire colts and fillies foaled in 1908, was run at the meeting here today and won by Prince Palatine. Lycaon was second and King William third.

The winner was ridden by F. O'Neill, the American jockey, who is riding for W. K. Vanderbilt in France.

The victory was an easy one for Prince Palatine, who won by six lengths.

Rain at Lexington.

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 13.—Heavy rain for several hours today threatened to mar the opening of the Western racing season here tomorrow. It is assured that the track will be unusually heavy which may cause several important withdrawals from the autumn cup handicap, the most important event of the fall season, next to the 4-mile endurance stake at Louisville.

Matched at New Orleans.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 13.—Monte Atell, the former bantam champion, has been matched with Johnny Daley, the Jersey City bantam for a 10-round go before the Orleans A. C. Oct. 2, according to announcement made here today.

Brown After Wolgast.

Chicago, Sept. 13.—Knockout Brown, who with his manager arrived heretoday from New York, announced he had come to challenge Ad Wolgast, the lightweight champion, after the latter's proposed fight with Packey McFarland at Milwaukee on Friday. Brown twice before has met Wolgast.

ENGLAND FULL OF BEAUTIFUL WOMEN.

Strand: England is today full of beautiful women. You see them in Hyde Park, you see them in the ballroom, you see them on the stage. Their faces beam forth from a thousand photographers' shop-windows and in all the weekly illustrated papers. They are popular "beauties," beautiful by the common consent of mankind, and their charms are unmistakable even to the dullest misogynist. But do they—does any one of them—fulfill the canons of ideal beauty. Sir Thomas Lawrence, who painted more beautiful women than perhaps any man of his day, confessed that he had never had a sitter whom he had never had to idealize—whose features, forehead, eyes, nose, mouth, chin, neck, and bust were all harmonious. If this difficulty confronted the portrait painter, how much more would it prove a stumbling block to the painter of ideal subjects, if he were forced to confine himself to the living model? Of course, the Impressionists and the Post-Impressionists and the ultra-modern school of portrait-painting would have no difficulty, because their cult is ugliness—"all they have to do, apparently," as a recent critic of the Fair Women Exhibition remarked, "is to pick out the plainest scullerymaid of their acquaintance, paint her faithfully, and entitle the result 'Venus,' 'Helen,' 'Guinevere,' or 'Ninon l'Enclos,' according to their taste or their reading."

LAWYERS CLOSE WHITTIER CASE

Both Sides Heard By Board of Control as to Law and Conditions.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Neither the board of control nor Supt. Whittier has the legal right to authorize or sanction such bodily punishments as have been inflicted on inmates of the training school at Red Wing during the administration of Frank A. Whittier, according to the testimony and admissions in the hearing on charges filed by Ralph Wheelock for the removal of Mr. Whittier.

This, in a nutshell, was the closing argument this morning before the board by E. P. Sanborn, Mr. Wheelock's attorney. He spoke for an hour and forty-five minutes dispassionately, with frequent references to the state institution and to general authorities, giving the interpretation of the law of the land. The punishments were unjustified and unlawful, he said.

Judge F. M. Wilson, when he opened his argument this afternoon, immediately assumed the ground that the relationship is that of a parent to his children. He advanced the contention that the punishments were not excessive, inasmuch as they did no lasting mischief and left no bodily injuries. Replying to the charge that they were often inflicted to extort confessions, he said they were administered for lying or extended because the boys lied while being beaten.

Winter Rates at the St. Louis.

The winter rates are now in effect at the St. Louis hotel, and if you want a pleasant room at a modest cost, now is the time to arrange for it. Save yourself the annoyance of living way out this winter, and live downtown, where the rooms are always warm and the eating good, and no icy, cold hills to climb.

Back in Jail Again.

Ed Griffin was in the police court grist this morning after an absence of several months, being charged with drunkenness. He is a young man, and last winter Chief Troyer received a letter from Griffin's mother in Michigan, asking him to help her locate him. He refused to go home, however. He entered a plea of guilty today and got $3 or three days in the county jail. Griffin was arrested several times last winter.

WITHOUT REGARD TO EXPENSE.

Philadelphia Times: After a week in the country, up in Montgomery county, a prominent lawyer returned to town determined to stay there during the summer. But before coming home he had the satisfaction of telling the keeper of the "real old country boarding farmhouse" just what he thought of things.

"There is one thing on your table," said the lawyer, "which is not to be excelled by the best hotels of New York or Philadelphia."

"What is it?" asked the farmer.

"The salt," answered the attorney with a fine display of biting sarcasm.

"Well, I'm glad ye liked it," returned the farmer. "It's the best Jimson's keep, an' I ain't pertickler about the price."

NEW PASTOR IS COMING

Rev. C. A. Joranson Will Preach First Sermon in Duluth Sunday.

Succeeds Rev. Schevenius at Bethany Norwegian-Danish M. E. Church.

Rev. C. A. Joranson, the newly elected pastor of Bethany Norwegian-Danish M. E. church, Sixty-fifth avenue west and Polk street, will probably arrive in the city Friday. Sunday, he will preach his first sermon to the local congregation.

Rev. Mr. Joranson came to this country nine years ago. He took a course at the Garrett Biblical Institute at Evanston, Ill., graduating in the 1909 class. He was called to the Immanual M. E. church of the Norwegian-Danish conference in Ashland two years ago.

REV. C. A. JORANSON.

At the recent annual conference, following the election of Rev. C. W. Schevenius of West Duluth to a chair in the theological department of Northwestern university, Rev. Mr. Joranson was transferred from Ashland to the West Duluth charge to succeed Rev. Mr. Schevenius.

A farewell reception has been arranged Friday evening at Bethany church for Rev. Mr. Schevenius, who preached his farewell sermon last Sunday.

Child Dies.

Joseph Adolph Harkwell, 1-year-old son of Adolph Harkwell of 3818 Traverse street, died this morning. The funeral will take place tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock from the residence to Calvary cemetery.

Funeral of Child.

The funeral of Albert Raymond Carlson, 8-year-old son of Robert Carlson, section foreman for the Duluth, Missabe & Northern at Saginaw, Minn., who died of infantile paralysis yesterday at Saginaw, took place this morning from the Richter & Bellmeur undertaking rooms, 425 Central avenue at 10:30 o'clock to Park Hill cemetery.

OLD SOLDIER IS SUMMONED

John Abair, Aged 65, Civil War Veteran, Dies at West Duluth Home.

John Abair, a Civil war veteran and a member of the Willis A. Gorman post of the Grand Army of the Republic, died this morning of dropsy at his home in the Merrill & Ring row, No. 5, South Fifty-first avenue west. He was 65 years old.

Mr. Abair is survived by a wife and two sons, Felix, who resides at 318 North Fifty-third avenue west and John, who lived at home. He had been a resident of West Duluth for twenty years.

The funeral will take place Friday morning at 9 o'clock from St. James Catholic church to Calvary cemetery. Rev. D. W. Lynch, pastor, will conduct the services.

PLAYS FOOTBALL AND BREAKS ARM

West Duluth Boy Meets With First Accident of the Fall Season.

To Donald Gaspard, No. 10 Woodward block, West Duluth, the 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Matt Gaspard, belongs the distinction of being the first youngster in the city injured or maimed playing football this fall.

Donald this morning before school got under a pile of juvenile humanity, was stepped on several times, and emerged with a broken arm. It was the first accident to mar the usual morning scrimmage at the Irving school.

Donald was taken to the Duluth hospital, where Dr. Graham dressed his injured arm. Donald's parents are in St. Paul, where they have been called on account of the death of Mr. Gaspard's mother.

DISLIKED BOARD BILLS.

But New Duluth Man Under Arrest Showed Foudness for Trinkets.

Vincent Rosan, aged 36, who has a decided distaste for board bills, is passionately fond of jewelry.

When Vincent was taken into custody yesterday afternoon by Sergeant Barber, and Officers L. A. and L. D. Root at New Duluth and charged with defrauding a boarding housekeeper of a board bill amounting to $19.60, he had an abundance of trinkets on his person.

At the West Duluth police station when searched, there was found on the prisoner, $15.41 in cash, 1 gold watch and fob, 1 silver watch and fob, 1 agate watch charm, 1 Knights of Fythias lodge charm, another lodge pin, 1 small gold chain ring, 1 pearl handled knife, 1 small locket, a key ring with keys and a tobacco pouch.

Rosan was arrested on a warrant sworn out in the West Duluth justice court. When arraigned before Justice Moran this morning, he entered a plea of not guilty. The case was set over until this afternoon.

LOSES LIQUOR AND HAS TO PAY FINE OF $102.50.

Peter Sedich is loser by 100 gallons of liquor and $102.50 cash for trying to evade the liquor ordinance, which requires that a license must be purchased before intoxicants can be sold. Sedich runs a boarding house at New Duluth and when the police raided the place they found a full-fledged saloon running under only a government license. The liquor was confiscated and Sedich was fined when arraigned yesterday afternoon in police court. Sophia Bidjew, also arrested on the same charge was released on a suspended sentence.

Case Dismissed.

Justice Moran of the West Duluth court this morning dismissed the assault case brought by Steve Polovich against Pete Polovich, both laborers at the coke ovens. Pete is said to have struck Steve because the latter had made derogatory remarks about the former's wife. The failure of the complainant to appear in court this morning was the cause for the dismissal.

PLACE BAN ON "WHITE OWL"

Wardens Determined to Prevent Serving of Game Birds in Cafes.

Close Watch Is Kept on Travelers and Railroad Employes.

Downtown hotel and restaurant proprietors who wish to supply their patrons with game birds, contrary to the law, which prohibits their sale, are doing so at the imminent risk of being put to considerable expense. The poachers or persons who sell them are also liable to arrest.

The depots and railway trains are being watched closely by the game wardens as are all cafes. It is claimed that some of the railroad employes buy the birds along their routes for a comparatively small sum and bring them into the city, where they get high prices for them. Several railroad men are under suspicion and they are likely to get into the toils of the law if they do not abandon the practice.

"We are not joking about this," said one of the wardens yesterday. "It's business. The hunting in this part of the country is good now, and it should be kept so. There is plenty of game for legitimate hunters, and we do not propose to let the pot hunters and those who kill for the market do as they please. A large number of arrests have already been made in different parts of the county, and more will follow. We have several warrants now which will be served as soon as we can locate the men. We have the evidence to get convictions and the tendency of the courts has not been to be lenient towards this class of offenders."

Game Birds Confiscated.

Monday afternoon Wardens Thomas J. Storey and G. H. Huseby made the rounds of every hotel and cafe in the downtown district. Every ice box and all hiding places which they could find were examined. Nineteen birds were confiscated at the Spalding and four at the St. Louis. It cost the latter $42.50 on an employe pleading guilty in police court yesterday afternoon. The penalty is $10 for each bird, which makes them a millionaire's luxury. No one from the Spalding has yet been arraigned.

Those who believe that they can smuggle birds into the city in their suit cases or other receptacles are likely to run against a snag which will surprise them. A good bird dog can scent a bird whether it is in the woods or inside a case, and with wardens being aided by an intelligent dog, it will be an accident if the smuggler escapes detection. It is claimed that the dogs will also scent venison or other wild meat which is carried in that manner.

Most of the hunters who have gone after prairie chickens report success. All of them have seen plenty of birds. Those who have good dogs with them have come back with about all the birds the law allows. No more than fifteen can be killed in one day and no person is allowed to have more than forty-five birds in his possession at one time. The limit for ducks is not more than fifteen birds in one day or not more than fifty in possession at one time. Some ducks have been killed in the vicinity of the city, but sportsmen state that it is yet too early for this kind of shooting. The northern flight will not start until freezing weather sets in.

SALMON CAVIAR.

Daily Consular and Trade Reports: The ever increasing demand and the diminishing supply of sturgeon caviar led fishermen of Eastern Siberia to experiment with salmon roe, which had not only been considered useless for human consumption, but had even been looked upon as injurious to health.

Up to 1907 the fishermen in the neighborhood of Nicolaevsk considered salmon roe as valueless, but from that time it was demonstrated that caviar could be made so as to prove commercially profitable and of such a quality that although it cannot compare with the taste of the sturgeon caviar it is nevertheless a great delicacy.

Vast quantities of salmon roe are annually destroyed in Alaska, as they have discovered no means of preserving it, and should a taste be created in the United States for caviar of this kind it would develop into a very important industry. The limited supply of sturgeon caviar and the consequent high prices places it beyond the reach of many who enjoy such delicacies, whereas salmon caviar could take its place and be practically within the reach of all.

ELECTRICITY IN THE AIR.

Chicago Tribune: We have a comparatively new trouble with our teeth in which the teeth loosen in the jaw without apparent cause and drop out, leaving the dentist in mystery. In these recent years the general tendency toward baldness has been marked as unusually apparent. Are the electric waves used night and day in wireless telegraphy a cause?

Prof. Hensingmuller suspects they may be. The effect of electrolysis is marked as it escapes from the cables of a power station. He says that in sending of a wireless message only one mile, that portion of the electric energy used is only 1-300,000,000ths of the energy expended. The rest goes into the air.

THOUSANDS HAVE MADE MISTAKE

Confusion Over Filing for Rosebud and Pine Ridge Lands.

Dallas, S. D., Sept. 13.—Because of a confused notion on the question of mailing applications for the Rosebud and Pine Ridge land openings, nearly 10,000 persons living in all sections of the United States have made a faulty start in the proposition of trying for one of these farms.

Almost that many applications have so far been mailed direct to Judge James W. Witten at Dallas, without previously being executed at one of the registration towns as required by law. The registration period here extends from Oct. 2 to 21.

Kansas City, Sept. 13.—Resolutions were presented to the convention of the International Union of Bakery and Confectionery Workers' union today urging the establishment of a bakers' home to be opened on the same scheme as the printers' home in Colorado Springs.

New York, Sept. 13.—Firemen on the Erie railroad have made demands for increased pay of between 10 and 12 per cent. A year ago the firemen were granted a 10 per cent increase.

BARNUM FAIR IS OPENED

"Best Fair We Ever Had," Says President Patterson.

Cloquet Will Celebrate Holiday and Attend Exhibit Thursday.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Barnum, Minn., Sept. 13.—With favorable weather, the annual Carlton county fair at Barnum opened this morning under ideal conditions.

The number of exhibits exceeds that of any former year, and the quality of the produce shown has never been equaled in the history of the fair.

The Barnum fair is rapidly becoming one of the most famous county fairs held in the state of Minnesota. No county can boast of the friendly rivalry between the farmers that Carlton can, and they make every effort to carry off the prizes offered. This rivalry also extends to the women, and their displays are remarkable for the care shown in their preparation.

President H. R. Patterson formally declared the fair open at 9 o'clock this morning. Even at that early hour there was a good crowd at the gates, and the morning train from Duluth brought down a big delegation.

Tomorrow will be the big day at the fair. Cloquet stores will be closed for the day, and 500 people are expected to attend from the lumber town. The big racing program will be held Thursday afternoon, and the biggest attendance of the three days is expected then. A special train will be run, leaving Barnum for Duluth between 5:30 and 6 o'clock, so that Duluth and Cloquet people may come down on the morning train and return in the evening. This evening and Friday evening the limited will stop at Barnum, so that visitors to the fair will be able to return to Duluth if they so desire.

"It promises to be the best fair we ever had," said President Patterson this morning. "We want every knocker of Northern Minnesota lands to come to Barnum and have his eyes opened."

COMPLAINT FILED WITH COMMISSION

Duluth Case Asks for Readjustment of All Freight Rates.

All freight rates, class and commodity, between Duluth and points in North Dakota, South Dakota, Iowa, Missouri, Nebraska and Kansas, and some points in Minnesota, are attacked in a complaint filed by traffic commission of the Commercial club with the interstate commerce commission at Washington today.

The complaint, mention of which was made by The Herald last week, states that the rates maintained by the six-teen railroad companies mentioned in the complaint, to stations in the states named, are unjust and unreasonable in themselves; that rates preferential to Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul, Minneapolis and other distributing centers are maintained, and that the long and short haul clause of the interstate commerce act is being violated.

Demand is made that the commission adjust the rates upon an equitable basis so that they shall be preferential to no community and discriminatory against no city.

WEST END

LOSERS WILL PRESENT TROPHY TO WINNERS.

At the annual picnic of the Catholic Order of Foresters held a few weeks ago, St. Louis court, No. 177, outpulled St. James court, No. 675, in a tug of war contest and tonight the former organization will be presented with a trophy by the officials of the St. James court of West Duluth.

The meeting will be held in St. Jean Baptiste hall, Twenty-fifth avenue west and Third street and several speeches will be made. During the evening, the trophy, a handsome checker board will be officially turned over to the West end Foresters by officials of the West Duluth order.

A good program has been arranged in connection with the gathering this evening.

FIRST OF SERIES OF BIBLE STUDY CLASSES.

The first of the series of weekly Bible study meetings to be held under the direction of Rev. J. A. McGaughey at the Second Presbyterian church, 1515 West Superior street, this fall, will take place this evening, commencing at 7:45 o'clock.

The subject this evening will be "The Early Christian Church." A comparative study will be made of the early Apostolic church and the present day organization. Men and women, old or young are invited to attend. The study will last for one hour.

Western Editor Here.

J. W. Hill, until a year ago, editor of the Selina City Index of Selina City, Cal., former mayor of the California city and now its postmaster, and Mrs. Hill are in the West end today as guests of Mr. Hill's brother, Sanford W. Hill of the West end, who is president of the West End Commercial club. Mr. and Mrs. Hill have spent the past four months visiting various points of interest in Europe.

Fall Festival.

A festival was held last evening at the Salvation Army hall, 1631 West Superior street, under the auspices of the local Scandinavian corps and the Superior branch. Tonight and tomorrow evening there will be a sale in progress. Gifts of all kinds will be received by Adjutant Wallin, officer in charge.

Saaf Child Dies.

The funeral of Earl William, 4-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest V. Saaf of 326 North Twenty-third avenue west, who died yesterday afternoon at St. Luke's hospital, will take place Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence with burial in Lutheran cemetery. Rev. C. G. Olson, pastor of Bethany Swedish Lutheran church, will officiate.

West End Briefs.

Rev. George E. Silloway, pastor of Grace M. E. church, and his bride, arrived in the city yesterday after a two weeks' honeymoon trip. They will live at the parsonage, 310 North Twenty-third avenue west.

The last of the series of dancing parties to be held this summer under the auspices of the Adams Athletic association will take place tomorrow evening at Lincoln park pavilion. The parties have been very popular and a large crowd is expected tomorrow evening.

Mr. and Mrs. John Moir of 2714 West Second street have gone to Bell Rock, Ont., to spend a week's vacation with relatives.

Mrs. Stanley E. Alvord and son of Rhinelander, Wis., who have been visiting at the home of her brother, I. W. Smith of 219 Vernon street, have returned to their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Hjalmar Berglund returned yesterday to their home in Kansas City, Mo., after a visit for the past summer at the home of the former's sister, Mrs. Peter Olson of 806 North Twenty-third avenue west.

L. A. Simonson of 2102 West Superior street left this morning for a short business trip to Poste, Minn.

Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Plummer of 2825 West First street have returned from a visit to the state fair.

The Ladies' Aid society of Grace M. E. church was entertained this afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. W. Cummings of 2732 West Second street.

Mrs. Peter Olson of North Twenty-third avenue west returned yesterday from a visit to Alpha, Minn.

Expert watch repairing. M. N. Berg, 1928 West Superior street.

AMUSEMENTS

TONIGHT'S ATTRACTIONS.

LYCEUM—Chauncey Olcott.
ORPHEUM—Vaudeville.
EMPRESS—Vaudeville.

Amusement Notes.

Every business man likes to save money, and when his customers request him to do so, he is liable to comply with their wishes. There is a man in the theatrical business who at the present time is being besieged by thousands of his customers to save a whole lot of money next season, and yet he will not comply with their requests. That man is Augustus Pitou, the manager of Chauncey Olcott. When this gentleman first launched Chauncey Olcott as a star, he promised the public that he would give them a new play each season, and so far he has complied with that promise. Ever since the first production of "Macushla" (Pulse of My Heart), the play in which Mr. Olcott is appearing this season, Mr. Pitou has been urged and begged to continue the same next season. Mr. Pitou replied by stating that he retires from theatrical business at the close of this season forever, and has referred all applicants for a decision to Mr. Olcott. The demands upon Mr. Olcott have become so insistent that he is nearly distracted, but states positively that after this season this play will be shelved and a new one prepared for next season. When it is known that the cost of making a new theatrical production is at least $20,000, every dollar of which could be saved by Mr. Olcott if he would continue the play for another year, his resolution is remarkable.

The rather pale looking young woman who stands on the Orpheum stage at every performance, and allows Fred Lindsay, the Australian whip expert, to crack a twenty-five foot lash in close proximity to her face, and then wrap the vicious looking whip around her neck, is making her stage debut under circumstances that would daunt almost any woman.

The young woman is a Duluthian. Miss Mary McGinnis. She was employed at the theatre as checkroom operator. Mr. Lindsay arrived in the city minus one assistant, and Miss McGinnis was impressed into service. It required some courage to stand up before the cracking whip, which makes a report like a pistol shot, and when this was added to the trial of making a first appearance in front of an audience, it is scarcely to be wondered at that the young woman was pale. She went through her first performance without a hitch, and is now working like a veteran. Mr. Lindsay has engaged her as a regular member of his company, and she will leave at the end of the week for Winnipeg.

"How did we happen to choose the college boy as our subject for ridicule?" repeated Kenny, of Kenny and Hollis, playing at the Empress, to his questioner. "We didn't really choose him at all. The college boy just forced himself upon us, like some relatives seem to enjoy doing. The poor Hebrew has been dragged about the 'boards,' for years, the old Irishman and his pipe, have been joked and sung about, the chuckling Dutchman has had his day, and when Hollis and I decided to cast our lot together we did not know just whom to chose for ridicule and goodnatured fun. Hollis admitted to me that he would make a frightful Jew, and I in turn admitted to Hollis that I couldn't speak broken English if I tried.

"Our inspiration came last summer, while making a change of trains up in one of the Northeastern states. We were standing about the dinkey, little railroad station, when a tallyho drove up and about a dozen young men alighted. They wore soft, flat hats, with little letters tacked in the front. They smoked curved pipes and straight pipes, walked about the place with a sort of I-am-a-college-boy air, and made all sorts of fun at the expense of the lone station hand and the railroad.

"Hollis said to me, 'Kenny, I guess maybe some of the comic supplement artists wouldn't go crazy if they ever saw that.' We watched the youths all the time they were visible, Hollis paying particular attention to the glide of one of them, and the cut of his clothes. On the way to the next town, we figured out our act, decided that we would have to have some of those clothes and that Hollis would have to have one of those pipes. The rest was easy."

TO CONDEMN PROPERTY FOR CAPITOL GROUNDS.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The state capitol grounds commission has instructed Attorney General Simpson to condemn two lots west of the capitol, owned by Michael Ryan. He asks $25,000 for them, and the commission believes the price is too high. Acquisition of these lots will give title to the entire triangular piece of property just west of the capitol.

Won Both Prizes.

Knoxville, Tenn., Sept. 13.—At the Appalachian exposition last night ribbons were awarded in the $1,000 saddle horse stake for five-gaited saddle horses. In this event Kentucky's Choice, owned by Mrs. Richard T. Lowndes, of Danville, Ky., and Gypsy Dare, owned by the same lady, captured both the blue and red ribbons respectively.

CHINAMAN SENTENCED.

Hop Sing of Baraga, Mich., Goes to Penitentiary.

Marquette, Mich., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Hop Sing, a Baraga laundryman, pleaded guilty in circuit court here to taking liberties with a young white woman of Marquette and was sentenced by Judge Flannigan from two to ten years in the penitentiary.

William Huttunen of Negaunee, who was charged with selling liquor to five different boys under age, pleaded guilty to two of the charges and was fined $200 in one and $50 in the other, the costs in the two cases being $11. As these two convictions will put Mr. Huttunen out of the saloon business under the state law, the other three cases were dropped.

Senator Visits Old Home.

Marinette, Wis., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Senator Isaac Stephenson has left on a visit to his old home in Maine and New Brunswick, accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. Joshua Hedgins, William Stephenson and his niece, Mrs. Bertha Baker. The senator left New Brunswick in October, 1845, to come to Milwaukee and he has not visited his old home for many years.

CHILD TRAVELS FROM KAMCHATKA

Girl of 9 Goes Half Way Around World Alone, Joining Father.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Jenny Bonny Bobrowski, the 9-year-old daughter of a Soo tailor, has arrived here from Kamchatka Island, an isolated Russian port, after being separated two years from her father and away from any relatives or friends other than those made during the time.

The entire distance from Kamchatka to the Soo was made by the little girl without being accompanied by anyone other than the casual travelers on the way. The girl was left in Kamchatka by her father who sailed for Nome on a ship that refused to take women and children. It was expected that she would be able to get a ship in a short time and join her father, but it was not until two years had gone by that a vessel entered the isolated port. The girl is in good health and gives evidence of having had good care during her trip of nearly around the world and which consumed ten weeks.

ELECTRIC IRON CAUSES $10,000 FIRE LOSS.

Brainerd, Minn., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—A twelve-pound electric iron, used for pressng clothes, caused a fire at the H. F. Michael company store and before it was extinguished, the fire and the water used did about $10,000 damage.

The sudden pressure of the city pumps at the time of the Michael fire caused two breaks in the water mains, one at Eighth and Norwood and the other at Fifth and Front streets. Water was turned off half a day while workmen hurriedly repaired the damage.

Brainerd Shop Employe Hurt.

Brainerd, Minn., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ottu Lura, a Finn, employed at the new car shops, was severely injured in the left eye when a piece of bolt struck him.

Suspects Arrested in Connection With Marmarth Killing.

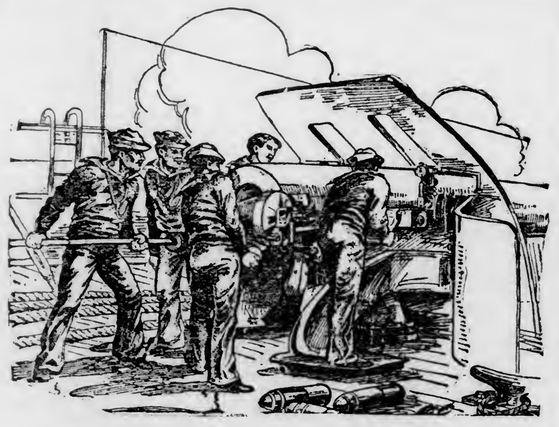

Medora, N. D., Sept. 13.—Herbert Glass of Marmarth has been committed to jail here for keeping a nuisance nuisance. Thomas Carbery of the same place has been committed, charged with murdering Thomas Corcoran at Marmarth, Sept. 3.

Glass is supposed to be connected with the murder.

Corcoran was shot twice and Carbery has a bullet hole in his leg, supposed to have been made while Glass was shooting at Corcoran.

Minneapolis Museum Plans.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 13.—The building committee of the Minneapolis Society of Fine arts has decided to institute a limited competition to be engaged in by six of the best qualified architects of the United States for the proposed art museum plans.

The Food Behind the Men Behind the Gun

When the American Battleship Fleet visited the Thames last November, the London Daily Mirror sent a representative aboard the flagship with instructions to find out the cause of the superior physical condition of the American Jack-tar over the average British Blue-jacket.

An officer of the American flagship, upon being questioned regarding the food of the American Navy, said: "They have the best food of any navy on earth, and when they ask for more—like Oliver Twist—they have it without question."

Then the chief commissariat steward handed the newspaper man a sample breakfast bill of fare: It read:

Soft boiled eggs (two)
Poast Toasties with milk
Bread, butter and coffee.

Post Toasties

are a delicious, nourishing food made of white Indian corn.

Crisp and tempting, this food is the wholesome favorite for breakfast with hundreds of thousands at home and abroad.

Extensive Showing Stylish Tailored Suits at 25.00

—Women with twenty-five dollars to spend for a stylish Fall suit will find much to interest them here Thursday. To sell at that price we have assembled 75 choice suits that embody splendid tailoring, materials and style.

—The garments are specially tailored to our specifications by a house that received our entire order for $25 suits—and a good sized order it was, too—and are uncommonly well made. The materials are pretty new worsteds, diagonals, cheviots, men's wear serges and mixtures; these in shades of navy, brown, gray and black. The coats are cut 28 inches and lined with yarn dyed satin. The skirts are cut in the newest styles and are faultlessly tailored.

—There's individuality, style and fitting qualities to these suits that one might expect of garments priced about $10 more, but never expect to find in ones priced so low as these—$25.

Well Tailored Suits 14.95

—Compare these garments with what you will ordinarily see at $19.50, and you will find many points of resemblance. These are expertly tailored from Lymonsville cheviot and serge, embodying all the newest style ideas, with jaunty 28-inch coats, satin lined and fashionable straight line skirts.

—Seldom will one see such suits priced so low as $14.95.

New Polo Coats at 19.50

—There's wide range of styles in these jaunty polo coats. They are exceptionally well tailored from soft, thick, materials that give maximum warmth from minimum weight. There are belted or semi-fitted styles for both ladies and misses and they're priced at only $19.50.

Black Broadcloth Coats at 12.50

—Dressy garments, tailored from selected broadcloth in plain semi-fitted 54-inch models. They are lined to the waist with yarn dyed satin and made with notch collar. Their graceful lines and perfect fit will appeal strongly when you slip one on, and a glimpse at the price ticket will convert admiration into determination to own one. The price is $12.50.

Pretty Tailored Waists 1.25

—It is not often that one has such a splendid lot of stylish waists to select from at this price. These are newest models, and are pleated or tucked, or with plain or embroidered panels, some with side button effects, and they're selling Thursday at $1.25.

Black and Colored Petticoats 95c

—This purchase of 25 dozen comes from a factory that usually makes only high class goods, but to fill in a dull period made us a quantity of chambray, sateen and gingham petticoats, just to keep operatives busy. They are in black and colors, made with deep flounce, and dust ruffle, and remarkable values Thursday at 95c.

—Apparel Salon, Second Floor.

EDITORIAL

Good Values.

—Good Values rank second in importance only to dependable merchandise in a successful store's policy.

—The term Good Values is often considered a generic one. With this store it has a specific meaning—dependable merchandise at lowest prices.

—Besides dependability, two important elements are essential to make good values—superior buying ability and lower selling cost. The Glass Block Store by reason of its size, has superior buying advantages, and from its great outlet, enjoys a very low selling cost.

—It is, therefore, a store of GOOD VALUES.

—Subsequent editorials will deal further with elements of store policy.

A New Toy for Children—Bing's Famous Walking Dogs

—Toy inventors are constantly trying to invent something new. Here is one who has succeeded admirably and produced a walking dog, not an ordinary toy, but a dog that moves its little feet and legs true to life.

—The above illustration accurately portrays the joy the little folks get from the toys and shows some of the different species, which include French poodle, Terrier, Dachshund. Prices range from $1.49, $1.98 up to $3.50.

WOMAN'S REALM.

The handsome F. A. Patrick residence at Twenty-third avenue east and Superior street was the scene of a beautiful wedding last evening when Miss Barbara Patrick became the bride of Dr. Floyd Ferdinand Clark. Dr. A. W. Ryan of St. Paul's Episcopal church read the impressive service at 8:30 o'clock in the presence of relatives and twenty-five guests.

The bridal party descended the broad stairs to the living room to strains of the wedding march played by A. F. M. Custance. Miss Marie Agatin and Miss Elsie Wall were first, and they stretched the white satin ribbons down the long room to the alcove at the opposite end, which had been inclosed with soft white hangings over which ropes of Southern smilax were hung, and in which an altar lighted with two candelabra each holding seven lighted tapers had been built.

The bride's sister, Miss Isabel Patrick as maid of honor, was the next in the procession followed by little Miss Louise Moyer attired in a dainty lingerie frock over pink silk and carrying a basket tied with pink ribbon and filled with pink and white rose petals. The bride came next on her father's arm and they were met at the altar by Dr. Clark attended by Dr. William Abbott.

Miss Agatin wore a pretty gown of crepe de meteor shaded from pale pink to the American beauty shades. Miss Elsie Wall wore a pretty gown of pale pink chiffon over green silk and they carried sheath bouquets of pink and white asters.

Miss Patrick wore a handsome gown of white satin with an overgown of two shades of lavender trimmed with beads and she carried an arm bouquet of Killarney roses.

The bride's gown was of ivory satin trimmed with Venetian lace. The sleeves were short and the neck was cut square without a collar. The long court train was made separate from the skirt and hung from the shoulders. There was no trimming on the skirt. Her long bridal veil which fell to the hem was caught with a wreath of orange blossoms which puffed the veil out into a pretty little cap. The young women all wore their hair high and done plainly.

In the receiving line with Dr. and Mrs. Clark and Mr. and Mrs. Patrick were Miss Patrick, Dr. Abbott, Mrs. M. F. Jamar, Jr., Mrs. Moyer and Mrs. E. Wohlfarth.

Mrs. Patrick's gown was of peacock blue chiffon and satin. Mrs. Jamar wore a lavender crepe de chene with trimmings of English point lace. Mrs. Moyer was in pale blue silk, and Mrs. Wohlfarth wore a gown of black lace over white satin.

The living room was effectively trimmed with white asters and autumn leaves massed over mantel and archways, and in the dining room where Miss Wall and Miss Agatin served, the decorations were in green and white, a large mound of white asters being used as the centerpiece. Miss Helen Wall was at the punch bowl.

The bride's bouquet which was a beautiful shower arrangement of lilies of the valley and white orchids, was caught by Miss Margaret McKindley.

Dr. and Mrs. Clark left for a Southern trip and after Nov. 1 will reside at 125 Ninth avenue east.

MATINEE MUSICALE

Will Try to Double Membership.

An important meeting of the membership committee of the Matinee Musicale club was held yesterday afternoon with the president of the club, Mrs. George S. Richards, 212 South Sixteenth avenue east, to plan for work on the campaign for new members, which the committee is arranging.

One thousand circular letters have been sent out by the committee telling of the advantages of the club membership and the work to be done by the club during the next year. These will be sent out to those whose names have appeared on the membership lists in former years and who have dropped out, and to new residents in the city. Anyone who is interested in the club work who does not receive one of these letters may have one sent by notifying the chairman of the committee, Mrs. D. H. Day, at the residence of Mrs. Henry Smith, 1231 East Superior street.

This committee is on its first year's work, as it has been recently appointed by Mrs. Richards and with enthusiastic work the members feel confident that they shall double the membership of the club for this season. Those who attended the meeting yesterday were: Mrs. D. H. Day, Mrs. G. G. Hartley, Mrs. G. Herbert Jones, Mrs. Otto Hartman, Mrs. Ernest Lachmund and Miss Isabel Pearson.

The club season opens Oct. 4 with president's day, at which time Mrs. Frank O'Meara of St. Paul will sing a delightful program.

DEGREE OF HONOR.

Grand Recorder to Visit Here and Mayor Will Speak.

A number of delegates to the convention of the Degree of Honor lodge which will be held tomorrow are expected from the range towns and the Twin Cities. Progress Lodge, No. 8, of Duluth, will entertain the delegates at an open meeting in the afternoon at Columbia hall at Twentieth avenue west at which Mayor Cullum will deliver the address of welcome.

Miss Lucile Fleming of St. Paul, grand recorder for the lodge, will come to Duluth to attend the convention and will speak at the afternoon meeting.

The evening meeting will be a closed meeting with Mrs. Esther Butchart, chief of honor of the lodge, in the chair.

A banquet will be served at 6 o'clock by the ladies of the local order and the evening meeting will open at 8.

SEEN IN THE SHOPS.

Shopper Sees Shoes for Fall Wear.

The shopper wanted to know "what was what" in shoes for this fall and she saw some fine lines in the Duluth shops.

"Of course browns," said the obliging shoeman, "will be very strong this year just as they are in everything else. We have heavy and light tans in button and lace, although the buttoned boots are the most favored.

"This is also going to be a good year for novelty shoes," he continued. "Shoes of satin, velvet and cravanet will be worn a good deal made up entirely of one material or the two combined."

He displayed some pretty satin boots in brown, black and grey which were decidedly pretty. They were a little higher than the ordinary boot, with short vamps and a fetching little tassel at the top. The prices for these were $5 and $6.

"How are the suedes this season?" asked the shopper and she was informed that suedes are considered by the shoe dealers as staple goods now. "They have gained such popularity that we always carry them," he said.

In the heavy walking shoe they were showing some heavy dull calf skin boots both button and lace, which they priced at $4 and $5 a pair. These are fine shoes for skating or walking.

Cloth tops are as much in favor this season as they have been for several years, that is for the black shoes and both the patent leather and the gun metal shoes come with cloth tops, either buttoned or laced.

CLOSING OF CLUB CAFES.

Last Dance at Country Club—Boat Club Dances Continue.

The last regular dinner dance for the season will be held tomorrow evening ar the Northland Country club. There will be music and dancing during the evening and during the dinner hour Bertha James Gilbert will sing. These dinner dance nights at the club have proved most popular this year and numerous parties have been made up for these evenings. A number of reservations for small parties have already been made for tomorrow evening.

The cafes at the Duluth Boat club have been closed so that corn roasts have become more popular than ever, and small picnic suppers are being enjoyed.

The regular Saturday evening dancing parties will be continued at the Boat club for several weeks.

Keep Up the Circulation

By CARA REESE.

A good circulation might help your case. A good circulation might prove an efficacious remedy for depression, the blues, tired nerves and all that.

A good circulation helps newspapers, and it ought to be beneficial to readers. Some of the learned people say that circulation is everything if one desires health, longevity and a joyful spirit. They say that it is only necessary to keep a sprightly move on in the arteries and that all ills of mind and body will vanish. It seems then that more attention should be paid to whooping up the circulation. A sluggish and stagnant movement in the veins and a dead and alive heart as a pumping machine cannot but produce the heaviness of spirit and leaden activity of body of which you complain.

Look to the circulation. A little more oxygen or ozone might liven up the situation. You may receive such an intake by staying out in the air as much as possible and inhaling that which is pure. You may help your circulation by inflating your lungs with the invigorating elixir of outdoors. If the atmosphere lies heavy in your particular place of residence, then hie yourself for a long walk out into the woods or over the farm lands. It is all a matter of circulation, the lassitude, the inertia and the run-down condition. Get the circulation into sparkling, running order and there is a general tone-up and a good feeling prevails. Exactly like the newspaper—everything is all right when the circulation is in fine trim.

Come to think of it, there are important organs involved in the circulatory system. There is the heart for one main thing. Then there are the wonderful arteries on which life itself depends. These arteries may not be allowed to become weakened, nor hardened, nor as channels for deposits of acid. Keep the blood moving. Ah, if you might only see your circulation as the veins see it!

Poor veins with purplish black sluggish material, deficiency in oxygen, excess in carbonic acid gas, what must they think of the whole machine? Your cue, and the easiest place to start in a general toning up, is to put the circulation into decent and respectable working order. Fill the lungs with fresh air and oxygen and start the stagnant circulation. Walk briskly, exercise, not overdoing but little by little until the great circulatory system is leaping and bubbling. Circulation means literally a moving about or going from place to place like money, for instance; or mounting higher like the newspaper. Keep up the circulation.

When Men Should Propose

By ALVA ARMSTRONG.

A man may certainly propose to a girl, although he is not in a position to marry. He might lose the only girl he could ever really love did he refrain from "the question," and she might lose, by his silence, the only man who could make her a good husband.

But there are many men who consider it a point of honor not to "formally bind" a girl until their own position is secured. This may sound all right, but it does not work out very satisfactorily, for the girl at any rate. To the man the proper formality consists in speaking to "papa," and presenting an engagement ring. After that he is looked upon as one of the family, and has exclusive rights to the society of his beloved. If the two are mutually happy in each other, this arrangement may prove quite successful. The man has an incentive to push ahead, and the girl has the benefit of his companionship, his care, and the affection which exists only between lovers, with the added advantage, too, of acquiring a true knowledge of her lover's character that will come in useful by and by.

If a man refrains from speaking until marriage comes within his means, he may cause the lady of his choice much unhappiness and distress of mind. The man may probably feel that he is acting fairly and honorably in not speaking definitely until his position is more fully assured; but if he wishes to continue enjoying the delights of the girl's society, it is clearly his duty to give her the only position fair to her—that of his affianced wife.

Luncheon and Bridge.

Mrs. K. M. Nicolls was hostess at a daintily appointed luncheon this noon at the Spalding hotel. Covers were laid for eight women. The table was prettily decorated with nasturtiums. Bridge was the amusement of the afternoon, the sun parlor being used by the party.

Birthday Party

The members of the Jefferson Athletic club were hosts last evening at the eleventh dance of a series of dances which they have been giving this summer, at the Lester Park pavilion. About seventy-five couples danced and the music was played by LaBrosse's orchestra.

Eleventh of Series.

The last dance of the series will be held on Tuesday evening Sept. 19 at Lester Park and this will be made the feature dance of the series.

For Mrs. Hobbs.

Mrs. A. A. Hobbs who will leave shortly with her family for Minneapolis to reside was the guest of honor at a tea yesterday afternoon at the first fall meeting of the Ladies' Guild of Trinity Pro-cathedral held in the guild room of the church. Mrs. Hobbs has been one of the most faithful members of the society for a number of years. About twenty guests were present. Miss Mildred Hobbs has resigned her position in the library.

Gordon-Melby.

A pretty wedding took place yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. M. E. Gordon when her daughter, Millie, became the bride of Edwin Melby of the city. Rev. M. S. Rice of the First Methodist church read the service at 2:30 o'clock in the presence of a number of friends and relatives. The bride wore lavendar silk and carried bride's roses. Her sister, Mrs. H. Dahl who was her matron of honor was attired in blue silk. Leonard Melby, a brother of the bridegroom was best man. Mrs. Melby's sister, Mrs. F. G. Huntington of Aberdeen, S. D., played the wedding march.

The house was prettily decorated with pink and white sweet peas and after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Melby left for a trip to Chicago and Minneapolis and upon their return will reside at Sixth avenue east and Third street. They will be at home to their friends after Nov. 1.

Luncheon Hostess.

Mrs. George R. Laybourn of 1432 East Fourth street entertained at a pretty luncheon yesterday at her home. A rustic basket of sweet peas and nasturtiums, tied with pink ribbon decorated the table. Covers were laid for:

Elsie Kugler,

Cronin-Folk.

A wedding which will be of interest to a number of people here is that of Miss Mae M. Cronin and Samuel Folk, both of Coleraine, which took place yesterday morning at the Catholic parsonage in Coleraine. Mrs. Allen Murray of Hibbing acted as matron of honor and Allen Murray was best man. After the ceremony an elaborate wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride, only relatives being present. The bride wore a gown of white messaline with clover silk embroidery veil and wreath of orange blossoms and she carried a shower bouquet of white roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Folk left for the Twin Cities for a short trip and will reside in Coleraine.

Guild Meeting.

The Young Ladies' Guild of St. John's English Lutheran church will meet Friday evening at the home of Mrs. P. O. Ekren, 2716 West Second street.

THE EVENING STORY

"THE BROTHERS"

By W. Mainwaring.

Harold stood in the narrow doorway absently fingering the letter the hurrying postman had thrust into his hand. He gazed moodily out upon the long mean street with its interminable rows of narrow doorways and insignificant windows, and the squalid scene filed him anew with fierce disgust and an almost intolerable longing for a fresh, clean life in some sweeter spot.

A spot that would not be associated in his mind, as this one was, with hard, ceaseless toil, with weary, dispirited homecomings, and equally weary early morning departures. An unending round of comings and goings that had filled more years than he cared to count. Long drab years in which he had been intent on nothing but the slow saving of a pitiful pile of dollars.

Five hundred dollars is a fortune to those who dwell in mean streets. Harold smiled wanly as he thought of what his neighbors would say did they know he possessed such a sum, but the smile faded as he thought of the vanished years. It was years not money he was counting. Surely it was 200 years since he had taken on his shoulders the educating of his younger brother, and now—well, now it was nearly finished, and then years and money would have vanished, because what would be left of that $500 would be barely sufficient to give George a start in life, and to give George a start in life was the summit of Harold's ambition.

"Did the postman leave a letter, Harold?" A thin, peevish voice wailed the query from the interior of the house, and Harold, turning his back upon the darkening street, walked slowly along the narrow passage into a lighted room. "Has it come?"

The old woman who questioned him so eagerly sat in a wooden armchair, at the side of a feeble fire. A coarse shawl was drawn tightly across her bowed shoulders, and her toil hardened hands, now whitened by long disuse, plucked nervously at the strings of the dingy apron that enveloped her meager form.

"How foolish you are mother. Of course it has." Harold seated himself at the corner of the bare table, and prepared to read aloud the letter he had already opened. The old woman leaned forward in her chair, her eyes fixed on the reader's face, and she remained for a few seconds in that attitude, even after Harold had come to an end of his reading. Then, drawing a deep breath, she asked quickly, "Is that all?"

"Yes, mother. You see George has no need to write a long letter this time because, as he says, he'll be home for vacation in a day or two."

"Ah, that's holidays, I suppose?"

"That's holidays mother. Very soon we shall have him home altogether. The tired look left Harold's face and he looked almost youthful as he continued, "And when George has made a start in life, life will be a little easier for us."

Helifted his arms above his head as if to grasp his new life, while the old woman muttered in tones of acrid fretfulness, "Aye, aye. You're always talking about an easier life, but mind—George mustn't be hampered. He must have his chance.

"That's all right, mother. George shall have his chance near fear."

"Now for this terrible secret, George," Harold looked at his well dressed, handsome brother quizzically, but with obvious pride as he stood before him in the stuffy little bedroom which was the only privacy the elder man had to offer.

"Er—it's something rather serious," George stammered "that is—"that is—er—very serious, you know.' Seated on the edge of the bed, Harold gazed up at his gentleman in the making with a bright smile.

"Not so serious as that, is it?"

"I—yes—I rather fancy it is. I—I'm in debt, Harold. You see, it's this way," he went on rapidly, "I've got to keep up with the set I mix with you know—they're rather a flush lot—and I've borrowed a bit at different times, only a little, but it's mounted up, and—and now they're pushing me."

The smile had slowly died from Harold's face during this lame recital, and his tones were harsh as he asked, "And from whom have you borrowed these sums? Not a money lender, I hope?"

"Er—yes, Harold. He's rather a decent sort, but he says he can't wait any longer."

"Well, how much is it?"

"It's mounted up, Harold. I didn't think how deep I was going until—"

"Yes, yes; how much is it?"

"Five hundred dollars. I didn't think—" Harold, who had risen to walk about the room, sat down again, suddenly, on the edge of the bed, and George, getting sight of his face, cut short his futile excuses.

There was little to explain. Harold was soon in possession of the whole of the sorry story, and at its conclusion sat silent, staring stonily at the worn oilcloth under his feet, thinking bitterly of the long years of miserable saving and scraping he had endured in order to accumulate that five hundred dollars. And it was all to no purpose. He had labored and suffered merely to enrich some already over rich usurer, and the immensity of the catastrophe overpowered him.

George, awed by the tragedy his thoughtless selfishness had caused, stood before his brother in remorseful silence. At length he timidly touched the other's bowed shoulder.

"Harold," he faltered "I'm sorry. Harold looked up quickly with a twisted smile that was more pitiful than tears.

"It wasn't your fault, George. You didn't understand. And after all," he went on after a pause, "you are the greatest sufferer. You cannot go back to college. But, oh! he exclaimed suddenly, "what are we to say to mother? I had forgotten her."

"I have been thinking of that," confessed the other, a barely suppressed tremor in his voice, and then both fell silent again, seated side by side on the edge of the narrow bed.

It was Harold who spoke first. "Come," he said, "I'll tell her."

Together they rose and passed into the adjoining room, where the old woman was beginning to call fretfully for her younger son. George stood slightly to the rear of his brother, palpably ill at ease, and Harold, looking straight at his mother said quietly, "George is not going back to college mother."

"Eh," she exclaimed, "not going back. What do you mean?" She turned a keen look of interrogation on the speaker, a gleam of hostility slowly gathering in her faded blue eyes.

"Not going back," she repeated, "Why?"

"Because there is no money."

"What has become of it?" she queried sharply. "I don't understand."

"I speculated. I thought to double it, instead I lost it—all."

The words came slowly, but with no hesitation, and as he spoke he laid a restraining hand upon his brother's arm. The old woman sat rigid, staring at him in wide eyed consternation. The ticking of the small wooden clock above the fireplace sounded loud and insistent in the otherwise silent room; and George, after one ineffectual effort at speech, covered his burning face with his hands and dropped at his mother's side on his knees. She let her hands stray caressingly about his fair hair, and as Harold closed the door behind him he heard her murmur, "Poor boy, my poor George. Your brother has spoilt your chances after all."

The Kitchen

Buttered Potatoes.

Wash and pare small potatoes, cook until soft in boiling salted water. Melt in a frying pan two tablespoonfuls of butter, turn in the potatoes and stir over fire until the potatoes are covered with butter. Remove to serving dish and sprinkle with chopped parsley.

Bananas With Cream.

Put a layer of bananas in a glass dish, then some strawberry jam, over this a rich custard then some whipped cream. Garnish with dried cherries and slices of citron.

To Fry Eggs.

When frying eggs, if the fat spatters sprinkle a little flour on them and you will be surprised to see how quickly they stop.

Toad in the Hole.

Six ounces of flour, one pint of milk, three eggs, butter, a few slices of mutton, pepper and salt to taste and two kidneys. Make a smooth batter of flour, milk and eggs in the above proportions; butter a baking dish and pour in the batter. Into this put the mutton, well seasoned, and the kidneys cut into small pieces. Bake one hour and serve in baking dish. Oysters may be used instead of kidneys.

Cranberry Frappe.

Boil one quart of cranberries and two cups water five minutes and strain through cheese cloth. Add two cups of sugar and the juice of a lemon; when cold freeze to a mush. Serve with roast turkey in place of jelly.

Corn Timbales.

For this use young, juicy corn. Score the ears and scrape out the pulp. To each pint add five well beaten eggs, one cupful of milk, a high seasoning of salt and pepper and a half teaspoonful of sugar. Pour into small, well buttered baking cups or timbale molds, stand in a pan partly filled with hot water and bake in a moderate oven until firm in the center. Turn out carefully on a platter and serve with a cream or a tomato sauce.

To Give Informal Recital

Members of the Chauncey Olcott Company to Give Free Recital In the Glass Block Tea Rooms.

Thursday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock, members of the Chauncey Olcott company, now playing in the cast of "Mascushla," at the Lyceum, will hold an informal recital in the fourth floor tea rooms of the Glass Block Store.

The management of the Glass Block Store has arranged for this recital and cordially invite the public to attend the entertainment, which gives promise of being very enjoyable. Arrangements have been made for the comfort of quite a crowd, and refreshments will be served. The recital is entirely informal and, of course, free of charge.

Selections will be given by artists from the company, among whom are Mr. Albert Pearl, violinist and Mr. Herman Stiesel, cellist.

The popular song successes of the play, "Macushla," "The Girl I Call My Sweetheart," "Good Bye My Emerald Land," "With a Twinkle In Her Eye," and "Macushla," will be rendered by Miss Gladys Reynolds, so well known in Duluth as to need no further introduction.

The hours for the recital are from 3 to 5 p. m. All are invited.

Cora, Ky.—Mrs. Iva Moore, of this place, says, "I was so weak, I could hardly walk. I tried Cardui, and was greatly relieved. It is a splendid tonic. I have recommended Cardui to many friends, who tried it with good results." Testimony like this comes unsolicited, from thousands of earnest women, who have been benefited by the timely use of that successful tonic medicine, Cardui. Purely vegetable, mild, but reliable, Cardui well merits its high place in the esteem of those who have tried it. It relieves women's pains, and strengthens weak women. It is certainly worth a trial. TESTIMONY IS CLOSED

All Witnesses Heard in Red Wing Training School Inquiry.

Bemidji Youth Tells of Cruelty By Family Manager Scott.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 13.—"He said I smiled at his wife. I don't know—I don't think I even looked at her, but he hit me in the mouth with his fist and knocked me down, and when I fell on the basement floor he kicked me in the mouth, and knocked one tooth out and broke off another. Then he threatened to get a gun and shoot me, and he started upstairs, but he came back and threatened to knock my brains out with a baseball bat. Then he kicked me some more."

So said Charles Shores of Bemidji, inmate of the Red Wing training school from Sept. 29, 1908, to his parole, Jan. 12 last, in describing yesterday afternoon to the state board of control instances of the alleged treatment he had received at the school. "He" was Family Manager W. E. Scott, and the beating described occurred one morning before the whole family.

The witness was called by E. P. Sanborn, attorney for Ralph Wheelock, the complainant in the charges against Supt. F. A. Whittier of the school to offer testimony in rebuttal of that given by Whittier's witnesses, especially on the point that no officers had struck or beaten inmates in the manner described by the boy.

Superintendent Whittier himself occupied the stand for a short time at the beginning of the afternoon hearing, the principal bit of evidence he gave being that he had been unable to find in his files the original copy of the rules said to have been adopted by the board of 1906, governing the punishment of inmates of the school.

Early in the investigation, Judge Wilson, his attorney, introduced as evidence a printed list of rules.

J. D. Mills, secretary to the board, called by Mr. Sanborn, also testified that he had been unable to find in the board's minutes any mention of the adoption of such rules.

Mr. Mills was the last witness of the afternoon and when his testimony was concluded, the examination of witnesses by the complainant and respondent that has covered the summer months was ended.

Resche on the Stand.

At the morning session, after taking the testimony from Father Donahoe, probation officer in St. Paul, Col. Resche, probation officer in Duluth, took the stand.

Col. F. E. Resche testified that he had made forty-six visits to the training school and that he had always been at liberty to go about the school as he pleased, and talk with the boys. He said he had never seen marks of violence on their bodies, nor had he seen any unkindliness or ungentlemanly action by officers of the institution. He testified he had never received a complaint from any of the boys regarding their treatment.

On cross-examination Mr. Sanborn referred to his testimony before the legislative committee. Col. Resche admitted he testified then that he had not known there was corporal punishment at the training school, and that it had been his impression that it did not exist there.

On rising from the witness chair Col. Resche showed some heat.

"The gentleman here," he said, referring to Mr. Sanborn, "brought out some testimony I gave last winter, and the testimony I gave at that time related to some strappings on their hands that boys received. That testimony wasn't brought out this morning, and it leaves me in a bad light, as though I was perjuring myself."

Judge Wilson called him back and told him to explain himself fully.

"I was asked," Col. Resche continued, "by the legislative committee if I knew of any boys that received a strapping, and I testified I did. That question wasn't asked me this morning. If it had been I would have testified so."

Col. Resche seemed to be making a distinction between "corporal punishment" and punishment on the hands.

Wheelock Knew Little.

The testimony of Ralph W. Wheelock, secretary to the governor, netted just two things. He was permitted to tell the board that before he filed the charges he had no personal knowledge of conditions of punishment at the school.

He was not permitted by his attorney, E. P. Sanborn, or by C. Louis Weeks, advisor of the board from the attorney-general's department, to say a word as to his reason for making the complaint as to what person or persons asked him to make it, as to who prepared the text of the charges, as to what passed between Governor Eberhart and the state supreme court before the charges were filed or as to the source of Mr. Sanborn's remuneration for handling the case.

Questions along these lines were blocked by objections from Mr. Sanborn, upheld by Mr. Weeks, as effectively as they were when the governor was on the stand, in spite of the fact that Mr. Wheelock had previously evinced a desire to tell all he knew about the entire affair.

The nearest approach he was permitted to make to a discussion of his relation to Governor Eberhart, came when Mr. Weeks overruled Mr. Sanborn's objection to a question by Judge F. M. Wilson, for Mr. Whittier, as to Mr. Wheelock's reason for adding "secretary to the governor" to his name at the bottom of the complaint.

Knowing as I did the governor's desire in this matter," Mr. Wheelock replied, "I thought it would give the case a certain standing to give it a semi-official backing."

S.S.S. REMOVES ALL HUMORS FROM THE BLOOD

The cause of all skin diseases can be traced to some humor in the blood, and therefore the cure of any skin trouble can come only through a thorough cleansing of this vital fluid. Salves, washes, lotions, etc., relieve some of the itching and discomfort, help to reduce inflammation, or aid in keeping the cuticle clean, but such treatment does not reach the blood, and of course can have no real curative effect. S. S. S. cures Skin Diseases of every kind because it purifies the blood. It is an internal remedy for an internal trouble, and works on the only reasonable and certain method of cure. *S. S. POSITION IS NEUTRAL

But Duluth May Be Drawn Into Flour Rate Controversy.

Zenith City Interested Chiefly In Maintaining the Differential.

Members of the Duluth traffic commission and flour shippers from this port are watching with keen interest the controversy between Western and Eastern railroads on the new rate of 21½ cents established on rail, lake and rail shipments of flour from Minneapolis to New York. Duluth occupies a neutral position just now, but if the new rate becomes effective Oct. 5, as contemplated in the filing and publication, the probability is that Duluth will be drawn into the controversy.

The present rate on flour from Minneapolis to New York, rail, lake and rail, is 23 cents. The all-rail rate is 25 cents and the lower rate published to become effective Oct. 5 is the result of long drawn out efforts of Minneapolis millers to obtain a lower rail, lake and rail rate, the contention being that the difference between the two rates was not great enough.

The matter was carried to the interstate commerce commission by the millers and the commission first decided to establish a rate of 21½ cents. The Eastern trunk lines protested and the case was reopened, the result being that the commission receded from its former position and decided to allow the rate of 23 cents to stand.

Negotiations between the Minneapolis millers and the Twin City-Duluth lines then resulted in the Western lines filing a supplementary tariff fixing the rate of 21½ cents from Minneapolis to New York. The blanket concurrence of Eastern trunk lines to all rates originated by Western lines was drawn in to cover the new rate on flour.

The Eastern lines have rebelled, however. They declare that they will not lower their rates on flour from other points and will not accept a reduction in the proportion of the through rates now accorded them under the 23-cent rate. If the Western and Eastern lines cannot get together on a new division of the rate, the Western lines would be called upon to bear the entire reduction of 1½ cents.

Eastern press dispatches say that the Eastern trunk lines may carry the matter to the interstate commerce commission and ask that the new rate be suspended and that a hearing be held to inquire into the question of whether the rate is justified. There is a question as to what the interstate commerce commission would do in that event, having had the matter before it on former occasions and having given a ruling.

Should the Western lines take up the burden of the reduction and allow the published rate to become effective Oct. 5, without the Eastern lines making any concessions, Duluth would be in a disadvantageous position. Instead of a differential of 5 cents between Duluth and Minneapolis, there would be a differential of only 3½ cents and Duluth flour shippers pay ing higher rates on grain than Minneapolis millers and Minneapolis millers having an advantage of 1½ cents on the through rate to New York, would be in a position that would call for a protest.

The situation is confused for the present. If the Eastern lines agree to the new rate from Minneapolis, just would require a reduction in the rate from Duluth to New York. If the reduction were not made, the Duluth traffic commission would have a serious subject to consider and some action might be expected to obtain a more equitable rate condition. For the present, the members of the commission are holding off and awaiting a settlement of the controversy in which Minneapolis, the Western lines and the Minneapolis millers are involved.

AGED WOMAN BURNED TO DEATH

Sister of Duluth Woman Victim of Fatal Accident.

Mrs. George Gilbert, 731 West Third street, has just returned from Chippewa Falls, Wis., where she attended the funeral of her sister, Mrs. Maria Wilcox, who was burned to death on Sept. 5.

Mrs. Wilcox is known in Duluth, having visited here frequently. She was 78 years old, and one of the most prominent pioneers of Wilcox Valley, near Chippewa Falls, where she resided for over fifty years.

Chippewa Falls was visited by a severe storm on Sept. 5, and at an early hour that day, Mrs. Wilcox arose and took the night lamp that burned in her room, while she walked through the rooms. According to her nephew, Gill McKinney, who was the only other occupant of the house, she fell, breaking the lamp. The kerosene ignited, and the flames spread over her clothing. Her screams brought McKinney to her aid, and after attempting to smother the flames, he poured on a pail of water over her, extinguishing them.

The woman was removed to the hospital, where she died at 3 o'clock that afternoon. Her sister, Mrs. Gilbert, was one of the many relatives who attended the funeral.

WOMEN THE REAL CAUSE

Of Kansas School Teacher Being Given Coat of Tar.

Shady Bend, Kan., Sept. 13.—Following the statement of County Attorney M. W. McCanles that he was planning to cause the arrest of a number of prominent women of this town on charge of counselling the attack made on Miss Mary Chamberlain, the school teacher who was given a coat of tar by a number of men here last month, there are many excited here.

It was said that the women were the real cause of the attack on Miss Chamberlain because they "talked about the young teacher." This "talk" is alleged to have driven the men to take the case of Miss Chamberlain into their own hands.

EX-MAYOR OF DES MOINES SENTENCED TO PENITENTIARY

Deadwood, S. D., Sept. 13.—Three years and three days in the federal prison at Leavenworth was the sentence imposed upon James M. Brenton, former mayor of Des Moines, by Judge Elliott yesterday. Brenton pleaded guilty in the United States circuit court to selling liquor to Indians.

OUT MONEY AND BRIDE

Hibbing Man Spent $105 to Bring Sweetheart From Austria.

Rival Won Her With Auto Ride After Her Arrival.

Joy-riding in an automobile about the lively little town of Hibbing, even though in a manner of being "spirited away" had its fascinations for Marija Oreb, a new arrival from Austria-Hungary, and as a result there will be some strenuous times in that city, according to the local immigration officers who were called there to investigate the case of Marija's deportation.

It is a story of the true and faithful love of Ivan Bosnic and of the deep laid plot of two of his countrymen, who through their display of wealth won the little dark-eyed girl from her fiance.

Ivan Bosnic came to this country from Dalmatia in Austria-Hungary sixteen months ago, after pledging his love to Marija, and promising to save the money he made in the new land and send for her, that she might become his bride. True to his promise, he worked industriously, and by frugality managed to save $105 which he sent to the girl for transportation and expenses.

Marija hastened to this country, and in order to facilitate her entry into America, told the United States Immigration officers at New York that she was Mrs. Ivan Bosnic, and that she was on her way to Hibbing to join her husband.

She then telegraphed to Bosnic at Hibbing that she was on her way, and asked him to meet her. As everything does not run smoothly in love, according to the old adage, so difficulties arose in this affair. The telegram, unfortunately, fell into the hands of two of his countrymen, who hastened to meet her at Duluth.

When they arrived at Hibbing, they were met by Bosnic, who had little difficulty in persuading her to go with him. He took her to a boarding house where he left her while he went out to get some sort of a conveyance to take her to a location about three miles from Hibbing.

In the meantime, however, the men who met her at the Duluth station, secured an automobile and called on her during Bosnic's absence. They took her for a ride about the town and showed her the glories of American life. She was so enthusiastic over her new friends that when Ivan showed up, she refused to marry him or have anything to do with him. She has now taken up her abode at the home of her uncle, who lives in Hibbing.

It is now strongly rumored among the Austrians of that town that Marija is going to marry Peter Zuella, who, it is said, was one of the men who entertained her on the joy-riding expedition which proved so fatal to Bosnic.

According to information which was gathered by James H. Daly, United States Immingration inspector, who was in Hibbing yesterday to investigate the matter, the friends of the men are evenly divided on the question as to the tactics used in the love affair and the changes are that there will be some trouble brewing there soon.

Bosnic and a number of his friends are now anxious to have the girl sent back to her native land, and it was upon their request that the investigation by the immigration authorities was made. But as the United States immigration department does not undertake to settle lovers' quarrels, and no substantial reason has so far been given why she should be deported, there is no probability that the authorities will interfere. So far as the government is concerned Bosnic's $105 love affair is at an end.

JEWISH NEW YEAR.

Duluth orthodox Jews will observe their New Year, beginning at sunset, Sept. 23.

For two days services will be held at the synagogue morning, noon and night.

The Jewish New Year is called Rosh-ha-Shannah. It is perhaps the most important holiday on the Jewish calendar.

In Jewish homes candles are lighted and dishes symbolical of the holiday are served. There are also many home services.

During the observance of the New Year manual labor is suspended.

PLEADING FOR BEATTIE.

Sentimentalists Trying to Save Life of Virginia Murderer.

Richmond, Va., Sept. 13.—Sentimentalists are making efforts to save the life of Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., recently condemned to die for the murder of his wife. Governor Mann has received two communications praying for commutation of sentence in the case. One was from Atlanta, Ga., and the other from Newark, N. J. Both were voluminous. Only initials were signed to the letters.

Beattie remains confined is the Chesterfield jail under strong guard. No arrangements have yet been made to transfer him to Richmond.

Carnation Milk

(EVAPORATED—STERILIZED)

This is because of it's richness, purity and dependable quality. When milkmen sell "cream," the milk you buy is not likely to be "whole milk." You use the "top" for cereals and coffee and cook with the "remainder."

Use Carnation—better than the best you can buy from farmer or milkman, because it is the pure milk of contented cows, fed to produce milk of year-around goodness. Utmost care and our method of preparing make Carnation Milk a superior product. It is whole milk with most of the water taken out. MANY ISSUES ARE RAISED

Reciprocity Pact Not Only Measure Liberals Have to Defend.

Winnipeg Conservative Says Industrial Centers Are Opposed to Treaty.

"Reciprocity is not the only issue before the Canadian people to be decided upon at the election which will be held there on Sept. 21," said G. R. Crowe of Winnipeg, one of the members of the British Empire Grain company, who with his wife and Mrs. Alexander, is visiting in Duluth registered at the Spalding.

"The Liberals who have been in power for some time are being taken to task by the people for many things that they have done during the time they have been in authority. The reciprocity pact is but one of them. The Liberals are working up a strong political campaign upon this one issue, but the Conservatives not only have this one issue to attack but many of the wrong doings of the opposing party during their term in power.

"The majority of the people of Winnipeg are opposed to reciprocity and although I am not in a position to state what the outcome will be, I believe the majority of the people are against the measure.

"Every industrial center in Canada is against the pact, for it is directly opposed to all the progress that has been going on for the past twenty-five years. We have two trans-continental roads and a third under completion. The trade is expanding from the East to the West, for the railroads have united every part of the country. Why, then should a pact like this be entered into, and start the trend of business running North and South, when we have been trying to have it run the other direction?

"The business men are all opposed to reciprocity. Many of them are against it for no particular reason. If you should ask them why they do not favor it, they would have a hard time replying. But business has been good with them, and they are not in a position to judge what the result would be in business if reciprocity should be entered into.

"Business in Canada is excellent. We do not know what hard times are. Everything is running smoothly, and there is activity in every line of trade, with most brilliant prospects.

"It is claimed that the farmers of the western part of Canada are in favor of reciprocity, but it is a notable fact that every convention of farmers in that section of the country has put on its stamp of disapproval.

"As for the grain men, they do not care which way the question is settled. I am a Conservative, and naturally am oposed to reciprocity, but my two partners are Liberals. Yet they are opposed to the pact. We have our main office in Winnipeg, and two branch offices, one in New York and the other in Montreal. If the pact is indorsed, I suppose we will have to open an office in Duluth.

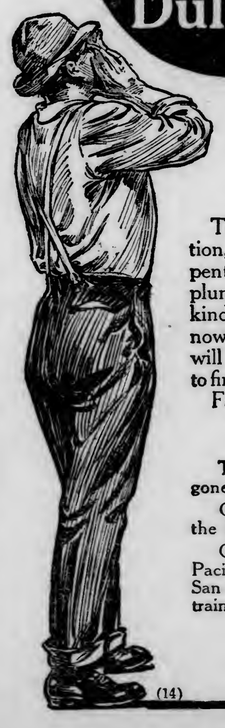

"The question of annexation of Canada to the United States has been brought up quite strongly in this campaign, and it has much weight with a large proportion of the people, although I do not believe that anyone at all familiar with the state of affairs between the two nations has any thought of such a thing ever occuring.

"It is not true that England has shown any activity in this campaign. There are always a few men there who meddle with our affairs during elections, just as there are a few Canadians who go over to England during their elections and cause trouble. But the nation as a whole is not interfering with our election in any way."

PURSE OF $20,000 FOR AN AEROPLANE FLIGHT.

Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 13.—Spearman Lewis, representative of the Aero Club of St. Louis concluded arrangements with the Business Men's Club of Memphis yesterday for a purse of $2,000 to be paid when the flyer selected reaches Memphis on the proposed 1,157-mile aeroplane flight from Minneapolis to New Orleans. More than $15,000 of the $20,000 purse required has been subscribed and it is regarded as assured that the flight will be made, said Mr. Lewis.

$34.75 FROM Duluth To California and you travel over the Union-Southern Pacific

Any man who is willing to work can find it now in California--and California is such a wonderful place for your family, such a pleasant atmosphere in which to bring up your children.

They are building a big exposition, spending $17,500,000. Carpenters, bricklayers, plasterers, plumbers, roofers, artisans of every kind and character are needed now in California, and many more will be needed in San Francisco to finish the Exposition before 1915. Farmers are needed to grow crops to feed the army of workmen to be employed and later the hundreds of thousands of people who will come from all over the world to see this World's Fair.

Make up your mind to go to California today, take advantage of this excursion, straight to San Francisco over the Standard Route of the West

The great national highway over which for two generations the East has gone West and the West has gone East.

One-third of all the Electric Block Signals in the United States are used on the lines of this System.

On September 16, 17 and 18, and October 13, 14, 15 and 16, the Union Pacific will run Colonist Trains de Luxe from Omaha clear through to San Francisco. Victrola concerts will be given three times daily. These trains will carry a diner, serving excellent meals as low as 50 cents.

Tickets are on sale September 15 to October 15, 1911, inclusive

THE BOUNTIFUL NORTHWEST.

Wall Street struggles along dolefully in the dumps, but generally conditions appear to be fundamentally sound, and in spite of the many alarms about the crops that speckled the summer with dread, on the whole the country has produced a crop that will yield enormous new wealth, and that can be made to appear small only by comparison with record years—which is not a fair comparison.

This is particularly true of the Northwest, and of the territory from which Duluth draws the bulk of its trade.

Last evening The Herald published figures compiled by the Orange Judd Northwest Farmstead that ought to be enough to dispel any lingering doubt about the security of the Northwest's prosperity.

The Farmstead, figuring conservatively, says that the farmers of the American Northwest should receive for this year's yield of their acres at least $600,000,000. That is all new wealth, not a penny of which existed last year; and it is going to be pretty hard to disturb the complacency of an area that has made that much money in a single season. This is about $100,000,000 more than last year's yields. The total value of the wheat yield is within 5 per cent of last year's, while the corn crop is worth 20 per cent more, there is a like increase in oats, and a large increase in the total value of barley, flax, potatoes and hay.

One encouraging sign lies in the fact that Minnesota's wheat acreage dropped from 6,000,000 acres last year to 3,500,000 this year, showing that the Minnesota farmer is ceasing to rely on the precarious one-crop plan, and is going in for the more reliable and more profitable system of diversified farming.

MAINE DIDN'T GO "WET"—YET.

The eccentric manner in which the returns from the Maine vote on prohibition changed color from time to time during yesterday was bewildering, for a while, and the final result is by no means clear even now. At first the prohibition clause in the Constitution seemed to have been repealed by a certain, though small, majority. Then official returns revised the unofficial returns so as to throw the result in doubt, and this morning it seemed fairly certain that repeal has been beaten by a small majority. The outcome is so close that a recount is not improbable, and while the prohibitionists appear to have something to go on nobody will be out of the woods until the final count.

At any rate, whatever the outcome, the state is obviously divided so evenly that the issue will live for some time longer, and the chances are that the state will be torn up soon by another contest of like nature.

One result of Monday's election which was generally lost sight of in the keen interest in the prohibition issue was the adoption by a large vote of the principle of statewide primary elections, which carried 55,840 to 17,751. Wherever this issue is submitted to the people direct nomination wins easily over the old convention system, and politicians who cling to the old methods would do well to consider this fact as an indication of the temper of the people, which they are testing by the rather stupid and dogged tenacity of their adherence to the old and discredited system.

THE INCOME TAX CERTAIN.

One of the many neglected duties of the Minnesota legislature, and one for which there is not the smallest excuse, was the ratification of the amendment to the Federal Constitution authorizing the imposition of an income tax.

The resolution of ratification passed the house without a dissenting vote, but was smothered in committee in the senate. If it had been called out of committee and considered on the floor of the senate it would have been adopted with but few dissenting votes; yet the resolution rested undisturbed in a committee pigeon-hole for a month, and died there at the close of the session.

If Governor Eberhart is ever swept away from his corporation moorings and forced by public sentiment to call the legislature in extra session to consider railroad taxation, one of the other measures which that body should by all means consider is this resolution ratifying the income tax amendment. If it is not smothered in committee this time, it can be passed without delay, since not more than a handful of members will dare vote against it in either branch of the legislature.

It is practically certain, now, that the income tax amendment will be ratified by the states. It needs the approval of thirty-five states, and already it has the approval of thirty-one, as follows: Alabama, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Georgia, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Maine, Maryland, Michigan, Mississippi, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Texas, Washington and Wisconsin.

The folowing states have not yet approved the amendment: Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Minnesota, New Hampshire, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Utah, Vermont, Virginia, West Virginia and Wyoming. At least five of these states are sure to ratify it at the next session of their legislatures.

When three-fourths of the states have ratified the amendment it becomes a part of the Constitution, and then this country will be where it thought it was in Cleveland's time, when congress passed an income tax law which the supreme court, by one of its famous five-to-four decisions, declared to be unconstitutional.

The income tax, therefore, is likely to press at the doors of congress within a year or two, and if the present progressive tendency continues there is little question that it will be enacted into law.

It will serve two very useful purposes. First, it will help distribute the burden of taxation according to ability to pay taxes. Second, the revenue that will be derived from it will make much easier the coming work of revising the tariff to an honest basis.

Government revenues now, aside from the internal revenue taxes which are imposed on liquor and tobacco, largely come from the duties on imports. Though the government only gets a little more than $300,000,000 a year from this source, the tariff tax is estimated at $3,000,000,000 to $5,000,000,000 a year, the difference swelling the coffers of protected interests, but the people paying every penny of it.

Though the radical reductions in import duties that are needed will swell imports to some extent, and therefore tend to increase the tariff revenue, the income tax revenue will remove all fear as to the security of government revenues while the process of tariff revision is going on.

NOT SO ODD, AFTER ALL.

Several weeks ago The Herald called it curious that several men who couldn't hope to win congressional nominations in their own districts were seeking the nomination for congressman-at-large. A number of exchanges also marveled at the mystery of it. But it isn't so odd, after all. In fact it's delightfully simple. You see district nominations must be had from the people at the primaries, and the bosses have determined that the nominations at large must come from themselves in the conventions. That accounts for it perfectly.

THE CARLTON COUNTY FAIR.

One of the old reliable institutions of this region is the Carlton county fair at Barnum, which opened today and will remain open tomorrow and next day. Each year has shown a steady and commendable growth in this exhibition, faithfully reflecting the development of the county's agriculture, and this year's fair is said to be the best ever given. As many Duluth people as can arrange it should visit Barnum during the next two days, and see for themselves the plain evidence that Carlton county is a veritable garden spot.

Duluth always has taken as much interest in the Barnum fair as it has in its own fair and sometimes more, as in the years when the St. Louis county fair was going to seed and before Hibbing put it on its feet and made it live again. The Carlton county farms are as truly a part of Duluth's territory as are those of St. Louis county, and most of the latter really are farther away. Duluth is the natural market of these farms, and for selfish reasons as well as because it admires pluck and enterprise, the people of this city have always taken great interest and pride in the developments which the Carlton county fair has always truly represented.

DIRECT LEGISLATION IN PRACTICE.

Opponents of the initiative and referendum seem to think they have a strong argument against direct legislation when they point to the fact that in states where it has been adopted many measures are submitted to the people.

They say that it is used merely as a popular plaything, that measures of trifling importance are brought up under it, and that the result is confusion which prevents sound judgment and right results.

Yet so far as we have been able to ascertain, there is no case yet where the people have adopted a dangerous measure, where harm has come of any measure enacted by the people, or where a really vital measure which was needed has failed to become law in due course of time.

The Portland Oregonian, which ably-edited newspaper is published in Oregon, the nation's experiment station in this interesting and promising development of democracy, is opposed to direct legislation and does the best it can to prove to the people of other states that it is a mistake which they should not imitate. Yet in an editorial published evidently with that end in view it furnishes some pretty good arguments for the policy which it opposes. It says:

> The people of Oregon in 1910 were called upon to pass upon thirty-two separate measures through the initiative and referendum. So great was the rush and hurry to get proposals of any and every kind on the ballot that one measure contained the distinct legislative proposals. In itself it was a full legislative meal and more. The voters could not digest the nine-headed monstrosity and defeated it along with some twenty-two others. THE PUBLIC WITH RARE JUDGMENT VOTED "NO" ON ALL BILLS ABOUT WHICH IT WAS IN DOUBT.

Then the Oregonian goes on to say that the lesson of 1910 has not been well learned, because there will be a lot more measures to be passed upon by the people in 1912. Twenty or more bills are already in sight, it says.

Thirty-two measures to be passed upon by the people during a campaign lasting several months, and with six months to a year or more to think them over in, seems like a lot of work for the people; but is it so extraordinary? The average legislature thinks nothing of passing from 300 to 1,000 measures in a session of two or three months and two-thirds of these are passed in a bunch during the last day or two of the session. The chances are that the measures passed upon by the people are better digested, and that the judgment used upon them is sounder and more ripened, than the measures shot through the average legislature in the fantastic turmoil of the close of a session.

The Oregonian speaks of the "rare judgment" used by the people in voting against measures they do not understand. It is not "rare judgment," though it is good judgment; it is the ordinary everyday judgment that can always be expected of the people. If they do not understand, they vote no or not at all; and the chances are that such measures are not vital or important, or the people would understand and would vote, in the aggregate, rightly and wisely upon them.

In the infancy of direct legislation in a state it is to be expected that many measures will be proposed, for two reasons: first, because after years of "representative" government many evils need redressing; and second, because it is a novelty. Later, the initiative and referendum will be useful more as what Woodrow Wilson calls "the gun behind the door." In other words, the people won't need it so much because legislatures, knowing that it is there to be used if necessary, will be better behaved and more responsive to the will of the people.

AN INDEX TO GROWTH.

The fact that the business of the Duluth postoffice has grown so that the available quarters are taxed to their capacity, and that it will be necessary very soon to build a large addition, probably is vexing to those who have to work in cramped places, but as an index to the remarkable growth of Duluth and its business it is a very encouraging sign. Only two or three years ago a large addition, thought to be enough for years, was built, but already it is outgrown. Duluth has found its pace, and it can't be stopped.

THE STATE PRESS AND THE EXTRA SESSION

Governor Eberhart's Chance.

Thief River Falls Times: Hurrah for The Duluth Herald! It has scored again. Several weeks ago The Herald, in an extensive editorial, presented to the public its reasons for believing that an extra session of the legislature, for the main purpose of increasing the gross earnings tax of the railroads, was a necessity. The announcement was greeted with a varied difference of opinions. Last week The Herald, to prove its assertions that a bill could be passed, presented letters from the different legislators, and gave proof that the tax could be increased. The Herald is to be commended. It has opened the eyes of Minnesota citizens to the fact that their representatives at the state legislature realize the injustice of present railroad tactics. However, to pass the bill doesn't necessarily mean its enforcement. Since the rate decision, Minnesotans are a bit skeptical about acquiring control of the railroads, who still seem to be able to wield the bulk of power. A special session would do no harm, and as the members of the legislative body believe in the session, and advocate legislation along other lines, it seems only fair that the session should be convened. Governor Eberhart, who will undoubtedly be a candidate for re-election, will have a hard row to hoe and if he desires to make himself solid with the masses, he could do no better than to call the lawmakers together, see that they create the laws the people demand, and further see that they are passed in such a manner that a corporation-controlled judge cannot set those laws aside. Make the railroads give the people some return for the money! Give Northern Minnesota its rightful voice in the legislature! As long as the legislators have pledged themselves to the people's cause, compel them to make good! Spike down the movables in St. Paul and call the legislature together once more!

"Oh, For a Real Governor!"

Pine Tree Blaze: According to the Duluth Herald, after making a canvass of the members of the legislature, a railroad gross earnings tax could be passed at an extra session of the legislature. But what's the use? The governor would be as likely to veto it as he is reluctant to call the extra session. Oh, for a real governor!

Don't Be Too Sure.

St. Cloud Journal-Press: The Duluth Herald is making a gallant fight for an extra session of the legislature, and says it has replies from a majority of both the house and senate favoring an extra session, and also pledges from a majority that they would vote for an increase of the gross earnings tax for railroads.

The Herald has shown great skill, energy and persistency—but there will be no extra session.

Governor Eberhart will not call it. There are reasons which are conclusive with him. The governor and the legislature did not get along very well together, and he was probably relieved when the honorable senators and representatives packed their grips and went home. He has no desire to see the bunch back again in St. Paul. The people to some degree share this same feeling. The legislature failed in some most important matters to the state. Both parties in their state platform declared for reapportionment, but no bill was passed. It is not probable that if the legislature was reconvened that it would improve in conduct. It is not altogether certain that it would increase the gross earnings tax even though a majority so agreed in advance.

Senator Ahmann and Representatives Minette, Utecht and Wisnelwski favor the extra session, and also the increased railroad tax. Senator Sullivan did not reply.

Neither will Governor Eberhart.

It is a good fight The Herald is making—but it will bring no extra session.

Fight Will Bear Fruit.

St. Peter Herald: The Duluth Herald's poll of the state legislature shows that a majority of the members favor increasing the railroad gross earnings from 4 to 5 per cent, but not enough replies were received to show that a majority want a special session of the legislature. This fact will furnish sufficient excuse for the governor to decline to call the legislature together, and we feel confident that the extra session will never be held. Nevertheless, The Herald deserves the thanks of the public for the fight it has made against railroad injustice. That fight will bear fruit in November, 1912.

It Must Come.

Mahnomen Pioneer: The Duluth Herald immediately after the filing of the Sanborn decision, which was followed by the raising of passenger and freight rates, commenced a campaign for an extra session of the legislature to raise the gross earnings tax. It now begins to look as though The Herald would be successful. The paper has written the members of the legislature and has discovered that there is almost a unanimous sentiment among the members for the increase. Some of them are opposed to an extra session. This is natural as the members have received their pay and an extra session would mean a bill of expense to them.

Governor Must Bow His Head.

Aurora News: More than a month ago we predicted that Governor Eberhart would likely find it necessary to call a special session of the legislature or forego his ambition to be re-elected to the office. Although opposed to a special session we remain of the opinion that The Duluth Herald has so manipulated the demand for such a session that the governor will have to bow his head and make his excuses to the Great Northern.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writter, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

CONSULAR REPORTS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Is there any newspaper which prints the government consular reports, or substantial extracts from them, as fast as they come out? READER.

Duluth, Sept. 12.

(No paper in the Northwest prints the full reports. The daily papers, including The Herald, print only such extracts as are of general news interest. The Herald receives the reports, and "Reader" may probably also be placed on the mailing list by communicating with his congressman.—The Editor.)

OLD AGE PENSIONS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

Wake up! What is the matter with Berger's old age pension bill? I see in your paper where Congressman Berger put a bill in to give every man and woman over 60 years of age $4 a week. As understood, that bill is for those who have'nt income enough to keep them, and they have to be sixteen years in this country to draw it. Where were the rest of them when he put that bill in? Did they see him coming with it and get up and go out the back door, or were they all asleep and he could not waken them? Theodore Roosevelt wanted congress to promise something for the aged in his last message to congress, but they did not do it, and I can't see where they said anything about Berger's bill, either for or against it, so they must have been asleep. Would it not be a good thing? It is true we have our poorfarms, but is it not like taking our poor old people to prison to take them there alone to die? When they go they know they will die there. Think of it, my good people, of a poor old man and woman going off to the poorfarm to die. Would it not be better to help them at home so they could have their liberties? Some may think they ought to have enough to keep them when they get old. If we were all lucky and prosperous wo could have.

I would like to hear from someone else about that bill. If there is anyone who has anything to say for or against it I would like to hear about it in your Open Court. N. SCOTT.

Nashville, Wis., Sept. 10.

Wall Street Leaders Old.

New York Press: Practically all the great Wall Street leaders still alive are growing very old and retiring. Harriman, H. H. Rogers and Gates are dead, and James R. Keene is seriously ill.

James R. Keene may recover his health, but he is 73, and can never again be really active. Once he was the greatest of manipulators and speculators. John D. Rockefeller celebrated his 72d birthday a few weeks ago, and he pays less and less attention to business every year. J. P. Morgan is 74. Thomas F. Ryan was once a great figure in the "system," but he is ill and wholly retired. His former Philadelphia associates Widener, Elkins and the rest of that reckless traction crew, are old and broken down by the terrible smashup of the New York street railways.

Andrew Carnegie in his 76th year, will hardly ever attempt to "come back." William Rockefeller is 70, George F. Baker, who, next to Morgan, is the biggest of them all, is 71, and James Stillman, Jacob H. Schiff and Henry C. Frick are all more than 60. Perhaps they have many years of health and physical and mental activity ahead of them, but Frick is now more interested in Frank Hals than in finance, and Stillman and Schiff spend most of their time abroad.

Favorite Fiction.

Chicago Tribune: "Warranted to keep in any climate."

"Passengers will please keep their feet off the seats."

"Mr. and Mrs. Leeder are going to Europe for the summer."

"I'd tip you, waiter, if I had anything less than a $20 bill."

"Trips to the holy land."

"Lamb chops."

Folly and Fire.

Springfield Republican: A woman poured a quart of gasoline in the marble wash bowl of the toilet-room and placed a silk waist in it. She closed the door and returned in about ten minutes. She rubbed the silk between her hands. This generated sufficint electricity to make a spark. The gasoline exploded, the house burned and the woman lost her life.

If the woman had known that gasoline evaporates rapidly, that the gas it makes is seven times more dangerous than gunpowder, that a single spark would cause a terrible explosion and that one may generate an electrical spark by rubbing silk cloth—if the woman had known all this, there would have been no fire in the house and she would probably be alive today. And there is no reason why people generally should not know these facts of ordinary life. The incident is dramatic but highly illustrative of the need of popular education concerning fire hazards in the home, the shop and the factory. Americans are still too careless, too indifferent, too ignorant regarding fires, which cause an annual loss of property in this country amounting in value to hundreds of millions of dollars.

English National Anthem.

Houston Chronicle: There is to be a change in the English national anthem. One of the verses is said to have "struck the king as sounding a somewhat discordant note." It ran:

"O Lord, our God, arise,
Scatter his enemies
And make them fall;
Confound their politics,
Frustrate their knavish tricks;
On him our hopes we fix,
O save us all."

This verse has been replaced by the following, written by Dean Hole:

"O Lord, our God, arise,
Scatter his enemies,
Make wars to cease.
Keep us from plague and dearth,
Turn thou our woes to mirth,
And over all the earth
Let there be peace."

This alteration has been sanctioned by King George, and, it is said, it will now be universally followed. It is a more peaceful verse than the one whose place it takes. Perhaps at the present time, when the movement for world peace is so strong on both sides of the Atlantic, the singing of the new verse by the British will help the good cause. And there is no doubt that the king has the right to change "God Save the King" as he pleases and to have the royal anthem sung to suit the royal taste. Nevertheless, there are those who will prefer the old verse against the politicians and their knavish tricks, from which even in America we can pray God save us all.

Dr. Shaw Turns on Taft.

Sioux City Tribune: Dr. Albert Shaw, editor of the Review of Reviews, veteran Republican and intimate friend of Theodore Roosevelt, has become a severe critic of the Taft administration. In the September number of the magazine of which he is editor, he subjects Mr. Taft's inconsistency on the tariff question to a merciless analysis, in which, among other things, he says:

"Mr. Taft had been elected president in 1908 on the pledge to give the country a proper revision of the tariff. He had called the Republican congress into extra session in the spring of 1909 for this express purpose. If he had then made one-tenth of the effort to secure a good tariff bill that he has now been making to pass a comparatively small tariff measure in the form of an arrangement with Canada, we should probably have had an acceptable measure in place of the Payne-Aldrich tariff law as it stands."

The justice of this criticism is bound to impress those who remember Mr. Taft's weakness, hesitation and final submission in the face of the demands made upon him by the tariff beneficiaries two years ago, as compared to his unyielding attitude which drove the reciprocity agreement through congress this year.

Mr. Underwood's Boom.

Harper's Weekly: Leader Underwood's Alabama constituents want the country to understand that when they propose him for president they mean it. The Birmingham papers do not let a day pass without proclaiming his qualifications, and a number of his fellow citizens have organized and gone to work with genuine enthusiasm. He has plenty of honor in his own country, and nobody means to be saying, "With your leave," or, "By your leave," to the steel trust, or Mr. Bryan, either. That is all pleasant to contemplate, and none the less so because it is another sign of the general and growing impatience with the sectional consideration as applied to the Democratic nomination for the presidency. Nor is the press of the country at all disrespectful. On the contrary, Mr. Underwood is coming in for a lot of expressions of good will from all points of the compass.

Nevertheless, Mr. Underwood hasn't manifested any discontent with his present job, and the majority of the admiring editors seem to agree with the Weekly that for the present he ought to stay where he is and give his name to the first truly Democratic tariff law since that of 1857. We predict that Mr. Underwood, though he will get a very admiring glance from the convention next year, will not be named for president, and that he will ask to be excused from the vice presidency if it is offered him.

An All-Providing Race.

Chicago Tribune: The Irish are getting in everywhere. Here is a firm in Salt Lake City: Schlesginer, Murphy & Lowenthal.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Taken From the Columns of The Herald of This Date, 1891.

•••At 3 p. m. yesterday, E. L. Emery, who was two days previously the picture of health and strength, passed from life from a complication of troubles, led by acute Bright's disease and diabetes. He was 37 years of age and was born in Andover, N. H. After working his way through Dartmouth college with honor, he read law in Vermont and came West in 1882, going to Grand Forks, where he lived until eighteen months ago, when, induced by his old and near friend, A. M. Stearns of this city, he came to Duluth. He made the $1,000,000 deal with Jay Cooke in the St. Louis water power and became president of the company. He was also general manager of the Ironton Land company.

•••The Duluth Business University is the name of a new educational institution which is to be opened on Sept. 15 by Messrs. Phipps and McCarthy, who already have colleges in successful operation in Saginaw and Bay City, Mich., and Fort Wayne, Ind.

•••Mrs. Elizabeth McIntyre, wife of D. McIntyre, died on Sept. 10 from typhoid fever. She was well known in Duluth, having come here in the early days.

•••Jules Grevy, twice president of the French republic, is dead, aged 84.

•••At a meeting of the executive committee of the Duluth Humane society, Henry Haskins was appointed police agent of the society with the powers of a deputy sheriff and municipal police officer. His salary will be $50 a month at present, but it is hoped to increase it soon. There were forty-five applicants for the position.

•••Dr. Charles Cade, the farmers' medium of whom a great deal has been said and who created such a furore in New York a few years ago, will appear at the Lyceum this evening and give an illustration of his spiritualistic powers.

•••Miss Laura Fitzsimmons, who has been visiting friends at West Duluth, has returned to her home at Bessemer, Mich.

•••The West Duluth Manufacturing company is having all its machinery taken down and painted and is storing it away until a suitable site can be secured for the new plant.

•••The supervising architect of the treasury department has assigned Supt. O. G. Traphagen of the Duluth public building to duty, as work will begin at once on the excavating.

•••The case of George O. Nettleton vs. Ed Howard, brought to recover $16,800 alleged to have been lost by plaintiff to defendant by playing poker at various times, was begun in the district court yesterday.

•••W. J. Kelly of Fort Bennett, S. D., is in Duluth, visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Kelly.

•••Capt. C. P. Bragg returned yesterday from a trip to Cleveland and Chicago, but expects to remove from Duluth within a few weeks.

The Canadian Election.

Chicago Tribune: On Thursday, Sept. 21, the election in Canada will decide the fate of the reciprocity convention and perhaps much more. It is true that reciprocity is what Mr Bryan would call the paramount issue of the contest. But there are other issues, and upon these there are divisions which do not follow the main party cleavage. It is not throughout the dominion a straight issue for reciprocity with the Liberals and against reciprocity with Conservatives.

For example, in the province of Quebec, which may turn the scale of the election, Sir Wilfrid is opposed by Mr. Bourassa, who favors reciprocity. Mr. Bourassa differs with Laurier because the latter is a British imperialist and because of his naval policy, whereas Mr. Bourassa favors an independent Canada and is opposed to naval development.

Mr. Monk, the Conservative leader in Quebec, differs from the party leader, Mr. Borden, on naval policy, but agrees with him on other party questions. To what extent Bourassa and Monk will co-operate to defeat the Laurier Liberals in this province is yet to be shown.

At any rate, Sir Wilfrid is opposed by men who favor his reciprocity policy but oppose his imperialist and naval policy, like Mr. Bourassa in Quebec and by men who favor his imperialist and naval policy but oppose his reciprocity policy, like Mr. Borden in Ontario.

The parties in the late parliament were represented as follows:

	Liberals.	Conservatives
Ontario	36	50
Quebec	53	12
Nova Scotia	12	6
New Brunswick	11	2
Prince Edward Island	3	1
Manitoba	2	8
Saskatchewan	9	1
Alberta	4	3
British Columbia	2	5
Yukon	1	..
Totals	133	88

Whichever party wins will have the task of reapportionment according to the new census which will be complete this fall. It is probably fortunate for the Conservatives that they were able to force a resort to the country before reapportionment, for the growth of Western Canada is almost certain to add to the Liberal strength, especially upon such an issue as reciprocity.

Pointed Paragraphs.

Chicago News: Sooner or later the finger of scorn comes to the point.

What is "sauce for the goose" is also sauce for the goslings.

You never hear a man boast that his wife shines his shoes.

Anyway, a woman's tears float her out of a lot of difficulties.

The collector of the "wages of sin" is never turned away empty handed.

Figures may not lie, but sometimes a shoe dealer uses them to deceive.

Unless a man has a little egotism in his make-up he'll never amount to much.

A man always thinks a woman ought to be interested in the things that interest him.

Nearly every father says he'll whip the school teacher that whips his child—but he never does.

Of course, it is all right for a bride to wait until her husband is sound asleep, then wake him up to ask if he's asleep yet.

The majority of us would have to work twenty-four hours a day if we were to love our neighbors as they love themselves.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

New York Press: The women of a family lose good looks and the men money.

Where a cook is in luck is in running the house with none of the expense falling on her.

A woman can believe her son isn't president only because he's too good a Christian.

A girl feels very romantic riding in a car seat with a strange man who has on a crimson tie.

When his wife is away with the children and he will write her a long letter a man has a mighty guilty conscience.

A Question of Fame.

World's Work: A good-roads agitator was speaking very enthusiastically to a group of farmers. One hay-seedy member of the audience was so much pleased with what he heard that he called out:

"You're the man I want for senator."

The speaker paid no attention to him. But presently the farmer again called out:

"You're the man for senator."

"My friend," said the speaker, "you are kinder than you are wise. Let me ask you a question. Do you know the name of either senator from Massachusetts?"

"No, sir."

"Of either senator from Ohio?"

"No, sir."

"Of either senator from Virginia?"

"No, sir."

"Well, do you know who Julius Caesar was?"

"Yes, I've heard of him.

"Well, now, a mere senator, even from any one of the most famous states, is not well enough known for his name to have reached your ears. But the Roman emperors were road-builders, and, though Julius Caesar has been dead more than 2,000 years, you know who he was. We are here not to consider such a small, transitory subject as senatorship, but such a lasting and noble subject as road-building."

The Art of Cooking.

September Atlantic: I am heartily sorry for people who never do their own cooking. Cooking is an art, not only creative but social. It takes the raw materials and converts them into a product that is every way pleasing, and that brings the people who enjoy it into social harmony. The immediate products do not abide; the better they are the more quickly they vanish, but they leave behind something spiritual and permanent. A busy mother, who was a wonderful cook, once said to me: 'Sometimes it hardly seems worth while to cook things when they go so fast, but then, I think, after all they leave behind them a memory of a jolly home table that does last, so perhaps it pays.' I am sure she was right. The memory of that home table has lasted forty years and more, and does not yet seem to be fading.

A MOMENT WITH THE WITS.

Boston Transcript: She—I'm afraid, Tom, dear, you will find me a mine of faults.

He—Darling, it shall be the sweetest labor of my life to correct them.

She (flaring up)—Indeed, you shan't!

Louisville Courier-Journal: "My wife often alludes tearfully to the fact that she threw over a millionaire to marry me."

"Mine's just as bad. Her father offered to buy her a French poodle if she'd turn me down."

Chicago Record-Herald: "Would you let people play poker for money in your home, Mrs. Gadsworth?"

"Why not? Where's the harm in a friendly little game?"

"Oh, then you're still ahead, are you?"

Portland Oregonian: James—Is it necessary for you to send your daughter to Europe to complete her musical education?

Brown—Yes; I can't stand the infernal racket here any longer.

Cleveland Plain Dealer: "Yes, papa is going to buy me a battleship."

"Good gracious! I beg your pardon, what for?"

"I want to use its decks for a dancing party."

Youngstown Telegram: "Married, old chap?"

"No: I cawn't affawd t' keep a wife."

"Aw; but, I say, what with Reno and all that, one isn't obliged to."

Detroit Free Press: "I hope you will believe me when I tell you that you are the only girl I ever loved."

"No. That I refuse to believe."

"Then you will believe me when I tell you that you are the prettiest girl I ever loved?"

"Yes. Yes, I am sure you are in earnest now."

Harvard Lampoon: Mrs. Nuwed—Mary, for dinner I think we'll have boiled mutton with caper sauce. Are there any capers in the house?

Mary—No, ma'am.

Mrs. Nuwed—Then go out in the garden and cut some.

The Housefly and Man.

Filson Young in Saturday Review: When I consider that the fly is equally happy walking along the thin edge of a sheet of paper, or running round the rim of a glass; that it can both fly quicker and run quicker than anything else of its size; that it can find repose standing upside down on the ceiling; that it needs neither to toil nor to spin; that it has no house or nest to build; that it never has to fight or work or feel weary or bored; that it is carried free all over the world, and lodged and fed on the best—then I think that, if this is to be a parasite, there is a great deal to be said for being a parasite. And man, wildly and quite uselessly flicking about with his handkerchief, slapping at his own face, getting hot, working hard for poor rewards, travelling short distances with great labor and discomfort, having to rear for himself elaborate dwellings, with difficulty procuring food, fighting against and destroying his own kind with bayonets and exploding shells in order to settle a difference about the occupation of a fragment of the earth's surface—surely, even in one of the myriad eyes of the fly, he must cut rather a pathetic figure.

FREE ADVICE TO WOMEN

Women suffering from any form of illness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established this confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America which has never been broken.

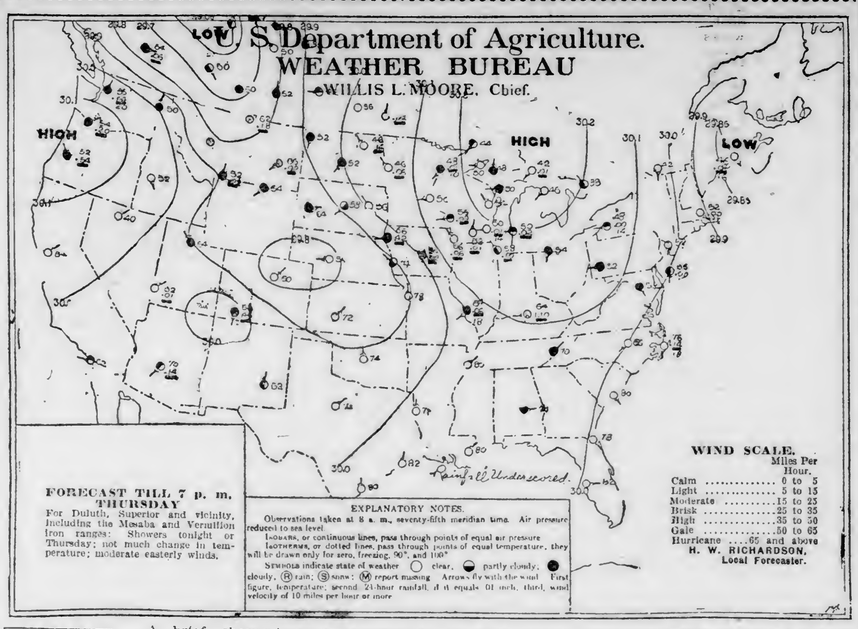

LYDIA E. PINKHAM

Never has she published a testimonial or used a letter without the written consent of the writer, and never has the Company allowed these confidential letters to get out of their possession, as the hundreds of thousands of them in their files will attest.

Out of the vast volume of experience which Mrs. Pinkham has to draw from, it is more than possible that she has gained the very knowledge needed in your case. She asks nothing in return except your good will, and her advice has helped thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, should be glad to take advantage of this generous offer of assistance. Address Mrs. Pinkham, care of Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

Every woman ought to have Lydia E. Pinkham's 80-page Text Book. It is not a book for general distribution, as it is too expensive. It is free and only obtainable by mail. Write for it today.

RAIN

A brief shower last evening was the only occurrence to mar the beautiful fall weather during the last twenty-four hours. The fall temperatures continue, the high mark yesterday being 60 deg., and the low mark last night 46 deg. Showers are predicted tonight or tomorrow.

Cold weather prevailed a year ago today.

The sun rose this morning at 5:43 and it will set at 6:25 this evening, giving twelve hours and forty-two minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"During the last twenty-four hours light to heavy showers fell over the Red river, Ohio and Upper Mississippi valleys, the Western Lake region, Montana, North Pacific districts, Utah, Colorado, Arizona, North Carolina and Maine in connection with the barometric depressions centered over Alberta, Nebraska and off the Maine coast. The high pressure condition overlying the Lake region has caused cooler weather in the Ohio and St. Lawrence valleys and North Atlantic states, while throughout the Northwest warmer temperatures are the rule in connection with the western low pressures. Overcast skies and occasional showers may be expected at the Head of the Lakes during the ensuing thirty-six hours."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Sept. 13.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Thursday:

Upper Michigan—Overcast weather with probably showers in west portion tonight or Thursday; probably frost in extreme east portion tonight.

Wisconsin—Unsettled weather with showers and thunder storms tonight or Thursday; warmer tonight.

Minnesota—Unsettled with showers tonight or Thursday; warmer in south and west portions tonight.

Iowa—Unsettled weather with showers and thunder storms tonight or Thursday; warmer in east portion tonight.

North Dakota — Unsettled, with showers tonight or Thursday; warmer in east portion tonight.

South Dakota—Unsettled with probably showers tonight or Thursday; and in extreme west portion tonight.

Upper Lakes—Moderate east and southeast winds on Michigan and Huron; moderate variable on Superior. Overcast weather with probably showers on Michigan and Superior tonight or Thursday.

CRUISE IS PROPOSED

Great Britain and France, while during the past spring the second division of the fleet cruised in the Baltic sea, touching at the ports of Germany, Russia, Sweden and Denmark.

These visits, it is pointed out, are fresh in the minds of the people of Northern Europe, as well as the personnel of the American navy.

On the other hand, it has been some time since the big fleet of the United States was seen in the Mediterranean and that part of the world offers an ideal place for a winter cruise.

One thing at least is certain, according to the naval officers, and that is that the fleet will not make a voyage around the world. No such trip is in contemplation for this year or any other, so far as plans have been made. Nothing would be accomplished, it is believed, by repetition at this time of the globe-girdling cruise of three years ago.

COUNTY OPTION PLAN TO CONTROL OFFICES CLAIM THE REGULARS

shake before committee and on the floor of the upper house.

"You can go right down through the list," a "regular" said this morning, "and you'll find that about all of the county option leaders have lined up with the Progressive movement, and by the time the campaign is fully on, they will all be there. I firmly believe there has been an alignment of the forces, in so far as the leaders are concerned."

State Senator Ole Sageng, who has been almost the entire Populist party in the Gopher state, has gone over bag and baggage to the Progressive camp, and Senator Sageng was one of the orators for county option at the last session. From one end of the state to the other, it is pointed out, there has been a quiet amalgamation of forces.

Roosevelt Not Candidate.

Col. Theodore Roosevelt continues to apply the soft pedal on all suggestions that he become a candidate for president at the next general election. Also, he is as silent as an Egyptian sphynx when it comes to the question of indorsing William Howard Taft for re-election. In a letter to Hugh T. Halbert of the city, member of the executive committee of the State Republican Progressive league, the colonel says:

"I have persistently declined to express any opinion about the presidential nomination, except that nobody shall be for me."

And there the discussion ends. When Mr. Roosevelt returned from his African hunting trip, the question was on the lips of almost every man interested in national politics: "Will he indorse Mr. Taft, in view of Mr. Taft's attitude toward the tariff bill?" But Mr. Roosevelt maintained silence and has continued silent as to his faith in the president. This latest letter from him, continues it. The communication, however, may serve to suppress the movement suggested by Congressman C. R. Davis of St. Peter, that the warring Republican factions get together on the colonel as the presidential candidate. Numerous Progressive candidates in the Twin Cities now believe that Col. Roosevelt can not be persuaded to jump into the breach, regardless of how wide it may become.

Cummins and La Follette.

Senator Cummins of Iowa will speak for the Progressive Republicans in St. Paul Oct. 30. Senator La Follette of Wisconsin in all probability will lend his presence to a meeting of Republican "insurgents" in Minneapolis some time in November.

These announcements were made at a meeting of the executive committee of the Minnesota Progressive league held in Minneapolis last night. They follow minutely information given out within the last few days that Republican insurgency proposed to follow closely on the trail of President Taft during his "swing around the circle." The president will arrive in Minneapolis on the evening of Oct. 24 and be in St. Paul the day following.

At a meeting last night of the Young Men's Republican club it was determined that Battery B, First Minnesota field artillery, should fire the presidential salute upon the arrival of the chief executive in Minneapolis. A reception committee, headed by Governor Eberhart, will meet Mr. Taft at Mankato.

Not for Hughes.

W. I. Nolan, chairman of the executive committee of the Minnesota Progressive Republican league, today branded as untrue the statement to the effect that progressives would throw their support from La Follette to Charles Evans Hughes.

"There is absolutely no truth in the reports that the progressives of this country will support the candidacy of Judge Hughes," said Mr. Nolan. "Practically every leading progressive in this country today is back of La Follette. He has not yet announced his candidacy, and he is to be a candidate because the progressives want him to. The announcement of the candidacy of Hughes is nothing more than an effort on the part of the regulars to confuse the progressives by which they hope to swing votes to Taft."

Mr. Nolan declared that Taft could not be elected if nominated.

Jacobson Not a Barkis.

J. R. Swann, one of the leading commercial men of Madison, Wis., believes that the political bee once minded by J. F. Jacobson, opponent of the late John A. Johnson for the governorship, has flown, and that Mr. Jacobson cannot be induced to make the race for congress, as has frequently been suggested.

"Mr. Jacobson has built up a good mercantile business in Madison," Mr. Swann said, 'and is devoting all his time to it. I hardly believe he will listen to the call of politics again."

Mr. Swann is at the Merchants hotel on the way home from the West, where he has spent several weeks.

WARD STARTS FROM NEW YORK ON FLIGHT TO THE WEST COAST

follow the Erie to Buffalo. Mechanicians with gasoline and extra parts await him at Calicoon, N. Y., and Susquehanna, Pa. At the latter place he hoped to spend the night.

A group of about 100 saw the start at Governor's Island. Among them was the avator's wife, who will follow him with a party of friends at 3 p. m. and hopes to meet him at Susquehanna this evening.

"I don't expect to make much time against this wind," Ward said, while the helpers were cranking his machine.

Just before the young aviator jumped into his seat Maj.-Gen. Grant, commander of the department of the East, rode up with two ades and handed him a letter to the commander of the military post at Los Angeles.

As soon as he got clear of the islands and Ward mounted rapidly. The air was clear and expecting no difficulty in picking out his landmarks, he said he expected to make most of the journey at a height of about 2,000 feet. Against the wind his 50-horse power engine can make about forty-five miles an hour. If the wind changes he will do considerably better. Ward carries fifteen gallons of gasoline, enough to take him about 150 miles.

Mistook Railroad.

Ashbrook, N. J., Sept. 13.—Aviator Ward landed here this morning on his coast to coast flight, having mistaken the Lehigh Valley railroad for the Ere railroad. The aviator, when he found out where he was, went into the air again and retraced his course toward Jersey City, where he puposed taking up his course for Middletown, N. Y.

FIERCE MAN HUNT ALONG THE BORDER

morning a search was started by Frank Patterson to whom she is engaged to be married.

On entering the schoolhouse the searching party discovered what appeared to be evidences of a desperate struggle with some unknown assailant. There was blood in many places and fragments of torn clothing and an alarm was immediately raised.

On a small bluff about fifteen yards from the schoolhouse part of the girl's clothing was found as well as a bottle which had contained whisky.

The appearance of Miss Brice at the Rinn farm house last evening was dramatic. She was laboring under great excitement and appeared to be in a dazed condition. Her face was badly battered where her assailant had repeatedly beaten her.

Hit Her With Bottle.

At one time she declared he hit her several times over the head with a whisky bottle. Miss Brice stated that the ruffian had guarded her for thirty hours with a loaded rifle and that she had only been able to escape when he told her to go. Suffering intensely from the shock, it was some time before Miss Brice was able to give a clear account of all that happened. She was seated in the schoolroom, she said, when a man, said to be Henry "Bill" Wilson, suddenly appeared in the doorway and pointed a rifle at her. The little teacher told him to shoot. A struggle then ensued, and Wilson hit the girl over the head with a bottle and then carried her off into the bush.

After awhile he compelled her to walk and they traveled deeper into the heart of the underbrush. Here Wilson lit a fire, and the terrified girl spent the long night with Wilson watching her every move and threatening to shoot at the first sound from her.

She heard the whistle of her sweetheart, Frank Patterson, who was seeking her, but was unable to respond.

Captor Drank Heavily.

Wilson drank heavily through the night, taking inordinate quantities of gin and smoking innumerable cigarettes. The pleas of the girl that her captor allow her to return home were brutally ignored.

All night long she moved about to keep warm, and watching for a chance to escape, but the menacing rifle left her no opportunity. Day came, and Wilson wanted to take her across the river. He said he was a ranchman and would grant her anything she wanted. But she refused to accompany him.

By this time, the girl said, Wilson's liquor, cigarettes and matches, of which he consumed large quantities, gave out, and the effects of the liquor seemed to be wearing off, and at 7 o'clock he finally consented to allow her to return home. "But don't go and tell them," was his parting adjuration. "I'm sorry this happened." Then telling her he intended cutting all the telephone wires in the district to prevent his capture, he left her and she made her way to the farm of John Rinn.

before the people that proposing to make Augusta forever the capital of the state, and that favoring the direct primaries act, were carried by large majorities, according to returns at hand. With no cities and only 196 towns missing out of 521, the vote on the minor propositions was:

Retaining capital at Augusta—Yes, 48,295; no, 30,419.

Direct primaries—Yes, 55,840; no, 17,751.

Mrs. Stevens Rejoices.

Mrs. L. M. Stevens, president of the National W. C. T. U., made the following statement last night:

"On Sept. 9 England cabled: 'Hold the fort, the world watches.' We have held the fort against the terrible assaults of the united forces of the liquor-makers, liquor sellers and their allies and the world will rejoice.

"The remarkable campaign just closed has revealed that there is world-wide interest, not only in total abstinence, but in prohibition and the day of the final overthrow of the liquor traffic has been hastened."

Frederick G. Fassett, secretary of the Maine non-partisan local option league, said:

"We do not concede that the amendment has been re-affirmed. There has been so much contradiction in the returns that we do not know what the result is. We shall wait for the official canvass of the vote and at that time shall decide whether to take steps to secure an inspection of the ballots."

FORMER NORTH DAKOTANS SECURE MONTANA POSITIONS

Havre, Mont., Sept. 13.—Senator Joseph M. Dixon of Montana has recommended the appointment of M. W. Hutchinson as register, and Louis W. Pierson as receiver of the Havre land office, which was established about a year ago. The former officials were under suspension and ther resignations had been asked for and received the same day that Senator Dixon filed his recommendation.

Mr. Hutchinson, who was appointed register, was the acting chief clerk at the Havre land office and came here from Bismarck, N. D., where he had held a position in the land office for nearly twenty-four years.

L. W. Pierson, the new receiver, is also a North Dakota boy, havng lived in that state for nearly twenty-five years, and being well known all over the state as he has owned and operated ten different newspapers in North Dakota. He came to Havre about two years ago.

WOODMEN HELP THEIR UNFORTUNATE BROTHER.

Badger, Minn., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—John Kujava, who met with an accident last week which left him with a broken leg right in the middle of the busy fall season, lay in bed wondering how he was to get his grain stacked Sunday, when sixteen of his Woodman brothers arrived with teams and racks and set to work stacking his grain. They put up ten stacks and finished his stacking.

RAIN HAMPERS THRASHING IN RED RIVER VALLEY.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Conditions for the thrashers in the lower sections of the Red river valley are not very bright today as a result of a heavy rain which fell yesterday afternoon, soaking the grain and ground heavily. The fact that there has been so much rain this fall has led many farmers to stack grain and the conditions will be as a result, much better than they otherwise would have been. No thrashing can be done until late this week in some sections.

School for Deaf Opens.

Faribault, Minn., Sept. 13.—The Minnesota school for the deaf opened here yesterday for the year of 1911-12. The students have been arriving for the last few days past. Work began in earnest today. The new auditorium and additional school and working rooms, which were completed last spring, will be available and will add materially to the effiency of the school.

RAILROAD ACTIONS BY THE GOVERNMENT.

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 13.—The calendar for the September term of the United States district court, now in session in Canandaigua, is almost entirely made up of actions brought by the government against railroads.

The government is seeking to recover penalties in all the actions for alleged failure to properly feed, water and care for livestock in transit.

ONE KILLED AND TWO HURT AT GRADE CROSSING.

Grinnell, Iowa, Sept. 13.—Mrs. Brassington, from Altoona, Pa., was killed here early today at the Iowa Central crossing, and her grown son, and her uncle, William Mortell, of this city, were injured. The carriage was struck by a freight train.

Governor Visiting County Fairs.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Governor Eberhart today begins his annual trip throughout the state attending county fairs. Members of his official family will go to the various sections in advance to see that the chief executive is given the proper reception. The governor expects to make Kasson today, as well as Dodge Center and Mankato. Tomorrow he will go to Sleepy Eye, Morgan and back to Mankato. Friday, he will go to Howard Lake and Saturday to Blue Earth.

To Test Wisconsin Laws.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 13.—The constitutionality of three of the most important enactments of the 1911 legislature was attacked in suits begun before the supreme court yesterday. Leave was asked for permission of the respective parties to bring suit in the name of the state, to test the validity of the water power, income tax and workmen's compensation laws. The court took the briefs under advisement.

RAILROADS

MILWAUKEE ROAD COMING

Rumor That It Will Run Trains to Duluth in Near Future.

Old Agreement Permitting It to Come Over Northern Pacific Line.

A rumor from Chicago states that the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway company is contemplating the putting on of a passenger and freight service to Duluth from St. Paul to connect with its trains to Chicago and to the West. According to the information this step will be taken within a short time.

According to an old agreement made between the Northern Pacific Railroad and the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, at the time the Northern Pacific purchased the old St. Paul & Duluth line, the Milwaukee road was to have the use of the Northern Pacific line between Duluth and St. Paul as soon as one-half of the purchase price had been paid by the Milwaukee.

It is known that the Milwaukee road has paid part of this amount, and ever since the Northern Pacific has been operating the Short Line, it has been handling the freight business for the Milwaukee. However, the Milwaukee road has never put on its own trains.

It is now preparing, it is said, to pay up the balance of the purchase price of the old St. Paul & Duluth road, and to put on its own freight and passenger trains. The company has always looked upon Duluth as one of the best locations, but as it has had its hands full with the western extension, the Chicago, Milwaukee & Puget Sound road, it has not been in a position to take up the Duluth proposition.

Local representatives of the Northern Pacific and the Milwaukee road have not received information regarding the proposed plans of the company, although they express themselves as not surprised for such were the original plans of the road.

FORCES REDUCED AFTER DECISIONS

Companies Enforce Rigid Economy When Commission Denies Higher Rates.

The reduction of forces by railroads, amounting to $1,780, of 7.6 per cent, in the past year, has set the railroad world to wondering at the underlying causes for such a large reduction in the men on the pay-rolls of railroads comprising 60 per cent of the mileage which report to the bureau of railway statistics.

It has been stated that the failure of the interstate commerce commission to allow the increase in freight rates was the main reason for the retrenchment policy, but it is pointed out that other causes contributed to the reduction of forces. During the fiscal year of 1910 business was good, and the railroads increased their forces. Toward the end of the calendar year earnings began to fall away, and it became more pronounced in the early part of 1911. During the first four months of the calendar year operating revenues of roads declined 2.6 per cent, while operating expenses increased 1.1 per cent, with the result that net revenues decreased 9.6 per cent. The decision of the commerce commission showed the railroads they could not get more revenue by increasing freight rates, and they sought to cut down expenses.

The decline in earnings continued through May, as in that month total operating earnings decreased $4,355,000, or 4.4 per cent. During the first five months of the calendar year operating revenues of all roads fell away 3.8 per cent and net revenues declined 8.5 per cent.

Traffic men admit that the railroads are getting around to the view of the commerce commission—to get greater revenues by rigid economy in operation instead of by rate increases.

MILEAGE BOOKS ARE GOOD AFTER SEPT. 15.

The cost of traveling in the states of Minnesota, Wisconsin and North Dakota will be reduced by the Great Northern and Northern Pacific railroads after Sept. 15 to all persons who are users of mileage books. These two railroads have put on sale mileage books the rates for which in any one of the state go into effect on that date, while for interstate traffic they will go into effect on Oct. 10.

A book for 1,000 miles good in Minnesota, Wisconsin and North Dakota will be sold for $25, making the rate per mile 2½ cents. Books for 3,000 miles in these states will be sold for $60, or 2 cents per mile. This rate is also good on the Farmers Grain & Shipping Company's railway. Books of 3,000 miles, interchangable, will be sold for $75. These books will be good on any road in the Northwest, west of the Mississippi, excepting the Soo Line and the Canadian railroads.

RETURNS FROM TRIP TO GLACIER NATIONAL PARK.

Fred Hills, northwestern passenger agent for the Great Northern, returned this morning from St. Paul, where the party of Great Northern passenger agents dispersed after a ten days' trip to the Glacier National Park in Montana, through which his road runs. The excursion which was for the passenger agents only, was given by the railroad to familiarize the men with the great park so that might be in position to describe it to those planning on spending vacations there. Mr. Hills reports that the trip was a most enjoyable one, and that they were busy sightseeing from the time they arrived at the park until their departure.

COMPLAINT IS FILED AGAINST SANTA FE.

Washington, Sept. 13.—Unjust and discriminatory rules and practices respecting the trans-shipment of grain and grain products by the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe, and other Western railroads were alleged in a complaint filed today with the interstate commerce commission. The commission was requested to prescribe trans-shipment rules regarding the trans-shipments as will be just alike to carriers and shippers.

Branch Lines Finished.

Information has just been received by C. L. Kennedy, local commercial agent for the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad, that the branch from the Milwaukee & Puget Sound road from Moncton, Wash., on the main line to Everett, Wash., has been completed and also that the branch to Hoquiam, Gray's Harbor and Aberdeen has been finished. These branches are now used both for passenger and freight service.

AMONG RAILROAD MEN

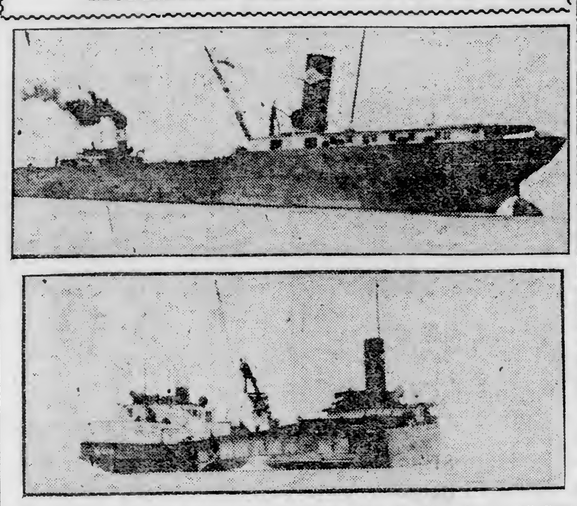

George J. Lovell, northwestern passenger agent of the Wabash, is in the city on business. His headquarters are in Minneapolis.

David A. Small of Minneapolis, traveling freight agent for the Erie, is in Duluth on a business trip.

C. P. Barrett of Chicago, general Western passenger agent for the Lackawanna road, is in the city today on business. Mr. Barrett presents a business card, which is rather unique, and he is said to be the only passenger agent in the country who uses this kind. It is a pocket piece about the size of a half dollar, on both sides of which is printed an advertisement of his road.

MARINE NEWS

TWO VIEWS OF STERN SECTION OF MORELAND BEING TOWED TO PORT

After several months of persistent effort Capt. James Reid is meeting with success in raising the steamer Morrland, which was sunk last November at Eagle River. The accompanying pictures illustrate the after part of the vessel which has been raised and was towed, stern foremost, to a place of security, where it will be kept until Capt. Reid finds it more convenient to remove it to a dry dock. The other two sections of the boat are still under water, but the captain expects to have them raised within a short time. The task of raising this vessel is said to be one of the most difficult wrecking jobs ever undertaken on the Great Lakes.

WILL HAVE LAKE FLEET

Rumor Published Recently in Herald Confirmed By Sir Donald Mann.

Canadian Northern Will Have Its Own Boats on Lake.

Confirmation of the report published in The Herald a few weeks ago to the effect that Mackenzie & Mann, the owners of the Canadian Northern Railway company, were planning to build a fleet of vessels for lake traffic, was made public Monday by Sir Donald Mann in an interview at Port Arthur.

The proposed fleet will be composed of passenger vessels, ore vessels and general package boats. The passenger ships will be ready for sailing, he states, by the spring of 1913, and according to present plans are to ply between the Head of the Lakes and Georgian Bay, where the Canadian Northern will have terminals.

The news that this company will have a large fleet of vessels on the lakes is welcomed here. This will mean much to Duluth, for at this point the company will have a large ore dock and a mercantile dock, as well as several grain elevators, all of which will be located in the vicinity of Forty-ninth avenue west.

The company is now preparing to build its railroad branch from the main line to the site of the docks, and, although no definite statement has yet been issued as to when the docks would be constructed, it is intimated by several of the officials who have been in Duluth, that the work on the docks would be begun before many months have passed.

Sir Donald Mann is on a tour over the Canadian line with several other Canadian Northern officials, including Sir William Mackenzie, and it is understood that they will be in Duluth during the latter part of this month, at which time it is expected that some statements of interest will be issued by these men in regard to the company's plans for this city and vicinity.

WRECKED STEAMER FISHER TO BE SOLD.

Bids will be opened September 28 by the Cleveland representative of the Salvage association for the sale of the steamer E. L. Fisher now at the Ecorse shipyards. Following the salving of the Fisher by the Great Lakes Towing company, the boat was surveyed and a report of damage forwarded to the foreign underwriters. They have accepted the vessel as a total loss and have remitted. This places the vessel in the hands of the Salvage association which will dispose of her to the highest bidder providing the bids are acceptable.

The Fisher is 220 feet keel length, forty-foot beam and seventeen feet deep with a carrying capacity of 2,000 tons. She came out in 1910, and cost more than $100,000. There already has been some inquiry for the ship which was designed for lumber and similar cargoes.

COMPLEXION LOTION BETTER THAN POWDER

"I never recommend face powder to beauty seekers," says Mae Martyn, noted beauty specialist, in the New York Tribune. "Face powder will eventually ruin any complexion. It clogs the pores, causing blackheads, wrinkles and ugly, rough complexions.

"Women who want the best complexion beautifier, and one that imparts lasting beauty, should try 4 ounces of spurmax, dissolved in ½-pint hot water, with 2 teaspoonfuls glycerine added. Or by using ½-pint witch hazel instead of the water it will dry more quickly in cool weather.

"This inexpensive lotion makes the skin very smooth, soft and youthful looking. It takes away that shiny, sallow look and does not show or rub off easily like powder.

BACK TO THE GOOD OLD HAMMOCKS

Vessels Short of Sleeping Quarters Provided With Old-Fashioned Bunks.

The hammock, so much in use during the old days when sailing vessels were in vogue on the lakes, is coming back to its own again. Many of the Great Lakes boats are not equipped for comfort of the crews as regards sleeping quarters. Realizing this, some of the boat owners are furnishing hammocks for their men in order to give them as much rest as possible between watches.

A number of boats that have passed through the canal this season have hammocks in which the men get a taste of the old-fashioned life that was not uncommon with the Great Lakes sailor or those of salt water a half century ago.

Present day boats built with sleeping quarters for the deck hands amidships, carry hammocks. The swinging bed is placed under canvas, the men being protected from both the storms and the sun, swinging secure in their hammock beds are free from heat and other discomforts that prevail where sleeping quarters are in the stern below decks.

Some of the ships that have upper deck sleeping quarters are also supplying their men with hammocks as this mode of sleeping is not only restful, but the men get lots of air and are free from the heat. When they awake they have both appetite and ginger and it is said that the hammock more than recompenses the owner for the money spent in the hustle that is in the men.

DREDGING AT PORT HURON COMPLETED.

Dredging in the Black river at Port Huron, which has been in progress under the supervision of Bamlet Kent, junior engineer, was completed yesterday, according to advices received here. The work has been in progress for six weeks, and the river has been given a uniform depth over the bars of sixteen feet.

Dredging in Clinton river at Mt. Clemens and the stone work in the canal at the St. Clair flats are two other government contracts which will be completed this month. The work of dredging the bar in front of the harbor at Rogers City will also be completed either late in September or early in October.

OPIUM SMOKING IS PREVALENT

Federal Officers Will Investigate Alleged "Joints" Here and on Range.

Opium smoking in certain quarters is said to be quite prevalent in Duluth and some of the range towns and the government has two officers in the city, who will make a thorough investigation of the situation.

Several nights ago a Chinese place on West First street was raided and a couple of pounds of the stuff confiscated. Lcule You and Charlie Quan were arrested and have been bound over to await the action of the federal grand jury by the United States commissioner. It is claimed that some other arrests may be made.

It is alleged that it has not been difficult to get opium here or on the range if one is "on the ropes," and that were the facts known, a considerable number of people in this locality "hit the pipe." It is asserted that this is true of others than Chinese. The police have made several arrests in the past of people who were addicted to the habit, and found complete outfits in their possession. Whether or not Duluth directly receives any of the opium which is said to be smuggled into the country, is unknown.

Masonic Appointment.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

LAW GRABS AEROPLANE

Officers at Crookston Levy on Grand Forks Machine at Depot.

Attach Concern on Ground Birdman Was Eluding Contract to Fly.

Crookston, Minn., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The third annual fair of the Northwestern Minnesota Agricultural society opened yesterday with a by-play which was not on the fair posters. This was when Deputy Sheriff Burkhardt met the Northern Pacific train for St. Paul from Grand Forks at 1:05 in the afternoon armed with writs of attachment which he served on Agent Handy, the conductor, the baggageman and any other Northern Pacific employe who happened around, then boarded the train and unloaded the Kenworthy-McGoey Curtiss aeroplane under a complaint sworn out by George H. Webster, booking agent for the Kenworthy-McGoey combination in which Webster alleged that he had a contract from the birdmen to fly four days during the Crookston fair, whereas they had tickets bought for Little Falls, Minn., where the flying machine was also billed, and where they were advertised to appear Thursday and Friday at a fair.

The machine is still in the city and the bird men are storming about, but as they will be too late to fill the Little Falls engagement it is probable that they will decide to fly here today, Thursday and Friday and settle the suit in that way, though they may rebund and fly south. At present, however, Sheriff Daniels has the machine and is tutoring his deputies to fly in case of a pinch.

Fair is in Full Swing.

While yesterday was the first day of the fair nominally, the fair did not really open for business till this morning, yesterday being devoted to the placing of the grandest exhibits of grains, vegetables, corn, stock, dairy produce and manufactured articles ever assembled in the Northwest, in addition to an educational and industrial exhibit which so far surpasses those of any of the previous fairs that there is no comparison. The weather was fine all yesterday for placing the exhibits but at 5 o'clock a general rain fell throughout the valley which, while it will stop thrashing operations, will insure the success of the fair as otherwise hundreds of farmers would not have left their work for the fair because of much previous wet weather which makes them anxious to take advantage of all the good weather.

During the night the weather cleared off and the day opened as near perfect as it could, and teams streamed into the city from all directions while the trains last evening and this morning were loaded with fair visitors, insuring the financial success of the fair. The races and other amusement features began today and the fair is an unqualified success. As predicted, the corn and forage crops are specially magnificent.

OFFER INDIAN TIMBER.

Forty Million Feet on Couderay Reserve for Sale.

Couderay, Wis., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The interior department, through Indian Agent W. A. Light at Hayward, is offering for sale to the highest bidder 40,000,000 feet of standing timber on the Couderay Indian reservation near here, all bids to be in Oct. 25. About one-half of the timber is hemlock, and the balance consists of pine, tamarack, and hardwood. Whoever secures the contract will have to do extensive logging on the reservation the coming winter, as the forest fires raged firecly through much of the timber last spring, killing it and the burned timber has to be logged this winter to be of full value. The Signor Crisler company, who went into bankruptcy last fall, logged on the reservation during the last eight years, their contract expiring this summer. The Bekkedal Lumber company completed thier contract for them.

FEAR ADOPTION OF INITIATIVE

W. C. T. U. of North Dakota Said to Be Against Enactment of Scheme.

Jamestown, N. D., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Plans will be laid at the forthcoming meeting here Sept. 22-25 of the North Dakota W. C. T. U. for a campaign against the adoption by the state of the initiative and referendum.

That the initiative and referendum is an instrument that will be used by the liquor or license forces in again placing before the voters of the state the question of total prohibition, is the contention of the temperance workers.

F. O. Hellstrom of the state penitentiary will be an interesting speaker at the W. C. T. U. meet. It is expected he will deal with liquor as a root of all crime, as the warden has already voiced such belief on several occasions.

Another feature of the gathering will be the address by F. L. Watkins of Bismarck, general secretary of the State Enforcement league.

SOLD DULUTH LIQUOR.

Lately Accused Man Tells of Northern Minnesota Blind-Pigging.

Larimore, N. D., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—That boot-legging in Northern Minnesota is a fairly profitable business is the assertion of Stephen J. Smyth, who was arrested near here on suspicion of being implicated in the Los Angeles Times dynamiting, and then released.

Smyth claimed that a few months ago he purchased about $50 worth of liquor in Duluth, taking it to Park Rapids, around which point he disposed of it at a good profit.

He is also said to have admitted that he had at one time been tried in the state of Pennsylvania for his life, but did not state just where or what the circumstances of the case were.

PIONEER WOMAN DIES.

Death Claims Mrs. R. B. Langdon of Minneapolis.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 13.—Mrs. R. B. Langdon, one of the early settlers of Minnesota, died Monday at her home, 201 Pillsbury avenue. Mrs. Langdon was born in New Haven, Vt., April 24, 1839. In 1858 she was married to Robert B. Langdon and they immediately moved to Wisconsin. Just before the Civil war they resided in Corinth, Miss., where Mr. Langdon was a railroad contractor.

At the outbreak of the Civil war they came North, settling at Mendota, Minn., and occupied the historic Sibley house. In 1866 they moved to Minneapolis. Mrs. Langdon numbered among her acquaintances many of the prominent early settlers of the state.

PITTED TO DEATH.

Lover of Wild Cherries Eats Too Freely.

Ambrose, N. D., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Eating too many wild cherries is said to have caused the death of Joseph Bouchard, living sixteen miles from here. It is said he swallowed pits and all and the cherry stones caused a fatal intestinal rupture, the man dying two days after being brought here for treatment.

STABBED DURING ROW.

North Dakota Farmer and Farmhands Have Serious Trouble.

Beach, N. D., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—A father and two sons are charged by D. E. Cooper with having stabbed him as a result of an altercation over the payment of 50 cents for some hay. Gus Crawford and his sons, James and Arthur, were employed by Cooper on a farm twenty miles south of the city. Refusing to accede to the demands of the Crawfords for their time checks, and afterwards refusing to pay for some hay that they had purchased, Cooper became engaged in a fistic encounter with them that ended when he received several wounds inflicted by someone in the fight. He had all three men arrested.

POLITICIANS LOSE OUT.

Their Candidate Must Take Examination Same as Other Mortals.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Hearld.)—Attempting to throw a life-line over the civil service hurdle for J. C. Reichardt, for ten years an employe of the state railroad and warehouse commission, six well-known Ramsey county politicians have stumbled. Instead of annexing Mr. Reichardt permanently to the state pay roll, the politicians have been told by the commission that the only way their man can get the job is to qualify in the examination.

Those who asked his appointment were Congressman Stevens, Frank Obst, Walter Chaplin, S. E. Kellerman, Assemblyman Mahle and Mr. Walterstorff.

MINNESOTA HORSES.

Number of Animals Not Decreasing Despite Automobiles.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—There are more horses in Minnesota this year than last, despite the encroachment of automobiles. This is shown by returns to the state tax commission.

Up to the present time, 542,203 horses have been listed for taxation, as against 531,765 last year. Ramsey county and South St. Paul have not yet reported and it is expected that fully 10,000 more will be added when they are heard from.

It is estimated that about 14,000 motor vehicles will be reported, valued at approximately $4,000,000. The value of horses so far reported is estimated at approximately $19,000,000.

WISCONSIN DELEGATES TO GOOD ROADS MEET.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 13.—Governor McGovern, by Private Secretary McGregor, has appointed nine members of the legislature to represent Wisconsin at the meeting of the National Good Roads association in Chicago Sept. 18 to Oct. 1 as follows: Senators J. S. Donald, E. E. Brown and Timothy Burke, and Assemblymen John R. Jones, L. E. Gettle, A. Gulickson, Charles Lentz, W. E. Hudnall and W. J. Gilboy.

ELEPHANT HAS LEG FRACTURED

Horse and Three Ponies Are Killed When Show Train Is Wrecked.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Gentry Bros' dog and pony show sustained a loss of about $25,000 in a wreck on the Canadian Northern railroad near Portage La Prairie, Man., but a settlement probably will be effected with the railroad. Several cars were derailed, the heaviest loss being the injury of an elephant. The animal had a leg broken and was otherwise so badly injured that it may have to be killed. One horse valued at $3,500 and three ponies were killed.

BANK ROBBERS SENTENCED.

Three South Dakota Safe-Crackers Admit Their Guilt.

Sioux Falls, S. D., Sept. 13.—George Riley, Edward Mack and Frank Collins were sentenced to prison yesterday for robbing the Farmers' State Bank of Tea. Riley was given eight years, Mack and Collins seven years each. The three men are supposed to have been members of the noted Dailey gang of robbers, but as they entered pleas of guilty there was no opportunity to present evidence to this effect. They were arrested here at the point of a revolver by Chief of Police Johnston shortly after the looting of the Tea bank in May.

BOLT KILLS STUDENTS.

Two Youths Are Lightning Victims at Franklin, Wis.

Sheboygan, Wis., Sept. 13.—Carl Herms of Cleveland, Ohio, and Walter Pfeiler, New Glarius, Wis., students at Mission house at Franklin, were struck by lightning and instantly killed.

They were going through the woods on their way back to the Mission, when the storm broke and they took shelter beneath a tree. The tree was struck by lightning, the same bolt killing the boys. Failing to appear at the school for supper a searching party went out after them and found their bodies during the night.

BODIES RECOVERED FROM RAINY RIVER.

Spooner, Minn., Sept. 13.—The bodies of Dick Lo Page and Frank Hawn, drowned in the Rainy river a week ago, have been recovered. While in a canoe bound for Spooner, the craft capsized. Le Page was an expert swimmer and log-roller. Hawn could not swim. The body of Hawn has been shipped to his old home at Litchfield, Minn., for burial.

IRON LAND OPTIONS TAKEN NEAR BRAINERD.

Brainerd, Minn., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—F. S. Adams has negotiated five options on iron ore land lying east of Brainerd near Perch and Nokay lakes in Nokay Lake township. Nokay Lake is the second township east of Brainerd, the township of Oak Lawn, which has been drilled in places, intervening. Under the terms of the options drills must be placed on the lands within thirty days. The right to purchase the lands within the year period is given at prices ranging from $50 to $65 per acre. The Biwanaga Mining company is interested in the options.

Incendiary Montana Fire.

Kalispell, Mont., Sept. 13.—An incendiary fire destroyed part of the plant of the Somers Lumber company at Somers on Flathead lake Sunday. The loss is $200,000 covered by insurance. The planing mill, power plant and 30,000,000 feet of lumber in the yards were saved.

Boy Loses Eye.

Karlstad, Minn., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—While the 8-year-old son of J. N. Sjoholm of Donaldson was watching the engineer and another trying to drive a key with a key drive on the engine the key broke and a piece lodged in little Edwin's eye. He was at once taken to Dr. Waldron at Drayton, but the eye was so badly injured that it had to be taken out.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Marquette — After suffering from pleurisy and other complications since last Wednesday, Mrs. Catherine Moriarty died Monday at her home, 243 West Ridge street. Mrs. Moriarty was 67 years of age and had lived in this city for thirty-seven years. Prior to an attack of pneumonia last December, she enjoyed excellent health.

PROTECTION TO GARDENS

Tomatoes and Cucumbers Should Be Covered at Indications of Frost.

A. B. Hostetter Warns Against Digging of Potatoes Before Maturity.

Vine products, such as tomatoes and cucumbers should be protected by covering, or should be gathered immediately if they are ripe, in order to insure against loss by frost, according to agricultural authorities.

A frost may occur in the country around Duluth at any time now. The temperature early yesterday morning was 36 deg., which temperature, with calm, clear atmosphere, will produce a frost. A comparatively light frost will damage tomatoes and cucumbers and the careful gardener will watch conditions from now on and will cover his garden products at the least intimation that a frost may occur.

Roots will not be injured by a frost which will kill the surface vegetation, so that no precautions are necessary against damage to products that are still in the ground.

Potatoes should be allowed to remain in the ground for about two weeks longer, according to A. B. Hostetter, superintendent of agriculture of the Duluth Commercial club. Mr. Hostetter says that farmers should be careful not to place immature potatoes on the market, as they will not bring as good a price as potatoes fully matured and the quality will be such as to damage the market.

"Late varieties of potatoes should be allowed to remain in the ground until they are fully ripened and matured," said Mr. Hostetter. "Premature digging of potatoes is a mistake that should be avoided and the farmers will find that by holding off a little longer, they will get much more satisfactory results."

WANTS DAMAGES FROM RAILROAD

William McLaughlin Claims Great Northern Was Responsible for Frozen Hands.

William McLaughlin is trying to convince a jury in district court that he is entitled to $10,000 as damages from the Great Northern Railway company for injuries alleged to have been sustained while working for the company near Minot, N. D.

The trial of the case is taking place before Judge William A. Cant of the district court.

The plaintiff claims that he was engaged in building fences and shoveling snow along the right-of-way of the company in the month of January, last year.

The car which was furnished by the company as a boarding car was taken away, he says, and being without a place in which to warm himself, he claims to have frozen his feet and hands.

He alleges that his earning capacity has been destroyed. Before he was frozen he says he was an able bodied man capable of earning a good living.

COMMISSIONERS RAISED BY JURY

A. B. Siewert Gets $700 More for Land By Going Into Court.

A jury in district court has allowed Albert B. Siewert $4,138.52 for his land near Caribou lake, which was taken some time ago by the Great Northern Power company as overflow lands.

The commissioners allowed Mr. Siewert $3,400 for the land and the jury raised the amount over $700.

The case has been going on in district court before Judge J. D. Ensign for several days past.

Quick work was made of two cases in district court this morning, when the case of Patrick Hines against Patrick Hammell, in which the plaintiff claimed $675 as a commission for assisting in the sale of some Aitkin county lands, was settled out of court. The case of Joseph Hamilton against B. C. Bartlett, which concerned a renting contract was thrown out of court by Judge Dancer. The complaint filed by the plaintiff was defective.

STATISTICS FOR THE DULUTH PRESBYTERY.

The annual report of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian church just issued gives the following statistics on the Minnesota synod: Presbyteries, 8; ministers, 213; churches, 302; communicants, 25,403; baptisms, 1,098; Sunday school membership, 31,168. In the Duluth Presbytery are 38 churches; 30 ministers; 2,921 communicants; 4,492 in Sunday school, and 165 baptisms the past year.

Girl Was Murdered.

Hendersonville, N. C., Sept. 13.—The mystery that has surrounded the death of Miss Myrtle Hawkins, the 17-year-old girl of Hendersonville, whose body was found Sunday morning floating in Lake Osceola, is rapidly being removed. The theory of suicide has been discarded and murder seems to have been established.

On Blind-Pigging Charge.

Minot, N. D., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Arrests of two of his alleged customers on charges of indulging in the use of profane language has lodged Louis Turner of this city behind the bars of the Ward county jail on a charge of blind-pigging, and as he has already served one sentence on such complaint, should he again be convicted he would be sent to the state penitentiary.

CENTER OF POPULATION IN UNITED STATES

There seem to be two centers of population in the United States. Both are near Bloomington, Ind. Prof. W. A. Cogshall of the University of Indiana has been seeking the exact location of the center of population under the census of 1910. He did not tell anyone what he expected to do with it when he found it. Recently he announced that it had been discovered on the farm of Samuel Stevens. Just as Stevens began to swell out his chest a little and look upon himself as a national character, Prof. Cogshall moved the focus of his interest to the farm of W. L. Mozier, which adjoins that of Stevens. Mozier is standing by the sign board, which was erected to celebrate the location of this point of doubtful interest. All this occurred in July. Now Prof. Cogshall has taken the liberty of shifting the center of population again. His final observation, made Sept. 4, places the center at the south end of the factory of W. N. Showers. It is proposed to put up an elaborate stone pyramid on the place of Showers, surmounted by a high electric sign.

SUPERIOR STRIKE AT RAILROADS

Superior Aldermen Adopt Retaliatory Measures Against Soo and Omaha.

Aroused By Opposition of Companies to Paving of Main Street.

Superior councilmen believe in the old saying about "an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth," and have declared war on the railroads, particularly the Omaha and the Soo.

For more than an hour last evening the Superior city fathers racked their brains for ideas which could be employed as retaliatory measures against the two railroads, the Soo and Omaha, which are opposing the paving of Main street.

Main street, which is the connecting thoroughfare between Superior and Duluth on Connor's Point, runs through much railroad property. The railroads have opposed any improvement to the street, but the council ordered the work to go ahead.

The latest development was that the contractor, Swan Holmquist, threw up the job because litigation had been started. The special session of the council followed last evening, and the council ordered the board of public works to readvertise for bids.

Alderman Russell moved that the railroad commission be called upon to decide whether the railroads should place a flagman at every crossing or not.

Alderman Morrisette moved that the Soo be compelled to install subways at its crossing on Belknap street and Twenty-first street. The motion was carried.

Alderman Morrisette also made a motion which in effect will compel the Omaha road to keep within the speed limit while in the city limits. To back this motion up, the chief of police is instructed to place men on all of the Omaha crossings from Allouez to the West end to time the trains. If any train exceeds the speed limit of eight miles an hour, the officer has orders to arrest the train crew. This motion was carried.

SAD NEWS FOR COMPLAINANT

Judge Forced to Tell Country Girl of Father's Death.

When Hulda Kergas, a 17-year-old country girl came to the municipal court yesterday afternoon to tell Judge Parker a story of a wronged woman and to ask his advice, it became his painful duty to inform the girl of the tragic death of her father.

Erick Kergas, aged 51, supervisor of the town of Maple, Douglas county, was struck by lightning while on his farm in a shed Monday afternoon. The body was brought to Superior to the Le Sage undertaking rooms and although the Kergas girl was working in the city she knew nothing of it, until Judge Parker told her.

The Kergas girl came to the city a few weeks ago and has been employed as a domestic. She went back to her old home today to attend her father's funeral, which was held from the farmhouse to the Maple Hill cemetery.

The story that the young girl told to Judge Parker resulted in a warrant being issued for the arrest of Herman Mattson, who will, if apprehended, be obliged to face a charge of criminal assault on the girl.

TRADE EXCURSION TO ALLOUEZ ORE DOCKS.

About seventy-five Superior business men today took the third "little journey" held under the auspices of the publicity committee of the Superior Commercial club. The trade excursion today was to the Great Northern ore docks at Allouez. Supt. Morrill met the visitors at the dock and personally conducted them around. Next week, the trip will probably be made to the manufacturing plants of South Superior.

New Church Formed.

The congregation of the Norwegian Evangelical Free church of Superior organized yesterday, articles of incorporation being filed with the registrar of deeds. The congregation has purchased the old gymnasium building on the Blaine school grounds and will use it for a meeting house. This summer meetings were held in tents.

Fire Hazard Small.

President G. O. Crosley and twenty members of the Wisconsin State Fire Prevention association yesterday visited Superior with the view of inspecting the buildings and estimating the fire hazard. They found everything in good condition and complimented the city on its excellent fire administration.

Will Hold Clambake.

The annual camp fire and clambake of the Spanish American war veterans, which was postponed a week ago on account of the bad weather, will be held this evening on Wisconsin point. Two Duluth camps have been invited to attend.

Militiamen Reorganize.

Members of Company I, forty strong, met and banqueted at Maryland hall last evening, the occasion being the annual fall reunion and muster for drill purposes. The boys received their equipment for the winter and following the dinner there were short talks by Capt. Rossiter, Capt. Clemens and others.

Three Years for Krause.

John Krause, the "workhouse burglar," who is alleged to have broken into the county correction institution in the night and purloined two bottles of beer from the private stock of the superintendent, was sentenced to three years in the state penitentiary by Judge Smith in superior court yesterday. Krause is 33, unmarried and has relatives in Germany.

William O'Brien of Stillwater, Minn., is president; N. F. Hugo of Duluth is vice president, and Henry Turrish of Duluth is secretary and treasurer.

The company has purchased a tract of land in Aitkin county. Four large experimental farms of 160 acres each will be started so as to show what can be done on the land.

Within the next few years the company hopes to establish many farmers in Aitkin county.

The above named officers also constitute the board of directors of the company.

INJUNCTION MAY BE ASKED

Promoters Consider Requesting Court to Restrain Sheriff Arnold.

Wisconsin Attorney General's Office Preparing Opinion on Milwaukee Bout.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 13.—Whether the contemplated ten-round boxing bout between Lightweight Champion Ad Wolgast and Packey McFarland, billed for Friday night at the Milwaukee Auditorium, will be put through is expected to be decided definitely one way or the other before the end of the day.

The promoters are expressing themselves as being confident that there will be no interference and intimate that they have it from reliable sources that an opinion which is expected to be handed down this afternoon by the attorney general at Madison will favor their cause.

On the other hand, a hint is said to have been dropped by one of the attaches of the attorney general's department at Madison that the opinion would be an adverse one.

Much pressure is being brought to bear upon District Attorney W. A. Zabel and Sheriff Arnold by heads of Milwaukee business organizations, but the sheriff and head of the legal department are firm in their opinion that the fistic affair as planned comes within the prohibitory class and will not yield.

An injunction is believed to be the path of the promoters. Sheriff Arnold says if an injunction is issued that he would ask the advice of the district attorney before obeying.

CUBS WIN FROM REDS IN POOR GAME.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 13.—Chicago defeated Cincinnati here yesterday in an interesting but poorly played game. Cole was hit hard, but good fielding at critical times saved him, five double plays being made during the contest. Keefe pitched well, but errors gave Chicago two of their runs. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Cincinnati	0	1	0

Batteries — Cole and Needham; Keefe and McLean. Umpires—O'Day and Emslie.

SLUGGING MATCH IS WON BY BROOKLYN.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 13.—Brooklyn defeated the home team by slugging here yesterday, the score being 11 to 6. All of Philadelphia's pitchers, including Stanley, a southpaw from the Tri-State league, were ineffective. Rucker went to Knetzer's rescue in the seventh and checked the home team. The batting of Daubert, Wheat, Erwin, Knabe and Luderus featured the contest. Walsh made his first appearance as catcher for Philadelphia and did excellent work. Walsh has now played every position on the team in championship games except that of pitcher. Score: R. H. E.

Batteries—Rucker, Knetzer and Erwin, Hall, Stack, Stanley, Chalmers and Madden and Walsh. Umpires—Klem and Brennan.

GIANTS TAKE TWO GAMES FROM BOSTON.

Boston, Mass., Sept 13.—New York defeated Boston in two games yesterday, winning by scores of 9 to 6 and 11 to 2. Although the locals batted Marquard from the box in the seventh inning of the first game, New York came back strong in the eighth, hitting Hogg and Griffin for four runs. Donlin argued himself out of the games by criticising decisions. "Cy" Young fell before a fusillade of New York hits in the third inning of the second game. New York's hitting in this game included two home runs by Merkle and one by Doyle, off Young and another by Crandall off Tyler, who succeeded the veteran. Score:

First game—

MARQUARD IS YEAR'S PITCHING SENSATION

MARQUARD.

Rube Marquard has been making a sensational record this season. At this writing he has taken part in thirty-seven games and lost but five. In twelve games he pitched as a substitute, but in twenty he made a straight win. In these thirty-seven games he struck out 207 men and allowed only 153 hits. He has to his credit six shutouts, one game with one hit, three with two hits, two with four hits and one with five hits.

ATHLETICS TAKE EASY GAME AT NEW YORK.

New York, Sept. 13.—The Philadelphia team again rode rough shod over New York yesterday, winning 10 to 1. Warhop was driven off the mound in two innings, and although Caldwell was a big improvement, he yielded four more runs. Coombs pitched a crafty game and though hit fairly hard, was steady in pinches. In the second inning Oldring scored from second base on Collins' long sacrifice fly to Daniels. Score:

Philadelphia	10	12	2
New York	1	11	2

Batteries—Coombs and Lapp; Warhop, Caldwell and Blair. Umpires—Connolly and Sheridan.

NAPS DROP SEE-SAW GAME TO TIGERS.

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 13.—Taking advantage of Cleveland's errors and Krapp's wild throw, Detroit led, 6 to 3, when Cleveland went to bat in the ninth. A single by Jackson, Stovall's double and a single by Graney, who batted for Fisher, tied the score. With Summers finishing the game, Cleveland failed to score again, but in the thirteenth Detroit scored three on Cobb's triple, passes to Crawford and Drake and singles by Delehanty and Moriarity. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Cleveland	9	12	3
Detroit	9	17	0

Batteries—Krapp, Falkenberg and Smith and Fisher; Willett, Summers and Stanage. Umpires—O'Loughlin and Egan.

SCOTT PITCHES WELL AND BLANKS BROWNS.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 13.—Scott kept his hits well scattered while his team mates bunched theirs and Chicago shut out St. Louis, 5 to 2. The batting of Stephens and Collins were features. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Chicago	5	11	0
St. Louis	0	8	0

Batteries—Scott and Block; Pelty and Clarke and Stephens. Umpires—Mullin and Evans.

CICOTTE DRIVEN OUT BUT BOSTON WINS.

Washington, Sept. 13.—Washington drove Cicotte from the box yesterday in the eighth, but O'Brien proved a good relief and Boston won, 6 to 5. Groom's wild pitch let in a run and Boston hit when hits meant runs. McBride's fielding was the feature. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Washington	5	10	4
Boston	6	9	5

Batteries—Groom and Street; Cicotte, O'Brien and Williams and Nunamaker. Umpires—Dineen and Perrine.

PITCHER BASKETTE IS PUZZLE TO COLONELS.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 13.—Toledo defeated Louisville yesterday in the first game of the series. Baskette proved a puzzle, while Criss did well in all but the seventh. A running catch by Burns and the fielding of Hulswitt and Butler were features. Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Louisville	6	11	1
Toledo	5	8	1

Batteries—Criss and Hughes and Weeden; Baskette and Carisch. Umpires—Handiboe and Hayes.

FALL RACES AT THE BOAT CLUB

Singles, Doubles, Fours and Eights Will Compete on Sept. 30.

The fall rowing regatta which will be held under the auspices of the Duluth Boat club will take place on Sept. 30. There will be singles, doubles, fours and eights on the program.

Coach Ten Eyck has been giving the men individual attention since the regular rowing season closed and some pretty brushes are anticipated.

To the winning crew of the eight-oared race a silver cup will be given as a prize. In the other events sweaters will be given as prizes.

The fall racing events have brought out some fine raw material and Coach Ten Eyck says that he has his eyes on some men who will shine next season.

FINAL GAME FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

Adams and Fitwells to Meet in Crucial Contest Sunday.

The baseball teams of the Adams Athletic association and the Fitwell Clothing company will meet Sunday afternoon at Athletic park to settle the city championship for 1911.

Each team has won one game. Both games were well played and only won after the last man was out in the ninth. The teams are without doubt the fastest of the amateur clubs in the city and both have a large following. It is expected that the game Sunday will attract one of the largest crowds that ever attended an amateur game in the city.

The contest will wind up the season's baseball in Duluth. The amateurs have enjoyed the best season of ball in the history of the city and the Sunday game comes as a fitting climax.

Both teams are confident of winning Sunday's contest, as the winning of the city championship means a great deal to each team, a stubborn and hard fought battle may be looked for.

DULUTH HUNTERS ARE SUCCESSFUL

T. J. Storey and Frank Williamson Bring Back More Than 100 Birds.

Loaded down with prairie chickens, T. J. Storey and Frank Williamson, have returned from a hunt of several days at Stevens, Minn.

They say that they had the best sport in years. They got more than 100 birds.

This hunt is the most successful of any reported so far this year.

Hunters state that those who go into the woods with good dogs are getting the birds.

The Storey-Williamson party is the most successful reported thus far this season. The could have brought back many more birds, it is said, but they considered that they had enjoyed their share.

The partridge season opens Oct. 1. Then there will be shooting in plenty close to the city, for those who have been in the woods claim that there are more birds than ever this year.

McALEER TO BUY BOSTON CLUB

Making Financial Arrangements to Take Over American League Team.

Washington, Sept. 13.—James R. McAleer, manager of the Washington American league baseball team, has gone to Youngstown, Ohio, to complete financial arrangements that will enable him to close the deal for the Boston American league team at his conference with Owner John I. Taylor in Boston next Thursday. It is understood here that McAleer proposes to purchase the entire stock of the club.

Everything has been arranged for the transfer from Mr. Taylor to Mr. McAleer, except minor details. These will be agreed upon at the conference Thursday at which President B. B. Johnson of the American league will be present. It is understood that the negotiations were reopened when Mr. Taylor by telegraph informed McAleer that he wanted to get out of baseball entirely.

McAleer has a two-year contract with the Washington club, expiring in the fall of 1912, but the Washington owners, it is understood, will release him. If the deal goes through, as now appears probable, a new manager for the Washington club, it is not unlikely, will be selected from the team. Shortstop George McBride and First Baseman Herman Schaefer, will be considered, it is said.

AMERICANS WIN CHALLENGE RIGHT

McLoughlin and Larned Win Final Matches From British Players.

New York, Sept. 13.—Americans won the right to meet the Australian holders of the Davis international challenge cup by capturing the final singles of the preliminary matches yesterday before a crowd that numbered more than 5,000. Both of the closing matches went through four fast sets, M. E. McLoughlin disposing of C. H. Dixon, captain of the British Isles team at 8-6, 3-6, 6-3, 6-2, while W. A. Larned, the American title holder, defeated A. H. Lowe, rated as the best singles man on the British team, 6-2, 1-6, 7-5, 6-1.

The results of the five competitions in which the Americans and British challengers engaged give the Americans four points of winning all the singles, while the British take one point, victory in the doubles in which A. E. Beamish and C. H. Dixon defeated T. C. Bundy and R. D. Little Monday.

HARRY LEGG TO TO MEET SECKEL

Minneapolis Man in "Sixteens" of Amateur Golf Tournament.

Rye, N. Y., Sept. 13.—From a field of unknown quantities on Monday morning, the amateur golf championship narrowed today to sixteen players of known ability and national and international reputation.

It was the first day of long thirty-six hole matches, and the survivors of the medal play of Monday and Tuesday, and the singles round of match play yesterday afternoon strolled out to the Apawamis club this afternoon with the satisfaction of having a solid day of golf without fear of elimination before late afternoon.

The pairings for today's play were as follows:

H. H. Hilton, England, vs. R. C. Watson, New York.

Paul M. Hunter, Chicago, vs. J. D. Travers, New York.

C. W. Inslee, New York, vs. F. A. Martin, Ekwanok.

S. D. Bowers, Bridgeport, vs. P. W. Whittemore, Boston.

Fred Herreshoff, Ekwanok, Vt., vs. S. C. Stickney, St. Louis.

Oswald Kirby, New York, vs. J. D. Brown, Scotland.

Albert Seckel, Chicago, vs. H. G. Legg, Minneapolis.

Charles Evans, Jr., Chicago, vs. A. F Kammer, New York.

After Monday's listless weather and yesterday's puffy gale, a grand northwester with a steady suggestion of autumn played over the greensward today and brought feelings of relief to players and spectators.

While Hilton still drew many followers, interest today centered in the Chicago-New York struggle between Hunter and Travers. It was expected that this match would prove the one great contest of the day.

OHIO TOURNAMENT NEARS SEMI-FINALS.

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 13.—The conclusion of the fifth round of the men's singles at the championship state tennis tournament today probably will find C. O. Benton of Cleveland, Dr. Nat Thornton of Augusta, Ga.; Joe Harris, the Dartmouth college expert, and S. Wainwright of Rye, N. Y., qualified for the semi-finals in this class. These men have shown the best form of all the entrants to date, and went into today's matches strong favorites.

Women's singles were begun today. Real interest in this contest will not culminate until tomorrow, when a number of out-of-town stars, including Florence and May Sutton of California, Miss Lois Moyes of Toronto, last year's winner of the Ohio championship, Miss Rhea Fairbaine of Toronto, Miss Margary Dodd of Cincinnati and the Misses Grace Wade and Olive Willey of Oberlin, Ohio, will arrive.

Men's doubles were continued today.

CROWD EXPECTED TO SEE MORRIS AND FLYNN.

New York, Sept. 13.—The Madison Square Garden box office was opened today for the advance sale of tickets for Friday night's ten-round boxing match between Carl Morris, the Sapulpa, Okla., "white hope," and Jim Flynn, the conqueror of Al Kaufman. There was a big demand for tickets and indications are that a large house will see the go.

Charley White will be the third man in the ring. The boxers will be governed by strict Queensberry rules. Both men are working hard and are said to be in excellent condition. Flynn now is endeavoring to build himself up in weight. He weighs about 175 pounds, but expects to go into the ring weighing more than 180.

Wisconsin Fair Races.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 13.—Four good races under the auspices of the Great Western circuit were on the card for the opening day of the Wisconsin state fair, and with one exception were won in straight heats. Zanto E. McGregor took three out of four heats in the 2:20 pace, closely pushed by Marion Patch. Walter J. won the 2:35 pace; Royal Reaper took the honors in the 2:24 trot, and Yosin, the 2-year-old Wisconsin pace.

Julian Gets Decision.

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 13.—Kid Julian of Syracuse, N. Y., was given the decision after ten rounds of fast fighting with Matt Brock of Cleveland near here last night.

"U-RAH-RAH WIS-CON-SIN!"

Duluth Alumni Will Hold a Monthly Luncheon and Reunion.

Wisconsin university men of Duluth will meet tomorrow at 12:15 at the St. Louis hotel for their first luncheon, according to plans made at a recent meeting of the Wisconsin Alumni association.

Hereafter these luncheons will be held on every second Thursday of the month at the same time and same place, and all Wisconsin men are urged to be present. Duluth has many men from Wisconsin university who have formed the Alumni association, and these luncheons are planned to keep the men together and in touch with the university doings.

BENUMBED BY SWIFT FLIGHT

Balloonist Cuts Silken Bag and Drops to the Ground.

Auburn, Me., Sept. 13.—Half benumbed from a swift flight through rain and hail and unable to make the outlet valve or rip cord of his balloon work, H. Percy Spearman climbed up through the ropes, slashed the silken bag with a knife and fell back unconscious into the basket. The balloon dropped swiftly to the ground and last night Spearman, resting comfortably at a local hospital, was able to tell something of his experiences.

It was on a farm on the outskirts of this city that Spearman, who is president of the Williams College Aeronautical society, ended the longest balloon flight ever made in New England by an aeronaut unaccompanied. The distance covered was approximately 200 miles. No serious effect on his health is anticipated.

MORE CHARGES OF BRIBERY AT GARY

Former Commissioner of Public Works Asked for $10,000.

Gary, Ind., Sept. 13.—A warrant charging John J. Niehoff, former commissioner of public works of this city, with soliicting a bribe of $10,000, was placed in the hands of Deputy Sheriff Morris yesterday for service. The charges are made by T. B. Dean, who last week caused the arrest of Mayor Knotts and five aldermen on charges of bribery in connection with granting a heating franchise.

It is alleged Niehoff demanded $10,000 of Dean for a coal yard, saying that the heating franchise would be granted if Dean took over Niehoff's coal yard.

A statement by A. F. Knotts, brother of the mayor, has been issued in which it is charged that the alleged bribe money found in the mayor's desk on the day of his arrest was "planted there by Dean."

WOMAN MAYOR MAY WIN.

Things About to Happen in Hunnewell, Says Attorney.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 13.—Victory is almost in the grasp of Mrs. Ella Wilson, the woman mayor of Hunnewell, Kan., it would appear from statements made by C. W. Trickett of Kansas City, Kan., appointed by Governor Stubbs to assist the feminine executive in her conflict with the men of the council. The drastic action of the council members Monday night in refusing to consider Mrs. Wilson's nominations for appointive officers, said Mr. Trickett, makes further delay unnecessary.

"We will get busy in Hunnewell at once," said he, "and things will happen in the town."

GOT DIVORCE BECAUSE WIFE WAS SUFFRAGETTE.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 13.—Because his wife was a suffragette and active in politics in Denver when he lived in that city, Thomas P. Zimmerman secured a divorce from her in the circuit court here yesterday. Zimmerman charged that his wife neglected her home and spent in politics money he earned as a stone cutter.

NUT-GATHERING TRIP AND AUTO RIDE AMONG TREATS FOR BOYS

The boys' building is open for business all day and in the evening now after the summer activities. Plans are being made for the opening of the fall work.

Next Saturday there will be a bicycle trip to the woods to gather hazel nuts. The boys will meet at the building at 1:30 p. m.

Friday, Sept. 22 will be the night for the annual auto ride. Only those whose names are entered can be accommodated.

Friday, Sept. 29 will be held the annual committee dinner at which time the policies will be outlined for the year.

On Sunday, Oct. 1 the Sunday meetings will open the younger boys at 3 o'clock and the older boys at 4:30.

Monday, Oct. 2 there will be a reception to parents. All fathers and mothers are invited to visit the building and see some of the things which interest boys.

Wednesday, Oct. 4 there will be held an opening exhibition of gymnasium work for which a picked squad of boys from each of the classes is working every Monday and Wednesday night.

On Friday, Oct. 6 a reception to all the boys who are members and their boy friends will be given by the social committee.

Every Saturday an outing will be held.

LONE SURVIVOR OF YANA TRIBE

Officials of Indian Bureau Figuring What to Do With Him.

Washington, Sept. 13.—Officials of the Indian bureau here are figuring on what they shall do with the lone survivor of the Yana tribe of Indians, popularly known as the Nogi tribe, who was captured near Oroville, Cal., recently. Charles L. Davis, one of the agents of the bureau, has recommended that the lone Yana be cared for by some member of an allied tribe. This, it was stated, probably would be done.

"After a year or two," said Mr. Davis, "the doubtless would be able to look after himself, become a member of the band and live as the others do."

The lone Yana, Mr. Davis believes, is the last of a group of four or five Indians who for years had lived in the practically inaccessible haunts of canyons along the Feather river.

Several years ago a party of surveyors, the report adds, evidently drove them from this seclusion, and in the attempt to find another hiding place, all of them perished but the one taken a few days ago. "He is an expert," Mr. Davis says, "in imitating the calls of wild animals, showing he has preserved the wiles of the savage to lure the wild game to him."

NEGROES ARE LEAVING IN FEAR OF LYNCHING.

Alexandria, La., Sept. 13.—As the result of the wounding of two negroes by a posse hunting for the one who killed W. W. Ellis, a college student, Sunday night, many of that race are leaving this section of the country. Since the killing of Ellis, a large number of men heavily armed have been scouring the country for the murderer and two were wounded, although neither is suspected of killing Ellis.

One was shot through the arm and the other has a wounded leg. It is said there was no provocation for killing Ellis, who was shot down in the streets.

CHANGES NAME FROM SCHWEITZER TO WEBBER.

New York, Sept. 13.—Oscar Schweitzer has received permission from Justice Delahanty to change his name to Webber. He did not like the old name because it bore a close resemblance to the name of a well known food product. The girl he intends to marry didn't like it either and Schweitzer said his business and social chances would be greatly improved by a change.

SEE AMERICA FIRST,

Urges President Louis W. Hill of the Great Northern.

Yellowstone Park, Wyo., Sept. 13.—Transportation concessions and park administration from the standpoint of those charged with that duty were the topics discussed at yesterday's session of the meeting of National park superintendents here.

Secretary of the Interior Wilson expressed the opinion that the national parks "have not received the attention they deserve" and that the object of the conference is to devise a successful system of administration.

Louis W. Hill, president of the Great Northern railroad, advocated Americans seeing America first. Thomas Cooper of the Northern Pacific and Charles S. Fee of the Southern Pacific emphasized the necessity for increased appropriations for sprinkling and improving the appearance, if the national parks are to be operated with satisfaction.

PASTOR QUITS BECAUSE SALARY IS EXCESSIVE.

Cape Girardeau, Mo., Sept. 13.—Eugene F. Abbott, pastor of the First Presbyterian church here, resigned yesterday, giving as one reason that his salary of $2,000 per year was excessive considering the amount appropriated for charitable and other church work. He has accepted a call to a church at Fulton, Mo., where his salary will be $1,800 a year.

Voliva Gains Victory.

Waukegan, Ill., Sept. 13.—A victory for Wilbur Glen nVoliva, successor to John Alexander Dowie as general overseer of Zion City, Ill., was scored here yesterday when Judge Charles Whitney in the circuit court announced he would enter an order for the quashing of indictments against Voliva and three of his officials, who charged conspiracy in connection with alleged voting at the second election last April.

Cotton Men Meet.

Montgomery, Ala., Sept. 13.—One thousand men from every cotton-growing state in America met here yesterday and discussed ways and means to rebut figures of the federal cotton report and to get better prices for cotton. Among these men were congressmen, United States senators, commissioners of agriculture or their representatives from every Southern state, together with hundreds of farmers, bankers, business and professional men throughout the South.

CURLERS TO HAVE SPORT

Hibbing Devotees of the Stane Have Organized Curling Club.

T. D. McEachin Is President and W. J. West Is Secretary.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Lovers of the great game of old Scotland, met last night and organized the Hibbing Curling club and started the movement that will give Hibbing one of the best clubs of the kind in the state. The meeting was enthusiastic and all agreed it was time that Hibbing got into the game and showed the stane slilders of Duluth, Virginia and other Northern Minnesota cities that there are many experts here.

The following officers were elected: President, T. D. McEachin; vice president, W. J. West; secretary, Jason L. Lewis, treasurer, John A. Redfern. The executive consists of Peter McCarthy, chairman, J. J. Cox, John Kleffman, Dr. S. S. Blacklock, Robert Murray, Dr. P. R. Thomas, Dr. Butchart, E. G. Roble, L. Kirby and R. A. Angst.

It is proposed to build a rink 25 by 125 feet on one of several sites the club has in view.

To Consider Saloon Control.

The Commercial club will hold a meeting tonight when two matters of considerable importance to this community is to be considered. One of these is the question of the breweries owning local saloons. The club will consider the matter of making suggestions to the village board as to legislation to prevent the breweries being in the saloon business in Hibbing. It is recognized that the problem is a vexing one that has puzzled legislatures but the club hopes to find a way that will put a stop to the practice yet keep within the law.

The other question to be considered will be that of the annexation of the village of Alice. This subject has been freely discussed here for some time and has both its advocates and its opponents. The legal proceedings seeking to preventing Alice from proceeding with making improvements have led many to believe that annexation to Hibbing would be the solution of the problem.

SELL HOUSE ON FIRE HALL SITE

Eveleth Firm Also Engages Duluth Firm to Design Building.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The city council last evening sold the Lamson residence on Jackson street and Adams avenue, which occupies the lots recently purchased by the city for a fire hall site to Fheman Thomas Finnigan for $476.50.

Elleby & Sullivan of Duluth were selected as the architects for the new fire hall.

The city engineer submitted an estimate of $727 for paving the alley between Adams and Grant avenues and Pierce and Jones streets.

The city engineer submitted an estimate of $93 for laying a sewer on A avenue and $8,637 for laying one on Harrison street.

The committee on elections, consisting of Chairman Mulligan and Aldermen E. K. Medlar and David A. Springer, was instructed to recommend a list of judges to act on registration day, Sept. 25. The committee is also to secure polling places and judges for the regular election day.

The city ordinances in book form were distributed among the aldermen. It was decided to charge those desirous of securing copies, $1 if bound in book paper and $2.50 if bound in buckram.

Washington, Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The postmaster general has designated the following third-class postoffices in Minnesota to open postal savings banks Oct. 13: Gilbert, Aurora, Nashwauk, Biwabik, Akeley, International Falls, Bovey, Cass Lake, Ely and Carlton.

ACCUSER DROPS SERIOUS CHARGE

Chisholm Man Who Cut Fellow Countryman Gets Off Easily.

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Gorchen Jakovich, a young Montenegrin, who was seriously stabbed in the left side last Saturday by a fellow countryman, appeared in municipal court yesterday when the case against his assailant was called and withdrew the charge of assault with intent to kill. Luke Tomkovich, who made the assault, was then fined $10 and costs for simple assault and the two left the courtroom arm in arm. It seems the stabbing was the sequel to a drunken brawl and when the case was called the victim of the assault was willing to admit that he was largely to blame for the trouble.

MURDERED MAN IS IDENTIFIED

In All Probability Deceased Was Andrew Saman, Formerly of Virginia.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The police have ascertained that Andrew Saman, who was killed in Ontario, boarded at a Finnish boarding house at 217 Oak street, and about two weeks ago left for the Canadian Northwest. Saman was formerly employed in one of the local sawmills. A cousin, Dave Hill, left last evening for Fort Frances on his way to Elmo to identify the body and bring it here.

NEW EQUIPMENT BEING RECEIVED

Engines and Cars for the Virginia Division of Canadian Northern.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Five new super-heated locomotives arrived yesterday from the Baldwin Locomotive works for the Virginia division of the Canadian Northern and are being fitted ready for work by Traveling Engineer R. Peters of the Brooks works. Two hundred and fifty box cars also arrived for the Virginia division from Chicago.

Work was begun upon the 2nd line to run into the new passenger depot to be erected at the head of Chestnut street, the contract for which will be let soon. It is expected that the freight depot will be erected on Cook street. Work is progressing upon the site of the new machine shops and roundhouse west of the city.

Three thousand feet of 12-inch sewer mains are being laid to provide proper drainage on the shops' site, and the Fairbanks Morse company is expected shortly to begin work upon the erection of coal docks.

TWO PLEAD GUILTY.

Demasse Is Sentenced for Carrying Concealed Weapons.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Bruno Demasse of Biwabik pleaded guilty in district court yesterday afternoon to carrying concealed weapons and was sentenced by Judge Hughes to eight months in the county jail.

The jury found Matt Lake guilty yesterday afternoon of assault in the first degree upon the person of Charles Lampala of Eveleth. Lake will be sentenced later.

RETURNED BY RAIL.

Chisholm People Who Motored to Fair Had Hard Luck.

Chisholm, Minn., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge Masters and family and R. S. O'Neil and family, who went to the fair last week in the Masters automobile, returned yesterday by rail, having abandoned the machine in the Twin Cities on account of the condition of the roads. Mayor Nelson, who also went to the fair in his automobile, will return this week by rail, and the Chisholm machines will be shipped back in a car.

Justice Rentlund, who occupied the municipal bench during the absence of Judge Masters, has returned to his home at Buhl.

CHILD DIES ON TRAIN.

Woman Returning From Hibbing Visit Has Hard Luck.

Cass Lake, Minn., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Monday night, while on her way on a Great Northern train, with her three small children from Hibbing, where she had been visiting, to her home at Wilton, Mrs. Theodore Hall became hysterical when she found that her youngest child, less than a year old, was dying.

Dr. D. F. Dumas of Cass Lake, was on the train and offered his services. He took up the child, but it was past medical aid and died in a few minutes in the arms of the doctor.

The mother continued on her way to Wilton where she met her husband.

The child had been ill all day and its condition became so serious by the time the Great Northern train on which the mother was rlding reached Cass Lake she began to cry and scream for aid.

It was at this point that Dr. Dumas happened along.

EVELETH VETERAN AFTER JUDGESHIP

CHARLES McNAMARA.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Charles McNamara, for many years a resident of this section, one of the well-known Civil war veterans of Minnesota, has announced his candidacy for municipal judge. He has lived here ten years and before coming here living at Tower and in Upper Michigan. Vincent Menchenni has withdrawn from the mayoralty race in favor of James Morra. John W. Peterson and William G. Sutherland have also announced their candidacy for municipal judge.

For the city treasurership, City Treasurer William J. Davey, Capt. William Burke and Alderman Dr. Edward K. Medlar are the avowed candidates. Aldermen J. S. Wilson and David A. Springer of the First and Sixth wards, it is believed, will have no opposition for re-election. S. A. Mende is an avowed candidate in the Second ward; John Rauma and Oscar A. Enderich, in the Third ward, with Joseph Francel, and L. Masucci as possible candidates. The aldermanic campaigns in the Fourth and Fifth wards and for alderman-at-large also promise to be warm ones.

FRANCHISE HAS BEEN ACCEPTED

The Canadian Northern Sends Word to Virginia City Council.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The city council last night received a communication from the Duluth, Winnipeg & Pacific railroad company, the Canadian Northern, formally notifying the body of the acceptance of the franchise recently granted the company. The communication was referred to the city attorney to make some adjustments concerning certain transfers of property, the committee on city property and the mayor were instructed to act with the library commission in seeking to secure options on the lots at the corner of Central avenue and Spruce street, sought for a new public library site, and thus avoid the necessity of condemnation proceedings.

A communication was read from Congressman C. R. Miller to City Attorney Poirier stating he has exhausted every resource in attempting to secure action in connection with the proposition to build a new postoffice building in Virginia, but would be glad to come up and make a personal inspection of the present postoffice and secure additional information upon which to base further action. Mr. Miller stated that he would be in Virginia to make the inspection within ten days.

C. C. Butler was awarded the contract for putting in sewer mains in Anderson's Second addition in block 12, his bid being $877.28, that of the H. L. Bartlett company being $987.34.

The building committee was authorized to have necessary repairs made to the roof of the city hall.

Grand Rapids Concert.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—A successful benefit concert was given at the high school last night by Miss Rae Potter, who studied under Duluth vocalists, assisted by Miss Mae Benton and Miss Florence Burlingame.

The affair was given under the auspices of the Catholic Ladies' Altar society.

$3.50 Recipe Free, For Weak Men.

Send Name and Address Today—You Can Have it Free and Be Strong and Healthy.

I have in my possession a prescription for nervous debility, failing memory and lame back, brought on by excesses, that has cured so many worn and nervous men right in their own homes—without any additional help or medicine—that I think every man who wishes to regain his health quickly and quietly, should have a copy. So I have determined to send a copy of the prescription free of charge, in a plain, ordinary sealed envelope to any man who will write me for it.

This prescription comes from a physician who has made a special study of men and I am convinced it is the surest-acting combination ever put together.

I think I owe it to my fellow man to send them a copy in confidence so that any man anywhere who is weak and discouraged with repeated failures may stop drugging himself with harmful patent medicines, secure what I believe is the quickest-acting restorative, upbuilding, SPOT-TOUCHING remedy ever devised, and so cure himself at home quietly and quickly. Just drop me a line like this: Dr. A. E. Robinson, 4671 Luck Building, Detroit, Mich., and I will send you a copy of this splendid recipe in a plain ordinary envelope free of charge. A great many doctors would charge $3.00 to $5.00 for merely writing out a prescription like this—but I send it entirely free.

PASTOR'S WORK ELICITS PRAISE

First M. E. Church of Two Harbors Lauds Rev. Mr. Oadams.

Two Harbors, Minn., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The fourth quarterly conference of the First M. E. church was held last night, the Rev. E. K. Copper, district superintendent, presiding. The reports of the different officers were very gratifying, showing a large amount of work done by this active church and an increase of thirty-one members this year. Tributes were offered for the able work of the pastor, Rev. T. Stanley Oadams, and he was unanimously invited to remain with the church for another year. The faithful work of the district superintendent on Duluth district was also recognized and highly approved.

The Woman's Home Missionary Society of the Methodist church are holding their monthly meeting this afternoon which is made of especial interest by the presence of Mrs. E. K. Copper of Duluth and Miss Severance, superintendent of the Deaconness home of Duluth. A luncheon will be served, to which a large number are invited. Mrs. W. McCurdy is president of the society.

KILLS HIMSELF WITH SHOT GUN

Elof Gustafson Takes His Life Near Two Harbors.

Two Harbors, Minn., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—When Ole Hansen visited his farm two miles from town yesterday, he was horrified to find Elof Gustafson, who worked for him, lying cold in death before the door of the small dwelling. A terrible wound in the head and a shotgun near by from which one shell had been fired, indicated how Gustafson had ended his existence. Gustafson, who was about 58, leaves a widow, two sons and three daughters living here. He was an old resident of this city and was formerly for some years employed by the Duluth & Iron Range railroad in various capacities.

Gustafson's family are grief-stricken. They are unable to account for his rash deed. He was a temperate, a hard worker and never gave any evidence of despondency or aberration.

LOAN GRANTED TO CHISHOLM

State Investment Board Loans $90,000 for School Building.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—A loan of $90,000 with which to construct a school building was granted to Chisholm, St. Louis county, at the meeting of the state investment board yesterday afternoon. It is the largest single loan made to a school district recently. The board granted applications for loans from different districts in the state amounting to $110,350. The others were for amounts between $500 and $3,000.

District No. 41, Beltrami county, was loaned $3,000; No. 6, Chippewa county, $1,000; No. 96, Clay county, $500; No. 107, Lac Qui Parle county $1,500; No. 33, McLeod county, $6,000; No. 33, Murray county, $1,500; No. 235, Polk county, $800; No. 81, Redwood county $750; No. 25, St. Louis county, $1,000; No. 47, Stevens county, $1,200; Todd county, No. 47, $1,200; No. 109, $600; No. 154, $300; town of Shotley, Beltrami county, $1,000.

DR. SHELLMAN TO CHICAGO.

Well-Known Nashwauk Physician Will Do Month's Hospital Work.

Nashwauk, Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Dr. John L. Shellman, head of the Adams hospital, county commissioner and president of the Commercial club, left yesterday for Chicago, where he will spend a month in hospital work.

Since he has been county commissioner, elected on an independent ticket a year ago, Dr. Shellman has revolutionized the methods of the county board, and he will be asked to head a movement for the improvement of political conditions in Itasca county.

VIRGINIA BROKER'S CASE BEING HEARD.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.) — State Insurance Commissioner Preus has not announced his decision in the case against J. F. Moland, insurance broker of Virginia, charged with giving rebates. A number of witnesses were examined yesterday.

PLANS BUILDING NEW BLOCK IN VIRGINIA.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Nels Anderson, who owns 100 feet fronting on Chestnut street, in the heart of the city, is having plans prepared for the erection of a four-story solid brick business block fronting fifty feet on Chestnut street, near the Ormonde hotel. It is probable that the building will be erected next spring, though he may decide to build this fall.

VIRGINIA FOURTH WARD SCRAP LIVELY.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Fourth ward aldermanic campaign is warming up. Tuesday a large number of voters were registered and the friends of both candidates are seeking to secure as big a registration for the last day, Sept. 19, as possible. A mass meeting of those interested in the municipal ownership campaign will be held at North Pole hall Wednesday evening.

Virginia Foothalists Busy.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—At a meeting of the High School Athletic association, Samuel Cohen was elected president; D. Hayes, vice president; H. Olson, secretary; H. Johnson, treasurer, and James Quayle was chosen manager of the football team. Most of last year's team are candidates for regular positions, and there are twenty-three out to practice daily. Games are wanted with other range high school teams.

DULUTH WILL HEAR NEW DEAN SPEAK

WILLIAM R. VANCE.

William R. Vance, the new dean of the Minnesota law school, will be the guest of honor and the principal speaker at the annual banquet of the Bar Association of the Eleventh Judicial District, which will be held at the Commercial club Sept. 23.

Mr. Vance was formerly professor of law at Yale university. He was just recently appointed dean of the law school at the University of Minnesota.

GOVERNORS IN LIVELY DEBATE

Wilson and O'Neal Disagree on Initiative and Referendum.

Spring Lake, N. J., Sept. 13.—Governor Woodrow Wilson of New Jersey and Governor Emmet O'Neal of Alabama, measured swords over the initiative and referendum before the conference of governors yesterday afternoon.

Governor Wilson, a champion of the measures, replied to Governor O'Neal, who had previously denounced them as "an insidious popular vagary," and the Southern executive was on his feet in a minute with an impassioned defense of his position.

"There is a movement which seems to be gathering strength in certain sections of the country," said Governor O'Neal, "that tends to weaken rather than strengthen executive authority and there is the system of initiative and referendum and recall. The governor has no power to veto or amend a law initiated by the people and adopted by referendum. If the law is in violation of the Constitution, invades vested rights, or destroys individual liberty, the only remedy can be found in the courts and where the system of recall of judges prevails, overthrowing as it does the independence of the judiciary, the courts would degenerate into tribunals organized chiefly to register popular judgment on all legal questions."

It was pleasing to know, he added, that this "insidious popular vagary" will meet with the almost unanimous opposition of the American bar.

Governor Wilson did not reply until several Western governors had spoken.

"It seems to me," he said, "that on the question of the initiative and referendum, it is necessary that we carry the analysis a little further than it has been carried. A very important thing, a fundamentally important thing, is the source of the law. Some of the laws that we have are bad laws and because they are bad there is suspicion as to their source. The people of the United States want their governors to be leaders in matters of legislation because they have serious suspicion as to the source of the legislation and they have a serious distrust of their legislatures."

He spoke of the caprice of the majority. "I have known of instances of the caprice of the mob," he said, "but I have never known of any instance where the veto of the people was spoken of as a caprice. I don't believe there is any distrust of the fundamental principles of Democracy. I believe we are all Democrats if we use a small "d." I believe that Governor O'Neal feels as Governor Mc-Govern feels and that we are merely at odds as to the best method of giving expression with reference to the great public opinion upon which all depends."

CHINA NEARING GREAT CRISIS

Uprising in Sze-Chuen Expected to Extend to Other Provinces.

Washington, Sept. 13.—In the opinion of students of Oriental affairs, China is rapidly approaching a great crisis in her history. The uprising in Sze-Chuen province is expected to extend to other neighboring provinces and especially to the southward, where the Mongolian element has for many years been opposed to the reigning Manchu dynasty.

Evidently prepared for trouble, the Chinese government has been quick to dispatch troops into the disaffected district and to deal with the situation with a strong hand. It is believed here that the government will be able to suppress the present disturbance, though the unforeseen disastrous flooding of the Yang Tse valley is expected to drive thousands of the unfortunate natives, whose means of support have been destroyed, into the ranks of the revolutionists.

Other Outbreaks Expected.

But it is believed that this Sze-Chuen uprising is only the precursor of other outbreaks in different parts of the Flowery Kingdom, for the fact is that the struggle now going on is really a gigantic test of the relative strength and power of the central government, as opposed to the provincial governments; in other words the situation resembles the great feudal wars of Europe in Middle Ages.

Japan also had to pass through a similar ordeal before the emperor was able to break the power of his mutinous barons, and it is believed the Chinese government will now be put to the same test.

While the sympathy of Occidental nations must remain with the Chinese central government, there can be no interference in this great internal strife and the activity of other nations, at least for the present, must be confined to the protection of their own citizens resident in China.

ELECTIONS ALL ALONG THE LINE

Contests in All the Canadian Constituencies Are Promised.

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 13.—Contests in all of the 221 Canadian constituencies are promised by the party managers. This is taken as an indication of the usually vigorous character of the reciprocity fight, as there usually are a half dozen members returned unopposed from constituencies where the result is seemingly a foregone conclusion. This time elections all along the line is the plan of each side.

Official nominations take place Thursday. After that a candidate's name cannot be placed on or taken off the ticket.

999 Is Coming, Sure!

YOUTHFUL GAME WARDEN CATCHES LAWBREAKER.

Velva, N. D., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Walter Lee, aged 17, caught H. C. Whipple killing ducks illegally, arrested him and confiscated his gun. A deputy game warden was notified and the accused punished.

LAZY LIVER, BILIOUSNESS, HEADACHE, COATED TONGUE OR A BAD STOMACH

You men and women who somehow can't get feeling right—who have an almost daily headache, coated tongue, foul taste and foul breath, dizziness, can't sleep, are nervous and upset, bothered with a sick, gassy, disordered stomach, or have backache and feel all worn out.

Are you keeping clean inside with Cascarets—or merely forcing a passageway every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil? This is important.

Cascarets immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the decomposed waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box will keep your entire family feeling good for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

VERDICT FOR THE PLAINTIFFS

District Court Jury Allows Damages for St. Croix Ave. Explosions.

Christian Evans was allowed $726.08 and Ole Olssen was allowed $525 from the City of Duluth by a jury in district court yesterday, for damage to the property at 202 St. Croix avenue at the time of the gas explosion which took place about a year ago.

The case has been on in district court for two days past.

The plaintiffs claimed that the city officials knew that there was a leak in the gas main and that they were negligent in that repairs were not made.

In their complaints Olssen asked $1,495.50 and Evans asked $1,467. The trial took place before Judge Dancer.

WANT TO VISIT NATIVE LAND

Three Chinese Make Application to Leave America Temporarily.

Petitions were received today by the local officials of the United States Immigration service from three Chinamen of this section of Minnesota, who want to go to their native land for a brief visit.

One is Chin Lin, a laundryman of Virginia, who claims to be a native born citizen, who states that he wants to visit his wife in China. He told Immigration Officer Brown McDonald, that he was born in San Francisco, but that at the age of thirteen he visited China and was married. He has made several visits to the old country, and is now anxious to go over again. Yow Quong, the 18-year-old son of Hoy Ging, a merchant doing business at 215 East Superior street, wants to visit China. He was admitted to the United States in 1909, but his father has been a resident of this country for many years. He states that his mother is sick, and that he wishes to see her. Chin Tuck, a merchant of the firm of Quong-Chiung-Hai, who has been in this country for the past three years wishes to go back for a short visit with his wife and two sons.

CLAPP IN HAPPY FRAME OF MIND

Reaffirms His Allegiance to La Follette for the Presidency.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Refusing to mention the name of President Taft, who read him out of the party some months ago, Senator Clapp today reaffirmed his allegiance to La Follette, declaring him the only logical candidate for the Progressives.

Senator Clapp had just returned from Huron, S. D., where he had attended a meeting of Progressives. He was in a happy frame of mind, and upon his veranda discussed freely the cause of the Progressives and the prospects of a La Follette victory in the next national Republican convention.

Upon two subjects, President Taft and the regulars in Minnesota, Senator Clapp does not care to talk. He refuses, he said, to be drawn into a discussion of "peanut politics." His time, until congress convenes, is to be devoted to preaching the Progressive doctrine and in assisting the candidacy of Senator La Follette. He says that few realize the progress La Follette has made, not only in the Middle and Far West, but in the East.

OBITUARY

Henry Harrison Hinckle, who is said to have read the Bible through eighty-five times, died at his home at Empora, Kan., Sept. 12, aged 92. He was born in Louisville, Ky., and had been a member of the Methodist church seventy-five years.

Francis H. Clarke of St. Paul, president of the Coos Bay & Oregon Central railway, which he had promoted for the purpose of building a road from Marshfield to Roseburg, died at the Portland hotel at Portland, Or., Sept. 11, after an illness of two weeks, caused by pneumonia. He was 53 years old and had spent most of his life in St. Paul. Hard work necessitated by the demands of the project he had conceived and which he had determined to have realized, undoubtedly affected his health during the last three months. Immediately before coming to Oregon he spent several years in South America, planning extensive railroad developments for an Eastern syndicate. Mr Clark is survived by a widow and four children, two sons and two daughters, all of whom live at Marshfield, Or.

ALL READY FOR THE OPENING

Duluth Postal Station Will Receive Deposits Friday Morning.

On Friday morning the United States Postal Savings station for Duluth and vicinity, will be opened at the local postoffice and everything is in readiness for the first rush. The new department will be under the direct charge of the postal money order department with Gust Lundgren as clerk in charge.

The postal station for the time being will be located in the money order department, on the east side of the building, one window being reserved for it. This place will be used until the repairs on the western end of the building will be made, which will require about six weeks. The contract for this work has not been let, although word is being expected from Washington every day instructing L. M. Wilcutts, collectors of customs and custodian of the building to award the contract, the lowest bidder for the work being L. D. Campbell & Co.

All the certificates and other supplies needed for the postal savings station have been received by Postmaster A. P. Cook, and when the time for the opening of the bank comes, everything will be ready. Judging from the success of the savings stations in other localities the business here is expected to be large.

WILL FINANCE COTTON CROP

Franco-German Syndicate Stands Ready to Furnish $75,000,000.

Montgomery, Ala., Sept. 13.—President Charles Barrett of the National Farmers' union announced at the Southern Cotton Growers' convention that a Franco-German syndicate has guaranteed any amount of money up to $75,000,000 toward financing the South's cotton crop. Mr. Barrett today will name a committee to perfect such a plan.

The Southern Cotton Growers conference today gave out an estimate of this year's cotton crop as "approximately 12,250,000 bales."

TO TEST LABEL LAW.

Proceedings Begun in North Dakota Against Armour & Co.

Fargo, N. D., Sept. 13.—(Special to The Herald.)—Armour & Co. failed to label packages of lard and other goods sold in this state by weight, according to the provision of the state law. A complaint was filed against them this afternoon by Pure Food Commissioner Ladd. It is said a test case of that part of the law will be made.

HARMON TO SPEAK AT THE COLUMBUS SHOW.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 13.—Governor Judson Harmon will return to Columbus Monday by way of Knoxville, Tenn., where he will be the guest of honor at the Appalachian exposition Saturday, "Harmon day."

A speech dealing with tariff problems and the Ohio executive's personal opinion of measures passed and neglected to be passed by congress during the special session ended, was scheduled to be the feature of his stop at the exposition.

HOMESTEADER SHOOTS WIFE AND FATHER-IN-LAW.

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 13.—James Allek, a homesteader, is under arrest today at Saskatoon, Sask., charged with murder.

Late yesterday at Vauscoy, thirty miles from Saskatoon, he shot his father-in-law and his wife. His wife is still alive but will probably die.

POSSE IS SEARCHING FOR GIRL'S ASSAILANT.

Toledo, Ohio, Sept. 13.—A posse of citizens, headed by Mayor J. R. Crozier and Marshal Germain Smith of Elmore, are searching in Ottawa county for the alleged assailant of the 7-year-old daughter of Jonah Bunce of Elmore. The crime was committed yesterday afternoon shortly after 3 o'clock according to the story of the child. The little girl is in a serious condition.

PREFERENTIAL RATES GIVEN BY RAILROADS.

Washington, Sept. 13.—Railways in official classification and Western trunk line territory were charged today before the interstate commerce commission with giving to manufacturers in Indiana, Ohio and Pennsylvania preferential rates on shipments of window glass to destinations in other states, particularly Pacific coast states, to the serious disadvantage of glass manufacturers in Kansas. The Coffeyville, Kan., Window Glass company and several other glass companies of that state declared in a complaint against the Missouri Pacific railway and many other carriers that the rates on window glass from Kansas points to all destinations are "grossly excessive and discriminatory," and they ask that they be made equitable.

Great Shooting.

San Francisco, Sept. 13.—The twenty-seventh company of coast artillery practicing yesterday with the ten-inch guns at Battery Cranston, in the Presidio military reservation, hit a moving target of 10,000 yards six times with six shots.

WINGED PHOTOGRAPHERS.

Now let us consider, says a writer in the Strand, how the winged photographer is educated in the use of his instruments; for he requires a special training and has to pass through his apprenticeship. In the first place he has to become accustomed to wear a sort of harness, which supports the apparratus, consisting of two straps of india-rubber and soft leather, which cross over his back and are attached to a thin aluminum plate below his body. Thus harnessed, the pigeon is taken to a distance from its home, and there released. At first he displays considerable resentment at his new form of servitude, and struggles with wings, beak and claws to rid himself of his incumbrance. But in a little while, finding all his efforts vain, he resigns himself to his fate.

Next he has to learn to carry the camera itself, attached to the plate by means of a slot or slide. Then comes a new struggle and a new resignation. In the course of a fortnight the bird flies as contentedly with the little black box on his breast as an old soldier with his knapsack on his back.

Then comes the day of his first actual taking of a photograph. Let us suppose that it is desired to secure a view of a village situated at a distance of eight miles from his cot. His owner takes him three or four miles beyond the village, in a straight line with the bird's home. Next, in order that the shutter may be sprung at the moment of passing over the village, he reckons how many minutes from the start the flight to this point will occupy. Suppose that the time of flight to the spot of which it is desired to secure a view works out at four minutes ten seconds, then all that remains to be done is to regulate the apparatus capable of taking only one photograph in a single flight the mechanism is very simple and ingenious. It consists of a small india-rubber ball, with a very fine aperture, attached to a lever, which releases the shutter. The ball is blown up with a syringe, and when full takes ten minutes to empty, a graduated scale showing to what extent it must be filled to empty itself in any shorter time. The ball being filled to the required degree, the apparatus is shut and the pigeon released. The air escapes slowly until the ball, collapsing, lets fall the lever which "springs" the shutter. The photograph is taken.

THE SELFISH GRADUATE.

Los Angeles Times: Dr. Archibald Henderson, the brilliant author of the new life of Bernard Shaw, was talking about vegetarianism at a dinner in Hillsboro.

"Youth, with all its shining and splendid virtues, is selfish. Youth is especially selfish in its attitude toward father and mother. I once knew a youth whose father said to him on Commencement day:

"'Well, my dear boy, today you push forth into the world. You leave no debts behind in this quaint and delightful college town, I trust?'

"'None, father,' was the reply—'none but what, with diligence, perseverance and self-denial, you will be able to repay.'"

IN SOCIETY.

Chicago News: "I'm through with society," announced Emmerling in a solemn tone.

"What!" exclaimed his fellow clerk, Featherly. "I thought you were a regular little butterfly. If you quit society will have to put up its shutters."

"You think you're funny, don't you?" Emmerling said sourly. "Well, after last night's experience I'm through. I haven't the intellect necessary."

"What makes you so humble?"

"Well, you know, the Brown-Atkinsons are such swells that I naturally felt gratified when Mrs. Brown-Atkinson invited me to a small bridge party. I was so eager to do myself credit that I got some of the fellows in our boarding house to stay in last night and play with me for practice. Just as we had got well into the game I was called to the telephone.

"It was Mrs. Brown-Atkinson on the wire. 'I'm so glad,' she said, 'that you haven't yet started for my little party, as I wished to ask you to call for Miss Mildred Burton. You know she lives only a few squares from me, so you won't mind, will you?'

"'Delighted, of course,' I replied, wondering how I'd got so mixed up in my dates. I rushed upstairs and after I got about half dressed I made the exasperating discovery that my laundry hadn't come. Neither—I mean none—of my dress shirts was in my drawer and I knew there was no one in the house from whom I could borrow. I slipped into my coat and I fairly flew out and down the street until I came to a men's furnishing shop.

"I had to pay about twice as much as I would have paid downtown. I went to the back of the shop and arrayed myself at high speed. It was 9:10 when I left that shop and the bridge party was to have begun at 8:30. There was nothing to do but get a taxi, so I went into a drug store and telephoned for one. It didn't come for almost twenty minutes."

"And that girl was waiting!"

"Yes, but when I arrived at her house I learned from her mother—a forceful sort of woman—that Mr. Burton, though in her opinion far too ill with a cold to venture out in the night air, had just started with Mildred to the Brown-Atkinsons. Mrs. Burton didn't seem to be interested in my apologies, so I hurried on. When I went to dismiss the taxi in front of my hostess' house I found that I hadn't enough to settle with the chauffeur. He became noisy and insolent.

"I ran up the steps, hoping to borrow of the butler if there was one, but I was answered by Brown-Atkinson's husband. I wish you could have witnessed his stare when I asked as casually as I could for a small loan. He pulled $2 out of his pocket and handed it to me without a word. I didn't like his manner, but I had to take the money, for the chauffeur was rudely inquiring in a megaphonic tone just what my game was. After I had rid myself of him I returned to the hall and said my good-by.

"As I entered the drawing room Mrs. Brown-Atkinson rose from her bridge table and greeted me with a somewhat startled expression.

"'Oh, it's only you,' she said, hastily, in rather a choked voice, when I began to apologize. 'Don't mention it. Will you play?' She led the way to a vacant chair and in a moment I was seated opposite Miss Mildred Burton.

"I hope you will forgive my tardiness,' I begged. 'Circumstances delayed me, but I hurried to the utmost of my ability.'

"'I'm sure you did,' she said, and then every one near laughed in an unpleasantly suppressed way. There were continued exchanges of meaning glances.

"When at last the games mercifully ended, for I was too flurried to know what cards I held, young Bankhead motioned me to follow him as we left the card tables to go to the dining room.

"'Emmerling,' he said when he got me alone, 'neckties are usually worn this season with evening dress.' I clapped my hand to my throat and felt nothing but a boldly uncovered collar button.

"'Nice effect, but a trifle severe,' remarked Bankhead.

"'What shall I do?' I asked.

"'Put on this,' answered Bankhead, pulling a tie down off a rack near the chiffonier in the room where we were.'

"'You purloined a tie?' asked Featherly.

"'What else could I do? But after ascertaining that Miss Burton was not depending on my escort home, I made my escape during supper, pleading indisposition. This morning I returned by special messenger, the tie with a $2 bill, inclosing a dignified note of explanation and regret that I should not be able to call on Mrs. Brown-Atkinson's at home day. So ends my social career.'

"'You're not game at all,' commented Featherly. 'You should pass yourself off for an eccentric genius and society would go crazy about you.'

ABANDONED RAILROADS.

Records for 1910 show that in the United States there are eighty-one abandoned railroads. From eighteen the rails have been removed and thirty-four are described as "not in operation" or "operations suspended."

In regard to the first class says the Railroad Man's Magazine, the franchises seem to have expired by disuse, but the tracks are still in evidence. In the second class the company has pulled up stakes and quit, in the third a variety of causes may have contributed to the stopping of wheels.

The shutting down of a railroad may simply mean that it has outlived its usefulness. The neighborhood served by the line may have developed in a fashion that the builders hardly contemplated and with which the rails and rolling stock are incapable of dealing.

Along comes capital and either gobbles up the little road altogether or puts it out of business by offering the traveling public facilities and accommodations that it cannot attempt to rival. It is really prosperity that shuts down a road.

Then there have been roads built on the basis of the anticipated boom of a resort, a town or a section. The hope of the boomers not being realized the line goes into the discard.

Again, the initial promises of a mining district are such that a line is built for its benefit. The district doesn't pan out or goes barren after a time and in consequence the road is abandoned.

The same is true of regions in which the natural resources are many or enticing, notably in those that yield oil. The disuse of lumber roads is inevitable also. The timber states are dotted with the remains of rusty rights-of-way and almost every year adds to their number.

In many cases electricity has taken the place of steam where the line is a short one and used chiefly for passenger traffic. Sometimes where this has happened it has been found cheaper to build a new road than to tinker with the old one and so the latter is ticketed "abandoned."

On the whole, the list of derelict lines does not indicate that the judgment of modern railroad builders is at fault but rather that the possibilities of the country are increasing, and with them the need for the larger facilities that the abandoned lines could not supply.

By way of example, there is the Hecla & Torch Lake Railroad of Michigan, which was abandoned in spite of the fact that it possessed fifteen locomotives and 500 cars. It was the property of the Calumet & Hecla Mining company, and ran from Calumet to Lake Linden chiefly in connection with the transportation of ore. Then the time came when there was no further demand for its services, because there was no more ore, and so it shut down.

The Forest City & Gettysburg Railroad of Pennsylvania was started by a group of promoters, so it is said, as a tryout of the transportation financial possibilities of the tract of country through which it passed. No stocks or bonds were issued, in which respect it was probably unique. The experiment was a failure and its operation was suspended. It will be reconstructed and lengthened probably.

One of the smallest and perhaps most unprofitable railroads in the United States was the abandoned Kentucky Northern that ran from Sincoe, Ky., to a junction with the Louisville & Atlantic railroad, a distance of eight miles. It was incorporated in May, 1902, from the first it proved to be a drain on the pocketbooks of the stockholders. The surrounding population seems to have disliked the line. Not enough passenger tickets were sold and not enough freight was shipped to pay for the keeping of its one locomotive, its lone passenger coach or its solitary flat car.

In the year ended June, 1908, its operating expenses were $12,333 and its net earnings $697. About this time it was concluded that the wisest plan would be to abandon the road.

A whole group if railroads that once had their terminal in Cincinnati have either had their rails taken up or are not in operation, the reason being their practical absorption by nearby large railroad interests.

A COLLIERY WORKED BY MICE.

Strand: Fourteen years ago two Scotch coal miners named Hugh Ferris and William Hastings set on foot a scheme which has resulted in one of the most wonderful creations ever seen in the British isles. They did not spend weeks and months poring over books and dictionaries, or even experimenting in a chemical laboratory with test tubes and thermometers; but—they bought two white mice. As they trudged home in the evenings from the mine, they used to look forward to feeding the animals and watching their ways and habits. They kept them purely as a hobby, and gave up a lot of spare time studying the animals closely. They bred from these two until quite a colony of the little rodents had sprung up; and it is an interesting fact that almost every mouse in their collection today is a descendant from the first pair.

Spending, as he did, part of his day at home with the pet mice and part at work in the colliery, it is not surprising that the two phases of life gradually became intermingled in Mr. Ferris' mind. At home he must have often heard, in a figurative sense, the rattle and din of the colliery, and at work the thoughts of his mice could hardly have been very far from his mind at any time. It is little wonder, then, that very soon he came to associate mice with colliery and colliery with mice.

After many years of trouble, expense and worry, these two Scotchmen erected with their own hands a miniature colliery, the workers being the mice. This first construction did not please them—or, at any rate, did not satisfy them—so they set to work to build what has now come to be known as the "Jungle Mouse Colliery company, Ltd.," this name being explained by the fact that their exhibition had been secured by the Bostock Jungle.

The "mainspring" of the whole structure is two large wheels. That on the left has control of the works at the pithead, while all the mechanism of the coal cutting machine and the rest of the underground workings are set in motion by the wheel on the right. The whole colliery is worked by 300 mice. The mice can either sleep or work, as they please, and it is watched closely can be seen to do a fair share of each. They work from 2 to 5 and from 7 to 10. At 5 o'clock and 10 o'clock a curious spectacle can be witnessed, when the miners go home from work. The two lots of mice troop down into separate departments, until it is time to go to work again, when they return to the colliery, the section that managed the shaft during the previous shift taking over the other department, and vice versa.

DICKENS' CRAMPED QUARTERS.

London Chronicle: "Bleak house" at Broadstairs, which has failed to find a purchaser, is of interest to the Dickens lover because the greater part of "David Copperfield" was written there. But it is not the Bleak house of the novel, which is definitely located in Hertfordshire. The novelist and his family appear to have been somewhat untidily packed in their Broadstairs home.

When Lord Carlisle contemplated paying a visit to "our watering place" in 1851, Dickens wrote promising him the North Foreland lighthouse for a night light in his bedroom, and he continues: "As we think of putting mignonette boxes outside the windows for the younger children to sleep in by-and-bye, I am afraid we should give your servant the cramp if we hardly undertook to lodge him." During the last few years the house has been transformed out of all recognition.

District Court, Eleventh Judicial District.

In the matter of the application of David C. Duncan to register the title to the following described real estate situated in St. Louis County, Minnesota, namely: Lots Nineteen (19), Twenty (20), and all that part of Lot Eighteen (18) lying within twenty (20) feet of the Easterly line of said Lot Eighteen (18), all in Block Seventeen (17), Longview Addition to Duluth, according to the plat thereof on file and of record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said St. Louis County, Minnesota, vs.

Applicant,

City of Duluth, Sterling Land Company, and all other persons or parties unknown, claiming any right, title, estate, llen or interest in the real estate described in the application herein,

Defendants.

The State of Minnesota to the above named Defendants:

You are hereby summoned and required to answer the application of the applicant in the above entitled proceeding, and to file your answer to the said application in the office of the Clerk of said Court, in said County, within twenty (20) days after the service of this summons upon you, exclusive of the day of such service, and if you fail to answer the said application within the time aforesaid, the applicant in this proceeding will apply to the court for the relief demanded therein.

Witness, J. P. Johnson, clerk of said court, and the seal thereof, at Duluth, in said County, this 30th day of August, A. D. 1911.

J. P. JOHNSON,
Clerk.
By B. G. RILLING,
Deputy.

(Seal of District Court, St. Louis Co., Minn.)

W. S. TELFORD,
Attorney for Applicant.

CITY NOTICES.

NOTICE OF PROPOSED VACATION.

Notice is hereby given that there has been filed of record in my office as City Clerk of the City of Duluth a petition for the vacation of the alley lying between Fifth and Sixth streets from Twenty-fifth avenue east to Twenty-sixth avenue east.

The object of the proposed vacation is that the alley is unnecessary and that from the character of the adjacent property, it would be benefited by the vacation of the alley.

Said petition will be heard and considered by the Committee of the Common Council on Streets, Alleys and Sidewalks on Monday, Oct. 9, 1911, at 3:30 o'clock P. M., in the City Clerk's office in the City Hall in the City of Duluth, at which time and place said committee will hear the testimony and evidence on the part of parties interested.

H. W. CHEADLE,
City Clerk, Duluth, Minn.

D. H., Aug. 30; Sept. 6, 13, 20, 1911. D 884.

NOTICE OF PROPOSED CONDEMNATION—

Notice is hereby given, That there is now pending before the Common Council of the City of Duluth a resolution declaring the necessity of taking an easement for the construction of slopes and retaining walls for cuts and fills upon all of the real property abutting upon both sides of Fifth street, from Twenty-third to Twenty-fifth avenues west, and ordering the condemnation of such easement.

Said resolution will be considered by the Common Council at a regular meeting thereof to be held on Monday, October 2, 1911, at 7:30 o'clock P. M., at which time and place any person so desiring will be heard by the said committee concerning the taking of such easement.

H. W. CHEADLE,
City Clerk.

D. H., Sept. 13, 20, 1911. D 944.

NOTICE OF PROPOSED VACATION—

Notice is hereby given, That there has been filed of record in my office, as City Clerk of the City of Duluth, a petition for the vacation of all that portion of Eighth alley, being the alley between Seventh and Eighth streets, from Clover street to Twenty-seventh avenue east.

The object of the proposed vacation is to allow the replatting of the property abutting on said alley between Clover street and Twenty-sixth avenue east, and to allow the use of the property abutting on said alley between Twenty-sixth and Twenty-seventh avenues east to better advantage by the owners thereof, it being desired to use the same as two building sites only.

Said petition will be heard and considered by the Committee of the Common Council on Streets, Alleys and Sidewalks on Monday, October 23, 1911, at 3:30 o'clock P. M., in the City Clerk's office in the city hall in the City of Duluth, at which time and place said committee will hear the testimony and evidence on the part of parties interested.

H. W. CHEADLE,
City Clerk.

D. H., Sept. 13, 20, 27, Oct. 4, 1911. D 945.

CONTRACT WORK—

Office of Board of Public Works,
City of Duluth, Minn., Sept. 13, 1911.

Sealed bids will be received by the Board of Public Works in and for the corporation of the City of Duluth, Minnesota, at their office in said city, at ten o'clock A. M., on the Twenty-second day of September, A. D. 1911, for the construction of a concrete culvert or storm sewer along the line of the creek in Twelfth avenue west in said city from a point above Michigan street where such culvert is now constructed to a point 50 feet north of the north line of Superior street, according to the plans and specifications on file in the office of said Board.

A certified check for ten per cent of the amount of the bid, payable to the order of the Treasurer of the City of Duluth, must accompany each proposal.

The Board reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

OLOF G. OLSON,
President.

Official:

D. 1911, for grading and otherwise improving Fourth alley in said city from Twenty-third avenue west to Twenty-fourth avenue west, according to plans and specifications on file in the office of said Board.

FLOUR MILLS BOOST WHEAT

Minneapolis Millers, By Heavy Demand, Keep Up the Price.

General Market Conditions Favor Slump in That Staple.

Duluth Board of Trade, Sept. 13.—The strong demand for wheat at Minneapolis, diverting much of the grain to that city from the territory naturally tributary to Duluth, had the natural effect of boosting both September and December wheat on the exchange today, and causing higher closes in both, especially September. The latter closed at $1.02⅝ asked, or ⅜c over the closing price of yesterday. This is remarkable in view of the fact that Winnipeg showed a slight decline in both September and December wheat. Minneapolis showed a gain in September and a slight loss in December. Chicago showed a little gain in September and was unchanged in December.

Duluth flax closed at substantial gains. Oats closed ⅛c up, corn 1⅛c up, and rye and durum ½c up. Barley closed unchanged. Cash wheat was at the same price as December.

While wheat was rather weak at Winnipeg and at Chicago not much above the closing price of yesterday, around the noon hour, it showed a very substantial gain at Duluth and Minneapolis. There was a strong short interest at Minneapolis, and that together with the fact that the Minneapolis mills have been buying up large quantities of the new crop, resulted in raising the price not only at Minneapolis, but at Duluth as well. A great deal of grain that would under ordinary circumstances come to Duluth has been going to Minneapolis on account of the heavy demand of the flour mills of that city. The result is that offerings have been light here and that was particularly the case today. Many of those who have been hedging on the Duluth board had to bid wheat up to bring it here. Duluth September, which closed yesterday at $1.01⅞ bid, opened today at $1.01⅞ bid, and about noon was quoted at $1.02⅝ bid. Duluth September, which closed yesterday at $1.02½ bid, opened today $1.02¾ asked, and about noon was quoted at $1.02⅞.

The week opening was caused in large measure by lower foreign cables. It was reported that the French crop was beyond expectations. Moreover, weather reports from the Northwest and Canada were not unfavorable. There were many reports of cloudy weather, but very few of rain.

There was very little buying or selling of flax on the Duluth board today. There was quite a stiffening up of the price on account of the light receipts, which were away below what they have been for the last few days. This was due to recent heavy rains, which prevented threshing. The present more favorable weather will probably in a few days show its natural result in larger arrivals of flax, and lower prices. September flax, which closed yesterday at $2.56, opened at $2.52, and later sold as high as $2.60. At noon the quotation was $5.58 asked.

Cash Sales Wednesday.

Broomhall wired from Liverpool: "The market opened steady at ⅝d advance, owing to the firmness in America. Following the opening there was heavy realizing and prices declined ⅝d with no attempt at support. Selling was induced by the pressure of spot, increasing Canadian and Russian offers, favorable otulook in Argentina and Australia and reselling by the continent. The French official report was bearish. At 1:30 p. m. the market was weaker and ⅛d to ¼d lower than yesterday.

"Corn — After opening ⅛d to ¼d higher, further advanced ¼d for October on the growing scarcity of American spot and covering by October shorts.

"France, official—The wheat crop is estimated this year at 320,000,000 bu with the natural weight of 63 pounds per bu. Last year the wheat crop was officially placed at 268,600,000 bu and the weight 60.7 pounds."

Weather forecast:

DECLINES IN STOCKS

Whole List Gives Way Sharply Under Pressure of Selling.

Irregular Recovery Except in Case of United States Steel.

New York, Sept. 13.—Movements in stocks at the opening today were small and irregular. Trading was of a light character. Lehigh Valley and Southern Railway made the largest gains, amounting to ¾. Northern Pacific advanced ⅝ and Baltimore & Ohio, International Harvester and American Agricultural Chemical ½. Contrary movements depressed Canadian Pacific and Corn Products, ⅝ and Union Pacific ½.

The market moved in a nervous fashion in the first hour but only a few of the fluctuations exceeded a half and business was very light. The trend was generally lower. After a period of uncertainty, and irregular price movements the market dipped downward this morning. Traders availed themselves of the strength shown in various issues early in the day to market stocks. The demand was limited and prices soon weakened.

In the second hour, more determined pressure was directed against the market and the whole list gave way sharply. Standard railroad stocks scored losses of a point or more in many instances and there was a marked revival of bearish sentiment. Talk of possible dividend reductions was current in view of the unsatisfactory earnings of several large systems.

New Haven dropped 2¾ to 129½, its lowest price since 1908. Two other stocks also sold at the lowest figure since the last year, Missouri Pacific, which went back 2¼ to 33⅜, and New York Central, 1¼ to 101¼. Amalgamated Copper also yielded 1¾, Union Pacific and Reading 1½ and Canadian Pacific, Great Northern Pfd., Pauil, United States Steel, Southern Pacific, and American Smelting 1 to 1⅜. Bonds were easy.

The market closed steady. The fall in prices culminated soon after 2:15 and there was an irregular recovery which amounted to a point in Union Pacific. United States Steel, however, clung rigidly to near its low level, the stock being affected in part by the less hopeful character of the trade reviews and talk that the government would begin proceedings against the company.

Business shrank on the rally as was the case on the other recoveries earlier in the session.

Cotton Market.

New York, Sept. 13.—The cotton market opened steady at a decline of 4 to 6 points, following an easier Liverpool market and further liberal selling for Southern account. Most of the crop and weather news today was favorable, but the market held very steady after the call at a shade under last night's prices.

Futures closed steady. Bids: September, 11.60; October and November, 11.31; December, 11.40; January, 11.38; February, 11.41; March, 11.50; April, 11.54; May, 11.60; June, 11.58; July, 11.60. Spot closed quiet. Middling uplands, 11.85; middling gulf, 12.10. No sales.

New York Money.

New York, Sept. 13.—Close: Prime mercantile paper 4⅜ per cent; sterling exchange, steady with actual business in bankers' bills at $4.83.50 for 60-day bills at $4.86.10@4.86.15 for demand; commercial bills, $4.82¾; bar silver, 52¼c; Mexican dollars, 46c; government bonds, steady; railroad bonds, heavy; money on call steady, 2¼@2½ per cent; ruling rate, 2½; closing bid, 2¼; offered, 2½; time loans firmer; 60 days, 2¾@3 per cent; 90 days, 3¼@3½; six months, 3¾@4 per cent.

Midway Horse Market.

Minnesota Transfer, St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 13.—Barrett & Zimmerman report: Trade is without special feature, few sales being booked. Receipts proportionately light. Inquiries are being received for logging horses, but indications are that the demand will be narrow compared with former years. Shippers must buy very carefully or stand a loss on the market.

St. Paul Livestock.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 13.—Cattle—Receipts, 1,400; market steady, unchanged. Hogs—Receipts, 1,200; market 5c to 15c lower; range, $6.75@7.10; bulk of sales, $6.95@7.05. Sheep—Receipts, 1,000; market, 25@35c discount; sheep, $1.00@3.25; lambs, $2.00@5.25.

THE PRODUCE MARKETS.

The price at which granulated sugar stands today in the Duluth market, $7.23 a hundred pounds, is the highest point it has touched since July, 1899. Tomatoes are getting scarce. The price has risen from $1.00 to $1.25 a box. Jonathan apples have just come on the Duluth market and are bringing $4.25 a barrel. Barrel pears are cheaper, having declined from $5.25 to $4.25 a barrel. Niagara grapes are selling at 17 cents a basket instead of 18 cents. Leaf lettuce has risen from 50 to 65 cents a box. Home grown wax beans are scarce. The price has increased from $1.25 to $1.50 a bushel.

Quotations given below indicate what the retailers pay to the wholesalers, except the hay list, which gives what the farmers receive from the jobbers.

RIGHT OF THE STATE FOR REGULATION OF INTRASTATE RATES

Governor Hadley Talks on Effect of Minnesota Rate Decision.

Holds States Have Right to Regulate Rates Within Borders.

Is Opposed to Government Ownership and Operation of Railroads.

Spring Lake, N. J., Sept. 14.—Governor Herbert S. Hadley of Missouri today addressed the governors' conference here on the right of the state to regulate rates. Governor Hadley said:

"The question as to the right to regulate within their limits the rates of transportation of railroad companies engaged in interstate commerce, which is now pending before the supreme court of the United States for decision is, in my opinion, one of the most important, if not the most important question with which that court has had to deal in recent years. For the question of transportation is the most important question of commerce and, in fact, of civilization itself.

"The success or failure of all efforts for gain depends upon the carrying of that which is produced by human labor from the place where it is of little or no value to a place where it is of a value sufficient to compensate for the cost of its production. Approximately one-third of the cost of everything we buy represents the expense of transportation, and this question enters as a controlling influence into the success or failure of every single human life.

"Manifestly, it is through the railroads of the country that the life blood of its commerce flows. And those who have the power, and by virtue of the power exercise the privilege of controlling the means and determining the rates of transportation, have the power and exercise the privilege of levying tribute upon the labor and the

CHARGED WITH SHOPLIFTING

Trained Nurse Accused of Stealing Goods Worth $5,000.

New York, Sept. 14.—Helen Watson, a trained nurse from Chicago, only 24 years old and unusually prepossessing, will be asked today to explain the presence in her room of jewelry, silverware and silk dresses valued at $5,000. Miss Watson was arrested yesterday charged with shoplifting.

The Brooklyn police say they searched her room and found a great quantity of valuables when Walter B. Devereaux, a wealthy mining operator, informed them that silk gowns and jewelry valued at $3,500 had been stolen from his house at Mamaronock, N. Y., which Miss Watson left on Monday after nursing his mother who died Sunday, and a part of the goods found in Miss Watson's room were identified by the son as having belonged to his mother.

On the shoplifting charge Miss Watson was held in $500 bail. She said that she came here from Chicago, ambitious to become a professional violinist. She studied her art, while earning her living as a trained nurse.

FOWLER TO START SOON

Constructing New Biplane and Will Renew Journey Saturday.

Confident He Can Make the Trip Over the Sierras.

Colfax, Cal., Sept. 14.—Aviator Robert G. Fowler and his mechanicians began constructing a new biplane today from the parts of the machine wrecked Tuesday, the second day of Fowler's flight from San Francisco to New York. No parts arrived today from Ogden. Except for a slight soreness of one leg, Fowler is uninjured.

The aviator is the guest of Colfax. The Colfax Gun club has contributed $250 and residents of the city another $250 to help him defray the expense of reconstructing his biplane.

Fowler said he would be ready to renew his journey Saturday, and that his mechanicians told him that possibly he would be able to start earlier. He said he was confident he could make the trip over the Sierras. His experience of Tuesday taught him that in the high altitude it is necessary to increase the supply of air which feeds the gasoline, as the air does not feed fast enough through the ordinary valve to make sufficient combustion.

The rebuilt machine will have a larger valve than that ordinarily used.

ARE LINED UP FOR CONTEST

Opposing Political Forces in Canada Appear Upon Hustings.

Campaign in Nova Scotia Is Decidedly Animated One.

Halifax, N. S., Sept. 14.—The opposing political forces formally and legally lined up in battle array on the hustings of every parliamentary constituency in Canada today, barring a few counties where polling will be held a week or more after the day of the general elections, Thursday, Sept. 21. Parliament has a membership of 221, of whom 132 were supporters of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and 89 opposed, as follows:

	Liberals.	Conservatives.
Ontario	35	51
Quebec	53	12
Nova Scotia	12	6
New Brunswick	11	2
British Columbia	2	5
Manitoba	9	8
Saskatchewan	9	1
Alberta	4	3
Prince Edward Island	3	1
Yukon	1	..

There were no unopposed nominations in Nova Scotia today.

Hon. Robert Lair Borden, the Conservative leader, was renominated for one of the two Halifax seats.

His cousin, Sir Frederick Borden, Sir Wilfrid Laurier's minister of militia and defense, was renominated in Kings county, and Finance Minister Fielding was again the standard-bearer of his party in Queens-Shelburne.

The campaign in Nova Scotia is an animated one and many rallies will be held between now and next Wednesday night, the eve of the polling. Both sides claim they will improve their standing in the delegation to the house of commons.

In the last election 56,588 voters in Nova Scotia supported the candidates of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and 54,500 were Conservatives. In Canada at large the Liberals polled a vote of 596,533 and the Conservatives 579,571.

NEW CABLES FOR PRESIDENT TAFT

St. Louis Committee Repairs Elevators to the Banquet Room.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 14.—President Taft's visit in this city ten days from today will embrace, among other functions, luncheon at the City club, which has quarters in a downtown office building. To insure the personal safety of the president in ascending to the banquet room, new cables have been ordered for the elevators.

SHOT GIRL AND THEN HIMSELF

Ohio Tragedy Explained By Finding of Rejected Suitor's Body.

Kenton, Ohio, Sept. 14.—Officers hunting for the slayer of Della Halsey, who was dragged out of James Watts' bakery last night and shot to death in the darkness, early today discovered the dead body of Jesse Newman, a rejected suitor of the girl in a barn on his father's farm five miles south of here.

It is believed that, after killing the girl, Newman retreated to the farm and when he heard of officers in pursuit committed suicide.

BAD FAITH NOT SHOWN

Government Suits Against Warren Mining Company Are Dismissed.

Charge of Fraud in Obtaining the Patents Is Disproved.

Washington, Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Ernest Knaebel, acting attorney general, has decided the following cases in favor of the defendants: United States of America against Warren Realty & Development company, a corporation, and Hoval A. Smith, defendants; United States of America against Warren Realty & Development company, a corporation, Hoval A. Smith, Della Williams, and I. W. Wallace, defendants; and United States of America against Warren Ranch company, a corporation, Hoval A. Smith and Henry B. Hoyland, defendants. S. S. Kingan, special assistant to the attorney general at Tucson, Ariz., is instructed to dismiss these three suits in equity.

"On the face of this bare statement there would not seem to be much in these cases to interest citizens of Duluth," said Duane B. Fox, attorney for the defendants, "but the principals in these cases, the creative force back of these properties, are Duluth men well known in mining affairs. Mention need be made of but two to explain—Henry B. Hoyland and Thomas F. Cole. Also one might mention that doubtless many hundreds of citizens of Duluth are stockholders in these companies—therefore the interest in these copper mining properties in Arizona to the people of Duluth."

The properties involved in these suits brought by the United States to set aside patents issued to eighty mining claims situated near Bisbee, Ariz., are in the district designated by the geological survey as the Bisbee

REGINALD WARD NOW BANKRUPT

Declines in Copper Properties Responsible for His Troubles.

London, Sept. 14.—The financial affairs of Reginald H. Ward, who at one time figured prominently in certain monied circles in this city in the role of a "copper king," were today placed in the hands of an official receiver in bankruptcy. No statement of the assets and liabilities is available. Mr. Ward explains that extensive declines in copper properties in which he is interested were responsible for his embarrassment, which, he maintains, is but temporary. He intends to continue in business, he says.

Mr. Ward is a Bostonian and a great grandson of Gen. Artemus Ward of Revolutionary war fame. In 1898 he moved to London, where he acquired the papal title of "count." By successful speculation he materially increased his fortune. He married Miss Edyth Newcomb of Kentucky in 1889. Mrs. Ward obtained a divorce four years later.

FORMER OFFICER OF OHIO LEGISLATURE

RODNEY J. DIEGLE.

Diegle, who was sergeant-at-arms of the Ohio legislature, was convicted of complicity in the bribing of legislators and sentenced to three years in the penitentiary. The prosecuting attorney has urged Diegle to confess and implicate the more guilty. In response to promises of immunity, Diegle made a statement, but the prosecuting attorney was not satisfied with it. It is predicted that Diegle will never be imprisoned.

CORDON OF ARMED MEN

Drawn Across Boundary for Seven Miles in Unique Man Hunt.

Five Hundred Men Search for Abductor of School Teacher.

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 14.—A cordon of armed men seven miles long was drawn across the international boundary all night while a posse of 500 men beat up the bushes in an effort to dislodge the abductor of Eleanor Gladys Price, the Riverdale school teacher. The unique man hunt has the assistance of hundreds of men in North Dakota.

The work of the bloodhounds was ineffective owing to a lack of organization, the animals being taken from one scent to another, only to lose them all.

Early this morning a man believed to be the one wanted broke into the bar of the Western hotel at Snowflake to replenish his supply of liquor. The proprietor, William Adams, aroused by the noise, hastened downstairs armed. A rapid interchange of shots followed, Adams being shot in the leg and badly injured. The stranger escaped.

Half dressed men came running from all directions, mounted horses and started in pursuit, while the border cordon was notified by courier of the shooting.

SUICIDE OF CARPENTER

Was Enamored of Young Woman Who Spurned His Love.

Jumps Into Lake Bemidji From Rowboat and Is Drowned.

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Enamored of a young woman who spurned his love, Gilbert Slatten, 30 years old, a carpenter, stole a rowboat, paddled out into mid-lake with a piece of board, jumped overboard and was drowned. The body has not yet been recovered. The suicide came as a dramatic end to a series of persistent and at times violent efforts to make Miss Annie Anderson, a domestic at the home of K. McIver, his bride.

A few days ago Slatten kicked in a door at the McIver home in an effort to drag the young woman away with him. He was arrested and put in jail over night. Yesterday he renewed his efforts to get to Miss Anderson and promised her $50 in cash and a free trip to Norway if she would consent to the marriage. While Miss Anderson was absent from the McIver home, Slatten forced his way into the front door and began a tirade against Mrs. McIver, accusing her of having hid the girl.

His actions and language were so violent that Mrs. McIver called upon W. P. Foley for assistance. Slatten refused to be quieted, and in the struggle which ensued, Slatten was injured in the face, blood smearing his garments. This led to the belief, when his coat was found on the lake shore, that he had cut his throat. From the McIver home, Slatten went directly to Lake Bemidji and jumped in.

CAPT. F. G. WARNER DROWNED IN LAKE

Commander of Ohio's Naval Militia Ship Falls Overboard.

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 14.—Capt. Frank G. Warner, commander of the Dorothea, Ohio's naval militia ship, was drowned off the East Ninth street pier today while on his way to board the boat.

Two companions, Remington Arnold, a solicitor, and Frank Terrell, a former city employe, were unable to rescue him because neither could swim.

Capt. Warner fell overboard just as the yawl, in which they had set out from the pier, apparently losing his balance as he reached for the anchor rope. Like his comrades, he could not swim.

Dock workers notified the life saving station and a crew recovered the body.

PROBATE JUDGES HOLD SESSION AT DETROIT.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 14.—Probate judges, delegates from over half the states in the Union, are today attending the annual convention of the National Association of Probate Judges of America, held in conjunction with the gathering of the Michigan probate officials.

Among the principal topics under discussion is the handling of juvenile cases.

TOWNS THREATENED WITH DESTRUCTION BY FLOOD OF LAVA

Twenty Thousand People Turn Backs on Homes and Flee.

Discharge From Etna's Crater and Fissures Increases in Volume.

Water Supply of Several Villages Has Been Cut Off.

Catania, Sicily, Sept. 14.—The 20,000 inhabitants of Castiglione and Francavilla turned their backs on their homes today, fleeing before the advancing flood of lava from Mount Etna. Both towns are threatened with destruction.

The discharge from the crater and new fissures increases in volume. The main stream, pouring down the northeastern side of the volcano, has made its way sluggishly about and over the foothills toward the base, crossed the railway and invaded the valley of the Alcantara.

Today the front, fifty feet high and a third of a mile wide, broke over a long declivity, and, gathering velocity, forced the peasant dwellers in its path to make a hurried retreat. It cut off the water supply of several villages.

When the stream was within three miles of Castiglione and Francavilla, the people collected their portable property and made for the higher places.

NOTED EDUCATOR IS STRICKEN IN EUROPE

JAMES B. ANGELL.

James B. Angell, former president of the University of Michigan, who was stricken with apoplexy in Switzerland on Monday, is 82 years old, having been born in Scituate, R. I., Jan. 7, 1829. He was graduated from Brown university in 1849, and received a master's degree in 1853. He was professor of modern languages at Brown from 1853 to 1860. After one term as president of the University of Vermont, in 1871 he became head of the University of Michigan, retiring in 1909. He was American minister to China, 1880-81, and was named minister to Turkey in 1897, serving one year.

WARD IS AT MIDDLETOWN

Aviator Resumes His Flight Toward the Pacific Coast.

Gets Gasoline and Expects to Reach Elmira Before Night.

Middletown, N. Y., Sept. 14.—James Ward, the aviator, landed here in his flight to the Pacific at noon today.

Paterson, N. J., Sept. 14.—James J. Ward, the youthful aviator, resumed his flight at 9:22 o'clock this morning toward the Pacific coast. The first leg of his journey in his flight from coast to coast was made yesterday, when he flew from Governor's Island, against buffeting winds, to this city.

The wind was in the northeast today and not as unfavorable to a westward flight as it was yesterday when Ward lost himself at the very start of his attempt to fly to the Pacific coast.

Because he was forced to finish his day's journey last evening only twenty miles from the starting point at Governor's Island, the young aviator was anxious to take wing today. He got an early breakfast and was out tinkering with his biplane before 8 o'clock.

Well out of the criscross of railroad tracks which led him astray yesterday as soon as he left Jersey City, Ward expected no more trouble today in finding his way. He planned to follow the tracks of the Erie railroad and make his first stop at Middletown, N. Y., about fifty miles away. There he will get more gasoline and try to reach Elmira, 225 miles from today's starting point, before nightfall.

DIEGLE HAS NOT CONFESSED YET

But Said to Be Writing Statement on Bribery Scandal.

Dayton, Ohio, Sept. 14.—Rodney J. Diegle, former sergeant-at-arms of the Ohio senate, under sentence of three years in the penitentiary for aiding and abetting in the alleged bribery of State Senator L. R. Andrews, was still in Dayton early today, according to information from a reliable source.

When Diegle was sentenced last Saturday, he was granted a stay of execution until next Monday to allow him to submit to the state's attorney a writ. It is believed to be preparing the promptive bribery scandal last winter. He is believed to be preparing the promised statement with the aid of Attorney Egan.

Although it was supposed that Diegle would give information which would prove of value to the state in the prosecution of the case of the ten other senators, representatives and legislative attaches to be tried at the coming term of court, his attorneys in Columbus declare that the statement Diegle is to make will be for their use in defending other indicted men as much as for any other purpose.

TOBACCO RUINED BY HEAVY FROST

Loss in Connecticut Placed at Between $200,000 and $250,000.

Suffield, Conn., Sept. 14.—Under the heaviest frost which has visited Suffield for twenty-five years at this time of the year about 800 acres of standing tobacco were completely ruined last night, reports from growers received today placing the aggregate loss at between $200,000 and $250,000, with a possibility that it may exceed the latter figure.

Earlier in the season about 500 acres of tobacco were ruined by hail.

PACKING PLANT DAMAGED BY FIRE

Fowler Company at Kansas City, Kan., Suffers $75,000 Loss.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 14.—Fire that for a time this morning threatened the entire Fowler Packing company plant in Kansas City, Kan., was controlled after it had destroyed the fertilizer building and damaged the hog-killing plant. The loss is estimated at $75,000.

It required the combined efforts of the fire departments of Kansas City, Mo., and Kansas City, Kan., to overcome the flames which started from an unknown cause.

RESULT IS DOUBTFUL

Returns of Maine Election on Prohibition Still Incomplete.

Secretary of State's Figures Give 134 Majority for Repeal.

Portland, Me., Sept. 14.—Returns received at the office of the secretary of state up to noon with only six towns missing and these six supplied by returns received in Portland showed:

For repeal of prohibition, 60,517.

Against repeal, 60,383.

Majority, for repeal, 134.

An official recount will probably be necessary to determine the result of the balloting.

An error discovered in the report given officially by the clerk of the town of Limestone, Aroostook county, contributes largely to the uncertainty. In reporting the vote in the town, the town clerk returned to the Associated Press over his signature: "For repeal, 12; against repeal, 175." To the secretary of state he reported just the reverse—for repeal, 175; against, 12.

The discrepancy in the Limestone returns make a change of 326 votes in the total. Efforts are being made to reach Limestone to learn which of the clerk's reports is correct.

ASHLAND AIR FLIGHTS.

Aviator Havens Delighting Attendants at County Fair.

Ashland, Wis., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.) — The present Ashland county fair is proving a record breaker in attendance, about 5,000 people being on hand yesterday, while the exhibits are exceptionally fine.

In a Cutiss biplane, Beckwith Havens made three successful flights yesterday to the delight of thousands who had never seen anything of the kind before.

He made flights at 2, 3 and 5 o'clock. All were negiothated without a hitch and the exhibition flight at 5 o'clock was one of the most spectacular things of the sort ever seen in the Northwest. Havens had absolute control of the great machine at all times and put it through evolutions that so delighted the spectators that he was cheered enthusiastically.

COAL PRICES UNCHANGED

Duluthians Will Pay Same Scale That Prevailed Last Year.

Demand Becoming More Active —Large Supplies on Local Docks.

Egg, stove	$7.75
Nut	8.00
Pea	6.50
Briquets	6.00
Smokeless semi-bituminous	6.50
Hocking lump	5.00
Cunnel	7.75
Splint, domestic	5.00

Duluth people are paying the same price for coal this year as they did last.

After March of next year the price may change.

This is only "perhaps," however.

On March 31 of next year the agreement with the miners will expire and while it may be renewed at the old scale, it is too early to make predictions.

At the present time the relations between the companies and the men seem to be most pleasant, but the companies are rushing coal to the Head of the Lakes. They don't want to be caught with labor troubles and short of coal at Duluth.

Egg coal sells at $7.75; pea at $6.50; buckwheat at $5; Stott briquets at $6; smokeless at $6.50 and Hocking at $5. The only change in price is that of pea coal. This is 25 cents cheaper than last year. The local coal companies report that business is beginning to show signs of winter activity.

WALKS INTO ARMS OF THE LAW

Ambrose Huttel Registers Kick With County Attorney and Is Arrested.

Ambrose Huttel, accused of indecent assault on the person of Catherine Grahm, only 9 years old, walked into the arms of the law this morning when he visited the county attorney's office to register a kick against an article which appeared in yesterday's Herald.

The grand jury indicted Huttel on the charge mentioned and the indictment, which was to have been secret until he could be placed under arrest, was, through a misunderstanding, published.

Seeing his name and the charge in the paper Huttel at once visited the office of the newspaper and registered a strenuous kick, saying that he had never been arrested in his life.

He was referred to the county attorney's office where the indictment was originally made out and he went there to protest against the use of his name in connection with the case.

After telling who he was and stating his objections in no uncertain terms, County Attorney John H. Norton slapped him on the back and greeted him as a long lost brother.

"You are just the man we are looking for," said Mr. Norton heartily. "We were afraid you wouldn't come in. We were on the point of sending for you. Won't you step into the private office and wait a few moments and we'll have you all fixed up in grand shape."

Huttel thereupon stepped into the private office and waited while Mr. Norton got out the necessary papers for his arrest. Deputy Sheriff La Vaque then placed the man under arrest in spite of his protests.

After it was all over, Mr. Norton thanked the man kindly, saying that it was seldom that persons under indictment are as obliging.

RAILROADS

ROAD FINED ON SIX COUNTS

Allowed Men to Work Too Long Without a Rest.

Attorneys for the Duluth, Missabe & Northern Railway company appeared before Judge Page Morris of the United States court yesterday and pleaded guilty to the charge of violating the federal laws regarding the limit of hours for service of its employes, and were fined $10 for each of the six counts against the company, making a total fine of $60. The maximum fine for this offence is $500 for each count, the suit started against the company asked for judgment of $3,000.

It was claimed that on March 10 this year one of the company's crews had worked an hour longer than permitted by law, and the suit followed. It was the first case of its kind ever tried in the local court.

RAILROAD DIGGING WELLS.

Milwaukee Having Success With Scheme in North Dakota.

Hettinger, N. D., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Success is attending the experiments conducted by the Milwaukee railroad along this line in the construction of a series of wells for the purpose of affording an ample water supply at all times. The wells that were dug in this city, twenty-five in number and each about forty feet deep, are sufficient to maintain a lengthy supply for the railroad's use when the usual source of supply, a nearby lake, is too low.

With the success attained here the company probably will continue similar operations at other points along the line.

WANTS DAMAGES FOR INJURIES

Peter Wyderkiewicz Asks $15,000 From Pittsburg Coal Company.

Before Judge Ensign and a jury in district court, Peter Wyderkiewicz is trying to collect $15,000 from the Pittsburgh Coal company for injuries alleged to have been sustained while he was in the employ of the company as a common laborer.

He claims that on Nov. 5 of last year while he was working on the docks unloading coal, he was hit by a clam and permanently injured. He claims that prior to the accident he was an able-bodied man capable of earning a good living.

COURT CONSIDERS CASE AGAINST COLLEGE STUDENT

Joseph Fouchard, the college student who was arrested on a charge of peddling aluminum ware without a license, was tried in police court yesterday afternoon.

The case was taken under advisement by the court and continued until next Monday afternoon.

Fouchard has been earning money with which to help pay his way through college. He testified that he takes the orders in advance, but that he has all the goods consigned to himself, after which he makes his own deliveries. There is a legal question as to whether or not this is peddling without a license and will probably be settled when the case is again called Monday.

RAPID CITY MAN IS ACQUITTED OF PERJURY.

Deadwood, S. D., Sept. 14.—After one of the hardest fought criminal cases in the federal court here in years, Joe Deranleau of Rapid City was acquitted by a jury in the United States circuit court here of perjury in connection with the conviction of his bartender, Charles Clark, for selling liquor to Indians. The jury was out five and a half hours.

ALL UPPER PENINSULA EXHIBITS ARE WELCOME.

Houghton, Mich., Sept. 14.—Secretary McNamara of the Copper country fair has announced that this year exhibits will be accepted from the entire Upper Peninsula. Previously the fair has been for Houghton, Keweenaw, Baraga and Ontonagon counties exclusively. Prizes aggregating $4,000 will be awarded. Hydro-aeroplane flights by Glenn H. Curtiss will be a feature.

Boy Scouts Enjoy Camping.

Marmarth, N. D., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Marmarth patrol of Boy Scouts has just returned from an outing east of Pretty Butte. Scoutmaster Dickey accompanied the seven boys and they enjoyed camp life to the extreme, spending a whole week eating, sleeping, swimming, taget shooting and indulging in all the other games known to the scouts.

"SMALL TIME" VAUDEVILLE MANAGERS IN MERRY WAR

"Trust" Tries to Force Insurgent Manager to Close Up.

Latter Gets Independent Acts When Trust Bookings Are Denied Him.

Maybe you don't know it, but there is a merry little theatrical war right in our midst.

Abrahamson charges the existence, the very pernicious existence, of a trust among the proprietors of the small picture and vaudeville houses.

Not so long ago Mr. Abrahamson purchased the Savoy, on East Superior street. At that time he was promised bookings by Webster, the man who supplies acts for the small houses, and who is now hand and glove, according to Mr. Abrahamson, with the Northern Theater Managers' association.

That was during the hot weather, when many of the smaller houses found it expedient to close. Mr. Abrahamson reduced his prices to 10 cents straight and did business all summer. Then came the fall weather, the opening of many of the closed houses—and the freezing out of Mr. Abrahamson.

This is Mr. Abrahamson's side of the story, and as he told it today. He told it in his office, with a big cigar in his mouth, and the most care free expression in the world, for he says they played him for a "boob" and so far he has had all the better of the going.

"When I opened my theater on East Superior street," he began, "Webster and the men he books for, informed me that I would not have the least trouble in getting acts. You see we play a split week up here. That means, an act plays three days in one theater and four days in another, between the two finishing out a week.

"Well, as long as I was lined up with those other theaters, one in the West End, one in Superior, and some on the range, I could get all the acts that played in the other theaters. Then they got together, because I was playing pictures and vaudeville for ten cents straight, and declared me out of the association. The Northern Theater Managers formed, and yours truly wakes up to find himself out in the cold.

Bucking Trust.

"Not exactly out in the cold, but nearly so. I had wind of what they were about to spring, and to protect myself, bought a theater in the West end. I bought this house, which is right next door to the house of one of the officers of the Northern Theater Managers' association, and am fighting him right now.

"They thought they had me. But with my two houses I could give acts coming from the Twin Cities a week's time, and I send my manager right down to Minneapolis and he lines up an agreement whereby I get the acts playing in the Miles theater, Minneapolis, better acts than Webster had been giving me for my house here.

"When the members of the trust found that I wasn't a boob, or a simp, and had some fight and some resource, they telephoned me for an appointment. They came down to my office, Webster, Nelson and Hatfield, three of the prime movers, and tried to get me in line, saying it would be to my benefit, and all the time telling me to be a good little boy.

"After the trick the trust played me, and considering the fact that I have about five theaters lined up with me already and may have a new house of my own in Superior, I can't exactly see why I should jump through the hoop the trust holds out for me.

"But there is a trust. They won't let you book, and unless you do as they say, you can't do any business in any town where they book. They tried to put me out of business, and thought they had me; then they tried to kid me into coming back, because I am giving better vaudeville then they are, and am giving it cheaper.

"They could use me in the summer time when a lot of their theaters were closed and some of their acts wanted work. When the houses in the trust began to open up, then they shut me out, thinking I couldn't get any acts and would go out of business. I am still in the business, and I intend to stay in."

From the story given out by Mr. Abrahamson, it can be seen that a small sized war among the smaller theaters is on. Mr. Abrahamson's new house in the West End is right next to one of the houses of the so-called trust. Mr. Abrahamson says that so far he has outdrawn his rival, and that he believes he will continue to do more business in the West end.

Then he intends, with the assistance of the theaters he is lining up, to fight the trust in this part of the state. He is arranging booking for the Miles acts on the range and if he opens his Superior house, will fight one of the trust houses on the other side of the bay.

Just how the war of the smaller houses will end, no one can say. Mr. Abrahamson feels confident. He says the people who enjoy the smaller vaudeville acts and the moving pictures will welcome the fight he is making, because he is giving them more for less money. He explained that the acts he is playing at the present time, and the ones that will be played in the houses that are lining up with him, play right through to the coast, playing over Fisher time, which is recognized as a strong circuit.

Mr. Abrahamson intimates that the fight with the trust is to be a merry one, and one that will make the managers of the so-called trust theaters sit up and take notice.

LONG TRIP IN OPEN BOAT

Four Men Travel From Isle Royale to Duluth in Launch.

Rough Weather Encountered But No Serious Mishaps Experienced.

During the wind and the storm a party of four young men arrived in the local port this morning from Isle Royale in a little gasoline launch, twenty-six feet long, and with the exception of some rough tossing about on the fierce waves and the burning out of the sparker, no particular excitement was experienced.

The party was composed of Earl Neutson of Minneapolis; Harry Rich, Omaha; Dean Bosworth, Minneapolis; and Henry Nordquist, Duluth. Neutson has been at Park Place on Isle Royale since May 20, and the other three men went to the island about a month ago. They left Isle Royale at 1:45 Tuesday morning, after waiting all night for the storm that had raged for several days to subside. All the way down the sea was rough, the wind blowing a stiff gale nearly all the way. They arrived here at 11.25 this morning.

Just before reaching Two Harbors, the engine was not working well, and a stop was made for repairs. After these were attended to, the trip was made with speed, the distance between Two Harbors and Duluth being covered in three hours and twenty minutes.

TO FIX THE BLAME.

Government Inspectors Are Probing Recent Fatality on Lake Erie.

Toledo, Ohio, Sept. 14.—To establish the responsibility for the loss of seven lives when the freighter Philip Minch struck the launch Nemo in Maumee bay Sept. 2, the government started an investigation in the steamboat inspector's office here.

Four members of the crew of the freighter were examined yesterday and Michael Mayer, the sole survivor of the launch party, was also called. The findings of the inspectors will be sent to Washington.

To Hold Grain in Store.

The freighter James C. Wallace of the Acme Steamship company, A. B. Wolvin, local manager, will be inspected today by the local United States vessel inspectors, Capt. John Monaghan and Capt. M. F. Chalk. The boat has been fitted up for sailing, with Capt. W. B. McDonald as master. It is reported she will go to Chicago with grain for storage.

HE VOTES "NO."

Chicago News: "I have been asked to take the agency for a new automobile," remarked the retired merchant, "and I am thinking seriously of doing so.

"It would give a man something to think about, and if I sold a machine occasionally there would be some money in it."

"If I were your legal guardian," said the hotelkeeper, "I would veto any such scheme, but you are of age, and wearing your own chin whiskers, and you will go your own gait. Of all the fool things a man can do the most foolish is to retire from business while he has good health and the use of his faculties. Here you go pirooting around like a chicken with its head cut off, trying to find some way to kill time. Instead of going back into your old business and being done with it you have a new scheme every other morning, each more bughouse than the others.

"I never saw a contented man who had abandoned his business. I have a small roll of counterfeit money in the bank, enough to keep me in tobacco and clean collars the rest of my life, and I could close up this hotel and never do another stroke of work, but I have too much sense. I see the town swarming with retired farmers and retired business men, and retired idiots of all kinds, and they're all just like you. They go mooning around looking so miserable that it would be a charity to chloroform them.

"If you take the agency for an automobile I don't want you to come around this hotel any more. If you open a peanut stand I'll have increased respect for you. A man who runs a peanut stand deserves admiration. He supplies a public want. He doesn't try to sell his peanuts to people who don't want them. He sits in his three by seven emporium and reads the Congressional Record and improves his mind until somebody comes up to buy a nickel's worth of peanuts, and then he gets busy. That's legitimate commerce.

"If you sell things that people want, things that they want bad enough to ask you for them, you are a credit to your family. But just as soon as you begin to sell stuff that people don't need or want you cease to be a business man and become a bore. If I wanted to buy an automobile I'd go to a man who had an automobile store, who paid taxes and hired men, and who needed the money. No retired hardware man with a few catalogues of automobiles could get me.

"The greatest nuisance in this world is a man who has something to sell, and who works his friends in order to sell it. Old Quackenbush, doggone his picture, has been loafing around this hotel dinking ice water and spoiling toothpicks for a hundred years. He's a retired farmer, you know, and has been out of the harness for a long time. Well, finally he became so rusty and moldy that he took the agency for a new fangled washing machine. He brought a sample of it to this hotel, and talked to me for three weeks trying to sell it to me. When a man takes an agency for anything he always tries to work his friends as the first victims. He talked as though I was under a moral obligation to buy his machine because he had helped me to get rid of so much ice water.

"I turned him down a million times, doggone him, and he wouldn't stay turned down. Finally he said he was going to leave that machine at the hotel for a week. He wanted the laundress to give it a fair trial, that was all he asked. So he left it, and as soon as he went away I mixed up a compound of asafoetida and other wholesome drugs that smelled like a hyena's nest, and poured it into the washing machine. Then I summoned the health officer, and he came with a dray, and loaded that machine on it, and hauled it to the dump and went around and threatened to arrest Quackenbush for maintaining a nuisance. Everybody heard about it, and Quachenbush couldn't give his machines away, and he got stuck for a carload of them. And any fair minded man will admit that it served him just right."

Custom Tailored Garments!

Many women who have not yet become wearers of Custom Tailoring fail to appreciate the exact difference between custom tailoring and the ordinary kind---But once you're a wearer of custom tailormades, nothing else satisfies. There's a precision of "cut"; the hand-tailored finish, the hand-worked bust shaping, and a thousand and one invisible stitches that all lend their part to the permanent and graceful shaping of the garment, and the particular woman appreciates them.

Moreover, we're particular about our materials; we buy from the best sources, and always "keep tab" on newest textures, the newest weaves, the newest shades and the newest patterns. The attention of our buyers in the markets, is not given in small doses at long intervals, but rather a constant day-in and day-out service of personal members of the firm, backed by a tri-store prestige and buying power.

The harder you are to fit, and the harder you are to suit, the more satisfaction it is to us, to show you we are in a position to supply anything you demand!

In Regard to FIT!

In nine cases out of ten the new Suit or Coat requires at least some little alteration, even though one's figure be well proportioned, and the suit be perfect.

If these alterations be poorly made, your "Suit enjoyment" is spoiled.—You'll never feel comfortable and your critical neighbor will always seem to fasten her attention on the mistakes.—More than that, a suit that is Wrong can NEVER be Right.

Therefore, it behooves the woman who values "Correct Fit" to beware of experimentary alterations.—In this, as in other departments, our forces are well organized; we employ expert Fitters and Tailors, and guarantee our work!—For if we can't give satisfaction, we don't want to sell the Garment.—You meet satisfied Gidding Customers every time you venture on the street, so that you know Gidding Service commends itself to Particular Women, not in words, but in DEEDS.

WE NOW INVITE ATTENTION TO

Aristocratic Autumn Modes

For Women, Misses and Children.

Comprising stunning Custom made Suits in plain tailored and imported novelty styles, designed by foremost American and European designers. Prices $39.50, $45.00, $49.50, $55.00 and up.

Smart Popular Priced Suits at $22.50, $25, $27.50, $29.50 and $35.00.

Tailored Walking Dresses for street, traveling, business and general wear. Prices $19.50 to $45.00.

Street and Polo Coats of soft double faced vicunas, camels' hair, imported tweeds, and other high class novelties, also handsome black broadcloth coats in plain and dressy styles; rich velvet coats, etc.

Autumn Millinery!

Distinctive styles in "First Hats", embracing smart American and Imported modes, and groups of nifty styles that give vent to the style-training and enthusiasm of our own well-versed milliners who have returned from Eastern Fashion Centers, full of the spirit of the new season.

Milliners who possess the art of making Snappy Bows, Ears' Points, Swaths and Swirls of Silks, Ribbons and Velvets—and have the knack to pose them at the correct angle, are reveling in the opportunity to reveal their originality and ingenuity—Our milliners belong to that class of clever Millinery Artists.

Extreme Height is a feature of new millinery—but why attempt to portray the smartness of these hats in words? It can't be done! But the invitation to "come and see" is broad and liberal, whether you come to "Buy" or only to "Look"—and all who come appreciate the unusual snap and style; as well as the exquisite good quality and good taste of Gidding Hats—yet prices are ordinary—only $7.50, $8.50, $10.00, $12.50, $15.00, etc.

Lighting Talks

NUMBER 63 DULUTH, SEPTEMBER 14, 1911

Municipal Plants a Failure

According to the official figures reported at the recent convention of the Incorporated Municipal Electrical Association, an organization representing all the municipal electric lighting plants in Great Britain, those plants last year proved a financial failure, there being a deficit of $149,165. This deficit is shown by the association's own figures, and it is admitted that if a proper rate had been charged off for depreciation and sinking fund provisions a much greater loss would have been shown.

This poor showing, coming on top of losses in previous years, has made it extremely difficult for these municipal plants to raise money for improvements. But the plants continue to depreciate, and without improvements they cannot properly take care of the business they already have—let alone trying to handle any new business. Their losses cannot fail to be greater and greater as the years go by.

Municipal lighting plants are older and more numerous in Great Britain than in the United States, and the majority of those in this country are only repeating the experience of the British plants. There is no association of municipal electric plants here, such as the J. M. E. A. referred to above, but it is a well-known fact that the number of municipal electric plants in America that have failed—been abandoned, or sold or leased to private companies, firms, or individuals—is larger than the number of such plants operated by American cities today.

We have already shown you in these Lighting Talks that the average cost of the city lighting provided by all the leading municipal plants in the United States, according to their own official figures, is $63.89 a year for each arc lamp. The Duluth-Edison Electric Company offers to light this City for only $45 a year for each arc lamp, and to give Duluth $1,500 worth of Electric Light FREE every year.

Our net base rate for incandescent lighting is 8 cents per kwh. Half a dozen municipal plants make this low rate, two or three offer rates a trifle lower (nominally)—but every such plant exacts a minimum charge of from $1.00 to $2.00 a month, thus making the real rate to the small consumer a great deal higher than our rate.

Which is better business: A new contract with this company at the lowest rate in the country and a saving of $30,000 a year to the individual users of electric light; or a municipal plant which will pile up a huge City debt, make taxes soar higher and higher, and bring inevitable financial failure in the end?

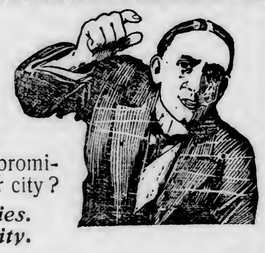

It's a wise man who profits by the experience of others.

frugality of the people whom they serve. And the experience of the American people has shown that it cannot be safely left to those who control the operation of these great enterprises to fix the rates of transportation free from the regulation of effective competition or the superior authority of governmental control.

Minnesota Decision.

"The right of the states to regulate the transportation in intra-state commerce of railroads engaged in interstate commerce is now vigorously denied, for the reason that it is claimed the fixing of rates in intra-state commerce of necessity determines or, at least, directly affects the rates of transportation in interstate commerce. This contention has but recently been sustained by the United States circuit court for the district of Minnesota, in a decision known as the Minnesota rate cases.

"A number of cases involving the reasonableness, and, therefore, the constitutionality of the acts of the several states, or orders of their boards of railroad commissioners, fixing maximum rates for passenger and freight traffic, were pending before the supreme court of the United States at the time this decision was rendered. In all of these cases the same contention had been made in the circuit court as was advanced and sustained by Judge Sanborn in the Minnesota rate cases. Following the decision of Judge Sanborn, the submission of these cases pending in the supreme court of the United States, which had already been argued and submitted, was set aside, and they were set down again for argument at the October term of that court. Whether the decision in the Minnesota rate cases was the cause of this action of the supreme court, is, of course, only a matter of conjecture. But during the coming term of the supreme court, there will be heard cases arising out of controversies between a number of the states and the railroads doing business therein as to the constitutionality of maximum freight and passenger rate laws, in each of which the contention will doubtless be vigorously urged that the laws of these states or the orders of their boards of railroad commissioners are unconstitutional, because by fixing rates for transportation within the states, interstate commerce is directly burdened and affected.

Importance of Decision.

"The importance and the far-reaching effect of the decision that will be rendered upon this point can hardly be over-estimated. If the right of regulation of the rates of transportation in intrastate commerce shall be denied the several states, then there will be enjoyed by the railroad companies the right to fix intrastate rates of transportation free from any supervision or regulation. And they will thus be enabled to levy a tribute upon the people of the several states, the amount of which will be limited only by their own necessities or desire for gain. Further than this, the denial of the right of the several states to regulate the rates of transportation in intrastate traffic will, as an inevitable and logical result, in the denial of the right of the states to regulate or supervise the conduct of any business interstate in its character if thereby the conduct of that business in interstate commerce is directly affected or burdened.

"That there are many difficulties incident to the present situation, is apparent. To adjust the rates of the great transcontinental railroad companies to the changing conditions incident to the changes in sentiment and administration in forty-eight states, is indeed a difficult problem. The whole problem of railroad rate regulation in this country is in a confused, complex and unsatisfactory condition. No yard-stick has at yet been discovered by which either to establish rates or to measure the reasonableness of rates charged.

Government Ownership.

"Some people see in the present situation such difficulties that they contend that government ownership and operation of railroads is the only practical solution. I do not believe that government ownership and operation of railroads is either a necessary or advisable solution. But it will doubtless be necessary that we should cut and dry many times before we finally determine upon the correct policy for dealing with this important and intricate problem. In view of the markedly different conditions existing in this and in other countries, the experience of other nations in dealing with this question is but of limited value. We must work out our problem for ourselves, but we must at all times adhere to the fundamental principle that a railroad company is a common carrier and a public highway; that it must be open to all upon fair and equal terms, and that the right to charge for the transportation of persons or property is a right to tax, which, in order to defensible, must be reasonably and equally imposed.

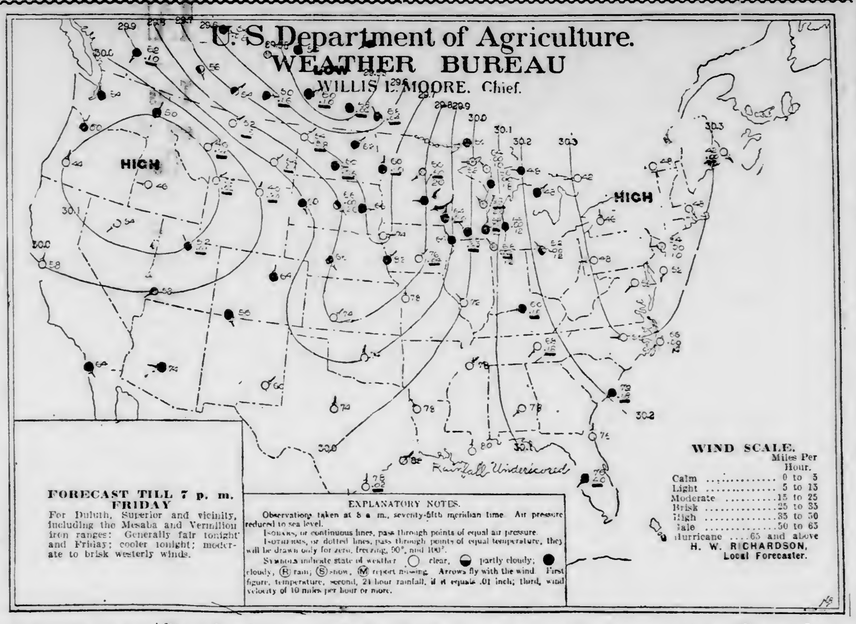

Are State Questions.

"Most of the important present day problems are clearly state questions, and not national questions. The most important phase of the question of transportation, I contend, is still a question for the states, rather than for the national government. The question of taxation, or, to speak more exactly, the reform of the many inequalities, imperfections and injustices incident to our general property tax is primarily a state problem. The proper compensation of those injured in industrial pursuits, is, as this program evidences, essentially a state problem. The laws regulating marriage and divorce; the conduct of public service corporations and ordinary business affairs; judicial procedure; laws regulating the hours of labor, improving the conditions under which it is performed and protecting the health and safety of those who perform it, as well as the people as a whole, are all primarily questions with which the state must deal if they are to be effectively dealt with at all. The field is a broad one, and the work is one which has in it the destinies of a people, because it concerns their happiness and their welfare. But this field will be narrowed and the power to discharge this duty to humanity seriously impaired if the right of the states to regulate transportation within their borders shall now be denied."

OFFICIAL MAP OF THE WEATHER

FAIR

After a few days of beautiful fall weather, the rain maker took charge of weather conditions in Duluth early this morning and .6 inches of rain fell up to 7 o'clock. The day is damp and dreary and if the grouches in Duluth could be taken out on the weather man, that volatile individual would have to do some lively sidestepping or be permanently injured. Generally fair tonight and tomorrow is the pacifying prediction he issues today.

Beautiful fall weather prevailed a year ago today.

The sun rose at 5:44 this morning and it will set at 6:23, giving twelve hours and thirty-nine minutes of sunlight.

Mr. Richardson makes the following comment on weather conditions:

"The disturbance centered over Saskatchewan and Manitoba has caused warmer weather over those provinces and the upper Mississippi and lower Missouri valleys, and showers over Western Canada, Montana, Wyoming, Utah, the Dakotas, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, and Kentucky during the last twenty-four hours. Cooler weather prevails over Montana, Wyoming, Northern Utah, Nevada, Oregon and Idaho in connection with the high pressure area overlying the Plateau region. The easterly movement of the Manitoba-Saskatchewan low pressure will result in further showers at the Head of the Lakes this afternoon, followed by clearing skies and lower temperature tonight."

General Forecasts.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—Forecasts for twenty-four hours ending at 7 p. m. Friday:

Upper Michigan—Unsettled, with showers tonight or Friday; warmer tonight.

Wisconsin—Showers and thunder storms tonight; cooler in southwest portion; Friday generally fair.

Minnesota—Generally fair tonight and Friday; cooler tonight.

Iowa—Generally fair tonight and Friday; except local thunder storms in east portion this afternoon or tonight; cooler tonight and in east portion Friday.

North and South Dakota—Fair tonight and Friday.

Montana—Fair tonight and Friday; not much change in temperature.

Upper lakes—Brisk southeast winds, shifting to west and northwest on Michigan and Superior late tonight and on Huron Friday; unsettled with showers tonight, followed by clearing Friday.

quadrangle. In his letter to Special Assistant S. S. Kingan, at Tucson, Acting Attorney General Knaebel says:

Cause of Litigation.

"This litigation was the direct result of a letter from the secretary of the interior, dated Aug. 23, 1909, strongly representing, upon the faith of certain reports made by field officials of the general land office, that the patents had been procured by grossly fraudulent misrepresentation of material facts, particularly in regard to the discovery of mineral in place within the various locations.

"At the earnest insistence of Hoval A. Smith and his counsel, this department gave them an extended hearing at which evidence was produced amounting, apparently, to a demonstration of their contention that all of the facts concerning the mining claims, and the objects and purposes of Mr. Smith and his associates in urging them for patent were laid before the land department before the patents were issued fully and frankly and without any misrepresentation or concealment whatsoever; and that that department, with the entire evidence thus before it, deliberately and without being misled or mistaken as to the facts in any particular, decided that the applicants were entitled to the patents and issued them accordingly.

"As the situation thus revealed was wholly incompatible with the existence of any cause of action in the government based upon fraud and misrepresentation, I referred the entire matter to the secretary of the interior with the suggestion that, unless the showing made here should turn out to be at variance with the true facts as revealed by the records and known to the officials of his department, there would be nothing for it but to dismiss the suits. After due investigation and consideration the secretary, by his letter of Aug. 23, 1911, a copy of which I send herewith for your further information, advises in effect that no further effort can consistently or properly be made to maintain the litigation.

Expended Large Sums.

"There seems to have been no reason whatever to question the good faith and veracity of Mr. Smith and his associates in these transactions. They appear to have expended large sums of money in the acquisition of the land, in the belief that it was valuable mineral land, and for the purpose of developing and exploiting it as such. It is true that they relied largely, if not entirely, upon geologic evidence as assuring the existence of mineral below the surface, but their confidence in this regard was substantially in accord with the consensus of opinion among those most competent to judge, including prominent mining experts of the geological survey. That the occurrences of mineral at or near the surface were insignificant and bore little, if any geologic relation to the peculiar deposits which the applicants hoped and expected to encounter below, were facts well known to the land department at the time when the patents were issued, as were also the plans looking to the use of a portion of the surface for townsite purposes. The charge that the land was in part acquired to be sold and used as town lots and to be used for grazing purposes seems wholly unsupported.

Due to Oversight.

"Evidently the request which led to the institution of these suits was due to an oversight by subordinate officials of the land department. The nature of the case as it stood before that department at the time when the patents issued could not have been known to the secretary of the interior when he made that request and was not known to this department.

"It is a matter of sincere regret to me that the government should have been placed in a position of accusing dishonesty and fraud against persons whose conduct, for aught appears, was above reproach. It may be that upon an accurate application of the law to the evidence the patents should not have been issued to all the claims, but this technical consideration does not alter the substantial aspects of the situation or justify the persistence of the litigation."

FRECKLES GONE

"Simple Remedy from Boyce Drug Store Removed Them," Says Society Lady.

"The best skin specialists told me that nothing would remove my freckles and that I would carry them to my grave," said a well known society woman, "but I fooled them all with a new drug, othine—double strength, that I bought at Boyce drug store which cleared my skin and gave me a fine complexion."

The action of othine is really remarkable, for when applied at night, many of the freckles disappear entirely by morning, and the rest have begun to fade. An ounce is usually all that is needed, even for the worst case.

Be sure to ask Boyce drug store for the double strength othine, as this is sold under a guarantee of money back if it fails to remove the freckles.

ARMY AVIATORS ENTER CONTESTS

Will Take Part in Events at Nassau Meet This Month.

Washington, Sept. 14.—Capt. Paul W. Beck, Lieut. H. H. Arnold and Lieut. T. De Witt Milling, army aviators, who have been making notable flights at College Park, Md., will participate as individuals in the aviation meet to be held on the Nassau boulevard, New York, Sept. 23 to Oct. 1.

The signal corps declined to permit the officers to enter the contests as representatives of the army, but leave of absence will be granted to them for the occasion.

In addition to $50,000 in prizes already offered, $7,500 will be set aside exclusively for the officers' contests. The army men will also be allowed to compete in the open events.

It is expected that the army aviator school at College Park will be closed for the winter about Nov. 1. Plans for some winter flying in the South are being considered.

SHOULD BUY BREAD WITH UNION LABEL

Head of Bakery Union Workers Gives Advice to Housewives.

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 14.—"We don't care whether or not the American housewife does her own baking. But, for her sake, if she buys bread, we want her to buy the loaf that bears the union label."

Thus spoke A. A. Hohmann of Chicago, in an address at today's session of the convention of the International Bakery & Confectionery Workers' union.

Among the resolutions introduced today was one protesting against the formation of a new "labor party" by the American Federation of Labor. The resolution stated that there was already one labor party in existence—the Socialist party—and that the organization of another would be confusing.

GRAND JURY IS ABOUT THROUGH

Expected Something Will Soon Develop in Dr. Dumas Probe.

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Some time this afternoon, probably late, it is expected the grand jury which is hearing testimony in the Dumas case will make a report.

Attorney E. E. McDonald of this city, appointed by the court to take the place of County Attorney Torrance in presentating the case before the jury, stated this forenoon that all of the witnesses would be examined by noon except two, but refused to divulge the names of the two that would be called at the finish.

"It will probably be 3 o'clock this afternoon when we finish our work with the jury," said Mr. McDonald, this forenoon. Sam Fullerton, reputy state fire marshall, who has been "on the job" since the first information was given concerning the alleged "arson gang," was called into the juryroom this forenoon. John Benner, who was warned by Assistant Attorney General James to desist talking with state witnesses, was on hand waiting to be recalled, as was also William Munhall, implicated early in the case and arrested, afterwards being discharged; D. C. Smyth, father of Bert Smyth, the state's star witness, Dr. Stanton, who was with Dr. Dumas at the Commercial clubrooms about the time of the Puposky affair, and who undoubtedly gave testimony of value. Charles Nelson, a saloon keeper of Cass Lake, also was present, a new witness in the case.

Accused St. Paulite Watching.

John Lane of St. Paul, said to be under indictment of the Ramsey county court on the charge of having aided a prisoner to escape from a policeman at the Union depot in St. Paul, has been here today watching the proceedings in the Dumas case, and some significance is attached to his presence. While no definite information is obtainable it is believed that Attorneys Janes and McDonald will take up with the grand jury the alleged incendiary fire at Blackduck, the burning of a building belonging to the Gearalds brothers of this city, as soon as the Puposky case is disposed of by the jury.

Dr. Dumas is in the city today watching the general movements at the courthouse, and prepared to appear in court when wanted, should an indictment be returned against him.

Among the witnesses examined yesterday were Martin Behan, alleged to have been implicated in the attempted Puposky postoffice robbery, out of which grew Dr. Dumas' troubles; Bert Smythe, who is credited with being the "man inside," Henry Mullin, one of Dumas' bondsmen, Detective J. C. Fielding, in the thick of the fight on the night of the Puposky affair, Sheriff Hazen and Deputy Sheriff Helmer.

Cass Lake Woman Called.

Among those summoned to appear before the grand jury are Mrs. Nora Tedford, wife of the late Charles Tedford of Cass Lake, and Mrs. Woods, sister of Tedford. An air of mystery apparently surrounds their connection with the case, if indeed, there be any.

Still another woman, it is said, may be called upon to testify in the case of Dr. Dumas' indictment. Her name is withheld as rigidly as her position in society is protected.

TABULATION OF STRIKE VOTES

By Illinois Central Shopmen Has Not Been Completed.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—Circular letters setting forth the exact situation which confronts the Illinois Central railroad shopmen in their threatened strike in support of the system federation and asking for another strike vote, were today sent to members of the various unions involved by J. F. McCreery, head of the federation shop committee.

Secretary W. F. Kramer of the international association of blacksmiths, declared today that the tabulation of strike votes will take place in about ten days and that nothing further could be done until the strike vote is announced.

"We could have called the strike and nearly every machinist would have responded," said J. F. McCreery, before departing for his home in Paducah, Ky., today.

"I have received thirty-six telegrams from as many machinists' unions, all of which demanded that the time for the strike call be set regardless of their international officers.

"It had been my plan to call the men out last Saturday," continued Mr. McCreery. "This I decided not to do as I have been accused of being a radical, but instead placed the matter again before the international officers. I am convinced that the next vote for a strike will be even stronger than that of last summer."

TWENTY LABOR LEADERS INDICTED FOR CONSPIRACY.

Butler, Pa., Sept. 14.—Upon the recommendation of a special grand jury called to investigate acts of violence to the property of the Pittsburg, Butler, Pennsylvania & Newcastle trolley road in a strike in August, charges of conspiracy were made and indictments found yesterday against twenty labor leaders and former employes of the road. Among them are J. J. Thorpe of this city, international vice president of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employes, and C. A. Botts, president of the local union.

Sights Brooks Comet.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 14.—Prof. Francis P. Leavenworth, head of the department of astronomy of the state university, has sighted the Brooks comet, recently discovered.

He says the comet is now visible to the naked eye in the early evening, near the pole star. It will be visible again.

Silberstein & Bondy Company.

"I'm glad I bought a Modart Corset this fall."

"My gowns never fitted as well before, and the corset is so comfortable I could sleep in it."

Modart Corsets

Make a visit to our Corset Department and see the season's latest Modart models.

We are now showing our new models in the La Helene, Redfern, Warner and S. & B. Special, and others will soon be in.

The La Helene will be more popular than ever; few changes have been made in these with the exception of the lower bust. The lines are just as straight as they have been, giving a girlish, youthful figure instead of the matronly one.

The new models in the Redfern and Warner this year have had two or three very good changes, and several models in both of these are featuring the double skirt effect which has been very satisfactory; in fact, one of the most satisfactory improvements they have made.

The S. & B. Special, the corset which has made its own reputation from the satisfaction it has given, we are showing in a larger number of new models than ever before.

The most skilled corsetieres in the Northwest will attend you, fittings being without charge.

La Helene, $5 up to $25.
Redfern, $3.50 up to $15.
S. & B. Special, $1 up to $5.
Warner, $1 up to $3.50.

ENGLISHMAN IS WINNING

Hilton Four Up on Travers in First Half of Match.

American Amateur Golfing Title May Be Taken By Visitor.

Rye, N. Y., Sept. 14.—The chances that the American amateur golfing title will cross the ocean to England were materially increased when Harold H. Hilton finished the first half of his match today with Jerome D. Travers, of Upper Montclair with a lead of four up. The other three matches at the eighteenth green in the third round of the tournament stood: P. W. Whittemore, of Boston, and C. W. Inslee, of New York, even; F. Herreshoff of Ekwanok, 4 up on Oswald Kirkby of Englewood; Albert Seckel, 3 up on Charles Evans, Jr., both of Chicago.

A crowd of more than a thousand followed the Hilton-Travers match, but it was only at the first hole that the American had the advantage. Their cards were as follows:

Hilton —out	534	544	266—10
In.	444	354	264—37—77
Travers—out	444	545	456—10

RETURN GAME FOR CITY DADS

Aldermen of Virginia Will Meet Duluthians on Diamond.

The city fathers of Duluth are girding on their implements of war preparatory to a battle with the municipal dads of Virginia on the baseball diamond.

About a year ago at this time the Duluth aldermen journeyed to the range town in automobiles and grabbed off a victory from the home team. They did it neatly and with expedition. Ever since the thorn has rankled in the breasts of the Virginia law makers. They assert that it was all a mistake, and to prove it they proclaim that if the local officials will give them a return game, they will satisfy the entire world that they can show the Duluth bunch cards and spades about the great national pastime.

The locals are not averse to a return game. In fact, the unanimous sentiment is that their brethren from the iron country are entitled to a chance for satisfaction. They say that they want to convince them once and for all time that they do not know the first thing about baseball. "We let them off easy at that game last year," said one of the aldermen this morning. "We did not want to show them up too badly. We knew and still know that their knowledge of the game was and is limited and will prefer not to trim them by more than twenty or thirty scores if they come down here this year."

The arrangements are in the hands of Alderman James Wharton, chairman of the council committee on sports. He says that as soon as the weather becomes settled a date for the big game will be fixed. It is expected that a party of half a dozen or more automobiles will meet the Virginia crowd somewhere in the vicinity of Pike lake and escort them into the city.

SUPERIOR WINS FROM HIBBING

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Superior won the second game from Hibbing yesterday in the series of six games which the two teams are playing, by a score of 11 to 8. The Miners league champions won the game in fourteen innings, after nine innings. In the fourth with two out and the bases full, Rhodes put the ball over the fence for a home run. In the next inning with two on the bases Hoffman hit out another homer. The two home runs thus netted seven scores. Jensen pitched for Superior and except for the first and ninth innings kept the hits well scattered. The score:

	R.	H.	E.
Superior	1 0 0 4 3 1 0 2 0—11	15	4
Hibbing	2 0 1 0 1 0 0 0 3— 8	11	1

Batteries—Jensen and Ford; Grady and Carroll, Kleffman.

HEAVIES READY FOR NEW YORK BATTLE.

New York, Sept. 14.—There is little training to be done to put Carl Morris, the Oklahoma giant, and Jim Flynn, the Pueblo fireman, into good condition for their ten round engagement at Madison Square Athletic club tomorrow night.

The Oklahoma fighter took a ten mile run at Allenhurst and sparred a few rounds with his trainers. Morris has done much of his training in secret but whether he has pugilistic ability cannot be told until he mixes it with the Pueblo man. He tips the beam at about 236 pounds. Flynn weighs about 180 pounds and is in tiptop shape.

JUDGE MORRIS FINDS JUDGE SANBORN EASY.

Judge Page Morris of the United States federal court yesterday "trimmed" his colleague, Judge Sanborn of the federal court of Superior, in two exciting games of golf on the local grounds. Not satisfied with the outcome of the contests Judge Sanborn challenged the local judge to another game which is expected to take place soon.

Denies He Will Retire.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 14.—President Bancroft B. Johnson of the American league, and James R. McAleer, manager of the Washington team of that league, arrived here today to confer with John I. Taylor, president of the Boston American league team, regarding the sale of an interest in the local club to the Washington manager.

There has been a persistent report from Washington that McAleer desires to purchase the Boston club outright and that President Taylor contemplates retirement, but this the Boston owner denies, stating that no such step is known.

GIANTS AND ATHLETICS SEEM EVENLY MATCHED

Philadelphia, Sept. 14.—That Connie Mack considers the Giants the probable National league pennant winners was evidenced during the three games in Philadelphia recently, in which the Giants made a clean up. Two brothers of Connie Mack, a scout for the Athletics and a flock of fans who usually do their rooting at Shibe park went to the Quaker's grounds to size up the team which they believe is likely to meet the Athletics in the world's series.

One of the Athletics' lookouts had this to say of the Giants after being a spectator and careful observer during the series: "That team will be harder to beat than the Cubs ever could be under present conditions. In the first place the Cubs have lost much of their fire. Frank Chance as a playing manager was without a peer but he has yet to show his ability as a leader from the bench. McGraw has a splendidly drilled team of fighters. There is not a man on the team who seems to have anything in mind but winning. I went out expecting to see some points of weakness in the Giants, but I could find none that loomed up large."

After citing several instances in which the Cubs might have done better in the last world's series had they been playing the same kind of baseball that the Giants are now, the speaker, a relative of Connie Mack, continued: "Outside of battery workers the Giants have not a player who would not be rated a speeder in any set. Sizing up the teams, I would say that Thomas and Meyers, are about equal in ability, but I think that Thomas has profited greatly by his experience in one world series, and you know he was a star where he was expected to be a very commonplace worker. But Meyers can hit 'em a mile. In pitchers I cannot see much outside of Marquard and Mathewson, but the Athletics have in Bender, Coombs and Morgan reliable right handers, and Danforth, a young Texan, is a brilliant left hander, to say nothing of Eddie Plank and Krause. But possibly McGraw has been working Crandall and Drucke up to championship form. Then he has the veterans Wiltse and Ames, too.

"Coombs has not been the wonder he was last year, but he is a mighty cool-weather twirler. At first base I was surprised at the keenness displayed by Merkle, whom I had never had a chance to see at close range. He has been a remarkable athlete to live down that incident of 1908. I think he has a shade on our boy first-baseman, McInnis, but Stuffy is a plucky lad and can hit. Eddie Collins has it on Larry Doyle. Barry is just as brilliant in the field as Fletcher, but he has not been batting as well. On experience I would give Barry the edge.

"Baker and Herzog as third baseman are both clever, but give me Baker for his long drives. Without going into batting or fielding performances I do not think the Athletics can compare with the Giants' trio for speed, batting ability and defense work. And the Athletics' regulars are not weaklings, either, as their batting averages prove."

Points in the Giants' playing that impressed the students during the series with the Quakers escaped some of the Philadelphia fans, who insisted that New York was not meeting a championship team anyway. Fans there have not been as loyal to the Quakers since injuries and Magee's suspension shot up the team as they were when the pennant seemed within reach.

Batting Compared.

Batting averages of the leading players to represent the Giants and Athletics, should the teams meet in the world's series, follow:

Giants—	Av.	Athletics—	Av.
Meyers	.331	Lapp	.342
Fletcher	.317	Murphy	.341
Doyle	.313	Baker	.340
Wilson	.303	McInnis	.333
Herzog	.289	Hartsel	.296
Snodgrass	.286	Lord	.294
Devore	.278	Oldring	.291
Murray	.269	Thomas	.264
Merkle	.261	Barry	.261
Devlin	.254	Strunk	.261
Becker	.250	Livingston	.261
Crandall	.207	Krause	.219
Marquard	.181	Derrick	.215
Mathewson	.176	Plank	.202
Druck	.093	Morgan	.139
Ames	.071	Bender	.132
Team av.	.2711	Team av.	.2928

Harry Davis, captain of the Athletics, had an average of .203 when he was replaced by McInnis, whose hitting since that time assures him the position for the world's series. The team figures give the Athletics a big advantage, but the pitchers they faced and the conditions under which some of the stars labored—including Johnson in ill-health, and overworked—may account for the husky averages. But there's no denying that four of the regulars, Collins, Murphy, Baker and McInnis, have been pounding all kinds of twirling this season.

In base running the Giants top the Athletics by a large margin, the team having stolen 249 sacks. The weight of this feat may be suggested by consideration by the fact that the Cubs have pilfered only 146 bases and the Pirates 121. The Athletics have recorded 177 thefts, being topped in the American league by Detroit base runners, with 216, and the Yankees with 203.

Baseball players have long been known as superstitious, but sentimental, never! When a member of the Athletics was asked recently which National league team his mates would rather face this fall, he replied: "The Giants of course." I suppose that is because of that beating they gave you the last time the Athletics met them in a world's series," ventured the questioner. "No, it's because the new Polo grounds can accommodate more spectators than any other place in the country," snapped the practical but honest athlete.

MUST MOVE BY MARCH 1

Last Winter in Old Building for Duluth Curling Club.

Property Has Been Leased —New Rink Will Be Built.

While the games of the 1911-12 curling season will probably take place at the old building of the Duluth Curling club at Third avenue east and Railroad street, the 1912-13 season will undoubtedly find the members of the club housed in a new rink at the Thirteenth avenue east grounds which were purchased some time ago.

A local scrap iron and metal concern has secured a lease on the present site of the club, it is understood, and the grounds now occupied by the building will be used after the lease takes effect, which will be on March 1, next year.

As it is now too late in the season to begin building in time to use the structure for curling next winter, the probability is that the old rink will be used for the Interstate bonspiel this winter and the local games up until the beginning of the lease in March.

This may necessitate the cutting down of all events from squad to bonspiel style so that they may be finished before March 1. It may be that arrangements will be made to rent the site from the metal company so that the full season can be played out.

The fact remains that this is the last season the site can be used by the Duluth Curling club and that by next year the new rink must be erected, or no curling will be indulged in.

There is no doubt, however, of the new rink. The members of the rink are behind the proposition of a new rink to a man and work will undoubtedly begin on the new structure soon after the snow is off the ground next spring.

Rain at Lexington.

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 14.—As a result of a light rain which set in this morning the opening of the fall season of Western races here today will be seriously marred. The autumn handicap at 2¼ miles, which was to be the feature of the meeting, will lose in interest on account of the withdrawal of several of the entrants because of the heavy condition of the track.

RAILROAD SOLD ON PAYMENT OF A DOLLAR.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Duluth, St. Cloud, Glencoe & Mankato railway, a line running from Albert Lea to St. Clair, 39.46 miles in length, has been sold to the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway for $681,540.51. Notice of the deal was served on Julius Schmahl, secretary of state, this morning.

It is understood that the line was built for the St. Paul road. It held a mortgage on the line for the full purchase price, and transfer was made on payment of $1.

FIRE AND CASUALTY COMPANIES PAY FEES.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Discovery was made about Aug. 1 that twenty-four fire and casualty companies doing business in this state, and licensed by the insurance department, were not complying with the corporation laws relative to filing statements of their financial standings, paying fees and attending to other such details.

Julius Schmahl, secretary of state, went after them, with the result that approximately $1,200 was collected from them.

MORE MEETINGS NEEDED

Before Tobacco Trust Reorganization Plans Are Completed.

New York, Sept. 14.—Preliminary to the conference of the members of the United States circuit court, Attorney General Wickersham and officials of the American Tobacco company, who are considering plans for the reorganization of the company in consonance with the mandate of the supreme court, James B. Duke, president of the company, said today he did not think anything definite would be accomplished at today's meeting. He said he thought many more meetings would be necessary before any definite conclusion would be reached.

One of the counsel of company said he does not think any definite conclusion will be arrived at under six months.

KILLED BY MOLASSES.

Dead Shrimp By Million Floating on Lake Pontchartrain.

New Orleans, La., Sept. 14.—Dead shrimp by the millions and thousands of fishes are floating on the surface of Lake Pontchartrain as a result of their feeding on molasses. The sweet diet found its way into the lake from the city sewers when 10,000 gallons were recently let loose in the streets by the bursting of a storage tank. The molasses contained about 2½ per cent potash to the gallon.

NO RESPONSE IS MADE TO THE PERU OFFERS.

Nashville, Tenn., Sept. 14.—While envoys of Champ Clark and Governors Wilson and Harmon are quietly organizing the presidential campaign situation in Tennessee, the "regular" wing of the Democratic party has made no response to peace offers of the "independents" made several days ago.

By some political prophets this delay is interpreted as a polite means on the part of the regulars to show their disapproval of all peace plans, and forecasts a divided representation from Tennessee to the Democratic presidential convention next year.

WILL EXAMINE BOOKS OF RAILROAD COMPANIES.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Prepared to spend all winter delving into the books of railway companies, J. O. Davies, Gustave Cederberg, George Ragatz and H. C. Varney of the public examiners staff will leave for Chicago tonight in quest of figures on which to base and verify gross earnings taxes. All roads entering Minnesota which have general offices in Chicago will be examined.

"There never has been a case in which the figures given out by the railroad companies turned out just right, according to our examinations," said Andrew Fritz, the public examiner, this morning.

Bridegroom Roughly Handled.

Marinette, Wis., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Between twenty-five and thirty masked men, residents of Pound, Wis., are alleged to have seized Henry Wood, a bridegroom, and to have bound and gagged him because he refused to give them money when they charivaried him and his bride. Dr. Gibson, a veterinary surgeon of Pound, who is alleged to have been the ringleader, was arrested on a warrant sworn out by Wood, charged with highway robbery. Other members of the mob will be placed under arrest.

Injured in Separator.

Grafton, N. D., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.) — Nicholas Dipple, a thrasher, was caught in a separator near here and so badly injured that he will be laid up for several weeks.

CLOSING RALLY IN THE COPPERS

Bulls Recover Much Lost Ground Near End of Day's Sessions.

Coppers made a sudden rally near the close of the session, and though some of them closed with losses, notwithstanding this rally, there were others that made decided gains. Among the latter were North Butte and Calumet & Arizona. Amalgamated and Butte Coalition showed slight losses. The rally of the coppers was due in part to a dispatch from London announcing higher prices for both spot copper and futures, both having closed at an advance of 3 shillings 9 pence. Probably the principal bullish factor, however, was the rally of the general stock list at New York, which likewise occurred near the close. A certain brokerage house, that had been doing a great deal of selling, suddenly bought 15,000 shares of Union. The room called this a short covering. Other shorts then rushed to cover and the result was an advance all along the line.

Up to noon today there was nothing about the copper market that looked at all like the promise of a rise in values. On the contrary, while there were no sharp declines, the trend was clearly downward. Most of the openings were rather weak. The London copper market opened with spot 8 shillings 9 pence lower and futures 7 shillings 6 pence lower. Coppers showed the same tendency as the general stock market, which opened weak, with the greatest pressure on Steel and Union. London and Berlin continued to liquidate. Many of the leading stocks before noon had fallen as much as a point and a half below the close of yesterday. Some went even lower. Shortly after 11 o'clock, there was a slight rally, when shorts began to cover on account of the appearance of some support in Steel and Union.

Early in the session came the news that Headley, a gold stock, of British Columbia, which is listed among the Boston coppers, had declared its regular 50-cent quarterly dividend. Headley closed yesterday at $15.50 asked, and sold today at $15. Many Duluth people are interested in this stock.

Among the copper quotations of today were the following: Amalgamated, closed yesterday, $55.50; today, $55.12½; $55.25, $55, $54.87½, $55.25, $54.50, $54.87½, $55, $55.25. Butte Coalition, yesterday, $14.50 bid, $14.75 asked; today, $14.50, $14.75, $14.12½, $14.50. Calumet & Arizona, yesterday, $48.75 bid, $49 asked; today, $48.75, $47.75, $48.75, $48.37½, $49, $49.12½, $49. Giroux, yesterday, $4 bid, $4.06¼ asked; today, $4.06¼. Greene Cananea, yesterday, $6 bid, $6.12½ asked; today, $6. North Butte, yesterday, $22.87½ bid, $23.25 asked; today, $22.75, $22.87½, $22.75, $23, $23.75. A notable improvement has lately been in evidence in the shares of Calumet & Arizona, due largely to its acquisition of the Superior & Pittsburg with its big and well-developed ore bodies. Calumet & Arizona was among the stocks which showed the greatest strength during the recent market decline.

The smelter output of this company for August was 4,650,000 pounds of blister copper, against 4,394,000 pounds the month preceding. The matter of enlarged smelting facilities, a pressing necessity, is receiving attention, and with their completion affairs will be in shape for a considerably increased production, which should be attended with a proportionate lowering of costs, now most creditable if, as has been stated, current earnings are sufficient from which to meet the quarterly dividend requirements amounting to $628,512, this assuming the full conversion of Superior & Pittsburg shares into those of Calumet & Arizona. Such earnings would indicate costs per pound rather under than over 8 cents. The Michigan mill is reported to be treating 1,700 tons of ore daily, of which 200 tons are supplied from the stockpile, 600 tons from development and 900 tons from mining operations. Shipments of concentrates to the Cananea smelter aggregate about 75 tons daily.

Hayden, Stone & Co., New York, sum up the copper situation as follows:

"A strong statistical position makes the copper metal situation more encouraging at the moment. American producers are carrying 33,000,000 pounds smaller stock and the foreign stocks 70,000,000 pounds smaller than a year ago. Consumers in most cases are carrying such low stocks that they must come into the market shortly for supplies even though they do not care to anticipate wants very far in the future. They are naturally delaying their buying, influenced by stock declines and uncertainties in the foreign situation. Considerable significance is also attached by certain large consumers to the talk of increased copper production from Alaska and other new mines. During the past five months approximately 6,000,000 pounds of copper have arrived from the Guggenheim-Morgan Alaska mines.

"The future of the market rests on the course of trade and a continuance of the foreign consumption. American consumers will be obliged to take on considerable copper in the near future even though general business in this country shows no great increase in activity. The situation abroad seems a little befogged by the Moroccan question and the English strike, but the belief is firm that business activities affecting the consumption of copper will shortly be resumed and the large exports of the past year will be continued."

Assembly Summoned.

Panama, Sept. 14.—President Arosemena yesterday summoned the assembly in extraordinary session. No reasons were given by the executive for his action but it is rumored that the chief purpose is to permit an amendment of the laws which conflict with certain agreements made by the republic with the American government of the canal zone.

DAY SORE OVER OLE'S ABDUCTION

Mean Trick for Progressives to Steal Sageng, He Says.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Frank A. Day, late lamented leader of Minnesota's Democracy, laments the Progressives gathering in State Senator Ole Sageng, the sole surviving Populist in this state. In a letter to Julius Schmahl, secretary of state, he says:

"It's a damn mean trick, you fellows stealing Olo Sageng away from me."

He adds that he will be here the latter part of this month to see about it.

WANTS HOME FOR HIS CHILDREN

Ole Bergwick of Pine City Appeals to the Governor.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—His wife killed recently in a tornado, his farm buildings demolished and much of his livestock either crippled or killed outright, Ole Bergwick of Pine City has appealed to the governor for help in caring for his children, two girls aged 6 months and 20 months.

The father suggested that they be put in the public school for crippled and indigent children at Owatonna, but as doing this requires relinquishment of all claim to them, he has refused. The request has been referred to Archie M. Hayes, executive clerk, who is endeavoring to find a temporary home for them. The father says he will be able to care for them himself within two years.

MINNESOTA GOVERNOR

Has Power to Remove Inefficient State Officers.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Commenting on the speech of Governor Edwin L. Norris of Montana, delivered at the conference of governors in Spring Lake, N. J., Tuesday, in which he advocated bestowing upon governors the power to remove inefficient state officers, Former Attorney General George T. Simpson said today:

"The governor of Minesota has that power now. The statute specifically provides that he may remove county attorneys, sheriffs, clerks of the supreme court, judges of probate, court commissioners, coroners, auditors, registers of deeds, superintendents of schools, county commissioners, treasurers and collectors who receive or are custodians of public moneys."

Mr. Simpson did not include superintendents of state training schools in the list.

THE PANIC-BIRDS OF WALL STREET.

Strand: There is an interesting class of men who are never seen on "the street" when everything is bright and buoyant, but who flock there in droves when a tempest breeds, and stocks fall way down to almost nothing. They descend upon "the street" to take advantage of such conditions, and buy up stocks when at their lowest, holding them until all is peace again, and then selling at a handsome profit. They are usually veterans of the market who "know the ropes," and buy when everyone else is selling, and sell when prices are high and everyone is buying. These "wise men" of Wall Street are called "panic-birds," and they always soar high above "the street" in troublous times. One "panic-bird" has flown into the whirlpool of some twenty panics and has soared with a fortune of half a million. On the other hand, one Young man, with a few thousands and some ordinary horse-sense, took a "flier" in Wall street for the first time at the height—or depth—of the 1907 panic, and come out practically a millionaire.

EX-CONVICTS IN WALL STREET.

Strand: There was a time in New York when no man with the brand of a convict was permitted to go below Fulton street—what was for years known as "the dead line." The police had instructions to arrest any known criminal the instant he crossed "the line." In the last few years, however, at least 100 ex-convicts have been occupying offices in the financial district, many of them in Wall street and many others in Broad street and lower Broadway, having bank accounts and magnificently furnished office suites, and surrounded by hosts of clever clerks and outside assistants, every one of them being engaged in crooked work, dealing in "investments" and "securities" unmolested. But, happily, the United States department of justice and the postoffice department have begun a crusade against these preys of "the Street," and some at least have been, or are about to be, sent to Sing Sing for a post-graduate course that will entail many years of close confinement to penal "studies."

These jail-birds have given themselves all the airs and graces of great and good sound business men. With scores of office-boys and secretaries they guard themselves—especially do those not yet in the drag-net of the law at this writing—against intrusion as carefully as any busy financier of "the Street."

"There is an ex-convict back of practically every big swindle in the financial district, supplying the brains or the money, or both," says Warren W. Dickson, chief postoffice inspector in charge of the New York division. "By big swindles I mean those whose operations extend not only to all parts of the United States, but frequently to every part of the civilized globe. Most of these are fake mining schemes. These are flourishing today in the Wall Street region to a greater extent than they ever have in the past. New York city has become the world's headquarters for these fraudulent mining promoters. The evil has grown to unimaginable proportions. These swindlers have been reaping a stupendous harvest continuously in the last ten years, with the exception of a short time following the panic of 1907. In the three years that preceded the panic I should say they swindled people out of at least $100,000 000. Lately this business has been carried on more energetically than ever. Today I believe these 'get-rich-quick' people are taking in more than a quarter of a million dollars daily. Unless the investors who are sinking their money with these firms wake up the business is going to increase instead of diminish."

These swindlers of "the Street" dupe an enormous number of people with their alluring advertisements, by means of which they dispose of worthless mining stocks through the mails. But it is not by worthless mining shares alone that the swindlers and ex-convicts of Wall Street "work" the public. They manage somehow to get in close relationship with big and powerful men, and sometimes they "rig" the market for legitimate securities.

The ex-convicts in Wall Street are engaged in all sorts of enterprises. Those who have not the originality and ingenuity to do anything else resort to the simpler and most dangerous form of swindling—passing bad checks.

FAMOUS ENGLISH CLOCKS.

A curious astronomical clock is to be seen in Exeter Cathedral. Below the works is a cabinet, which when opened displays a miniature belfry with ringers, and the background is painted to represent a number of old buildings in Exeter. This was built by Lovelace, took thirty years to construct and rivals the famous clocks of Wimborne Minster and Wells Cathedral, says the New York Sun.

At Wimborne is an old clock that has in the center a globe which represents the earth and the sun and the moon, and the phases of the latter are variously depicted. The clock still goes and the works, which are in a room above, cause a figure outside the tower to strike the quarters. This was the work of a Glastonbury monk early in the fourteenth century.

Wells has a wonderful clock, one of the oldest in the world, which dates from 1325. When it strikes the hour, says the Queen, four knights on horseback go riding around, and the seated man kicks two small bells with his heels, as he has been doing every fifteen minutes for nigh on six centuries. This clock was the work of Peter Lightfoot, another monk of Glastonbury.

There is a clock at Windsor Castle known as the globe clock. The globe is enameled in royal blue, a vertical bar shows the hours and a scythe the minutes. The Isaac Harbrecht clock is on view at the British museum, and two clocks well worth a visit may be seen at the Soane museum. The upper works of one of these revolve once in twelve months and require to be wound only once in every two years.

Interesting old clocks are to be found in private houses. One of these may be seen at Lutterworth. This is a long clock, which has an oval face, a hand that points to the days of the week, completing the round of seven days, another which shows the true dead beat, and a third which points to the chimes and quarters. On the upper part of the clock is a cello and two violins, and a boy and girl and also three singers. The hours and the quarters are struck, every three hours a tune is played three times over, while the three figures beat time and the boy and girl dance to the music.

FIRST PULLMAN CONDUCTOR.

Kansas City Journal: It isn't generally known, but it is a fact, nevertheless, that Col. J. L. Barnes, for nearly a third of a century superintendent of the Southern Kansas division of the Santa Fe, was the first Pullman conductor in the world. While in a reminiscent mood recently the colonel told of his experiences as the first Pullman conductor:

"In 1858 George M. Pullman arranged with the Chicago & Alton railway for two of their day coaches, which he fitted up as sleeping cars. Mr. Pullman at that time had an office in Madison street in Chicago. I passed his office going to and from my boarding house, and on account of a notice in the papers that Mr. Pullman was going to put sleeping cars on the Chicago & Alton, I made an application to him for a postion as a conductor.

"In September, 1858, he took me to Bloomington to bring out the first car that he had ready for use. This car, as I remember, was a low deck one and had been used for a long time as a passenger coach. It had rods running up and down at the end of each berth. The upper berth was lifted by on the rod side by a rope and pulley and the front of the berth slid up on these rods and was fastened with an iron catch. The lower berth was made out of two seats turned together.

"As I now remember, I was paid $2 a night and made up my report in Mr. Pullman's office at the end of each round trip, deducting $4 from my collections for my pay. I understand on one trip, that the man who ran opposite me was short 50 cents of enough money to pay his own wages.

"I remember well looking at one of the cars that was then used on the Lake Shore. This car was called the 'Woodruf patent,' but was very unpopular an account of the two upper shelves, as they were actually only shelves for people to sleep on. Mr. Pullman, after using the two old coaches a year or more, commenced the building of a new car, which was a very fine one. The construction of this car was in charge of a Mr. Field. At that time Mr. Pullman was in the mining business near Black Hawk, Col., and had not seen the car until he was at Alton, coming home from Colorado. I showed him the good points about the car and I remember well what he said: 'It ought to be good—it cost enough.'"

HOW AN OSTRICH SHOWS TEMPER.

When annoyed or angered by the approach of a human being, says a writer in the Strand, the male ostrich slightly arches his neck and, drawing in a big breath, he blows out his neck and issues a three-note defiance ("bo-bo-bo-o-h"). It is in the last prolonged note that his neck swells out so abnormally. The hen bird never "drums," as the natives term it, though I have heard of one that tried very hard to ape the male, but the result was a ghastly failure.

THE HERALD IS DULUTH'S GREAT WANT AD MEDIUM

WOMAN'S REALM.

"Tenement conditions in Duluth are not especially bad, in fact the conditions here are very much better than they are in most cities," said Courtenay Dinwiddie, secretary of the Associated Charities in forecasting the talk which he will give tomorrow evening at the Harvest Home supper which will be served at the Pilgrim Congregational church by the women of the church.

"I have some very good pictures showing some of the houses in the city where crowded and insanitary conditions exist, but my talk will not be as a criticism of the city or of any section of the city in particular, nor of any particular landlord or owner, but simply to show the need of care and the need of guarding against the tendency which arises in any city towards crowded tenement districts and their insanitary conditions."

Mr. Dinwiddie will show some of the views which he has obtained, through a stereopticon and Miss Merritt, a new resident of Duluth, will sing a group of songs after the dinner. An exhibit of home grown vegetables will be shown.

The supper which will be served by the women of the church, is an open one and the general public is invited to attend. It will be served in the parlors of the church.

Campbell-Duquette.

At a quiet wedding ceremony performed this morning at the Sacred Heart cathedral, Miss Alva Campbell became the bride of Fredrick Duquette. The bride, who is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Campbell of Pine Island, Minn., came to Duluth from Devils Lake a short time ago. She was married in a pretty gown of light blue satin with a drape of flowered organdie and she carried a pretty bouquet of roses and carnations. Miss Frances Snura was the bridesmaid, and Thomas Snura was best man. Miss Snura was also in blue and carried a bouquet of the same flowers.

About forty guests were present at the wedding services and a dinner was served at noon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Smith, 517 West First street for the party.

Mr. and Mrs. Duquette left this afternoon for a trip to Pine City, St. Paul and Detroit, Mich. They will make their future home at International Falls.

Social at Church.

The members of the Epworth League of the First Methodist church entertained informally last evening in the parlors of the church in compliment to the teachers of the city. About 150 guests were present and the evening was spent with games based on the superstitions of different states. Miss Long and Miss Severance won the prizes. The parlors were decorated with black cats, silver horseshoes and autumn leaves.

The refreshments were ices and cakes in the shape of fourleaf clovers.

The members of the social committee which had charge of the evening are: Misses Mabel Franklin, Eva Wehedliker, Dorothy Romans, Ethel Stephens, Mae Trimble, Edith Ward, Alta Merritt and Messrs. Raymond Hancock, Ernest Merritt, Glen Merritt and Earl Thompson.

Cards for Guest.

Mrs. William Wills entertained at cards this afternoon at her home in compliment to her guest, Mrs. Henderson of Hancock, Mich. Two tables were used and the rooms were prettily decorated in red and white, asters forming the floral part of the decorations. Among the guests were:

Mesdames—
C. D. Frain, John Crinklaw, A. Paul, Jensen, Sig Mayer, S. Wilkinson, Percy Lawson.

Japanese Party.

Miss Tess McDermitt of the Young Women's Christian association, who will leave soon for Freeport, Ill., to reside, will be the guest of honor at a Japanese party this evening at the Y. W. C. A. building. About fifteen of the girls who reside there have arranged the affair and are planning a pleasant evening.

Supper and Social.

The women of the First Christian church will serve a harvest home supper tomorrow evening at the church, followed by an experience social.

Informal Tea.

Mrs. H. P. Robinson of Hunter's Park, who will leave about Oct. 1 for the South to spend the winter, entertained at a small informal afternoon tea Tuesday afternoon at her home.

Dinner at Club.

Mrs. Ward Ames, Jr., was hostess at a large dinner party Tuesday evening at the Northland Country club. The table was pretty with golden glow, pink roses and pink and white asters. Covers were laid for forty.

The Kitchen

Ham Jelly.

This is excellent as a garnish, or may be eaten by itself if the flavor of ham is liked. It also uses up the remnants of a cold ham. To make it take the odd pieces of ham, cut away the gristle and chop the meat very fine. To each pint of meat allow a level tablespoonful of butter and a level teaspoonful of dry mustard; then mix half a pint of whipped cream and a quarter of a pint of aspic, both of which should be beaten together. Pack in a ring mold and place on ice to cool. When firm, dip for an instant in hot water, turn down on a cold dish, and the jelly will slip out unbroken. Fill the center with sliced cucumbers and sliced tomatoes.

To Poach Eggs Nicely.

Cut some pieces of bread a medium thickness, toast a nice brown and cut into squares or round shapes; then spread them with butter. Put the eggs in boiling water and just before they are quite set cover them over with a lid or a plate to keep the steam in. You will be surprised to see quite a shiny gloss on them; when they are ready, put them on the toasted shapes and serve.

Portugal Rice Milk.

Wash half a teacupful of rice and place it in a double saucepan with one pint of milk. Let this cook slowly till the mixture is like cream. Beat it thoroughly and let it cool, then stir in the yolks of two eggs and sugar to taste. Stir while the mixture heats thoroughly, but does not boil. Flavor to taste, and when cooled place in a glass dish.

PAYS TO SHAMPOO YOUR OWN HAIR

In a very interesting article in the Baltimore Times, Mae Martyn, noted authority on beauty topics, says: "Since alkali, as found in soaps and most shampoo preparations, has been found responsible for most hair and scalp troubles, too great care cannot be taken in the matter of shampooing.

"To those desiring a beautiful head of hair and a perfectly healthy scalp, I recommend the use of plain canthrox for shampooing. A teaspoonful dissolved in a cup of hot water makes the most beneficial, satisfactory and least expensive shampoo known to science.

"This shampoo is a perfect scalp cleanser, and leaves the hair in the brightest, fluffiest condition possible. It never streaks the hair and has the hearty endorsement of all who have tried it."

THE EVENING STORY

THE GREEN OVERALL

By Joseph R. Reham.

Margot's cheeks were pink as the dainty dress she wore, and her eyes outshone the sparkle of the single diamond in the pendant of her throat. She hummed a gay little refrain as with deft fingers she coaxed one or two willful curls into place. When she heard the door open she turned from the mirror and pirouetted lightly round.

"Just in time, mother," she greeted her. "I was about to call you. Don't you think this dress is a success? Aren't you proud of your daughter and her dressmaking?"

"I'm always proud of my little girl," answered Mrs. Knowles, smiling, but Margot suddenly recognized the worried expression she wore.

"Why, what's the matter, mother?" she cried, sobering down. "Isn't dinner behaving itself, or won't the kitchen fire burn?"

"Mrs. Shepherd has just been sent for to her little boy, who has scalded himself rather badly."

The simple statement instantly quenched Margot's high spirits. The majority of inhabitants in Haventon were unable to afford more than one general servant, and Mrs. Shepherd, a very capable village woman, was always "willing to oblige" with her services as cook when a dinner party was to be given, and to be deserted by the worthy woman at the last moment like this spelt disaster.

"Mother, what shall we do?" breathed Margot despairingly.

"I really don't know, dear, but I'm going down to the kitchen to see just what Mrs. Shepherd has left ready. Perhaps we can contrive a simple meal that Ann can manage by herself."

Margot sat on the edge of the bed when she was alone again. On any other occasion but this she would have sprung into the breach herself and superintended the cooking, as she was quite capable of doing. But that would make her hot and flurried and tired, and tonight she must be none of these things. What was it Walter French had said when he saw the Chester girls returning flushed and dishevelled from tennis?

"I like a girl to look as fresh and dainty as a rose," he had commented, and he looked at the pretty, white muslin-robed Margot beside him. She had treasured the words, and for Margot they became an ideal to live up to. They had been the inspiration of this pretty pink dress, just the color of an opening rosebud, to be worn at the eventful dinner party to which Mrs. Knowles had asked Walter French, the son of an old school friend, just before his return to Europe. What shy, rosy tinted hopes had been sewn into that gown, what dreams woven round it, not without foundation, either, for Walter French's interest in Margot Knowles was unmistakable. But he had spoken no word of affection, given no definite token of preference, and his stay in Haventon was drawing to a close. Perhaps this dinner party, where Margot would appear like a sweet living rose, might be the decisive moment.

All these thoughts and many others flashed through Margot's mind; then she remembered also what her mother must be feeling. She knew how it would wound her sensitive spirit to the quick to put before her guests an incomplete, indifferently cooked meal, for Ann was quite incompetent. There was a short, sharp struggle in Margot's mind, and her generous disposition won. She raced downstairs to the kitchen.

"It's all right, mother dear, I'll take charge of everything. Where's the menu? Soup julienne, fillets of sole with sauce tartare, chicken creams, lamb cutlets—I'll manage it without a hitch, dearest, and you needn't have a moment's worry."

"But Margot, you must come to dinner yourself! And your pretty new dress!"

"Lend me your overall, dearest," cried Margot, drawing on the ungainly garment of faded green cotton. "There! I'm quite safe, and I can leave everything ready for Ann to bring in, and be in time to sit down with you. No, you know you can't do it. What would your guests think if their hostess deserted them? Besides what's the good of spending lots of money on having your daughter taught how to cook if she cannot make use of her lessons in an emergency?"

So saying, Margot laughingly turned her mother out of the kitchen, and then set to work in dead earnest. Valuable time had been lost through Mrs. Shepherd's defections, and Margot needed all her wits to get things in good train, but her concentration could not shut out the deep disappointment at her heart. She knew she was getting hotter and hotter, and her hair, always difficult to keep in order, was beginning to break away from restraining hairpins; in wrestling with a refractory damper her hand was blackened, then inadvertently used to brush away a trailing wisp of hair. But at the time appointed everything was in readiness, and Margot impressed her final instructions on the willing Ann. "You're sure everyone's safely in the parlor? Then I'll rush upstairs and make my hair tidy, and wash my face and hands."

Without waiting to remove the unbecoming green overall, Margot slipped hurriedly into the hall, and at the same instant the drawing room door opened, and out stepped Walter French, who had come to fetch a paper for his host from his overcoat. For an instant Margot hesitated, but retreat was unavailing. Walter had seen her plainly, but he, too, seemed equally taken aback, and for the moment his presence of mind had deserted him. Margot felt the ugliness of her overall, the untidyness of her hair, and her smudged face, like a burning flame, under that look which she interpreted as shocked disapproval. Before Walter could speak, she turned and fled into the refuge of the kitchen.

She did not go into the dining room, but remained in the kitchen watching over the dinner until the last dish had been served. Then she stole out into the warm summer darkness of the garden, and in the shelter of the old summer house cried as though her heart was broken, as, indeed, she firmly believed it was. Here it was that her schoolboy brother, Jim, discovered her.

"I say, Margy, why don't you come in? They're all asking for you. The pater asked so many questions when you didn't come to dinner that the mater told us just what you'd done, and now everyone wants to congratulate you."

"I—I'm too tired," murmured Margot.

"Rats!" said Jim. "And, say, Margot, Walter French has been looking as glum as possible all the evening. Do come and cheer him up."

Poor Margot! This was the final straw. Her attempt at a dignified refusal was choked by an undignified sob. Jim whistled, then, being a sharp lad, he stole quietly away and sought out the young man who had seemed so disconsolate. The information he gave him brought out instant sunshine and a muttered: "Jim, you're a brick! I'll do the same for you some day, if I get the chance."

"Great Scott! No thanks," answered the ungallant Jim, but Walter was not there to hear.

Margot did not raise her head at the sound of footsteps, but said impatiently: "I'm not coming Jim, so there. Do go away."

"Please don't send me away, Margot," said a voice that made the girl start. "It's almost my last chance to ask you the question I've been trying to find courage to put ever since I first saw you. Margot, you weren't hiding from me on purpose, were you?"

"Yes," said Margot, her face raised, but invisible in the darkness. There was a moment's silence.

"I'm sorry," said Walter quietly, at last. "I beg your pardon, Miss Knowles—"

"How could I dare to face you again after you'd seen me in such a mess?" broke in Margot hurriedly, realizing how the young man had misunderstood her. "You know you were shocked. I could see you were, and—"

"Shocked at what?" cried Walter, bewildered.

"At my old overall, and untidy hair, and—well, everything. I know I was a fright, and I don't blame you for thinking so."

"Do you mean before dinner tonight? Why, Margot darling, you looked so lovely that you startled me for the moment. And as for the overall—well, it was just that that gave me courage to speak tonight. You see, Margot, I'm not a rich man and it seemed too selfish to ask a dainty little girl like you to share the roughness of my life out there. But when I saw you tonight in that delicious thingummybob, and looking so happy, too, it just seemed that, perhaps, after all, you'd be willing to—to come out with me. Was I quite too presumptuous, dear?"

He had come very close to her, and was trying to read her face, which she kept downcast.

"But, but you like girls to be dainty—and all that," murmured Margot faintly. "And I wasn't a bit, in that horrid green thing."

"Don't call it names, dear," said Walter gravely. "You're as sweet and dainty as a rose, darling, and all roses have a green sheath, you know. Sweetheart, won't you answer my question?"

And Margot obeyed by hiding her tear stained little face in the shoulder so close to her.

ILLITERATE MAN RAISES A CHECK

Confesses to Crime But Accuses Another of Actual Deed.

East Grand Forks, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The fact that he was unable to write, did not prove to be too great a barrier for Paul Wright, jailed for raising a check, according to his own confession. He declares that the fact that he could not write was responsible for bringing Harry Defenbaugh into the proposition, the latter being the one who actually did the check raising work. Both men were given their hearing yesterday afternoon and were held to the Polk grand jury for trial.

James Stevenson, arraigned yesterday for vagrancy, made a unique request to Judge Sullivan. He declared that a forty-year sentence in the state penitentiary at Stillwater would be welcome, but was disappointed at being turned lose with a mandate to "move on."

NORTH DAKOTANS FROM IOWA TO HAVE MEET.

Manning, N. D., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The North Dakota Association of Iowans will hold its second annual picnic near here Wednesday, Sept. 20, and elaborate preparations for the celebration are being made. The picnic was first scheduled for this week, but the heavy rains necessitated a postponement. A majority of the farmers in this section came here from Iowa and they organized this association last year.

SAYS ACCUSED SOLD SHORT WEIGHT COAL.

Dickinson, N. D., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—W. C. Cline who was arrested and later dismissed on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses was re-arrested shortly after his dismissal on complaint of Mrs. J. Brown. She alleges that she bought and paid for a load of coal sold to her by Cline who claimed that it weighed 2,760 pounds, when it weighed but 1,760 pounds. He was released on bonds and will have his hearing before Judge Folsom Saturday.

ATTORNEY COOLEY JOINS LAW COLLEGE FACULTY.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Attorney Roger M. Cooley, for fifteen years a member of the editorial staff of the West Publishing company and a lecturer in the University of Minnesota and the St. Paul colleges of law, was elected yesterday afternoon as a member of the North Dakota college of law faculty. The North Dakota faculty man is well known over the United States because of his lectures on briefing, which he has delivered in practically every law college in the country. He was admitted to practice in Minnesota in 1884 and has lived the major portion of that time in St. Paul.

Rain Hinders Thrashing.

Karlstad, Minn., Sept. 14.—Special to The Herald.)—A heavy rain with thunder and lightning fell Tuesday and Tuesday night throughout Kittson country putting a stop to thrashing operations again for a couple of days. The almost daily raining for the past ten days has been a great hindrance to thrashing.

DULUTH ATTORNEY IS SUCCESSFUL GARDENER.

A. E. McManus, attorney-at-law or agriculturist. Take your choice.

On a plot of ground, 35 by 35 feet, Mr. McManus this year raised garden truck that invertoried $200 at going market prices.

He says that if he extended his agricultural efforts over a greater acreage, he could keep up the proportion.

What Mr. McManus did for the fun of the thing, others can do for fun or profit on Duluth land. An addition of $200 to the year's income is not to be sneered at by many men and it is within the reach of anybody with 1,225 square feet of land.

EX-STATE SENATOR DIES.

R. M. Probstfield of Clay County Responds to Summons.

Moorhead, Minn., Sept. 14.—Former Senator R. M. Probstfield, the oldest settler in Clay county, died at his home in Oakport town, five miles north of this city, Monday afternoon. Death was caused by paralysis, from which Mr. Probstfield had been suffering for nearly a year.

He was born in Germany Nov. 9, 1832. He came to Red River valley in the spring of 1859, and was employed by the Hudson Bay company as a trader at the post at Georgetown. Later he took up the homestead where he has lived ever since. In 1890 he was elected to the state senate and served one term.

TEST CASE SUGGESTED

Advocates of Commission Plan Believe Action Should Be Brought.

Doubt Probability of Constitutional Amendment Being Adopted.

Although little has been heard of late of the commission form of government for Duluth, the issue is alive. At the general election next year, a constitutional amendment, removing all doubt as to the constitutionality of a commission form of government will be submitted to the voters.

Advocates of the commission plan have raised a question of the probability of the amendment being adopted with nothing to set before the people but the fact that it would remove a possible doubt as to the constitutionality of the plan under the constitution as it stands.

The bar to the adoption of a commission form of government at present is nothing but a doubt. Some of the best lawyers in the state are divided on the question. The members of the special committee of the Duluth charter commission, five lawyers, were divided, and the same situation prevails in other cities, notably in St. Paul.

Before the bill providing for the submission of a constitutional amendment was drafted, the Duluth commission contemplated the filing of a test case that would bring from the supreme court a decision as to the constitutionality of a commission form of government under the present provisions of the constitution. Advocates of the commission plan are of the opinion that the test case should be brought now, in order that a decision may be obtained from the supreme court before the election next year.

Amendments Meet Difficulties.

It is pointed out that great difficulty has been experienced in obtaining the adoption even of constitutional amendments in which there was great interest. The law provides that an amendment, for adoption, must have a majority of all votes cast at the election. Failure to vote amounts to a vote against the proposition, and thousands of voters, who have no interest in the subject, fail to express themselves on propositions submitted. The fact that seven propositions are to be submitted next year would further confuse matters and lessen the chances of the commission plan amendment being adopted.

In the absence of a decision from the supreme court on the powers of cities to adopt commission government under the constitution as it stands, it is claimed that the constitutional amendment could not be submitted, would not command the attention necessary for adoption. On the other hand, it is pointed out, if the supreme court should give an adverse decision to the commission plan, interest would be aroused through the situation in cities already working under the plan, and in cities contemplating the change from the old system of government, so that a campaign could be made, and the amendment would have a much better chance of passage.

A movement will be made by advocates of the commission plan in Duluth to bring the special committee of the charter commission together again for the purpose of bringing the test case previously contemplated. If a favorable decision should result, the fate of the constitutional amendment could have no effect.

Plan of Test Case.

The plan proposed for the test case was to have the charter commission meet and appropriate $500 for the drafting of a charter embodying the commission plan of government. Then any taxpayer could bring an action to restrain the commission from spending the amount appropriated. It would be a friendly action, entailing little expense and would improve the chances of an early adoption of commission government, regardless of the nature of the court's decision.

Mankato and two or three smaller cities are now working under the commission plan and their situation would be critical if the constitutional amendment should lose. The Duluth charter commission has its plans so arranged that if the constitutional amendment should be adopted, the new charter could be drafted for submission at the February election in 1913. However, if the constitutional amendment should be defeated, the plan could not be adopted until a test case could be brought, and not then, if the decision of the supreme court should be adverse to the plan. If the test case were brought now, the chances of the adoption of the amendment would be greatly improved and the submission of a new charter to Duluth voters hastened, in any event, if it is to be at all possible.

FLAX PROFIT PLACES MAN ON EASY STREET.

Devils Lake, N. D., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—New crop records will be established this year by C. K. Gkesdahl of Fancher township, who purchased a quarter section of land last spring, sowed a portion of it in flax, and who will harvest enough flax this fall to completely pay for the land, and in addition he will have a bank roll of about $2,000. The land yielded about fifty tons of hay as well as about 2,000 bushels of flax, the latter not yet thrashisg, and the net proceeds will total about $5,500.

HUBBARD COUNTY SPORT.

Chicken Shooting Reported Good in That Section.

Akeley, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Chickens are plentiful in Hubbard county this season. H. H. Becker and C. D. Carr, of this city, both excellent shots, armed with automatic shot guns, returned home with ninety-three birds. The nimrods also bagged a nice bunch of mallard ducks. Several of the beautiful Crow Wing chain of lakes are in Hubbard county and afford excellent shooting. The prairies and swamps on the shores of these lakes are fairly alive with prairie chickens. The nimrods are true sportsmen and not only respect and obey the fish and game laws themselves, but are co-operating with the game warden and his deputies in enforcing the laws. Big game is also plentiful north of this city at the head of the Crow Wing lakes. The timber is full of partridges.

MONTANA CARD GAME HAS MURDER ENDING.

Deer Lodge, Mont., Sept. 14.—M. McMillan, a stockman, was shot and instantly killed six miles north of Helmville on the road to Ovando, it is alleged, by Charles Hecker, aged 21 years. They had quarreled over money matters following a card game.

Hecker fled immediately after the shooting. Sheriff Neville is in pursuit, accompanied by County Attorney S. P. McMillan and Coroner Harry Peterson.

WORKING ON ITINERARY

Traffic Commission Arranging Schedule for Duluth Boosters' Train.

Many Towns Will Be Visited By Excursionists Oct. 3, 4 and 5.

H. A. Earnshaw and C. F. Rowe of the traffic commission of the Commercial club, G. Roy Hall, traffic commissioner, and officials of the railroads over which the boosters' excursion special will run in October, are working on the itinerary for the trip.

The time to be allowed at the different points must be carefully worked out and it will be a few days before the complete detailed itinerary can be announced.

The plan as outlined calls for a start from Duluth early Tuesday morning, Oct. 3. On the first day, stops will be made at Bayfield, Washburn, Odanah, Saxon, Wakefield, Ironwood, Bessemer, Hurley, Iron Belt, Upson and Mellen. The night will be spent at Mellen.

Leaving Mellen Wednesday, Oct. 4, the train will visit Glidden, Butternut, Park Falls, Fifield, Phillips, Prentice, Ogema, Westboro, Chelsea, Medford, Stetsonville Dorchester Abbotsford, Curtiss, Owen, Withee, Thorpe, Stanley, Boyd, Cadott, Chippewa Falls and Eau Claire the night to be spent at Eau Claire.

The itinerary for the third day's trip from Eau Claire to Duluth calls for stops at Eagle Point, Bloomer, New Auburn, Chetek, Cameron, Rice Lake, Haugen, Sarona, Spooner and Gordon.

Interest Is Aroused.

Great interest is being aroused in the trip and present prospects are that the Soo line excursion, which was successful in every way, will be eclipsed. The benefits obtained for Duluth and for the houses represented on the Soo line trip were manifold and many Duluth firms have awakened to the opportunity they passed up in not being represented. The next trip will see almost every firm which participated in the Soo line excursion represented again, as well as many more.

The wholesalers' committee has profited by the experience of the last trip. New features will be introduced to make an impression at the towns visited. Substantial souvenirs of the trip and advertising matter for Duluth will be distributed. The Third Regiment band will again accompany the excursionists and will undoubtedly repeat the success it made on the last trip.

Maj Eva, secretary of the Commercial club, is receiving the signatures of firms which will be represented on the coming excursion. In addition to the business houses, it is expected that different civic and commercial organizations will be represented, to do general boosting for Duluth.

PLEDGE SUPPORT TO THE PRESIDENT

New England Business Men Carry Messages of Cheer to Taft.

Beverly, Hass., Sept. 14.—"Godspeed" and the support of business New England, were the messages of cheer carried to President Taft yesterday by Herbert N. Davison of Worcester, Mass., president of the New England Association of Commercial Education, and eight members of that association who motored to Parametta to say goodby to the chief executive before he starts West.

"As you go out from among us on your long and arduous tour," said Mr. Davison, "we want you to go with the Godspeed of New England ringing in your ears. Other sections may waver but we will not. You are president and as such are entitled to our sympathy, our loyalty and our unfaltering trust. And you have this in abundant measure."

The pledge of support to the president was as plain and hearty as the Godspeed. Mr. Davison approved the president's course on reciprocity; his policy of conservation and his determination that the tariff shall only be revised, if he is responsible, when a non-partisan body of men shall have reported that reductions are warranted.

FIND VIDEAN'S BODY.

Corpse of Mankato Man Taken From Sandy Lake.

Bemidji, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The body of George Videan, who was drowned in Sandy lake, about ten miles west of Tenstrike, has been recovered.

At first it was supposed that he had been shot with a rifle which he had carried with him in the boat, but on the discovery of the body there was no such evidence.

He lost his life Sept. 3 and since then many persons have dragged the lake and used heavy charges of dynamite but without success.

George Videan came here in June from Mankato and was employed by W. H. Rice. He was 38 years old and leaves a wife and little daughter.

QUIET AND PEACEFUL

Chinese Sailors, on Shore Leave in New York, See Sights.

Fifteen Chinese College Students Come to See Cruiser Hai Chi.

New York, Sept. 14.—"Chinese sailors ashore drink little or not at all, and we have practically no trouble about men overstaying shore leave. They are quiet and peaceful and rarely get into trouble."

Lieut. C. Y. Tsen of the Chinese cruiser, Hai Chi, now anchored in the Hudson, thus praised her men today as he sipped tea in the wardroom. More than 100 Celestial sailors had shore leave yesterday, but the lieutenant's remarks indicated that New York had not proved their undoing, as it has to many an American Jackie.

Shorn of their queues and dressed very much like Yankee tars, the sailors wandered about the city, gazing curiously at everything, yet undisturbed by traffic's roar or whizzing motor cars. Many abandoned a general sightseeing tour for a more intimate inspection of New York's Chinatown. Three squads went to the theater to see an American play.

Of the more than 500 visitors to the cruiser yesterday, fifteen were Chinese college students, several of whom had come from out of town to view with pride the first fighting craft from their native land ever sent to this country. These young men, well bred, and dressed like American college youths, were entertained in the wardroom. A Cornell graduate, now taking post-graduate work at Harvard, was prominent among the visiting students. There were more than ten others from Columbia and an undergraduate from Syracuse university.

Pictures in the Dark.

Here's a clever trick for your company. Draw a picture on a piece of paper, using sulphate of quinine in making the outline. Expose the paper to the sun for a few minutes, then in a dim light lay the paper face down on a piece of sensitive paper such as you print pictures on. Place the two between the leaves of a book. Leave them there a few hours and take out. Any design can be copied this way, or you may trace a print picture and do the same. But there is no way to copy golden grain belt beers, unique and perfect. Buy of your dealer or duluth branch minneapolis brewing company.

REPLIES TO CRITICISM

Secretary of Associated Charities Explains Case of Blind Prisoner.

To the Editor of The Herald:

My attention has been called to an anonymous criticism of the action of myself and the chief of police in dealing with the blind couple who, with their two little children, were given an opportunity to leave town yesterday. In the first place, there are four misstatements of the facts which it would be well to correct.

1. It is stated that "nothing was done for these people except to drive them out of town." As a matter of fact the man was assured that if they would settle down somewhere so that the children could be properly cared for, the Associated Charities would be glad to see that they were looked after. This he positively refused to do. The chief of police also said that he would give them a permit to sell papers or anything else, if they would stop begging. They have not yet applied for such a permit.

2. The statement reads that the man was arrested "while playing the violin." He did not even have a violin o rany other musical instrument with him.

3. It is stated that "many men in the crowd jeered and hooted." There was not a single hoot or jeer audible to either Chief Troyer or myself, and I do not believe that any responsible citizen who is willing to give his name will make such a statement.

4. It is stated that "the two were arraigned in municipal court." As a matter of fact only the man was arrested and arraigned, and that after he had three times refused to stop begging. Instead of "ordering" them to leave the city, Judge Windom suspended sentence on condition that they would stop begging. Judge Windom went very carefully into the case and was governed by motives of humanity, as well as by the necessity of enforcing the law, in ordering the man to stop begging.

The real and vital point of the whole affair, however, is missed by the critic who wisely withholds his name. Two little tots, 5 and 7 years old, are, at the most impressionable period of their lives, not only being denied a proper education and home training, but are being debased and demoralized by seeing their parents make a public spectacle of themselves in cities and towns over the country. They necessarily come into contact with all kinds of evil influences, and it was mainly to prevent such a state of affairs that the help of the Associated Charities was offered their parents if they would settle down.

SUIT AGAINST HOTEL COMPANY

Laura Kavander Blames Concern for Fall Taken While Shaking Mats.

Laura Kavander, through an action started when the complaint was filed this morning with the clerk of the district court, asks $20,000 from the Lenox Hotel company for injuries alleged to have been received while in the employ of the company as kitchen girl.

In her complaint she states that on one of the floors at the end of a hall is a door under which there are no steps. This door, she claims, is used to shake mats and carpets through. The board, which was nailed across the door to keep employes from falling out, she claims, was loose and when she leaned against it, it gave way and she fell to the ground many feet below.

She claims she suffered fractures and other injuries as the result.

WILL RENEW CAMPAIGN

$500,000 Fund to Aid Manufacturers Will Be Completed.

Half of Desired Sum Already Available—Going After Balance.

Now that the vacation season has passed and business men are settled down for the fall season, the members of the manufacturers' committee of the Commercial club are preparing to work toward the completion of the $500,000 manufacturers' aid fund, which was started last spring.

"We will renew our efforts within the next two or three weeks and we expect to complete the fund then," said J. A. McGiffert, chairman of the manufacturers' committee, this morning.

In a comparatively short time last spring, the committee obtained pledges of about $250,000. It is believed that the $500,000 desired can be obtained without great effort, as Duluth business men are interested in the plan and are anxious to see it in operation.

The fund is to be used along the line of the Williamsport plan. It is not intended to finance the manufacture of unproved investments, but to aid worthy industrial enterprises, which have some capital, but need aid for development.

The administration of the fund will be surrounded by precautions for the protection of subscribers to the fund. Arrangements will be made so that the fund will be a backing for the notes of manufacturers obtaining the aid and the banks will advance the funds desired on the notes. No notes amounting to more than $25,000 will be guaranteed for any one enterprise, and no subscriber will be liable for more than his proportionate share of any loss.

The plan has been in operation in Williamsport, Pa., and other cities for some years and the proportion of loss has been very small. The attractions to good manufacturing enterprises have been such that the cities which have adopted the plan have had a good growth in manufacturing and the same results are expected to be obtained by the operation of the plan in Duluth.

RECIPROCITY FOR THE CONSULAR OFFICERS.

Washington, Sept. 14.—The principle of reciprocity is to be extended to the long standing problem of assessing duties upon the effects of home-coming consular officers and foreign consular officers.

A new regulation, soon to become effective, will admit free of duty the effects of consular officers of foreign governments which extend the same courtesy to the consular officers of the United States. Hereafter the question will be treated as a reciprocal one.

Declare For La Follette.

Huron, S. D., Sept. 14.—At a mass meeting of Progressive Republicans here Wednesday night, resolutions were passed favoring the selection of a delegation to the Republican national convention that will stand for the nomination of Senator La Follette for president.

FOUR PERSONS KILLED AND MANY INJURED.

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 14.—Four persons were killed and more than a score injured in the wreck of a Pittsburg & Lake Erie work train on the Belt Line here last night. The dead and injured are foreigners, laborers, who were riding on a flatcar bound for their homes, when the engine and four cars jumped the track and overturned. The train crew, except the fireman, who was injured, escaped.

NEW PAST COMMANDER OF MODERN MACCABEES.

Port Huron, Mich., Sept. 14.—John M. McIlwain of this city was yesterday elected past commander of the Knights of the Modern Maccabees to succeed the late Maj. N. S. Boynton, who founded the order. The question of an increase in rates has been referred to the executive committee and a report will probably be made before the end of the present camp review.

JUDGE USES SIGNS TO QUESTION DEAF MUTE.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—John H. Geary, deaf and dumb, was suing on a breach of contract in the municipal court yesterday. No translator of his sign language was present, and his attorneys were in despair for a means of questioning him.

"What is it you want to ask him?" asked Judge Scully.

The question was told, the judge lifted his hands, and moved his fingers rapidly before the mute. Geary followed with an equally bewildering movement. The question had been asked and answered.

"I learned to do that when I was 12 years old," said the judge, "but never had to use it on the bench before."

Milwaukeean Murdered.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 14.—William A. Klann, aged 23, an asbestos worker, was shot and killed last night by William M. Nichols, 28, during a quarrel in front of Nichols' residence. Nichols was arrested.

CATARRH OF BLADDER AND KIDNEYS A FREQUENT AND DREADED DISEASE

Pres. Newhof Promptly Relieved by Pe-ru-na.

C. B. Newhof, 10 Delaware street, Albany, N. Y., president Montefiore club, writes:

"Since my advanced age I find that I have been frequently troubled with urinary ailments.

"The bladder seemed irritted, and my physician said that it was catarrh caused by a protracted cold which would be difficult to overcome on account of my advanced years.

"I took Peruna, hardly daring to believe that I would be helped, but I found to my relief that I soon began to mend.

"The irritation gradually subsided and the urinary difficulties passed away.

"I have enjoyed excellent health now for the past seven months.

"I enjoy my meals, sleep soundly, and am as well as I was twenty years ago. I give all praise to Peruna."

Liver and Kidney Trouble.

Mr. George Forrester, 2747 Mascher street, Philadelphia, Pa., writes: "We have great faith in Peruna.

"My wife's condition was such that she thought she would die, as the doctors could not help her dyspepsia and catarrh of the stomach. Now she can eat anything. We keep Peruna in the house all the time, but it is only once in a while that she needs to use it.

"I was subject to liver and kidney trouble, which resulted in rheumatic pains, but I have not had a pain since I took Peruna, and very little liver trouble, as Peruna keeps the digestive organs in good working order, and that is the main thing."

PRES. C. B. NEWHOF.

Pe-ru-na Contains no Narcotics.

One reason why Peruna has found permanent use in so many homes is that it contains no narcotics of any kind. Peruna is perfectly harmless. It can be used any length of time without acquiring a drug habit. Peruna is permanent in its effect, and is a household friend in more than a million homes.

ON THE IRON RANGES

TANKO SEEKS HIS RELEASE

Claims Killing for Which He Is Doing Time Was Accident.

Writes Powerful Plea to Pardon Board Urging His Freedom.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—A graphic description of how he killed an Italian whose name he does not know and a powerful plea for release are included in a letter which has just come to Archie M. Hayes, executive clerk to Governor Eberhart, from John Tanko, an Austrian serving a life sentence at Stillwater. Tanko killed a man named "George," near Chisholm, the night of Sunday, Feb. 7, 1903. Since his confinement, one of his hands was caught in some machinery and crushed off. Tanko says he has a wife and child in his fatherland and although 42 years old, his mother is still living.

The night he is said to have killed the Italian, he went to a house near Chisholm, where a party was being held. As he stepped in the door a man struck him. Wishing to avoid trouble, he says, he left, and went out into the woods. He told of taking a gun and starting to the home of his brother-in-law, and of hearing while on the way, some person shooting in the distance. Presently, he said, the man who had fired the shots, came near.

"I saw," he says in his letter to the pardon board, "it was George, the man who hit me in the Italian house. He was without coat and hat, and he swore and cursed. Fearing trouble, I turned and ran with all my might, and he after me. When we came to some houses where the road turns, he tried to cut me off by running around the buildings, but I was still a few paces ahead of him. Finally being out of breath, I had to stop. He came up. I begged him to leave me alone.

"'What do you want? Please let me alone!' I pleaded.

Gun Went Off Accidentally.

"But with a 'D——n your soul!' he jumped on me, grasped my gun and tried to pull it out of my hands. Suddenly it went off. I let go at once, and turned and fled. After a while I looked back to see if he followed.

"He was not to be seen. Then I remembered the shot. I did not know what to do—whether to go back to see if he hurt himself, or to continue on my way. I was afraid to go back so I went on. It was one of the coldest nights in February.

"At 3:30 in the morning, two policemen with two Italians came and got me. They took me to Chisholm then to Duluth, where I was tried.

"There was not a living soul who saw the whole affair. We (I and George), were entirely alone, out in the road."

Then comes the plea for pardon, coupled with some rather remarkable protestations of innocence.

"Found guilty of murder," Tanko writes, "I am innocent of such a crime, as surely as there is a God who sees my innocence. For eight long years I have prayed for justice, hoped for mercy. With me are praying and hoping, my dear ones who are thousands of miles away. O gentlemen, have pity, gentlemen. Be merciful and just to a lonely, helpless man who has suffered so long. Hear the prayers of my mother, who wishes to see her son. Hear a forsaken, lonely wife who needs her husband. Hear an innocent child that is crying for father. I am 42 years old—have given some of my best years to the state, and my right hand, without resentment. In the name of human and divine justice, remit my sentence, give me back my freedom, give back her son to an old mother, her husband to my wife, and father to my child."

The letter is carefully written in legible writing. Mr. Hayes will present it to the pardon board when it meets in October.

BELIEVES NIE INNOCENT MAN

Trapper McSweeney Does Not Believe Accused Fired Wood's Property.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Abraham Nie, accused by popular suspicion of setting fire to the residence and barn of George Wood at Alice the night of Aug. 30 last, has a champion and defender in the person of Edmund McSweeney, the well-known trapper and woodsman, who distinguished himself by finding Miss Alice Graff last June when the young woman was lost in the woods near Bengal.

"Ab Nie is not the kind of a man who would cut a horse's throat or set fire to any man's house," declared McSweeney. The old trapper had just come in from the woods and had learned for the first time of the burning of the Wood's house two weeks ago. "I have known Ab Nie for a good many years," said McSweeney, "and while he is queer and has had many troubles, he is not the man to do any such dirty trick. I suppose he is hiding in the woods because he is scared to death by all this clamor against him."

McSweeney declares that Nie has for many years disappeared now and then for weeks at a time and that possibly his present disappearance is but one of his irregular wanderings away from home. McSweeney is firmly of the opinion that Nie had nothing to do with burning the Wood home.

No trace whatever has been discovered of Nie since the night of Aug. 30, when the fire occurred.

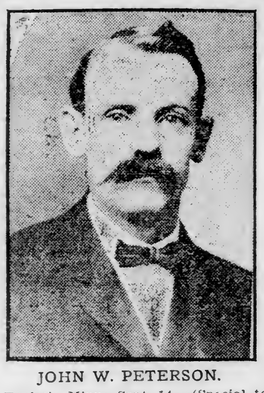

How to Make a Real Wrinkle Remover

(From Fashion Reporter)

In these days of cleverly advertised "beautifiers" of 57 varieites and more, it is hard for any woman to believe that she can make a simple home remedy which will do her much more good, and cost her much less than the average made preparation. Take the subject of wrinkles, for instance. There is nothing in the world so effective for removing or preventing wrinkles, baggy cheeks and double chins, as a solution of saxolite and witch hazel.

Get an ounce of pure powdered saxolite from any durg store, dissolve the full ounce in a half pint of witch hazel and use the mixture daily as a refreshing lotion. The quick and satisfactory results will surprise you. Even after the very first application there is a marked improvement. The wrinkles are less in evidence and the face has a firm, "solid" feeling that is very comforting.

ANOTHER IS SEEKING EVELETH JUDGESHIP

JOHN W. PETERSON.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Attorney John W. Peterson, who has been connected with the law firm of McGilvray & Peterson for the past four years, has announced his candidacy for the municipal judgeship. He was born on a farm near Montevidio, Minn., where he received his high school education and also acted as assistant postmaster for three years. In 1907 he graduated from the law department of the state university. He is a member of three local fraternal orders.

George A. Perham, former editor of the News, has announced his candidacy for alderman of the Fifth ward, now held by Alderman Gust Kauppl, who it is expected will be a candidate for re-election. Sam Romatello may oppose Mr. Perham at the polls.

I. Grange, a veteran railroad man plans to make the race for the Sixth ward aldermanship, while Thomas Trengrove is mentioned as a candidate for the Fourth ward aldermanship, now held by Alderman Dr. Edward K. Medinar, who is a candidate for the city treasurership.

BONACCI'S SLAYER GIVEN LIFE TERM

Carmine Sacco, Who Killed Man in Virginia, Gets Limit for Crime.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Just before district court adjourned yesterday afternoon, Carmine Sacco, who was found guilty of murder in the first degree for killing Caesar Bonacci at a local boarding house, following a card game, was brought before Judge Hughes and sentenced to the state prison at Stillwater for life. He will be taken to the penitentiary in a few days.

In the case of Joseph Absetz, vs. Ole Saline, the Gilbert policeman, in which the plaintiff sued to recover $1,050 damages for alleged false imprisonment, the jury yesterday afternoon brought in a verdict for the defendant.

Damage Suit Still On.

It is expected that the damage action of Maki, vs. the Bangor Mining company, in which the plaintiff sues for $30,450 damages for personal injuries alleged to have been sustained through falling down a shaft in the Bangor mine thirty-five feet, May 21, 1910, will continue for several days.

The case of Alex Kellar, vs. Cohen, in which the plaintiff sues for an accounting, was taken up Wednesday afternoon before Judge Hughes.

EVELETH YOUTH HAS HARD TIME

Goes Broke in New York, Then Confesses Stealing $3.

New York, Sept. 14.—Through years of hard work at small pay in the mining town of Eveleth, Minn., young Charles Schick cherished the Western boy's invariable dream of one day coming to New York. When at last he thought he had enough money he came here.

That was about a month ago. He put his small savings in a bank and set out to look for work. But he found none. He drew his money from the bank, a dollar at a time. He made new retrenchments each day to make the fund last. But the slow drain finally did away with it all. All last Saturday he went hungry. It was the same on Sunday. Yesterday he spied in a man's side pocket the top of a leather wallet. He took the wallet and found three $1 bills. Instantly his mind was in a turmoil. "Your a thief! You're a thief!"

About 10 o'clock Lieutenant Brabe, on the desk at the detective bureau, saw a haggered-faced youth rush through the door.

"I've stolen money," he said, in a sharp, choking voice. "I want to give myself up."

He laid his booty on the desk and was sent to a cell.

NEW YORKER CALLED.

J. J. Snyder of Oswego Dies at Grand Rapids.

Grand Rapids. Min.. Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—J. J. Snyder, 71 years old, died Monday evening at the home of his son, H. J. Snyder, of old age. Mr. Snyder was born in Oswego county, N. Y., and lived in this section until three months ago when he came to Grand Rapids, hoping to improve his health.

Mr. Snyder leaves his wife, two sons, H. J. Snyder of this city and J. A. Snyder of Watertown, S. D., and three daughters, Mrs. Wm. Pitcher of Blue Earth, Mrs. Charles Pitcher of Olivia, and Mrs. Gertrude Davis of Grayling.

The funeral will be held this afternoon at 2:30 from the M. E. church, Rev. J. J. Parish will officiate.

ANOTHER ACCUSED IS UNDER ARREST

Third Man Wanted for Holman Murder Has Been Taken.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The third man wanted in connection with the murder of Antoni Skorich, near Holman, June 19 last, is here in the county jail. He is Eli Yerkovich and he was arrested by Sheriff T. T. Riley at Stanley, N. D. Steve Milkovich, also believed to have been implicated in the crime, was arrested the day following the killing while Kuzman Sorich, also accused, was caught at Niagara Falls, N. Y., where he was working in a paper mill.

The three are alleged to have slain Antoni Skorich after trying to hold up the deceased and his brother as the two were going from Taconite to Holman after cashing their checks.

Betrayed by Remark.

Yerkovich's whereabouts remained a mystery until last Saturday when an Austrian, employed at the Holman pit, who recently came from North Dakota, made the remark, ignorant of the fact Yerkovich had committed any crime, that he had seen him near Minot, employed with a railway construction crew. Friends of the murdered man, hearing of this, communicated with the sheriff, who set out at once for Minot. On his arrival at Grand Forks he learned the crew had been shifted to Powers Lake, an inland town, forty miles from Stanley, the present end of the line. This was 400 miles further than he had anticipated going, but he promptly got into communication with the sheriff at Williston and the two secured a buckboard and drove the forty miles out to the camps. When they arrived it was learned that trouble was anticipated, but this did not deter Sheriff Riley, and he walked in unarmed and secured his man without a fight. As Yerkovich made no fight about being taken out of the state, extradition papers were not necessary. His case will come up at the October term of court.

Sorich and Milkovich both claim Yerkovich did the shooting and stated they attempted to restrain him, but could not get to him in time to destroy his aim.

ENROLLMENT IS SHOWING GAIN

More Pupils Are Being Taken Into Schools of Virginia.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The enrollment of the public schools continue to increase. Last week 110 were enrolled at the Northside school and this week the enrollment has increased to 136, the first grade room having seventy-nine and the second grade room fifty-seven Pupils in grades above the second go to schools on the Southside.

Although the Northside addition is only three years old there are enough school children residing in that part of the city to fill eight rooms if the pupils of the eight grades attended. The school board is pushing matters with the view of getting started on a new eight-room brick building this fall, if possible.

Teachers Entertained.

The teachers of the public schools were tendered a reception at the parlors of the First Presbyterian church Tuesday night by the Ladies' Aid society and the Young Men's Bible class. About eighty teachers were present. Rev. and Mrs. H. E. Neff and Supt. and Mrs. Lafayette Bliss acted as a reception committee.

ITASCA COUNTY AT STATE FAIR

Both County and Individual Exhibits Attracted Much Attention.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Visitors at the state fair report that Itasca county attracted a great deal of attention at the fair, aside from faring very well in the exhibits which were made both by the county agricultural association and by individuals. The county exhibit stood fifth in the northern division, receiving 875 points out of a possible 1,200, 800 points being required to score.

U. C. Gravelle, who went down with a carload of produce for individual exhibit, returned well pleased with what he received. Mr. Gravelle received seven prizes for potatoes out of eight exhibits, the limit allowed by the rules of the state fair. Of the seven prizes, one was a first, four were seconds and two were thirds. He received fourth prize for the best collection of onions, and would doubtless have fared better in that line if the fair had not been held so early in the season. Aside from this, Mr. Gravelle also received first and second for clover in the sheaf, and second and fourth for thrashed rye.

Careless Treatment Ruins Complexion

(From Woman's National Journal.)

Wrinkles and other telltale marks of advancing or premature age, are frequently caused through the excessive use of powders and cosmetics, which clog pores and cause the surface skin to grow sallow and lifeless. "Crow's feet," wrinkles and other complexion faults can be made to vanish quickly, by massaging a plain mayatone lotion into the skin until it disappears.

To make the lotion, dissolve a small original package of mayatone in a half-pint of witch-hazel and it is ready. Using this gradually removes wrinkles and blemishes and leaves the skin soft, smooth and exquisitely beautiful. The mayatone lotion is splendid for removing pore obstructions, and pimples, as well as to discourage hairy growths.

WOULD CURB BREWERIES

Hibbing Commercial Club Desires Brewery Control of Saloons Stopped.

Unanimously Favor Ordinance Along Line of East Grand Forks, Minn.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—A well attended meeting of the commercial club was held last evening at the city hall at which there was a lively discussion of the question of the annexation of the village of Alice, and also of the matter of "brewery domination" of local saloons.

No action whatever was taken by the club upon the matter of the annexation of Alice, but it was unanimously resolved that the village council be recommended to adopt an ordinance similar to that now in effect in East Grand Forks, by which only the actual lessor or owner of a building or saloon property may acquire a license to sell liquor.

Secretary Lewis read a copy of the East Grand Forks ordinance, the intended effect of the ordinance being to prevent breweries from dictating in any way to those who lease buildings from them as to what kinds of beer or other liquors shall be sold on the premises, from setting any standard price at which liquors or beer must be purchased or from making any other conditions or restrictions whatever except the usual and customary restrictions as to the amount of rent to be paid and the time for which the lease is to run.

Denounce Brewery Ownership.

Various speakers denounced the manner in which the breweries control the saloon business in Hibbing. It was declared that a large majority of Hibbing's sixty-four saloons are absolutely controlled by the breweries, that the breweries have either purchased outright or leased at excessive high rentals a large proportion of the desirable business locations of Hibbing, that the breweries neglect and refuse to make needed improvements upon these properties, that the breweries release these proprties to saloon keepers upon terms which do not permit the saloon keeper to sell his own property except with the consent of the brewery, or to buy or sell any brand of beer except that named by the brewery, and that by these methods the brewery is enabled to collect a charge of $8 per keg for beer delivered upon the streets of Hibbing while it is delivering beer to the blind pigs in the locations for $5 or $6 per keg.

The ordinance recommended by the Commercial club and now in force at East Grand Forks is said to completely do away with these evils and to make the saloonkeeper, and consequently the town, completely free of brewery influence.

Annexation of Alice Discussed.

The Commercial club took no action upon the matter of the annexation of Alice to Hibbing, but the proposition brought out a very lively discussion. Mayor Wederick explained that the matter had merely been suggested to the village council and had been discussed by the members of he council in an informal way. He called attention to the fact that the annexation of Alice involved several very large questions which could not be quickly or lightly settled, much as the advisability of a central water and power plant for the two towns, the possibility that Hibbing may at some time in the not distant future need to move its plant from its present location, the inability of the village of Hibbing to give the village of Alice any definite guarantee as to what would be done in case of fire, etc. He also intimated that the present village of Hibbing is decidely opposed to any annexation at the present time.

Victor L. Power, village attorney of Alice, said that it was unfair to Alice to discuss the matter at all at the present time, inasmuch as the people of Alice have not asked for annexation and do not desire it, are in fact opposed to it. Mr. Power intimated that the whole matter was manufactured by the newspapers as a space filler. He also declared that annexation is legally impossible under the present conditions.

D. T. Collins took issue with Mr. Power as to whether annexation is desired by the people of Alice, but declared that irrespective of that question, annexation in time is inevitable inasmuch as Hibbing is being gradually crowded from its present location and those who now live in Hibbing must eventually be compelled to find homes elsewhere near at hand.

Incinerating Plant.

Upon motion of A. P. Silliman, the club recommended to the village council the purchase and installation of a modern incinerating plant for the disposition of the garbage of the village. The present garbage grounds south of doned owing to the complaints of the people of the village of Alice.

Delegates to Country Club.

President McFachin announced the appointment of A. P. Silliman, Robert Stratton and P. J. Ryan as delegates from the club to the County club meeting at Aurora.

MANY TOPICS TO BE CONSIDERED

Eveleth Commercial Club Has Important Themes to Wrestle With.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The tax levy, cemetery, public library, public market place and armory matters will be among the many important subjects considered at the meeting of the Commercial club at the city hall this evening. Many of the club members are in favor of a liberal levy for next year and the city council will very likely be urged to appropriate over $200,000 for city work.

WORKING FOR THOMPSON.

Municipal Ownership Advocates Boom Virginia Candidate.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—An enthusiastic meeting of municipal ownership advocates was held at North Pole hall last night in the interest of the candidacy of A. N. Thompson for alderman of the Fourth ward, at the election Sept. 26. There were several addresses, A. N. Thompson, F. L. Whiting, M. A. Murphy, R. J. Montague and others speaking. About sixty voters were present.

Spina Saloon Burned.

Spina, Minn., Sept. 14.—Fire believed to be of incendiary origin Tuesday destroyed the saloon building of Charles Hennessy with most of its contents. The building was formerly occupied by D. Doherty, who turned the place over to Hennessy at the expiration of his license. The loss is estimated at about $1,000.

TO START BRANCH OF NIGHT SCHOOL

Popularity of Hibbing Institution Makes Innovation Necessary.

Hibbing, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Hibbing will install the first branch night school upon the iron ranges, as the school board last night authorized Supt. Blair to provide for a night school at once at Stevenson.

The night school at Hibbing, which opened Monday evening, has an enrollment of considerably more than 200, over four times the opening enrollment of last year and the year before.

The board last night also authorized Supt. Blair to investigate the number of pupils of high school age in the district who are not attending the high school with a view of determining the necessity for furnishing transportation for such pupils from different parts of the district to the high school.

The building committee was authorized to investigate the need of additional room at the teacher's college at Little Swan and to take whatever action they found necessary. The usual monthly grist of bills was allowed.

KNOWN IN VIRGINIA.

Walter Baldwin, Who Killed Himself, Once Lived There.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The account in Wednesday's Herald of the suicide near Stillwater of Walter Baldwin was read with much interest here, as for a year or two he was manager of Tredway's drug store.

He was 42 years old and leaves a wife and two children. While here he was prominent in the First Presbyterian church. Ill health is assigned as the cause leading to his taking his own life. He was quite popular during his two years' residence in this city.

ORDERED OUT OF CITY.

Alleged Woman Imposter Made to Leave Eveleth.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 24.—(Special to The Herald.)—A woman posing as the representative of a Milwaukee church, which was supporting a home for orphans and aged people, was ordered out of town by the police as it was believed she was an imposter. While here she called on Rev. B. D. Hanscom of the Methodist Episcopal church for a contribution, and following her departure the pastor got in touch with proper authorities who informed him that no such an institution as the woman claimed to represent existed in Milwaukee. It is believed she left for Biwabik and the authorities there were notified.

How to Remove a Bad Complexion

(From London Fashions)

Cosmetics can never really help a poor complexion; often they are positively harmful. The sensible, rational way is to actually remove the thin veil of stifling, half-dead scarf skin from the face and give the fresh, vigorous and beautiful young skin underneath a chance to show itself and to breathe.

This is best done in a very simple way, by merely applying mercolized wax at night, like cold cream, and washing it off in the morning. Good mercolized wax can be obtained from any well stocked druggist. It absorbs the disfiguring cuticle gradually and harmlessly, leaving a brilliant natual complexion. Of course this also takes with it all such facial blemishes as red blotches, tan, moth patches, sallowness, liver spots, pimples, etc. As a freckle remover and general complexion beautifier this old-fashioned remedy is unequaled.

LUNATIC ENDS LIFE IN WATER

Breaks Away From Officials and Drowns Self in Buckeye Lake.

Grand Rapids, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—S. Trazetta, a brother of the chief mechanic of the Canisteo mining district of the Oliver Iron Mining company, committed suicide by drowning in Buckeye lake Tuesday night. He was being brought here by Deputy Sheriff Carson of Grand Rapids and Deputy Sheriff Woods of Bovey to be returned to the asylum at Fergus Falls, where he was formerly an inmate, when he broke away from the officers and threw himself into the lake.

The first time he plunged into the lake he was dragged out by one of the officers, but he got away and threw himself in again, succeeding that time in drowning.

VICTIM OF PNEUMONIA.

Machinist Dies as Sister Inherits Big Fortune.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The body of J. M. Barnes, aged 50, a machinist of the Virginia & Rainy Lake Lumber company, who died at Cusson, sixty miles north of here Tuesday of pneumonia, was brought to an undertaker here and will be held awaiting word from relatives residing in Gage, N. Y. A son and other relatives of the deceased reside in New York state. A letter in the pocket of the deceased stated that a sister had just fallen heir to a fortune of about $200,000. Barnes had $13 coming from the lumber company when illness incapacitated him.

FALLS TO HIS DEATH IN ALPENA SHAFT.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Moses Novickovich, aged 30 years, was instantly killed by falling over thirty feet down an old shaft at the Alpena mine last night. The deceased leaves a wife, who resides in this city on the north side.

To Reopen Eveleth Theater.

Eveleth, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The remodeled Bijou theater will reopen Monday evening with vaudeville, under the management of W. H. Pickering formerly of Duluth. The scenery painted by A. B. Wegener, the Duluth scenic artist, is now being installed as are the many new seats.

Sexton Has Good Garden.

Virginia, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—A. H. Braa, sexton of the Greenwood cemetery, also does some gardening, and has on display in the window of the undertaking parlors of Gillespie & Fleury several cucumbers and some canteloupes which he raised in his garden just outside the city. Some of the cucumbers are two feet long and they are said to be of unusually delicious taste, while the canteloupes are of average size.

CORNER SEEN IN SUGAR ADVANCE

With Supply Greater, Price Is the Highest in Many Years.

New York, Sept. 14.—With 225,000 tons raw sugar now afloat on its way to this country from Hawaii and Java, with more sugar in sight in the world than there was at this time last year, even taking into account a promised shortage in the crop, due to drouth, in the best sugar districts of Germany, Arbuckle and American and European sugar refiners have a corner on the sugar market and have jumped the price from 4.60 cents per pound—the low mark last February—to 7 cents today, with every prospect that it will go higher. The advance is purely due, big sugar brokers say, to speculation, and there is no legitimate reason why sugar should be any higher now than it was last February.

The price of 7 cents today is the highest in twenty-two years. The German beet sugar situation is regarded as the foundation for the speculation, as reports of immense injury to the crop there have helped along the condition which now exists.

Just at the present moment the Arbuckle company holds the whip hand, and is demanding 7 cents per pound, while the American Sugar Refining company is filling orders at 6.75, a peculiar combination of circumstances, which is partly responsible for the situation.

In June last the Arbuckle refinery in Brooklyn was destroyed by fire, and the Arbuckle trade, unable to get its supply from that concern, turned to the American, and that concern was swamped with orders. It used its immense supply of cheap, raw sugar in supplying Arbuckle trade.

The advance in price started Feb. 15 last, when the low-water mark was 4.60 cents.

June 1 there was a general advance to 5 cents. June 25, following the Arbuckle fire, that company advanced the price to 5.10 cents. August 9 it was 5.65 cents, and on that date the American Sugar Refining company was booking orders for three weeks' delivery at 5.75 cents.

Since Aug. 9 the price has moved up almost daily. About Sept. 25 the first of the Hawaiian shipments will begin to arrive, and within the next month the entire shipments from Hawaii and Java will be dumped into three big Atlantic ports—New York, Philadelphia and Boston.

MINNESOTA METHODISTS TO SCORE SECRETARY WILSON.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Strong resolutions of censure and protest against the action of Secretary of Agriculture James Wilson in accepting the honorary presidency of the Brewers' congress which convenes in Chicago in October, will be introduced at the meeting of the Methodist Ministers' association here next Monday.

Plans already are being made to take up the question at the Southern Minnesota Methodist Episcopal conference to be held in Faribault Sept. 27.

Two night letters protesting against Mr. Wilson's action have been sent to President Taft from Methodists in Minneapolis.

HERE IS A REAL DYSPEPSIA CURE

No Indigestion, Gas, Sourness or Headache Five Minutes Later.

The question as to how long you are going to continue a sufferer from Indigestion, Dyspepsia or out-of-order Stomach is merely a matter of how soon you begin taking some Diapepsin.

If your Stomach is lacking in digestive power, why not help the stomach to do its work, not with drastic drugs, but a re-enforcement of digestive agents, such as are naturally at work in the stomach.

People with weak Stomachs should take a little Diapepsin occasionally, and there will be no more Indigestion, no feeling like a lump of lead in the stomach, no heartburn, Sour risings, Gas on Stomach or Belching of undigested food, Headaches, Dizziness or Sick Stomach, and, besides, what you eat will not ferment and poison your breath with nauseous odors. All these symptoms resulting from a sour, out-of-order stomach and dyspepsia are generally relieved in five minutes after taking a little Diapepsin.

Go to your druggist and get a 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin now, and you will always go to the table with a hearty appetite, and what you eat will taste good, because your stomach and intestines will be clean and fresh, and you will know there are not going to be any more bad nights and miserable days for you. They freshen you and make you feel like life is worth living.

SECOND DAY OF THE FAIR

Carlton County Exhibition Draws Unusually Large Crowd From Cloquet.

Most of Morning Given Over to Judging the Exhibits.

Today is the big day of the Carlton county fair at Barnum, Minn.

A holiday has been declared at Cloquet and the greater part of the population moved over to Barnum for the day. The grounds were crowded from early morning.

The confusion always apparent on the first day of a county fair was gone today. Each exhibit was in place and looking at its best.

This afternoon a program of races will be run off if the weather permits. Some of the fastest horses in the state are owned in Carlton county and if the weather interferes with the meet, the disappointment will be great, as the races are always a feature of the Carlton county fair. Weather permitting, the sport program will be topped off with a baseball game. It was cold and cloudy this morning.

A great many went down from Duluth on the morning trains. They will be brought home this evening on a special.

The morning was devoted to judging stock, vegetables and poultry. In a number of instances the judges had a hard time to name the winner.

The most interesting feature of the afternoon races was to have been the 1:50 pace or trot for a purse of $200. A running race in which several fast horses were entered for a prize of $50 was also expected to furnish amusement.

Tomorrow there will be speeches by prominent men of the state who have been invited by the management to be in attendance at the fair. A baseball game between married and unmarried men will finish the big sporting program arranged for tomorrow.

The weather rather interfered with the fair today, but the attendance, despite this discouraging feature, has been large.

SUPERIOR

CHARGED WITH ARSON.

Disclosures Made By Daughter Result in Arrest of Superior Man.

W. J. Stephens, a saloon keeper, was arraigned in police court yesterday afternoon, charged with arson. He was unable to furnish $500 bail and was taken to jail to await trial on Sept. 21.

Stephens is held in connection with a fire early yesterday at the Hotel Arlington, 1712 Winter street. Mrs. William Sauter, his daughter, told the police that she had seen her father set fire to a mattress.

Stephens denies the daughter's story and claims that he was sleeping in the saloon below the hotel, when the blaze broke out. He claims to have three companions as witnesses.

Stephen's wife runs the hotel and the pair have not been on good terms.

NEW CHURCH WILL NOT BE BLESSED UNTIL PAID FOR.

Superior's new $40,000 church edifice, erected by the Hammond Avenue Presbyterian congregation at the corner of Hammond avenue and Belknap street, will be used for services on Sept. 24, but will not be dedicated until after the debt which hangs over the congregation is raised. Actual work on the new church was started over a year ago and except for a few finishing touches the job has been completed. The interior of the place is handsomely finished. Rev. L. K. Grimes is pastor.

Wilkie Made Captain.

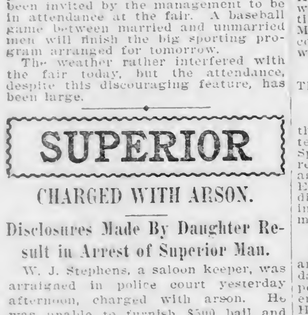

Ernest Wilkie has been elected captain of the normal school foothall team and so far about fifteen candidates have turned out for practice. The members of the team has not as yet selected a coach or manager, but a meeting will be held for this purpose in a few days.

Cleared of Charge.

James Cummings, the negro charged with assault with intent to kill, was dismissed when arraigned before Judge Smith in superior court yesterday afternoon. Cummings admits the discharge of a weapon and the wounding of Paul Davis in a Third street gambling dive, but asserts that it was accidental. The shooting took place at the Golden Key club, 1209 West Third street Friday.

L. J. Sparks of London, Eng., is in the city on a brief visit and is registered at the Holland hotel. Mr. Sparks claims that the question of reciprocity is not interesting the average Englishman very much, and that England is not taking any part in the discussion, nor lending her influence in any way. The question, he states, must be settled by Canada herself.

Goes to County Jail.

William Rick, a butcher, who was arrested twice yesterday, got twenty days straight in the county jail, in police court this morning, after he had entered a plea of guilty to being drunk. He was arrested yesterday morning on a warrant sworn out by his wife charging him with drunkenness, and later on a bench warrant summoning him for contempt of court. His wife claimed that he has been drinking steadily, and that she has started him in the meat business three times. Each time, it is alleged, he has used the proceeds of the business for the purchase of liquor.

Case Is Dismissed.

The case against Louis Visias of the firm of Visias & Pantaz, arrested over a week ago on a charge of conspiring with his brother to defraud his partner, was dismissed in police court this morning. The matter will not be settled by a criminal action.

It is the duty of the board of control to purchase all supplies after the estimates have been presented, and Secretary F. L. Brandt has sent out schedules to the trade asking bids. The meeting will continue all day.

CLEMENCY FOR WOMEN

Convicted of Blind-Pigging, But Get Suspended Sentence.

Had Been Deserted By Husbands and Left With Dependent Children.

Both living apart from their husbands and with children to support, two women arrested on charges of selling liquor without a license were shown clemency in police court this morning after they had entered pleas of guilty to the charges lodged against them.

They gave their names as Mrs. Deline Calder and Mrs. Grace Classon, and the warrants alleged that they had sold beer in the rooming house of the former on Superior street near Third avenue west without first having been licensed by the council to do so.

Mrs. Calder stated that she has five small children to support and Mrs. Classon said that she has two depending upon her. Mrs. Calder asserted that the children were still in bed when she was arrested about 9 o'clock this morning, and that there was no one in the place who would care for them. In addition to conducting the rooming house Mrs. Calder said that she has done some work for the Salvation army at different times but has not been actively engaged in the army work. Mrs. Classon declared that she is not interested in the place personally but was only stopping there. She said that the last time she saw her husband was four months ago when he left for International Falls to go to work.

When they entered pleas of guilty Judge Window imposed a fine of $100 with the alternative of sixty days in the county jail in each case. But he continued the case for ninety days, and if at the expiration of that time no further complaints are made against them, it is likely that sentence will be suspended.

SEVERE STORM DOES DAMAGE

Several Mills and Factories at Joliet Forced to Close.

Joliet, Ill., Sept. 14.—Damage amounting to many thousands of dollars resulted here today from a severe electrical storm which continued from midnight until 7 o'clock. Several mills and factories were forced to close and the street car lines were tied up and many residences were struck by lightning.

Two inches of water fell, filling subways to a depth of five feet and making miniature rivers of the streets.

Much of the damage resulted from the washing away of hillside thoroughfares and terraces.

The total damage cannot be estimated at this time.

Gompers at San Diego.

San Diego, Cal., Sept. 14.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, arrived here today. His visit is said to be on behalf of McNamara brothers, who are facing trial in Los Angeles as a result of the destruction of the Los Angeles Times building last year.

BACK FROM CONVENTION

Duluth Letter Carriers Attended Annual Gathering at Rochester.

500,000 Men Have Benefited From Sunday Closing Movement.

J. S. Kriz and R. J. Malcolm, two of the local delegates from the Duluth branch of the Letter Carriers' association to the eighteenth biennial convention of the National Association of Letter Carriers, which was held in Rochester, N. Y., returned yesterday afternoon. A. J. Powers and A. B. Heimbach, the other delegates, will not return for a few days, having gone to other points in the East to visit relatives and friends.

The convention opened on Labor day, the roll call showing 1,649 delegates from all parts of the United States. This was the largest and most enthusiastic convention ever held by the letter carriers. Rochester was appropriately decorated for the occasion, and everything was done to make the delegates and their friends enjoy themselves while there.

The convention opened with a large parade, in which over 6,000 letter carriers participated. All the large cities of the East sent big gatherings to take part in the parade, while several of them sent brass bands. There were in all eleven brass bands in the parade, representing New York, which has eighty pieces; Boston, Brooklyn, Cleveland, Baltimore, Chicago, St. Louis, Buffalo and Philadelphia. New York, besides sending the band, was represented by a drum corps, a fife corps and a bugle corps. Many cities sent well drilled teams to enter the parade, and an excellent showing was made.

The convention was addressed by Postmaster General Frank H. Hitchcock, Assistant Postmaster General Granfield, and other assistants, as well as by postmasters from various parts of the United States, and a number of senators. Dr. George W. Grannis, president of the Lord's Day Alliance, and the man who started the movement for the closing of offices and places of business on Sunday, appeared before the convention, and stated that the movement has so far resulted in the benefiting of 500,000 employes, who heretofore worked on Sunday. He stated also that 200,000 others would be included in that list within a short time.

San Francisco was selected as the place of meeting for the convention of 1913. This city came with a strong representation, and all the week entertained the delegates to the products of the organ state.

MORE ARRESTS ARE PROBABLE

Following Confession of Murderer of Little Annie Lemberger.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 14.—Sheriff Brown and District Attorney Nelson, after a careful consideration of the facts in the confession of John Johnson, confessed murderer of little Annie Lemberger, refused to make known the details at the present time.

Sheriff Brown, to whom Johnson told his story, emphatically declared that nothing could be made known as present.

"In a day or so I will make a statement, but I am absolutely unable to do so at pthe present time," said the sheriff.

District Attorney Nelson confirmed Sheriff Brown's decision by saying:

"In justice to those interested in the case I can make nothing known at the present time. Johnson's full confession in writing will arrive tomorrow, I expect, and then the public will know the entire affair."

The manner in which the facts are withheld from the public and the general tenor of the district attorney's story see mto indicate that others than Johnson are interested in the case and that arrests may follow.

SETTLED BY MARRIAGE.

Girl Tries Suicide, Arrested and Dismissed to Wed.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—Miss Ethel Blanchard, 22 years old, arrested after she had attempted to kill herself early today, was dismissed in Judge Caverly's division of the municipal court when Harry White, 23 years old, agreed to marry her.

Miss Blanchard and White came to Chicago from their homes in Canton, Ohio, four months ago. White said he had expected to find prosperity here. Instead he was reduced to working as a waiter. Miss Blanchard attempted suicide when she was led to believe that White intended to leave her.

"All she has said is true, judge," declared White in court. "We were chums in school and I still love her. All I now have is $1.50, but I am willing to make her my wife."

TRAGEDY IN KANSAS.

Doctor Shoots Wife and Mother-in-Law and Suicides.

Lawrence, Kan., Sept. 14.—Dr. C. C. Payne of Eudora, Kan., today shot his wife and his mother-in-law, Mrs. M. E. Smith, and then committed suicide here. The couple had separated and Mrs. Payne had taken her two children to the home of Mrs. Rogers in this city, where the shooting occurred. The woman will recover.

FOUR MEN KILLED AND SEVENTEEN INJURED.

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 14.—A count today of the dead and injured in last night's wreck just outside the city limits when a Lake Erie & Pittsburg work train was derailed by spreading rails, showed that four were killed and seventeen injured.

None of the dead, all of whom were foreigners, have been identified, two have fractured skulls and may not recover.

FOR WOMAN SUFFRAGE

Dr. Anna Shaw Talks to Governors' Conference for the Ballot.

Convention Hall Crowded With Women to Hear the Address.

Spring Lake, N. J., Sept. 14.—Dr. Anna Shaw, president of a national woman's suffrage association, took her battle for the ballot to the floor of the governors' conference here today. Twenty-eight governors, among them several champions of her cause from the West, assembled half an hour earlier than usual to hear her speak. The convention hall was crowded to capacity by the wives, daughters and friends of the governors and women, who had come for many miles in some cases, to help the cause with their presence and applause.

Miss Shaw was late in arriving, and the hearing granted the suffragettes was temporarily postponed to permit the presentation of a plan to commemorate the fiftieth anniversary of the battle of Gettysburg on July 1-4, 1913. Each governor was invited to attend in his official capacity and to urge his legislature to send the states civil war veterans to participate.

Dr. Shaw Speaks.

Dr. Shaw was introduced by Chairman Noel. She referred to Governor Woodrow Wilson's reference to England as the strongest of governments and explained that nation's strength by the statement that England referred her problems to the people.

"What are the purposes of government?" she asked. "They are threefold. The protection of persons and property; the administration of justice and the development of society.

"Women are persons and certainly deserve protection. They are certainly interested in the administration of justice; why should they not have a voice in deciding what sort of justice shall be meted out to them?

"And as for the third purpose of government, who is there to say that women are not concerned in the development of society?

"The government has a right, we women admit, to require certain qualifications for citizenship and yet retain its democratic form. I can say that those who shall vote upon its problems shall be 21, shall possess property, shall be able to read and write and shall have other qualifications; but how, in the name of democracy and justice can it make sex a qualification?

"It cannot, and the government which does, no longer is a democratic government, but becomes utterly despotic.

"The state has taken from the mother the right to educate her child, to doctor it and in some instances to say when and where it shall labor and how, even to say what food the child shall have. How can we women have a voice now in the rights you have taken away unless we, too, become a part of the state?

"Some time when your questions are referred to the entire people of an entire community we shall, by working all the time, frame the sort of government we want to live under.

"You men in your wisdom have failed to find it yet, nor will you ever find it so long as you debar resolutely and unqualifiedly one-half of the human beings of the community."

Appeals to Governors.

Mrs. J. W. Brannan of the Woman's Political union of New York, preceded Dr. Shaw. She presented to the governors a book, showing, she said, "the strange confusion of woman's status in the different states."

"I appeal to you governors to give the thought of your minds and the feeling of your hearts to this question," she said.

"There are five states—only five—where your wives, daughters and sisters have the privilege they want to serve our country. How can you, gentlemen, expect the women of these disfranchised states to rest satisfied and content under this discrimination?"

"There is but one more appeal to make," Mrs. Brannan concluded, "and that is to a higher bar. We appeal to the God of our country to befriend us, for our cause is just."

A Militant Speaker.

Mrs. Abram Van Winkle of Newark, N. J., head of a New Jersey organization, followed Mrs. Brannan. Representing the militant wing of the party, Mrs. Van Winkle demanded that each state executive, including Governor Woodrow Wilson, come into the open with his views and "in the light of pitiless publicity align himself with one side or the other on this question."

"We, the women of New Jersey," she read from a petition presented to the governors, "point to the gross inequality of women before the law with respect to property rights in our own state. We have protested in vain against the continuance of this injustice.

"The responsibility of the welfare of the child is peculiarly ours. We desire to have the responsibility in full measure. The people have recognized the justice of the appeal which we now make. We ask you to aid us in the manner we have suggested in securing the privileges which have been accorded the women of other states."

No formal action was taken and Mrs. Van Winkle sat down amid applause.

DEAD CONVICT WAS SENT FROM EAU CLAIRE.

Leavenworth, Kan., Sept. 14.—"John Doe," serving a sentence in the federal prison here for postoffice burglary, died in the prison hospital today. Up to the time of his death the prisoner steadfastedly refused to reveal his identity. It was learned later that his name was John Burris. He came to the prison from Eau Claire, Wis., June 15, 1910.

MORAL VICTORY, SAYS A. FITGER

Duluthian Says Maine Election Shows Sentiment Against "Kitchen Bars."

Whatever the outcome of the election in the state of Maine where the battle between the "wets" and the prohibitionists has been raging for some time, a great moral victory has been gained, according to August Fitger. He claims the people of that state, after twenty-seven years of prohibition rule have awakened to the error of their ways. If conducted properly, he thinks, the state would fare much better than under the present "kitchen bar" policy.

"As to the election in Maine," Mr. Fitger stated, "reports appear to be yet doubtful, and the result is impossible to determine until official returns are received. But the victory is equally great, whether the majority of 100 or 200 is on the wet or the dry side. It is a great moral victory just the same, especially when we consider that this is the verdict of a state whose people have lived under prohibition rule for more than two generations, who twenty-seven years ago voted prohibition into the state constitution by the overwhelming majority of 44,000, and who now see the folly of their action. The only way to wipe out the terrific drunkenness of some of the Maine cities, is by putting the liquor business under sane and safe control, instead of the present wide open kitchen bar policy."

AGREEMENT ON MOROCCAN QUESTION IS PROBABLE.

Paris, Sept. 14.—While it is hardly expected that the German reply to the communication of France reaching Berlin today will be an acceptance on every point, yet the spirit of the semi-official observations on the Moroccan dispute made by the Cologne Gazette creates favorable impressions officially in Paris of an approaching agreement.

RETIRED BUSINESS MAN STEALS TWO CHICKENS.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—William Beier, a retired Englewood merchant, said to be worth $100,000, was today fined $25 and sentenced to one day in jail by Municipal Judge Maxwell on a charge of stealing two dressed chickens from a South Water street commission house.

Upon pleas by several of Beier's friends, Judge Maxwell later suspended the jail sentence. State Senator Carl Lundberg, close friend of Governor Charles S. Deneen, appeared as a character witness for Beier.

Hr-a-w-kk!

Catarrh Victims Fearfully Nauseating to Those Who Are Near Them.

The Positive Cure for Catarrh Is the Gauss Treatment—A Free Trial, to Prove It, Is Sent to All Who Write for It.

There is nothing so nauseating as to have to sit next to a gagging catarrh victim or to talk to one of them and have whiffs of bad catarrh breath constantly blown into your face. No man or woman suffering with catarrh can avoid these things, because it is a part of the catarrh itself, though the victim may not realize or know that his very presence carries with it a certain garbage atmosphere. You can't smell your own breath, and you can seldom smell your own smell.

The constant spitting, and hacking, and nose-jerking is enough to make even the members of one's own family breathe a sigh of relief when the hawker closes the door behind him. Love itself wavers, and disgust forbids the kiss. And out of regard for the afflicted one, little mention of his pollution is ever made to his face, and he must rely on his own misery and such plain talk as is contained in this page to reach him and to cure him. There is a cure for this pestilence within the reach of every one. It was not always so. Catarrh has raged fiercely through the years like a firebrand, and in the eagerness to quench it, many useless things were given out as cures, but it remains now after the slow process of experimentation and discovery to offer the positive, real cure, which has been born of ceaseless searching and common sense.

Thousands Praise Gauss.

This is Gauss' Combined Treatment for Catarrh. The story is told over and over again a thousand times of the lost birthright of health restored, of the happiness caused, of the release from a degrading pestilence and of hope and comfort and sleep returned by the use of this wonderful simple Gauss treatment. It must be true. There are heart-stories from all over the land that bubble up from gratitude. They tell as nothing else can the misery in which catarrh plunges, the danger it brings; the deaths it causes, and then again there are other pictures painted in these letters of happiness and health redeemed, lost energy restored, and ambition reclaimed.

Send the Coupon.

If you are a catarrh victim, don't allow yourself any longer to be avoided by your friends because of your catarrh atmosphere, to be an object of nauseous disgust among strangers, to have people you know turn their faces away from you when you talk to them, to have people move away from you and stick up their noses as you sit next to them, to have your own family hate to have you come around—all because of the catarrh odor that everywhere and always makes you an outcast.

Gauss' Combined Treatment for Catarrh stops bad catarrh breath right off short and quick, and cures every catarrh germ in the body. If a man or woman will spend the comparatively little time and money it takes to cure catarrh by means of the sure Gauss treatment, the little coupon at the corner of this page will be cut out and sent flying toward Marshall, Mich., with the patient's name and address on it. By return mail will be sent the Gauss treatment absolutely free for you to try and prove to yourself its great power. If you are a sufferer of catarrh, send coupon below today to C. E. Gauss, 811 Main street, Marshall, Mich., and get back a trial package of the treatment that positively cures catarrh.

Sniffler Chased Out of Meeting

Enraged Audience Roughly Handles Gagger Who Interrupts Speech.

San Antonio, Sept. 13.—During a public primary meeting here today, a middle-aged man in the audience who was fumbling a rolled up handkerchief in his hand and persistently sniffling and pulling his nose during the delivery of a speech was forcibly ejected from the assembly hall. Cries of "Kick him out" and "Choke the lobster" interrupted the proceedings, and finally resulted in a grand rush for the nose-puller by some of the enraged hearers. He was grabbed by the coat collar and unceremoniously and swiftly moved toward the door.

When the man first sat down and began loudly tearing out a throat-hawk, the audience shifted nervously. After continuing the draw-rattle of his catarrh through one of the most stirring parts of the speech the audience gave vent to its feelings. He was roughly handled on the way out, and sustained several severe bruises. He was taken to the county hospital.

It is such occurrences as these which make the catarrh victim one of the despised of his race. He can't help show his disease. If this man had simply spent a few moments' time to send to C. E. Gauss for a package of the wonderful Gauss Catarrh Treatment, he never would have suffered such an indignity as being kicked out of a public meeting.

Catarrh Kills Thinking Power

Gradual Clouding of the Brain and Loss of Memory Inevitable Result of Catarrh.

Catarrh anywhere in the head or throat or ear is right next to the brain. The catarrh germ grows fast, does an enormous amount of damage in its burrowings into bone and flesh and is difficult to destroy. There are thousands of little nerves that run from all parts of the face and head to the brain. Some of these little nerves have to pass through probably a mass of catarrhal inflammations on the road to the brain. When they do they are weakened; and sometimes destroyed.

What affects the nerves is bound to affect the brain, and when the nerves are deadened by constant catarrhal discharges there is bound to be a certain torpor or stupidity brought about in the brain of the victim. Thus follows sleeplessness, inability to think clearly or to connect ideas, loss of memory, lack of concentration, lack of presence of mind, and a wandering of thought.

If any man or woman imagines that these things do not affect their earning capacity, their cheerfulness, and the esteem which their friends have for their brightness they have little realization of the necessity of keeping the mind always clear. That is all there is to life.

When it takes such a comparatively short time to cure this terrible disease by the Gauss common-sense treatment, and regain the flash and brilliancy of the normal brain, there is no good reason why one should not spend the two or three minutes it takes to cut out the coupon below and send it to C. E. Gauss and have him prove to you that he is right, and that he positively cures catarrh. The coupon below mailed now will bring you back by return mail a package of the wonderful Gauss treatment. It costs you absolutely nothing. Address C. E. Gauss, 811 Main street, Marshall, Mich.

Seek Divorce; Can't Stand Catarrh

Wife Says It Is Either Separate or Die of Disgust.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 19.—Henry O. Rasmussen, it is reported, is to be sued for divorce because his wife can no longer endure a catarrhal affliction of which Rasmussen is said to have been a victim for the last two years.

Mrs. Rasmussen states that no woman with any shadow of self-respect could consent to be in constant association even with a man she loved who was afflicted in the manner she states. She says she regrets the publicity attached to a suit for divorce, but that it is either that or "simply lie down and die of disgust."

Plain language is the only thing to use in trying to deal with such an affliction as catarrh. The facts are plain. There is a man, an able-bodied, robust, vigorous business man, blessed with a paying business, a happy home, and a faithful wife, suddenly stripped of all that makes life worth living, with the love of a true woman mired in his own disease. Picture to yourself what happens when a catarrh victim comes home from work—the face of his gentle mate turning away from a foul-breathed kiss, the rack and grug and hurr, and the spitting and hawking in handkerchief and cuspidor every few minutes.

Wife Can't Stand His Catarrh Any Longer.

Makes Home Miserable.

What happens at the table when the catarrh-gag comes on (and a man can't eat and pull his nose at the same time) we will not mention. What happens after such a meal in the sitting-room, or dressing-room, or hall-room, or the stairs, anywhere and everywhere, with a hawk, hawk, hawk, can be imagined. What happens when the victim almost leans on top of the cuspidor in the presence of members of the family and hawks and jerks with twisted face is a subject merely to be mentioned. What happens during the snoring, sleepless hours of the night, with a foul-smelling odor wafting about in the closed room, we can easily picture.

And add to it all the misery of the miserable man himself. Is it any wonder that divorce is seized upon as a cure?

The Gauss treatment would at once remedy all these horrible phases. If left to C. E. Gauss, Mrs. Rasmussen would have no reason for getting a divorce. These are cases which, though they have their humorous angles, after all make or unmake the happiness of us all. If you have catarrh in any form, cut out the coupon below and mail it to C. E. Gauss, 811 Main street, Marshall, Mich., and be cured.

DEAFNESS CURED BY GAUSS.

When I wrote to you for your sample I was so deaf in either ear that I had to press a watch hard against them to hear a watch tick. But after taking your course of treatment my hearing came back, and I can now hear the same watch tick fifteen feet away. Leon R. Atkin, Box 487, Petoskey, Mich.

Confessions of a Catarrh Victim

Some of the Experiences That Catarrh Forces Upon Its Slaves.

I get boiling mad when people tell me I've got catarrh. I've had dozens of mere acquaintances, and especially one young lady, who have come up and ventured to tell me something "for my own benefit." That expression begins to pall on me—"for my own benefit." It seems they all want to tell me the same thing, "you ought to take something for your catarrh; I'll tell you how my cousin got cured, and every doctor used to say he had the worst case he ever heard about."

Now, when a friend puts his hand on my shoulder, I gulp in preparation for catarrh advice. This gulp is not mere throat action, but the swallowing of mucus. Nothing would suit me better than to have the earth open and swallow me up.

I walk along the street close to the curbstone. When I ride on a car, I stand on the rear platform rather than sit down inside.

I wish I could talk without having to open my mouth to breathe. I wish that kisses were obsolete. I wish that handkerchiefs could be turned into sheets.

Sniffling and Hawking All Day Long.

I wish that no chair but mine would be placed at the table. I wish that other people were deaf, blind and without noses.

I wish that I were alone, always alone, to hawk and spit when and where I please. I wish that I was my mother's little fairy once more, with my little towsled head that knew not disease lying on her warm shoulder.

Now I feel that I am an outcast. I know what they think of me, everyone. I know my friends shun me, for even Jack, my old college chum, doesn't come around and chat and smoke any more as he used to do. My acquaintances only say hello, and pass by. Mrs. Grundy next door and all the other neighbors are talking about how repulsive I am. I see it in the way they look and act.

People I sit next to get up and move somewhere else. People who talk to me turn their heads all on a tangle. And I'm in pain. It is not alone physical pain. It's my mind, too, that is in agony. I can't remember things as I used to. Thoughts slip away from me. I say things I don't mean, and mean things I never say.

My head is thick and my brain is in a fog.

I walk alone, my work palls on me, my nerves refuse me. That let-her-go feeling has got me. I relish nothing I eat, and my appetite is gone. And as I think of my misery I must hawk again. My cough is a rattle. The ruby has been plucked from my cheek, the flush of my young health is gone. My head is in a fever, but my hands are cold, and I seem to feel by them the approaching chill of the tomb—I have read of catarrh death, and my mother's brother died of the same disease. Come on death, and relieve me.

No, my mother must not go, Gauss did you say, mother? Do you think so? I'll try, mother. Yes, if you send for the treatment I'll use it faithfully. I won't let it go a single day without using it. They prove it in every case, do you say? All right, send on the coupon today. Perhaps, after all, there is a cure, and still one person in the world to live for, one who will love you in the spite of the catarrh, your mother.

Gauss Catarrh Treatment is the simplest and surest in the world. It cures catarrh on a common sense plan, and Gauss proves it. Cut out the coupon below and mail it today, and get a free treatment of the Gauss treatment and prove to your own satisfaction that it will cure you. Whether you have catarrh slightly or seriously it may be the means of brightening your life, now overshadowed by catarrh. Send coupon to C. E. Gauss, 811 Main street, Marshall, Mich.

Eminent Doctor Says Blindness Due to Catarrh

(Associated Press Dispatch.)

London, Aug. 6.—Dr. H. Manning Fish of Joliet, Ill., declared at the medical congress that most of the blindness in the world is the result of catarrh in the upper nasal cavities of the bony cells composing the roof of the nostrils.

Dr. Fish described his experience in thirty-six cases, covering a period of several years, claiming that in each of these immediate improvement of the vision followed the effective treatment of the diseased nasal cavities, and advised that in cases of loss of vision following grip, measles, scarlet fever and kindred ailments, relief be sought through treatment of the noses of the patients.

Catarrh is caused by a germ which must be destroyed before the catarrh itself can be cured. If not cured, blindness may result. An extended history of the many extraordinary cures effected by the Gauss treatment will probably be brought to the attention of the next international meeting of the medical congress.

Some Results of Catarrh

Even Slight Cases of Catarrh Have Terrible Consequences.

Every case of catarrh, of course, is not fatal. Nor does every case result in consumption or bronchitis, but nevertheless they are very frequent. No man or woman knows what his or her case of catarrh will lead to. Men of robust health have succumbed to resulting consumption and partial idiocy. Women of strong vitality have become nervous wrecks and victims of bronchitis. Your good health is not always a preventive against the catarrh germs.

The more you feel sure there is no danger of the catarrh resulting in a disease more serious, the more danger there is simply because you will neglect yourself. This happens in hundreds of cases and we see it recorded almost daily in the letters we receive. "If I had only started the cure earlier," is a very frequent expression, showing that our warning is not fanciful, but based on fearful reality.

Even slight cases of catarrh may result in nose cancer, than which there is hardly a more pitiful affliction in this world.

Catarrh Fatality Frequent.

Some of the frequent results of catarrh are bronchitis, pneumonia, death, and decay of bones, loss of thinking and reasoning power, death of ambition and energy, loss of appetite, indigestion, dyspepsia, ulceration, bad breath, raw throat, raw sores in the nose, general debility, and sometimes idiocy and insanity.

This is why in the death list you do not find a mention of fatal catarrh; the death is caused not directly by the catarrh itself, but by a disease, which was caused by catarrh. Medical books and cyclopedias will tell you even more serious news than we tell you here; probably after reading them you will have a full realization of what it is to have catarrh—a common disease, it is true, but with a common result—misery for years if not death.

Cure Is Certain.

You can cure that catarrh, slight or serious, once and forever by means of the only common-sense sure cure for catarrh, Gauss' Combined Treatment. We don't ask you to believe it before proving it yourself. Therefore we send you a treatment at our own expense, absolutely free to you. When you get it, you can prove it all to your own satisfaction. It is without question the greatest catarrh cure on earth. Cut out the coupon and send for the free treatment today to C. E. Gauss, 811 Main St., Marshall, Mich. When you see your catarrh begin to leave you, you will appreciate what it is to have a real, genuine cure for catarrh that can be relied on. Send the coupon.

An Old Soldier Grateful

Mr. Gauss, I have finished your treatment now, and I am completely cured. My wife says she cannot detect any of it left and says my catarrh is gone. She ought to know, for she is a graduated nurse. I am as truly grateful as an old soldier can be for what your treatment has done for me, and certainly will recommend it to those whom I know are afflicted. You are certainly at liberty to use this if you want to in recommending your treatment to others. W. B. PLUMB.

In the Coils From Childhood

I have suffered with catarrh since I was 4 years old, but it has annoyed me more in the last two years.

I tried everything I read or heard of, but they did me no good and I saw your advertisement in a paper and I wrote to you and received a sample package. I was impressed so favorably with the sample that I immediately sent for the full treatment.

I suffered much with the dropping back into my throat and after I had used the medicine for three or four weeks this nasty sensation entirely ceased and I have never had any return of it. I am now fully cured of my catarrh and I am very grateful to you and your medicine.

I will be very glad to tell any one whom I think needs it and if you wish to use my name you may do so, as I am so grateful that I wish everybody who needs it would use it, and I am sure that it will cure them. Miss Mattie Drullinger, Birdsells St., South Bend, Ind.

C. E. GAUSS
Mankind's Benefactor.

What I have done for thousands of others I will do for you. I offer you my treatment that will cure catarrh, free of charge.

I can do no more—the matter lies entirely with your own good judgment. Simply fill out the coupon in the lower right hand corner—mail it today and you receive a trial package of my remedy free. That is all there is to it. In a week's time you will be on the road to recovery.

Catarrh at Meals

The Catarrh Victim, Especially at the Table, an Object of Disgust.

Outlawed By Society

Good Appetite and Catarrh Rarely Travel Together.

The "limit" is the catarrh gagger at the table, the man or woman with an appetite-losing hawk and a hank, utterly unmindful of the nausea he causes to other people who are trying not to notice or hear him.

Do you wonder that other people despise this creature? While others have joyously assembled around the board with a delicious mouth-watering appetite, here comes the hawker with nose-jerking grimaces, a jerk-gurgle in his throat, and a balled-up handkerchief in his hand. Horrors, forget it! Go away and cure that catarrh before appearing at a public table and mingling your bad breath with the scent of steaming tenderloin steak.

To Be Suddenly Taken With Gagging at the Table Is Horribly Nauseating to Everybody Around.

If you have nerves, or you believe other people have any, you will just stop and look at yourself as you are and before other people move away from you when they see you coming, you ought to run away from them. Go somewhere, anywhere, just to be alone and take this page with you, cut out the coupon at the bottom, and send it now, before you pull your nose again to C. E. Gauss, 811 Main St., Marshall Mich.

Send for Free Trial Treatment.

You will get by return mail a free package of the famous Gauss' Combined Catarrh Treatment, the only positive cure for even the worst cases of catarrh, on earth. Gauss sends you this treatment to prove to you that it will cure you, and it costs you nothing, absolutely nothing. Gauss' Treatment will save you a world of misery and humiliation, and make you instead of an outcast, a welcome soul in the bosom of your own family, and among your friends and acquaintances.

Because you have not gagged at the table yourself before this, don't imagine it will not happen at some time or other as long as you have catarrh. Catarrh brings all this just as sure as night follows day. Is is only a question of time. Send the coupon.

I Want to Cure You

I only wish I could gather some of my patients together and let you hear them talk. Some of these people had such extreme cases of catarrh that a cure was unknown to them. My treatment not only cured them, but its effect made them feel much healthier.

After a one minute conversation with a Gauss patient you would be firmly convinced that the statements set forth here are facts.

But I can't do that, so let me do the next best thing. Let me send you a trial treatment free. Fill out the coupon below.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS

Spare the stamps and spoil the treatment.

We believe in telling the truth and saving time.

Common sense wins. Write and ask any of Gauss' patients.

"Down in the mouth" can apply to the spirit as well as the catarrh.

Half the unhappiness in the world comes from little inflammations. Cure them early.

All great things are conceived in "Sweat." Gauss worked hard and produced a cure that will live after him.

Some would know a great deal more about being able to cure catarrh if they could forget a lot of old ideas they never should have learned.

The reasons of the strongest always yield to the strongest reasons—common sense. Gauss' Treatment prevails for the same reason.

If the catarrh victim would stick to the treatment as faithfully as the catarrh sticks to him, that disease would probably be as infrequent as the now conquered diptheria.

There are some people who instead of making the best use of the chances they have for a cure are always telling of what they might do under happier circumstances. Send the coupon.

CUPID RETURNS.

Mother—"How does it happen, Helen, that you have started going with Henry Hawk again? I don't see how you can bear to have him around."

Helen—"O, you couldn't tell he ever had catarrh now. He's been taking Gauss' treatment for over two weeks."

Catarrh Everywhere, Even on Pike's Peak

No Man or Place Is Immune From the Deadly Catarrh Germ.

There is no part of the land which is free from catarrh. Altitudes and latitudes have little effect in destroying this omnipresent germ. Many imagine that the climate of the West, with its high altitudes and dry atmosphere, tends to prevent catarrh. There are just as many cases in proportion to the population west as east of the Mississippi, only the disease is not as severe because of the climatic effect upon the nerves.

Even on Pike's Peak, which is over 14,000 feet above the sea level, catarrh seemed to attack several of the attaches of the signal station located there some years ago.

No place is exempt, no human soul is immune from catarrh. Don't imagine because you don't live by a lake or river that you can't have catarrh, or that you have only a chronic cold when your nose has been stopped up for some time. That is usually the way catarrh starts—with a bad cold.

"Happy Together Once More; Mr. Gauss Has Cured My Catarrh."

Better spend a few days destroying the catarrh germ right from the start, than waiting and putting off until you feel dopplings in your throat and your nose plugged up.

The Gauss complete treatment will stop it and avoid for you years of future misery. Cut out the coupon below if you have even a slight cold or a touch of catarrh, and sent it to C. E. Gauss, who will send you a free package of the wonderful Gauss treatment, so as to prove to yourself its great power.

It costs you nothing. Address coupon to C. E. Gauss, 811 Main St., Marshall, Mich.

"IF I HAD MY LIFE TO LIVE OVER."

We can point to hundreds of cases of catarrh that have dragged their bleareyed, nose dripping, half deaf victims through fifteen and twenty years of misery. It all started with one little germ.

Just one of Gauss' Catarrh Treatments for a little while would have killed off Mr. Germ and reclaimed to health and happiness in short order some of the world's best women and bravest men, who now dodder about in blank, diseased old age, or fill some cold graves—food for thought. Think of yourself at 40, or 50, or 60, clutched by catarrh. If you only had your life to live over. A 2-cent stamp would blot out all the misery.

It is not too late. Cut out the coupon below, fill in your name and address, and take courage. Do it willingly and with hope. Mail it to C. E. Gauss, 811 Main St., Marshall, Mich., and you will get by return mail a free package of Gauss' Catarrh Treatment to prove that it will cure you.

HOW TO JUDGE A MAN'S HONESTY. The Man Who Let's you "See for Yourself" Is Usually Honest.

Men, as a rule, are first discovered by their enemies. Their antagonists turn on the searchlight; and the proof of merit will depend on being able to stand the gleam. There are always men who aim to tear down every good thing, and there have been men who set about to ridicule the Gauss' Catarrh Treatment, and figuratively tear it into shreds. They turned on the gleam and dissected it. They expected to find mere dross and found gold. So Gauss has been discovered by his enemies.

But regardless of all this, if a man will "show the goods" he has, willingly and openly, and let his patients prove first to themselves by their own senses the value of what he offers them, instead of expecting them to take his word for it—there must be something of value in his "goods," and it must show his intentions to be honest.

Every catarrh victim should make a test of the great Gauss' Catarrh Treatment. It is free. All you have to do is to spend a minute or two cutting out the coupon below, filling in with your name and address, and send it on to C. E. Gauss, 811 Main St., Marshall, Mich. You will get back a package of the Gauss Catarrh Treatment in plain wrapper and under seal, with full information and instructions. It costs you nothing, and you put yourself under no obligation whatever.

Use it according to instructions; don't expect too much of the treatment you get, and it will prove to you that the worst case of catarrh can be cured, and that the Gauss Catarrh Treatment can do it.

Cut out and mail the coupon today.

THOUGHT WIFE A CONSUMPTIVE.

Your catarrh medicine is a wonderful medicine. My wife had it so bad everyone thought she had consumption. She used to cough all night, and could not sleep at all. One doctor gave her up. He said she would not get cured if she stayed here. I have tried all kinds of medicine and found them no good, till I tried yours, and it acted right away. I recommend it to all my friends. You may mention my name if you please, and they can write to me and I will let them know how bad my wife was with catarrh. But she is a well woman once more. W. Thomas, 936 Talman Ave., Chicago, Ill.

"Thank Heavens, We Have Such a Man as Gauss"

There is no case too serious for Mr. Gauss to consider; no case too slight for considerate attention; whoever writes to him receives a prompt reply; whatever questions are asked are answered, and advice is freely given. It is his liberal treatment of everyone, the broad view that he takes of everyone's whims and eccentricities, and his sympathy for the afflicted, that has so often brought forth in letters received from happy patients all over the land this sentiment, "Thank Heavens, we have such a man as Gauss."

It is not necessary to write a letter in asking for a free treatment. Just cut out the coupon at the bottom of this page and send it to C. E. Gauss, 811 Main St., Marshall, Mich., and you will receive by return mail in plain sealed wrapper a free package of Gauss' Catarrh Treatment. It will cost you nothing, and put you under no obligation whatever. This is to prove to you at once what the treatment will do, even in the worst cases of catarrh.

United States Commissioner Heard From

Having been absent for some time, I now take the opportunity of answering your letter. I took the treatment as nearly as I could and would state that I am cured. It is the best catarrh medicine that I have ever taken, having tried everything that I could hear or read of; and I am thoroughly satisfied that it is a genuine remedy for catarrh, and if ever I feel the effects of this disease coming back to me I should immediately order more of your treatment. Your medicine for taking internally I think is the best I have ever used for constipation or indigestion. You are at liberty to use the contents of this letter, and any reference made to me will be cheerfully answered. Edward McCaghertY, United States Commissioner, Warroad, Minn., Box 1.

A Glimpse of the Death Roll

Catarrh in Many Cases Is the Real Death-Dealer.

Died of consumption, aged 32.
Died of acute bronchitis, aged 60.
Died of pneumonia, aged 25.
Died of cancer, aged 51.

And so on down the list. Do you find a mention of catarrh? No, because catarrh as a rule does not directly cause many deaths. This catarrh is indirectly the cause of many deaths. "Died of pneumonia" should better be "died of pneumonia, caused by catarrh." The "caused by catarrh" is left off—what's the use? He's dead, anyway. And so catarrh is looked upon as a disease of slight consequence by those who don't know. Over every catarrh sufferer, no matter whether he has been suffering a month or five years, there hangs a dark shadow which is pointing with its dark bony finger to the silent way. Will you follow it, or fight it?

Gauss' Combined Catarrh Treatment will save you, and avoid for you years of future misery. Gauss' Treatment permanently cures catarrh in the common-sense way. He proves it, too, with a free treatment he sends to you by return by mail as soon as he receives the coupon at the bottom of this page. THE STATE PRESS AND THE EXTRA SESSION.

The Herald has called attention to the fact that the entire Twin City press is opposed to the calling of an extra session of the legislature to readjust railroad taxation, and it has told why this is so.

The Pioneer Press, though it has nothing to say as to the reasons given for this condition, intimates that The Herald is alone in its advocacy of an extra session and fair railroad taxation.

We would recommend that the Pioneer Press read the comments from the state press on this subject which were published on this page last evening, and those that will be published here from time to time as room is found for them. This may change its mind about The Herald's being "lonely" in its campaign for government of this state by and for the people instead of by and for special interests.

And others should bear in mind the fact that not one of these comments by the state press, if it is favorable to an extra session, will appear in the Pioneer Press or any other Twin City newspaper.

THE PRICE OF SUGAR.

After repeated increases that have come almost daily, and that seem still to be coming, sugar in New York is now 7 cents a pound, the highest price reached in twenty-two years.

Seven months ago sugar was 4.6 cents per pound.

The price of sugar is something that concerns every person in the country, for everybody uses it. So the cause of this sudden and almost unprecedented rise is important.

Those in the trade say that it is due to crop failures in many quarters, and that it is a natural result of the operation of the law of supply and demand.

Others, apparently in a position to know what they are taking about, say that it is due almost entirely to speculation, and there is talk that a corner in sugar has been made by deft manipulators who are now applying the screws to reap an enormous profit from their deal. A dispatch from New York containing this charge also says that there is more sugar in sight in the world right now than there was at this time last year, in spite of crop troubles in several sources of the world's sugar supply.

If the rise in the price of sugar is an incident to crop troubles only, it is unfortunate, but beyond help.

If the rise is due to speculation and artificial manipulation, it is not only unfortunate but wickedly unjust—and it ought not to be beyond help.

HIS VERY REASONABLE REQUEST.

A New York confectioner has applied to the courts to change one letter in his name. His present name is Hell and he wants to change it to Hill. His reason is that he desires to erect a large electric sign over the front of his shop, and that as his front initial is O., the sign may be misunderstood. It is easy to imagine that unless the court grants Mr. Hell's request his sign, though fitting enough to a New York street, may give rise to more levity than business. Of course the courts ought to permit the change, even though it involves a loss to the piquancy of life in the metropolis.

ARBITRATION IN BUSINESS.

It is always hard to tell which will get the worst of it when two parties go to law, no matter what the judgment may be; and rightfully enough every man of sense will sacrifice much before he submits to being dragged into the courts, either as plaintiff or defendant.

It is with something like this in mind that the New York Chamber of Commerce has worked out a system of business arbitration to provide "for the speedy and inexpensive adjustment of differences between merchants by a system of commercial arbitration in place of the costly and long-drawn-out litigation of the courts."

And the courts, and those responsible for their condition, should ponder deeply the fact that the institution created specifically for such purposes is avoided by those who should benefit by it, because of a fear of expense, delay and disappointment.

Says the New York Evening Post: "The plan finally adopted by the Chamber of Commerce provides that in any matter of controversy the disputants, in order to secure the Chamber's means of arbitration, must sign a form of submission, briefly stating the nature of the controversy, and containing other simple legal data. The parties bind themselves voluntarily to submit their case and all matters concerning it to the arbitrator or arbitrators, and 'agree to abide by and perform the decision, award, orders and judgment that may therein and thereupon be made under, pursuant, and by virtue of this submission. They further agree that a judgment of the supreme court of the state of New York may be entered in any county of the state upon the award, and they explicitly waive any right to withdraw from or revoke this submission after the arbitrators accept their appointment hereunder.'

"From the 'list of official arbitrators' of the Chamber of Commerce, consisting of about two hundred of its members willing and qualified to act as such, the disputants have two options in the selection of arbitrators. They may choose one individual as sole arbitrator; they may select two arbitrators—not necessarily members of the Chamber of Commerce—who in turn shall designate a third person from the 'list of official arbitrators.'"

Though every state has a full and complete and expensive system of courts for the adjudication of all causes, here are found the business men of a great city turning away from these tribunals, taking time from their own affairs to act as arbitrators, and seeking a method of deciding business disputes without recourse to the slow, tedious, expensive and uncertain medium of the courts of law.

And it is easy to imagine that the decisions under this system will be as sound, as just and as satisfactory as those that come from the courts. The courts in all large centers are congested with litigation. Recourse to them often means delay for years. Business disputes, as a rule, are susceptible of determination on common sense lines without delay, and speedy determination is a vital need.

And business men, appointed as arbitrators under this New York plan, will not be confused by traditions, precedents, forms and technicalities. Somewhere in the difference between two disputants there is justice; and it ought not to cost more than the amount involved to discover that point of right and declare it.

The New York experiment will be watched with keen interest by business men everywhere.

MAINE GOES "WET"---MAYBE.

We wish Maine would make up its mind what it wants to do about prohibition—or rather let us know what it has decided to do—and let it go at that. We have buried prohibition once and then had to dig it up; and this morning it looks as though we should have to bury it again—though what the situation may be by the time this reaches the reader we shall not undertake to say.

A difference of a hundred votes or so may decide the issue, but that change can make no difference in the fundamental fact that prohibition, adopted by an overwhelming vote in every county twenty-seven years ago, has failed so signally that in spite of a terrific fight in its behalf the people of Maine have either repudiated it or come so close to it that there is no fun in it—for its defenders.

This morning it looked as though repeal had carried by a small vote, and the result probably depends on the returns from a small town in upper Aroostook county, many miles from nowhere. The clerk gave the vote to the Associated Press as 12 for repeal and 175 against, and to the secretary of state—the official returns—he rendered it 175 for repeal and 12 against repeal. As this is in a lumbering and not an agricultural section, the chances are that the official return is correct, and that repeal has been carried in Maine by a small vote.

But it should be understood, of course, that all predictions on this page as to the result in Maine are subject to revision from day to day.

"DISCHARGED AS CURED."

Yesterday a resident of the Western Mesaba range who had gone insane escaped from the officers who had him in charge and committed suicide before he could be recaptured.

It is related that this man had lately been an inmate of a state hospital for the insane, but that he had been discharged as cured. After acting normally for a time he showed signs of insanity again, with the above result.

It occurs to us that this isn't the first incident of the kind that has happened in Minnesota, and that makes us wonder whether the authorities are always as careful as they should be about the mental health of patients discharged from insane hospitals as cured. Perhaps the hospitals are so crowded that there is a temptation to such carelessness. At any rate, it looks like a matter that ought to be looked into.

THE OVER-BLAMED COST OF LIVING.

The other day a young man, thirty years of age, was arrested in Indianapolis charged with stealing $10,000 from his employers.

When he was bound over to the grand jury the young man said that he would not bother with employing counsel. He said that his employers had the proof of his theft and that he "wanted to get through with it as soon as possible."

While admitting his guilt in this manner, he offered excuses for it.

"The high cost of living and struggling to get along with heavy expenses was responsible," he said.

Nine out of ten people, and even a larger proportion than that, are gripped tightly in this mesh of high cost of living, and are finding it increasingly difficult to make their pay compass their actual needs. This young man's explanation of his crime, while not leading them to countenance it, will doubtless bring him sympathy from such sufferers—until they hear the rest of it.

For besides a wife and child this young man, who at a time of life when his future ought to be most promising faces the penitentiary, owns an automobile.

The high cost of living is not responsible for the downfall of such a man, but the cost of high living.

Opponents of progress and those who are fighting bitterly to keep things economic and political as they are have made much use of this phrase "cost of high living" to offset the popular discontent with the high cost of living. This is the sort of case to which it rightfully applies. There are thousands upon thousands who count themselves lucky if they make both ends meet at the end of the year without trying to indulge in luxuries, and it is wickedly unjust to talk to them about the cost of high living.

But there are many others whose tastes exceed their financial capacity, like this young man who tried to support an automobile and a family on a small salary, and when he came to grief blamed it to the high cost of living.

The cost of living is too high. Or else wages and salaries are not high enough. This is a real problem, and it is vital because it proves the existence of unjust conditions.

But this problem has little or no bearing on the cases of those who plunge themselves into the mad struggle to keep up appearances that are beyond their means. These are skating on thin ice, and every little while one of them plunges through into shame and disgrace, as this Indianapolis young man did.

Those who try to support automobile appetites on street car salaries are exposing themselves to peril of the worst kind, and one of the worst things the automobile has done, excellent though it is in its place, is the example of high living that it has set for those who had no business trying to dream of following that example.

Very likely when he bought an automobile that he couldn't afford he had in mind giving pleasure to his wife and child and enabling them to keep the pace set by their wealthier neighbors. Maybe his wife wanted the display of an automobile so much that he was driven into buying one, even though it had to be done with stolen money. But what of the wife and child now—the wife who has a husband entering the penitentiary and the child who has a thief for a father? This is the sort of thing he should have thought of before he started out on the scale of living that made him a thief and a betrayer of the confidence of his employers.

TAFT IN THE HOLE

By SAVOYARD.

All the cuckoo-standpat newspapers are screaming that they, the Democrats and insurgents, didn't put Taft in a hole. To be sure they did not. Mr. Taft put himself in a hole. Something has been said about an "unholy alliance" between the Democrats and the Insurgent Republicans of the senate. There was no secret about it. They found themselves pretty nearly in accord on the measures to reduce the tariff. They split the difference and sent to the president bills revising the tariff downward. If that put Mr. Taft in a hole he is truly unfortunate, for he convened congress in extra session two years ago to do that very thing, and congress—a Republican congress—failed and refused to do it. The president complained about it in his Winona speech, and when a congress, Democratic in one house, was called in extra session in 1911, it proceeded to do what Mr. Taft had besought his own party to do two years before. A plain man would argue from that that the Democratic house and Democratic-insurgent senate had spent the summer in zealous attempt to drag Mr. Taft out of the hole into which Payne and Aldrich flung him and their party in 1909. But the president stubbornly refused to be relieved of his predicament, and made the hole deeper and buried himself hopelessly in it.

No congress ever put any president in a hole. Nobody can put another in a hole. His enemies sought all the years of his political career to put Grover Cleveland in a hole; but they disastrously, miserably and ignominiously failed. He was fortunate in his enemies; he made them by the legion, and the people loved him the more devotedly for everyone of them he made. When a man is a public idol and is set on a pedestal he himself is the one person in all the world who can cast himself down from his eminence. Envy and hate are powerless to harm him, and all attempts to put him in a hole but work to his advantage—as in Cleveland's case—if he is fit to live out of a hole.

Mr. Taft has made the discovery that a congress Democratic in one branch is not fit to tinker with the Payne-Aldrich tariff that the people repudiated so emphatically last November. By an overwhelmingly majority the people ordered congress to tinker with the tariff and revise it down. Unfortunately the Democratic house plowed with the protectionist heifer; but the bills they passed were revisions downward. Though ours is the only government in the North Temperate Zone, in which is nearly all the civilization of the planet, that taxes wool, the Underwood-La Follette measure continued that policy, and yet Mr. Taft would not approve the bill. There was enough protection in it to meet the approval of thirty-odd Republicans in the house, and all but two of the Insurgent Republicans of the senate, but not enough to suit Mr. Taft, who, by his veto, has put himself at the head of the stand-patters and makes himself the leading advocate and defender of the Payne-Aldrich law.

True there was a story that when he called the extra session last spring Mr. Taft entered into an unholy alliance with Boies Penrose and made a covenant to the effect that if the stand-patters would give him reciprocity he would interpose the executive veto between the Payne-Aldrich tariff and any tariff measure the present congress might enact at the extra session. If that is so who will be so hardy as to deny that then and there William Howard Taft plunged into a hole out of which all the oxen in Texas cannot pull him? If the alliance between the senate Democrats and the senate Republicans was unholy, that between the president and the stand-patters was blasphemous. Where did Mr. Taft get authority to put in pawn any prerogative conferred upon him in the Constitution?

The veto makes the tariff superlatively paramount. It is up to the people. Mr. Taft, by his veto, tells them that the Payne-Aldrich law is good enough for them. He talks about his extra-constitutional boards that he appointed to make a tariff, composed of three stand-pat Republicans, one Randall Democrat, and a Mr. Page, whoever and whatever Mr. Page is. These men are in Europe seeking what it is impossible for them to find—the difference in cost of production there and here. It will be a guess when they report, and congress will not give it the slightest heed. Mr. Redfield, one of the most capable men when it comes to matters involving the tariff congress ever knew, himself a manufacturer, declares that it is simply impossible for Taft's tariff board to accomplish what they were appointed to do.

Mr. Redfield believes that with free trade our people would manufacture for the world, that we would outstrip England, Germany, France, Belgium, Holland, and the rest of them if congress would only take off trade the shackles the tariff puts on it. He shows that already, notwithstanding our mediaeval economic system, we are sending abroad enormous quantities of manufactured goods and selling them at a profit in neutral markets in competition with all the world. That is done in spite of the tariff which tends to suppress trade with other nations, in spite of taxed raw materials, in spite of taxed machinery, in spite of a taxed building material—in short, in spite of the Payne-Aldrich monstrosity that taxes thousands of articles of necessity that ought to be free.

Well, the issue is made up. The tariff is paramount, as much so as it was in 1888, or 1892, or 1910. It is the fight between commercial liberty and commercial slavery. It is the Payne-Aldrich law against the field. It is the perennial strife between right and wrong.

If the Democratic party cannot win on that issue, even with a yaller dog ticket, it should go out of politics. With a good ticket and real tariff reform for platform we ought to gain a greater victory than in 1892, greater even than that of 1890.

THE OPEN COURT

(Readers of The Herald are invited to make free use of this column to express their ideas about the topics of general interest, but discussions of sectarian religious differences are barred. Letters should not exceed 300 words—the shorter the better. They must be written on one side of the paper only, and they must be accompanied in every case by the name and address of the writer, though these need not be published. A signed letter is always more effective, however.)

HANDS BOUQUET TO GAME WARDENS.

To the Editor of The Herald:

It is exceedingly gratifying to hear of the activity of the local game wardens in preventing the depredation of "sooners" and prosecuting the hotel and cafe men who serve game birds at their tables. That is getting at the heart of the situation. Were it not for the fact that pot hunters have been able to get good prices for their game in the cities they would not kill nearly as much. Without a market they would confine themselves to hunting for their own needs, if they hunted at all. Continued attention to the places which buy game will do more than anything else, in my opinion, towards reducing the practice to a minimum. Deputies Storey and Huseby are entitled to considerable credit for the excellent work which they have done during their terms of office. Largely through the efforts of Storey the bay and river were freed of nets and set lines, with the result that the public had excellent fishing right at home for the first time in years. Huseby did an excellent stroke of business when he caught and convicted a game warden on the range who was killing birds out of season under the shelter of his official position. Such accomplishments deserve the commendation of every sportsman, as does the work which they are now doing to protect the game birds in this part of the state. SPORTSMAN.

The Servant Girl Problem.

'Tis easy to swing in a hammock,
And watch the clouds roll by,
And teach the cook from a cookery book
How to make rose-leaf pie.

'Tis easy to sit in the parlor,
And talk to a howling swell,
While the girl below, with her hands in dough,
Must answer the busy bell.

'Tis easy to don a shopping gown,
And twist your hair in a curl,
While to scour and scrub, and boil and rub,
Is the fate of the hired girl.

While she sweeps and cleans, and dusts and screens,
And washes the windows with care,
'Tis easy to turn in your scornful way
And gaze with your haughty stare.

'Tis easy to walk in the moonlight night,
And listen to praises sweet,
While the servant swishes mountains of dishes,
And weeps for her tired feet.

'Tis easy to tell if you only would,
But you say that you cannot see
Why Mary should leave such a lovely home,
To work in a factory.

Pro-Lorimer Senators Getting Their Reward.

Washington Times: Just how much money it cost to elect William Lorimer to the senate probably never will be known. Whether Lorimer is to be ousted is uncertain. But one phase of the business is clear. The public is not satisfied with his retention and not satisfied with those senators who have been fighting to retain him. There already is such a political death rate among senators who have taken the lead in the pro-Lorimer campaign in Washington that it is impossible not to be impressed with its meaning.

The latest senator to quit public life is Mr. Bailey of Texas. That reluctantly he gave up a brilliant career is plain. A large factor in deciding him not to run again was the bitter feeling in Texas because he led the fight for Lorimer. It is asserted, in fact, that his support of Lorimer was fatal. Bailey's influence and oratory undoubtedly saved the Illinois senator from being ousted in the Sixty-first congress.

Senator Paynter of Kentucky, too, found it hopeless to seek re-election, and anti-Lorimer sentiment in his state was largely responsible. In South Dakota Senator Gamble, who championed Lorimer, probably will be beaten.

Bailey, Paynter and Gamble were members of the privileges and elections committee which made the first Lorimer investigation, and Paynter and Gamble were on the subcommittee that did the investigating, such as it was. Burrows of Michigan, former senator, who, as head of the privileges and elections committee stood in the way of an investigation for a time, is out of the senate.

Others in the senate might be mentioned who have not yet finished the reckoning with their constituents on the Lorimer account and who are nervous about the outcome.

If a large share of the citizens of this country have been ashamed of the spectacle presented by the senate in allowing Lorimer to remain a member of that body, their shame must be largely removed by the evidence that the public is not going to submit to it without effective protest. It is a healthy sign. The senate is not going to shield Mr. Lorimer indefinitely.

A DEFINITION OF DEMOCRACY.

Trenton Free American: Horatio W. Seymour, who recently became the editor of the St. Louis Republic, announces the policy of that paper under its new management in an editorial that might well be accepted as a statement of the fundamental principles of the Democratic party.

Relative to certain surmises of political ambition and other personal motives alleged to have attended or to have actuated some recent changes in the Republic he says, it is well to say that this newspaper has no candidate for the presidency or for any other office and that it will have no such candidate for the presidency until the Democratic party in national convention shall have spoken.

The hope of the country for justice, progress, economy and peace largely depends upon Democratic professions and Democratic performances during the next fourteen months. If the wise, vigorous and yet tolerant spirit manifested by Democrats at the late session of congress shall be maintained, there can be no doubt that this hope will be fully realized.

The Republic does not assume to speak for the Democratic party, but it does claim the right of speaking as a Democrat.

It is devoted to equal rights and equal opportunities.

It hates privilege and injustice, bosses and corruptionists.

It would trust the whole body of the people at any time with any responsibility voluntarily assumed rather than yield control to one man or to a small group of men, no matter how wise or how good.

It holds that the taxation of one American for the benefit of another American is not only robbery, but tyranny.

It believes that the extortionate protective tariff, falsely upheld by its beneficiaries as profitable to all Americans, is in fact notoriously unequal and oppressive.

It is committed to the idea that government as a partisan of the few must be taken out of business and that business as a self-seeker must be taken out of government.

It believes in personal liberty that does not infringe upon the rights of others.

It sees no hope of prosperity and progress except in obedience to the constitution and the laws.

It recognizes the rights of labor and of men as well as the rights of capital and of property, both easily ascertainable when reason rules and neither of them naturally in conflict with the other.

It believes in one law for offenders, rich or poor, high or humble, strong or weak.

It holds that legitimate enterprises can be encouraged and that business and industry can be conducted honestly and profitably without bounties and subsidies.

Finally, it is opposed to centralization, to usurpation, to imperialism, to all forms of extravagance and waste, to a constantly increasing officialism, to secrecy in public affairs, to irresponsible boards and commissions, to standpatters of every stripe, to lawless combinations in restraint of trade and industry, and to monopoly of all kinds, whether of money, of goods, of production or of commerce.

We believe that these views are Democratic and that the Democratic party next year will present a high-minded candidate, whose character and abilities will illuminate them; who will have the capacity to present them attractively to the people; whose temperament will be so tolerant and yet resolute that his influence will promote harmony among those who, ignoring mean jealousies and trifles, will agree upon the vital issues and whose aim will be the reclamation of the government from the element which has made it the servant of a class and not the servant of the millions.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

Taken From the Columns of The Herald of This Date, 1891.

This morning the jury in the second Nettleton-Howard gambling case handed in a verdict of $1,855 for Nettleton. The outcome of both suits is that Nettleton must pay Walker, $5,875 and Howard must pay Nettleton $1,855.

Zeno B. Lockett, 28 years old, of New Orleans jumped off the Iron Range express train this afternoon behind the Hotel St. Louis, to save time in getting uptown. He got tangled up in an intricate switch and broke a leg.

The general association of the Congregational churches of Minnesota will hold its thirty-sixth annual meeting on Sept. 15 to 18 in Duluth. Rev. E. M. Noyes, W. S. Woodbridge and M. J. Carpenter are the local committee on arrangements. Rev. Dr. Heath of St. Paul will deliver the opening address.

Judge Devoy of Grand Forks, N. D., a personal friend of the late E. L. Emery, is in Duluth and will remain to attend Mr. Emery's funeral.

J. A. Erlander, who has a small sawmill on the St. Paul & Duluth road at Mahtowa, will remove his mill to Grand Rapids, Minn., providing the citizens will give him a site and piling room. This will probably be done.

New Duluth will hold its first election tomorrow, at which it will be decided whether it is best to incorporate or not.

J. Allyn Scott and family of West Duluth have returned from the East. Henry Farman of Knoxboro and Arthur E. Spraker of Oneida, N. Y., accompanied Mr. Scott and will visit here for a few days.

Charles Bonne has purchased the dry goods store of O. S. Olson on Second street south at West Duluth.

J. E. Bowes and wife returned this morning on the Elphicke from a lake trip to Buffalo.

Miss Addie Lydon has returned from a short visit with friends in St. Paul.

Mr. and Mrs. Moses Folsom of St. Paul spent yesterday in Duluth. Their only former visit here was twenty-one years ago and they necessarily noticed many changes.

In a quarter of an hour this morning a quarter of an inch of rain fell, accompanied by hail. At Woodland there was a tremendous hail storm, and a chunk of ice, 7 inches around the small way and 3 inches thick as it lay on the ground, was brought to The Herald office. The greenhouse at Lakeside was completely riddled and in most houses some glass was broken. Hailstones measuring 6½ and 7 inches around were picked up.

MINNESOTA OPINIONS.

Why Not?

Pine River Sentinel: The need of a Northern Minnesota state fair is being talked freely among the northern visitors to the state fair this year, and from some sentiments expressed Northern Minnesota will not be able to do themselves justice in exhibits until we do have a northern state fair where we can show our products a couple of weeks later than the Hamline fair. The Hamline fair is held a little early for the northern section to show all their products to advantage. The main trouble is that we have to ship our products a little green and by the end of fair week the stuff is not in the best of condition.

The main reason though for a Northern Minnesota state fair is that the people would see the country where the products were grown, whereas now they have a very poor idea of what the country really is, except that most people think it a sand pile which they think is almost worthless for agricultural purposes.

With proper boosting by the northern boys a Northern Minnesota fair is not an impossible thing. We should go after it with a vengeance.

Both?

Walker Pilot: The people are preparing to lead Senators Clapp and Nelson around the political arena they have occupied for so many years, and point out to them the several exits.

Twin City Adjuncts.

Red Wing Free Press: If you want to go to St. Paul or Minneapolis to spend your money state fair week the railroads gave you reduced rates in order to do so. But if you want to go to some other town to do the same thing, the railroads will make you pay three cents a mile or—you walk. Railroads are supposed to be public service corporations. In Minnesota, however, this is not true. They are primarily and essentially Twin City service corporations.

The Facts.

Browns Valley Tribune: It is argued by some that inasmuch as the people who are the consumers eventually pay freight and all expenses of operating railroads, and that further, inasmuch as it has been held by some court decisions that railroad property shall pay a return of at least 7 per cent, (watered stock included) that a gross earnings tax is really a tax paid by the consumer, it is superfluous to have such a tax levied. But as a matter of fact, it seems that system of taxation, either on gross earnings or otherwise, is the only thing thus far devised in Minnesota to compel the railroads to do anything. By this system the railroads are forced to give back to the people a portion of the exorbitant rates in fares and freights which they are forcing them to pay; otherwise roads would continue to exact about the same rates, and in addition, add to their profits what they reluctantly pay as a gross earnings tax.

And Don't Know It.

Perham Enterprise: The sight of "Jim" Tawney and Adam Bede presenting each other with the Republican nomination for congressman-at-large would disturb the solemnity of an owl. Both have been tied up with ribbons by their constituents and laid away on the shelf.

Even Probable.

Blue Earth Post: It is just possible that by this time Governor Eberhart wishes he had turned that Red Wing school matter over to the Hague for final settlement.

Quite So.

Fairmont Sentinel: Ex-Governor Van Sant has got into the exhibition class by walking from St. Paul to Minneapolis. A man may be able to walk ten miles and yet not get a chance to run for anything.

Pointed Paragraphs.

Chicago News: Some people learn to do by being done.

Being popular has more drawbacks than comebacks.

It's easy for people to make money who don't need it.

More tombstones would tell the truth about people if left blank.

You'll never stand in with great men by letting them sit down on you.

When a woman hasn't anything else to do she changes her dress or her complexion.

Men wouldn't have time to earn a living if they had to put their hair up as women do.

You are wrong, Cordelia. A man isn't necessarily on the water wagon because he peddles milk.

If a man is unable to govern himself it is up to him to invest in a marriage license and sublet the job.

The Eternal Feminine.

Phoenix Republican: Another sufferer upon whom no sympathy was expended was a woman who appeared at the fire in a night gown. She forced herself into the thick of the fray and made a good target for the shooting flame, which burned away a rear breadth of her nightgown. She went to the police station as soon as she had partly recovered from her fright to lodge a complaint against the inefficiency of the firemen who, in her opinion, should have confined the flames within the building. Officer Perrin inquired if she had any other interest in the fire than that of a casual onlooker. She replied that she had not but as an American citizen she had a right to stand around and look at a fire without being cremated.

First of the Season.

San Francisco Chronicle: Mrs. Ronald H. Barlow, the Eastern golf champion, was talking at the Cape May Golf club about the benefits of sea air.

"To look at the cottages and natives of Cape May," she said, "speaks of these benefits more eloquently than I could do. How pale and wan seem city people beside these brown, supple, vigorous men and women.

"An excursionist from the city," she resumed, "said to a fisherman on the beach the other morning:

"'Do you have many wrecks here?'

"The fisherman looked contemptuously at the city man, who was in bathing dress. He looked contemptuously at his hollow chest and white, thin legs and arms, and then he replied:

"'You're the fust I've seen this season.'"

A MOMENT WITH THE WITS.

Philadelphia Bulletin: "Early to bed and early to rise" makes many a man a nuisance with the grass cutter.

Judge: "Pa, why does love make the world go round?"

"Because every lover is a crank, my son."

Purple Cow: Miss Sweet—We all consider Willie the flower of the family.

Mr. Spooner—Yes, he's a blooming nuisance.

Pittsburg Post: "How'd you like to sign with me for life's game?" inquired the young man.

"I'm agreeable," replied the girl. "Where's your diamond?"

Detroit Free Press: "Has she any prospects?"

"I should say she has. She knows a millionaire that she expects to marry or sue for breach of promise."

Washington Star: "What do you think of the plot?" asked the theater manager.

"That isn't a plot," replied the man who had paid $2 to see the show. "That's a conspiracy."

Louisville Courier-Journal: "This man does not seem to know much about the Constitution."

"But he didn't miss a ball game last season, judge."

"Then I guess he's assimilated."

Catholic Standard and Times: "I beg pardon," said the new arrival, "but it seems to me it's excessively warm here."

"Eh! what?" snorted Satan, "evidently you forgot where you are. The place is meant to be warm."

"Quite so, but there's such a thing as overdoing it."

Smart Set: Nurse—You have been badly hurt, and I must give you an alcohol rub.

Patient—Are you sure I am not hurt internally?

Philadelphia Record: Mrs. Muggins—Mrs. Subbubs is a born diplomatist.

Mrs. Buggins—Yes, she can even engage a cook from an employment agency without feeling that she has lost her self-respect.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

New York Press: First a man loses his money at cards, then his temper.

When a man isn't afraid of the cook he's taking his meals in a restaurant.

Even when a woman gets to be a grandmother she knows it isn't on account of her years.

It's the way of a girl to be able to look pretty to the man she likes, whether she is or not.

There's a lot more praying by people for things they want to have than giving thanks for things they have already.

A NEW WAY OF CURING

Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Lumbago and Other Diseases by Wire.

Process Invented by the Progressive Medical Association of Duluth and Prof. Le Duc in Nantes, France.

The progress from the ox-cart to the automobile, from the tallow dip to the electric light, is no greater than the progress from the old methods of curing disease and relieving pain, to the DISSOLVING PROCESS. The doctors of the Association in Duluth says that years of experimental work was necessary before they brought it to its present high state of perfection. Everyone knows, nowadays, how little relief can be expected from drugs alone. The doctor who relies solely on his drugs betrays the fact that he is not progressive. Instead of pouring medicines into the body through the stomach, often upsetting it, the Progressive Doctors get the remedy into the body or to the affected and painful spot. A man, suffering from Rheumatism, kidney trouble or any other painful disease will be connected with one wire to the leg and the other to the seat of the trouble, all parts and the whole side being covered with asceptic guaze, saturated with a solution of the remedy to be used, turn on the electric current from a machine of our own invention, and immediately the pain ceases and the swelling begins to subside. When he rises from the operating table, although far from cured, all pain has left him. What takes place is the dissolving of the poisons causing the swelling of the tissue and nerves. The healing solution is driven into the affected parts and neutralizes the effects of the poisons, thus allaying the pain. Every day we are curing cases of different diseases, some of them of many years' standing, by means of this dissolving process. At the time that we completed the discovery of this marvelous process, we learned that Prof. Le Duc, in France, had discovered the same method. We immediately communicated with Dr. Hatch, who had commented on this discovery in a magazine, and received the following reply: "In reply to your inquiry, the method of administering medicine by wire is not yet practiced in the United States, in fact, Prof. Le Duc is probably the only man who is at present competent to undertake treatment by this method." Eight months before Dr. Hatch's article was published we had invented and given wide publicity to this method. It is truly a wonderful, although a perfectly natural method. It does away with the necessity for cutting or blood shedding, dissolving all poisons and foreign growths. In our hands it never fails to produce results.

One of our patients, who had been suffering from NEURALGIA for thiry years, said recently that it was the greatest blessing for suffering mankind that had ever been invented. Hundreds of the patients we have cured by its means said "Amen" to his remark. The Doctors have limited their practice to the treatment of men alone and cure all and every disease of them. All consultations are free from 9 to 8 in the evening.

WEST END

WITHDRAWS FROM CHURCH

Former West End Pastor Has Resigned From Ministry.

Reported That Resignation Is Due to Domestic Troubles.

Rev. John H. Murray, a former pastor of the Grace Methodist Episcopal church of the West end, has resigned from the ministry and withdrawn from the church.

This is the news which comes to Duluth from New Mexico where Mr. Murray went after leaving this city. It has been confirmed by Dr. E. K. Copper, district superintendent of the Duluth district of M. E. churches.

Mr. Murray resigned from the Grace church in the latter part of May and after leaving Duluth wrote back to Dr. Copper stating that he wished to withdraw from the church and ministry.

The reason for Mr. Murray's withdrawal from the church is not known, although it is rumored that it was brought about by domestic troubles. Mr. Murray now resides in Alamagordo, N. M. It is understood that Mrs. Murray is living with her parents in Columbus, Ohio.

REV. JOHN H. MURRAY.

Mr. Murray was in the ministry for several years and at one time was an associate of the famous evangelist and preacher, Benjamin Fay Mills.

STATE MEETING OF DEGREE OF HONOR

Delegates From All Parts of State Attend Duluth Convention.

The annual state convention of the Degree of Honor, opened a one day's session today at Columbia hall, with about fifty delegates in attendance. There were representatives present from all parts of the state.

The afternoon session will be an open meeting and a program will be carried out under the direction of Progress lodge, No. 6 of the West end, which has charge of the arrangements for the annual meeting.

One of the features of the convention will be the banquet which will be held at 6 o'clock. Mayor Cullum will attend and will respond to the toast of "The City of Duluth." Among the other speakers will be: Mrs. Dora E. Burgess of Minneapolis, grand chief of honor; Mrs. Elizabeth C. Schroeder of Minneapolis, past grand chief of honor, and Mrs. Luella C. Fleming of St. Paul, grand recorder.

Following the banquet, the delegates will go into secret session, at which time, the degree work will be exemplified on a large class of candidates.

RESUMES REGULAR FALL CHURCH SERVICES.

After the usual summer lull, fall work will be started at the Grace M. E. church, Twenty-second avenue west and Third street, next Sunday, Sept. 17. Rev. George E. Silloway, the new pastor, is now ready to take charge of affairs and he has mapped out a busy program.

The next three weeks will be in preparation for the conference. The fourth quarterly conference of the local congregation will be held on Sept. 27 at Grace church.

In the Sunday school, services will be held at 12 noon hereafter on Sundays instead of 11:45 o'clock and the evening services will commence at 7:30 o'clock instead of 8. Now that the teachers and children of the Sunday school are back from the vacations it is expected that the interest in the work will be considerably revived.

Surprise Party.

A surprise party was held last evening at the home of Ole Seaquist, 2302 West Third street, in his honor. Mr. Seaquist was married about two weeks ago and the affair was tendered by his friends in the uniform degree team of Vasa Orden, United Swedish Sons of America. He was presented with a clock. About twenty-five were present.

Circle Elects Officers.

The Girls' Sewing circle of the Epworth League of the First Norwegian-Danish M. E. church, Twenty-fourth avenue west and Third street has elected the following officers to serve for the coming year: Miss Emma Iverson, president; Miss Dora Wenstad, vice president; Miss Alice Sorenson, secretary, and Miss Tillie Arenson, treasurer.

Agagos Will Meet.

The Agagos club, an organization of young men in the Central Baptist church, Twentieth avenue west and First street, will hold a social next Tuesday evening at the church. The meeting is intended for members only and the evening will be given over to games, music and refreshments. The newly formed Glee club will give several selections at this time.

West End Briefs.

Mrs. Richard Fox and daughter of Port Arthur, Ont., are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Adams of 2314 West Second street.

Mrs. W. C. Burton of 2127 West Third street entertained the St. Luke's guild of St. Peter's Episcopal church at her home this afternoon.

The last of the series of summer dancing parties to be held under the auspices of the Adams Athletic association will take place this evening at Lincoln park pavilion.

The Rebekah guild of St. Peter's Episcopal church was entertained yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John Wallin of 2322 West Sixth street.

Mrs. A. M. Worthington of West Third street and Miss Dorothy Kohagen of the Kohagen flats, have left for a trip to the Pacific coast.

John Erickson and daughter, Gerda, of Twenty-first avenue west left yesterday for a visit to Two Harbors.

An entertainment was held last evening at St. Jean Baptiste hall, under the auspices of St. Louis court, No. 177, of the Catholic Order of Foresters.

Fire damaged the home of A. Gresthilm, 2916 West Third street, $200 last evening, the principal loss being confined to the roof. The house was owned by A. L. Ackertson.

MACCABEES FOR RAISE IN RATES

Grand Camp Votes to Increase Rates of Old Members.

Port Huron, Mich., Sept. 14.—The report of the committees in session yesterday recommending a raise in rates of old members of the Knights of the Modern Maccabees, was adopted late last night by the grand camp. The opposition, expected to be strong, was overwhelmingly swamped.

The executive committee was empowered to make changes in the laws of the lodge to pave the way for the new rate arrangement.

CHENG-TU UNDER SIEGE BY REBELS

Missionaries Inside Walls and City Has 1,800 Troops.

Pekin, Sept. 14.—Latest advices received by the Chinese foreign board and the foreign legations indicate that Cheng-Tu, capital of Sze-Cheun province, is under siege, that most, if not all the missionaries are inside the walls, and that the city is garrisoned by 1,800 troops, who have had several engagements with the besieging forces. A dispatch from Tsu-Chau, dated Sept. 12, said the troops were firing upon the rebels from the Cheng-Tu walls and that the besiegers had lost many men. The belief is held there that the garrison is capable of resisting the attacks of any number of organized rebels from the outside.

STILL BOOMING "FIGHTING BOB"

Clapp Says La Follette Is Only Possible Progressive Candidate.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The Lord made the sun and the moon and the earth and Adam, then La Follette, according to the belief of Senator Moses E. Clapp. Minnesota's junior senator, read out of the party some time ago by President Taft, is playing a harp with 10,000 strings right now for "Fighting Bob" of the Badger state. Anent him, Senator Clapp said:

"As the constructive ability of Senator La Follette, as is evidenced by the permanency and general approval now by all classes in Wisconsin, of the legislation he has put forward in that state, comes to be better understood, he will develop a great strength among the people who realize that the only settlement of the issues that today are presented in this country that can be permanent, must be the wise and just settlement.

"So-called party leaders are beginning more and more to realize that if the Republican party wins next year, it has to present a man in harmony with the general trend of sentiment along progressive lines and it will not do to risk another campaign under reactionary leadership.

"The lesson of last fall when we lost Maine, partially lost Massachusetts; lost New Jersey; narrowly escaped losing Pennsylvania; were overwhelmingly defeated in Ohio as well as West Virginia, is too recent to be lost even upon reactionary party leaders.

"While among the Republicans who believe in progressive policies, there has been some difference of opinion as to the candidates, still it is now so rapidly centering upon Senator La Follette that I think he will be, in fact is, already recognized as the only possible Progressive candidate."

Aged Pair Eat Together.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 14.—William Bell ate heartily yesterday of a dinner given in honor of his 99th birthday. At his side and with appetite just as keen, was Benjamin West, Sr., who celebrated his 99th birthday last month. Although both men have lived in Minneapolis for ten years, yesterday's dinner brought them together for the first time.

BIG SWINDLE IS NEAR MATURITY

London Men Were to Be Swindled Out of $500,000.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—The arrest of S. A. Potter, charged with being the leader of a group of confidence men, is expected to prevent the scheme now near maturity in which London men were to be swindled out of half a million dollars by a salted mine scheme.

Harold Auivers of Grafton Square, London, already is in America and was prepared to invest extensively in the scheme, and his associates are now on the ocean on their way to New York to participate in the investment offered, according to James E. Stuart, postoffice inspector here.

Edward A. Starkloff, said by the secret service men to share with Potter in providing the brains of the swindles, and who narrowly escaped arrest here yesterday, is believed to be traveling either to New York or Boston, with the expectation of meeting the Englishmen on their arrival.

Auivers received a letter a few weeks ago, addressed to a wealthy uncle, deceased, in which the writer said he had been entrusted to arrange with the recipient for his share of an immensely valuable gold mine. "I have with me 300 ounces of pure gold from the mine to give you or your representatives. It is so rich it must not be assayed or melted in the United States. It would be folly to allow even a hint of our find to become known. Therefore, it is to be taken by you in bond to England to be melted."

Ankley's uncle's heirs believed in the writer, and made arrangements to come here and buy the mine.

Fear that even now the deal might be consummated if Potter obtained his release was given by C. F. Dewoody, division superintendent of the department of justice, as the reason why Potter's bonds should be placed so high as to be prohibitive.

The following poetic acrostic was lately received by the management of Chauncey Olcott, and is one of the many interesting souvenirs which are highly prized by that clever actor and singer:

Chauncey, I'm sure you're a broth of a boy;
Here's wishing you long life and very much joy,
And ne'er may you lose that pure golden voice,
Unequalled, it sure is, it is my one choice.
No son of old Ireland but feels its appeal;
Called back are fond memories, you make them seem real.
Erin's green shores, each lake and each rill,
You bring to our view, our eyes with tears fill.
Other actors may please me, but one thing I know,
Laughter and tears are combined in your show;
Colleens so gay, like I saw in my youth,
Oh, it's just like the "ould sod," that is the truth.
There's one night I'm sure is the best night for me,
That's the night when my Olcott I go to see.

When the South African war broke out, Fred Lindsay, who is at the Orpheum this week, was in the back country of Australia with a "mob" of cattle. It was in that country he learned to trifle with his stock whip in the way that now makes him willy nilly, a celebrity in the international show world. News of the African trouble reached him and he left the stock to graze for itself while he hiked for Queensland. He arrived in time to be among the first of the colonial bushmen to enlist and then he left for the war front and went under fire more than ninety times during the subsequent unpleasantness.

After the shooting was over he ranged over into the Uganda country and wound up by putting a pot of money into an East African ranch. Then he went "home" which, to this particular Britisher, no matter where he had traveled, meant England.

"But this is all ancient tale," said he. "I'm more interested to learn about your country out here than you are to learn about me. My wife and I have been wondering how to make our fortunes and we believe we have hit it. We've decided it is to be done through Duluth real estate. With this harbor of yours you can no more help being a great city than New York could have helped it, or than Sydney could have helped it, and you can buy a farm near town for almost nothing. Mr. Lindsay purposes to continue on over the circuit and then quit "the bally show business" and retire to his Canadian farm near Saskatoon.

To have one's ability compared to that of a Warfield or an Irving would be enough to turn the head of the average young man, but it has had no such effect on Harry First, who is starring in "The Strongest Link" at the Empress this week. Although but 29 years of age, Mr. First is hailed as one of the coming stars of the country and critics all predict a most brilliant future for him. Mr. First entered theatrical life in vaudeville, doing a Hebrew monologue, but he soon gave this up as he says that he did not like the idea of burlesquing any race of people. He then took up the study of the Hebrew race, its mannerisms and characteristics and is today one of the greatest portrayer of Hebrew characters before the public. Mr. First made his initial appearance in Duluth some twelve years ago in a heavy dramatic piece, "At the Strike of Twelve," and has been coming to the city at intervals ever since. Mr. First loves his art for art's sake and is always seeking means whereby he can improve his work. Those who have seen "The Strongest Link" have said that it has a charm and simplicity that is beyond understanding, yet after each matinee performance, Mr. First has the cast rehearse the whole piece, trying to improve it. After the present tour, Mr. First will return to New York when "The Strongest Link" will be rewritten into a three-act play.

Toledo, Ohio, Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Grace Van Studdiford filled the Auditorium theater last night at the opening performance this season of her Metropolitan company in "The Paradise of Mahomet." This is the French comic opera that Manager Daniel V. Arthur secured for Miss Van Studdiford after it had run for two years in Paris. It was a big success in New York last season at the Herald Square theater. The music is particularly pleasing. A duet entitled, "There's Something About You Dear that Appeals to Me," took a dozen encores. The staging is gorgeous. Besides the personal triumph of the star individual hits were made by Lara Burt, John McCowan, Florence Rother, Edward Mora and Florence Kolb.

LOSS BY WIND STORM HEAVY

Part of Copper Roof of Illinois State Capitol Carried Away.

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 14.—Spreading wreck and ruin in its wake, one of the most disastrous wind storms ever experienced in this city held Springfield and Central Illinois in its grip for three hours yesterday. The damage caused by the storm will total hundreds of thousands of dollars.

One death is reported from Taylorville, where Raymond Ives, a lineman, was electrocuted while repairing broken wires.

By far the largest single loss was that sustained by the state of Illinois, when the wind carried away a large portion of the new copper roof of the state capitol, adding to the destruction by blowing in numerous windows and uprooting shade trees and hurling them in a confused mass about the state house grounds. The loss is estimated at $50,000.

The state also suffered severe losses at the state fair grounds and Camp Lincoln.

TWENTY EMPLOYES ARE DROPPED FROM THE ROLLS.

Washington, Sept. 14.—Building operations on many public buildings throughout the country may be stopped indefinitely as a result of an order issued yesterday by the treasury department dropping from the rolls of the supervising architects office eighty employes, mostly draftsmen.

This step was taken as the result of congress at the last session failing to make a sufficient appropriation to cover the expenses of the supervising architect's office for the fiscal year. The employes affected will cease working for the government at the end of the present month.

City Loss $39,000.

Philadelphia, Sept. 14.—Testimony tending to show that the city lost $39,000 in a contract for a police and fire station built by John R. Wiggins & Co., was submitted yesterday to the committee investigating the administration of Mayor Heyburn. George Carville, an estimator on building construction, formerly employed by the Wiggins company, testified that the station, which cost approximately $125,000, could have been built for $86,000.

This Week's Sunday School Lesson

WRITTEN FOR THE HERALD BY REV. J. S. KIRTLEY, D. D.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON: SEPT. 17.

Daniel III, 13-28; Daniel's Companions in the Fiery Furnace.

THE CONNECTION.

This is about sixteen years after Daniel and his young friends won the favor of the king. Daniel acquired still greater influence by telling and interpreting the dream he had forgotten. That put him next to the king in authority and his friends in important places. Now the king has been successful in carrying his conquests far out into the world and he has a big occasion to bring the head men from all those countries together and thus unify his kingdom; also to get his god, Bel-Meodach, widely recognized. So he has the officers, civil and legal, and learned men, or magicians, together. They and all the people are to fall down, at a signal, and worship the great image, made of wood or clay, and covered with gold, which he had set upon the plains of Dura, outside of Babylon. He was feeling pretty big and this would solidify him with gods and men. How he ever came to imagine the three Hebrews would join in the idolatry we don't know. They didn't and the king was in a rage.

THE LESSON.

The King's Command Defied, 13-18.

"Then Nebuchadnezzar in his rage and fury commanded to bring Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego. Then they brought these men before the king. Nebuchadnezzar answered and said unto them, Is it of purpose, O Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego, that ye serve not my god, nor worship the golden image which I have set up? Now if ye be ready that at what time ye hear the sound of the cornet, flute, harp, sackbut, psaltery, and dulcimer, and all kinds of music, ye fall down and worship the image which I have made, well; but if ye worship not, ye shall be cast the same hour into the midst of a burning fiery furnace; and who is that god that shall deliver you out of my hands? Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego answered and said to the king, O Nebuchadnezzar, we have no need to answer thee in this matter. If it be so, our God whom we serve is able to deliver us from the burning fiery furnace; and he will deliver us out of thy hand, O king. But if not, be it known unto thee, O king, that we will not serve thy gods, nor worship the golden image which thou has set up."

1. COURAGE.—It was marvelous courage—to stand out against the gala occasion, to defy their king, to resist the music, which was the very best possible, with horn and reed and stringed instruments, to seem to work against the government of which they were officers. The occasion would sweep one into acquiescence, if anything would. Social, sentimental, political, personal considerations would all be apt to prompt to obedience. But they stood out, by themselves. Where was Daniel? Perhaps away on affairs of state; possibly sick; possibly present, but not watched. We notice the reasoned character of their position. They were cool, settled and intelligent, confident that God could deliver them, if He thought best, ready to die, in the threatened furnace, if that was His will. Death had no terrors, even the most horrible death. The king's wrath, the sevenfold heated furnace and the death of their executioners failed to alarm them.

2. OPPORTUNITY.—The king was astonished that they could have defied him and asked them in a way to imply that it was surely a mistake and that they would like to accept the second chance he gave them. He was angry, but waited to be sure of their revolt.

II.

The Furnace Welcomed. 19-23.

"Then was Nebuchadnezzar full of fury, and the form of his visage was changed against Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego; therefore he spake, and commanded that they should heat the furnace seven times more than it was wont to be heated. And he commanded certain mighty men that were in his army to bind Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, and to cast them into the burning fiery furnace. Then these men were bound in their breeches, their tunics, and their mantles, and their other garments, and were cast into the midst of the burning fiery furnace. Therefore because the king's commandment was urgent, and the furnace exceeding hot, the flame of the fire slew those men that took up Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego. And these three men, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, fell down bound into the midst of the burning fiery furnace."

1. MADNESS.—The king lost all hold on himself and his face was all the severer that he had known and honored them for years. They had probably burned people in that furnace before and now the naptha, found around Babylon, could quickly make as hot a fire as the hot heart of the king desired. He couldn't wait to take from them their official robes, or perhaps he wanted them to be burned in these robes, as an example. This was all done so quickly Daniel didn't have time to know of it, even if he were there.

2. CALMNESS.—They walked into that furnace as if into a house and fell down bound on the floor only to have their hands burned off and to be lifted to their feet by God's messenger, and kept alive and in good company, while those who put them in were consumed by the flames.

III.

Three Saved, King Humiliated. 24-28.

"Then Nebuchadnezzar the king was astonished, and rose up in haste: he spake and said unto his counsellors, Did not we cast three men bound into the midst of the fire? They answered and said unto the king, True, O king. He answered and said, Lo, I see four men loose, walking in the midst of the fire, and they have no hurt; and the aspect of the fourth is like a son of the gods. Then Nebuchadnezzar came near the mouth of the burning fiery furnace: he spake and said, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, ye servants of the Most High God, come forth, and come hither. Then Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego came forth out of the midst of the fire. And the satraps, the deputies, and the governors, and the king's counsellors, being gathered together, saw these men, that the fire had no power upon their bodies, nor was the hair of their heads singed, neither were their breeches changed, nor had the smell of fire passed on them.

"Nebuchadnezzar spake and said, Blessed be the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, who hath sent His angel and delivered His servants that trusted in Him, and have changed the king's word, and have yielded their bodies, that they might not serve nor worship any except their own God."

1. GOD.—He was with them, in the person of his messenger, whose divine character was easily perceived by the king. Was that an angel or was it Christ? He was with them to save, but not more than He is with those who can best serve Him by being burned or beheaded.

2. CONTRITION.—The king's contrition was complete and it had an element of nobility in it. Nebuchadnezzar had fine traits. His conceit was hardly surprising. If anybody might be puffed up, he might. He recognized their nobility and courage and that was something. He watched them with interest, born of his previous knowledge of them, and was the first to see their heavenly attendant. He confessed their righteousness and his wrong. He praised them for disobeying him and urged them to worship their own God always. He seemed to be converted to God, but he only believed in Him as one of many gods, perhaps the best one of all. But God had vindicated His own and Himself, so that there was not even the smell of fire on their garments.

WHAT THE MASTERS SAY.

In those days Babylon was the metropolis of the world, the center of commerce, art and wisdom. The great plain on which it lay, a paradise of fertility and cultivation, was intersected by countless canals, both small and great, serving alike for irrigation and navigation. Babylon was a university city. The wealth of the world poured into the coffers of the Babylonish merchants.—Prothero.

If the fire does consume, that is no proof that God has failed of his word. John Huss was burned at Constance, but there are fresh flowers every day upon that spot, and there are thousands turning to Christ today because of that atrocity. James was slain by the sword, and Peter came out of prison all in a brief time. Some men show how God is able to deliver out of the furnace, and some men show by their intrepid death how true the religion of Christ is. What is the difference? Those who pass through fiery trial and dreadful persecution obtain the crown the sooner. To God belongs the planning of both life and death for each one of us; to us belongs the fidelity that is even unto death.—Burrows.

PERTINENT QUESTIONS.

1—Is it ever right to silently approve wrong?

2—How does the death of the martyr advance his cause?

3—Do we have modern instances of similar heroism?

4—What were the good traits of Nebuchadnezzar?

5—What were the far reaching effects of this heroism?

Former Member of Board of Control Discusses Whittier Case.

Says Ringdahl and Vasaly Will Decide Case on the Evidence.

Dawson, Minn., Sept. 14.—The Sentinel publishes the following letter from Hon. Charles Halvorson, former member of the state board of control and a Republican, who is thoroughly competent to speak on the subject he treats:

"Charges of cruel and inhuman treatment of the boys in the training school at Red Wing were made by Senator Stephens against Supt. F. A. Whittier. A joint committee of the legislature was appointed by the lieutenant governor and the speaker to investigate those charges. The committee held several hearings. Many witnesses appeared before the committee and testified. It must be remembered that Mr. Whittier felt so secure and innocent of the charges made against him that he did not employ an attorney to handle his case before the committee. The committee made its report to the legislature. The report contained a clause recommending the removal of Mr. Whittier as superintendent. Both the senate and the house refused to adopt the report with the clause in it. The clause was stricken out and the report adopted.

"The action of the legislature greatly displeased both Senator Stephens and the governor. Immediately the governor commenced to proclaim from the housetops and through interviews in the columns of the press, that he would remove Mr. Whittier. The attorney general held that the governor had no power to remove the superintendent. This very plain and simple law the governor, as a lawyer, should have known. The governor's interviews about the removal of Mr. Whittier came thick and fast, evidently for the purpose of influencing public opinion. Why did he not say, through the newspapers, to the people of the state, with the dignity of his important and high position, that proper complaint would be made against Mr. Whittier and that a legal hearing had before the proper tribunal, that a representative from the legal department of the state would assist the board of control in the conduct of the hearing, to protect the state's interest in the case?

Fair-Minded Men.

"This the governor could have done with perfect assurance that justice would be done. He knows, as well as any man in the state, that the board is composed of fair-minded and intelligent men who would not tolerate any cruelty on the part of Mr. Whittier or any superintendent of any of the state institutions. It must be remembered that the board heard every bit of evidence from the lips of the witnesses; they saw the witnesses on the stand, and knew the history of the boys, former inmates of the training school, knew their general character, good or bad. I know the board is composed of kind-hearted, intelligent and honorable gentlemen, and men of ability, who in every public act endeavor to serve the state faithfully and honestly. What reason can any one have for thinking that they will not decide the case from the evidence, credibility of the witnesses considered? The public knows the case only from the garbled reports in the newspapers that are busy getting the machine in running order for the re-election of Governor Eberhart. The people neither see nor hear the witnesses, nor do they know their history; how can they be as competent judges as the board? It is impossible.

Settle Questions on Merits.

"I had the pleasure of being associated with Mr. Ringdahl and Mr. Vasaly as a member of the board two years, and I know that every question that comes before them is settled on its merits. I know that as long as these men are on the board, not a dollar will be lost to the state, either through negligence, incompetency or dishonesty. The board transacts millions of business for the state in a year. Knowing this, and reading in the papers that Governor Eberhart will remove Mr. Ringdahl and Mr. Vasaly from the board if Mr. Whittier is exonorated, I am satisfied that, notwithstanding these threats, the board will decide the case on the evidence. I feel it my duty to the state and to the members of the board of control who have served so ably and so honestly, to make this statement. Every contractor who ever took a contract to build a building for the state and every superintendent of any state institution who has transacted business with the board, knows that I am only stating the facts. I do not believe the governor will make an attempt to remove these men. We must not forget, however, that it is not difficult to tell what an able and strong man would do, but it is difficult to tell where a feather in the wind will blow to. I trust the governor will act in accordance with the dignity of his position and not play the part of a peanut politician.

"Yours respectfully,
"CHAS. HALVORSON."

CONFESSES TO MURDER

Johnson Admits Killing of Little Annie Lemberger at Madison.

Sentenced to Life Imprisonment and Is Rushed to Waupun.

Madison, Wis., Sept. 14.—John, otherwise known as "Dogskin" Johnson, last evening confessed to the abduction and murder of little Annie Lemberger, the 7-year-old child, whose body was found in Lake Monona on Saturday morning last, and was immediately sentenced by Judge Anthony Donovan to life imprisonment.

A few minutes after his confession and sentence, Johnson was taken in an automobile by Sheriff Andrew Brown, a deputy, whisked away through side streets and across the country at a rapid clip to the state prison at Waupun. The greatest secrecy was maintained because of fears that Johnson might be lynched.

Johnson was taken into custody Saturday morning on suspicion but after being questioned, was released about noon. The officers had him under surveillance all day and in the evening brought him in again and held him under suspicion. Although officers suspected Johnson of knowing something about the crime, they could not fasten guilt upon him absolutely.

On the strength of suspicion lodged against him, he was taken to court yesterday, pleaded not guilty and placed under a $10,000 bond, the preliminary examination being set for Sept. 25. The prisoner was then taken back to his cell and, in a frightened manner, hurried along ahead of the officers.

Wished to Confess.

Toward evening Turnkey John Foye was called by Johnson and told that he wished to make a confession. Chief of Police Shaughnessy was at once informed of the prisoner's desire, and sent word to District Attorney R. N. Nelson. The county prosecutor, chief of police and other officials soon gathered at the courthouse and in a few moments the prisoner was before Judge Anthony Donovan and related his story, which was a confession of the brutal crime.

Attorney Emerson Ela was appointed by the court to defend the prisoner, but there was no defense to stand upon in face of the confession, and it was but a matter of a few minutes when the prisoner heard his doom from the lips of Judge Donovan, which was that he spend the remainder of his life at the state penitentiary at Waupun.

The greatest secrecy was maintained because of fears that Johnson might be lynched.

Brooded in His Cell.

Haunted by the terrible crime he had committed against an innocent girl, Johnson brooded in his cell at the police station all day following his arraignment in the morning.

Abandoning his sham of insanity, he paced restlessly back and forth in his cell waiting anxiously for the first sounds of an angry mob. The Bible, which he had been perusing since he was placed in jail, was thrown carelessly in the corner.

Finally the suspense became too great. Calling Turnkey John Foye to the cell, he declared that he was willing to tell all.

In the presence of the chief of police, district attorney and turnkey, who listened horrified, he related how he had taken the small child from her bedroom. He raised the sash, he said, and dragged the child through the window. He took her to the railroad bridge and then threw her into the lake.

Johnson said he did not want to make a detailed confession because he wanted to be on his way to Waupun to avoid mob violence. He said he would make a written confession after he had been safely lodged in prison.

Served Previous Sentence.

Johnson has already served a term in the penitentiary, and several years ago he was taken to the Mendota hospital for the insane after he had assaulted a little girl.

Johnson lived but a few doors from the Lemberger home. The announcement of Johnson's confession was made at 3:45 p. m.

Ever since Saturday, Johnson had been sweated and subjected to hours of gruelling examination. At first he refused to admit that he had killed the girl and maintained he had been at his home throughout the night. This was further substantiated by his two daughters, who were positive, they said, that their father had been at home.

Young Mothers

No young woman, in the joy of coming motherhood, should neglect to prepare her system for the physical ordeal she is to undergo. The health of both she and her coming child depends largely upon the care she bestows upon herself during the waiting months. Mother's Friend prepares the expectant mother's system for the coming event, and its use makes her comfortable during all the term. It works with and for nature, and by gradually expanding all tissues, muscles and tendons, involved, and keeping the breasts in good condition, brings the woman to the crisis in splendid physical condition. The baby too is more apt to be perfect and strong where the mother has thus prepared herself for nature's supreme function. No better advice could be given a young expectant mother than that she use Mother's Friend; it is a medicine that has proven its value in thousands of cases. Mother's Friend is sold at drug stores. Write for free book for expectant mothers which contains much valuable information, and many suggestions of a helpful nature.

A LITTLE DANDERINE WILL MAKE YOUR HAIR LUSTROUS, SOFT, FLUFFY, ABUNDANT

Get a 25 Cent Bottle Now and Forever Stop Falling Hair, Itching Scalp and Dandruff

If you Wish to Double the Beauty of your Hair in Ten Minutes surely Try a Danderine Hair Cleanse

Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a Danderine hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you have doubled the beauty of your hair.

A delightful surprise awaits particularly those who have been careless, whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair at once, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

Try as you will, after one application of Danderine you cannot find any dandruff or a loose or falling hair, and your scalp will never itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair sprouting all over the scalp. Danderine makes the hair grow long, heavy and luxuriant and we can prove it. If you care for pretty, soft hair and lots of it surely get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any druggist or toilet counter, and just try it.

SUFFERED AGONY WITH ITCHING

And Burning. Sores Like Boils All Over Body. Parts of Flesh Raw. Could Scarcely Bear Clothes On. Nearly Worn Out When He Tried Cuticura Remedies and Was Cured.

"About four years ago I broke out with sores on my arms like boils. After two months they were all over my body, some coming, and some going away. In about six months the boils quit, but my arms, neck and body broke out with an itching, burning rash. It would burn and itch, and come out in pimples like grains of wheat. I was in a terrible condition. I could not sleep or rest. Parts of my flesh were raw, and I could scarcely bear my clothes on. I could not lie in bed in any position and rest. In about a year the sores extended down to my feet. Then I suffered agony with the burning, itching sores. I could hardly walk and for a long time could not put on socks.

"All this time I was trying everything I could hear of and had the skill of three doctors. They said it was eczema. I got no benefit from all this. I was nearly worn out and had given up in despair of ever being cured when I was advised by a friend to try Cuticura Remedies. I purchased Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Resolvent, and used exactly as directed. I used the Cuticura Remedies constantly for four months, and cotinue else, and was perfectly cured. It is now a year, and I have not had the least bit since. I am ready to praise the Cuticura Remedies at any time." (Signed) E. L. Cato, Exie, Ky., Nov. 10, 1910.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold throughout the world. Send to Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Dept. 21A, Boston, for free sample of each with 32-p. book on the skin.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

TEACHING OF AGRICULTURE

Best Method of Accomplishing That End to Be Discussed.

School Heads, Directors and Instructors to Confer Sept. 22.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—An "agricultural conference" between principals of schools, directors and special instructors, has been called by C. G. Schulz, state superintendent of public instruction, to be held at the College of Agriculture, St. Paul, Sept. 22 and 23. The conference will be in the nature of an open meeting to discuss the courses of agriculture to be taught in the high and graded schools of the state and to arrange in a general way, a more or less uniform plan.

"The purpose," Mr. Schulz says in a circular letter, "is not to mark out any new departure or to attempt to establish new rules or principles according to which industrial training in agriculture can be best carried on through public schools. It is rather for the purpose of agreeing upon certain lines of activity which should characterize the work throughout the state. The high school board desires to make these schools mutually helpful, establish co-operation."

Mr. Schulz calls attention to the fact $385,000 is to be expended within the next two years among schools which carry courses in industrial training, and he believes that of lack of definite purpose and lack of well-conceived aim, may lead to waste and a failure to gain concrete results. The program for the two days' follows:

Sept. 22, Afternoon, 1:30.

R. E. Denfeld, superintendent of schools, Duluth, presiding.

"Object of Conference," C. G. Schulz, superintendent of public instruction.

"The Philosophy of Agricultural Teaching," George E. Vincent, president University of Minnesota.

"Survey of Agricultural Teaching in the State," George B. Alton, inspector of high schools.

"Modification of Present Courses; a. What to Omit; b. What to Include."

"Time Element in Agricultural Instruction."

"Respects in Which Schools Should Be; a. Alike; b. Unlike."

Sept. 22, Evening, 8 o'Clock.

T. A. Erickson, superintendent of Douglas county, presiding.

"The Sequence of Agricultural Subjects," A. F. Woods, dean of the college of Agriculture.

"Extension Work; a. Short courses for students; b. Short courses for farmers; c. Short courses for rural teachers."

Sept. 23, Morning, 9 o'Clock.

George F. James, dean of the college of education, University of Minnesota, presiding.

"Association; a. Extent desirable; b. Work in rural schools; c. Duty and authority of superintendent and agricultural instructor; d. appointment of teachers."

"The Relation of the Agricultural Course to Farm Life."

"The Sphere of Agricultural Instructor as a Teacher and an Investigator."

"School farm; a. Nature and extent; b. Demonstration plot; c. School Gardens; d. Record of work."

"Supplies and Equipment."

"Text Books and Helps."

TRAILL COUNTY FAIR ATTRACTS

Much Interest in Show to Be Given at Hillsboro, N. D.

Hillsboro, N. D., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Interest in the Traill county fair to be held here Oct. 3, 4 and 5 has grown to such an extent that the fair association has let the contracts for the erection of a new general exhibit building and a new barn. All the other buildings will be given a coat of fresh paint and other improvements are being made that will put the grounds in first-class shape. The new exhibit building is to be large and of a modern style that will add considerably to the appearance of the grounds.

The directors are meeting daily for the purpose of arranging new attractions for the fair and are negotiating with an aviation company for aeroplane flights every day. They have also decided to name one day as children's day and issue complimentary tickets to all under a certain age. The business men are boosting to make the fair a success and the farmers have never exhibited a more general interest. Demands for space in the exhibiting buildings are being made every day and the prediction is that the products of Traill county's rich soil will make a fair not excelled in this section.

Walhalla Fair Oct. 4.

Walhalla, N. D., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first annual exhibition under the direction of the Walhalla Fair association will be held here Oct. 4. The regular prizes run from 50 cents to $5 and are offered for all classes of agriculture, stock, garden products, needle work, art, home and shop industries, while special prizes running as high as $15 are also included in the list, given by large manufacturing firms and public spirited citizens.

EXPECT DISSENTERS

From Northern Swedish M. E. Conference at Minneapolis.

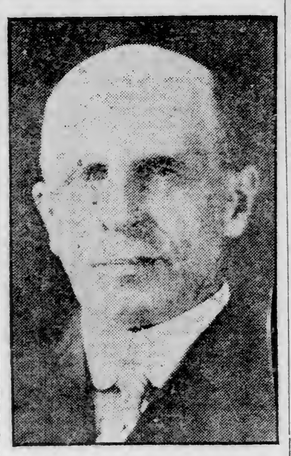

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 14.—According to Rev. W. F. Edwards, superintendent of the Minneapolis and St. Paul district, two, and probably more ministers affiliated with the Northern Swedish conference, will sever their connections with the church at the eighteenth annual conference which opened here today. The Rev. Mr. Edwards said the "dissenters" probably would identify themselves with the Lutheran church.

Bishop Robert McIntyre will preside over the conference.

COURT ADMITS ERROR AND GRANTS NEW TRIAL.

Marquette, Mich., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge Flannigan has granted a new trial in the case of Samuel Robinson, who was convicted of killing Clement Smith at Northland. Judge Flannigan believes that he erred in charging the jury as to the extent that an individual could proceed in protecting his life. The case will be retried at the present session of the Marquette county court.

SOO ATTORNEY GOES ON SUPREME BENCH

JUSTICE JOSEPH H. STEERE.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—Judge Joseph H. Steere of this city, who has been appointed a justice of the state supreme court by Governor Charles Osborn to succeed the late Justice Hooker, was born May 19, 1852, at Addison, Lenawee county, Mich. His early days were spent on his father's farm. He attended the district school and the Raisin Valley seminary, a Quaker school, from which he graduated in 1871. The following year he entered the literary department of the University of Michigan and was graduated in 1876 with the degree of B. A.

Completing his school life Judge Steere entered the law office of Goddes & Miller at Adrian, where he spent two years in study and was admitted to the bar in 1870.

In the spring of 1873 Judge Steere came to Sault Ste. Marie and began the practice of law, since which time he has claimed this city as his home. He was elected to the office of prosecuting attorney and in 1881 was elevated to the bench in the Eleventh judicial circuit of Michigan. This position he filled with honor and distinction for thirty consecutive years, resigning to accept a seat on the supreme bench of the state.

EXPOSITION TO PROVE BENEFIT

Forthcoming Show at Bismarck to Advertise North Dakota's Resources.

Bismarck, N. D., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—With only ten working days remaining until the date for the opening of the North Dakota industrial exposition, the first of its kind in this state, Commissioner of Agriculture and Labor W. C. Gilbreath is sanguine as to the success of the venture. The interest that has been shown all over the state in the exposition, as well as from out of the state, is responsible for the commissioner's belief that the show will be a complete vindication of his stand that North Dakotans need education as to the vastness of the resources of their own state.

"I believe that one of the most important results that will be obtained by this exposition will be found in the creation of better home sentiment," Mr. Gilbreath said. "In my experience as commissioner of agriculture, the duties of which position are largely of an immigration promotion nature, I have come to learn that one of the best ways to gain outside interest in your state is to show by your own actions that you are thoroughly confident of its future."

Every day of the three weeks that have been set apart for the exposition will be filled with good features. The program that has been arranged is an exceptionally elaborate one, and in the various sessions that will be held there will be addresses by many prominent Northwest citizens, including the heads of three of the most important railroad systems, J. J. Hill, Louis Hill, Howard Elliott and Edward Pennington.

THREE STATES IN CONFERENCE

Annual Gathering of Northern District of Sunday School Union.

Grand Forks, N. D., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The first annual conference of the Northern district of the American Sunday School union will begin Saturday, when the corps of missionaries maintained in Minnesota, North Dakota and Montana will confer here.

The union confines itself practically entirely to work in the rural districts, interdenominational in its character, and its work extends over all parts of the United States. In the Northwest it has been particularly active, Minnesota being the field for the largest amount of work in the northern district.

The first session of the union will take place Saturday evening.

Monday morning the active work will be commenced. Rev. W. J. Smith of Brainerd, Minn., will open the session and he will be followed by Rev. J. O. Ferris of Minneapolis, who will deliver an address to the missionaries. He will be followed by an open conference with Rev. George P. Williams, D. D., secretary of missions, Philadelphia, in charge. In the afternoon the first speaker is Rev. C. Larson, Princeton, Minn., "What Manner of a Man Should the Missionary Be," is the subject assigned to Rev. George E. Andrick, Minneapolis, the general missionary of the district. "The Missionary and His Equipment for Service" will be taken up by Rev. Paul J. Gramness of Virginia, Minn., while "Closely Adhering to Our Commission" is the subject of which Rev. L. S. Stapf of Owatonna, Minn., will talk. Grove A. Gruman of Minneapolis, vice president, will also speak during the afternoon.

Monday Evening's Addresses.

In the evening Rev. A. L. Holden of Bemidji, Minn., will open the session, and there will be two important addresses. Dr. George P. Williams of Philadelphia will speak on "Distinctive Features of the American Sunday School Union," while "The Problems of the Country Church" will be dealt with by Rev. Joseph Wells of Des Moines.

On Tuesday these subjects will be discussed: "How Can the American Sunday School Union Aid the Men and Religion Forward Movement," Kirk E. Wallace, Grand Forks; "Working With a Vision of the Future," Joseph O. Doolittle, Valley City, N. D.; "The Model Country School," Rev. R. W. Newman, Missoula, Mont.; "The Missionary as a Force in His Field," Rev. H. J. Snyder, Grand Rapids, Minn.; "What is Our Attitude Toward the Relation to Denominational and Other Religious Agencies," Rev. W. W. Johnstone, Chicago; "The Possibilities of the Home Department in the Country," Rev. J. C. Jorgenson, Dickinson, N. D.

Wednesday Closing Day.

Wednesday, too, will see a very heavy program as it is the closing day of the gathering. The speakers chosen follow: "Special Days in Our Sunday Schools," Rev. I. D. McBain, Willow City, N. D.; "The Work of Our Society in Old Settled Districts," Rev. Cyrus Sullivan, Willmar, Minn.; "The Child in Its Relation to the World's Activities," Rev. A. B. Gould, Jarret, Minn.; "My First Address to a Country Community," Rev. L. W. Bates, Grafton, N. D.; "The Future of Our Schools, or Their Permanency," Rev. George B. Caley, Marshall, Minn.; "The Sunday School as an Evangelistic Agency," Rev. W. W. Johnstone, Chicago; "Co-operation Between the Educational and Missionary Forces of the Sunday School," Rev. Walter A. Snow, Fargo; "Our Endeavor Along Evangelistic Lines," Rev. R. W. Roberts, Brainerd, Minn.

FARMER IS ATTACKED.

Another Outrage in Polish Settlement Near St. Cloud.

St. Cloud, Minn., Sept. 14.—An alleged attempt to assassinate Peter Wolne, a farmer living near Opole, sixteen miles north of St. Cloud, is the latest outrage in a long list of law violations in the Polish settlements hereabouts. County Attorney Himsl was advised yesterday that three men held up Wolne by throwing a quantity of dynamite under his wagon. The wagon was wrecked and the team of horses injured. When Wolne showed fight, one of the three men opened fire with a revolver, wounding the farmer in the neck.

County Attorney Himsl recently received an anonymous threat that he would be killed if he set foot in Hollingford, another Polish town. The county attorney has been active in prosecuting crime in the Polish towns. He is investigating the alleged attack on Wolne.

BEATS WATCH REPAIRING.

Ride on Lake Boat Fixed Ralph Wheelock's Timepiece.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—"Save repair bills! Do not take your watch to a jeweler to be overhauled. New discovery—never fails! Ride a boat from Duluth on the Great lakes. My watch has persistently refused to keep time for the past two years. After having ridden on a Lake Superior vessel for six days it will keep in perfect accord with the official clock at Washington.—Ralph Wheelock."

The foregoing advertisement has not heretofore been printed, but is offered by the secretary to Governor Eberhart free—absolutely free—as free as the wind that blows in mid-winter over the iron range, he says.

Mr. Wheelock, back from his vacation, says his watch varied from two to three minutes a day up to the time he took the lake trip, but since his return it does not vary at all. He attributes it to tonic infused by the steel in the vessel on which he traveled.

STARK COUNTY SUNDAY SCHOOL MEETING OCT. 1.

Richardton, N. D., Sept. 14.—(Special to The Herald.)—The annual convention of the Stark County Sunday School association will be held here Oct. 1 and 2, and the sessions will convene in the Congregational church. The convention brings to the city all the prominent Sunday school workers of the state, and there will be a two days' program of interesting speeches, two of which will be in German. Among the topics to be discussed will be prayer service, sex education, the ideal Sunday school, the country school and how to make a Sunday school grow.

This will be the first time that Richardton has entertained the convention.

PENINSULA BRIEFS

Marquette—A record was established in the Marquette county circuit court Tuesday when 101 applicants for United States citizenship were examined and seventy-nine men were made full-fledged voters. C. W. Primmer, United States naturalization examiner, stated that it was the biggest day's work he had ever done. Ordinarily, the examination of fifty candidates is considered a good day's work.

Negaunee—Word was received here Tuesday afternoon of the death of John Muck, who has lived in Chicago recently, but who is a native of Negaunee. He had been sick for the past two years, and though his demise was a shock to his friends and relatives, it did not come unexpectedly. For many years Mr. Muck was a cigar manufacturer here.

Ishpeming—The Cleveland Cliffs Iron company has awarded J. Wahlman & Son contracts for the erection of two dwellings, one at the Carp river dam site and the other at the water power plant, near the Marquette prison. Both will be six room dwellings.

Marquette—Mrs. C. E. Tyler left Tuesday for Duluth, where she will spend a few days with her son, Edwin, after which she will join her husband, who is in the employ of the Allis Chalmers company, of Milwaukee.

Calumet—John N. Vivian of Calumet, accompanied by two daughters, has left for Gettysburg, Pa., to attend the Gettysburg veterans' reunion next week. Mr. Vivian, although not one of the men who fought on the bloody field, was a member of the famous Fifty-first Pennsylvania and expects to meet many of his old comrades.

Houghton—Thomas Roscoe of Chassell fell into Portage lake at the foot of Huron street Sunday night. His cries attracted Officer Bourassa, who fished Roscoe out just as he had about given up hope. The rescued man was taken to the county jail for the night and released Monday morning.

Hancock—Chester M. Delvey, well known to Hancock and Houghton as one-time manager of the Hotel Scott in Hancock and the Douglass house in Houghton, died Saturday in Milwaukee. Mr. Delvey was about the first manager of the Scott and took charge soon after its completion late in the summer of 1905. For eight years prior to that he had acted as business head of the Douglass house.

Chassell—Efforts are being made to organize a band in Chassell and these are likely to meet with success. About $400 has already been subscribed. One hundred dollars of this was donated by C. H. Worcester. F. N. Mitchell has been made leader of the band.

Marquette — Mary Isabelle Neely, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Neely of Cyr street, and George Lehman of Hibbing, Minn., stole a march on their friends last Saturday afternoon. Each took a different train to Marquette, where they were married by the Rev. Platte T. Amstutz. Only relatives of the bride and groom were present.

Laurium—The fall and winter activities of the Young Men's Catholic club will begin with a smoker to be conducted next Sunday evening. The event will be an informal one, and there is little likelihood of a program being arranged.

Lake Linden—Structural iron workers under Foreman Wonders of Saginaw are in Lake Linden ready to start work on the new bridge over the Trap Rock river, a contract for which was let to the Joliet Iron & Bridge company of Joliet, Ill., last spring. The bridge was to have been completed this month, but it is not likely that it will be ready before next month.

Hancock—Marjorie Corbett, the 7-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Murdock R. Corbett of West Hancock, died Monday evening at 9 o'clock of appendicitis, for which she had undergone an operation.

MINNESOTA BRIEFS

International Falls—A man named John Cowan lost his money, amounting to about $90, while at Ranier last Friday night and swore out a warrant charging Harold Clark, Tom Hanson, Joe Hines and John Green with lifting the roll. The latter had a preliminary hearing Monday in Judge Langland's court and were dismissed for lack of evidence.

Aitkin—Men commenced work at the county fair grounds Monday cleaning up, removing the old fence around the track and putting buildings and stock pens in shape. The dates are Sept. 28, 29 and 30.

International Falls—At the meeting of the city council held Monday night the last $500 liquor license was granted, Scheela & Elliott securing the same. From now on renewals will cost $1,000. The contract for the sewer extensions was given to Frazer & Danforth of Red Wing, for the sum of $11,428.

Little Falls—Besides having the fair in Little Falls this week the city will also entertain the postmasters of the St. Cloud District league, who will meet here on Sept. 15 and 16. W. S. Bartholomew of Avon is president of of league and has sent out notices of the meeting. It is thought that at least fifty postmasters will be in attendance.

St. Cloud—G. J. Baker and C. E. Brown, experts from the state agricultural college, arrived in St. Cloud Monday for the purpose of spending the week at the P. E. Utz farm near St. Cloud, where the college is making a demonstration of scientific theoretical knowledge taught at the agricultural school.

Crookston—Ole Teigen died suddenly at Bethesda hospital. Deceased would have been 39 years of age Jan. 2 next, and he had been a resident of Crookston for the past thirteen years, most of the time in the land business. Mr. Teigen was held in the highest esteem by all who knew him.

East Grand Forks—While out hunting Monday, Julius Cresien, a prominent resident of East Grand Forks, was thrown from a buggy in which he was out hunting when the team ran away. He broke his collar bone and one leg and received other injuries which it is feared will prove fatal.

St. Cloud—Mrs. Anna Fiddler, an old and highly respected resident of Brockway, died Monday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Adolph Zapf, at the age of 65 years.

Stillwater—The Anderson Lumber company of Hudson, Wis., may soon be a Stillwater fixture. Within the last few days it is said that H. J. Anderson, president of the company, has completed the negotiations for a tract of land fifteen acres in extent at South Stillwater from the St. Croix Lumber company.

WISCONSIN BRIEFS

Madison—Commissioner of Banking A. E. Kuoll has approved the articles of incorporation of the Citizens' Bank of Algoma, capital $50,000. The incorporators are P. M. White, Henry Grimm, M. W. Perry and others.

Fond du Lac—Della Soeliner, 17 years, daughter of a Jefferson, Wis., family, is being sought by the authorities here. The girl left Wild Rose, Wis., Sunday after attending the wedding of a brother. Her failure to come home alarmed her family. No trace of the young woman has been found.

Racine—Capt. James Easson, one of the oldest mariners of the Great Lakes, Tuesday celebrated the 79th anniversary of his birth. For many years Capt. Easson was in command of the fastest and largest sailing vessels on the Great Lakes and retired when steamboats replaced the sailing vessels.

Eau Claire — Lightning Tuesday burned George Nanson's barn in the town of Union, loss $2,500; and Lewis Pettes' barn near Fairchild, loss $3,500. Pettes lost a horse valued at $1,200 in the fire.

Oshkosh—Joseph Hobbins, aged 27 years, a lineman in the employ of the Wisconsin Telephone company, was fatally shocked by a live wire while at work here Tuesday afternoon. A wire he was repairing for a residence came in contact with a gas company light wire.

Fond du Lac—Delos H. Smalley, 59 years old, for twenty-two years general agent for Ginn & Co., school book publishers, and one of the best known school book men in the state, was found dead at his home on the lake shore road east of this city on Tuesday.

Marinette—An alleged murderer acting as nurse for an alleged train wrecker, is the unusual scene to be witnessed at the Marinette jail. Charles F. Raue, held for trial on the charge of murdering Mrs. Anna Marlow, is the nurse and Edward Martin, a former city alderman, charged with wrecking a Milwaukee passenger train maliciously, is the patient.

Ashland—Col. John C. Salsman of Madison will inspect the Ashland naval militia on the 24th and 25th of this month. Commander Werder received official notification from Col. Salsman Tuesday to that effect. Cpl. Salsman will probably spend a part of Friday, and all of Saturday and Sunday at Ashland.

DAKOTA BRIEFS

Grand Forks, N. D.—Former Officer John Treacy, accompanied by his daughter, Miss Beatrice, left Friday evening for North Battleford, near which place Mr. Treacy has filed a claim.

Fargo, N. D.—While coming home on No. 7 of the N. P. from St. Paul, Reuben Turner, a well known Fargo man had his clothing and about $12 in money stolen from him. Turner retired for the night and placed his clothing in the window. When he arose shortly before the train reached Detroit he discovered that his clothes were missing.

Devils Lake, N. D.—John O. Beck, who, it is alleged by the authorities of Ramsey county, was "dumped" onto the city of Devils Lake by an attendant at the Fergus Falls insane asylum, was found to be insane. It was also found that the man was not a resident of Ramsey county and he will be sent back to Fergus Falls.

Bismark, N. D.—William McDonald, found guilty in district court of a statutory charge, was sentenced by Judge Winchester to serve ten years at hard labor in the state penitentiary.

Fargo, N. D.—The local executive committee of the North Dakota Educational association is planning for a large number of visitors in the city at the time of the convention of the Flickertail educators, Nov. 1, 2 and 3.

Grand Forks, N. D.—A telegram was received Tuesday by M. Norman from Mrs. H. Sarah Olson of Duluth, a sister of the late James Hawkins, advising him to hold the body for further instructions.

Lakota, N. D.—A negro known as "Goldtooth" who had been hanging aorund town for some days and finally was given shelter by Joe Roadhouse, robbed the latter of his trousers, revolver and $42 in money. Mr. Roadhouse as soon as he discovered that he had been touched, notified the police, but the colored man had escaped.

Bismark, N. D.—Contractor Larson has been pushing the work on the new warehouse for the Marshall Oil company, and expects to have it completed in record time. The excavation is complete and brick masons started work Monday.

Devils Lake, N. D.—Miss Della Papson, of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., arrived Monday evening and will assist Adjutant and Mrs. Wolverton of the local Salvation army. Another assistant expected this week is Lieutenant Sanberg of Portal.

Bucking the Law a Hard Game for Promoters—City Football--Can 'Dick' Come Back?

(BY BRUCE.)

AFTER all it is a very hard game, this bucking of a lot of stiff and unargumentative guys who hold state capitol jobs. That is the real reason why you have read of the calling off of the Wolgast-McFarland fight, at least so far as Milwaukee is concerned.

With Milwaukee temporarily off the pugilistic map one wonders where the big fights of the future are going to be held. Big little men have fought in Milwaukee before, and the dear state officials never said a word. New York bids the short haired fraternity welcome, and the coast generally goes through with anything that greases the palms of the men on the inside of the political ring. But the Middle West dasn't look at anything much bigger than a preliminary.

If the Wolgast-McFarland "boxing" match is called off for good the calling off will point to promoters more than ever the necessity of legalized boxing rules if the game is to continue in this country. Any time promoters go up against the law they are up against a game that has them beaten before they start. The promoters of the match that was to be, will probably realize this.

Some of the guys who left here last night for Milwaukee, expecting to see a good mill, will also join in the chorus that is demanding that boxing either be made legal or abolished altogether. Sneak fights bring together an element of men that are a discredit to any community, and when state officials realize that, they shall either work for a law legalizing limited round boxing exhibitions, or ignore "good politics," which has been allowed to rule in this state, and enforce the law against the hush fight. They will be making a move in the right direction, when they do.

There is really nothing prettier than a boxing exhibition between two well trained men. In ten rounds it is not probable that either Wolgast or McFarland would have been seriously hurt. The majority of the followers of the boxing game believe McFarland too clever to permit any man in the world to hit him very much in the limited way of the sprint route.

Gambling on the attitude the state officials are going to assume is a very risky phase. It puts both the promoters and the public out. It will also put the game out of commission eventually. Let the more intelligent and industrious of fight promoters and some of the more sagacious state officials get together and put boxing on a legal standing, and then you will see the game thrive and grow popular with the better element of the business men.

IF THE present plans of the men behind the Adams team go through, Duluth is going to see some of the best football that has been played here for many seasons. Always one of the most hustling associations ever organized in this part of the country, the Adams Athletic association has lines out for some of the best men who have ever played on the best high school teams turned out at Central.

One of the ambitions of the officials of the triple association is to lower the colors of the Blaine Alumni team, for some years back recognized as one of the best teams ever gotten together at the Head of the Lakes. The Duluth boys have in the past been lighter than the members of the heavy Blaine aggregation, and for this reason have worked under a handicap. This season the Adams managers promise to have a heavy and fast aggregation in the field, one that will give the growing crowd of city football enthusiasts a fine season of the gridiron sport.

Manager John Geistman, who for the seasons past has guided the Adams football teams, is again manager of the eleven. He has been working since the middle of the summer and his efforts should result in an eleven that will be a credit to the city. The Adams boys have a host of followers in this city, and with what promises to be the best team in the history of the popular association, it is very probable that city football will enjoy the most successful season in the history of the sport in Duluth.

RICHARD is himself again. It might also be asked, "Who said Mr. Schell couldn't come back, or at least make a brave and noble attempt?"

Believing that in a second race with the Minnetonka, the Moore boat that defeated the D. B. C. here last August, that the Duluth motor boat would reverse the August happening, Richard had offered to race the Minnetonka either at Duluth or Lake Minnetonka, the loser of the race to pay the expenses.

Considering that the win of the Minnetonka boat was accomplished after the engine of the Schell boat played the part of a sullen crab and refused to work, thereby causing an explosion of colored adjectives from the stern and steady driver, it would prove a cause of great joy to many of the lovers of motor boat racing in these parts, should the challenge of the Duluth man be accepted.

Pray let the owners of the Minnetonka buckle on the armor of war and come forth to do battle.

WRITING in the Minneapolis Tribune, for which paper he is the Winona correspondent, young Mister DeGuire says that Frank E. Force put his heart and soul into the effort to keep down the salaries of the teams of the Minny league. Had the correspondent of the Minneapolis paper had the courage to state that an official average once in a while would have helped to make the league successful, he would have hit nearer the heart of the trouble. It will require more than the attempts of Minneapolis Tribune correspondents to make the regime of Force ever passable.

THOSE Cubs are having their troubles. Before the season ends they may rally and beat the Giants out for the coveted rag. The writer saw the series between the Cubs and Cardinals, and the once great Chicago machine looked far from the four-time flag winners.

Tinker was hitting the ball in the air. Hoffman wasn't hitting, and Johnny Evers looked far from the player that starred two years ago. Old Tom Needham is behind the bat and Vic Saier at first is not anything near the grand player that Frank Chance was, in those days before injuries forced him from the game.

Chance's pitchers are going something awful. Miner Brown has by heroic work kept the team in the race all season. Cole has not been himself, while the others have been in and outers all season. Should the Cub twirlers rally before the close of the season, there is a chance for the Chicago men, though even in the Lake Michigan city you will find many fans conceding the gonfalon to the Giants.

SEMI-FINALS IN CLEVELAND TOURNEY.

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 14.—The semi-finals in the men's singles was the feature event on the program at today's play in the state tennis tournament. C. O. Benton, Cleveland, was pitted against Dr. Nat Thornton of Augusta, Ga., former Southern champion, and S. Wainwright, Jr., of Rye, N. Y., against Fred Harris of Brattleboro, Vt., the Dartmouth college champion.

Florence and May Sutton of California, Miss Lois Moyes and Miss Rhea Fairbairn of Toronto, and the Baroness Irma Von Luttwelts were among the entries in the women's singles. Men's doubles, women's doubles and mixed doubles also were programmed.

NO FIGHT AT MILWAUKEE

McFarland-Wolgast Bout Is Called Off After Conference With Officials.

Game Dead in Beer City During Term of Present Sheriff.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 14.—Several thousand boxing fans are feeling gloomy today because of the calling off of the lately much-discussed Wolgast-McFarland proposed meeting at the Auditorium tomorrow night. Furthermore, there will be no more boxing contests in Milwaukee county during the official life of the present county officials.

The promoters of the Wolgast-McFarland affair did not give up hope of putting on the contest until early today, or at the conclusion of a lengthy conference attended by acting Governor Thomas Morris, District Attorney W. A. Zabel and Sheriff William A. Arnold, county officials, and the promoters with their attorneys.

Governor Stands Pat.

Governor Morris sat patiently for nearly two hours, listening to the arguments of the attorneys for the club officials as they protested against the opposition of the district attorney and sheriff, which has grown stronger each day since last Saturday, when the sheriff announced that he would not permit the affair to be pulled off.

Finally, when both sides had concluded their argument, Governor Morris, like a judge in a regular court, announced that he had not changed his mind since sending his telegram to Sheriff Arnold telling him to see that the law was obeyed.

The acting governor said he was sorry that the club officials had been put to a big expense and inconvenience, but could not possibly recede from the stand already taken.

The question of an injunction came up, too, but when Sheriff Arnold informed the promoters that he would pay no attention to a restraining order if one were issued, the promoters wilted.

Lightweight Champion Wolgast is resting today as a natural result of the calling off of the bout. He had been going through his regular course of training up to last night.

May Transfer Bout.

Tom Jones, Wolgast's manager, said this morning that the bout probably would be transferred to some other city, as several offers had been received. About $30,000 worth of tickets had been disposed of by the National Athletic club, which had charge of the affair. The purchasers of the tickets included several thousands of admirers of the fistic art from out of town, some of the patrons hailing from all sides of the continent. The advance ticket money will be refunded.

It is believed the bout will be transferred either to New York or the Pacific coast.

CINCINNATI LOSES CLOSE GAME TO PITTSBURG.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Sept. 14.—Cincinnati lost to Pittsburg here yesterday in a close and exciting game, 5 to 4. Adams worked well until the seventh, when Cincinnati tied the score. Hendrix, who succeeded him, was invincible. Boyd, who started for Cincinnati, was rather wild. Compton relieved him and pitched good ball.

Score:			R.	H.	E.

PLANK OUTPITCHES FORD AT NEW YORK.

New York, Sept. 14.—Plank outtwirled Ford in a pitchers' battle yesterday, Philadelphia winning, 2 to 0. Lord doubled in the first inning, went to third on Oldring's sacrifice and scored when Knight's throw to Blair on Collins' tap carried slightly wide. McInnis scratched a hit to short in the ninth, took second on a daring play when Knight carelessly rolled the ball to Ford, moved to third on Barry's sacrifice and scored on Thomas' slow roller to Gardner, on which no play could be made at the plate. Score:

EXTRA-BASE HITS WIN FOR MILLERS.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 14.—Long hits won the second game of the series for Minneapolis 4 to 1. Cavet started for Minneapolis, but was wild and was taken out at the end of the first inning and was succeeded by Leever, who pitched steady ball. McGlynn was fairly effective, two of the visitors' runs being due to errors. Score:

GOOD RACING AT WISCONSIN FAIR MEET.

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 14.—Some interesting racing marked the second day's Great Western circuit harness meet being run in connection with the Wisconsin state fair, the 2:10 pace and 2:20 trot going five and four heats, respectively.

The 2:10 pace, after a nip and tuck fight between Hal Car and Alta Coast, was won by the former, Alta Coast only losing out through the fact that she broke twice after winning the first heat, when apparently having the heats won.

Josie Logan won the 2:20 trot after some close racing with Ida Purple and June Arlon in four heats.

The 2:30 trot went to the Vice President in straight heats. All races were for $1,000 stakes.

The colt race went one heat and will be finished today.

SHOULD PROTECT THEMSELVES BY OBEYING MOTOR BOAT LAWS

The following communication from the president of the Western Power Boat association has been received by the boat club officials:

"To the officers and members, gentlemen: The association desires to call your attention to the many violations of the present law regulating the equipment of power boats, and to the disregard shown by so many power boat owners of the rules of the road.

The present equipment law was obtained after a strenuous fight in congress. The department of commerce and labor, backed up by a board of experts appointed by ex-President Roosevelt to make recommendations for the regulation and equipment of power boats, insisted that all power boats—no matter how small—should carry licensed pilots and engineers; and also asked for an equipment that would have been almost impossible for a small boat to comply with. We were enabled after two weeks of hard work in Washington to defeat the demands of the department of commerce and labor, and secured the present equipment law. The provisions of the equipment bill are so simple that it seems ridiculous for a power boat owner to try to evade them.

"United States steamboat inspectors all over the country, as well as steamboat captains and pilots, are reporting to the department every violation, no matter how minor, of the pilot rules, the equipment law, and every accident that comes to their attention. There is no doubt in our mind but this mass of material is being gathered to be used by the department in asking of congress the enactment of a law compelling all power boat owners to take out pilots' and engineers' licenses; and also for the inspection of all boats.

"The association, of course, will do all it can to protect power boat men from adverse legislation but we want to impress upon your members the importance of obeying the equipment law in all its particulars, and also to familiarize themselves and live up to the pilot rules. Hardly a day goes by that we do not read of power boat men being fined for not carrying proper lights and equipment, and there is a constant stream of reports coming in to every steamboat inspector of the violations of the pilot rules, and we want to again impress upon the power boat owners of your club that every time they violate a rule of the road or neglect to equip their boats as per the regulations, they not only endanger themselves but every power boat owner in the country of the enactment of laws that will be so stringent that most of us will want to get out of the game. Very truly yours,

"E. S. OSBORN,
"President."

COLTON WILL COACH CENTRAL

Former Instructor Will Take Charge of Team at Once.

Chauncey Colton will again coach the Central high football players. Negotiations between the coach and the members of the faculty committee on athletics were closed yesterday. Colton returns to Central with a salary increase, which speaks well for the favor he is held in at the hilltop institution.

There are over forty candidates out for the team, including such veterans as Capt. Mars, Jeronimus, O'Brien, Matt Brown and McClaran. The material looks to be strong and Central should have a team that will compare with the aggregation of last season, which made a very good showing.

Practice will be held every afternoon of the week, the first game coming probably a week from next Saturday.

BOBBY WALLACE A TRUE VETERAN

St. Louis Leader Has Played the Infield for Nineteen Years.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 14.—Back in the spring of 1892 the Cleveland club picked up a young pitcher from Franklin, Pa. His name was Roderick Wallace. Young Wallace was a first-class pitcher, but later on Pat Tebeau needed a third baseman badly, and after a brief trial he soon discovered that the Franklin athlete was even a better third sacker than twirler.

That was a matter of some nineteen years ago, but one of the best ball players upon the field today is Wallace. Only now he is working at short, and working in the form that still ranks him as one of the stars of the game.

Nineteen years in the big league harness and still a star is a record that few have known. "Cy" Young and Jim McGuire turned the trick, but with the possible exception of Fred Tenney, who plays only occasionally, Wallace is the only infielder who has stuck thus far across the long, hard trail.

Wallace was a member of the old Cleveland team in the days of Pat Tebeau. Cupid Childs was then at second, McKean at short, and Chippy McGarr at first. Jimmy McAleer was another star upon that club, but James is no longer in active harness. It is a noteworthy fact that Wallace and McAleer, members of the same club nineteen years ago, are today piloting two clubs in a death grapple for last place.

Across all this space of time Wallace has held this place with the stars of the game. He has never broken, nor faltered to any great extent. He has never been tried at any position and found wanting. Shifted from the box to third base in a time of emergency, it took less than a week's play to mark him as an infielder, sure to rank with the stars of the game.

Wallace was one of the few National leaguers who jumped to the American to carry a wartime contract of five years' standing. When others were chopped down after peace had been declared, Bobby drew down his $6,500 annually just the same. And he always earned it.

As manager of the Browns there will probably be no great gush left for him across the hall of fame, but as Infielder Wallace he will find few peers. For don't forget that Sir Roderick Wallace can still play a few brands of baseball around short—nineteen years of it notwithstanding.

RED SOX MAY BE SOLD TO McALEER

Negotiations for Transfer of Boston Stock Are Being Made.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—President B. B. Johnson of the American league left on a late train Tuesday night for Boston, where he will be present today at the conference which will result in a transfer of a one-half interest in the Boston Red Sox to James B. McAleer, present manager at Washington. Mr. McAleer, who was at his home in Youngstown, raising money for the purchase, joined Mr. Johnson at Cleveland yesterday morning and proceeded with him to Boston.

President Johnson admitted the facts in the deal, which has been proceeding for several months, following the announcement yesterday from Boston by John I. Taylor that McAleer and an associate would acquire a half interest. The name of the associate is withheld for the present, but he is well known among baseball men.

As soon as the papers are signed, actual work will begin on the construction of a new steel and concrete grandstand, to cost $300,000.

The work of grading the new site already has begun and the complete park will be ready for the opening of the 1912 season. The financing of the project already has been accomplished.

Just what position McAleer will hold will be determined at today's conference. He either will be president with a manager chose from the present team or will act as manager. The former is the more probable as President Taylor is said to wish to retire from active connection with the club.

Boston always has been a big money earner in the American league and the amount of money involved in the transfer of stock is problematical.

It is said the valuation placed upon the new stand, grounds and franchise approximates $750,000.

HEAVY TRACK IS HANDICAP

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 14.—With the weather conditions against him and the track heavy, The Harvester, champion stallion trotter, made a vain attempt at the state fair track yesterday afternoon, to lower his record of 2:01. He made the quarter in 30¾, the half in 1:01½, the three-quarters in 1:31½ and the mile in 2:03¾. He may try again Friday to lower the world's record.

With six races on the program yesterday, the feature was the $5,000 Syracuse pacing stake, which was won by Thomas W. Murphy's Sir R.

The 2:04 class pace was won handily by Earl Jr., in straight heats. Fritz took the Kanoono stake for 3-year-olds in similar style. The 2:18 trot developed a five-heat struggle with Hannah Louise the winner. Bedella, a brown mare wriven by Harry Titus, won the second and third heats in sensational style, but in the fifth heat broke her leg while trotting straight away.

The Russian horse, "Willy" defeated a classy field in the 2:08 trot in straight heats at the cost of a new record, lowering his record of 2:07¼ to 2:06½.

POWERS' LICENSE MAY BE REVOKED

New York, Sept. 14.—After an executive session of the state athletic commission yesterday afternoon, at which testimony was taken relative to the lease held by Patrick Powers' club on Madison Square Garden, Commissioner Frank O'Neil said:

"I consider the evidence sufficient to revoke the license of the club on the ground of the lease not meeting the requirements of the law."

Mr. O'Neil said he would lay the case before Governor Dix, but said if the commission is divided, no action against the club would be taken until the governor shall appoint a successor to Chairman James E. Sullivan, resigned. This means that there will be no attempt to stop the Carl Morris-Jim Flynn bout, scheduled for Friday night.

Commissioner O'Neil said testimony showed that the syndicate which has bought the garden expects to take possession by March 15, while the law require that an athletic club must have a lease for a year upon its premises.

Among those approved by the commission as referees were Terry McGovern and Tom Sharkey.

BROWN WOULD MEET WOLGAST

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 14.—Danny Morgan, manager for "Knockout Brown" of New York, last night had a conference with Tom Jones, manager of Lightweight Champion Ad Wolgast which resulted in Morgan's offering Wolgast a guarantee of $12,000 and $1,000 expenses to meet Brown in a ten-round bout in New York or any other place. In addition to this Morgan offers to bet $25,000 that Brown will defeat the champion and is willing to abide by the decision of three out of five umpires.

Jones is communicating with several Eastern clubs in regard to staging the bout.

MORRIS ADMIRERS TO TRAVEL BY SPECIAL.

New York, Sept. 14.—Frank Ufer, manager of Carl Morris of Oklahoma, who will box Jim Flynn ten rounds in Madison Square Garden Friday night, received a telegram last night notifying him that a special train will arrive in New York from St. Louis Friday morning, bringing a delegation of leading men from Oklahoma and Kansas to see the contest.

The telegram said that Morris is a 2 to 1 favorite. Both Morris and Flynn will wind up their training work today.

Burman Sets Record.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 14.—At the West Michigan state fair yesterday Bob Burman lowered his Michigan automobile speed record of 51 seconds for a mile by driving his Blitzen Benz over the Comstock park track in 50 1-5 seconds.

TRAVERS AND HILTON MEET

Hope of Keeping Golf Cup in America Rests on Montclair Star.

Rye, N. Y., Sept. 14.—From an international standpoint the principal actors on the golfing stage at Apawamis today were Harold H. Hilton of the Royal Liverpool Golf club, and Jerome D. Travers, of Upper Montclair, N. J., matched in the third round of the amateur championship.

It seemed to be the general feeling that in "Jerry" Travers, more than any of the other seven survivors, lay the American hope of keeping the title on this side of the water.

Hilton's play during the tournament has steadily grown in impressive strength and certainty. Still there were six other golfers in the tournament who may have a chance at the little Englishman, namely: P. W. Whittemore of the Country club, Brookline; C. W. Insiee of Wykagyl; Oswald Kirkby of Englewood; Frederick Herreshoff of Ekwanok; Albert Seckel of Riverside and Charles Evans, Jr., of Edgewater, paired in the order named.

Sparkling autumn weather greeted players and spectators at Apawamis today. It was just the kind of air that made the tramp over any kind of a rolling country exhilerating.

SAILOR GOING AFTER MILLER

After an absence of many months, during which he toured the West and defeated some of the best wrestlers in the business, Sailor Jack, one of the most popular grapplers who ever stepped on a mat in this city, is back in Duluth.

The marine is as brown as the proverbial berry and looks in the very best of health. He looks even stronger than when here before, and mat fans remember Sailor Jack as one of the most powerful little men who ever stepped on a mat.

The return of Jack, like the come back of Enoch Arden, starts something. Right away the fans will say Miller, and they will be right. The sailor announced his intention of going after the St. Paul wrestler, who met Matsuda, a man defeated by Jack, and yet refused to meet the crack little Duluth wrestler.

Sailor Jack is anxious and willing to wrestle Miller, any place or at any time, and there are hundreds of followers of the sport in this city who believe that the St. Paul man is actually afraid of Jack.

A Sailor Jack-Miller match for the world's welterweight championship is an event that may be staged in the future in this city, should the St. Paul champion put fear aside and show some willingness to defend his title. Miller should clean up the welterweights before demanding another match with Gehring.

SMALL ATTENDANCE AT MONTREAL MEET.

Montreal, Can., Sept. 14.—Despite the presence of viceroyalty at the track yesterday, the attendance was the smallest of the meeting. The best race of the day was the handicap for 3-year-olds, although there were but three entries. Taboo came from behind in the stretch and won from Bob R., by a nose, with Almyra a length and a half behind.

The steeple chase went to St. Abe, who pulled up lame at the finish and would have lost if the race had been twenty yards longer.

LONDON CHURCHES OPPOSE JOHNSON-WELLS FIGHT.

London, Sept. 14.—The non-conformist churches are determined to prevent, if possible, the scheduled fight between Jack Johnson and Bombardier Wells. The articles call for a championship battle in London on Oct. 2.

The general committee of the national council of free churches has been summoned to meet Sept. 29 to devise the best steps to be taken by those opposed to the fight and exhibition of the pictures.

STAGG LOSES THREE MEN FROM SQUAD.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—Captain Charles Rademacher of the University of Chicago football team joined Coach Stagg yesterday and the two leaders figured out more early season disappointments for the eleven. According to the latest information received from the squad three more members of the squad will be absent when official practice begins next Wednesday.

Austin Menaul, halfback; Hume Young, quarterback, and Springer, the star halback of the freshmen team two years ago, are the new members on the absent list. Young has severed his connection with the university. Manuel will not return for the autumn quarter, and Springer has found it impossible to comply with the regulations governing back work.

The loss of the three players is regarded as serious, following the loss of Ralph Young and Eberle Wilson of the regular backfield.

ST. PAUL LANDS BIG BOWLING TOURNAMENT.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 14.—The directors of the International Bowling association at a meeting here awarded the 1912 tournament to the West Side club of St. Paul.

At least 150 teams will be entered in the meet this year, coming from Chicago and other Northwestern cities. The tournament will begin Feb. 11, and closes on Feb. 22. Entries will be received until midnight, Jan. 26.

Beavers Arrange Game.

The Beavers have been practicing steadily for the last two weeks and are in fairly good shape for their first game which comes off on Sept. 24 with the Gophers at Tenth avenue west and Third street. The Beavers arranged this game merely to try out their extra men, as they have about eighteen or twenty men trying for the team. Edward Walters, who was elected manager, has resigned as he will not participate in football this season and Frank Williams has been elected to fill the vacancy. The Beavers have been in fear of losing their star quarter-back, McInnis, as he has not been to practice for the last week, but they found last night that he has been out of town, and will return.

VERIFY IT

The Proof Is In Duluth Almost at Your Door.

The public statement of a Duluth citizen is in itself strong proof for Duluth people, but confirmation strengthens the evidence.

Here is a Duluth citizen who testified years ago that Doan's Kidney Pills relieved sick kidneys and now states the cure was permanent. Can any sufferer from kidney ills ask better proof? You can investigate. The case is right at home.

Mrs. M. McLean, 4324 Gilliat St., Duluth, Minn., says: "All that was said in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills by a member of my family when he publicly recommended them in 1898, still hold good. During the past several years this person has not been obliged to use a kidney medicine, for the cure has been permanent. Doan's Kidney Pills effected a cure of kidney trouble in this case and also brought relief from dull, heavy ache in the loins. The person of whom I am speaking recommends Doan's Kidney Pills highly when anyone asks him about them."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

CONFISCATE POSTCARDS

Postoffice Inspectors Will Bring Senders of Obscene Matter to Justice.

Duluth Woman Bombards Daughter-in-Law With Objectionable Cards.

Investigations are now being made by the postoffice inspectors regarding the sending of obscene postcards through the mail.

H. O. Smith, postoffice inspector who has recently become connected with the local office, has turned over to the chief postoffice inspector, at Minneapolis, who is in charge of the district in the Northwest, several hundreds of cards to which the recipients have taken objections and which have been turned over to the department for investigation.

The chief inspector has put on a force of government detectives who are now looking up the senders of these cards. If they manage to locate the senders, and from their investigations believe that the ogscene cards were sent with malicious intent, the matter will be turned over to the federal grand jury, which will result in the indictment of many offenders.

Postmaster A. P. Cook, to whom is sent all the objectionabi mail, stated today that he receives at least 100 cards every week from people who take exception to the postals. Most of these cards are without signatures, which adds a little to the difficulty of tracing them, but the officials have been able to find the writers of many thousands of cards, which bore no signatures and have punished many.

The sending of objectionable postal cards has reached such a proportion that the postal authorities are determined to put an end to it. Heretofore when they have caught an offender for the first time they have let them off with a severe scare, while those who repeat the offense have been punished by fine or imprisonment. However, it is likely that the authorities will change their attitude on the manner of dealing with offenders, and punish all with either fines or imprisonment.

Among the hundreds of offenders the postal authorities here have one who is most persistent in the sending of obscene cards. The offender is a woman, living in this city, who is continually sending objectionable cards to her daughter-in-law. The young woman has been receiving them for some time, and finally went to Postmaster Cook to seek relief. He immediately communicated to the mother-in-law, and told her that her acts were punishable with fine or imprisonment if she did not stop. However, the cards continued to come to the young woman, who kept turning them over to the postmaster. The postmaster in turn, handed the matter to the chief inspector's office, and it probable that it will develop into one of the most interesting cases the department has ever been called to handle.

MINNESOTA HAS BEST BUTTER

North Branch Man Scores 99 at the Iowa State Fair.

Mason City, Iowa, Sept. 14.—"The largest exhibit and the highest score ever recorded in a butter contest," was the statement of P. L. O'Dell, state dairy commissioner, here yesterday when he saw the exhibit of the Central States Dairy association at the Iowa state fair. There were 152 exhibits. John R. Bloomquist of North Branch, Minn., had the highest score, 99.

BODY OF GEORGE DREWETT BROUGHT HERE FOR BURIAL.

The body of George James Drewett, 51 years of age, who died Aug. 12 in Scotland while visiting relatives and friends with his wife, reached the city yesterday afternoon and was taken to the undertaking rooms of C. J. Stewart.

Mr. Drewett was one of the well known pioneer residents of the city, having lived here the last thirty-five years. He was engaged in the meat business with his brother on East Second street. Douglas Emslie of Scotland, Mr. and Mrs. H. Stillwell of Little Falls, Minn., Mr. and Mrs. K. Smith and E. Glass of Two Harbors, and Walter Ball of Sunnyside, Wash., all relatives of the deceased, are in the city to attend the funeral. The services will take place tomorrow afternoon from the family residence, 826 East Fourth street, with interment at Forest Hill cemetery.

A HARMLESS WAY TO DARKEN THE HAIR

A Little Sage and Sulphur Makes Gray Hair Vanish—A Remedy for All Hair Troubles.

Who does not know the value of sage and sulphur for keeping the hair dark, soft, glossy and in good condition? As a matter of fact, sulphur is a natural element of hair, and a deficiency of it in the hair is held by many scalp specialists to be connected with loss of color and vitality of the hair. Unquestionably, there is no better remedy for hair and scalp troubles, especially premature grayness, than sage and sulphur, if properly prepared. The Wyeth Chemical company of New York put up an ideal remedy of this kind, called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, and authorize druggists to sell it under guarantee that the money will be refunded if it fails to do exactly as represented.

If you have dandruff, or if your hair is thin or turning gray, get a bottle of this remedy from your druggist today, and see what it will do for you.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists. Special agent, Max Wirth, 13 West Superior street.

LIFE BITTER FOR BLIND

Sightless Man With Sightless Wife Arrested for Begging.

Neither Has Ever Seen Other or Their Two Children.

"It's a bitter world," said J. W. Sousonge, a blind man, when he was arraigned in police court yesterday on a charge of begging, to which he pleaded not guilty. "The longer I live the more I think so."

Sousonge was accompanied by his wife, also blind, and their two small children, a boy and a girl, who accompany them on their wanderings. Sousonge lost his eyesight when a baby and he stated that his wife went blind after being stricken with smallpox when 9 years old. They have never seen each other. The children are comely, well dressed and happy, and played about the courtroom while their sightless father was presenting his case to the court.

"I don't consider that I am guilty of begging," he exclaimed. "I'm a musician in a small way and give my music in exchange for money. That's not begging. I was insulted yesterday by the man who arrested me. He called me a beggar."

Sousonge was placed under arrest by Chief Troyer. He was walking up and down Superior street near Fourth avenue west, singing and collecting money. His wife was with him part of the time, and the police state that when she was with him the cash flowed freely. Courtenay Dinwiddie, secretary of the Associated Charities, who testified against Sousonge, estimated that he was taking in cash at the rate of $6 to $10 an hour.

Under no consideration would he admit that he was begging. When placed under arrest, Chief Troyer and a patrolman had to carry him into the patrol wagon. He flatly declined to walk, or go to a side street in order to prevent the collection of a crowd.

Judge Windom told him that it is contrary to the ordinances to get money in the manner which he was employing and when he spoke of the world being against a blind man, the court said that he always thought those thus afflicted are shown the greatest of consideration. Sousonge asserted that he is often refused accommodations at hotels because he is blind, the clerks informing him and his wife that the rooms are all occupied. He declared that they did not appear to be wanted just because they are blind, although they keep themselves tidy and have the money with which to pay their way. He said that he got onto the street because he found that he could earn a better living in that way than any other. He claimed to have tried other things, but without success. He stated that it was the only way he could make enough money to properly support his family.

Judge Windom found him guilty of begging but suspended sentence with the understanding that he would not start operations in Duluth during the remainder of his stay here.

STATE SYSTEM OF INSURANCE

Employers' Liability Insurance, Conducted By State, Is Advocated.

Spring Lake, N. J., Sept. 14.—A system of employers' liability insurance, conducting by the state for the benefit of working men was advocated by Governor Wilson of New Jersey at the governor's conference here yesterday. Governor Wilson said in preface that he "started a scrap yesterday," and did not want to start another.

In New Jersey, he said, "the indemnity companies have raised their rates, in some instances 1,000 per cent, because of our recent liability legislation. These gentlemen are singularly unwise, but that is not the worst of it; they show clearly an intention of raising the rates still higher.

"There must be a state system of insurance. It is all very well without state insurance to enact a general law with regard to the compensation to be paid injured employes; but what of the small employers and corporations? If they cannot afford to pay this compensation, then the security afforded by the law is of no avail for workingmen."

Governor Foss outlined the new liability law of Massachusetts and held it up as the first law of its kind to be enacted on broad lines in any state.

The new workingmen's compensation law of Washington was detailed by Governor Marion E. Hay. He also spoke in defense of the initiative, referendum and recall, as applied to elective officers and not to judges.

NO ELABORATE WEDDING.

Charles G. Gates and Miss Hopgood to Have Simple Ceremony.

Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 14.—Minneapolis society folk, who may have expected to be invited to an elaborate wedding when Miss Florence Hopgood becomes the bride of Charles G. Gates, son of the late multi-millionaire, are doomed to disappointment. Instead, Miss Hopgood will become Mrs. Gates in her own home with a simple ceremony, and in the presence only of members of the Hopgood and Gates families. The wedding will take place some time in October, the exact date to be fixed later.

Mr. Gates is in Minneapolis and is stopping at a downtown hotel. Mr. Gates' mother did not stop with him in Minneapolis, but went direct to New York city, where she will be joined later by her son.

According to Mrs. Hopgood, Mr. Gates is not a society man in the accepted meaning of that term, and has expressed the hope that there be no "show" or ostentation attending his coming marriage. In deference to Mr. Gates' wishes there was little attempt to entertain him on the occasion of his visit here.

"It has not been the wish of Mr. Gates that he be entertained in Minneapolis, and he has tried to avoid it," Mrs. Hopgood said. "He has consented only to be present at family dinners or to accept the hospitality of immediate friends of the family. As we have been much taken up with the settling of our new home, we have had no home entertainment for him and have accepted only a few invitations from friends. It is the wish of Mr. Gates to avoid ostentation, and the wedding will be planned accordingly."

Mrs. Hopgood gave a luncheon for twelve yesterday at the Commercial club for her daughter and Mr. Gates.

EBERHART ATTACKED

Denounced By Judge Wilson as "Mistake Between Two Misfortunes".

Closing Argument in Whittier Case Also Criticizes Club Women.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 14.—Judge F. M. Wilson, attorney for Frank A. Whittier spent all yesterday afternoon in delivering his closing argument in the Red Wing training school investigation. He will finish his argument today.

Judge Wilson scathingly denounced Governor Eberhart to whom he referred to as "a mistake between two misfortunes," said that Whittier's reputation as a capable officer remains unshaken; fired a few darts at Ralph Wheelock, Governor Eberhart's private secretary, and rebuked the clubwomen who have interested themselves in the investigation. In the course of his three hours argument, Judge Wilson said:

"This investigation has been the awakening of the people of this state to the great truth that the executive power cannot be summarily used to lay its hands upon a worthy officer to gratify personal revenge; that it cannot be used to keep a promise or to build up a political machine. It cannot be used to destroy the character and usefulness of this board; that power cannot, by threat of removal of all or any member of this board, compel it to do its bidding; for that power has been prohibited by law.

Whittier's Reputation Intact.

"Above all the puny efforts of the executive of this state the respondent's dignity of manhood, his rights and privileges as a capable officer have been protected, and his reputation, won by toil, integrity and honor, remains to him, to his family and his friends, unwrecked, unshaken and unharmed. The governor of this state, through the press, if he has been correctly quoted, boasted that if he were called as a witness, he would tell all that should be known, and there were warning insinuations that it would be of no advantage to the respondent, and that he desired to be and feared he would not be called, and yet when counsel for complainant, the counsel of his secretary and the counsel unlawfully paid from public funds, by his objections, thwarted our desire to know all, prevented the public from knowing all; and then this anxious executive, fresh from saying nothing, by reputed interview in the public press, assured this board, to whom he has attempted by a letter dated July 1, 1911, to dictate the mode of procedure of this investigation, as ruled by too much red tape at this hearing.

"Is this man above the law and its process? In the name of all the gods at once, 'upon what meat has this Caesar fed, that he has grown so great?'

"Mistake Between Two Misfortunes."

"He is, I charge, a mistake between two great misfortunes; that grievous misfortune of the sudden and deeply regretted taking away of his illustrious predecessor, and his coming into power, the mistake of his party in the selection and of his election, the indescribable misfortune to the vital interests of this state in his incumbency of a position that he occupies but can never fill.

"Notwithstanding the letter to the supreme court I charge that the governor of this state directly or indirectly caused his secretary to make and file on the 31st day of May, 1911, the charges whose truth or falsity we have been investigating, and I charge that the governor, by letter of July 1, 1911, to this board, to investigate under section 1899 the affairs of the Minnesota state training school, when he knew or ought to have known that charges had been filed by his secretary, committed, to say the least, a very improper course of conduct.

Witnesses of Criminal Type.

"Most, if not all of the witnesses that have come before you to uphold the charges preferred against the respondent are of the criminal type, who have nursed their wrath to keep it warm, and have through hatred or other hidden cause, as from their evidence will appear, shown a desire to screen their own past misdoings and heap mountain-high falsehood upon falsehood to injure one who had never wronged them. They took pride to recite the story of their punishments while at the school in the presence of some sympathetic woman, who hung day after day in the district court in the heat of midsummer, in sickening sympathy, with sighs and tears and disgusting approval, upon the recitals of their lives' history and conduct that would horrify the senses of a true, noble and gentle woman, whose truest type we find in the sacred name of 'mother.' Those unsexed women, most of whom, like the mule, are without pride of ancestry or hope of posterity, have, by their aid brought discredit, I think, upon the cause for which they banded themselves together."

STEVENSON ON EXPRESS RATES

Assistant Attorney General Points Out How Companies Prospered.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 14.—Alleging that express rates in Minnesota are too high and inequitable, and that a reduction may be made without injuring the financial standing of the company, Assistant Attorney General Stevenson has filed with the railroad and warehouse commission the state's argument in the suit brought against the Wells-Fargo company, and with it a new schedule of rates, which he asks be ordered into effect. The schedule makes a substantial reduction, and among other things provides that packages weighing not more than two pounds, where the merchandise rate does not exceed $2 per 100 pounds, shall be carried for 25 cents to points within the state.

"It has been conclusively shown that the express business, and particularly the business conducted by the Wells-Fargo & Co. express," the brief says, "has been exceedingly remunerative. Perhaps no other human activity in the commercial world can show such an unbroken history of increasing prosperity and invariable financial success. The history of this company is typical of most of the others.

Pay Railroads Big Sum.

"It has been shown in this investigation that the express company has been paying the railroad companies for the express privilege, a percentage of gross revenue greatly in excess of a reasonable remuneration. The rights of the public have never been taken into consideration by either the express company or the railroad company in fixing the amount to be paid by the former to the latter. It is claimed by the express companies that these rates are arrived at as a result of competition and yet not only this record, but every other record of a reported express rate case is significantly silent as to how the rate is fixed between the companies. It is therefore not unfair to assume that the officials of the two contracting companies have means of knowing exactly the amount of profit the express business yields and then some 'honorable' basis for dividing such profit is determined. Neither cost of operation nor reasonable compensation is taken into consideration. The voluntary statement of J. D. Armstrong, made in this hearing on April 27, is most significant. He says:

"'The Great Northern (contract) calls for 60 per cent. It formerly was 40. It was raised to 60 about a year ago after we finished with the Sunberg case and found what a long end the express companies were getting, and it was raised from 40 to 60 per cent.'

Companies' Profits Mutual.

"Therefore, the largest profit that we can show that either of the companies obtains as the result of this arrangement can fairly be presumed to be some measure of the profit that the other company makes. The profits are as mutual as are the secret methods of making the contracts.

"We therefore have the situation of two thriving corporations obtaining a profit for doing a business that in the very nature of things could as well be done by one corporation and the public pays two enormous profits where one would be sufficient."

The state has prepared the new graduate scale so that it reduces rates on smaller packages—making five different classes of packages weighing from 65 to 100 pounds instead of making a 65-pound package take the full 100-pound rate, as usually is done under the company's present scale. The state contends that if the rates proposed are put in effect, the earnings of the company will be reduced approximately 7 per cent.

Finding Excuses For Not Working

"In nearly every case," says a prominent physician, "when a man or woman loses the will to work it is because the power to work is gone. This nervous condition may be due to stomach trouble, overwork or impure blood, but whatever the cause there are certain medicines which are known to restore nervous energy and the clearness of the blood stream in a remarkable way. These when combined, as in Make-Man Tablets, have produced amazing transformations in a short time in run-down men and women.

If you feel weak and lazy, nervous and irritable, can't sleep, have touches of Rheumatism, Kidney or Liver Trouble, Make-Man Tablets are what you need. MINNESOTA FARMERS ARE BUYING HIGH PRICED AUTOS

"Minnesota farmers are taking to the automobile like ducks to the water," said F. G. Leicher, part owner of Minnesota's only automobile factory. "They started with cheap cars and now they are gradually buying the higher priced cars. Nothing will be too good for them soon. You would be amazed at the number of Southern Minnesota farmers owning cars."

Few people of Duluth, and in fact throughout the state, know that there is an automobile manufacturing company in this state, and that they are able to get one of the best made machines in the country from their own neighbors.

The Minnesota concern which makes the automobiles is the Luverne Automobile company of Luverne, Rock county, Minn. This company bears the distinction of being the only one that makes autos in this state.

Particular attention has been called to this company among Duluthians from the fact that one of their machines has been purchased by the Duluth Commercial club and may be seen on the streets every day. It was delivered here last Monday, and the officers of the club are well pleased with it.

Mr. Leicher, who is manager of the company, was in the city yesterday and was informed by the club officials that the machine is entirely satisfactory. He stated that he expects to sell a number in Duluth upon the strength of the machine that the club has purchased.

The Luverne Automobile company was organized seven years ago, when the automobile business began taking a strong hold upon the people. The concern is the successor of the Leicher Bros. Carriage company of that city, and is composed of ten prominent Luverne men.

The Leicher Bros. Carriage company was organized in 1892, its principal business being the manufacture of carriages. An industry was established which necessitated the employment of twenty-five skilled men. With the advent of the automobile the carriage business dropped off to a large extent, and the Leicher brothers decided that they must either enter upon the manufacture of automobiles or decrease their force.

Encouraged by a number of Luverne men, they organized the automobile company, and began immediately the manufacturing of the machines. During the seven years that they have been making the machines, they have been doing a splendid business, and at this time are turning out about 125 machines a year. Most of the machines are sold throughout the Northwest, Montana and North Dakota being the best territory, where an active agency has been established.

The company enjoys a big business in the neighborhood of Luverne where the business people and the farmers are patronizing their home industry well. At every exhibition the company makes were shown. Among those on exhibition was the machine the company sold to the Duluth Commercial club.

During this year the company is making two models of four-cylinder cars, one with a 50-horse power engine. It is planned to have a six-cylinder roadster for the 1912 trade.

UNFINISHED BUSINESS.

To the Common Council:

Your Committee on Streets, Alleys and Sidewalks, to which was referred petition of C. F. W. Korth, et al., for the opening of Roosevelt street from Fifty-eighth to Sixty-third avenues west is of the opinion that it would be impractical to open up said street within said limits as it would necessitate the condemnation of a right-of-way across a large amount of valuable property including the main line of the Northern Pacific Railway company and a diagonal cut across lots on Grand avenue. The expense to the city would be many thousands of dollars and we are unable to see wherein the city would be justified in such expenditure.

Z. D. SCOTT,
JNO. HOGAN,

The above described property lying and being in St. Louis County, Minnesota.

Dated, Duluth, Minn., Aug. 23, 1911.

JOHN R. MEINING,
Sheriff St. Louis County, Minn.

OPENING OF POSTAL BANK

First Deposits to Be Received at Duluth Office Friday.

Temporary Quarters Are Provided in Money Order Department.

Duluth's postal savings station will be opened tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock, sharp, with Gust Lundgren in charge. It will be located temporarily in the money order department, until the quarters where the bank will be permanently located are arranged.

The office hours for the station will be from 9 o'clock in the morning until 7 o'clock in the evening. If business warrants it, the bank will probably be kept open a little longer to accommodate those who are unable to come early.

While some money has been received by Postmaster A. P. Cook by mail, it has been returned, as the office will not accept money so forwarded unless accompanied by proper blanks, filled out by the remitter. These forms may be secured from the postal savings station department upon application, and the money deposited by mail when the blanks are properly filled out.

As there are many foreigners in this vicinity who have more confidence in the government bank than in other institutions, it is believed that the Duluth bank will enjoy a big business. A rush is expected tomorrow morning.

SORRY FIX.

Chicago News: "You don't need to try to sell me anything," protested Mrs. Curfew, energetically. "I don't want a nutmeg squeezer or a lemon grater and I wouldn't take a patent revolving churn as a gift, my married daughter having bought such a thing and her little girl got her fingers in the cogwheels, and her sufferings baffled description, the doctor charging $12 for his services, to say nothing of the druggist's bill for liniment.

"I used to buy things of every agent that came along, but we live and learn, as the cook book says, and now I buy the things I need at the store and get satisfaction, the merchants being responsible citizens with wives and families to support, and few of them wearing ragged whiskers like yours or going around with disreputable hats.

"When I think of the trouble Mr. Sparks has experienced as a result of buying things from agents I wonder that the supreme court doesn't pass a law sending all agents to jail. Mr. Sparks is one of the finest men in this section of the state, enjoying the respects of one and all, both great and small. He is a prominent farmer and you will see his picture in the Live Stock Gazette and Farmer's Companion if you look through the back numbers. My daughter, who teaches school and has a splendid education, boards with Mr. Sparks and speaks of him in the highest terms, although she disapproves of his habit of using the hair brush to shine his shoes with. Mr. Sparks is well along in years and might be enjoying himself under his vine and fig tree except that agents are always getting him into trouble.

"There was a mad dog scare in this part of the country a while ago and Mr. Sparks, who owned two or three valuable shepherd dogs, was greatly worried, fearing they would get the disease. Just at that time an agent came to his door and said he was selling a powder that would make dogs immune from hydrophobia. It was compounded by the government chemist at Washington, who paid Gifford Pinchot a princely salary for supplying him with buds and barks and leaves from the Western forests. After taking a few doses of the powder a dog might be bitten by a dozen rabid animals without being affected.

"Now, just to show you what fiends in human form agents are, I want to tell you that the dog powder agent called on my married daughter several days before that and tried to sell her the same identical powder, only he told her it was a new kind of silver polish which had been discovered by the official chemist at Potsdam. After he left her house he heard about the mad dog scare, and all of a sudden his powder changed into a cure for hydrophobia. If that doesn't convince you that agents should be in jail I don't know what will.

"Well, Mr. Sparks began feeding that powder to his valuable dogs, and for a day of two they seemed to thrive on it, and then the three of them began having fits at the same time, just as though somebody had pressed a button that connected with their insides. Poor Mr. Sparks tried to drive them into the smokehouse, where he could lock them up, but they turned on him and bit him shamefully, considering that he has always treated them kindly. Then they ran howling into his pasture and chased his cows around until they dropped from heart failure or exhaustion. All this time Mr. Sparks and his hired men were running after the dogs, armed with shotguns, but they were so excited they couldn't shoot straight, and the only thing they brought down was a valuable colt.

"Then those dogs leaped into the hog lot and did the same trick with the hogs, chasing the poor creatures all over the place until they swoomed, and several of them died from nervous prostration. The noise brought some of the neighbors over with their guns and the dogs were finally killed after doing $800 worth of damage.

"So I wish you would go along and not bother me."

This is a "new-fashioned town"—and the increasing use of want advertising proves it; for want advertising is the newest-fashioned utility of them all!!

WOMAN SCARES BURGLARS AWAY

Night Prowlers Tried to Remove Screen Door From West Duluth Home.

Burglars tried to break in the home of J. McKnight, 5119 Ramsey street, Tuesday evening, but were frightened away by Mrs. McKnight, who was alone at home. When they returned to the place again last evening, Mrs. McKnight telephoned for the police. The prowlers were not captured.

Mrs. McKnight told an officer that on Tuesday evening after dusk, she noticed two suspicious looking characters loitering around the neighborhood and upon watching carefully, she discovered them at the rear door, attempting to remove the screen door from its hinges. She declared that she saw one of the men take a screw driver from his pocket.

Before the intruders had any opportunity to remove the door, Mrs. McKnight made known her presence in the house and the men were frightened away. Mrs. McKnight told the police that her husband worked nights and asked for closer police surveillance of the place during the evening.

SEWER QUESTION TO BE DISCUSSED

Proctor People Will Hold Mass Meeting Monday for This Purpose.

Proctor people will have a mass meeting Monday evening in the village hall for the purpose of discussing the plans for the proposed sewer system for the village.

It is proposed to build a single system of sewers, which will be drained into a large septic tank, which will be located south of the village. The cost of the improvement is estimated at about $75,000. Of this amount, it is planned to raise $35,000 by taxation and the balance by a bond issue.

At the meeting Monday evening, the tax and bond propositions will come in for special consideration. The proposed sewer has been the all absorbing topic in the village for a number of months and the Proctor Commercial club has done much to bring the matter to a head.

NEW LEAGUE PROPOSED.

A school football league has been proposed for West Duluth to include the Irving, Longfellow, Fairmont, Ely and Oneota schools. In order to make a six-club league, the Bryant of the West end may be asked to join.

Many of the principals have sanctioned the league idea. Each of the schools could contribute a husky aggregation of gridiron aspirants and with a short season schedule, it is believed that the proposition would meet with general favor.

It would be necessary to have a set of rules governing the league. These are now being worked out and will probably be presented at a meeting of the football enthusiasts representing each school, which may be called in the near future.

CHANGES IN WHEAT SMALL

After Dull Day, Market Closes Almost Unchanged From Wednesday.

Flax Has Bulge on Account of Scarcity of New Crop Receipts.

Duluth Board of Trade, Sept. 14.—This was a dull and uneventful day in wheat. Trades were few and fluctuations exceedingly narrow. Everybody is waiting to see what will be the fate of the reciprocity treaty. Duluth September closed with the loss of an eighth and December with the gain of a quarter of a cent. Flax futures gained 3 to 9 cents on account of the scarcity of arrivals of new flax from the country.

Dullness and conservatism characterized the wheat trading up to noon today. The brokers would like very much to know whether Canadian reciprocity is going to be a go. That is a question that everybody is asking and one that nobody seems qualified to answer, though some of the big Chicago brokers have expressed the opinion that the treaty will fail. Advance information on that subject would be worth many thousands or, more likely, run into the millions. If the treaty fails, it will certainly mean a bulge in the price of wheat in the United States. There was little trading during the earlier part of the session and fluctuations were small. Duluth September and December both opened a scant higher in response to higher cables from Liverpool. They soon lost what they had gained, however. News came from across the water that France, England and Germany all had good winter crops and would be marketing them within the next thirty days. A bullish factor was the cloudy and showery weather over the Northwest and Western Canada. Duluth September, which closed yesterday at $1.02⅝, opened today at $1.02⅝. About noon it was selling at $1.02⅝-¾.

Flax had quite a bulge today. There was not a great deal of trading, for there was not much flax to buy or sell. There were on the track only two cars of inspected flax against ten a year ago. Wet weather is still delaying the thrashing and the volume of trade is still very narrow. Every bushel of flax that comes upon the Duluth market is snapped up quickly for crushers in Cleveland or Buffalo. Eastern crushers are doing their best to get enough flax to supply the oil for the present trade. The same thing is true of the crushers at Minneapolis. Very little flax goes from Duluth to Minneapolis yet the demand at Minneapolis affects the Duluth market very readily, for Minneapolis and Duluth are in constant competition to secure the flax of the country west of here. Small variations in the amount of flax arriving at Duluth quickly affect the price. Duluth October opened today at $2.26 bid, which was yesterday's closing figure, but it soon rose to $2.35. By noon it had dropped to $2.32.

Broomhall wired from Liverpool: "The market displayed a steady undertone at the opening with values unchanged to ¼d up and following the opening the near months further advanced ¼d with offerings light due to the firmness in America. The distant months displayed heaviness on the easier closing in Winnipeg, freer Manitoba offers, Argentina crop news and further rains in India. Spot markets were unchanged with a quiet demand and there were reports of the continent still offering to resell. The strength in coarse grains and the fact of their being no cargo arrivals kept shorts in October nervous and their support checked the decline. At 1:30 p. m. the market was irregular, unchanged to ¼d advance.

"Corn—After opening ⅜d to ½d higher further advanced ½d to ⅝d with shorts in October covering heavily. There was a good spot trade with spot markets all 1 cent higher and American Parcels 4½c higher.

Broomhall says that the reselling by the continent is explained by the fact of larger prospects in both France and Germany and the belief that the shortage in Russia will be offset by excellent prospects in Argentina and Canada.

"India—Our agent cables that there has been extension of rain of a large area which has resulted in a marked improvement in the outlook for wheat. Cargoes—Wheat, 1 to arrive coast and awaiting orders nil; wheat in distant positions quiet with a limited demand."

Minneapolis indemnities: December puts, $1.03@1.03⅛; December calls, $1.04.

Dennis wired from Chicago: "There is nothing new in the French crop. It confirms all the previous estimates. France, England and Germany have good wheat crops and will be marketing them freely for the next thirty days. We bulls have made allowance for all of that in our calculations. No one can tell anything about the crops except by her shipments. Admitting all of this the situation will come out very bullish just the same, later on, when crop deficiencies force everyone on to wheat to take place of other things. The world will be living on meats and cereals after Jan. 1, everything with juice in it being exhausted and meats be so high consumption will go on cereals. You can either scalp and make a little or speculate and make a heap as I see it."

Iowa—Generally fair tonight except local thunderstorms in east portion this evening or tonight; cooler tonight and in east portion Friday.

North Dakota and South Dakota, Nebraska and Kansas—Fair tonight and Friday.

THE CHICAGO MARKET.

Improved Conditions in India Cause Decline in Wheat.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—Rain over a big section of India, resulting in a marked improvement in the outlook for wheat, caused prices today to decline. There were reports, too, of better prospects for crops in both France and Germany. Predictions were also current that the shortage in Russia would be offset by excellent yields in Canada and the Argentine. The opening was ¼c lower to a shade up. December started at 96⅝@96¾c to 96⅞c, varying from ¼c off to 1-16c advance, and gradually sagged to 96⅜@96½c.

Statements that increased wheat acreage in the United States next season had become almost certain led to still lower prices but afterward the market reacted. The close was firm with December at 96@96⅝c, a net loss of ¼c.

Covering by shorts made corn strong at the outset, but heavy selling on the part of longs pounded prices down. Omaha was said to be asking for bids here on large lots. The market opened a shade to ⅜c higher. Initial sales of December were 1-16c down to ⅛@¼c up at 64⅞c to 65c. Then there was a drop of 64½c.

Free offerings from the country turned the market yet lower but the effect wore off. The close was firm at 64⅝@64¾ for December, a loss of ⅛c net.

The oats pit showed evidence of neglect. Weakness developed as a result of the influence of other grain. December started a shade lower at 46½c and sank to 46c.

Firmness in the hog market steadied provisions. Opening prices were 5c off to 2½@5c higher, with January delivery $16.02½ to $16.05 for pork, $9.30@9.32½ for lard and $8.37½ for ribs.

Cotton Market.

New York, Sept. 14.—The cotton market opened steady at a decline of 1 point to an advance of 2 points, and during the first few minutes sold about 3 points above the closing figures of yesterday on scattered covering. Liverpool was lower than due, however, and weather conditions were considered very favorable, and the market eased off to a net loss of 4@5 toward the end of the first hour on Southern selling, scattering liquidating and local bear pressure, which had the encouragement of continued weakness in the stock-market and reports of freer Southern spot offerings in Liverpool.

Spot, closed quiet, 5 points lower; middling uplands, 11.80; middling gulf, 12.05. Sales, forty bales.

Futures closed steady; closing bids: September, 11.56; October, 11.32; November, 11.32; December, 11.40; January, 11.38; February, 11.42; March, 11.50; April, 11.54; May, 11.60; June, 11.58; July, 11.60.

ADVANCES IN STOCKS

Shorts Brought Up With Round Turn in Last Hour.

Concerted Buying Sends Level of Prices Above Wednesday's Close.

New York, Sept. 14.—The attack on stocks was renewed vigorously today when the markets opened, and several issues fell to new low points for the year.

The first transaction in United States Steel was a block of 5,500 shares at 66½ to 66¾, compared with yesterday's close, 67.

New Haven continued to decline, reaching 128, the lowest price since 1907. Western Maryland and Central Leather preferred lost 2, Canadian Pacific 1⅜, Southern Pacific preferred 1¼, Union Pacific 1⅛, and Reading, Northern Pacific and Atlantic Coast Line a point.

Sales for foreign account reached a large aggregate in the first hour, with the selling due to the disturbed view taken of the Moroccan situation. Bear traders followed this selling energetically and standard stocks generally reached new bottoms.

Southern Railway preferred was down 4, Canadian Pacific 3¾, Union Pacific 2⅜ and United States Steel 3⅜. Declines elsewhere ran from 1 to 3 points with other dividend stocks breaking badly on light selling. New Haven touched 127, which was the lowest price recorded in more than twenty years.

Disquieting rumors were frequent this morning, the acute weakness of the market causing the bears to circulate unfounded reports regarding the credit of firms and individuals. General influences bearing on the market included the disturbed political situation abroad, the halt in the business improvement here, continuation of the enormous silent liquidation and daring attacks by powerful operators. Prices fell from 1 to 4 points before the downward plunge was checked. On recoveries of a point or more in various issues, speculation became quiet and ultimately eased off again to about the low level of the morning. Bonds were heavy.

The market closed firm. The short interest was brought up with a round turn in the last hour when concerted buying sent the level of prices above yesterday's closing.

Union Pacific touched 160 against 157¾, the early low price and United States Steel 67 compared with 65¼. Reading, Lehigh Valley, Erie first preferred, and Great Northern preferred ruled 1 to 1½ above last night.

Toward the close the list reacted fractionally and Virginia-Carolina Chemical broke nearly 3 points.

GIVES ADVERTISERS A SQUARE DEAL

The Duluth Herald holds a unique place in the Duluth newspaper field, in that it is the only daily paper that has never used voting, guessing or premium schemes of any nature to artificially stimulate circulation. The Herald today leads all Minnesota papers (outside of the Twin Cities) by thousands of daily paid subscribers.

HERALD ADVERTISERS GET THE BENEFIT OF A HOME CIRCULATION OF A HIGH ORDER—A PROVEN CIRCULATION OF QUALITY AS WELL AS QUANTITY.
